TAU EPSILON TO GIVE TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING DANCE IN AUDITORIUM

Prior to the War, each year with the coming of the Thanksgiving Holidays, the Brothers of Tau Epsilon gave a Thanksgiving Dance. During the War, because of the lopsided ratio between the male and fairer sexes, this custom was curtailed as were so many other customs. Now that ratios have once again balanced off, customs are once again being brought out of mothballs.

In conjunction with this dance, which is to be held on November 22, another tradition is being reinstated—that of an election of a Campus Queen to be crowned on the night of the dance. The final election revolves around the vote of the entire Student body.

To lend melody to the night air Tau Epsilon has engaged the services of Johnny Glaze and his Star Dusters, a newly organized band composed entirely of Bryant students. Numbering among those in the band are George Barlow, who formerly played with Mal Hallett, at the drums; Earl Rounds, who formerly played with Boyd Rayborn, at the piano; Hank Markowski at the trombone; George Weller, sax; and John Glaze and Dick Hamilton, trumpets.

BETA TO BECOME GRAND CHAPTER

Organizations of Other Colleges to Affiliate

The Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Chi will, in a few days, become the Grand or Presiding Chapter of one of the newest national social fraternities in the United States.

Beta Sigma Chi was founded May 6, 1925, at Providence, Rhode Island. The objective behind the founding was to provide for the social and fraternal needs of a large group of men not reached by the limited number of fraternal chapters then in existence.

Three Boston University students attended the annual ritual which was held at the Indian Room of the Crown Hotel. These students represented a group at Boston University that wishes to affiliate and become the Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Chi.

Preliminary work has been done by groups at American International College and Northeastern University who desire membership in the fraternity.

The blue and gold tie, yellow and blue socks, and the gold boutonniere will soon be a common sight on campuses throughout the nation.

GLEE CLUB REPORTS

At a recent meeting of the Girls' Glee Club the following members were selected to be in charge of the various duties concerned: Pianist, Eileen Pickavant, assisted by Eleanor Becker; Membership, Ethel Machon; Student Council Representative, Eleanor Jankura; Publicity, Lorraine Weimann; and Librarian, Alice Tetreault.

Mr. Handy has elected a group which is called the Repertoire Committee. This committee tries out new songs before they are brought out before the entire club. Members of the Repertoire Committee include: First sopranos, Lorraine Young and Jean Falkow; Second Sopranos, Ruth Karstens, Josephine Chianciola, and Joanne Burke; Altos, Eleanor Jankura and Lorraine Weimann.

STUDENT ACTIVITY COUNCIL

At the beginning of this semester, one of the first groups to hold a meeting was the Student Activity Council. They immediately began to make plans for the All-College Dance which was an informal affair held in the Gym last September. At this dance a majority of the new students were able to meet the seniors and thereby make new friends for an enjoyable stay while at Bryant College.

Not only did the Student Council sponsor this dance but already gala plans are in effect for an All-College Formal to be held in the main ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel on December 14. This will be strictly a formal affair for the students of Bryant College. A spokesman has announced that plans are being made to obtain radio time during intermission at which time the Glee Clubs, under Mr. Handy's direction,

DRAMATIC CLUB MAKES PLANS

Under the able leadership of Ken Buongiorno, the Dramatic Club will witness one of its most active and successful years. Already plans have been made for two one-act plays to be given at the Christmas Party for all the students of Bryant College on December 18, 1946 in the Bryant Gym.

The Dramatic Club was very fortunate to obtain the services of Miss Dorothy Buckler as director of all plays to be given at the club. Miss Buckler has had wide experience in dramatics. She has appeared in several plays sponsored by local community players.

An original play for a musical is being written by two students of the club. This play will be given sometime in March. The club will also partake in the antics which will take place Stunt Night which will be held right after the Thanksgiving Vacation.

NEWMAN CLUB MEETS

Father Kelly, moderator of the Newman Club, spoke to the club members at its first formal meeting and then introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Father William Condon, S.S.C.C., a native of St. Paul's parish, Providence, and a graduate of La Salle Academy, who was on his way from Washington, D. C. to a mission in Utica, New York, and made a special trip to come to speak to the club. He explained the purpose and origin of his order, and then spoke about Father Damien, the leper priest, who was also of the order of the Fathers of the Sacred will sing Christmas Carols.

A few days ago the ranks of the Council were increased by the addition of new delegates who are to represent all Freshmen and Senior divisions.

A motion pertaining to the elimination of corsages at formals and semi-formals is now before the Council. Action is being deferred until a general opinion of the student body has been ferreted.

The Council together with Mr. Handy is putting the finishing touches on Stunt Night plans.

Watch this column for further news of the Student Council when other events to come will be announced. Remember, it's your Student Council. Keep it active with your new ideas and interest. The members of the Council are always glad to listen to YOU, THE STUDENT.

Becomes Editorial Director

Was Once a Member of Crowell-Collier Staff

The Editor announces that Miss Ruth Karstens, a resident of Arlington Heights, Illinois, has been appointed Editorial Director of the Archway. Her interest in newspaper work began when she was on the staff of the "Cardinal," a high school monthly. At Gregg College in Chicago she followed the Executive Secretarial Course always receiving marks of distinction. Soon after graduation she was offered a choice position in the Advertising Department of Crowell-Collier Publishing Company. Her duties there were that of a secretary and a researcher.

In 1943 Miss Karstens joined the WACS. Her first assignment was at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia where she became secretary to the Public Relations Officer. She was the sergeant in charge of all news releases sent to the leading newspapers throughout the country and also for releases through the Associated Press. It was her further duty to arrange an itinerary for all guests of the training center. Among the guests were such notables as Ernst Luebitsch, producer of "Heaven Can Wait," Subaltern Mary Churchill, movie stars, and sport celebrities. Her skill and efficiency having been discovered she was appointed secretary to the Commandant of the training center. Miss Karstens was no less appreciated in Washington, D. C. While there she was secretary at the Army-Navy staff College, in the Joint Chief Staff-Guided Missiles Division.

Our Editorial Director is a senior in the Executive Secretarial I course. Her keenness and zealous devotion give every indication that her dream of becoming a court reporter will materialize. She is a member of Sigma Iota Beta Sorority, the Glee Club, the George Street Bowling Team, and the Basketball League.

STEP DOWN!

There's a tale going round the Iowa State campus of a certain English prof who went over to a local apartment house and asked to see the list of people living in it and also the waiting list. He didn't have to go through very many names before he found the one he was looking for, and said, "Put my name down for this man's apartment, please. I just flunked him, and he'll be dropping out of school any day now."

THE HONOR SYSTEM

Many of us say, "Oh well, what's the difference. Joe had more time to do his homework than I did, and just copying his work this one time won't hurt." Many of us have often said this. We also find out that a test is coming up the next day, so we try to "cram" all the facts in mind the night before the exam. The fateful day comes and we find out that we have not studied the right material to answer the test questions, so our eyes begin to wander to the next person's paper. Of course, no one is hurt by this little maneuver, but—did you ever stop to think how many hours Joe, or Jane, has put in on studying and just the little answer that you might copy may cause his or her grade to be lowered considerably? You say, "Oh well, if I'm smart enough to get by, why worry about the next person?"

After graduation, you will be assigned a job and you walk into the office head high, shoulders erect, and anxious to begin your new job. Something turns up in the office, probably some very simple mathematical problem, and you are absolutely lost. Of course, the school told Mr. Jones that you were an excellent student, and that you definitely would be able to carry out the duties of this job. You then think back on your school days and say, "Oh, if I only had put in a little more time on my schoolwork, and had questioned the instructor about something I didn't understand, instead of copying from Joe, I would know what to do." Yes, this actually is what happens in many young people's lives. So, how about getting down to business and just thinking a little about the future?

Ruth Karstens

And then there was the little moron who ran around the bed all night, trying to catch some sleep.

IS THAT BAD?

Shortage of Textbooks

The dearth of textbooks spotlights the incongruity of an almost religious dependence on the text in some courses.

Two systems seem to be used: One sets up a text as the best in the field and thereafter uses it as the written law; the other declares that the book might possibly be wrong but since something must be accepted as the final word (this is hard on both the ignorant man and the philosopher) then follows through as under the first scheme.

Right and wrong, good and bad, theory and practice exist in varied shades. An experienced, intelligent instructor can do much to dress the drab bones of the text with the otherwise discoverable only through faltering experience. It is a source of wonder that our competent teaching staffs sometimes allow themselves to be hampered by the false absolutes of a hack writer, when they could otherwise supply the shading from their wide experience and thorough knowledge of the subject.

If textbooks are actually indispensable and good ones are not to be found, perhaps the libraries could be exploited. But for our money, the instructor's convictions and his reasons for them are much more valuable than any text.

The students would certainly appreciate additional chairs and tables in the gymnasium. At present there is not a sufficient number upon which we can do our homework.

KNOW YOUR COLLEGE

Bryant and Stratton Business College remained in the Hoppin Homestead Building until the year 1916 when the need for extended facilities brought them to their second home — The Butler Exchange. The Butler Exchange stood on the north side of Westminster Street, opposite the Arcade, where the Industrial Trust Company is now located. This building displayed the highest development of the class of structure at that time.

In this same year of 1916, the college underwent many drastic changes toward bringing the school into its own as an institute for higher learning. Bryant consolidated with the Rhode Island Commercial School under the name of Bryant and Stratton—Rhode Island Commercial College. It selected as its president, Dr. Harry L. Jacobs, a man who had been president of the Rhode Island Commercial School since 1907 and a great pioneer in the promotion of business training. The faculty of the two

ASSEMBLIES

Address by Mr. Charles G. Reigner

A very interesting address was given in the Bryant Auditorium by Mr. Charles G. Reigner, author of the College Spelling Vocabulary Book. Mr. Reigner stressed that correct English is the keynote of all business.

The address was preceded by the presentation of awards to students who have qualified for expert shorthand pins, having reached one speed beyond their terminal requirement. Recipients of these awards were: Mr. Daniel Gregory (140 terminal speed) who is now in the 200 dictation class, and the Misses Mary Monti and Barbara Niemiec (120 terminal speed) who are both in the 160 dictation class.

Address by Dr. Anton De Haas

In the first of a series of lectures given to students of the Business Administration Division, Dr. Anton De Haas of the Harvard School of Business Administration and foremost authority of International Relations, explained the financial conditions and domestic conditions in Europe and stressed the need for the backing of other nations so that these countries that have been suppressed by the Nazis can once again get back on their feet and be able to care for themselves. Dr. De Haas discussed the loans which the United States recently gave to Great Britain and France and pointed out the various advantages and disadvantages that may arise because of the loans made.

Have you heard about the moron who put the blotter in his ears so he could hear the Ink Spots sing?

SMILE AWHILE

Two cuties were discussing a favorite topic, men.

"Which do you desire most in a husband?" asked the blonde "Brains, wealth or appearance?"

"Appearance," said the brunette "and the sooner, the better!"

Conductor: "How old are you, little girl?"

Little girl from Boston: "If the company doesn't mind, I'd prefer to pay full fare and keep my own statistics."

A stern-faced woman walked up to the little boy she caught smoking. "Young man, does your mother know you smoke?" she asked.

"Lady," he replied, "does your old man know you stop and talk to strange men on the street?"

Lady of the House: "Do you really enjoy walking around the country, begging for something to eat?"

Tramp: "No, ma'am. I often wish I had a car."

1st Vet: "Why is your car painted blue on one side and red on the other?"

2nd Vet: "It's a great scheme. You should hear the witnesses contradicting each other!"

A skinny, hatchet-faced spinster attending a Hollywood garden party, gazed upon the incredibly beautiful landscape and gushed, "Oh, I just love nature!"

Groucho Marx overheard. "That's loyalty," he quipped, "after what nature did to her!"

POET'S CORNER

A SILVER MAPLE

A silver maple spreads its sheltering limbs
 Across our yard, protecting us from heat
 Of summer's sun, and winter's snowstorm trims
 Its trailing branches, with ermine soft and sleek.
 At night bright stars shine through thick chlorophyll,
 And sometimes, a new moon hands, as from leaf
 That seems to almost touch blue heaven's sill,
 And trembles there, as though to find release.
 This silver maple is joy to me,
 Through summer's heat or winter's freezing cold,
 In springtime the first robin here I see,
 As he swings high and sings his song of old.
 Then, in autumn, its green leaves are turned to gold,
 Like treasure that a miser loves to hold!

Sigma Lambda Pi Elects
Secretary Francis Sokoll has announced that the following members were elected officers for the present college semester: President, Morris Cofman; vice-president, Foster Lowenthal; secretary, Francis B. Sokoll; treasurer, Milton Price; sergeant-at-arms, J. Goldberg.

A social at the Bryant Gym with the sister sorority, Beta Sigma Gamma, was held in October to mark the opening of the first of the many social festivities planned. The social committee headed by Sigma's "high-powered" Foster Lowenthal, is formulating plans for a series of enjoyable and entertaining events, which will include the annual Sno' Ball, at which time the Bryant Sno' Queen will be selected. Report on Sigma Lambda Theta

By Rose Marie Budka
You've heard of all the gaiety and fun of t'other night. When sisters and brothers got together to make a happy sight. 'Twas at the gym where Sigma Chi and Sigma Lambda met. For a time of songs and dancing, for a time they'll not forget. Of course you've seen our pledges who around the campus strolled Dressed like — (censored!) — and doing just exactly what they were told. So now you have a preview of the things you may expect From Sigma Lambda Theta — the Sorority select.

Tau Epsilon Makes Plans

Plans for a Thanksgiving semi-formal are being made under the direction of Anthony Catucci and his fellow committee-members, who are working hard to make this dance the most successful of the year. The raffle which was sponsored by Tau Epsilon proved very successful.

Movies and dancing were held at the semi-annual smoker with Kappa Delta Kappa, and a good time was had by all. Twenty new members have been accepted and properly initiated:

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The Bryant College Intramural Basketball League for men consists of two leagues. One league is composed of eight teams that play on Monday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 and the other league is made up of four teams that play on Tuesday nights from 7 to 9. Practices were held in the Bryant Gym for two weeks for the benefit of all the teams.

Certain league rules and regulations were established by representatives of their respective teams under the able supervision of Mr. Mercier and Mr. Dickenman. A championship play-off has been scheduled to take place at the end of the season between the winners of the two leagues. All indications point to a very successful season.

Sigma Iota Holds Tea

In the hope of becoming better acquainted with the pledgees, Sigma Iota Chi held a tea in the French Room at the Narragansett Hotel in addition to the annual Rush Party. The distinguished guests were, Miss Blaney, Mrs. Clifford, Mrs. Hammond, and Miss Bucolo who spoke of Sigma's activities.

The two days of suffering for the twenty pledgees were happily ended at a joint Mystery Ride with Phi Sig. All participated in the various square dances and enjoyed doughnuts and cider. The success of this affair has resulted in a hope for many other "get-togethers."

The Senior Sisters wish to take this opportunity to thank the pledgees for their good sportsmanship during initiation.

Sigma Iota Beta Relates

Sigma Iota Beta Sorority and her brother fraternity Beta Iota Beta sponsored one of the most gala dances of the year when they presented the "Sadie Hawkins Jamboree" in the Bryant Gym, on the evening of November 16.

The famous characters of Lil Abner, Daisy Mae, Mummy and Pappy Yokum, Marryin' Sam, Available Jones, Hairless Joe and Lena the Hyena were present in caricature form. Colorful decorations and the smooth dance rhythm of Stan Moore and his orchestra made it a night of dancing pleasure. Sigma Iota Beta Sorority would like to thank all the students who attended this dance for making it such a social success.

The hilarious antics which took place during initiation showed the true spirit of the new pledgees coming into the sorority.

On Tuesday, November 5, Sigma Iota Beta and her brother fraternity held an informal party at the country club of the George Washington Reservation in Chapachet. A good time was had by all who attended.

Plans are now underway for dates for the Sorority formal and for the Pledgee banquet which will be held during the first week of December. This year is certain to be an active season for Sigma Iota Beta. Kingsley

Phi Sig Reports

Phi Sig is represented by a strong team in the basketball league. The players include: Donetelli, Borrelli, Lombardi, Marchesi, Sullivan, Papetto, Mandato, Green, O'Connor, Shanley, Tucker, Smith, Del Santo, Palumbo, and Shaghabran. The manager of the team is Joseph Damon, assisted by James Pestara.

A successful mystery ride was held during initiation week together with Sigma Iota Chi, our sister sorority.

Announcement:

In order to clear up any misunderstanding resulting from the recent raffle, the Phi Sigma Nu fraternity announces that the first ticket drawn was that of a relative of one of its members. So as to avoid comment or partiality, the brother requested that the second ticket be drawn. Damon

News From Beta

Beta Sigma Chi's Brothers were kept on an enjoyable run this past month.

The Fall Ball, the first dance of the season proved to be a great success.

Beta's bowling team "copped" first place at the beginning of the league season and has held that position since. Members of the team are Charles Tessier, Louis Stachowicz, Ray Carron, Mike Dwyer, George Barlow, Charles Weilgus, Russell Heath, Robert Polley, Gil Brown, Ken Ferry, and Soren Ervianian.

KDK Comments

Last month KDK held its Rush Party together with Tau Epsilon. The party proved to be a tremendous success.
