MARCH 27, 1917

Hello,

Today I again had opportunity to celebrate Christmas of 1902, for my package from Signal Service Club at Fort reached me.

Although the contents of chocolate covered candies appeared to be an unrecognizable mass more for form than for substance, yet I was able to enjoy receiving the package and the spirit that prompted it. Let me tell you that it is a pleasure to get in a foreign country like the that has approximate other nice thoughts and good wishes.

To the Club and its workers, I wish to say thanks. What you are doing may seem to be trivial to you, but to me who receive the product of your time and effort, this means a great deal.

Don't know what lady has or any authority on correct etiquette for writing a "thank you" note would say about the informality of this note to a Club, but I feel as if I am writing to an intimate friend, and have to write accordingly.

May the Service Club prosper during the year, and here's to it, that the war will soon end so that it might hold up its really worthwhile activities.

Sincerely yours,
 Geo. J. Thompson '17
