Masquers Select "Girl Shy" as First Production of Year; Name Committee Chairmen at Meeting

The Masquers are making plans for their first production of the year. Tryouts will be held within the next week for the play, "Girl Shy", which was selected at a recent meeting of the Masquers. From every viewpoint this play shows promise of being one of the biggest and best productions ever presented at Bryant.

Plot Has New Twist

The play portrays a "girl shy" boy and his love-sick, girl-crazy roommate who are both about to graduate from college. Both of them decide that something must be done about Tom's shyness. At the same time, the cutest Betty Co-Ed on the campus has come to the same conclusion and has her own ideas about "curing" Tom. His father has chosen a girl he wants Tom to meet, which adds confusion and mirth to the story. The typical "boy meets girl" angle is treated in a unique manner which is not only different but is hilariously funny and extremely entertaining.

Chairmen Begin Work

The chairmen of the various committees are already hard at work checking stage equipment and make-up, planning the publicity campaign, and arranging for the printing of tickets and programs. The chairmen heading these committees are: Production Manager—Thomas Blanchard; Stage Manager—John Macko; Programs and Tickets—Bryant Volkmann; Publicity—Norma Vogel; Refreshments—Henry Matteson; Make-Up—Barbara Smalley; Usherettes—Virginia Rohe; Properties—Lillian Sedgwick, and Prompters—Eileen Doolin and Joan Linley.

Archway Dance In Gymnasium Tonight

Shades of Sadie Hawkins! We've uns is Hevin a dance!

Al Capp's world-famous comic strip and its main characters, Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae, will come to life this evening as the Archway sponsors a dance commemorating a fast-growing Autumnal American sport—that of fellows and gals having a real old-fashion break-down some time during the month of November.

It all started with a homely mountain gal who couldn't catch a husband. Her pappy arranged for a foot race with the boys of the county of Dog Patch. His daughter, Sadie Hawkins, would be privileged to marry the poor unfortunate man whom she caught.

Lacking the physical campus to stage a regular Sadie Hawkins Day race, the Archway has brought to Bryant a dance centering on this theme. Old clothes are requested so that all may enter into the spirit of a rustic evening. Square dancing, the Paul Jones, and the Virginia Reel will be presented for the enjoyment and the excitement of all. Music for the dance will be supplied by Mr. "Ab" Cole and the Smoothies of Bristol, Rhode Island.

Phi Sigma Nu Men Hold Reunion In Cal.

By RAY STEPHENS

Al Jolson has nothing on the graduating class of 1948 or on the brothers of Phi Sigma Nu. Several of them were singing "California Here I Come" weeks before graduation but a few knew that it would become a reality.

George Rouleau, Russ Coit and Emile Riendeau heeded the call of "Go West, Young Man" and were on their way to the land of sunshine (Florida papers please copy) and oranges. A week later Frank Palumbo and Paul Zingale and two other Rhode Island boys started the westward trek. At the home of Rouleau's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Rippey of North Hollywood, Phi Sig held an alumni meeting. Soon all the good times were to come to an end as Coit and Riendeau left to make an extensive tour of the northwestern states before their return to the east.

It was after they left that I made my appearance in Los Angeles. Then there were still four members left. Sightseeing among Southern California's beauty spots occupied our time for the next few weeks until it was time for Zingale, Palumbo and me to take our departure. So, after farewells to the many friends made in California and to George Rouleau, the one remaining, we took our leave. Our homeward trip took us through Grand, Zion, Bryce Canyons and Yellowstone Parks.

With pleasant memories of a wonderful vacation remaining with all of us, I speak for all when I say that within a year or two we all intend to return and make "the San Fernando Valley our home" and establish the California branch of Phi Sig Alumni. (Continued on Page 4)

New Scoreboard To Be Installed in Gym

With the basketball season just around the corner a new scoreboard will be constructed and placed in the Bryant Auditorium. It is to be located on the railing of the stairs leading to Alumni Hall facing the stage. This has been made possible through the efforts of Mr. James Murphy, a member of the Administration staff.

The new scoreboard will be ten feet long and two and a half feet high. It will be constructed so as to show the point totals by periods and the totals for the entire game. According to information received, the scoreboard will be operated by a person standing on the landing at the top of the stairs.

The scoreboard has been financed by the Coca-Cola Company and a small "coke" sign, suspended by hooks will appear below the scoreboard.

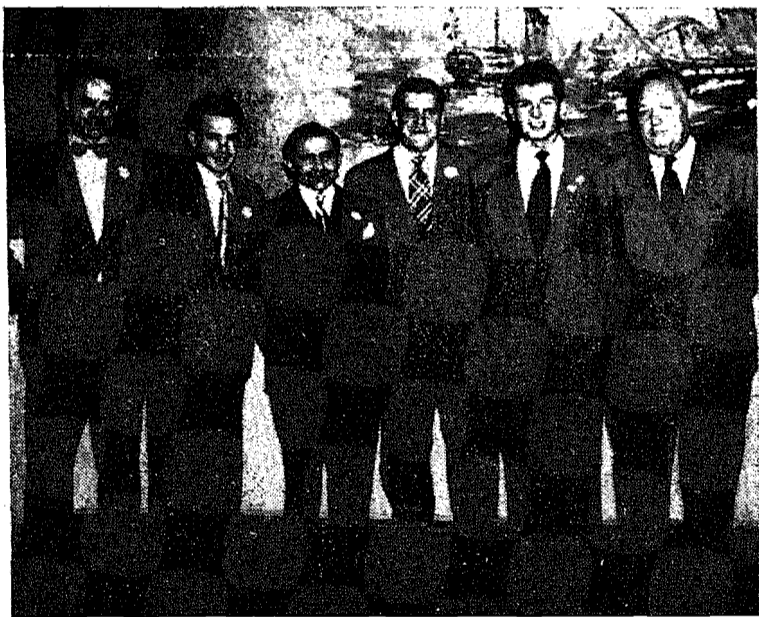

President pro tem Ufford Forbes, of the Accounting Society, announced that the speaker for the first meeting to be held at Johnson's Hummocks on November 4 will be Mr. Edward C. Daley, a Certified Public Accountant with the firm of Ward Fisher and Company of Providence. Mr. Daley will speak on "What Is Expected of a Junior Accountant."

Prior to joining, the firm of Ward Fisher and Company, Mr. Daley was a tax and accounting instructor at Bryant College for nearly 14 years.

At a business meeting preceding the dinner, the election of officers for the semester will take place.

During an interview with the leaders of the society yesterday it was learned that the prime goal this year will be to limit its membership to those who are actively interested in the purposes of the organization.

Business Administration Society Holds First Banquet; 200 Attend

Thursday, October 21, the Business Administration Society held its first banquet of the semester at Johnson's Hummocks in Providence. The attendance of 200 far exceeded all records.

Preceding the dinner an informal business meeting was held. Nominations for and the election of a vice-president and a treasurer were the main points of business to be considered. The results of the voting showed that Edwin H. Keast was elected vice-president and Robert H. Graham, treasurer. President Nunes carried through the remainder of the business meeting by reviewing the aims and objectives of the society, and by appointing of several committees to carry out the business of the semester.

The main speaker of the evening, Mr. W. L. Wilcox of the Union Trust Co., Winchester, Mass., talked on "Opportunities in Administration and Selling."

"There are opportunities and there are not, since there are only those opportunities which you make for yourself," Mr. Wilcox said. He brought home the thought by reminding the society members that if you do not attempt to forge ahead in business you will surely stand still.

"For a man to sell," Wilcox stated, "he must have complete knowledge of his product, the product must be equal to its uses, and he must be sincere."

Discussing opportunities further, Mr. Wilcox proffered his opinion that money in business occupation lies in three fields: selling, administration, and production. In addition, he gave his opinion of the present advantages of seeking employment in certain industries.

Purchase of New Athletic Field Announced by Administration

The administration has announced the purchase of an athletic field. The land is located on Pitman Street and is bounded by Butler Avenue on the east and by East George Street on the south. From Vice-President Jacobs it was learned that work on the field will begin immediately. It is expected that the field will be ready for use next spring.

Even now plans are under way for the construction of a field-house equipped with facilities needed to carry out successfully the sports program of the college.

Dinner Party for Dorm Students Huge Success

Thursday evening at six o'clock approximately 300 quizzical dorm students showed their name badges at the gym door and were admitted to a gym decorated with lanterns, black cats, pumpkins and corn stocks.

They were rather quizzical and skeptical because they did not know what was in store for them. The students had been told to report to the gym for a buffet supper instead of the dorm dining rooms. Movies and dancing were to follow the dinner but they did not know that it would be the movie "Sensation," starring Eleanor Powell and Dennis O'Keefe. Nor did they think they would be dancing square dances under the direction of a well-known local caller, Mr. Ray Knapp. In the interlude between the square dances and the record dances, cider, doughnuts and apples were served. These were the enjoyable discoveries the students made as the evening progressed.

This party was the second party which the combined dorms had attended. One month ago, on September 28, they had gathered on the campus for a hot dog roast. Nor will this be the last party, for Mr. Jacobs has decided to hold one a month, the next one to be held on December 1. The (Continued on Page 3)

There Is Need For Representation

The ARCHWAY attempts to maintain a non-partisan point of view on all student activities. However, on the issue of student representation raised by the letters to the Editor in the last issue of the ARCHWAY, the staff feels that it should present the facts, offer corrective criticism and promote corrective measures that are such.

Much discussion has been carried on in the past as to the student representation on the Student Council. As the Council now exists it is primarily a social regulatory body made up of a representative from each of the recognized organizations on the campus. The number of organizations represented is 26, each having one representative and consequently one vote. These 26 members represent about 1,100 students or less than 50% of the student body.

The ARCHWAY feels that while these council members are doing a fine job of representing their own organizations they cannot think unbiasedly in the interests of the student body as a whole. We propose that the Student Council be composed of one representative and an alternate from each semester: Accounting and Finance, Business Administration, Teacher-Training, and Secretarial Science, in addition to the present members of the council. These representatives are to be duly elected by the students of the groups concerned. This Student Council will then be able to function as a legislative and coordinating group between the administration and the student body of Bryant College.

In order to set up and carry out this plan it will be necessary to have each class organize and elect its officers who will promote and coordinate the collegiate functions of each class. Class organization must take place before the student body at large can have representation on the Student Council. Formation of plans for the organization of class officers should be accomplished through a meeting of representatives from each division of each class within the college. Lack of student representation in the past has been the result of no organization of the classes. In order to gain such representation the students must organize their classes so that an elected representative may be added to the Student Council.

For the promotion and organization of these plans, the ARCHWAY lends its labor and facilities in the interests of the welfare of the student body at large.

Do You Hear Someone "Whispurring"?

Following the publication of the last issue of the ARCHWAY, considerable comment and criticism transpired in regard to the omission of the column entitled "Whispurrings." This column deals with the latest love affairs of some of the students at Bryant College both on and off campus. Many people believe that this column should not have been omitted from the paper. Others are of the opinion that with the exclusion of this column the ARCHWAY has taken itself out of the "yellow journalism" class and ascended to the lofty levels of good college journalism.

The latter opinion was the thought of the staff when they dropped this column from the paper. After much research into the contents of other college newspapers, it was found that our paper was the only member of the Associated Collegiate Press that maintained a column of this type.

.....Gossip columns are for high school newspapers where everyone knows the individual written about. Here at Bryant approximately 90% of the students do not know the individuals concerned. The same group of students who make this column in the first issue continue to make the copy for all subsequent issues. Therefore, the student who does not see his name appearing in "Whispurrings" has no particular interest in that section of the paper.

When a person reaches the college level, his mind is supposed to have matured to a higher plane of thinking, both about his academic subjects and the every day happenings around him. He begins to forget the childish ways of his high school days, placing himself in a more adult stage. He should utilize adult reasoning to the uppermost degree. Since one of the best ways we have for expressing these advanced ideas is through out student publication, then should we not have this paper on the highest pinnacle

In A Pig's Eye

Take to your rocket ships, brother pigs! It's an invasion from Mars!.....or is it? It could still be Hallowe'en, couldn't it?.....or could it? Nope, it's not that at all! It's much more exciting than even that! In fact it looks just like perdition on Earth! Whatcha think?.....It's Rush-Week at Bryant!!

Bryant is now the perfect picture of what the perfect college should be.....Sure!.....Comes the Revolution, and we'll all drive Buick convertibles to school!!

Someone not quite familiar with the latest systems of educational development might be a wee bit, shall we say, amazed?.....perhaps even a little dumbfounded at the total cooperation with which the students respond in order to show the school spirit of which Bryant College is so justly proud. What other school can boast of such enthusiastic spirit; such ingenious spirit; such animation of spirit; such age-old spirit of successful teamwork;.....such bottled-up spirit?

And this spirit really has been bottled up! Week after week went by, and we saw our fellow hogs half-consciously wriggling around looking and acting like inhibited, frustrated book-carriers. Now, if there's anything worse than being a book-carrier, it's being frustrated!.....And can you imagine anyone's being both at the same time? Horrible, isn't it?

Then at last it happened! Bells were rung—songs were sung—and then someone shouted, "Rush Week!"

That was the signal! The passing parade began. Polka-dotted faces, multi-pigtailed hair, old clothes, torn clothes, loud clothes, screaming clothes.....they all passed. And still the "boot-licking" pledges march on!

Tourists, sight-seeing in picturesque New England, saw the best sight of all when they looked upon a group of conscientious sorority pledges, who were fishing with a ruler and string in the Providence River. Most people really felt sorry for the poor fish, but one little innocent said in a pre-adolescent voice,

"Gee, Ma! I wanna go ta Bryant when I get big! Gee, Ma..... kin I, huh, kin I?"

The week is only half over, though.....the rest and best is yet to come!

Which only goes to prove that —though we may not have much cents, we sure do have fun!!

Move To Initiate A "Freshman Week"

Rumors are flying among the big men and women on campus for the establishing of freshmen activities. Such a plan was thought of some time ago, but was discarded with the advent of the Ex-G. I.'s who thought the idea would not fit into their intensive study program. Now the BMOC and BWOC feel that many of the features that are associated with universities and colleges are lost because the freshmen days are not in effect here.

Proceeding from the principal assumption that you are in college for an education, the ad libbers of the rumor believe that the Student Council could put the program into effect with intelligent moderation without the affect being fatal to study requirements. The freshmen would be subordinate to upper classmen from the beginning of the college year until the day before the Thanksgiving holiday. After the welcome address by President Jacobs, the freshmen would be required to attend an orientation assembly under the supervision of the Student Council. Here the freshmen would learn of Bryant traditions, college activities, organizations, scholarships, and the little things that would be required of the freshmen during the twelve weeks.

The freshmen would wear an orange and black lid, or a button, or something else to designate them as freshmen. With the supervision of one of the leaders from the Glee Club, the frosh would be required to learn the Bryant College Alma Mater, Bryant Forever, and Sons of Bryant. At the big fracas, the All-College Dance, the freshmen would meet the upper classmen. The dance would also give the

Meet Another Bryant Sportsman - - This Time, Mr. Platt, Basketball Coach

By MEL STONE

The official basketball season is about to begin, so the second personality to be introduced is Basketball Coach, Harry Platt. Coach Platt was born and raised in New York City. When he entered DeWitt Clinton High School, his basketball talents were discovered and he was chosen to play on the school team. He played two years at this school and, because his parents moved to another part of New York, he was forced to attend another school. The second school was Yonkers High. Coach Platt also played two years of basketball at this school. When he was graduated from Yonkers High School, he decided to attend Brown University. While at Brown he was one of the star basketballers. In a game against Northeastern University, Harry scored 48 points. He was star player on the team that won the New England Championship in 1939. The team was then invited to the playoffs at Philadelphia. Upon being graduated from Brown, he joined the Philadelphia Sphas, and he later played with the Rochester Royals.

Bryant College considers itself to be extremely fortunate to have such an outstanding basketball player and coach to direct its team. After seeing the large turnout for the team, we are sure that we will see one of the best teams in Bryant's history.

It is hoped that Coach Platt will find some good candidates with which to form a good team that will enable him to have a successful season.

Good luck, Harry!

COACH HARRY PLATT

Ten Teams Take Court In Gents Hoop Loop

The men's Basketball League will get underway November 15. The league, which last year was so successful, will consist of a day league and a night league.

The day league consists of eight teams composed of: The Galaxies, Beta Sigma Chi, Chi Gamma Iota, Sigma Lambda Pi, Nutmegs, Phi Sigma Nu, Tau Epsilon and the Comets.

The night league has ten teams listed, consisting of The Falcons, Hawks, Eagles, Beta Iota Beta, Newman Club, Kappa Tau, The Studs Nine, Terriors, Rugmakers and the Owls.

Games will be played on Monday and Thursday afternoons and evenings. Each league will play two rounds of competition, with the champion of each round playing for the championship of the league. The champions of each league will play a best two out of three series for the school Intramural Championship.

All teams' rosters must be placed with Mr. Dickenman by Friday, November 5. Each team is allowed twelve men on the roster and cannot add any men until the roster has dropped below eight men. A forfeiture fee of $10 will be put up by each team and will be forfeited in the event that any team fails to appear for two games.

From the looks of the various teams, this year's leagues will present even more thrills and hard play than last year, and a greater interest is being shown by the student body, which leads us to believe that the program will be a complete success.

Only a poor man has distant relatives.

Hoopsters' Practice Sessions Commence

If you happened to be walking by the gym on Monday, October 25, and heard a big commotion, a new sound that you hadn't heard before this season, don't be alarmed because it was just the candidates for the Bryant Varsity Basketball team trying out before Coach Harry Platt.

Platt Gives Pep Talk

Before the practice started "Harry," which is the name that he wants to be known by, had a "bull session" with the hopeful candidates, during which he told them he would show no favoritism and would pick his ball players for their ability and for how they could work themselves into his system of playing ball. He also told the candidates that on his team there were no positions assigned to a player. Each player was a possible scorer at any time and each player was as good on defense as the next. Harry told them he was very pleased at the large turnout for the team and he wished each candidate lots of luck in the coming trials, this week and next.

Slow Start For Squad

The actual practice started when the candidates broke up into four lines, two at each basket, and started limbering up by practicing lay-up shots. After loosening up tightened muscles, the candidates again broke up and formed into three lines for a good practice exercise consisting of passing and cutting, which is done by the center's passing the ball to one of the forwards and cutting in back of him, who in turn passes to the other forward and follows through the same as the center. This style is continued down the floor and back again. Finally, to end the first basketball practice of the season, Coach Harry selected ten men at a time to scrimmage against each other for about ten minutes for each group.

FRATERNITY SPORTS

The award for greatest achievement during a two-week period should go to Al Bilida, a serious bowler of the BIB team. During that time Al upped his average by seventeen points. Keep it up Al m'boy!

After losing three points to the Clocktower team last week, Walt Rassmussen, Ed Curtis, Norm Flanagan, Al Bilida, Everett Ellison and Bert Brassard helped to take four points from the Beta Sigma Chi boys.

BIB has entered teams in the day and night basketball leagues. Jerseys will be purchased by the Fraternity for players of its two teams.

Sigma Lambda Pi

Sigma Lambda Pi will hold a basketball practice the first week in November. All members who are interested in playing for the Fraternity are asked to watch the bulletin board for the specific

Archway Staff Interview Rip Engle; Brown Prospects Good

By SAL DeSIMONE and LUZON RICHTER

Since the beginning of the football season everyone in Rhode Island has been wondering what to expect from Brown for the rest of the season. Being as curious as anyone else, the ARCHWAY arranged a meeting with Coach "Rip" Engle of Brown for two of its reporters. The following is a summary of what Coach Engle told us.

We entered Coach Engle's office and found a pretty tired-looking man sitting before us (it was the day before the University of Connecticut vs. Brown game). The interview got off on the wrong foot right away. We touched the coach's sore spot (the Brown vs. Yale game). "Well," the coach explained, as he drummed on the desk, "it was the team's first game. They were very tense. The Yale team was gunning very hard for that game and they meant to win it at any cost. Yale knew if they lost their first game, their chances for the rest of the season were pretty slim." We gathered from the coach's attitude, not by what he said, that the boys were not really ready for that game. Other comments on this game were made by some of the players we met after the interview.

When the Holy Cross and Princeton tilts were mentioned, Rip brightened up a little. Brown went into these games as an underdog, but ground out two hard-fought victories. "These games were just the reverse of the first game," the coach explained, "the team was calm, cool and determined."

In the course of the talk we asked if the coach thought he had any outstanding performers. "It's this way," he said, "Ed Finn, Roger Young and Paterno are great backs and Don Colo, with his 250 pounds of muscle, anchors the line, but we are depending more on team play than stars." The co-operation the coach gets from the boys is probably the biggest factor in the teams success.

Changing the subject, we calmly questioned the cagy coach as to the outcome of the Brown vs. Connecticut fracas. Coach Engle turned sad eyes on us and gave us one of those pessimistic looks that he is noted for. He said, "frankly, I am worried because a few of my boys will be out from injuries received in the Holy Cross game. Among them Kozak, who is really a big gun on the team. Second stringmen," he told us, "would have to go in at guard positions." Rip must have been very happy when the Brown Bear flashed its potential power and routed Connecticut, 49-6.

As to the rest of the season, the coach declined to prognosticate. He pointed out that Harvard has been hot and cold and can do plenty of damage when it gets rolling. "Rutgers," he said, "won't be a push-over either."

When we asked him if Brown had any major changes in its schedule in the years to come, Rip gave us the astounding news that they will play Pennsylvania in '50' and Columbia in '49'. We predict that when Brown bumps into Columbia, with Lou Little at the helm, they are going to have a lot of trouble because any team that is coached by Lou Little is generally a tough nut to crack. But then again, we must not forget that "Reliable Rip Engle" is coaching Brown and anything can happen, and is usually does, with any team he coaches.

Our hats are off to Rip Engle, a wonderful coach and a heck of a nice guy!

Practice Sessions Slated For Girls' Hoop Squads

A meeting of the girls' intramural basketball teams was held on Thursday, October 27. Mr. Dickenman handed out the roster sheets to the managers of the various teams, which were: Bryant Hall, Salisbury Hall, Sigma Iota Beta, Eldridge Hall, Sigma Lambda Theta and Harriet Hall.

The dates November 17 and 19 were designated at days for practice sessions. Bryant Hall and Harriet Hall will practice from 3:30 to 4:30 on November 17, followed by Salisbury Hall and Sigma Iota Beta, who will practice from 4:30 to 5:30. On November 19, Eldridge Hall and Sigma Lambda Theta will practice from 3:30 to 4:30, leaving the practice hour between 4:30 and 5:30 for any girls' basketball team who wishes to practice.

Did you enjoy last week's stack of records? Well, gather 'round everybody, because we have the phonograph piled high with new records and re-issues. Shall we let them whirl?

Coming up first we have Jack Smith combining his talent with that of the Clark Sisters to sing "Quanto La Gusta." The flip is a cute "corny" song called "The Corn Belt Symphony." We aren't too fond of the "laugh" in Jack's voice, but this record is really tops. The next platter is quite different from anything we've heard in a long time; and it rates high in this writer's estimation. Brother Bones and his Shadows whistle "Margie." Yes, that's what I said, "Brother Bones whistles it." The reverse side is a little tune that is popular in the Mid-West and one that we mentioned last week as an up-and-coming revival. It is "Sweet Georgia Brown." Don't miss this recording; it is a must in everyone's collection.

Vaughn Monroe has made the first recording of "In My Dreams." The second side is a clever little Kiddies ditty called "Chocolate Choo Choo." No doubt you have heard Ziggy Talent as "The Rich Maharajah of Magador" and his ah-a-a-a; but have you heard the flip, "Give A Broken Heart A Break." It's really smooth!

In the revival department we have Sammy Kaye with Don Cornell and the Kaydets doing "Down Among The Sheltering Poems," and that popular ballad of the early '30's, "For You," sung by Perry Como.

Buddy Clark has recorded a quality ballad "Where Flamingos Fly." On the flip side is "On The Waterfall." Another Buddy Clark recent release is "Here I'll Stay With You."

A song that you will be hearing a lot from in the near future is "Slow Boat To China." The only recording this reporter has seen is Freddy Martin's. We think it will take a while to catch on but when it does, it will go right to the top. Freddy made "Caramba, It's The Samba" and "Caramba" it's a pretty nice record!

For you Jazz fans the best jazz disc we heard this week is "What's Your Story" by Pete Daily's Chicagoans. It is a real honest-to-goodness Dixieland Jazz.

On the sweet side Dinah Shore made "May I Still Hold You When The Dance Is Over," and Margaret Whiting turned in a top vocal effort in the slow, moody tune, "There's Something About Midnight." The flip is "Look For The Silver Lining."

Well, we have exhausted the supply of platters we had for you this week. So until we are back in the next issue spinning discs for you, keep 'em whirling!

followed the talk, a noteworthy question was presented by Mr. Myrick. He stated that many students had asked him how to handle the situation of asking for enough money to support a family and yet not asking for too much. Mr. Wilcox answered by saying, "When a business man is willing to invest up to $6,000 in the training of a new man, he is not going to hesitate to add another thousand if that man has what he is looking for."

Along with the society advisors, Prof. Richards and Mr. Myrick, the guests were Mrs. Lois Atwood, Public Relations Director of Bryant; Mr. Atwood; Professors Harris and Babcock; Thomas Marcacio, Providence attorney; Francis E. Fox, of Hornblower and Weeks; T. Sciemo, owner of Sun Crest Dairy; and Gil Lawrence, who added to the fraternal spirit of the evening by singing several popular songs.

Hallowe'en Hop Is Well Attended

Phi Sigma Nu Fraternity sponsored a Hallowe'en Hop on Saturday night that was attended by about 500 Bryantites. The Gym was attractively decorated in a theme of Jack O'lanterns, Black Cats and Autumn vegetation that gave the affair the properly "vaporous" air of the season.

While the festivities went on within the gym, spooks, witches, ghosts, and sundry eldritch spirits scampered over the campus outside, lending even more atmosphere to the campus. A special prize, offered by the fraternity, was won by Don Parkinson.

frosh an excellent chance to make contacts.

The rumor mongers' reasons for the plan are to create more school spirit among the students, and to make the college more collegiate. They insist the program could be carried out without making the campus a country club and still enable all to do work from the first semester—then again, all is a rumor. Maybe the Student Council could take it under consideration.

Physician Phishes!

Fishing fans around these parts will be pleased to note that there are still a few striped bass around.

Dr. Oscar Hyer, college physician, had Marty Kozlak as his guest on a jaunt to Woods Hole on Columbus Day. Marty hooked an 11½ pound rocus linnaeus (striper to you).

The joke is that Marty, a native of Torrington, Conn., had never fished in salt water before.

Hey, Doc, how many did you get?

Practice Sessions Slated for Girls

cussed the rules pertaining to the girls' teams. It was decided that twelve players are to be placed on a roster as a maximum amount, and no player can be placed on the roster after it has been drawn up unless the roster drops below eight names. Then additional players may be added—not to exceed eight names altogether. Roster changes must be made in writing at least twenty-four hours before game time. The teams' rosters are to be in the Athletic Office on November 5. The $10.00 forfeiture fee, which was explained in a previous issue of the Archway, is also due on November 5.

A new ruling was brought up, discussed, and agreed upon. All girls who intend to play basketball must cut or file their fingernails to a reasonable or comfortable length, in order to alleviate the many hazards caused by long fingernails. (Bring your scissors with you, Mr. Referee.)

The games will consist of four six-minute periods. Protests must be made before the contest ends, and must be made to one of the officials. The protest must be based on a misinterpretation of the rules and not on a wrong decision.

The league is expected to open one week after the practice sessions, and it is hoped that the same amount of interest will be shown this year as was last.

Volkman Plays Lead In "Dark Victory"

Masquers, and with his previous experience in radio plays was able to bring his talent to the student body in two of the Masquers' successful plays, "Professor, How Could You," and "Laughing Gas." It was through his first performance in Masquers that he was spotted by the Community Players of Pawtucket and asked to become a member of their organization. The following season he was cast as "Grandpa Vanderhof" in the play "You Can't Take It With You," presented by the YMCA players of Greater Providence.

Bryant says he has inherited most of his talent from his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Volkman, who was a professional actress and cover girl. Mrs. Volkman played in stock companies throughout New England and finally settled in Doylestown, Pennsylvania, where Buck's County Playhouse is located.

FASHIONS

By SELMA PALO

The boys are taking a back seat again. This week we're focusing all our attention on the latest hair fashions. Everyone has heard the saying, "A girl's crowning glory is her hair". In a recent poll taken by a fashion magazine, it was learned that men often take note of a girl's hair before they notice other features. What about your hair? Is it really something for you to be proud of; and does it draw admiring glances from others? If not, perhaps the styling is all wrong for your face. It is difficult to find a style that is becoming and that still appeals to your personal tastes. We all tire of wearing our hair the same way day after day, after day. While looking over a beauty magazine the other day, I saw some illustrations of very "chic" hair-dos. Some of them might come in handy to you, so I'll do my best to describe them to you.

We all realize that short hair is the present fad. If you have a well-shaped head, why not wear your hair in the new "tulip-cut" style? It resembles an inverted tulip, with the ends of your hair tapering in a graceful petal design. The front is set in a graceful bang with a slight pageboy effect on the sides. Many proms are being scheduled for the coming months. A sophisticated up-sweep would be just the thing for the Xmas formal in December. Sweep all the hair from your forehead and swirl it around the head to form flat, well-organized curls in the back and high on one side. A glittering, jeweled comb placed amidst them will draw attention to the curls. For school, a brisk, breezy, hair-do is perfect. The crown is left smooth and sleek; the rest set in soft curls, framing your entire head. This style features the new "U" cut, which shapes, thins and tapers the hair. The sides are swept up with hair combs. Can't you just see the glances heading our way, girls? Many of us are wary to cut the hair which has taken us so long to grow. If that's the case, try this. Part your hair in the center, from the forehead to the nape of the neck. This leaves two side pieces to be draped in ribbon-like fashion over the ears. Style the front in soft waves.

Results of Student Council Meeting Out

The report from the Student Council Meeting held on October 25, shows that many matters concerning the Bryant College students were discussed.

Old business brought before the meeting consisted of a report on the Clean-Up Campaign. The report disclosed that the posters concerning the campaign which have been put up on the campus have been very effective and a request was extended to fraternities and sororities which have not done so, to contribute a poster in order to spread the campaign around the entire campus.

Following this report the Student Council requested that each organization sponsoring a dance be asked to have a "student police patrol" on duty the entire time. Also an announcement was made that organizations must secure a permit to hold any admission dance at the college. These permits may be obtained at the Providence Police Headquarters, Room 115, at a cost of one dollar.

Discussion concerning the Christmas Formal orchestra, Stunt Night, and the Fall River Club raffle was held.

KDK Will Hold "Presidential Ball" In Gym Saturday

A "Presidential Ball" will be sponsored on Saturday night by the sisters of the Kappa Delta Kappa Sorority. The gym will be the scene of festivities at 8 p. m as the theme will be centered around the current elections.

Ballot boxes have been placed around the campus so that the student body may vote for the "First Lady" of their choice. All balloting must be completed before classes end on Friday, so that the results may be tabulated. The winner will be announced at the dance on Saturday.

If you think it's easy to take candy from a baby, try it.
