Jewish Holy Days Cause Calendar Confusion

Three concerned students of the Jewish faith set into motion a proposal to cancel classes for all students for the observance of the Jewish High Holy Days. This occasion is observed on the 27th and 28th of September this year. While Orthodox Jews and those who hold to Conservative values celebrate for two days, those who attend the Reformed Temple celebrate for one day only.

Greg Evans, President of the Student Senate, accompanied the three students in a meeting with Dr. Harry Evarts, President of Bryant College. The students were armed by petitions signed by approximately 750 students and a letter from Father Donald A. Barrette, Catholic Chaplin of Bryant College.

A meeting was held by the Bryant College Faculty Federation on Wednesday afternoon. At the meeting, Dr. Evarts spoke in favor of cancelling classes on the two days in question. The Federation held two votes. The first proposal brought up for a vote was whether or not classes should be cancelled, and if cancelled should 5 minutes be added to classes to make up the time. The vote on this was 25 in favor, 20 opposed, with 8 abstaining. The Federation later took a second vote after deciding to rescind the first vote. The second vote was whether or not classes should be cancelled, and that the Calendar Committee should be consulted about how these days should be made up. The vote on this was 29 in favor, 13 opposed, and 11 abstaining.

As a result of the second vote by the Faculty Federation, the Calendar Committee met, and voted on the following proposals made to Dr. Evarts:

1. Classes should be cancelled. The vote was 4 in favor, 1 against, and 1 abstaining.

2. Decisions should be left up to the different departments. The vote was 5 in favor, 0 opposed, and 1 abstaining.

3. The time should be made up after 3 p.m. The vote was 1 in favor, 4 opposed, and 1 abstaining.

In his quest to gain further information on the legality of the matter, President Evans made the following research report:

"Upon contacting the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, I was informed that there is no quantitative requirement made by the accrediting board, especially concerning class hours.

Upon contacting the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, we were informed that the only quantitative requirement was that concerning course load. This requirement is that those students must have at least one-third general studies in their curriculum.

Upon contacting Mr. Arthur Ponterelli of the Rhode Island Board of Regents, we were informed that the institutions set their own rules concerning class hours as pertaining to session hours and credits."

Some of the points to be considered in whether or not to cancel classes are as follows:

Against

1. Students of Jewish faith are allowed to be absent from class on Jewish High Holy Days and the faculty has been asked to not consider the time as a cut and to refrain from scheduling exams on those days.

2. None of the 12 institutions of higher education in Rhode Island observe Jewish High Holy Days.

3. 12.5% of Bryant's enrollment is of the Jewish faith.

4. There are other groups who could also make persuasive requests for exceptions to the Calendar.

5. The College Calendar, which does not include Jewish High Days, has already been approved through normal procedures.

6. Although 800 students signed a petition in favor, 1700 did not.

7. Although 29 faculty members voted in favor, more than 60 did not.

8. Many constituencies of Bryant would be inconvenienced (Greeks, parents, A.R.A.) by a change in the calendar because they have already made commitments.

9. Certain laboratory courses, secretarial skill courses, etc., do not lend themselves to a change in calendar change.

For

1. Out of the students polled, not even 1% voted against observing the Jewish High Days.

2. Thirteen faculty members voted against; 76 did not.

3. Delta Sigma Phi and Tau Kappa Epsilon, who are co-sponsoring the Freshman Queen Weekend, have already made other arrangements regardless of the outcome. No one polled the parents.

We have presented both sides of the issue. Everyone in the College Community will be allowed to vote today. Please exercise your right.

Are you in favor of cancelling two days of classes to observe the Jewish High Holy days?

Yes

No

Consider this before voting

It is the feeling of a majority of those present at the faculty meeting that the quality of their course content in some cases will be harmed if the two holidays are given due to the absence of the two days in question. They would therefore like to have the time made up. In an attempt to alleviate the time problem, we would appreciate your help by filling out this referendum.

IF YES check one below.

Make up will be determined by each department.

Add five (5) minutes to Thursday and Friday classes for ten (10) weeks. Classes on the other days will not be affected.

Make up the two missed days on two Monday holidays already on the calendar (October 8 and October 22).

Editorially Speaking

SHALOM

What seemed to be a repeat of an effort by Jewish students to recognize the Jewish High Holy Days on the school calendar has not yet been resolved. One of the reasons for this may be that the Jewish students involved did not make their request known until the eleventh hour. Their efforts, which were considered by some to be for a good cause, succeeded in creating numerous rumors throughout the College Community.

Although many people may be inconvenienced by this last-minute change in the calendar, we feel that the request of the Jewish segment of the College should be honored.

The ARCHWAY recommends that the class time which will be lost if the Holy Days are observed should be made up by adding five minutes to Thursday and Friday classes for a ten-week period.

We support the Jewish students in their request and urge all members of the Bryant Community to take part in the voting.

On The Lighter Side

President Solves Pressing Problem

It was announced this week by Dr. Harry Everts that a Parking Lot Shuttle Service will begin operation shortly. The Board of Trustees gave their immediate approval at an emergency session, which was called after they had been notified that from now on they would have to park behind the athletic fields and into the Unistructure by way of the loading dock.

Commuters have been getting to class about 15 minutes late every day because it takes so long to walk up the driveway after they have parked at O'Brien's.

One of the Co-Editors of The ARCHWAY loudly voiced his displeasure last night about the problem. After driving twice the speed of light to get back to campus before his pizza cooled off, it was ice cold one half hour later after walking from his parked car to Dorm 2.

When asked what had happened to all the parking spaces, the President said that an unidentified ex-vice president had apparently sublet all the parking spaces to Lincoln Downs before leaving.

This week, the ARCHWAY wishes to extend congratulations to the Dining Service for its excellent planning of leftovers for Wednesday night's dinner. The students who were unfortunate enough to go to dinner around 5:15 on Tuesday night were faced with almost empty buffer tables at the Adventure in Dining. This seems to be unfair, because the dinner hours do not end until 6:30. Students who asked for more spaghetti or chicken were told that no more was going to be put out. However, on Wednesday night, the same chicken mysteriously reappeared on the menu! We at the ARCHWAY feel that the only reason for not putting more food out for students who go to dinner after 6 p.m. should be that there is no food left.

Special thanks to the management of the dining service at Bryant for careful planning and true concern for the students of this college!

Do You Really Care!!!

Dear Editor,

Every Fall season brings an increase of fatherless boys into the big brothers of Rhode Island program. The need this year is greater than in past years in that there is a record number of little brothers who remain un-assigned for the lack of a big brother. With the expected increase of un-assigned little brothers this fall, the need for new big brothers becomes imperative. The aim of the big brothers is to give a young boy the opportunity to further his growth and development through a relationship with a male adult, a relationship he does not have because of the absence of a father in his home.

A "Little Brother" is a boy between the ages of 8 and 16 who needs friendship, affection, counsel and someone to emulate. The big brothers offer their services under the supervision of a social worker and is directed toward helping the volunteer "Big Brother" initiate, sustain and improve his relationship with his little brother.

Judge Luther M. Youngdahl of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, in speaking of big brothers has stated: "Every child craves friendship, recognition and adventure. Big brothers of America is one of the most effective preventive organizations in providing these prerequisites to boys who have not been the recipients of them through normal home life. Big brothers are engaged in the greatest conservation work of all—the conservation of our youth."

Will you make a positive, constructive commitment to help the needy boys in our community? Call 274-4110 today and lend your support.

High Food Prices

Who Needs It?

Dear Editor,

As a commuter we find it hard to believe the recent drastic increases in the food prices at the snack bar.

Being a business student I would appreciate moderate increases as incurred by most of the major food industries, but a 50% increase in some of the basic items as the cheeseburger, being pushed up from 50 cents to 75 cents can't be justified.

If we can buy a similar item within 1/2 a miles radius from Bryant college with table service (instead of waiting in line for 15 min. which reminds me of a military camp) I can't see why ARA's prices could be higher although they serve in such big quantities.

We all know some of the cost factors like wages, meat, etc., have gone up but I stress once again that 50% increase in price of some of the items does not justify it. Therefore, I am inclined to assume that a MONOPOLISTIC practice on part of ARA has taken place to EXPLOIT the student community.

I suggest that if our present menu cannot be accommodated at reasonable prices, why can't we have homemade cheeseburgers on the menu, or dogmeat which may still be cheaper, or some outside caterers.

A. Merati

Liberalism?

Dear Editor,

As a freshman coming to the Bryant College community, I sincerely expected an air of genuine liberalism from the school, not the pseudo-liberalism conveyed by most of the students as well as the ARCHWAY (The voice of the students?). Viewing the students of Bryant and the roles that they play, I wasn't the least bit shocked to find out that the paper was such a sport-orientated sexist journal. I do suppose a sexist school should have a sexist newspaper for all the muscle-flexing males and ass-shaking females. What is left for the students that are not playing these sex roles?

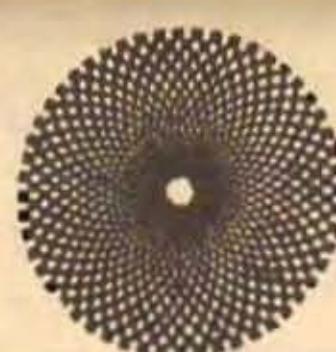

Very Sincerely,

J.M.G.

P.S. In the future I wish that you, the newspapers Editorial Board would use more discretion in your choice of advertising. The sexist ad for the yearbook in the Sept. 14 edition was uncalled for.

Editors' Note:

The ad to which you refer was approved by the Editor-in-Chief of the LEDGER, the Bryant College Yearbook. The editor happens to be a woman. We do not believe that this ad was sexist in content, and we are very much for the Women's Liberation Movement here on the ARCHWAY Staff.

Rip-Off!

Dear Editor,

During my summer vacation, I received a bill from the school for $5.00. This amount was deducted from my damage deposit of $100. (My suitcases received the same bill).

Since we did keep our suite in good condition, one of us wrote to the school asking about the $5.00 deduction. The reply was that the hinges in the bathroom needed repair! Thirty dollars to repair a hinge; is labor that expensive? I'm sure maintenance took of all but five minutes to repair the hinge.

To put the icing on the cake, we revisited our old suite and we realized the hinge in the bathroom was not repaired. Is the damage deposit policy another money making scheme of the college? Yes, Bryant students, we're getting ripped off again!

Does Your

Vote Count -

Yes!

Dear Editor,

In the next few days you will notice the almost traditional display of campaign literature throughout the school. Different ideas, and some new approaches to old ideas will be the theme of the various candidates running for office in this coming election.

But the unfortunate part of the whole situation is that if this election turns out as previous ones have, then less than half the students will have the concern to get off their — and vote. This will mean that this Senate as was in the past, will be elected by a minority of the students rather than a majority.

AN ELECTED OFFICIAL SHOULD NOT REPRESENT A MINORITY OF STUDENTS.

One minute of your time on election day (Wednesday, September 26, 1973), will change that and greatly diminish the apathy here at Bryant. One minute of your time on election day will prove to the students, the administration, and most important, to yourself, that you are not just here for the hell of it all.

So does your vote count? The answer is obvious. The goals of our Senate are not nearly as complex as national, state, or even town legislative bodies. The Senate has the means of respectfully achieving these goals but they need your help, for only a minute, on election day.

Unhappy Students

Dear Editor,

As Bryant College student, commuters should have the same privileges as dorm students. This semester, however, things have changed for the worse.

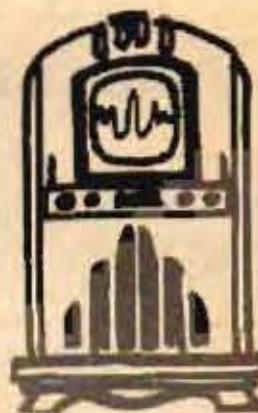

At computers last year, we were allotted our own lounge. Upon returning to classes last week we were shocked to find our lounge had been changed into a "new" pool room. The old pool room, as a result, was changed into a "new" commuter lounge. Our juke box and the vending machines were NOT changed along with the tables and chairs. We were left an old piano that is so out-of-time that Beethoven could not have composed anything on it. (And he was deaf!) Have you ever tried carrying a full glass of soda up 2 flights of stairs? At the tuition we pay a year, we at least deserve a money-making juke box and a few vending machines!

Our second complaint is the college bookstore. Most two-year secretarial students have full schedules that begin at 8 and end at 3. With the store not opening until 8 and closing at 3, the only time we can possibly get any supplies is during lunch. BUT the bookstore is CLOSED at lunch. It doesn't open again until 5, but who has two hours to waste waiting for a door to open?

Doesn't anyone have any consideration for commuters or are we still considered "outsiders"? We are asking that the school listens and does something about our problems. Bryant can't afford any "unhappy" students.

MBA Highlights

MBA PROGRAMS OFF TO SUCCESSFUL START

by Dean Lebovitz

Approximately 250 graduate students have enrolled for the Fall 1973 Semester in the MBA programs in Management and Accounting on campus, at Raytheon in Portsmouth, and at Navy in Newport. Twenty-one classes are running on the campus, two at Navy, and four at Raytheon.

The student body has continued to be an excellent mixture of geographic origins, of previous undergraduate and graduate study, of divergent occupations, and of varied age groups, all united by one goal—to attain the MBA degree, via either part-time or full-time study.

For example, some students already hold Masters degrees. There are over a few Ph.D.'s or Ph.D. candidates in the program. The number of women who have been admitted has also grown. There are foreign students from Iran, Ireland, Korea, and Lebanon. At Navy, the ranks of the students range from Lieutenant to Captain.

Interest has continued to be high in the MBA degree. Since the end of the Spring Semester applications have been received at the Graduate Office on the average of six application a day.

Bryant students are reminded that the Graduate Office is always available for their questions concerning MBA programs at Bryant.

Dr. Fullerton To Speak

Dr. Barry F. Fullerton, Vice President for Student Affairs, will be the first scheduled speaker for the lecture series, "How to Live with Teenagers and Keep Your Sanity." The series is co-sponsored by Middletown Public Schools and the Child and Family Services of Newport County, and will be held at Middletown High School on Wednesday, September 26, 1973, at 7 p.m.

Because Dr. Fullerton has had considerable experience in conducting seminars on adolescent development, behavior modification and drug abuse during his career in the scholastic world, he will discuss the nature of adolescence, the changing values and attitudes which have occurred in our society in the past ten years, the so-called youth culture, the generation gap, and other issues related to adolescence, including college selection and alternatives for other types of career preparation and training.

Attendance to these lectures is available for the whole series or for individual sessions. If you're interested, please get in touch with Elizabeth Lamberton, Family Life Educator, Child and Family Services, 21 School Street, Newport, Rhode Island.

I.S.O. Looks For American Members

by Martin Minnaugh

What do you do if you're a foreign student at an American college and you're having trouble adjusting to the culture or the language? If you're at Bryant, you can look up the International Student Organization.

This group, organized about a year and a half ago, was formed as a gathering place for the foreign student to meet others in the same predicament who can help him adjust to a new culture.

I.S.O. presently has about 25 members who represent some 18 nations. The club is seeking to have American students join the group, with hopes of having international dialogues. Among I.S.O.'s past activities have been providing speakers for Rotary and similar clubs and sponsoring "National Nights" which feature customs and cuisine from various nations. I.S.O. also represented Bryant at the model UN. The club hopes this year to sponsor "open house panels" at which students will be able to take part in panel discussions on cultural differences. Also, I.S.O. hopes to be able to have guest speakers here, including ambassadors.

Aku Mensi, President of I.S.O., demonstrated the fact that foreign students are anxious to share their reactions to America and its people and culture. Aku is a native of Uganda; but like thousands of other Ugandans of Asian descent, he has been exiled by General Idi Amin. He is presently a resident alien in this country and has applied for U.S. citizenship.

Mensi has lived in Kenya for seven years and offered a few interesting observations about the differences between Kenya and America. The major drug problem in Kenya, he pointed out, is alcoholism. Use of marijuana is limited mostly to the older members of the society. Marijuana is illegal in Kenya but officials generally look the other way.

American education is far superior, Aku asserts. After being brought up in the traditional British system of rote memorization and a single annual examination, the Americans' emphasis on thought and understanding is quite refreshing. He also points out how educational opportunities are limited there, as there are only five colleges in all of Kenya.

Perhaps the thing that struck Aku most about this country is that, as he puts it, "democracy actually exists here." In Kenya, the press is tightly controlled and very biased (pro-American). If a Kenyan made comments about his president the way the Democrats are commenting about Nixon, that person might never be seen again.

Many other cultural differences were not even brought up in the interview. If you're interested in learning more about other nations and their people, go to an I.S.O. meeting. They're held about once a month and the time, date and place are posted in various places about the college.

Evening School Off To A Good Start

by Timothy P. Cartwright

The Evening School is off to a very good year. If it appears you have to park a little further back in the parking lot, it is due to an increase of ten percent in the evening enrollment, including almost 300 day students who have joined some of your classes, you are part of an 1800 strong student body which is attending the Bryant College Evening School.

The tornado watch which was in effect Tuesday brings us to our biannual request. In the event of class cancellations due to inclement weather, the several area radio stations will be notified. For those of you who live outside of the metropolitan Providence area we will try to get announcements on Fall River, Westerly and Worcester radio stations. Because classes meet only once a week, cancellations are made only if travel conditions make it impossible to reach the campus.

Plans are now underway to develop programs in three areas critical to evening students. A preregistration for the spring semester is planned for October. Further information will follow in the next week or two. The second area is the problem of unnecessary trip to the campus when your instructor is ill, etc. Possibly next week a viable solution will be announced in class.

Finally, the organization of an evening student senate is being attempted again. The purpose of the organization will be to let you be more a part of the Bryant College community. The planning of social events, the opportunity to recommend changes and the general development of comradery among your fellow students could come out of participation in such an organization. Anyone interested in helping to plan and develop an evening student senate can leave his or her name with the Evening Division office.

You may be hearing new voices and seeing new faces in your next contact with the Evening School. Mrs. Pat McNamee has joined us during the day after serving as our evening assistant since last May. Mrs. Pat Campbell has been hired to fill the evening and Saturday morning position.

Counseling by Mr. Yorks and I will be posted on the two Evening School bulletin boards.

Cab Drivers Learn

Good Manners

New York cab drivers were told today: Always be nice to women and drunks; turn down the volume of the Mets baseball game; shave and shower every day.

The cabbies sat and took it.

It was all part of an instructional series by a New York City taxi company.

Today's lecturer at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel was none other than etiquette champion Amy Vanderbilt.

She told the cab drivers to avoid controversial topics such as religion and politics.

The drivers grumbled and one cigar-chomping cabby mumbled, "You betcha, sweetheart." UPI 9/19/73.

Movie Review

Pinball Wizardry Heavy Traffic

Paul Krantz Animation, Inc. has developed a film which furthers the cause of progressive animation from where FRITZ THE CAT left it. The film, entitled HEAVY TRAFFIC, is an updated version of the type which preceded it.

Unlike those before it, HEAVY TRAFFIC combines animated and live-to-life sequences. However, the "true" characters bear a direct resemblance to their animated counterparts.

HEAVY TRAFFIC earned an X-rating—probably for depicting reality. The exaggeration of real situations has a certain sobering effect on the viewer. The story takes place in New York City; a young man is playing pinball. The film periodically flashes back to this scene to emphasize the game which one must play to survive in the concrete jungles of this country. As the film begins its animated portion, the viewer finds himself in a tenement house near the docks of New York. The story evolves around a young man—the son of a mafia dock foreman and a Jewish mother. He has a fetish for drawing cartoons and doodles as his family has some rather gory family squabbles. When the adolescent discovers what he thinks to be a meaningful relationship with a voluptuous black barmaid, he relishes the fact that he is now considered to be her "main man" and his long-lost identity has been found. Unfortunately, his racist father becomes quite angered at his son for his inter-racial activities; and as a result, a contract is taken out on his son's life.

HEAVY TRAFFIC should be noted for the ease in which animated characters take on their "roles in reality" and for the command of the obvious which the animators so clearly exhibited.

HERE THEY ARE:

ROB SALAMIDA
SENIOR

Dear Seniors:
I am running for re-election as Senator of the Class of 1974. My main purpose is to continue in my efforts as chairman of the entertainment committee which has included movies, mixers and lectures.

It is my sincere intention to carry on the work that I feel will make the Bryant Community a better environment.

RICHARD SCHIERELHUTH
SENIOR CLASS

To the Senior Class:

I am a candidate for Senior Senator. I am qualified for the position and have three years experience in playing the Bryant College Game.

STEVEN SCHULMAN
SENIOR

Dear Student Body,

After having attended Bryant for three years, I have seen the activities at this school go downhill. I feel by working for the Senate as a senior, maybe something could be done to brighten the future. I am always willing and able to help anyone at anytime.

JOE ALBANESE
SENIOR

Reason for seeking seat on Student Senate:

As a member of the Senior class, my motives for seeking a seat on the Student Senate involves not only the seniors but all the undergraduate classes. Being a senior, I have experienced the many difficulties of college life. For the past three years I have listened to many gripes of the student body. The main problem is these gripes are never answered. Once a member of the Student Senate of Bryant College I will make proposals that will answer the student grievances. As students who pay tuition, we are comparable to taxpayers in a small community. When the taxpayers elect public officials, they get things done for the taxpayers. When students elect student senators, they cannot do the same for their fellow students. This is mainly the cause of the Administration we do not look at the students as taxpayers, but merely as salary payers. Without a student body there will be no tuition paid, and in turn no salaries paid. In essence, I intend to seek a balance of power in the school as there is in our national government.

My other motive involves setting precedents for future Bryant College students. The senior class should strive to resolve the many problems they experienced in their undergraduate years. The Senior class should become example setters. Although the future students gratification will never be directly appreciated, each and every senior can leave Bryant College with the feeling that they made college life a little bit better and more enjoyable than it was in the past.

JUNIOR

DAN HARRINGTON
SENIOR

Fellow Students,

After attending Bryant College for three years I have seen the Student Senate rise from a highly inadequate organization to one of great potential. With the cooperation of the student body I feel that this potential can be achieved. I am running for the position of Senator so that I may help in achieving the goals of my class and the Student Senate. With your support I feel that I can help in this effort.

ROY ELLISON
SENIOR

I was taught many years ago that there were two types of companionship: that of friendship, and that of selfishness. I have attended Bryant College for almost 4 years now, and I have amassed much knowledge from my environment, be it book knowledge or from keeping my eyes and ears open. I feel that this year I can finally devote more time to the students of this community, and that I can best do this through the Senate and its committees.

WAYNE SHINK
SENIOR

I am a candidate for a seat on the student senate.

PETER LOCKATELL
JUNIOR

Student-Faculty and Student-Administration Relationships, Student Unity, Academics, Athletics, Living Conditions and Culture, Social and Political Activities are all student needs that must be tackled. A strong and united Senate will be the difference in these matters. The Bryant Student Senate needs to unite and give the students their long lost representation.

I am running because I believe I can help unite the Senate. Furthermore, I think my student experiences will be a positive factor in helping to solve the problems of the Junior Class and the rest of the Bryant College Student Body. Give me the chance to help your Student Senate. Vote for Pete Lockatell as your Junior Class Senator.

Get out and vote on September 26th.

DOREEN (BEATLE) ROGERS
JUNIOR

To the Bryant Student Body:

I am now beginning my junior year at Bryant and have been here long enough to know that many needs of the students have not been met.

I have noticed various groups on campus trying to effect changes but with little or no success. Changes are definitely needed in the relationships between the administration and the student body; in the curriculum, which needs to be updated; and in the student government, which should be strengthened.

The student body's strongest weapon to effect change is UNITY. In unity there is strength. It is the policy of some administrations to divide and conquer. STUDENTS UNITE! Let there be no more divisions to weaken us—divisions between commuters and non-commuters, independents and Greeks.

I pledge myself to a policy of ending all divisions and bringing that unity which alone can effect change. Let me be your spokesman for change. STUDENTS UNITE BEHIND ME!

PAUL J. ZABLE
JUNIOR

Student Body of Bryant College

As a junior and a member of an important class of Bryant College, I believe it is time to be active in the direction of our school.

The unity of our school depends upon student involvement. Until now only talking about the issues that confront us throughout the school year has not helped.

I would now appreciate the chance to represent the students on those issues. Becoming a member of the Student Senate will be my chance to help the college and its community!

FRED LEONARD
JUNIOR

Dear Students,

I am running for senator of the Junior Class because there are changes that need to be made. These changes need student participation. I came to Bryant two years ago and was active in school politics. During my sophomore year I had a job which prevented my participation in senate activities but now I can spend time in school politics.

I hope that on election day, students will show the senate some support. It is the only input you now have into this system.

Vote and show your support.

MARK T. GILCHRIST
JUNIOR

Students of Bryant:

In order to be effective, our Student Senate must reflect the views of the entire student body. Our class, the Juniors can and should be the strongest class and the one most active in Bryant's undergraduate government. With the two classes below us being unexperienced to some extent, and the class above us growing more apathetic as the months pass, it's our class that has to exercise our experience and familiarity with the running of the school and the workings of the Senate if we are to be heard and recognized by the entire Bryant community.

With the unlimited potential we have, there's much hope for our success in the years to come here at Bryant. I ask for your support in this election so that I can work towards these goals for all of us.

RICK CORRENTE
JUNIOR

To all Students,

My name is Rick Corrente. I am running for the Senate and I need your vote.

As a senator at Rhode Island Junior College I had the opportunity to work closely with two administrations and I believe I have the ability to work effectively with the Bryant Senate.

I would like to see for example a twenty-four hour return period for books purchased in the "textbook distribution center." I also feel that the possibility of class officers is a matter worth looking into. Making the bookstore more responsive to the needs of the students (especially during the hours of twelve and one) is yet another issue.

These are only a few of the issues facing our Senate. I feel that working respectfully and compromisingly with the student body and the administration we can accomplish a great deal. I think that I can be an asset to our Student Senate but I need your vote to get there.

One final thought: Whether you vote for me or another candidate the most important thing I can instill upon you is to get down to the Rotunda on election day and vote. It is your right to vote for the candidate(s) of your choice. Exercise the right Wednesday, September 26.

THE CANDIDATES

SOPHOMORE

This letter does not describe a platform, as such. Since I do not have one, I have been a senator since last semester's purge. I have become very interested in Student Government both in Bryant College and statewide. I have also been appointed Asst. Treasurer of the senate and see many wrongs which must be corrected. These as yet have not been recognized by our present Treasurer. The senate is still building its credibility which requires the sweat of people who know where its been and where its at. I was introduced into the workings of the senate through the Brown administration and have continued to learn through the Evans administration. I hope to be allowed to continue to use my resources and knowledge during the upcoming year.

Student Body of Bryant College.

Creativity can be achieved through the unity of the student body. The putting together of thoughts, ideas, and actions often create accomplishments. Accomplishing something that you have worked toward is one media that I perceive through Student Senate.

I feel I can assume the responsibility of representing the Sophomore Class in our Student Senate. The road ahead is not an easy one but one in which I will involve myself.

I would appreciate your confidence in me so that we may work together in achieving our common goals.

LUCIE GOLABEK

TO THE SOPHOMORE CLASS:

As a candidate for the job of sophomore class senator and as a management major, let me take this opportunity to express myself. My specific objective is to forward student interest. My experience is limited, but I have a great drive to get the job of senator done and done effectively. I hope to bring about changes that have not been accomplished previously.

Let me work for you to make this Year's senate outstanding and beneficial to YOU.

SUSAN HORN

This year's Student Senate is working to provide more activities and benefits for the students than in the past. I would like to become a part of this important organization. The year has much potential and I would like to see it develop into something worthwhile.

As a four year student, I am interested not only in making this an interesting and productive year, but also in building a foundation to make the following years even better for us.

People are needed in the Senate who are truly interested in the students and who want to put the students' ideas and thoughts into meaningful action. I hope you will give me the chance to try.

LYNNDA POLLON
FRESHMAN

To the Editor,

My reasons for wanting to be a part of the Senate are very simple: I'd like to get involved with the school in an area where I can be a help to others and make changes for the better. I feel I could well represent my class by listening to the views of all and by bringing them up in discussions at the meetings. If a person feels his ideas are important, they should be given the chance to be taken up by the Senate. There are so many opportunities for one at Bryant, and I'm a real optimist and I try hard for what should be achieved. Being a freshman at Bryant, I do not yet know of any immediate changes that should be made. Besides, it's not only what I want to express or start up, but what YOU desire to occur.

Thank you.

ARNIE SILVA

Dear Editor,

This is to inform my freshman classmates that I am seeking the position of Senator of the Student Senate. As you know the Student Senate takes an active part in fulfilling the many desired changes for the student body. Being a concerned and involved student in high school and now here at Bryant, I would like your support to take an active part in the Student Senate and to make your desires my desires. I urge every student to get out and vote on Wednesday, September 26. Thank you.

SOPHOMORE

I have decided to run for the office of sophomore senator for a couple of reasons. I feel that I have the necessary requirements to make a capable senator. Being a member of the freshman orientation group, I saw the potential the student senate has. I saw what a group of students can do when they get together and plan events. It was a good feeling to be part of a unified body. If elected, I can only help to continue this unity and help everyone try to work together for one common goal. This goal is to get everyone at Bryant active and keep the student body well informed of social, scholastic, and athletic events. If elected, I plan on having more mixers in the Rotundas on weekends. The enthusiasm at mixers seems to be very high and I think more mixers would get a lot more people involved. I don't plan on making a whole list of campaign promises such as some candidates do. However, if elected, I will devote as much time and energy as is needed to be a successful senator. Vote Bob Foster for sophomore senator on September 26. Thank you for your time.

RICHARD P. FORMICA

Editor, the Archway,

I wish to direct the following to the Freshman Class:

I will not make any proposals in the platform style because I believe as Freshman we are incapable of passing judgement on present administrative policies. It is just too early for us to recognize which policies are beneficial and which are not.

As we make the transition from high school to college we face many challenges both academic and social. It is the responsibilities of our Freshman Senators to make this transition easier by working with the administration and their fellow Senators to orient us to college life. These Senators, therefore, must be concerned and responsible.

It is not important, then, to elect a slate that is full of proposals, however conservative or liberal. Instead it is MANDATORY to elect Senators who are willing to adhere to the advice of the experienced Senators and more important, to their constituents.

I CARE about my peers; the upperclassmen and their relationship to Bryant College. This concern alone is enough to qualify me for Freshman Senator. Beyond that, I am willing to listen to you and the administration. In this way I can work effectively for the betterment of this school.

If we can begin our college career down the right path, that is, listening to and learning from those who have preceded us, then we can continue down that road towards a career of success and happiness.

That is the path I would like to see this Freshman Class take and it is in that direction that I shall strive.

TIM HANNING

The Student Senate is the official voice of the student body. By being elected as a representative from the Sophomore class, I would be in a position in which to support the interests of the student body.

My past experience consists of being involved in town government. Coming from Manchester, Connecticut, I was a member of the Manchester Youth Commission. As a member of the commission, I was able to vote on various issues concerning the under 21 age group in my town.

I was a member of the Bryant Student Senate during the past year. During my year on the Senate, I became acquainted with procedures in the college administration. I missed only three Senate meetings during the entire year. I also was a member of the Freshman Orientation Coordinating Committee, which was responsible for setting up much of the Freshman Orientation Program. This experience has given me the advantage of being prepared to serve as a Senator another year.

If you would like to be sure that we students will be properly represented in the Student Senate this coming year, you should have experienced Senators capable of promoting your opinions. I am asking for your support to help put me back in the Student Senate on Wednesday, September 26.

GO AHEAD AND VOTE!

LES GOLDSMITH

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to the student body of Bryant College and especially my fellow freshmen. My name is Les Goldsmith and I am a graduate of Danbury High School, Danbury Conn.

Through my career in high school I was very active with the internal function of our school, and have headed many committees, from the simplest dances to the most complex of activities such as graduation and yearbooks. When I take the responsibility of heading committees I put my heart and soul into it. If you elect me as one of your senators, school officials and the rest of the student body to help create a better atmosphere at Bryant College.

ALAN CHEP
FRESHMAN

To the Freshman class,

Through the years, students have the most efficient channel of expressing their ideas to the administration. This is why I am a candidate for freshman senator.

As a senator I will represent the student's interests at Bryant College. Many things could be improved, for example the bookstore mysteriously "Runs out" of required textbooks. This is ridiculous! Students suffer and it is the fault of someone, somewhere.

Problems like this can definitely can be solved and I definitely will work toward their solutions.

Vote Wednesday and support your student senate.

FACT: Last year 15 elected senators, on your student senate, stopped representing you before the school year was over! Four of the six senators elected from our class did not remain in office for their full term.

You can change this by not voting for the candidate that is out for social prestige. VOTE for someone that will work for you.

VOTE FOR ME, I'LL WORK FOR YOU.

Let's have a great year.

LISA BROWN
SOPHOMORE

To the Sophomore Class,

My name is Lisa Brown and I'd like to represent you on our student senate. I feel that two of our major problems are apathy and a lack of unity. Although things have improved in the past year, through the work of the senate, a lot more could be done.

If you would like to be sure that we students will be properly represented in the Student Senate this coming year, you should have experienced Senators capable of promoting your opinions. I am asking for your support to help put me back in the Student Senate on Wednesday, September 26.

GO AHEAD AND VOTE!

KAREN BENOIT
FRESHMAN

TO MY FELLOW FRESHMEN,

My name is Karen Benoit, and I am running for the Student Senate. As freshmen, we are new to Bryant College, and the need to let everyone know we are around and very much a part of this school is of great importance to me. As one of the freshmen's senators, I will make sure that the freshman class is heard loud and clear. If a problem arises within the freshman class as a whole, I will make sure that a class meeting is organized, so you can voice your grievances not only to the freshman senators but to the whole Student Senate. I can be your voice at Bryant College. I ask you all to start making the freshman class known.

Here at Bryant College, I am a news writer for The Archway. I am also planning to get involved in The Ledger. What better way than the above two to let the freshman voice be heard. I have signed up for Freshman Orientation for the '74-'75 school year.

If you have any questions, feel free to come talk to me.

Vote KAREN BENOIT in office, and the freshman class will not stand in the shadows, but will be right out front where we belong.

SIR YOU ALL AT THE POLLS!!

REMEMBER KAREN BENOIT FOR STUDENT SENATE!!!

A Close Look at Financial Aid

Many students, both commuter and dorm, are in need of some kind of financial aid.

Here at Bryant, as at many other colleges in Rhode Island, getting financial aid means a lot of paper work, not only for the students and parents, but also for the Financial Aid offices of colleges and banks. Students in Rhode Island who are attending college are more fortunate than those students from other states. Here in Rhode Island, the banks are willing to give loans even at a "loss." Because of new regulations imposed governing federally-subsidized loans for students, many students are uncertain as to whether or not they will get their loans. New eligibility requirements coupled with the requirements that financial officers make determine how much loan money each student needs; and this is the basic problem.

At Bryant College, there are four general categories for the financial aid program. They are scholarships, grants, loans, and self-help opportunities. Every year these programs are offered to the students to help them through their college years.

At Bryant, as is true for many other colleges, new programs will be offered in the area of financial aid. More help than before is going to be given to the student on his way to a better education.

Before completing this article, I felt a definite need to talk to Mr. Fred Kenney, Director of Financial Aid at Bryant. I asked Mr. Kenney what these new programs hoped to accomplish. His reply was, "The Federal Government would like to provide basic grants to low-income students so that they can attend any college of their choice. However, even with the optimum level of the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant of $1400, private colleges would be in a little difficulty because the cost is much higher. Low-income students would probably be eligible for state colleges and junior colleges. Private colleges would not be able to provide enough money for low-income students."

Middle-income students probably would be eligible at a private institution for a lower amount of the grant, say $500 or $600. The rest of the money they'd have to make up with a loan." Mr. Kenney said he could foresee the Federal Government being in two programs: the Basic Grant and the Guaranteed Loan Program. National Defense Student Loans and Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants are probably going to be phased out, according to Mr. Kenney. The college work-study program will be continued, but with less funds.

After asking Mr. Kenney if it was harder to get financial aid with these new programs, I came to the conclusion that in some cases it was and in others it wasn't. He explained that it depended greatly on the family circumstances. Mr. Kenney told me that the Federal Government used to use a system called targeting. This, he said, was a concept which Congress brought into play about three years ago. It seems that funds were targeted towards those institutions which had a large concentration of low-income students. This is where most of the Educational Opportunity Grant money went. Mr. Kenney went on to say that it was probably a little easier for the independent student to get money. Mr. Kenney concluded that some students who filed for financial aid this year were now eligible, though they may have received financial aid last year.

Upon asking Mr. Kenney how it is determined just how much money a student will get, he said, "The P.C.S., one of the three or four basic needs analysis forms, is used. What it does, supposedly, is to read the financial strength of the family, and it prints out a needs analysis report stating whether or not the student has a financial need to attend the college. We have a budget which is all-inclusive for the academic year. A resident student's is $5930 and a commuter student's is $3250. The P.C.S. picks out the amount of expected family contribution from the resources and income of that family. This year we will probably meet about 70-75% of the students' needs."

The procedure for filing for financial aid goes as follows:

The student must file a Parents' Confidential Statement report;

The filing date, for upperclassmen, is no later than April 1;

New students should submit forms prior to January 1 if filing for the following fall;

If a student does not receive a P.C.S., he should go to the Financial Aid Office and pick one up; and Filing should be done yearly.

My last question to Mr. Kenney was if a student could put in a request for a certain amount. He told me that students can do this but that it doesn't mean he will get that amount. Again, the amount depends on the P.C.S. If the P.C.S. does not show a need for the requested amount, the student will not get it.

Mr. Kenney concluded the interview with the following statement: "The basic Educational Opportunity Grant went into effect this year. This will be the underlying program of all Government funds for the next few years. Not all students will be eligible next year. It will probably be limited to sophomores who filed this year as freshmen, were eligible last year and received funds last year. Also eligible are new, full-time students for the '74-'75 year.

Other students will have to rely on the N.D.S.L. In all probability, the money from S.E.O.G. will be put into basic grants.

Competition Keeps Culinary Quality Up

The Red Bus

For those people who have worked in the fast food service business, it is quite well known that the initial investment made is of minor consequence to the problem that one encounters once he takes the responsibility.

Jim Stave and his partners, Michael Windt and Richard Stoll, experienced problems of both a mechanical and capital nature while they try to rebuild confidence in the Red Bus. The previous owner, after trying to "make a go of it," decided it would be best to sell the operation. Thusly, Jimmy Stave and two new partners this year are trying to provide a service to Bryant students that they can be proud of.

In addition to the initial investment made for the Bus, Jimmy's new partners, both mechanics, saved a large sum of money by repairing the bus themselves.

The Red Bus uses electricity as its sole source of energy, therefore, there is no danger of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Jim's interest in the food service business ranges from his summer employment to lifetime restaurant management. In retrospect, Jim felt that his major, which is Marketing, should have been changed to Institutional Management because of his obvious interest in the restaurant business.

Kiddingly, Jimmy referred to his customers as vegetables, calling them "one happy garden." One customer, when questioned about the taste of the food said that he would not comment on the quality until the next day, saying later that it was really good.

Jimmy carefully estimated his profits and it was clear that the Bus is a profitable business. Following accepted accounting procedures, costs are computed and charges against revenues to arrive at a figure for profit.

The "Konga Burger," the Red Bus' challenge to the Mac Donald's "Big Mac," has enjoyed moderate success. Jim admitted that the high priced burger was a combination of the efforts of all three partners.

It seems that in each food service operation there is one individual who serves as the chief cook and bottle washer. For Jimmy and his crew, Udell Pemki fills the bill. He works on the nights which tend to be the busiest, having gained experience from his work with the past owner of the Bus.

Jim summed up his feelings about the Bus by saying that despite school work and his obligation to his partners, he finds his role as a partner

Frank, from the Silver Truck, explained that his motivations behind starting the truck were two. He had been in school for four and one-half years, and saw the job market tightening as time went on. Originally, the truck had planned to serve dorm to dorm, and only to serve cold sandwiches. However, after speaking to friends, the owners were advised to offer hot food as well. Bryant was the Silver Truck's choice, because of its location. Nestled in equipment, and a new grill.

Minor accidents do occur in close quarters. Frank retold the story of how he singed his beard. Using propane as a source of fuel, flames jumped when the gas was left on. No damage was done, thanks to fast-thinking and cooking know-how.

Much like Bryant students, the Silver Truck takes a vacation during the summer months. Carefully budgeting their money, Frank and Mel vacation with their families.

Despite the fact that meat prices have risen, Frank has held his ground on raising the price of his steak sandwiches. The sandwiches' popularity is strong, and as a service to students, the price remains nominal.

Bob Pisotelli is to the Silver Truck as Udell Pemki is to the Red Bus. Knowledgeable in the fast-food service business, Bob works as well as carrying on his school studies.

Frank stated that the little troubles he has from heckles, comes from "townies" who sometimes frequent the campus.

The fried egg special is the Silver Truck's main attraction.

The Race for Better Taste

There you have it. Both of these vendors, despite their problems, seek to serve Bryant students the best way they can. Meeting Health Department standards, they operate to keep their customers happy, while the college's dining service, ARA, catches forty winks from a busy day.

Whether you prefer the Red Bus or the Silver Truck, you can be assured of equally good food and friendly service.

A new location, a new grill, and two new partners are just some of the changes that the Silver Truck and the Red Bus have undergone this year. Serving Bryant students 'til the wee hours of the morning, these budding entrepreneurs keep quality high in a competitive spirit.

The owners consider themselves fortunate in that their sales from dorm to dorm are healthy, and despite the fact that they do not collect the money ahead of time, they have had little trouble with their customers.

challenging and rewarding.

The Silver Truck

As similar as the competitors are, the Silver Truck differs in many ways from their red school bus counterparts.

Smithfield restaurants are few and far between.

Starting off with limited capital, an inexpensive grill was the number one priority, after a proper ventilation system was installed. Investing profits paid off, as the Silver Truck returns this year with better ventilation

Retail Gas Prices To Rise

(Washington) — The Director of the Cost of Living Council says it will allow a boost in retail gasoline prices, possibly within a week. C.L.C. Director John Dunlop, in testimony on Capitol Hill and talking later with newsmen, said the Council would grant gasoline station operators permission to raise their prices by a specific amount to reflect higher charges by the major suppliers. But Dunlop said he did not think the Council would change Phase Four Economic Rules to let retailers continue to

I.S.O. Looks For American Members

by Martin Minnaugh

What do you do if you're a foreign student at an American college and you're having trouble adjusting to the culture or the language? If you're at Bryant, you can look up the International Student Organization.

This group, organized about a year and a half ago, was formed as a gathering place for the foreign student to meet others in the same predicament who can help him adjust to a new culture.

I.S.O. presently has about 25 members who represent some 18 nations. The club is working to have American students join the group, with hopes of having international dialogues. Among I.S.O.'s past activities have been providing speakers for Rotary and similar clubs and sponsoring "National Nights" which feature customs and cuisine from various nations. I.S.O. also represented Bryant at the model UN. The club hopes this year to sponsor "open house parties" at which students will be able to take part in panel discussions on cultural differences. Also, I.S.O. hopes to be able to have guest speakers here, including ambassadors.

Aku Menyi, President of I.S.O., demonstrated the fact that foreign students are anxious to share their reactions to America and its people and culture. Aku is a native of Uganda; but like thousands of other Ugandans of Asian descent, he has been exiled by General Idi Amin. He is presently a resident alien in this country and has applied for U.S. citizenship.

Many other cultural differences were not even brought up in the interview. If you're interested in learning more about other nations and their people, go to an I.S.O. meeting. They're held about once a month and the time, date and place are posted in various places about the college.

Willie Mays Retires

Willie Mays—one of the all-time greats of baseball—is retiring at the end of this season. Mays, who's been playing major league baseball for 22 of his 42 years, officially announced his retirement at a news conference at Shea Stadium in New York, home of the Mets.

Mays had been expected to make the announcement because age and injury have robbed him of many of his skills.

Mays entered the major leagues on June 24th, 1951, with the old New York Giants. He went with the Giants to San Francisco in 1958 and then returned to New York last year when he was traded to the Mets.

His dashing exploits on the field, his explosive bat, and his daring captivated baseball fans for two decades.

Mays hit the big leagues three years before the Supreme Court ruling on school integration...four years after Jackie Robinson had broken the color line...and three years before Hank Aaron came up.

He will remain in the Mets organization next year and next Tuesday night he'll be honored at Shea Stadium.

Girl's Sports Arena

by D. J. Tort

Jockettes took the first game without much sweat 15-3. June looked good for the Jockettes. In the second game the Jockettes also won 14-8. Pegret played well for the Jockettes and a good fight was put up by Rosemary and Gail on the GDI.

The girl's volleyball league is beginning to look real fine in the eyes of this writer. The Tuesday night games were started with SIX playing Independent Burke. SIX won the first game with a score of 11-4. A good effort was put forth by both teams. In the second game SIX shut out Independent Burke with a score of 11-0. This was made possible by the fantastic server Piglet on the SIX team. Her line drives were unstoppable.

The second game was SIB vs. Dorm 5. SIB A won the first game 12-4. Flash and Bridget played a good game for SIB A. Joan Karpeles put out a good thrust for Dorm 5. In the second game SIB A also shut out Dorm 5 with a score of 11-0. Great serving was displayed by Julie and Steazie.

The next game was between the Phi's and SIB B. SIB B won the first game 13-8. Paula in SIB B played in the true spirit of Portugal and also used her "head" in the game. Peggy on the Phi's showed good serving ability. In the second game SIB B also won 10-1. Club and Tina played well for SIB B. Sue Bettz tried hard for the Phi's.

The next game was played by Grade and the Un's. Un's won the first game 13-1. They also won the second game 11-0. Beth, Audrey and Brussels played well for the Un's.

GDI played Dorm 8 and beat them in both games with the scores 11-0 and 11-3 respectively. Nancy McHugh looked good for Dorm 8. In the final game the Jockettes played the Leftovers. The Leftovers won the first game 11-7. Paula Fontanella who in this writer's opinion is probably the best player in the league, played a great game. Chocho for the Jockettes also served well. The Leftovers won the second game 15-8 with Paul again leading on the team.

INDIAN GOLFERS TEE OFF

by Peter Lockhart

Bryant students are always kept up to date with the progress of their varsity basketball team, but are they aware of Coach Art Boulet's band of Indian Linkmen? Probably not. While everyone has been watching the popular Indian Varsity Sports, the Bryant Golf Team has been quietly winning match after match. In fact, Boulet's squad finished their Spring Season with a perfect 14-0 dual record.

With the fall season starting this past Wednesday, Mr. Boulet and his boys are already talking about making additions to their current winning streak. "The team is looking forward to an undefeated season to carry them to the spring when the championship tournaments come up." "The schedule is on the upswing, better competition," says Boulet.

This fall, Boulet will be depending on Seniors John Williams and Larry Ostrower and Sophomores Al Martino and Steve Piacine to carry the team. Ostrower is the current captain of the team. Larry has recorded a 49-1 dual record in three years of collegiate, and he has been hitting the ball well in pre-fall practice. Williams was 10-0-2 in the spring, and he will probably repeat that performance this fall.

The heart of the team is Boulet's "Super Sophs." Al Martino is currently the best golfer on the team. In the summertime, Al went to the NCAA Nationals, and finished a strong 41st. Martino also made the ECAC Finals, and he was a semifinalist in this year's Rhode Island Amateur Tournament. Without a doubt, Martino is regarded as one of the top collegiate golfers in New England.

Steve Piacine is the Rhode Island Junior Champion. He had a poor spring, but he is looking forward to an outstanding fall. The Indians will also be counting on Freshmen Alan Boyer and Bill Boulet for future firepower. Boyer is Massachusetts Junior Champion and Boulet is a proven performer.

This fall's schedule will be highlighted with matches against the three top teams in New

Coach Art Boulet

England. On September 24, Bryant will face Central Connecticut and Salem, the number 1 and 2 teams in New England. "The team's hopes will be up for this match," says Boulet. The Indians will be facing the University of Massachusetts, Springfield College, and Brown University. U. Mass. was Number 3 last year.

It looks like another banner season for the Bryant Linkmen. If they get past the tough part of their fall schedule, the spring season may hold many pleasant surprises. The biggest surprise would be the crowning of Coach Boulet's Indians as the Kings of New England Collegiate Golf!

RYANT KICKS WORCESTER ST.

by Lawrence Setkin

This past Saturday the Bryant Soccer Team beat the Lancers from Worcester St. 2-2. The Indians, playing before a crowd of enthusiastic supporters exhibited a marvelous team effort while staging a successful comeback in the home opener.

Bryant's offensive attack complemented a stingy defense, which was particularly effective in the second half of play.

The starting eleven shaped up as follows: Forwards, Junior Mark Shoham, Freshmen Damon Zurich, and Kevin Honon who centered the line. The halfbacks had Juniors Ken Nigro and Dave Sutherland combining with Sophomore Matt McManus. The defense was headed by four fullbacks star of this unit, Jim "Tex" Teixeira, Sophomore Hank Steponski and Freshmen Richard Bosworth and Gary O'Brien. In the goal Bryant had sophomore sensation John Feely. He cleared the ball out of his zone with some fine kicking and passing to his halfbacks and fullbacks.

The game itself was composed of two 45 minute running halves; Worcester St. scored the lone goal of the first half as the two teams struggled. With just two minutes remaining before intermission, Bob Carlson put one in the net via his own head and over the shoulder of goalie, Feely. Steve Barkus and Jim Sociender were credited with the assists.

Although trailing at the half, Bryant controlled the play as well as having good field position.

Their scoring opportunities, however, were somewhat limited in the opening half due to the disorganization of the offense.

Bryant's soccermen redeemed themselves in the second half, by converting three consecutive times after the opposition connected. Worcester's second and final score went to the combination of Carlson from Barkus, with eight minutes expired. One minute later Mark Shoham put Bryant back into the game when he scored from Richard Bosworth. Shortly thereafter Kevin Honon knotted the match up assisted by Bruce Iestocco and Hank Steponski with 26 minutes gone by.

The contest was decided in the final six minutes as the Indians cashed in off a scrabble. Mark Shoham hit the inner side of the far post, with Damon Zurich knocking home the rebound for the winning tally. Shoham received his second point of the game on this play. The offense took command for the leftover time with superb ball control tactics.

Worcester St.'s two goalies fought off 39 of 42 shots at net whereas Feely had 23 saves. The game's leading shotmaker was Kevin Honon taking an impressive total of 14 with Bill Eaton contributing six. The next game is at Roger Williams on Sept. 21. The second home game has Bryant hosting Barrington on Tuesday. Both games are 3:00 starts.

SUSSMAN OPTIMISTIC

Even though the Inaugural Bryant Varsity Swim Team does not start for three months, Bryant swimmers are beginning their season workouts. After two years as a club, this will be the first official Bryant Varsity Swim Season. In an interview with Coach Gerry Sussman, everything is GO for the coming season.

"There was quite a turnout on September 13, and there were quite a few people with interscholastic experience. Most of last year's team is back, and we got almost a dozen girls. The girls will be allowed to swim against men's teams at other colleges," Coach Sussman quickly added.

Coach Sussman feels that he has talent on this year's team. "Sophomores Art Burrows (breaststroke), John Copiey (freestyle and backstroke), Jim Smith (freestyle), Doug Emry (freestyle), Kevin Gay (freestyle), and Craig Bogat (freestyle), all showed a lot of potential last season," Sussman commented. Junior Mark Hafferty (butterfly) returns and Senior Arnaud Farmigietti is counted on in the distance freestyle.

Ultimately, the freshmen participation may make a big difference in this year's team. The team has already picked up four seasoned swimmers in Tom Delaney, Henry Lightbourne, John Duane and Richard Kuhn. Delaney swam the 100-yard freestyle for LaSalle Academy, and his best for the event is a time 56.8. Henry Lightbourne is a Florida native, and has interscholastic experience in the freestyle and breaststroke. John Duane swam for Holy Cross High School in Waterbury, Connecticut, and he has done a 58.2 in the 100-yard freestyle. Rich Kahn has club swimming experience, and is capable of swimming the 50- and 100-yard freestyle and the 200-yard backstroke. Finally, Paul Fontanillo has YMCA in the freestyle and breaststroke.

One problem that seems to effect Bryant swimmers each season is the Bryant pool. Its dimensions seem to limit the swimmer to practice. Sussman had the following comments on the matter. "The size and shape of the pool does make it difficult. A more complete facility would be more desirable, but a swimmer who knows what the limitations are puts in a little more time and work to get into shape. I would say we can produce an interesting team in this pool. We have to live with what we have and work toward getting better facilities."

Barring pool problems and injuries, Bryant may give Babson, Nichols and Boston College a tough meet. Sussman says, "If the kids will put in time to get in shape, the team could be good. A lot of the problem will be mental." Laying the foundation is always tough, but there will always be satisfying rewards ahead. The ARCHWAY Sports Department wishes Coach Gerry Sussman and his swimmers the best of luck in their maiden season.

HARRIERS IN HIGH GEAR

have been turning in satisfying performances in the pre-season. In fact, Diggle beat both Collard and Olson at Brown.

With the exception of personnel changes, the only changes on the Cross Country team are on the coaching lines. Jim Gambardella, former LaSalle Academy Cross Country Star, has replaced Fred Reinhardt as coach. Gambardella was a member of the LaSalle Varsity Cross Country Team for the three years from 1963-1965. He was captain of the team in 1965 leading the Maroon to the Class A and State titles. His performance earned him a first-team Class A and a second team All-State selection. After graduating from LaSalle he attended Pembroke State College in Pembroke, North Carolina, where he was a member of both the varsity cross country and basketball teams for three years.

Since Jim is a new coach, he found it difficult to evaluate the team's upcoming opposition to this reporter. "I don't know the opponents, so I will have to work on a match-to-match basis," said Gambardella.

Even though Coach Gambardella has been disappointed with the Cross Country turnout he feels that the team can improve their 9-6 mark of last year. "They're in good shape. It's mental attitude they have to get back into shape. Team unity is a strong point. They stay together and work well together."

With such team dedication and unity evident, the Bryant Harriers could go a long way. Maybe to the point where the team may top the Peter Kochinski and the SMU Corsairs!
