DOCTOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (D.S. in B.A.)

ROBERT WILLIAM SARNOFF

Chairman of the Board, National Broadcasting Company

Mr. Sarnoff was born in New York City, the son of Brigadier General David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, and Mrs. Sarnoff. He was graduated from Phillips Academy and Harvard University. After a year in New York at the Columbia Law School, he entered Government service in Washington, working under General William J. Donovan in the Office of Coordinator of Information.

His military career included service as a communications officer in the Navy under Admiral William E. Halsey in the Pacific. On leaving the service with the rank of Lieutenant, he resumed his civilian career as assistant to Gardner Cowles, Jr., publisher of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and president of the Cowles Broadcasting Company. It was from the post of staff member of Look Magazine that he moved to NBC in 1948.

Moving up from account executive, he served successively as assistant to the national program director, television production manager, vice president of the NBC Film Division, executive vice president and was elected president and chief executive officer of NBC in 1955 and board chairman in 1958.

The first president of the Radio and Television Executive Society, he won the award for distinguished service to advertising presented by the Advertising Federation of America in 1956 and received the Keynote Award of the National Association of Broadcasters in 1959.

He is a director of the American Arbitration Association, the Advertising Council, the Harvard Alumni Association, a trustee of Franklin and Marshall College, an Honorary Life Member of the Association of Advertising Men and Women, a member of the Grand Street Boys Association, vice president of the Greater New York Council of Boy Scouts of America and national co-chairman of the Red Cross, and president of the Friends of the Whitney Museum of American Art.

It was Mr. Sarnoff who developed what is now known as "The Great Debate" between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon on the NBC network in 1960. In May of 1962, he received the first national award conferred by the League of Women Voters for "outstanding contribution to public enlightenment and good citizenship" for the NBC "Continental Classroom" educational course in American Government. The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education also cited him for this educational project in 1963. The U. S. Navy's Distinguished Public Service Award, the highest decoration conferred upon a civilian, was given to Mr. Sarnoff for television's first documentary series "Victory at Sea."

Married to the former Felicia Schiff Warburg, he is the father of three daughters, Serena Warburg, Claudia Jill, and one by a previous marriage, Rosita.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (D.S. in B.A.)

SERGE SEMENENKO

International Financier; Vice-Chairman, The First National Bank of Boston

Born in Odessa, Russia, the son of a White Russian banker and industrialist, Mr. Semenenko and his family fled the country in 1918 to settle in Turkey. He earned his A.B. degree at Classical College in Constantinople and his B.S. at Robert College, Istanbul. In 1926 he received his M.B.A. from the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

A United States citizen, he began his career as a credit clerk with the First National Bank rising to assistant vice president in two years. He became vice-president, senior vice president, and is presently vice chairman and director.

A financier of international note, he has managed to arrange in excess of $5 billion in loans without a failure. He has helped reorganize such business monoliths as the Warner Bros. film company, and last year arranged for a $35 million refinancing plan to help the Curtis Publishing Company out of its financial difficulties.

He is a director of the Bonwit Teller Corp., City Stores Company, United-Carr, Inc., Tiffany Company, Warner Bros. Pictures Company, French & Company Art Galleries and many other firms of equal importance.

Mr. Semenenko is a trustee of the Children's Hospital in Boston. He is married to the former Virginia Carberry Boyd. They have one daughter, Christine, fifteen years old.

His clubs include the Wianno Yacht Club, the Harvard and Union Clubs in Boston, the Marco Polo in New York; the Porcupine, Nassau, B.W.I.; Motor Yacht Club De La Côté D'Azur (MYCCA) France.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (D.S. in B.A.)

DONALD SPINK JONES

President of Commercial Credit Corporation

An alumnus of Bryant College, class of 1930, Mr. Jones is a thirty-four-year veteran of the Commercial Credit Corporation, having joined their Providence office immediately following his graduation.

During the twelve years he spent at Commercial Credit's office in Providence, he rose from accounting clerk to office manager, to district representative and was then advanced and transferred to the Boston branch.

In 1943, he was granted leave of absence to work with the U. S. Treasury Department, where he served in various capacities and was named Rhode Island State Chairman of the Savings Bond Division. Following World War II he returned to Providence and served in a succession of managerial positions in Fall River, Massachusetts, and upstate New York divisions.

He was called to Commercial Credit's administrative headquarters in Baltimore in 1954 to become area director for the Northeastern States, and promoted to executive vice president in 1961. In April of 1963, he was elected president. The Commercial Credit Corporation is one of the largest independent finance and loan institutions in the United States and is a subsidiary of Commercial Credit Company, one of the largest financial organizations in the world.

While at Bryant, he was treasurer of his class and a member of Beta Sigma Chi fraternity. He holds memberships in various Masonic Orders in Rhode Island, Buffalo, New York, and Baltimore, Maryland. He is a member of the Country Club of Maryland and the Baltimore Country Club. He and his wife, the former Helen Hopkins of Providence, live in suburban Baltimore and are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. T. B. Appel and Miss Dianne H. Jones.

DOCTOR OF LAWS (LL.D.)

ELWOOD ALLEN PALMER

Executive Vice President, Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce

A native of Moline, Illinois, Mr. Palmer began his business career in this city with the John Deere Plow Company. Active in civic affairs, he became president of the Moline Junior Chamber of Commerce and recipient of its "Distinguished Service Award" in 1942. He served as executive secretary of the Third War Loan Drive.

In 1944 he was appointed secretary of the Muscatine, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce and served in that capacity until January of 1948, when he was appointed executive vice president of the Schenectady, New York, Chamber of Commerce. In 1960, he was appointed general manager of the Providence Chamber and named executive vice president in 1961.

Mr. Palmer is a past president of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives, an organization of more than 2200 Chamber executives, and also a past president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce Executives.

He is a former member of the Board of Regents of the Department of Institutes for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He was graduated from the National Institute for Organization Management at Northwestern, and has taught several courses at Northwestern, Michigan State, Yale, and Syracuse Universities.

He presently serves as a member of the Governor's Task Force on Youth Employment, chairman of the Quonset-Davisville Civilian-Military Community Relations Committee, member of the Mayor's Industrial Advisory Council, the Rhode Island World's Fair Committee, and many other civic organizations. Mr. Palmer is a member of the Board of the Mathewson Street Methodist Church.

He is married to the former Katherine Jane Gilmore. They have one son, David, a member of this graduating class.

DOCTOR OF LAWS (LL.D.)
THOMAS JOSEPH PAOLINO

Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island

Judge Paolino was born in Providence, Rhode Island, attended Classical High School, earned his A.B. at Brown University and his LL.B. at the Harvard Law School. Admitted to the Rhode Island Bar and the Federal Bar, he practiced law individually and as a member of the firm of Dooley, Dunn and Paolino, and also before the Board of Immigration Appeals and the Internal Revenue Service and was admitted to practice before the U. S. Court of Military Appeals and the Supreme Court of the United States.

His political activities include service as a delegate to the Republican National Conventions in 1940 and 1944 and Rhode Island member of the Republican National Committee.

He was elected to the Supreme Court of Rhode Island by unanimous vote of the General Assembly and was sworn in as Associate Justice in January, 1956.

A past president of the Aurora Civic Association, he is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Federal Hill House, the Knights of Malta, a Fourth Degree member of the Knights of Columbus and belongs to many other religious and civic organizations.

Author of "A Digest of Rhode Island Zoning Cases," and "Zoning—Its Growth and Development in Rhode Island," he has been regional vice president of the American Society for Legal History, Inc., and is vice president of the Harvard Law School Association of Rhode Island. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Rhode Island Bar Foundation.

He was named "Outstanding Alumnus" in 1960 by the Classical High School Varsity Club. In 1961, he was invested by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman in the Knights of Malta.

He is a member of the Brown and Harvard Clubs of Rhode Island, the Turks Head Club, the University Club, the Italo-American Club, the Point Judith County Club, and an honorary member of The Newport Forum. Married to the former Florence Dolce, he is the father of three, Mrs. Loreen Ann Lepore, Thomas Joseph, Jr., and Linda Vera. He has two grandchildren.
