On Friday afternoon, December 14, the Bryant Athletic Club clicked to its initial victory of the season at the Bryant College Gymnasium by downing the Brown Athletic Club 50-48.

The Indians jumped off to an early lead in the first half and led at half-time 29-17. The third quarter saw a much improved Brown five close the gap and press the warriors to the final whistle. Student Draft Classifications Explained

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, has announced that Selective Service will not make any special provisions to give students 30 days after the end of their academic year to enlist in the service of their choice. General Hershey explained that such arrangements are not necessary this year as the 1951 amendments to the Selective Service law provide that students are henceforth to be deferred instead of having their induction postponed. They will, therefore, have ample opportunity after the completion of their academic year to enlist in the service of their choice.

The Selective Service Act of 1948 provided that any student who, while satisfactorily pursuing a fulltime course, was ordered for induction would upon presenting the facts to his local board have his induction postponed until the end of his academic year, the student became liable for immediate induction. The 1951 amendments to the Act changed this, General Hershey pointed out, by providing that any student pursuing a full-time course who was deferment.

Must Present Facts

A student who is entitled to a statutory I-S deferment must be ordered for induction, General Hershey pointed out, before he can be deferred by his local board. The lawsays that he shall be deferred "upon presenting the facts" that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is ordered for induction should not be thrown into a panic, General Hershey explained. All that is necessary is for him to request the Dean or Registrar to immediately satisfactory work and that such work actually commenced prior to the date the order for induction was mailed. Enrollment, acceptance and registration do not count; actual attendance at classes is the prerequisite.

The Selective Service law places upon each registrant the obligation of keeping the local board advised of his current status. It would therefore be a wise move, General Hershey suggested, for each student to have his school send official notice to the local board as soon as the student has been notified that he has passed his preinduction physical examination. If the local board has been put on notice that the student is pursuing a full-time course, General Hershey advised, there will be little danger of a last minute mix-up which might result in the induction of a student legally entitled to a statutory I-S deferment.

The new Selective Service law provided for the Class I-S statutory deferment and gave the Presiordered for induction would, if he dent authority to prescribe regulahad never before been deferred as a tions governing the deferment of student, be deferred in Class I-S students in such numbers as he until the end of his academic year, deemed necessary to the maintenance but he could receive only one such of the national health, safety or interest. The President subsequently prescribed a Class II-S student deferment program. Students may be placed in this classification, General Hershey explained, at the discretion of their local boards. To assist the boards in determining which students should be given II-S deferments, a method was established whereby students who are in the prescribed upper portion of the male members of their class or who made a score of 70 or better on the Selective Service College Qualification Test may be considered by their local board for deferment. The laws provide, however, that local boards are not required to degive his local board official notice fer men who meet one or both of that he is a full-time student doing the criteria. This is still discretionary on the part of the board. General policy is that students meeting either or both criteria will be deferred.

Students May Appeal

Students who meet one or both of the criteria for II-S deferment have a right of appeal if their local board does not defer them, General Hershey reminded students. The law provides that a student may appeal to the State Appeal Board within 10 days from the date the local board mails the notice that they have placed him in Class I-A. There is no particular form for taking an appeal, General Hershey explained. A letter to the local the next academic year. In making name and Selective Service number is all that is necessary. If the State Appeal Board sustains the local board but it is a split decision, General Hershey pointed out, the student then has a right to appeal to the National Selective Service Appeal Board. An appeal to the National Board is taken in the same manner as an appeal to the State Board. All that is necessary another letter to the local board.

Many students have been confused, General Hershey observed, in differentiating between the I-S and II-S deferments. The II-S deferment is considered on the basis of class standing or qualification test and is discretionary on the part of the local board. It may be granted by the local board each successive year, enabling students who meet the criteria to complete their education. The I-S deferment, on the other hand, is a "one-shot" proposition designed only to allow those students who do not have eligibility for consideration for II-S deferments, and who have never before received a student deferment or postponement to complete their current academic

A student who receives a I-S deferment until the end of his current academic year may in some instances receive a II-S deferment for the next year, General Hershey revealed. If during the academic year his work was such that he is in the prescribed upper portion of his class, or if he takes the Selective Service College Qualification Test and makes a score of 70 or better, the local board can consider him for a II-S deferment for the following academic year.

Class Standing Important

Local boards generally determine during the summer months to whom II-S deferments shall be granted for board setting forth the student's their determination, they consider the student's class standing for the previous.academic year as furnished by the school on Selective Service man student with a I-S deferment that the Student Senate sponsor may keep his class work to a point dance, the proceeds of which will rewhere he is in the prescribed upper vert to the Student Senate. portion of his class at the end of that academic year or during the year take the College Qualification Test so that he thereby becomes eligible for consideration for a II-S deferment for the next year.

> Whether a man is classified I-S or II-S, it is a deferred classification, and not a postponement of induction, General Hershey pointed out. At the end of the academic year, the local board must reopen the classification to determine whether he qualifies for any classification other than I-A. Following the period the local board is reconsidering his case, a student has the right, if he is not deferred for another year, to enlist in the service of his choice, and his right to enlist in the service of his choice, General Hershey revealed, continues until he is ordered to report for induction. The Selective Service law, however, prohibits a man from enlisting in the service of his choice once he has been ordered to report for induction.

This for Now

By Norma Slocum

And the Bryant Athletic Club defeats the Rhode Island School of Design 96-55! Of this we should be proud, and of our spectacular team we should be exultant! This is only the second game on our schedule, and already every one of us recognizes the veritable powerhouse of which we of Bryant can now boast. However, winning a game is but a small part of being a team. The word team as defined by Webster means "a number of persons associated together;" but, should we add one more syllable so that the word would read teamwork, it would give additional meaning and significance to the original definition, that being "work done by associates, all subordinating personal prominence to the efficiency of the whole.

Truly, what better way is there to describe the persevering members of the Bryant Athletic Club than this. There is only one condition under which you could not agree with me, and that is if you were not present at any of the games already played. Remember, seeing is believing!

Just as teamwork is indeed a characteristic of our newly formed basketball club, so, too, is it a requisite for the efficient and beneficial function of all campus organizations. Those of us who hold membership in the various college activities can well be proud of the worth-while projects we have planned and executed and the standards we have set and maintained throughout this spirit of coperation. The continuance of such a collective inerest can bring only credit to our school, and the results of such an interest cannot help but influence for good the incoming classes, who will feel obligated and honored to uphold these established ideals. Pretty fancy talk, you say; but through our actions we can have such an effect.

Next month another group of seniors will be accomplishing the completion of their college requirements (there may be a few who will find it necessary to slip in under the wire at the last minute, but that's what makes life interesting). Yes, February is drawing near, which means the actual beginnings of the compiling and preparing of another

In order to preserve the year's events for posterity, or otherwise just for old time's sake, we are once again faced with the task of issuing a Bryant annual. Many of us know that this is no easy task. It can be made more facile by an earnest application of hard, painstaking work. This work cannot be done by a mere few, as you well realize. Therefore, I confront you with another petition. Possessors of originality, artistic ability, applicable suggestions, and natural moments of leisure are urged to announce their willingness to help in the publication of the best and biggest yearbook yet presented to a graduating class and all other purchasers.

Now surely there are some among us who are shielding undiscovered talents. Oh yes, granted you know you have these talents, but do the rest of us know it? Not in all cases; but we should like to invite you to reveal for our knowledge any such attributes. All that's asked of you is an honestto-goodness admission that you would be more than glad to offer your services for the successful issuance of the 1952 Ledger.

How about it? The time and place of each meeting of the staff will be posted on the weekly bulletin board notices. Just check up and then come up to the Student Activities Office on the third floor of the Administration Building. Better still, come up at your own convenience.

Now that you are convinced that combined efforts are necessary once again for the smooth operation of any and all undertakings, I shall conclude This for Now, hoping you will give yourself as well as the Ledger some thoughtful consideration in connection with the matter at hand.

Basketball at Bryant

It was but a few short weeks ago that the Bryant Athletic Club took upon itself the controversial task of proving to all interested parties that Varsity Basketball was essential to the Bryant College Activities program. Even the most optimistic supporter of this movement has been pleasantly surprised by the results of this campaign. The spirit and drive of the basketball team itself along with the fine support which has been unhesitantly displayed, has proved without a doubt, that the spirit of basketball is here to stay. Let us look now into the future. Let us now await the reaction of those who hold the key to Bryant's basketball future

Along the Lide Lines

By DICK HORNBY

The formation of the Bryant A A basketball team has created a great deal of enthusiasm, and students are having the opportunity to see a star-studded five that promises great things. Although this club has played only three games, they have excelled in all three, dumping the Brown A A, the Rhode Island School of Design, and the Rhode Island School of Pharmacy.

This club has several outstanding hardwood performers in the talented forms of George Higginson, Ken Gillis, Ted Fleming, Frenchie Fortier, George Sonntag, Paul Hannaway, Lowell Leonard, and Joe Dolan, only to mention a few.

This club is the shot-in-the-arm Bryant needs to aid its athletic program. Since the abandoning of varsity basketball numerous students have looked forward to a club of this type. If this venture proves successful, varsity basketball may be revived at Bryant next year. Non-support led to the failure of last year's club. Much is attributable to this; as the veteran enrollment is decreasing, the stu dents have become more sports-minded. Don't misunderstand Most students in the veteran class would have gladly attended the games last year, but because of family obligations, work occupied most of their spare time. This is only one reason which caused the Student Senate to forego basketball for this year.

Several fine games are on tap for the AA; so look for game announcements, and keep basketball on the campus. With the Christmas vacation just recently over, the Intramural League has been rather idle, with the exception of a few games.

The Day League is turning into a three-way race with Chi Gamma, the Newman Club, and Beta Iota Beta pushing each other for the lead. Chi Gamma at present sporting an 8 and 4 record, holds a half game lead over the Newman Club with BIB a game off the pace. Tau Ep's five has fallen apart lately and seems to be pretty much out of the race.

Over in the Night League, Alpha Theta Chi still rolls on with authority as their 10-0 record gives them a two-game lead over BIB. their only worry. Beta Sigma, Phi Sig, and Kappa Tau continue to battle for the number three spot with Beta Sigma currently sitting

Soon the final games will be concluded and then the playoffs. Don't use this corner as the "Green Sheet" for picking the winners, but Alpha Theta Chi is a cinch to cop Night League honors, with Chi Gamma Iota receiving the bid in the Day League. BIB's night and day league fives are two clubs that can be classified as spoilers.

"Player of the Week" Extend Your Vocal

This week the Archway is not only proud but happy to honor Ken Gillis as Player of the Week. To call Ken Mr. Basketball of Bryant would not be the least exaggerating.

Ken's play this week and throughout the whole intramural basketball season has been nothing short of sensational. Gillis's last game against BIB was one worth watching as he flipped in twenty-two points, again pacing his Alpha Theta Chi five on to victory. Big Ken leads both Day and Night Leagues in scoring, as he has hit for better than twenty points a game.

Gillis is presently playing on Bry ant's A. A. basketball team, a group of players which compose Bryant's best. In his last game against Rhode Island School of Design, Ken notched thirty-one points, having a gala night in the scoring parade.

The big man (6 '4") makes his home in Newport, R. I., where he has played with numerous semi-pro clubs, playing with such stars as Dino Martin and Dick Hole.

Gillis is the type of player basketball coaches dream of. Versatility is a big factor in Ken's playing, as he can shoot, dribble, and has good basketball savvy.

(Continued from Page 1) in six points. Higginson played a brilliant floor game in addition to forty point lead. This paved the side. As was expected the leading scorers for the Warriors were George Sountag and Ken Gillis, who gathered in 22 and 17 points respectively. Paul Hanaway also contributed 9 points to the winning cause including his sensational hook shot that brought the crowd to its feet with a roar. Flashy Ted Fleming played his usual brilliant floor game setting up numerous scores with his fine passing.

The College of Pharmacy uncovered a star of its own in Dick St. Pierre who led both clubs in total coring with a nifty 26 points.

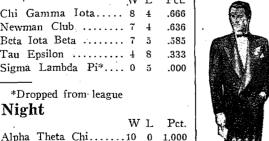

Third Straight Victory

The hustling Indians of the Bryant A.C. swept to its third consecutive victory by downing the Rhode Island School of Design at the Bryant Gymnasium on January 9th. The final score was 96-

Bryant's hard-driving five put on a phenomenal display of sharp-shooting as they hit the nets for an overall percentage of .567 from the floor. It was one of those nights where everyone was hot at once and three of the Indians dumped in better than twenty points. Ken Gillis and little Georgie Higginson led the Warrior quintet with 31 points per man. They were followed closely in the scoring column by "Frenchie" Fortier who threw in 22 points, 16 of them in the second half. Fortier showed fine form as he directed the Bryant attack.

The Indians were playing without the services of their leading scorer, George Sonntag, who was forced out of action by a cold. This fact seemed to mean very little to the hustling men of the Orange and Black who played their outstanding game of the young season. The fast-breaking of Bryant, particularly, in the second and third periods, was a sight to behold. With Gillis, Higginson, Fortier, Fleming, and

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 31... THE MOUNTAIN GOAT

He thought they were trying to make him the butt-end of a joke when he was asked to judge cigarette mildness with a mere puff of one brand and a quick sniff of another. The fancy foot-work didn't dazzle him! He knew that the pinnacle of pleasure comes from steady smoking ... and that there is only one test that gives you enough time to permit conclusive proof. Smokers throughout America have made the same decision!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why ...

After all the Mildness Tests...

In a Pig's Eye

Fred "Peck" Comstock

On New Year's Eve I stood sadly by and watched the demise of a personage of nobility. Although he went quietly and without pain, he shall be missed; BON VOY-AGE, LÒRD CALVERT.

I heard a Bryant man say he didn't think he'd try to get the "Key." He told of a fellow who had one and then went insane trying to unlock something with it. I wonder if he tried the front door at Harriet Hall?

Incidentally, if anyone is interested in playing pinochle, see Paul Lanier. We play friendly cards, a dollar a point, and $10 for a setback. (Actually the losers buy the coffee after the game.)

Why people celebrate the new year with such ardor is beyond me. I have more fun on my birthday when I beat up my mother

The tenor of life in Providence during the winter is considerably beneath that of Savannah. One man from the South was seen numbly pushing his way down Benefit Street, elegant but cold in an overcoat made from a Confederate flag. These Aristocrats from Dixie have some radical ideas about going to school above the Mason-Dixon Line. Several of them refuse to attend classes in any building but South Hall.

Young Male Lover... (A column by George Vickery, reprinted from the Miami Hurricane.)

In Defense of the

At the risk of getting a mouthful of brassknucks from Humphrey Bogart . . . I am going to stand up and defend the rights of the young male lover. Movie-tough Bogie . . . said in This Week magazine that women prefer the older lover, the life-begins-at-40 swain.

... I don't thing that women look at this problem in the proper light. The phrase "young lover" is mentioned and they immediately picture the average struggling young college beau with his usual financial shortcomings.

They see a snake-pit Don Juan or a Slop Shot Valentino. And when you say "older lover" they dreamily picture Clark Gable, Charles Boyer, Ezio Pinza and Tommy Manvillemen held up by money, plastic surgery, and padding.

The gals never think about the worn out man-over-40 who is everywhere about them. They never see their ol' dad spread out in the easy chair reading the paper with his sagging jowls resting on his sagging chest which is resting on his nonsagging belly. Or the middle aged Romeo who would have to put his teeth in to give a girl a good solid kiss. Sauve, hell.

Give us kids a chance, ladies. Either compare the young'uns with the non-movie type described, or bring in the Monty Clifts, John Dereks, Audie Murphys and Farley Grangers. Think again, girls, who would you take in a parked car, now who would ya?

Cancel the Flowers, Please, Mr. Florist

Ed Robinson, President of Chi Gamma Iota, requests that members of his fraternity please be more truthful about excuses given for absences from meetings due to the consequences which may result.

It appears that a certain member explained that he would be unable to attend a meeting because his mother was seriously ill in the hospital. Ed naturally had flowers sent to the hospital, in behalf of the fraternity, only to find that no person by a certain name was registered at the hospital, or in any other hospital in the vicinity.

and father, then top off the day by going to Chi Gamma Iota and Phi Upsity advisers and their escorts: the zoo and throwing rocks at the stork. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Messer, Dean
