

BRYANT'S BUSINESS

Monday, October 20, 1986

Bryant College, Smithfield, RI

Volume 6, Number 4

Selya named to appeals court

The chairman of Bryant's Board of Trustees has been confirmed by the Senate as a member of the 1st Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston.

U.S. District Court Judge Bruce M. Selya will be sworn into his new post in several weeks. Although the 1st Circuit Court is in Boston, Selya plans to maintain his chambers in Providence.

"Elation" is the word Selya used to describe his reaction to the U.S. Senate vote on October 8. In the Providence Journal and Bulletin, he went on to say: "I am very pleased. I am very honored, and I am exhilarated by the prospect of taking on new responsibility."

Selya has chosen to be sworn in at the federal court building in downtown Providence. The native of Rhode Island said Providence is his community and where he practiced law.

Judge Bruce Selya, Bryant chairman.

Selya, 52, took over as Bryant board chairman on August 1 after serving one year as a trustee. He has been practicing law in the state since 1960, and has been the District Court judge since 1982

New program looking for leaders

by Randi Belhumeur
Public Information Intern

"Education for Business Leadership."

This has been Bryant's motto since 1863, and the College's new "Learning for Leadership" program will make it even more of a reality.

The two-semester program begins next spring with an experimental three-credit course on leadership. The classroom work will be followed in the fall by an optional internship/mentorship program.

In the classroom, students will have an opportunity to learn about leadership skills and the role of leaders in society. The course will have an interdisciplinary approach, with professors Bill Hill, political science; Ron Deluga, psychology, and John Zeiger, management, and Rosemary D'Arcy, associate director of The CENTER, leading the course. Topics will include: Why study leadership? Theories of leadership. Leadership styles. Leadership and management. Leadership ethics.

After the course, students can apply what they learned in the classroom through direct contact with local business and government leaders and other faculty members. These mentors will act as role models, resources, supporters, critics, and friends.

Because the program is experimental, it will be open initially only to juniors and sophomores who have held positions of leadership on or off campus. Later, it is hoped that enrollment can be unrestricted.

If you are interested in becoming a leadership mentor, contact any of the professors teaching the course. They really want you.

Technology Day at Bryant

Bryant hosts on October 29 the first-ever Technology Day in Rhode Island.

Sponsored by the Technology Council of Rhode Island, of which Bryant is a founding member, the day features a morning conference on the state's technology-based businesses, and an afternoon trade show, Tech Fair '86. The latter puts Rhode Island technology on display for the first time.

Technology Day runs from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with Tech Fair '86 following a noon luncheon with speaker. The morning conference includes seminars, presentations, and the annual meeting of the council. Exhibitors will set up booths to display products and support services. It is hoped that the day will give technology companies an opportunity to exchange ideas and discuss contemporary issues of common importance.

Cost of Technology Day is $15 for council members, $25 for non-members.

Alcohol Awareness Week begins today

Bryant's annual Alcohol Awareness Week begins today.

Betty Cotter, health educator, has scheduled a variety of events to make students, in particular, more aware of the dangers of alcohol abuse, and to introduce alternatives to drinking.

The schedule follows:

• Today, 10 a.m. to noon: "This Ride's For You" shows a video on the controlled-drinking experiment later today.

3:30 to 4:30 p.m.: Guest speaker Ann Hines, of Good Hope Center, speaks on "Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse" in Room M-42.

6:30 p.m.: State policeman George Cuddy conducts a controlled-drinking experiment in the MRC dining room.

• Tuesday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.: Alcohol Awareness Fair - Representatives from the Governor's Highway Safety Office, the Good Hope Center, The Providence Center for Counseling and Psychiatric Services, Edgehill Newport, High Point, Codac, Warwick Alcohol Counseling, Fuller Memorial Hospital and Counseling and Intervention Services set up information booths in the Rotunda.

5 to 12 p.m.: Free non-alcoholic beer with pizza orders. Sponsored by Brycol in the Comfort.

7:30 p.m.: Alcoholics Anonymous open meeting.

• Wednesday, 10 a.m. to noon: A repeat showing of the video sponsored by "This Ride's For You."

1 to 4 p.m.: Movie "Kevin's Story," tale of a young man involved in a drunk driving accident, and its effect on his life.

• Thursday, 12 to 2 p.m.: Alcoholics Anonymous open meeting.

• All Week: Wrecked car, courtesy of Dave's Garage in Smithfield, located by the Bell Tower.

New faces

Among the the 10 new faculty members at Bryant this semester are one each in the departments of English, finance-economics, accounting, social sciences, and mathematics. They are profiled here.

Pauline E. Allen

The English professor is a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Rhode Island, where she earned M.A. and B.A. degrees. The professor has taught at URI and in the North Kingstown and East Greenwich School Systems, and works as a free-lance writer.

Dr. M. E. Ellis

Ellis is a new associate professor of finance. Before coming to Bryant, she was teaching at the University of Toledo. She has taught also at the University of Nebraska at Omaha and the University of South Carolina. Ellis holds Ph.D., M.B.A., and B.S. degrees from South Carolina.

Dr. Robert H. Farrar

Farrar is an associate professor of accounting. He taught at Babson College for 11 years, and has taught also at Northeastern University, Western New England College, and the University of Massachusetts. Farrar holds a Ph.D. from Massachusetts and M.B.A. and B.S.B.A. degrees from Northeastern.

Michael J. Fraleigh

Fraleigh is the newest member of the social sciences department. He came from Stanford University's Center for the Study of Youth Development. The assistant professor is a Ph.D. candidate at Stanford, and holds sociology degrees from the University of Montana. He has taught at Stanford and Montana.

Dr. Martin S. Rosenzweig

The associate professor of mathematics has taught also at Temple University School of Medicine and the University of Pennsylvania. He has worked as a senior statistician at the Research Triangle Institute in North Carolina. Rosenzweig holds Ph.D. and M.S. degrees from Iowa State University and a B.S. from American University. He is an M.S. candidate at the University of North Carolina.

Wanted: Stop smoking helpers

Want to help fellow Bryant employees or students stop smoking?

Betty Cotter, health educator, is looking for volunteers to lead smoking-cessation clinics as part of the College's new smoking policy. Clinic leaders direct four one-hour or two two-hour sessions.

Call Cotter at ext. 6304 or Lynne Dawson at ext. 6046 for more information or to volunteer.

Have you said 'yes'?

Have you said "yes" to the Bryant Fund?

With the final total still to be tallied, the Campus Campaign that ended officially last Friday appeared to be on its way to racking up enough "yes" responses to assure another success.

At about the halfway point of the campaign, almost 34 percent of Bryant's full-time employees had contributed, said Tony Piotti, director of annual giving. That level of participation boded well for reaching the record goal of 65 percent participation.

The amount of money raised at the halfway point, more than $13,500, also was extremely encouraging, Piotti said. Last year, approximately $15,100 was raised. So eclipsing last year's record total of employee donations seemed in sight.

Even though the campaign has ended officially, co-chairs Bob Reall and Pat Keeley won't turn away anyone who still has an affirmative answer. Gifts can be made through payroll deduction or by returning a pledge card to the development office. Contributors also can designate, for the first time, where their donations should go: to films for the library media department; to the construction of a total health/fitness center in the MAC; to the main Bryant Fund as an unrestricted gift.

If you have said "yes" to the Campus Campaign, there is a "thank you" party on November 3 in the MRC Dining Room from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. There will be a gift for all donors.

Campus Campaign Committee: (left to right) Bob Reall, co-chair; John Gillooly; Pat Keeley, co-chair; Joe Ilacqua.

British, Brycol students run own shows

*by Julie Rotondo
Public Information Intern*

British students run their social activities much like Brycol runs its on-campus business enterprises.

This is what two Bryant administrators and two students found in London, where they attended a summer conference on American and British programming of campus activities.

Sponsored by the Association of College Unions International, the four-day event drew staff and students from colleges throughout New England, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Great Britain. Attending from Bryant were Laurie Nash, director of student activities; Chuck Merrihew, assistant director of campus center operations; Sheryl Weise, a senior senator; and Kelly Hennessey, a senior and president of the Student Programming Board.

The group learned that London students control their on-campus social lives with an administrative structure that resembles Brycol, which consists of a board of directors, an executive committee, and managers and employees of the small businesses—all students.

In London, the General Union Council, (similar to Brycol's board) governs the University of London Union (similar to Brycol's executive committee), which is made up of three officers who as seniors are elected to hold the one-year ULU positions after they graduate. It is the ULU that runs the day-to-day campus activities of the 40 London colleges.

Under the ULU are 10 university senators (similar to Brycol managers), who represent the academic majors. Using student (employee) input, the senators suggest various policies and activities they would like to see implemented. These suggestions are moved up the line to the council. If approved, they become policy. There is no administrative tinkering.

Despite this structural similarity, however, there is a quite a contrast in the British student's perspective on social activities.

At Bryant, student activities are social program oriented: concerts, mixers, dances and movies. In London, they are politically oriented first, and social second. It is common to see a London student's social life revolve around demonstrations on such issues as cuts in financial aid or apartheid. They will engage in social activities later.

For the Bryant contingent, London was not all business, however; they found a little time to enjoy some of London's sights. They visited with the Lord Major of Coventry, dined with Princess Anne, listened to a debate given by the Oxford Debating Society and took a cruise on the Thames River. According to Laurie Nash, "we were treated like kings and queens."

It is hoped that the findings of the conference will prove useful in enhancing the programming of Bryant student activities.

QUICKLY

...Charles Quigley, associate professor of marketing, and Diane Longabaugh, marketing instructor, and Barney Raffield, associate professor of marketing, presented papers at the October 10 Atlantic Marketing Association meeting. Quigley and Longabaugh's paper is titled "The Influence of Publics on Segmentation Strategy for Alcohol Treatment Programs: An Analysis of a Non-profit Health Service Provider's Response." Raffield's paper is titled "Student Evaluations of the Ethics of Marketing Practices: A Replication With a New Generation and Further Implications for the Role of Marketing Education"...

...Pat Norton, Sarkisian professor, spoke in Cambridge in late September at the opening session of The Basic Course in Economic Development, a week-long course for economic development practitioners from around the U.S. His talk was titled "The U.S. in the New World Economy." Norton also spoke on October 8 at the annual meeting of the Rhode Island Resource Conservation and Development Executive Council. He discussed the management of Rhode Island's growth...

...Frank Bingham, assistant professor of marketing, has had two papers accepted for publication in the spring. "Distribution and Its Relevance to Educational Marketing Efforts" will run in the Journal of Professional Services Marketing. "The Early Years of Publicity Programs and Institutions of Higher Learning" will run in Higher Education Marketeer...

...Bryant's Christmas party committee has set the date: Saturday, December 20, with cocktails at 6:30 and dinner at 7:30 p.m. After dinner, dance to the music of "Horizon," playing all your favorites...

...Dan Ryan, an MST instructor, carried the Bryant name to China last summer when he visited Beijing as part of an auditing delegation for the People-to-People program. While there, he received help from Richard Rochon '83, an executive with the Great Wall Sheraton Hotel-Beijing, who provided the group with much-needed hotel rooms...

CALENDAR

MONDAY, OCTOBER 20

Interviewing Skills

Part 2 - workshop
by Career Services.
Also October 23 & 28
M44
1 - 2 p.m.

"Alcohol & Other Drug Abuse"

Talk by Ann Hines
from Good Hope Center
M42
3:30 - 4:30 p.m.

How to Plan Effective Presentations

Seminar
The CENTER
8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

Controlled Drinking Experiment

MRC Dining Room
6:30 p.m.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21

Alcohol Awareness Fair

Rotunda
9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Interviewing Skills

Part 1 - workshop
by Career Services
M44
3:30 - 4:30 p.m.

How to Deliver Effective Presentations

2-Day Seminar
The CENTER
8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22

Successful Classroom

Discussions workshop
Instructional Development Center
Time & Location TBA

Movie

"Kevin's Story"
Auditorium
1 - 4 p.m.

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 26

Eucharist

CMD Conference Room 4
Noon & 9 p.m.

Protestant Services

MRC Conference Room 1
Noon

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 27

Successful Telephone Techniques

Seminar
The CENTER
8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Bryant Forum

Biltmore Plaza Hotel
3:30 p.m.

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29

Phonothon

386 A&B
6 p.m.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 2

Eucharist

CMD Conference Room 4
Noon & 9 p.m.

Protestant Services

MRC Conference Room 1
Noon

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3

Job Search Techniques workshop

by Career Services
M44
3:30 - 4:30 p.m.

Time Management Follow-up

Seminar
The CENTER
8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

SPORTS

MONDAY, OCTOBER 20

Women's Volleyball

Stonehill - Lowell
7 p.m.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21

Women's Soccer

Salve Regina
3:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22

Women's Volleyball

AIC
7 p.m.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23

Women's Tennis

Faculty, Staff, Administration
"Play-off"
3 p.m.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25

Men's Soccer

Stonehill
1 p.m.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 27

Women's Soccer

Nassau Community
3 p.m.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28

Women's Volleyball

Northeastern
7 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29

Men's Soccer

Holy Cross
3:30 p.m.

'Thorn' new hoops coach

by John Gillooly
Sports Information Director

He once was a thorn in the side of Bryant basketball coaches, but now Ralph Tomasso is a member of the Indians hoop staff.

Tomasso, a two-time captain and star performer for Barrington College when the Warriors and Bryant battled in the old Naismith Conference, joined the Bryant staff last month as the new women's varsity basketball coach.

"I have always admired the Bryant program ever since I played against Bryant in college," Tomasso said. "I'm looking forward to working with the players and the staff."

In his junior year in 1974, while captain of the team, Tomasso led Barrington to an 89-87 upset of Bryant in the first of two meetings between the Indians and Warriors that season. It was one of only three Barrington victories in 18 games against Bryant during the 1970's.

A former West Warwick High School star, Tomasso has been the coach of the junior high girls basketball team there for four years. During his tenure, the girls compiled a 61-19 record, highlighted by two divisional championships and two berths in the state title game. A faculty member at West Warwick Junior High, Tomasso also is the first head coach of the West Warwick girls varsity soccer team, and has served as head coach of the West Warwick boys cross country team. In addition to coaching, Tomasso is director of the West Warwick summer basketball league, and the West Warwick girls basketball camp.

Tomasso is the third head coach in the 11-year history of the Bryant women's basketball program. He succeeds Mike McKee, who resigned last summer after coaching the Lady Indians for nine years. Tomasso makes his Bryant debut Nov. 2, when his squad meets Lowell University at Lowell.

By the way . . .

by Gloria Yahn
Assistant Editor

- William Macera, instructor of management, married Maureen Becks, a counselor at the Community College of Rhode Island, on August 23. Congratulations to them both!
- Carol Platt, development office, tells me she is going to be a grandmother in early spring. It's funny - somehow I don't associate the word grandmother with Carol.
- Ernie Almonte '78, accounting instructor, and his wife, Kathy, are the proud parents of a second son, David, born in early September.
- I, personally, would like to pay final tribute to John Lanoue, who passed away recently. Although I may not have seen a smile on John's face very often, the smile in his heart was certainly transparent to me. I'll miss him!