

NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY NAMED FOR DONALD S. SCHOFIELD, '38

Rhode Island Governor John Notte, Jr., has named a newly completed building in Cranston in memory of Lieutenant Donald S. Schofield, the husband of the former Miss Lucille Barbara Tetrault, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Schofield.

Donald joined the Guard in 1936, became activated into federal service in 1941, and was graduated as a flight officer in the air corps in 1942. He served in the North African campaign and was credited with 20 combat missions before the announcement of his death in 1944. He was awarded the Purple Heart and four Air Medal clusters posthumously.

Official dedication of the armory will be held May 20.
