Next Friday, December 4, in the Bryant Gym, voting for Sno' Queen will take place from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The voting will be the culmination of a week of active campaigning by five fraternities to see their candidates crowned as Queen of Bryant College.

On the Thursday preceding the popular vote, there will be independent judging in the gym at 7:30 p.m., when professional judges will review the candidates and vote for their choice. The combined vote of the Student Body and the judges will determine this year's Sno' Queen, to be announced at the Sno' Ball, Saturday, December 5, sponsored by Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity.

Five lovely candidates will vie for votes all next week. The candidates were introduced at K.T.'s dance last Saturday evening, and all who attended agreed it would be a tightly-knit contest.

Beta Iota Beta's selection is Claire DiPaolo of Providence. Claire, 21, is a freshman in the School of Secretarial Science and a participant of Sigma Iota Beta activities. Claire was chosen to represent the State of Rhode Island in the Miss Universe Contest of 1958 in Long Beach, California.

Phi Sigma Nu's candidate is Joyce Petko, 19, of Windsor Locks, Connecticut. Joyce, Vice-President of Sigma Iota Chi, is a Legal Secretarial major and a member of the Key Society. She bowls and plays basketball for the sorority, and was a cheerleader in high school.

Alpha Theta Chi's choice is Dolores Augustine from Norwalk, Connecticut. Dolores, 19, is President of Delta Sigma Chi and an active member of the Newman Club. She is a Medical Secretary major, and was a member of the Honor Society Staff at Norwalk High School.

Chi Gamma Iota's nominee is Kent Kent, 20, from Bellows Falls, Vermont. Linda, President of Phi Upsilon, is a secretarial student, Secretary of Gardner Hall, and plays basketball, as well as bowls, for the sorority. She is active in Community Service at Bryant.

Beta Sigma Chi's candidate is Marilyn Strine from Rochester, New York. Marilyn, 20, is President of Sigma Lambda Theta and an active member of the Glee Club. She majors as Medical Secretary and is active in all sorority sports. She was a member of a water ballet team in high school.

The sponsors of the Twenty-first Annual Sno' Ball, Sigma Lambda Pi, promise that the gym will be turned into a castle fit for a queen to be crowned in.

At 10 p.m. at the Sno' Ball on December 5, Bryant College will learn who will reign supreme over all this semester as Sno' Queen, '59, when the winner will be announced and crowned.

Boston Theatre Trip Planned by Delta Omega

Delta Omega wishes to sponsor a theater trip to Boston on the same weekend as the Winter Formal. Since the formal is Friday night, January 15, 1960, the theater trip would be on Saturday, January 16, making a complete Winter Weekend for the student body of Bryant.

The trip will be for couples only, and the possibility of going by chartered bus is being investigated. The approximate cost is $10 per person. If students have any questions, they should see any of the officers of Delta Omega.

Senator Pastore Makes Tremendous Hit at Law Club Meeting

On November 19, 1959, the Law Club held a meeting and elected its Board of Directors. The Senator representatives include R. Weller, J. Goscowski, and E. Bergstrom. The Junior representatives are C. McGinnes, R. Rogers, S. Splicki, and D. Thompson. The Sophomore representatives are W. Buchanan, C. Matarazzo, and R. Plants. The two Freshmen who were elected were G. Van Note and F. Wertz. Michael Shelley was appointed the chairman of the publicity committee.

After the business meeting the guest speaker, Senator John O. Pastore, gave an interesting speech. His talk was on the need of atomic energy in war and peace. He told of how atomic energy is usually thought of as something for destruction, but it is now being used for a cure for cancer and in other fields such as electricity. He said that he would like to see atomic energy used for peace and prosperity. When the speech was over, he answered questions from the students on any topic. Some of the produced both educational and humorous answers.

Some of the comments about his speech were "Dynamic," said Mr. Walter Harris. "The Senator did an excellent job and made us all feel at home." He answered the questions better than any panel of men could have," said Vincent Marcantonio. Clifford McGinnes said, "I was planning to leave, but I just forgot all about the time." Mr. David Brooks said, "Tremendous! Enthusiasm in both style and content." Mr. Henry Foley, "If Senator Pastore ever wants to retire to the teaching profession there will always be a job for him."

All of the people who heard him will remember his wonderful talk and will be looking forward to seeing him again. A special thanks to Bob Evans, Mr. Sarkisian, and all the members of the Law Club for bringing this speaker to us.

Did you know that the Henry I. Jacobs Library offers many novels, plays, poems, short stories, and essays for the enjoyment and intellectual benefit of the students? Students can find all of the well known novels of such famous authors as Thomas Hardy, Thomas Wolfe, MacKinlay Kantor, Ernest Hemingway, and many more. In addition to books by famous American authors, works of great Russian authors like Tolstoy and Dostoevski are available. The library has just purchased over one hundred books from the list of great books. These books were recommended by Mr. Robert R. O'Connell and Mr. Robert F. Birt to provide additional background for the literature courses offered at Bryant and for the students' personal reading enjoyment. The fiction section of the library is located directly behind Miss Keith's desk on the back wall. If a student has any difficulty in finding a book, Miss Keith will be glad to give any assistance that she can. In addition to providing a fiction section, the library subscribes to the Atlantic Monthly which contains

Large Audience Enjoys "Night of January 16th"

As the first-nighters took their seats, you could feel the tension of a thriller film in the air. The Maquers had amassed a reputation for presenting the best, but could they maintain this success—could they competently capture the tenseness and drama of a courtroom where a life was in balance? As the bailiff called the court to attention and the judicial proceedings began to unfold, one could feel all doubt start to disappear. To those who were unfortunate enough to have missed the "Night of January 16th" and who are unfamiliar with the play, it revolves around the murder of Bjorn Faulkner, who is something of a financial wizard having achieved his success by stepping on the face of any one standing in his way. Karen Andre, his private secretary, is accused of the murder. She protests her innocence, but her protestations are opposed by the State of New York, Faulkner's long suffering widow, and his sardonic Swedish housekeeper.

As the attorneys for both sides press their cases, many perplexing items come to light. Karen testifies that the mangled corpse identified as Faulkner is not him at all, but Lefty O'Toole—a gunman given the rub-out treatment by rival business constituents. Larry Regan, revealed as Karin's secret boy friend, that he supplied the body (which he stole from the morgue) because he loved Karen and wanted to help her aid Bjorn in a crude scheme to swindle creditors.

Bouquets to the cast, the staff, Mr. Brooks, for together they handled both the corpse and the other elements of "Night of January 16th" with utmost proficiency. You may have left the theatre disagreeing as to Karen's innocence or guilt, but the verdict for the performance must have been well done.

Beta Holds 34th Annual Smoker

By Joel R. Siering
With Chaplain Neil David reading the opening prayer Beta Sigma Chi's annual smoker was underway in the College Auditorium. President Herb Campbell delivered the welcoming speech to the guests and then introduced the fraternity officers and advisors. In his address to the guests, Mr. Robert Paul, one of Beta's advisors and also an alumni, stressed that it was important for the prospective pledges to get to know the brothers of the fraternity and to "look over" the fraternities on campus before deciding which one to join. Only in this way can a wise decision be made. Before the meeting was ended the brothers and guests introduced themselves. Afterwards, the brothers and guests were joined by the sisters and their guests for refreshments and dancing. The music was supplied by a rock-n-roll band.

Poor English Students Are To Face Nationwide Attack By Colleges

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(I.P.)—"The English in this paper is not acceptable." This statement will be appearing on many exam papers very shortly, according to Professor Robert Moore, head of the English Composition Department at George Washington University. These warnings will be in the form of large orange stickers which will be placed on exam papers and blue books if the English in them is not acceptable.

Other warnings on the sticker may be checked off by the department professors who don't think the English is adequate on papers turned into them. These other warnings range from "your writing is careless," to "the writing is so poor that it has lowered your grade; take this paper to the College Office," and finally, "take this paper to the English department and return it to me with a note suggesting action within one week."

The primary concern of English department spokesmen is that these stickers will not only impress upon the student the fact that English errors can hinder him, but also that these errors can be remedied more easily if the student is aware of them.

A recent study made at the University of Illinois, according to Dr. Moore, found that students could boost their examination grades if they were able to express themselves more clearly and more precisely by using better English. He said that where a sticker system such as the one being started here has been employed, it has had very satisfactory results. According to George Washington University officials, the new system is here to stay.

Failing Frosh To Be Nipped In Bud

Muncie, Ind.—(I.P.)—Dean of the College Richard W. Burkhardt of Ball State Teachers College reports that this institution has developed a program of mid-term marking for freshmen, because "we feel that the quarter slips by all too rapidly and that without some systematic alert system, a freshman can find himself in deep academic trouble."

According to Dean Burkhardt, each instructor is required to turn in a grade for each student who is doing less than satisfactory work. This report gives the instructor the opportunity to check reasons for this failure to do satisfactory work.

The Office of Student Affairs collects these reports, gets in touch with the student through the Director of Men's Activities, the Director of Women's Activities, or the stu-

On November 19 a tea will be held for freshmen girls at Jeanette Carroll Hall. Interviews for sorority candidates will be held on November 3.

The sisters are still very busy making octopi for the children at St. Aloysius Orphanage. They will be given to the children at some future party.

Question: In what ways has college life affected your personality?

Bob Ferreira, Westerly, Rhode Island Business Management Senior

"In meeting various people, some good—some bad, I've been able to pick up from each one a little something that has helped to enrich my personality. In turn, this enrichment has given me a clearer outlook on the world."

Orvel Taylor, Long Beach, New Jersey Secretarial Junior

"It has helped me to achieve a higher degree of maturity and a feeling of independence. While living on the college residence plan, I've learned to accept the responsibility that comes with adulthood."

Ludlow Meehan, Newport, Rhode Island Business Management Senior

"I find that I am more confident in group activity and group discussions."

Donna Kay Gardner, Arlington, Virginia Business Marketing Senior

"I've learned to get along with people. This has prompted me to take general things a little more seriously."

Berle Ripley, Cranston, Rhode Island Secretarial Science Freshman

"I'm happier. I've learned to concentrate and, consequently, have developed a broader minded view of life."

Eugenia Ricci, North Providence, Rhode Island Secretarial Freshman

"I've learned to adjust to the ways of other people. My broadened social contact with different individuals has changed my attitude on the acceptance of responsibility and has led to the realization of the real importance of education. I now strive to get better marks, which is something I didn't do in high school."

Anthony Amerleo, New York Business Management Senior

"Born a loser—Die a loser."

George Sibley, Chicago, Illinois Business Management Senior

"The overall effect has been negligible. I am still the same dashing, debonair, devil-may-care, cavalier that I was before entering college."

Over Sixty Attend Sigma Iota Beta's Rush Teas

By Holly Carleton

The sisters of Sigma Iota Beta held Rush Teas on Sunday, November 15, and Wednesday, November 18. Both teas were held in the living room of Gardner Hall. Coffee was served to all those who attended, along with cupcakes and cookies. It was pleasing to see such a fine turnout averaging 60 girls at each tea. Jenny Pizzo, pledge mistress, issued copies of SIB's songs and explained SIB's activities. Jenny, along with the other sisters, answered any questions asked by interested guests.

Congratulations are extended to sister Camie Tudino, and Thomas Del Santo, past president of Beta Iota Beta, on their recent engagement.

All sisters are indeed pleased to hear the announcement of Beta Iota Beta's Sno' Queen candidate, Claire DiPaolo.

Sportswise, SIB's bowling and basketball teams are in excellent condition. SIB's bowlers recently took 4 points from Beta Sigma Gamma, and 4 points from Zeta Sigma Omicron. SIB's hoopsters seem to be proving that hard practice and constant teamwork pays off. They recently earned a victory of 48-8 over Phi Upsilon in an exciting game.

SIB has received the privilege of being able to display their "hard-earned" trophies in the Student Union. All the sisters are proud of their fine trophies, accomplished only by the entire interest and full co-operation of the sorority as a team.

BIB's Sno' Queen Candidate Chosen

By Dick Biele

Miss Claire DePaolo, former Miss Universe contestant, has been chosen as Beta Iota Beta Fraternity's Sno' Queen candidate for 1959. Miss DePaolo was introduced at Kappa Tau's Turkey Trot last Saturday evening, and it was evident to those attending why Claire was chosen to represent the state of Rhode Island in the Miss Universe contest and Beta Iota Beta's choice for Sno' Queen.

The Brothers of B. I. B. have many plans for the forthcoming campaign, and many surprises are awaiting the student body. The Sno' Queen Committee has held several meetings for this purpose, and the Fraternity will make every effort to make Rhode Island's choice, Bryant's choice.

Beta Iota Beta and their sister sorority, Sigma Iota Beta, held a social get-together last Friday evening. The Brothers and Sisters discussed events of Help Week and the pledging situation. It was clear after this meeting that the close relationship between B. I. B. and S. I. B. was very much present and that the two groups were maintaining their traditional close bond.

All prospective pledges may pick up their bids to Beta Iota Beta in their respective mail boxes upstairs in the Student Union November 30.

CALART Proves Nature Almost Out of Date

By Judy Knoffa

On Tuesday, November 17, Delta Omega made her first field trip of the year to the California Artificial Flower Company. The group consisted of approximately 18 Delta Omega members and guests.

The tour began with a quick trip through the paper pre-pressing section that is used in the manufacture of the flowers is dyed and processed. From the paper processing section the group went to the forming department where the various fruit and vegetable are formed from cellulose plastic.

The next portion of the tour was through the petal forming section where hundreds of girls form the various flower petals that go into the CALART creations.

So popular are the artificial grapes manufactured by CALART that a separate section does nothing but dip, dry, and form the bunches of grapes.

The final phase of the tour was through the flower assembly section. Here the profuseness of the colors turned out to be breathtaking. The lifelike flowers were everywhere in every stage of manufacture. Poinsettias, roses, lilies, bachelor buttons, iris, and snapdragons flooded the aisles and passageways. It seemed that nature was rapidly going out of date.

CALART was in the midst of manufacturing Christmas decorations such as Christmas trees, sprays, corsages, etc. One entire section of the second floor was devoted to this project.

The plant employs 600 people, 500 of whom are women. The biggest part of the manufacturing is done by hand by these women.

On the main floor of the building CALART has its gift shop, famous the country over for unique and distinctive gifts. The signs of Christmas are beginning to appear everywhere.

The first trip was a wonderful experience for all who went, and the members are grateful to Jim Buckley for making it possible.

Delta Sigma Chi Names First Honorary Sister

By Vivian Bormann

Deanne Mager of Bristol is the first girl to hold honorary membership in DEX. Deanne was officially received into the sorority the night of its smoker, November 12. She was presented with a personalized certificate of membership, a yellow chrysanthemum with green ribbon like those of the sisters, and a miniature trophy with the inscription, "You are the world's greatest sister." Deanne's bubbly personality and charm have made her dear to everyone.

That same night the smoker went into full swing. President Dolores Augustine, led the meeting commendably. After the opening prayer and welcome, Dolores gave the girls attending a briefing on Delta's history, purposes, and activities. Officers gave short speeches. Delta was honored to have its advisor, Mrs. Paul Kusallio, give an address as did Mrs. David Brooks.

After the presentation of honorary membership to Deanne, the sisters and prospective pledges went downstairs to the gym for a few moments of dancing and getting acquainted. Rides to Trinity Hall were provided by the brothers. At Trinity Hall crepe paper, balloons, streamer—all types of decorations were up in beautiful array. Hours had been spent by the brothers and sisters in getting everything ready for this most successful smoker. Home baked food and other refreshments were available for everyone's enjoyment.

FROM WHERE I SIT

By Bob "Fumble" Ferreira and Jim "Leahy" Baker

College Football
The "Touchdown Club of Bryant College, which meets in the Northwest corner of the refectory, comes up with the following communications concerning college football.

Syracuse will undoubtedly be the number one team in the country at the conclusion of this upper-ranked season. We will also go out on the sideline to pick Richie Lucas of Penn State as the Heisman Award winner.

Pro Football
It looks from our press table as a clairvoyant "rebuttal" of last year's championship scrap between the N.Y. Giants and the Baltimore Colts, with Jim Lee Howell's boys writing a different script. Our pick—New York.

College Basketball
Dribbling across the country we see as the top team, Cincinnati, paramounted by the incomparable feats of the "Big O." Migrating to the East, we find hidden in cosmopolitan New York, Tony Jackson and the fighting band of Redmen from St. John's looking forward to the panoramic splendor of the N.I.T. Rebounding to the local scene we see a dismal Winter for the Friars of Smith Hill. We base our prediction on the ornate schedule that they will encounter. After the snow melts and the March winds bring tournament bids, P.C. will be hindered by the loss of eight games.

Pro Basketball
Elbowing our way to the N. circuit, we see the Philadelphia Warriors and the St. Louis Hawks as respective divisional champs. But as the last whistle brings a conclusion to an exciting season, we see the Syracuse Nats electrifying the playoff fans to become N.B.A. playoff champions on the achievements of its two money ballplayers, Dolph Schayes and George Yardley.

Last Smoker of This Season Held in Union

By Stan Zuba

On the night of November 12, AOX held the last smoker of the semester in the college auditorium. DEX met upstairs in the Student Union.

Tom Rowles, President of AOX, officially welcomed all to the smoker with the opening address of the evening. Tom then introduced the faculty advisors, Mr. Paul Russillo and Mr. David Brooks, who gave excellent talks and exhibited snappy humor. Mr. Joseph Santos was unable to attend.

Each of the officers was then introduced to the gathering. They expressed the purposes of the organization, their particular duties in AOX, and the history of the fraternity.

After the completion of the meeting, the sisters of DEX joined AOX in the auditorium where the prospective brothers and sisters became acquainted with each other. Later in the evening, the combined forces of AOX and DEX adjourned to the beautifully decorated Trinity Club, (courtesy of a hard-working group of sisters and brothers) for dancing and refreshments.

Bright Students To Get Breaks

Boulder, Colo.—(I.P.)—The Inter-University

Superior Student, organized by Dr. Joseph W. Cohen of the University of Colorado, is an effort to promote the growth of Honors programs, in particular growth in programs which single out superior students earlier in their college careers and cut across departmental lines.

According to Dr. Cohen, "Colleges and universities all over the country are proving that there are many ways, not just one way, to provide for the superior student. New techniques are being developed to meet new situations. The most common type of honors program is departmental, providing for more intensive work in the student's field of concentration. At the same time, a surprisingly large number of schools have general programs in effect or in prospect, which aim primarily at rounding out the student's education in fields outside his own."

Dr. Cohen offers a number of suggestions (as well as cautions) for the establishment or strengthening of programs for superior students.

1. Plans for superior students should start as early as possible, preferably by recruiting them on admission to college... The instructional staff... can cooperate by identifying and reporting on superior students as they reveal themselves in classes... Late bloomers would thus enter the program whenever evidence of their worthiness was forthcoming.
2. The lower division is as crucial for Honors as the upper, perhaps more so... The challenge to deeper perspectives should begin at once...

1. Full - Hedged Departmental Honors programs should accompany the general honors program.

4. In the general or college Honors there should be made available from the beginning of the student's career, Honors groups and seminars of all kinds, Honors colloquia, specially designed courses, independent studies, and summer projects. All should carry credit towards the undergraduate degree. As far as possible the technique of Honors groups and colloquia should be that of the conference. Groups should be small, with ten to fifteen students confronting ideas in open discussion under the guidance of one or two instructors. The conference technique involves, of course, open discussion in the disciplined relation to the assigned work, skilled Socratic guidance by the teacher, less lecturing; our students have simply been lectured to death.

5. An honors Council, a director and a counselling staff should be established for the administration of the program... In the course of time a central Honors quarters with an Honors browsing library and a periodical room should be provided.

6. Finally, examination procedures, written and oral, should be worked out in a form appropriate to state aims, both in general and departmental programs.

Dr. Cohen further advises that once an authentic Honors program has been approved, it is best to abandon the degree with Honors or with distinction on the basis of grades alone. He also stresses a "variegated" approach to Honors. "What is essential," he points out, "is that an Honors outlook be established and maintained so that it can work its effect continuously throughout each educational community."

Stardusters Find No Wall-Flowers At State Hospital

By Eileen Pilling

Music, music, and more music. That's what "The Stardusters," Bryant College's own dance band, provided on November 4th at Harrington Hall at the State Hospital in Howard, R. I.

Under the capable direction of Mr. Ralph S. Handy, the musicians offered a variety of selections ranging from Waltzes to Cha Chas. A capacity crowd of approximately five hundred dance enthusiasts, all patients at the State Hospital, attended the affair. Throughout the evening there were certainly no wall flowers to be found, as everyone whirled and twirled to the strains of the music.

"The Stardusters" is composed of the following members: Piano, Janice Ring; drums, Dick Boynton; bass, Anthony Della Grotta; guitar, Gerald Edwards; first trumpet, Steve Budeheim; second trumpet, Ray O'Hara; third trumpet, Steve Harvey; first trombone, Allan McCabe; second trombone, Ernest Young; third trombone, Mr. Meek; first alto sax, Murray Rubin; second tenor sax, Webster Goodwin; third alto sax, Mr. Handy, fourth tenor sax, Dave Cruz; fifth baritone sax, Bob Westgate.

The group does not have any officers; however, Webster Goodwin has been elected to act as "The Stardusters" official representative to the Student Senate.

National Teacher Exams to be Held February 13, 1960

Princeton, N. J., October 18. The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 160 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 13, 1960.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examination, which includes tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non Verbal Reasoning; and one or two of twelve Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

A Bulletin of Information (in which an application is inserted) describing registration procedures may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November and December, and early in January so long as they are received before January 15, 1960.

Mr. Russillo Speaks at Hillel "Brunch"

Bryant College Students are showing a greater interest in the Hillel meetings. There was a tremendous turnout at the last meeting held Sunday, November 22. The Foundation decided to have a social for all colleges in the Providence area with Bryant sponsoring the affair. The social will be held in the Student Union and the date and all final arrangements will be made at the next meeting.

Mr. Paul T. Russillo, Instructor in Economics at Bryant, spoke at last Sunday's meeting. The topic was "Ethics in the business world." Mr. Russillo's lecture was a very helpful one to many of the Bryant students because they will be entering the business world in the near future. After the "brunch in the Hillel House, an open house was held in the Hillel Lounge, 154 Angell Street. The lounge has been remodeled and is now open for all students of Bryant and Brown. The Lounge is equipped with ping-pong tables, table games, and a snack bar which will be open to all members throughout the day. The next meeting of the Hillel Foundation will be held in December.

Tau Ep Ahead In BB League Race

By Gus Suneson

According to the sports calendar, the 1959-1960 basketball season is still in its infancy. But, already three teams have auspiciously made known their intention of being the "bride" in the Bryant Intramural League. Free-season favorite, Tau Epsilon, is off and running with a string of five consecutive victories neatly tucked away. With a seasoned veteran squad built around Curt Holmes, TE has lived up to all expectations by easily downing their opposition thus far. Although Holmes is the apparent cog that makes the team click, Casciano and McAllister have also contributed some very fine hardwood ability to the cause. Another contending five, although they were handily defeated by TE, are the Gray and Maroon of Chi Gam. Mike Foster's Hoopsters, with plenty of height to spare, appear to be determined not to settle for bridesmaid of the league. The team, holding down the number 2 position at present, along with KT and Louie's, shows signs of being a tough club right down to the wire. Foster, Lee Chadwick, Burke, watch in spearheading Chi Gam's offensive.

Also, wearing the sign of "Title Contenders" are the Kappa Tau Quintet. Larry De Gallo, Dick Bruno, and "Orb" Donahue seem to have kindled championship hopes for the Brothers of KT. If the combination of De Gallo's shooting and the team's speed continues, then KT will be right up there until the finish. This combination has been the key to their successful record. Four victories and one defeat to date.

With new recruits filling the roster, BIB has made themselves felt in the initial part of this season nine, and Pearlmen, have been the mainstays thus far. If they don't run out of steam, they may possibly be a threat for at least runnerup honors.

As for the remainder of the League, it looks like the familiar story of "hot today, but cold tomorrow". It is possible though, that there is a dark horse lurking in the shadows. Phi Sigma Nu could possibly play the role of spoilers. The Chefs ran up three games in the win column before going down to their first loss. If they can stay on the victory diet for a more lengthy stretch then they might just push their way into Green and Gold of Phi Sigma Nu dropped their first two verdicts before adding two to the debit column. Phi Sig has displayed some fine ball playing in the first three quarters of every game but just haven't been able to hang on in the closing minutes. If big Jim O'Connor starts biting with a little consistency, and gets some help from the rest of PSN, then Phi Sig may make themselves heard from before the final whistle.

Teacher Trainees Praise Practice-Teaching Schedule

By Ed. Grube

Bryant's Teacher Education seniors are just finishing the first half of their semester of practice teaching at public high schools in the Rhode Island area. These eighteen weeks will give the Teacher Trainees a good idea of what to expect once they graduate.

All four-year students in the Teacher Education program at Bryant are required to go into state-approved public high schools to teach for one semester under certified supervisors of practice teaching. The semester consists of about eighteen weeks. The "student teachers," as they are called, conduct regular classes in Bookkeeping, Typing, Shorthand, Business Machines, and Filing, as well as other courses in Business at the high school level. When they have completed their semester of practice teaching, the seniors will return to Bryant for their final semester of instruction, before going back out again to face that group of forty or fifty grinning faces which are the high school students.

The student teachers are under the supervision of the regular teachers at their respective high schools, but they are frequently left in charge of the classes by their supervisors. Then the fun begins. The young teacher must always have an answer on the tip of his tongue. Under these conditions, his strength or weakness in the guidance of younger minds makes itself known. Some of the student teachers have hinted that the new teacher has an initial problem of discipline in the classroom. However, this problem didn't seem to offer too much of a challenge to these Bryant seniors.

All of the seniors now engaged in practice teaching have remarked that they like it very much. They say that they feel it is definitely the life for them. It is extremely hard work, but it is rewarding to see the gleam of understanding appear on the faces of your students—just before you feel that all is lost. None of the seniors are having trouble with the subject matter of the courses they are teaching.

The men in the practice teaching program generally are teaching bookkeeping and business machines courses, while the women are teaching the typing, filing, and shorthand courses. Most of these seniors are preparing daily lesson plans for their classes, whether or not they are required to do so. Very few have anything to do in the way of extra-curricular activities.

These are some of the reactions of Bryant's Teacher Trainees who are "out in the field":

Marilyn Stillman, teaching at East Providence Senior High School, thinks that business teachers should have instruction in the repair of typewriters.

Joseph Grande, who is practice teaching at the Providence Central High School, is enjoying his experience as a student teacher so much that he regrets having to come back to Bryant in February for his final semester.

Robert Danis, teaching at Warwick Veterans' Memorial High School, makes the statement that high school students are surprisingly well-behaved. He says that any problem that arises is very easy to solve, and that some of these problems can be traced directly to errors in lesson planning by the teacher.

Kathleen McCormick, who is teaching at the Providence Central High School, is quite proud of the way she has helped a student who has a speech defect. Miss McCormick reports that the student now goes so far as to volunteer to read her homework in class. This is quite an achievement!

Soon the seniors will be finished practice teaching; and after completing one final semester at Bryant, they will begin their careers of teaching in earnest. It is estimated by the College that fifty percent of the graduates will take teaching jobs in Rhode Island schools, and that the other fifty percent will teach in out-of-state schools. Any school will be fortunate to have one of Bryant's graduates on its staff.

The Juniors of the Teacher Education program have also been actively participating in outside preparation for their chosen professions. On November 13, five Juniors attended a seminar at the Southern Connecticut State College in New Haven. The following Juniors took an active part in a discussion of student evaluation: Timothy Cartwright, Anthony Celuzza, Joseph Charland, Alma Gagnon, Cecilia Mendes, and Manuel Pimentel. The Juniors were under the direction of Dr. Morrison.

Also attending the seminar were the following Sophomores, who attended as observers: Richard Arkasky, Gretchen Arnold, Marilyn Main, and Patricia Payette. The Sophomores were under the supervision of Assistant Professor Harry Cunha.

Zeta Sigma Sisters Are Busy With Many Plans and Activities; Will Select Adviser

The sisters of Zeta Sigma Omicron held their regular meeting on November 3 in Room 2D.

The main topic of discussion was getting a new advisor. The girls have chosen a few names from the list of available people and will speak to Mr. Harry Cunha, Alpha Omicron's advisor, about the matter.

Zeta has adopted a sorority song which the sisters have learned and will teach to the pledgees.

Soon the new Zeta Sigma Omicron Sorority pins will be flashing around campus. The sisters chose these pins at their last meeting.

Starting November 30, the sisters will be doing community service work at the Charles V. Chapin Hospital. The work will consist of typing, receptionist work, and other secretarial duties.

On October 29, Alpha Omicron and Zeta Sigma Omicron had a very successful smoker together. The sisters met in the Student Union at 7:30 and welcomed the interested girls. They had an informal meeting explaining the sorority's history and future plans. Later, the brothers, sisters, and all those interested in Alpha Omicron and Zeta Sigma Omicron met in the gym for a very enjoyable evening of refreshments and dancing.

Tuesdays and Fridays have been chosen as "Zeta Days." The sisters have been requested to wear their sweaters on these days.

As of November 9, Zeta has accumulated 8 points in bowling. Zeta bowled: Beta Sigma Gamma, Sigma Lambda Theta, Alpha Phi Kappa, and Phi Upsilon.

On November 7, the sisters helped their brothers, Alpha Omicron, decorate for the dance which was held that evening. The dance was a great success and was enjoyed by all who attended.

At the next meeting, the sisters will make final plans for a tea which will be held some afternoon in the near future. Everyone interested is invited to attend this tea which will be held in the living room of Gardner Hall. Invitations will be in a special box on the second floor of the Student Union.

Harvard Takes New Step

Cambridge, Mass.—(I.P.)—A new step in cooperation between the women students of Radcliffe College and the men of Harvard College will be taken this fall. Two of Harvard's residential Houses will join, in some of their House activities, with two of the residence halls of Radcliffe.

The cooperation between student residences, which are centers of undergraduate educational and extra-curricular life of both colleges, follows the merging of several college-wide organizations of the two institutions during the past year.

At Harvard's Winthrop House, the women of Radcliffe's Comstock Hall will join in the House-centered educational program. Group tutorial sessions for sophomore students in the major fields of study will include the women of Comstock Hall as well as Winthrop's own Harvard sophomores. As far as practicable, Comstock juniors and seniors also will be guided in their advanced studies by Winthrop House tutors.

The Radcliffe women also will be eligible for such Winthrop House activities as the Science Society, the Economics Table (which meets regularly for lunch with House tutors), the Social Relations Club and the Senior Thesis Seminar.

At Harvard's new Quincy House, which will open to students for the first time this fall, the women of Radcliffe's Holmes Hall will be eligible to join in House activities in the arts. Since Holmes Hall is the Music Center of Radcliffe and Quincy House will have many students interested in music, the affiliation will provide both residences with opportunities to fill out groups of instrumental performers and singers. In addition, the Quincy House art studio, photographic room and stage will provide facilities which can be made available from time to time to the Radcliffe students of Holmes Hall.

Art Martoza Wins Phi Sig's Raffle

By Jack Loughran

The winners of Phi Sigma Nu's annual raffle were drawn on Friday, November 20. The winner of the first prize, a $100 gift certificate redeemable in any clothing store in Providence, was Art Martoza, 27 Fairview, Middletown, R. I. The $25 Government Savings Bond was awarded as second prize to Kenny Braids, Pontiac Avenue, Cranston, R. I. This year's raffle was considered a very successful one. The Children's Home will be given a Christmas Party financed by the proceeds of the raffle. As is the custom each year, the members of the Fraternity and Sisters of Sigma Iota Chi will go to Lakeside a week before Christmas and distribute gifts to the children as well as serving refreshments.

The Brothers of Phi Sigma Nu unanimously selected Joyce Fetko to represent the Fraternity in the annual Sno' Queen Campaign. Joyce, who is from Windsor Locks, Connecticut and resides in Harriet Hall on Campus, is a third-semester student enrolled in the Legal Secretarial Course. Joyce is Vice President of Phi Sig's Sister Sorority, Sigma Iota Chi. The brothers of Phi Sig feel that they have selected a girl that both the Fraternity and students of Bryant would be proud to have reign as their Sno' Queen, and the Brothers are going to make an all-out effort to have Joyce wear the crown on December 5.

Sibley Says.....

By George Sibley

I am a bachelor. This is a priceless state of being in itself, but my existence as such is further enhanced by an additional fact. I am a Bryant bachelor.

Now to be a successful Bryant bachelor requires large quantities of finesse, tact, know-how, and mental stability. These requisites are usually not necessary for the ordinary bachelor and most people are unaware of the tremendous job the Bryant bachelor goes through in acquiring and maintaining them. From this unfamiliarity with the true facts has grown a misconception that the life of a Bryant bachelor is an enviable one. Such is not the case. Granted, there are definite advantages from a social viewpoint, but these are far outweighed by the hazards and peculiarities involved.

Take for instance the matter of apartment housecleaning. Since there is a limited amount of time to accomplish such chores the Bryant bachelor must combine this with homework. Have you ever tried to clean venetian blinds while debating T-accounts?

You've heard of spaghetti and meatballs, but have you ever run across Spaghetti a la Typing Paper? This is a gourmet's dream and has far reaching significance because it is the only original American art form developed on the Bryant campus. This delicacy is contrived from one pot of lustily boiling spaghetti, a typewriter, and a term paper. After running from the kitchen to the typing table and back to the kitchen, desperately trying to simultaneously cook and type you end up with a Pica pot of spaghetti (six meatballs to the inch) and a term paper immersed in soy sauce. My many friends have advised me to, "Find yourself a woman." On the few occasions when I have been successful in locating some young lady willing to do my cooking it has ended disastrously. Not only has she not been able to cook, but she's used my whole week's rations proving it.

Then there is the matter of laundry. I am very particular about this, and I make it a practice to keep an ample supply of laundered apparel in my bureau. Because of limited storage space in my apartment I must also keep various notebooks and reference papers in this same bureau. This presents a difficulty because due to the press of study for examinations I often forget to restock the bureau. I'll look in the drawer that normally would be filled with underclothing only to find one, lone economic notebook. I hope you never have to step out into sub-zero weather clothed in marginal utility curves.

All this presents a dilemma to which there is probably no ready solution. So the next time you see a Bryant bachelor strolling the campus be more understanding and offer up a prayer he can certainly use it.

Disabled Vets To Get Increased Benefits

An estimated 318 GI insurance policyholders in Rhode Island have a right to the total disability income rider since last November, when terms were liberalized, John L. Reavey, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office, Providence, has announced.

Under the liberalized terms, policyholders, who become totally disabled from any cause before age 60 and while their rider is in effect, will receive an income of $10.00 per month for each $1,000 face amount of their GI policies. Previous maximum was $3.40 per month, Reavey said.

Payments under the rider begin after the total disability has existed for six consecutive months, and continue for the duration of the disability, regardless of its length.

No payment may be made for disabilities incurred after age 60, and no premium charge is made for this benefit after that date.

If the veteran is in good health and under age 60, the rider may be attached to any NSLI policy, except for a limited number sold to service-disabled veterans since April 1951. Although a physical examination is required of those whose age at their nearest birthday is 41 or more, Reavey pointed out that these policyholders may be examined by local physicians, provided VA medical application forms are used.

Reavey said that the premium cost of the rider varies according to the policyholder's age, type of policy, and its face amount.

Those veterans who now have the old rider may get the new one at little extra cost. Information and application forms are available at any VA office.

Temple Concert Features Pianist

Arthur Rubinstein again proved his mastery of the classical piano in a brilliant performance at Temple Beth El Tuesday, November 17.

The concert began with Mr. Rubinstein's interpretation of the Appassionata (Sonata in F Minor) by Beethoven. His volatile style carried throughout the entire performance. Appassionata, as the majority of Beethoven's works, runs the gamut of emotion. In the fiery coda Mr. Rubinstein literally catapulted himself from the stool by the violence of his blows upon the keys.

Throughout his renditions of the Impromptus by Schubert and Carnival by Schumann, he swayed and moved with every changing mood and tempo. Perhaps those of us feeling would have said that the Impromptus were a bit too romantic in interpretation, but for the imaginative, the emphatic, the lover, they were a complete and moving expression of every emotion. And that was truly a masterpiece of piano interpretation.

The true artistry that is Rubinstein's was not fully apparent, however, until he began Ballade in G minor by Chopin. Rubinstein has long been considered one of the greatest, if not the greatest, interpreters of the works of Chopin. When he began the Etudes by Chopin, either the audience could not contain themselves or they could not count, for the applause was nearly spontaneous after each of the six presented.

A deafening ovation called him from the wings upon the completion of the last of the Etudes to play the immortal "Minute Waltz" by Chopin.

Regardless of what pianist one speaks, eventually the term "mechanical performance" is heard. No one with any appreciation of fine music could say that any portion of Mr.

Many Enjoy Sigma Iota Chi's Scarecrow Crawl

By Joan Strandquist

On Friday, October 10, Sigma Iota Chi presented a Scarecrow Crawl. The Scarecrow Crawl. Even though the ghosts and the witches were out that night, it didn't prevent students from coming out and having a good time. All danced to the terrific music of the Mello-tones. In keeping with the Halloween theme, cider and doughnuts were served for refreshments. The sisters wish to thank Lynne Ochiano and her committee for the work they did in decorating the gym. A special vote of thanks goes to the brothers of Phi Sig. who helped make and put up the decorations. Sigma Iota Chi held its Smoker on Tuesday, November 7. The Sorority Worthy Matron, Miss Dorothy Denelle, told the history of the sorority. She then introduced each one of the sisters, and they in turn each told about their office.

After the organization everyone joined in singing S. I. C.'s songs. Later on, the brothers, sisters, and the prospective pledges met in the gym for a social hour. Music was by records, and as a special attraction, a singing group from Cranston, the Dyatones, gave a real rockin' performance.

For the past two weeks the sisters have been studying for their national test. Anyone who didn't know what was going on might think the girls had "flipped their lids." They don't always go around reciting the Greek alphabet. The test was given on Tuesday, November 17, and proctored by Mrs. Weaver, Sorority Adviser.

On Wednesday, November 18, S. I. C. held its Annual Home Party for its prospective pledges at St. Joseph's Hall. After playing a few games, all indulged in a favorite pastime—eating. Hobo packs in little cups were given out as favors.

Bryant Graduate Heads R. I. School

Miss Virginia Besaw has been appointed Superintendent of Rhode Island Training School for Girls. She is a 1938 graduate of Bryant College.

Miss Besaw was a child-care worker at Bradley Hospital and also served in the Women's Army Corp during World War Two. She received a Social Science degree from St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland and a Master's Degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

Rubinstein's performance was mechanical.

Truly a great, rewarding performance that proved without a doubt that Arthur Rubinstein is the master yet.

Tickets for the concert were made available to Bryant College students by Delta Omega Professional Society.
