Xmas Day

My darling -
Anyhow, it was Xmas
Day. For now it is 2 a.m. so, rightfully it should be called Tuesday.

It rained & rained
all day & about 4:30 it began to snow - that wet, damp, clinging stuff. Sam's car is "stuck" in front of our house & Fred "litched" over here. Anyhow, we did have one of my delicious steak dinners.

Then, we struggled
down the snow-packed
street - snow flurries
blinding our sight &
eventually reached the Rapid. We left the house at 7:25 & got downtown (at the Hanna) at 9 p.m.
Anyhow, we all enjoyed "Glossom Time" very, very much! The
"Song of Love" & others of Frank Schubert are very "catching"!

Tried to go the Cleve.
afterwards, but it was too young. Anyhow, it ended when Bud
took us to Rapid & Fred brought us & I home.
Fred is sleeping in Mont's room tonight & I let him have some of your underwear & a pr. of p.j.

Honey, I'm too tired to write much more.
I'll write you a "super duper" letter tomorrow!
Okay? Huh?

I'm so starved for you - if I could just kiss you!!! all
last night I kept dreaming about your
"fuu", your bushy eyebrows, your serious
mouth. Sweetheart,
every bone in me aches
for you. I love you, Edith
