Dear Members of Service Club,

Just received your Easter package (a little late maybe) but nevertheless the most welcome. For a soldier overseas all remembrances from "home" are always gratefully received since it shows that our friends back on the States are still thinking of us.

For quite a few months now I have left the good old U.S. and travelled, at my uncle's expense, further than I had ever travelled before. I find Africa fascinating - native life is so different from anything that I had previously seen that it cannot be described in terms of comparison. I recently read the comment that Bob Hope made about African people. He said that a man with a broad load of mother's cows could make a fortune by sitting himself up as an expert on the latter's opinions and what the club is saying.

Well I haven't much else to say except that I hope that in 1945 we can have a class reunion celebrating the end of this war. Best regards to all

Yours truly,
Reginald L. Gaillagard
