

Thursday

Dearest Judson-

What a day. This morning the sun was shining (we're debating now about how many n's to put in) and when I got off the train it began to rain. What a day - we have a huge problem because the sun just came out and now we don't know whether to go out or not.

Golly, it's really awful. You know U-12 is Rome now and honestly, everytime I go out with someone, it just makes me appreciate you so much. Every date I have just makes me miss you so much. It's getting pretty bad.

What have you been doing?
Have you been flying every day?
Oh, do I write often enough? every day, so far.

well, it's about four hours since I started I started this letter. I'm exhausted now because we've been showing all day.
I could cheerfully crawl into a hole
+ just sleep. This will be fairly short because it's almost time to go home.

well, honey, please write soon - I love you - You can't imagine how much going out this week has made me appreciate you. I'll have to tell you more about that when you get home -

Lots of love,
DOTTIE
