

It's Simple

TIM BELLOWS

Sunday after a short stack of blueberry pancakes, half a cup of ginger-and-cream tea, glances at the Times Entertainment section, and a look at the cat murmuring in a warming spot of sun as it pools on the linoleum.

My voice

somersaulting death and eternity into jest,

I put on a floppy hat,

woven

with all the colors I know.

How could I ever die?