Imagination and initiative have been shown by the six fraternities sponsoring candidates. Banners, posters, and other media depicting the lovely contestants have been interesting and colorful, showing originality of thought by each group.

A resume of each candidate, selected for her beauty, charm, and personality, is presented below.

Doreen Colagrossi

Doreen Colagrossi, a lovely eighteen-year-old strawberry blonde from 15 Arch Street, Waterbury, Connecticut, is the girl representing Beta Iota Beta in the Sno' Queen contest.

Doreen was graduated from Crosby High School in Waterbury, where she was a member of the French Club, Latin Club, Y-Teens Club, and the yearbook staff.

Pretty brown-eyed Doreen is a junior in the Legal Secretarial course and lives at Allan Hall. She is treasurer of her sorority, Sigma Iota Beta, a member of the Newman Club, former president of Allan Hall, and a member of the Dormitory Council.

Carol Durell

Carol Durell is being presented by Chi Gamma Iota as their candidate for Sno' Queen. A charming nineteen-year-old blue-eyed blonde, Carol lives at 99 Catlin Avenue, Rumford, R. I.

Carol is a junior in the Secretarial Course, and as a sister of Phi Upsilon Sorority, she holds the office of athletic director.

Cathy Murphy

Alpha Theta Chi's candidate for Sno' Queen is attractive twenty year old Cathy Murphy. She has blue eyes and brown hair, and lives at 103 Longwood Avenue, Gaspee Plateau, Rhode Island.

Cathy was graduated from St. Xavier's Academy, Providence, where she was active in the glee club and was captain of the girls' basketball team. She also took part in many musical shows presented by the school.

Cathy is a fourth semester student in the Medical Secretarial Course at Bryant. An active member of her sorority, Delta Sigma Chi, she is on the bowling team and was pledge mistress last semester.

The voting in the Gym tomorrow will run from 11 A.M. to 1 P.M. Any student wishing to vote must present his College Identification card to receive a ballot. The counting of the ballots will be supervised by Mr. John S. Renza, faculty advisor to Sigma Lambda Pi.

Winner to Be Announced at Dance

The highlight of the Sno' Ball Dance will be the announcement and crowning of the Sno' Queen. The candidates and their respective sponsoring fraternities are Doreen Colagrossi, Beta Iota Beta; Carolyn Durell, Chi Gamma Iota; Cathy Murphy, Alpha Theta Chi; Joyce Parker, Kappa Tau; Priscilla Vanacore, Phi Sigma Nu; and Judy Vieira, Beta Sigma Chi.

In addition to the sponsoring fraternity, Sigma Lambda Pi, Tau Epsilon does not have a candidate running in this year's balloting.

Twentieth Annual Sno' Ball Dance

The twentieth annual Sno' Ball dance, to be held Saturday night in the Gym from 8 to 12, promises to be one of the social highlights on the campus this semester. Bob Goldenberg, President of Sigma Lambda Pi, says that decorations for the dance will be both beautiful and unique. Music will be furnished by the Collegiate. Another attraction of the dance will be the drawing for Beta Sigma Chi's Children's Benefit Raffle.

Campaign Considered Very Active

Bob also states that he thinks the strong publicity campaign of the participating fraternities will bring a strong turnout at the dance Saturday night.

Candidates Introduced at Two Dances

The six candidates were introduced by Bob McGivney at the Kappa Tau Turkey Trot on November 23, and by Harry Fiedler, Student Senate President, at the Winter Formal on December 6.

the winner of the Miss Jamboree of 1957 contest at the annual Natick Old Timers' Jamboree beauty pageant.

Judy is in her first semester in the Teacher-Training Division at Bryant.

Senator Pastore Discusses Atomic Energy At Second Delta Omega Dinner-Meeting

By Al Gulliksen

The second Delta Omega Professional Society dinner-meeting was held November 25 at the Admiral Inn. Two hundred members and guests attended.

After an excellent dinner, the President of Delta Omega, Robert Lenkowski, introduced Mr. Gardner Jacobs, Vice-President of Bryant College. Mr. Jacobs, in turn, introduced the honored guest speaker, Senator John O. Pastore. Senator Pastore is an authority on the application of atomic energy for peaceful uses, and the content of his talk was related chiefly to that subject, with a few humorous anecdotes thrown in.

An extremely forceful speaker, Senator Pastore spoke of his experiences with atomic energy and its multitudinous applications. He talked of his overnight voyage on the atomic submarine Nautilus and of its tremendous potential. He also stressed the importance of the educational system here in the United States as opposed to the teaching systems used in the U.S.S.R. On his trip to Vienna as a representative of the United States, he learned of the rapid advances the Soviets have achieved in the field of atomic energy and how they have been put to use peacefully. He also cited the terrible results that would come of a thermo-nuclear war. The Senator explained in brief what an atom is and traced the history of its development.

Upon the conclusion of his speech, Senator Pastore was given a standing ovation from his rapt audience. President Lenkowski presented him with a certificate of appreciation for his interest in furthering the ideals of Delta Omega, and also with an honorary membership in the society.

Just before closing the meeting, Bob introduced his personal guests, his parents, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Note: There will be a general meeting for all members of Delta Omega

Ed Drew Furnishes Music for Large Crowd at Winter Formal

The Student Senate of Bryant College held their annual Christmas Formal at Rhodes-on-the-Pawtuxet on Friday, December 6, 1957. Dancing from 9 P.M. to 1 A.M. was enjoyed in the ballroom to the music of Ed Drew and his Orchestra.

A NEW FORM OF VANDALISM TO ANNOY US

During the last two weeks six different fraternities have expended much time and effort publicizing their Sno' Queen candidates. Posters, outdoor signs, flyers, and other advertising media have been displayed on the campus. Some of the posters, by fluke or good fortune, are still where they were put. A good many of them, however, have been destroyed by vandals.

The persons who have damaged many of the Sno' Queen posters are probably few in number. But the fact that their actions were noted by other students WHO MADE NO PROTEST is to be deplored.

The destruction of the posters will be forgotten until the next queen campaign. But then it will be repeated. And it's irritating to think that instead of lessening in numbers as their senior members graduate, the scroungers' brigade will grow steadily. Ripping down posters and pictures used in contest advertising will become the accepted thing. If Bryant students let this kind of destruction go on they should be sporting lillipops and baby rattles to show that they have accepted the new fad with zeal.

When you consider the value of a poster, the picture on it, and the time and effort expended to make it, you think that its value is not very much. But the person who worked on it or the fraternity that paid for it certainly does place a high value on it.

To date, no active measures have been taken to institute effective punitive action. But in view of the fact that the Administration offers a fifty dollar reward for information about stolen books and clothing, it would be within reason to request that some kind of protection be afforded the posters, pictures, flyers, etc., used in these campaigns.

ONE YEAR LATER

(ACP)—A little more than a year ago, Hungarian students were fighting in the streets of their homeland. Some were finding freedom. Many made their way to American universities.

A year later, many college newspapers were surveying their campus' Hungarian students, getting their views on the results of what UCLA's DAILY BRUIN called the "October of Oblivion."

Eight young Hungarians are at the University of Oklahoma. They told the OKLAHOMA DAILY where they were one year ago and what this past year has taught them.

"I didn't want to believe this was an actual revolution," said one, recalling the first afternoon of the revolt when 15,000 students congregated in Budapest's city square. Many felt that way, he said, until the secret police shot into the crowd.

One girl, a pre-med student, said she worked four days and nights in the hospital, at the end helping move patients to the basement when the Russians shelled the building.

A young man remembered not being allowed to eat in the morning or at noon because "there were great chances of our being shot in the daytime, and if one is shot in the stomach, it is never good for one to be full at that time."

What did the revolution prove? The new Oklahomans offered this:

- * Communism is not good for the workers or people, only the party leaders.
- * Morale of the Russian army is not high. Their loyalty is based on ignorance. Many stopped fighting when they realized who they were fighting. They were looking instead for the Suez Canal.
- * The battle brought to light the apathy of the western countries.
- * Disagreements between Russia and satellite countries were revealed. If Russian armed forces weren't in a country, the Communist government couldn't exist.

Huh!

An old maid, shocked at the language of some ditch-diggers near her home, complained to the foreman. The foreman promised to look into the matter and called one of the men over.

"What's all this about profane talk," he demanded.

"Why, boss," replied Joe, the ditch-digger, "it's nothing at all. Me and Butch was working there, side by side and I accidentally let my pick slip and hit him in the head. And Butch looked at me and said, 'Now, really, Joseph, in the future you must handle that implement with a little more caution.'"

The visiting child psychologist was giving the teacher of the second grade some good advice.

"You don't hold the interest of your pupils, Miss Jones. When they come in, I'll prove to you that they are not paying the slightest attention to what is going on."

Presently the youngsters filed in and took their places. The visitor asked the class for a number, and a little girl gave 35. The visitor, in large, clear figures, wrote 53 on the blackboard, and called for another number. Receiving 19, he wrote 91 on the board, and for 47, 74. After several minutes of this, the visitor glanced triumphantly at Miss Jones, when suddenly a voice called out: "66. Let's see what you can do with that!"

Congratulations are in order to the Newport Club for staging a very good Dixieland show the night of November 16. The Brunotes really live up to their reputation as recording stars, and we sincerely hope that we shall hear more of their fine music in the future.

Disc jockeys of many radio stations are giving high praise to Dakota Staton's new album, "The Late Late Show" (Liberty). Miss Staton, a converted rock 'n' roll singer, has switched to the jazz idiom, and from the sound of this new album, she has never sounded better. Featured on this album are such selections as "My Funny Valentine," "Late Late Show," and "Fine Romance," to name but a few. We hope she continues to sing jazz, because female vocalists of her quality are few and far between.

Sarah Vaughan was great in her recent appearance at Storyville. We saw her on closing night when she sang "Mean to Me," "Linger Awhile," "Tenderly," "Poor Butterfly," and many other standards. Sarah's new album with Billy Eckstein is going great around Boston. This album was the result of their million record seller, "Passing Strangers."

Here are a few of the stars who won the 1957 "Playboy Jazz Poll": Gerry Milligan, baritone sax; Chet Baker, trumpet; Dave Brubeck, piano; Paul Desmond, alto sax; Bob Brookmeyer, valve trombone; Stan Kenton, band; Lionel Hampton, vibes; Frank Sinatra, male vocalist; and Ella Fitzgerald, female vocalist.

Five Bryant Hoopsters Interviewed; Skill, Experience Dominate Varsity Team

By Jim Sheedy
 This is the first in a series of articles on the outstanding basketball personalities on the Bryant College campus.

Gawlick
 A tall, rangy fellow from Attleboro, Mass., named Dick Gawlick (currently leading the Men's Intramural League in scoring) seems to be the favorite player of all the hoop fans that frequent the Cafegymnasium.

Dick Gawlick

A fierce competitor, Dick earned two varsity letters in basketball at Attleboro High; and in addition to being the captain of the squad in his senior year, he was named to the All-County team.

After graduation, Dick entered the University of Massachusetts where he also played the sport of big men. Dick's stamina, drive, and consistent play have earned him a starting berth on the Bryant Varsity as well as the title of mainstay of the Alpha Theta Chi five.

Nolletti

Ray "Hands" Nolletti of Mamaroneck, New York, is another starter on the Bryant squad. This lad has the largest hands in the school and displays them, often to the frustration of his opponents, by handling a basketball the way the average man handles a softball.

Ray Nolletti

Noletti was a three-year man on his high school team, co-captain in his senior year, and later played ball for Ithica College in upstate New York. Kay is a fine ball handler and has an uncanny knack for scoring points when they are most needed.

Summers

Anthony "Gus" Summers of St. Albans' New York, was a varsity stalwart for the DeWitt Clinton High School team for three years. After playing a year for Champlain College in New York, Gus divided the following season between the 1st Marine Division in Korea and the 3rd Marine Division in Japan.

Gus Summers

An excellent floor man, a defensive ball-hawk, and a good driver, Summers has left intramural competition to act as referee, but still performs for the varsity.

Haggerty

The third New Yorker in this series is Don "Nerves" Haggerty, who hails from Kingston. Don had two years experience with the Kingston Varsity, and later with the U.S. Marine Corps in Holland, he played with a team sponsored by the Esso Oil Company.

Don Haggerty

Don is one of the main reasons that the Chi Gamma Iota squad has remained undefeated. He is an excellent rebounder and never lets up regardless of the situation.

Petersen

Last, but by no means least, is a soft-spoken, big, blond lad from Cranston, R. I. Hal Petersen gained his court experience from three years on the Cranston High team and the Fort Hancock Battalion five.

Hal Petersen

Pete, who performs his feats for Tau Epsilon, always manages to come down with the basketball when he is under the boards.

He is also the possessor of a fine hook shot and a deadly jump shot. Pete also competes under the Bryant Varsity colors.

Marriage at College

(ACP) — Married students create unusual campus problems. The CENTRALITE, Central Bible Institute, Springfield, Mo., tells about one couple on that campus who have a class together.

Recently both raised their hands to answer the same question. The confused instructor decided: "Ladies first." But the wife said, "Let my husband be first. He's the head of our house."

"I guess you have the last word," joked the instructor.

"No," answered the husband. "I have the last word. It's 'Yes, dear.'"

(ACP) — More on married students on campus: At Colorado State University they're having a "MRS. CSU" contest. Wives of students or married women who are students are eligible.

"For all those married women on campus who have dreamed of becoming queens," says the ROCKY MOUNTAIN COLLEGIAN, "the opportunity of a lifetime has arrived."

Chi Gam Retains Loop Lead

By Jim Sheedy
 The basketball quintet of Chi Gamma Iota has maintained its domination of the intramural hoop league by winning three straight games to run their unbeaten record to seven in a row.

Ten games were played in the league competition since the last edition. In the initial contest the Westerly Commuters, reinforced by the acquisition of Ray Nolletti, swarmed all over Phi Sig 51-31. Jim MacVickar and Ray Nolletti led the way with 18 and 14 points respectively. DeFillippo threw in 13 counters in a losing cause.

Big Dick Gawlick continued to lead Alpha Theta Chi as he garnered 20 markers in leading his teammates to an easy 41-19 conquest of Kappa Tau, who sorely missed the services of Buddy Wright.

Hole, Haggerty, and Lubinski all hit for double figures that night as Chi Gam had an easy time with Beta Sig's winless aggregation. Big Dick Grossman scored 20 points for Beta Sig as they dropped the tilt 49-33.

In the second contest of the evening, "Jeep" Campbell had a field day, scoring 30 points and paving the way for Tau Ep's "B" team's initial victory of the season dumping BIB 49-39. As usual, Cooper was high man for BIB with 26 points.

That same night the Bryant College Varsity squad made an attempt at a faster brand of ball and found the going pretty tough. The team journeyed to the Davisville Naval Base for a tilt with the Seebees, the Naval District Champions last year. With little Gus Summers and Ray Nolletti showing the way, Bryant pulled away to a fast lead. However, the practiced Navy group, the long court, and a slippery floor began to take their toll, and the Seebees pulled ahead. In the final quarter a ball of fire named John Nohriga gave the Davisville team a comfortable bulge, and they went on to win 88-59. The Bryant quintet looked good and with a little work they should round out to a good working organization.

League Standings

Team	W	L	%
Chi Gamma Iota	7	0	1.000
Alpha Theta Chi	5	1	.833
Phi Sigma Nu	3	1	.750
Westerly Commuters	3	1	.750
Kappa Tau	3	3	.500
Beta Iota Beta	2	4	.333
Tau Epsilon "A"	2	4	.333
Tau Epsilon "B"	1	3	.250
Alpha Omicron	0	5	.000
Beta Sigma Chi	0	4	.000

Following the Thanksgiving holiday, the action resumed with Chi Gamma rudely welcoming Alpha Omicron, which replaced the Phi Sigma Nu "B" team, with a 56-26 trouncing. Amadio paced the victors with 12 markers as the starting five sat on the bench for one-half of the game. Monday's other tilt found Klien and Lutz sparking Kappa Tau to a 46-33 conquest of the BIB five.

Last Thursday afternoon Dick Gawlick and company dumped Tau Ep by a score of 49-33. Gawlick was outstanding as usual. In the second game of the day, a surprisingly strong Tau Ep "B" team almost pulled the upset of the year. Led by Lubinski's 12 markers, Chi Gamma Iota managed to squeeze out a 36-28 win. This contest saw a player ejected from the game for the first time this year which resulted in a lot of grumbling around the Cafegymnasium.

The only other action saw Kappa Tau and Phi Sig down Alpha Omicron and BIB respectively by scores of 51-37 and 54-24.

Doings of The Bryant Stardusters

By H. Gaudet

Bryant's dance band, "The Stardusters," has recently expanded in size. Tuesday's rehearsal at the Barn Studio revealed a musical aggregation consisting of 3 trumpets, 3 trombones, 1 valve horn, 5 saxophones, and 3 rhythm pieces.

In past semesters a strong brass section was difficult to assemble. However, the Stardusters have remedied that deficiency and have a strong brass section that will blend in full harmony with the saxophones in stock arrangements.

Under the capable direction of Professor Ralph S. Handy and Assistant Director, Harry Chellel, the Stardusters will play arrangements better than ever before. This group can best be called "the big band with a beat."

Bryant students recently heard the "big band" at the Pops Concert when they entertained during the intermission. Among their selections, the Stardusters played a medley of waltzes, which included "April Love," "My Heart Reminds Me," "Autumn in New York," "C'est L'Amour," "An Affair to Remember," "Cha-Cha-Cha," "Shangri-La," "920 Special," "Bernie's Tune," and "Blue Mirage Tango." Everyone enjoyed the performance of Bryant's musicians.

This article is the first of a series which will contain brief histories and interesting facts about the various sections of an orchestra. These sections include the brass section, reed section, rhythm section, and string section. This article will cover the brass section—the trumpet and the trombone.

Early in the Middle Ages, there existed two cylindrical brass instruments, the Clar and the Buysine. From the eleventh to the fourteenth century, these two instruments remained as well-defined types, clearly contrasted with each other. The clar was the ancestor of the trumpet and the buysine of the trombone.

The trumpet was originally a short straight tube of brass, with a cup-mouthpiece at one end and a bell at the other. As with the horn, however, an increase of length was demanded for purposes of outdoor effectiveness. With an instrument so constantly used in camp and on the field of battle, this necessitated an alteration of shape.

This alteration had to be directed towards greater portability and ease of management.

Toward the end of the thirteenth century, the instrument began to be folded up. It was a folding in one plane, such as is seen in the bass clarinet and the larger saxophones. A trumpet of this sort without "stays" was liable to continual damage.

As a result, early in the fifteenth century, the two curves of the instrument were brought together in two planes for mutual support. They were not fixed, merely placed together, and then bound with an ornamental cord. This trumpet had its modern day shape. During this period, however, the word "clarion" was more particularly applied to the folded instrument. "Trumpet" was reserved for the old straight instrument. In the last stage of its evolution the folds of the military trumpet were fastened to each other so as to form practically one rigid whole.

The "buysine" or trombone was, like the trumpet, a straight tube of brass with a cup-mouthpiece at one end and a bell at the other. Unlike the trumpet, however, it was of great length.

It is not known as to the manner in which the slide-mechanism was first applied to the trombone. This is more surprising when we consider the mechanical complexity of the change and the simple musical perfection of the result. Research shows that the slide was in actual use during the fourteenth century.

It can be readily seen that the trumpet and trombone have undergone many changes in their development since the Middle Ages.

In the next issue, the reed section will be discussed.

Integration Problems Discussed at Newman Club Forum

By Maureen Henault

A Cine-Forum was held in the Bryant Auditorium on Tuesday, December 3, at 7:15 p.m. A group of 200 persons attended the function, which dealt with Negro-White tensions. The activity was sponsored by the Newman Club, the Catholic organization on campus.

The president of the Newman Club is George Bello, who is supported by Miss Jeanine Morency, Vice-President; Miss Patricia Wieland, Secretary; Jerry Montesanti, Treasurer; and John Kelley, Program Committee Chairman.

The program featured the movie "Home of the Brave," which depicted the problems faced by a young Negro man while serving in the armed forces.

The movie was followed by a discussion of problems confronting the two races. Mr. Lucien Appleby, Executive Secretary of Bryant College, acted as moderator. The distinguished panelists included Mr. William M. Newsome, President of the Providence National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Reverend Anthony J. Robisson, Chaplain of the Catholic Interracial Council; and Mr. James M. Williams, Executive Secretary, Bryant College.

Some of the questions discussed at the Cine-Forum were— "How can Negro-White relations, as a whole, be improved?"

Newman Club Will Entertain Youngsters In Barn

By Louisa Pacifico

The Newman Club, a social and cultural organization for Catholic students, will sponsor a Christmas party for the underprivileged children of St. Joseph's parish. Twenty children from the parish between 6 and 12 years of age will be the guests of the club in the Barn Studio on Sunday, December 15th, 1957.

The festivities will begin at 2:30 P.M. and will last until 4:30. Music and games will head the list of entertainment for the children; refreshments consisting of cake, soda, and candy will complete the program. Toy gifts will be presented to each child. The distribution of gifts will take place around a gaily decorated Christmas tree.

George Bello, president of the club, and John Kelly, chairman of the party committee, will be in charge of the entire program. This Christmas party will be the first of an annual event to be sponsored by the Newman Club.

Student Interest In Religion Prevails on Campus

The three active religious organizations here at Bryant are the Newman Club, Hillel Foundation, and the newly reorganized Bryant Christian Association. All of these organizations make up the Interfaith Council.

The Interfaith Council is the governing body which co-ordinates the activities of the three religious groups. The Council is composed of five members from each of the clubs. These members are the officers of the Newman Club, Hillel Foundation, and the Bryant Christian Association. The present officers of the Interfaith Council are as follows: President, Vivien Levitt; Vice-President, George Bello; Secretary, Pat Wieland and Treasurer, Lorraine Boyajian.

The Bryant College Newman Club was organized in 1945. The spiritual director is Monsignor Geoghegan. The Newman Club has been very active on campus this semester. Some of the activities they have participated in are a cine-forum and a picnic held in October. The annual Christmas Party for the underprivileged children of St. Joseph's Parish is planned for Dec. 15. The officers of the Newman Club are President, George Bello; Vice-President, Jeanine Morency; Secretary, Pat Wieland; and Treasurer, Jerry Montesanti.

The Bryant Chapter of Hillel was begun in 1949. Rabbi Nathan A.

"What can be done about housing accommodations for colored people?"

"How can tensions caused by racial discrimination within the fraternal groups on the college campus be relieved?"

The discussion afforded a keen insight on the racial problems of today and perhaps helped to enlighten those students at Bryant College who are interested in this relation.

Greek Letter Council Holds Children's Yule Party in Gym

Bryant's gymnasium was astir last Sunday afternoon when approximately 130 underprivileged children of the Providence area enjoyed a Christmas party given by the Greek Letter Council. The children were greeted by the welcoming committee and by Santa Claus.

Gleaming eyes and smiling faces adorned the auditorium as the children spoke to and received gifts from Santa (Joe Tammellio), who stood next to a huge, glittering, well-decorated Christmas tree.

Refreshments in the form of ice cream, soda pop, hot dogs, candy, cookies, and other goodies were served to the delighted children. The School Choir sang holiday songs for the pleasure of the group.

Mr. Gregory T. Parkos, Director of Student Activities, and Gerald Lovely, Raymond Kiely, Laurent Remillard, Herbert Wienkoop, Norman J. Adams, Robert Goldenberg, Martin J. Haran, Barbara Kaszynski, Siro DeGasperis, Terry Mahan, Claudia Veglia, Evie Shamansky, Roberta Cerrito, Constance Giftos, Vilna Gambardella, Beatrice Paine, and Diane DelFavero helped to greet and entertain the children.

Rosen is the director of Hillel at Brown, with which the Bryant Chapter is affiliated. The members of Hillel have participated in socials, religious services at Brown, and branches held at the Pembroke Field House. A folk dance is scheduled for December 14 held jointly with Brown. The officers of Hillel include President, Vivien Levitt; Vice-President, Ruth Diamond; Secretary, Sandra Schwimmer; and Treasurer, Lynn Harber.

The Bryant Christian Association was reorganized successfully this year with the help of their active advisors. The Reverend Charles Baldwin is their spiritual leader. B.C.A. has had Rabbi Rosen as a speaker and has scheduled functions to follow. The officers for the current semester are President, Fred Prentice; Vice-President, Barbara Lealer; Secretary, Gail Frank; Treasurer, Daniel Drew.

If any student is interested in joining either the Newman Club, Hillel Foundation, or the Bryant Christian Association, he should begin by attending the meetings.

Campus Capers

Having just recovered from pledging, too much turkey, and the many activities which recently took place on campus, most students are now caught in the turmoil of the Sno' Queen campaign.

The six lovely ladies that will compete for this coveted position are Cathy Murphy, chosen by her brother fraternity, Alpha Theta Chi; Judy Vieira, sponsored by Beta Sigma Chi; Carroll Durrell, the representative of Chi Gamma Iota; Joyce Parker, the choice of her brothers, Kappa Tau; Doreen Colagrossi, the candidate of Beta Iota Beta; and Priscilla Vanacore, representing Phi Sigma Nu. Voting will be held Friday, December 13, and the results of the votes will be announced at the Annual Sno' Queen Dance to be held in the gym on December 14.

One of the highlights of the current social activities was the Winter Formal held at Rhodes on December 6. This annual event proved to be as successful as it has always been. Congratulations to Alpha Theta Chi on the adoption of their new son. It is a very original and charitable idea.

With the holidays just ahead, the campus will be bustling with festivities. Parties will be held by many of the organizations and societies. Theta Tau, Teacher-Trainee Society, will hold its annual Christmas party on Friday, December 13. This party will not only serve to enliven the coming holidays, but it will also allow for the renewal of friendships with fellow TT's who have been away from Bryant on their student teaching assignments.

The annual Christmas Tea, a highlight of Bryant's social activities, will be held on Sunday, December 15. Mothers of the College's girl students, accompanied by their daughters, will have an opportunity to meet the faculty of Bryant and to tour the campus.

Tommy Masso's orchestra will provide the musical background, and the Glee Club will entertain with Christmas carol selections. This event is under the direction of Miss Priscilla Moulton, and has proven to be a very successful affair each year.

Time—(Monday night at special sorority meeting.)

Jinx: "Here's your new, white sweater, Carol. Isn't it nice!"

Group: "Boy, do they look sharp! Smart! Nice style!"

Carol: "Gee, I can't wait to wear it. Have to sew on the fuzzy red sorority letters tonight."

Diane: "This classic boy style is tops! Look, I've already sewed my red letters on just by the pocket. Let's all sew the letters on tonight, and then we can sport them tomorrow."

Group: "Swell idea! Terrific."

Diane: "Before you girls hurry back to the dorm to do your sewing, let's all congratulate sister Goev Beers and Ray Lumbo of Beta Sig for a smooth dancing job at the Turkey Trot Dance. For dancing so well together, they were awarded a trophy."

"Let's also extend our best wishes with Beta Sig's for the success of our candidate for Sno' Queen, Judy Vieira. Well, girls, that's all. Question, Jinx!"

Jinx: "Just wanted to remind Marianne and Helen that it's their turn to sell cokes for Theta at the movie in the auditorium this Wednesday."

Goev: "Like to get a word in, too, Jinx. Gail and Jane have helped the treasury out a whole lot by selling several bottles of 'Kleen-so-Fast.' They're replenishing their supply now so they can sell more during the coming vacation. How many others would like more?"
