Reunion Registration Details

Five important reasons to attend Reunion@Homecoming 2017

We could easily come up with more than five, but let's get down to basics. Reunion is a time to reconnect with your Bryant friends in person and revisit the campus where you spent four formative years and made connections that will last a lifetime.

Why come back? After all, depending on your graduation year, you already follow your closest friends on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and/or Snapchat. If you live internationally, you are linked together on What's App or We Chat, or you want to actually see those folks who have no digital footprint – they still exist!

Bryant's campus exudes a sense of place and pride that's as strong as our drive to excel. And what about visiting the Rotunda? Seeing if the Country Comfort still stands? Checking out the Archway? Or taking a trip down memory lane on the East Side campus. Some things, you can only experience in person. So here we go:

1 School spirit. Whether you are an Indian or a Bulldog – the Black and Gold spirit is a strong as ever. Besides football, which now has a tradition of more than 15 years, Bryant has an official fight song, a 60-member pep band, two dance teams, and cheerleaders! You're going to catch the spirit too when you attend the Bryant vs. Fordham football game on Saturday afternoon.

2 Tour Campus. You'll want to see it all – new and old. The award-winning Academic Innovation Center, named one of the best designed facilities in the country this year, and the transformed Fisher Student Center will be on your tour. Later, you can peel off and visit that townhouse or dorm where you lived. Best of all, since you are an alum you can walk right through that Archway and relive the memory of your commencement!

3 The Rotunda. Remember sitting on the benches around the ficus trees? The shape and feel (and echo) of Bryant's landmark campus crossroad is still the same, and students still gather in the Rotunda between classes. Clubs still host fund raisers and games. At Reunion, we turn the Rotunda into an indoor tent, displaying class flags across the ceiling, hosting a welcome reception on Friday, and a hypnotist Friday night. On Saturday, our 1990's party will be inside with live music.

4 The Country Comfort/Cornerstone. No, it's not a bar anymore (sorry folks who remember those Super Giants). Those days are long gone, since the drinking age in RI has been 21 for almost 30 years. However, the facility is now an open space where innovative ideas will take shape in the form of student-initiated entrepreneurship. Reunion parties for the classes of 1977, 1982, and 1987 will be nearby so you can tour the renovated building.

5 Faculty and tailgating. Many of your favorite faculty come back every year for reunion. Want to see someone in particular? Let us know and we'll invite him or her to join us. The faculty tailgate is an annual event and everyone is welcome – and you'll probably even catch a few minutes with Ron and Kati Machtley.

EXPANDING THE WORLD OF OPPORTUNITY

THE CAMPAIGN FOR BRYANT'S BOLD FUTURE

Throughout our history, Bryant's hallmark has been inspiring students to excel.

Since the launch of our capital campaign, gifts from alumni, parents, and friends have been put to use strategically and immediately. Already, the campaign has had a transformative and lasting impact on the student experience, the faculty experience, and the momentum of the University as a whole. Our trajectory is undeniable.

Visit campus and you'll see the campaign's positive impact everywhere you look. New facilities have inspired innovative ways of teaching and learning. New programs are challenging students to achieve success at rates other colleges envy. And new academic positions are setting new standards of excellence.

Your participation will allow us to position Bryant even more competitively for the future. To learn more, look for Bryant magazine's annual philanthropy issue in your mailbox this summer or visit www.bryant.edu/giving.

Enthusiastic Bryant alumni and students gather at TripAdvisor's Needham, MA headquarters.

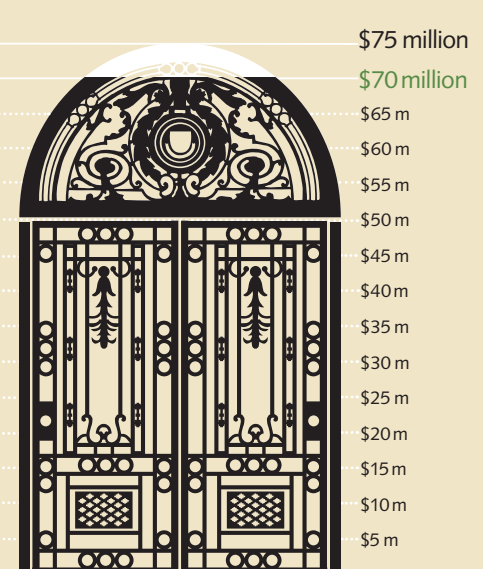

Corporate Friends Embrace the Bryant Community

TripAdvisor is one of a growing number of corporate friends that enthusiastically help build and galvanize the Bryant community. Happy to showcase their fantastic new headquarters in Needham, MA, TripAdvisor played host to students from the International Business Association along with alumni representing a wide range of class years and career paths.

The evening consisted of a tour and informational session for the students about potential career paths at TripAdvisor followed by a networking reception. The room was bursting at the seams for this sold out program and the loud din of energized conversations reflected the success of the evening. Professor Ramirez, Director of the International Business Program organized a panel of four alumni to talk about working in a global economy. The panel featured Noel Watson '97, VP Finance and Chief Accounting Officer at TripAdvisor, Brittaney Browne '14, Compensation Analyst at TripAdvisor, and two alumni of the first graduating class of the IB program, Rebecca Pilla '08 and Robert Fox '08.

"Thanks to the TripAdvisor team for hosting us and becoming part of the educational experience of our students. So much of what needs to be learned happens outside the classroom. Thanks also for allowing our alumni to connect, not only with each other but also, current students. Events like this make a big impact on the Bryant Community."
