

Classes Will End Next Friday, Feb. 3

On next Friday, February 3, regular classes of the current semester will officially end. For fourth semester students, next week will be their last as undergraduates of Bryant College. Many seniors have already accepted good jobs. THE ARCHWAY wishes to pay special tribute to four students who for various reasons have been prominent during their undergraduate days.

Outstanding Graduating Students.....

Paul Dunne

Paul Dunne has been one of the most active individuals on campus. Paul, a resident of Cranston now, attended Durfee High in Fall River. From there it was a very short hop to the five years he spent in the Army. Paul attended OCS in 1952 and worked his way—up the ranks—to the rank of first lieutenant.

Paul's experiences here at Bryant are many and varied. President of the Prep Class and his freshman class; President of the Student Senate; Class Day Exercises Chairman; promoter of the Bryant Blood Drive. He has built a record of repeated achievement in extracurricular endeavors.

Now twenty-six years old Paul has been accepted as an industrial jewelry salesman for Robbins Company. He is married to a former Cranston High teacher and is the father of a four-month-old child.

Mike Ruggeri

Mike Ruggeri, twenty-six year old ex-Army athlete, and outstanding member of the Business Administration group, has carved a niche for himself in the annals of Bryant success.

Mike has assumed the presidential responsibilities of both Tau Epsilon Fraternity and the Greek Letter Council during his span of time at Bryant.

Class President and member of the Student Senate; active sportsman and outstanding figure in Professor Mary T. Appleby's Bryant Brevities, Ruggeri has proven his merits by accomplishment. Mike, who saw military service in Germany, has not fully decided on his future life; but whatever his goal, his persevering attitudes will take him far.

Donald Slate

Donald Slate, R. A. student from Plainville, Connecticut, is a key figure among the proponents of extracurricular life at Bryant.

A graduate of Plainville High School, Slate, twenty-two, has served in various leadership capacities, among which are: Vice President of his fraternity, Kappa Tau; President of Delta Omega Professional Society; Production Manager of the Glee Club and Masquers; and President of the Student Senate. His work as Chairman of the Bryant Brevities is well known.

Don plans a career in selling. Good luck (as though he needed it) is our wish for a progressive and active personality who should make quick work of even the toughest buyers.

Harold Wilkins

Because of his achievements while Editor-in-Chief of the ARCHWAY, Harold "Skip" Wilkins, has been chosen as one of Bryant's outstanding graduating students.

Born in Worcester, Massachusetts, twenty-four years ago, "Skip" attended local schools and also was graduated from a prep school in Bronxville, New York. After the graduation he entered the Army and served for three years—of which eighteen months were spent in Paris, France, where he worked as a clerk typist.

Upon his discharge from the service, "Skip" matriculated at Bryant College and later married Beverly Wheeler, a former Bryant student. Besides being a writer and serving as Editor-in-Chief of the ARCHWAY, he is an active member of the Phi Sigma Nu fraternity.

WINTER TIME

By JOE STEPHENSON

After a week of dreary drizzling rainfall Bryant campus came to life after the season's heaviest snowfall. Welcome of the change was evidenced by the appearance of warmly clad students who frolicked merrily in the snow. Students tramped gaily around the campus seemingly with one thought in mind—let's have some fun. Commuters, however, did not enjoy a like attitude towards the snowfall as they found cars stalled, hazardous driving conditions, and delay in returning to their homes.

Around the campus, strange figures resembling snowmen began to appear, and the spirit of conviviality was ever present throughout the remainder of the day. Joining in this spirit of gaiety and still managing to complete their snow removal operation was the ever efficient Bryant maintenance department, who immediately set about clearing the walks and parking spaces.

Although the snow continued to fall heavily until early evening, classes were resumed as usual the following morning. Most commuters were successful in arriving on time for their early morning classes despite traffic congestions caused by the still hazardous driving conditions of the roads.

On Wednesday morning, after the snowfall, Bill O'Neil, photographer for the Archway, was able to capture many of the beautiful campus scenes reproduced on this page. Also, many other students as well as faculty members were putting their cameras to work. By noontime a bright sun had made the snow slippery, and walking conditions were aided by the spreading of sand on the walks.

Because of the suddenness of the snowfall, students appeared in the almost unfamiliar garb of rubbers and over-shoes.

Strength

By LEON MATOOK

It has been the goal of men over the centuries to prove their physical strength to others and yet history does not tell the story of a particular individual who has successfully demonstrated such an accomplishment.

A survey of the men who have become part of the story of man proves that although physical strength is necessary for survival, it is in all cases secondary to an individual's moral strength. This statement may surprise the reader, but it has been verified many times over in the history of mankind. The individual who possesses tremendous physical strength is lost if that strength is not balanced by an inner moral strength. He is, however, able to prove his popularity, for a short time, by exerting his power or strength over his weaker counterpart, yet he does not leave a lasting impression on society in general.

The story of man is a progressive one, and throughout its pages, men who are strong morally have always taken and maintained the lead. A man's ability to do what is right by the standards set by society is the true tower of strength. His understanding of the problems of others and his ability to cope with his own problems makes him a 'Hercules in the eyes of his fellow men. This is the type of man who eventually leaves his mark on the story of life.

Moral strength is growing more important with each passing day. Daily problems in our complex world require one to be ever alert and conscientious. They require more than the average amount of understanding and consideration simply because their solution depends and hinges on other elements which make the life of today a battle from one day to another.

Again the elements of physical endurance and fortitude take a backseat. Man is placed under terrific strain and is able to bear it if he is strong morally and is aware of the fact that his problems are also the problems of others, that his thoughts are the thoughts of others.

The sooner man realizes that physical endurance is secondary and that morality is primary, the sooner he will be able to effectively cope with any problem that may confront him. True man must remember that life is always easier if he is always able to leave his considerations of others in the background and direct his attentions only to his own thoughts, but he must remember that every thing he does constructively or otherwise will be evaluated by the men whom he has forgotten.

Vets Jump to Quick Lead As Second Round Begins

By LARRY DELAHUNTY

Chi Gamma Iota opened the second round in the day league by walloping the Newman Club 60-23. Chi Gam had little difficulty subduing the revamped Newman Club quintet. There were three new faces in the Newman Club lineup. Frank Rondo led all scorers with 19 points while teammates Russ Messinger and Joe Ferrara also hit for double figures with 14 and 13 points. Jim Rogers was the only man to hit for double figures for the losers. He had 12 points.

In the finale of the day's schedule the Vets defeated Phi Sigma Nu, the first round champions, 45-40. The Vets have strengthened their personnel in the persons of "Goose" McGowan and Bettii while Phi Sig had much the same team that won the first round plus Herb Sodel who transferred from the Newman Club. Elliott, Blinn, and Kirwan paced the winners' attack with 14, 12, and 11 points while Dick Gayer was the only consistent scorer for the losers. Gayer hooped 15 for Phi Sig.

Sigma Lambda Pi showed improvement in their first game of the second round by handing the "Scoopers" their first defeat of the second round 48-24. The "Scoopers" should improve as the season progresses and may prove tough for some of the top teams. Franks, Sugarman, and Chanksy all hit for double figures for the winners.

The Veterans, having the toughest schedule of the league during the first week, practically assured themselves of at least a tie for the top berth in the first two weeks of the second round by defeating Chi Gamma Iota 45-42. Lemieux and McGowan had 12 points apiece for the winners while Ferrara had 17 and Rondo 15 for the losers.

The Vets completed their rugged first week schedule by defeating a determined Newman Club team 44-39. This victory gave the Vets a victory over each of the top three teams in the league and means they will probably remain undefeated during the first round. Kirwan had 19 for the Vets and Bob Blinn had 19, while Manny Harrington had 18 and Bill Dewey 11 for the Newman Club.

Joe Ferrara scored half his team's points as Chi Gamma rolled over the Scoopers 60-30. Frank Rondo also contributed heavily to the scoring total by pouring 19 points through the nets.

Student Response Boosts Genie Fund

The Genie Fund Collection on Wednesday morning, January 11, was the most successful of all the previous ones.

The collection was divided into three groups—a collection at 8:00, one at 9:00, and one at 10:00. All of the members of the Student Senate collected the money.

The chairman, Don Esmay, was very pleased at the amount collected—$148.56. Don and the members of the Genie Fund Committee would like to thank the students on behalf of the person who will receive the Genie Fund award. He would also like to thank the faculty for their co-operation.

Night League in Scramble As KT Upsets Phi Sig

By BOB SUGARMAN

The second round of the Bryant College Night League commenced Monday, Jan. 9. In the initial contest, Phi Sigma Nu defeated a stubborn Beta Sigma Chi aggregation 43 to 36.

Beta Sig jumped off to an early lead; and by half time, the score was Beta Sigma Chi 19, Phi Sigma Nu 9. In the third period the "green and gold" came to life and surged ahead of the "blue and gold." Once Phi Sig took the lead, they never relinquished it.

John Pierce (12) and Charley Coolbrith (14) were the big men for Phi Sig, while Mellen and Daley with 18 and 7, respectively, spirited the attack for the "Blue and Gold."

In the nite-cap, a renovated Independent five defeated Tau Epsilon 37-18. After the opening jump, the Independents took the lead and never relinquished it.

At the end of the first half, the score was the Independents 18; Tau Ep 13. Scoring with ease, besides limiting the "Red and Black" to one field goal, the Independents "brezzed" to victory.

McCann (10) and Brown (10) shared scoring honors for the victors, while Ottoman played a superb floor game. Outstanding for Tau Epsilon, in the point department, was Alexander (9) while Ferraguto and Blanchette played a fine floor-game.

The Independents defeated B.I.B. 39-21, and they were very impressive in the victory, although they held a height advantage.

The Independents had an eleven point edge at half time, which was an ample lead for victory. The scoring punch of Brown (14), Ottoman (9); and McCann (8) proved to be too much for the B.I.B. five.

For the Maroon and White, Joe Santerson was outstanding in dropping 11 points through the nets.

A spirited Kappa Tau five removed Phi Sigma Nu from the ranks of the undefeated 39-37.

It was a nip and tuck battle throughout the first half, as K.T. held a 22-20 advantage.

After the rest period, Kappa Tau came to life and surged ahead. They held an eight point advantage at the three-quarter mark 35-27.

The "Big Green" caught fire in the fourth stanza. Hanley (11) and Wood (17) found the range and slowly closed the gap, but failure to capitalize from the foul lane proved fatal.

In a well-earned victory, "Sandy" Zuckerbrot (12) and Spinner Spinakowaki (14) were brilliant for Kappa Tau.

Bryant Team on Top Rung in "Y" League

The Bryant Indians, a team composed of players from the day and night leagues in the Bryant Intramural Basketball Program, rolled to their third successive victory without defeat in the Greater Providence Y.M.C.A. Community League Wednesday evening.

Led by Pete Veritos (18), Dick Mellen (10), and Joe Ferrara (10), the Indians had little difficulty in handing the YMCA Institute their third straight defeat 63-37. The victory leaves the Indians on top in the league standings a half game ahead of the Warwick Waticks, who have 2 victories and no defeats.

The team which plans to enter a post-season invitational tournament if successful in the present league, has a wealth of talent. It has representatives from many organizations on the Bryant campus. The roster includes Joe Ferrara, Dick Gayer, Dick Mellen, Jim Rogers, Bob Blinn, Herb Elliott, Pete Veritos, Stearns Wood, Bill Dewey, Manny Harrington and Bill McGowan.

New Plan for Debating Club

Jacques Lipetz, coach for the Debating Club, has proposed a new plan to increase interest in debating. His plan will avoid the need for extensive research by students and speed up a debate by cutting the total speaking time of a debater from fifteen to ten minutes.

Here is how the plan works: The coaches of the Providence debating teams each submit a minimum of five easily debated topics. These topics are not made known to the debaters. When a debate is scheduled, the debaters will meet one hour before and pick one of a minimum of twenty topics from a hat. The teams then have one hour to prepare for the debate and will be given two reference books to aid them in planning their case.

The main reason for this proposal is the lack of interest shown by debaters in this year's national topic: Resolved, The guaranteed annual wage should be adopted by non-agricultural industries. This topic tends to lead to a statistical, boring, and highly opinionated debate. To debate this topic effectively, a sound knowledge of economics is essential. This knowledge requires considerable research and study, and few debaters are economics majors.

Of course, this plan does not exclude the regular sixty-minute debate. With the new plan in effect, debates can be scheduled weekly, and debaters can debate more often and gain more experience.

In addition, emphasis is shifted from research to debating skills, and the ability to think on one's feet will get more emphasis.

Anyone who is interested in debating is invited to attend Debating Club meetings which are held at 3 p.m. every Wednesday in South Hall, Room 1A. To date, the Debating Club has debated Brown University on the topic: "Resolved, The Ivy League Colleges are naturally superior," and with R. I. C. E. on the national topic regarding the guaranteed annual wage. There was no decision reached in the Brown University debate and Bryant lost the decision to R. I. C. E.

Jeremiah C. Barber Scholarship Campaign Launched

Bryant Alumni Council President Raymond H. Hawkey announces that at its November meeting the Council voted to start a Jeremiah C. Barber Scholarship Fund Campaign with a goal of $3,000. This fund will be administered solely by the Alumni and the scholarship award will be made primarily on the basis of need to a student entering Bryant.

Teacher Training Society Elects

Elections for offices in Theta Tau, professional society of Bryant's four-year Teacher Training Class, were held at the regular meeting of the Society on Wednesday, January 11, in Gardner Hall.

The following were elected by secret ballot:

President, Joseph Marchetti;
Vice President, Robert Scanlon;
Secretary, Theresa Fusco;
Treasurer, Bob Reynolds;
Historian, Joyce Etchells;
Corresponding Secretary, Anne Gibbons.

This was actually a vote of confidence for President Marchetti, who has already served one term in office. The posts of Secretary and Treasurer were also filled by re-election.

New officers will be installed in February, according to the by-laws of the Society.

Plans are being formulated for the coming New York teachers' conference, in which Bryant TT's will participate.

The scholarship fund is named after Jeremiah C. Barber, who for fifty-one years was associated with Bryant College. He instructed Business Law and was a highly respected and loved faculty member who taught strict adherence to the highest form of business morality.

Chairman of the Barber School Fund Committee is Raymond W. Hartley. Ray operates an advertising agency with offices at 255 Main Street, Pawtucket, Rhode Island. Contributions from alumni of $1.00 to $10.00 are solicited. The names of all contributors will be printed in the May Homecoming Program.

Establishment of this fund was predicated upon the fact that no intelligent, able young person should be forced to forego higher education because of inadequate funds. Mr. Robert G. Drew-Bear, Alumni Secretary, announced that contributions will be sought in the January issue of the Bryant College Alumni publication.

The Far North and You

By EARL ENGLEY

In considering the current placement of our armed forces all over the world, I find that there is no location which puzzles the average person more than the North Atlantic areas which our Navy and Air Force patrol. People forget that, in that vast territory, are the busiest shipping lanes of the world, stretching from the Atlantic Seaboard of America to the busy ports of the British Isles. There, too, is the important, small Danish Mandate, Iceland. That island and its neighbors are so strategically situated that they can control the wide North Atlantic, the vital shipping lanes, and even Europe itself. Without possession of Iceland during World War II, the Allied Nations suffered greatly from the havoc played by Hitler's Submarine Force upon the convoys going through those waters. To secure our freedom from attack in this Northern Area, the United States and the other NATO countries are cooperating in a great plan of naval and air strategy.

While serving recently in the Navy, I took part in three operations in the North Atlantic, of which one was a Joint operation of the NATO Forces. The waters of this ocean were just the place to maneuver our submarine and to eliminate the "bugs" which had been an unsolved problem in similar ships owned by the Germans in the previous war.

Our sub was an anti-submarine type commonly known as a "Hunter-Killer". Its principal function was to seek and sink other submarines. In these cold waters near Iceland, the Navy worked under real conditions and learned to sink enemy subs which would lurk and wait here for unprotected convoys in future wars as they did in the past. For days we operated with Hunter-Killers, attack class; Guppies, and Oilers; with Carriers, Destroyers, Frigates, and many other NATO ships and aircraft.

We ran into the worst weather imaginable. Bitter, battering, storm-tossed seas did not stop our sub, however. The terrifying icebergs impressed only the men. Only the sailors felt the cold and the wind. The sub proved that it could endure in these icy waters, and so answered the downward thrust of thumbs of those who forecast failure. In one year's operation, the Hunter-Killer held a Navy record of 1482 hours submerged, 3204 hours underway, and 250 consecutive hours submerged time underway.

In addition to fulfilling its main objective, the crew of the sub picked up valuable data as to water temperatures, sonar and radar ranges, and improvements of forces in joint operations. We tried methods used by other NATO forces and showed them some of our plans and methods; all of which would benefit future action.

This work continues. The government is constantly improving and increasing air bases, like those at Iceland and Greenland. The NATO Forces are alert and understand the difficulties of maintaining security in the great open regions of the ocean. And so we realize that Uncle Sam is not wasting his money; he is spending it wisely to protect us from any attack which could come from the North.

Things You'll Never Hear

"You're absolutely right, officer. I was travelling too fast."

"Yes, I agree with you. Mabel is much prettier than I."

"Well it's true I got the promotion but to be perfectly honest with you it was all luck."

"Of course I don't mind you spending $25 for a new hat, dear."

"I think Professor Jones gives a fair test; besides I don't mind taking his 'comp.'"

"Thank goodness our vacation is finally over with and school has reopened."

"I wish I were back in the Army."

"Those 8 o'clock classes are certainly invigorating."

"Well I must admit I deserved to flunk the course."
