

Evans Wins - Senate Given A Negative Vote Of Confidence

New Student Senate President, Greg Evans.

A record setting 35.8% turnout of voters cast their ballots Tuesday in the annual Senate elections. Election figures show that 810 of the 2,310 day students voted in the election which gave Greg Evans the presidency and the Senate a negative vote of confidence. Senate officials were satisfied with the voter turnout, which by far exceeded the measly 19% turnout of the Fall elections. Hopefully, the turnout is a sign that more students are beginning to take an interest in the campus affairs.

Final tallies of Tuesday's vote, completed early Wednesday morning after many recounts, gave Greg Evans a slim 67-vote margin over runner-up Cyprian Kemp. Evans, who promised the formation of a commuter council, and the reformation of a dormitory council received 342 votes. Kemp, an outspoken candidate who damned the present Senate in a strong campaign speech Monday morning in the Rotunda received 275 votes. In third place was George Huley with 128 votes. All other office-seekers (Matt McManus--Vice President, Berj Kassabian--Treasurer, and Joanne Lipsky--Secretary) had no trouble getting elected since they all ran unopposed. Surprisingly, for all four Senate offices, the space marked "other" (for write-in candidates) received at least 100 votes for each office. This proved that about ten percent of those who voted couldn't care less, or were dissatisfied with the unopposed slate.

Of extreme interest to a good many factions on the campus were the five referendums, all indirectly spurred by the recent campus controversy last month. The first four referendums were concerned with the Board of Trustees. The last referendum asked for an opinion of the Student Senate's effectiveness in the past year. Referendum one, which asked whether the Board of Trustees acted in the best interest of the students of Bryant College received a no vote of 468, with only 186 others supporting the board. One hundred and thirty-seven voters didn't commit themselves. The no vote proves the student body's dissatisfaction with the manner in which the Board of Trustees acted in last month's controversy. Referendum two asked whether the Trustees knew enough about student needs and wants to act in their behalf and the College's well-being. A surprising 637 voters said no, with only 100 saying yes. Referendum three, asking whether or not a student should be allowed to serve on the Board of Trustees received a yes from 727 of the 810 voters. Only 530 of the 727 gave an affirmative opinion on Referendum four, which asked whether the student representative should have full voting power. This measure was opposed by 178 students. The final and probably most important referendum asking whether the Student Senate adequately represents the students of the College received a resounding no from 567 voters, with 97 giving no opinion and only 132 supporting the Senate.

The current Executive Committee, headed by David Brown, gave the reigns of Student Government over to the newly-elected slate on Thursday. The new executives promise to bring the students together. Whether or not they do remains to be seen.

Delta Omega Elects New Officers

Delta Omega Professional Society of Bryant College whose function it is to hold special dinner-speaker event, recently held elections for the positions of president and other executive officials along with the election of the board of directors.

Rich McGrath a sophomore was elected as President; the Vice-president went to freshman Phil Todd; the position of secretary went to freshman Dianne Morabito. Vic Gagliardi and Rich Woolf were elected to the positions of treasurer and publicity chairman respectively.

Voted to serve as the members of the Senior Board of Directors were Rhonda Haas, Ron Wolfson, Jeff Millman, and Paul Nolan. Juniors voted to serve on the Board of Directors were Sean Duffy, and Tom DuBreuil. The new sophomore representatives are: Cindy Ott, Scott Heller, Paul Replenski, and Allen Zelt.

It was also announced by the outgoing president Kathy Grimes that the fourth and final dinner-speaker event was planned for sometime in the early part of April. Delta Omega provides the Bryant community with an opportunity to listen to and speak informally with successful businessmen in the greater New England area. Formal announcements will be forthcoming of the date and time of the final Delta Omega Professional Society dinner of the year.

As always all members of the Bryant community are welcome at the dinner.

Bryant To Host Boston State In NAIA's Tomorrow

by Jeff Doppelt

The Bryant College Basketball Team, having gone a perfect 10-0 in the Naismith Conference, earned an automatic NAIA Region 32 Tournament bid and will play Boston State here tomorrow night. Game time is at 8:00 p.m.

The Indians ended their regular season with a 107-84 thrashing of Babson College. The Boston State coach watched the first half of the game and then left. If he doesn't know what to tell his players, I can't blame him. For Bryant it was perhaps the best half of basketball they have ever played. They scored a whopping 65 points in the first half, and led 65-40. Ray Depelteau scored 34 points and brought his season's scoring average to over 20 points a game. The Indians have won 32 of 40 Naismith Conference games in the last four years.

Boston State comes into the game with a record of 21-4. They have lost to Rhode Island College, Southern Connecticut, Salem State, and Westfield State. Bryant, which is 19-5, has lost to Quinnipiac twice, St. Michael's, Armstrong State, and Bentley. If Bryant is to win, they must contain Steve Gaspar, Boston State's 5'11" senior guard. He is averaging 23.3 points a game. For Bryant, Ray Depelteau is averaging 20.2 points a game and Bruce Stewart 17.6 points a game.

The winner of the Boston State vs. Bryant game will play the winner of the Roger Williams vs. Quinnipiac game Tuesday night. The winner of that game will advance to the Nationals in Kansas City. In my four years at Bryant College, I have seen almost 80 varsity basketball games. I can safely say that this year's team is the best and has the greatest chance to go to Kansas City. We have the most talent of all the teams in this tournament. Like a dream come true, Bryant's long-awaited trip to Kansas City is more of a reality than ever.

Meditation And Business

by Mark Barlow

"Six of the most significant problems in management today are mounting grievances, job alienation, increasing absenteeism, reduced productivity, lower quality of output, and lack of innovation. In searching for solutions to these 'people problems,' management has investigated them in detail. But these problems are only symptoms, they are not causes. They are symptoms of an underlying cause--the lack of full development of each individual working in an economic environment. To eliminate these problems we should attend to the cause, not merely the symptoms.

The next effect treatment is to enable each person to realize his dynamic potential: to maximize and make most intelligent use of his creative energies by practicing the methods of the science of creative intelligence." (Hans Lane Senior Management Scientist, Stanford Research Institute).

Research indicates that each individual can draw easily and systematically upon his inner resources and express more effectively his full abilities in work and leisure, thereby finding greater personal enjoyment, more productive relationships with others, and greater success in achieving his goals.

By focusing on the creative process within the individual, the science of creative intelligence provides practical methods for expanding and developing one's energies and creative intelligence. Its basis is a simple and natural mental technique, known as Transcendental Meditation, which anyone can quickly and easily learn. A process of direct experience and not intellectual analysis, "TM" allows the body to free itself from unwarranted stress and develop the mind's ability to

...And The Invincible Indians Just Keep Rolling...

It is difficult to express the feelings that one may have felt had he been a spectator at the Bryant-Bentley game held a week ago today. When one basket pushed Bentley, ranked second in New England, into a five-minute overtime, tears of joy could be seen in the eyes of cheerleaders. Fans who never so much as stood at the sight of a Bryant rally, leaped to their feet with pride and armed with the knowledge that their team was definitely to be a threat in the NAIA playoffs. But this moment meant more to the players: their efforts, their sweat, blood and toil to create an excitement machine had truly paid off. It mattered if we would win; but moreover, the valiant performance of the Indians overshadowed any remorse they may have felt about being defeated.

It is with a fierce pride that the ARCHWAY urges all our readers to see Bryant do a tune of Boston State. The Indians are headed for Kansas City and for those of us who have been watching each Indian clash with gusto, this starry trek is only a small stepping stone.

The termination of the season for basketball has a bittersweet, melancholy flavor to it. Six of the finest ball players to hit the Bryant hoops will be hanging up their white and blacks trimmed in gold for the bigger and more gratifying challenge that the outside world offers.

The ARCHWAY tips its cap to their outstanding efforts, but we must make special note of Ray (Popeye) Depelteau and Bruce (Chip) Stewart, the co-captains of our award-winning team, who have joined that elite group of "One-Thousand Pointers."

The ARCHWAY wishes our Indians continued success, confident in the knowledge that they will win against Boston State, and go on to teach Quinnipiac a lesson they will long remember!

Is This What We Want for Bryant?

The broken plaster has been cleaned away. Except for the cardboard that covers up this large hole in the wall, you wouldn't know anything was wrong. Well, the hole will be patched; and the residents of this dorm will be assessed for the damage, much to their dismay, of course.

We of the ARCHWAY would like to know who feels that just because he pays $3,000 for an education, he has the right to vandalize a dormitory room or even the machines a company offers as a service to students? As a result of the damage done in this dormitory, the game table, one of the few left on the campus which is still in half-decent condition, had to be removed.

Our point is, if you want to do damage to school property, think twice. Indirectly, everyone loses. If you get caught, your neck rates the chopping block. If you don't get caught, you later find that privileges you once took for granted have been revoked. Of course, the innocent suffer even more. But this is the law of the land. Accept it—your lifetime will be guided by it.

A smart man once said that you can't reason with belligerent people. We'd like to think that we are mature young people. But when things like this occur, it's pretty hard to keep the faith.

Is Bryant College "Becoming" A Subsidiary of Rhode Island Hospital Trust National Bank?

The other day looking at the "Directory and Financial Statement of the RIHT corporation" I glanced at the list of their Board of Directors and whose name did I see on the list? It was none other than the good father, Haas, who had in the rotunda the other week assured us that "our" Board of Trustees had everything under control. Looking further at the list of the Bank's Board of Directors what other names did I see on the list. There was Mr. DeForest W. Abel Jr., Mr. Paul F. Hartz and Mr. Clarence H. Gifford Jr. If these names seem familiar, it is because they are all on "our" Board of Trustees. Then I noticed that there was a fifth member of "our" Board whose law partner was on their Board. Investigating further, I found out that all of these five people were put on "our" Board in October, 1971. The other members that were added at that time were Mr. Richard W. French, Professor at Ohio University; Dr. Harry Evarts; Mr. Thomas J. Brown; and Dr. Sol Koffler. The question that has not been answered yet is why does the Bank that has a branch office in our unistrueture and that handles all banking activities for our college have so many members of their Board of Directors on "our" Board?

Remember, Father Haas; Jesus said:

"Nothing is covered up that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known. Whatever you have said in the dark shall be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in private rooms shall be proclaimed upon the housetops."

St. Luke
Ch. 12
V. 2,3

Dr. Robert Obutelewicz

P.S. Are there other interesting relationships on the Board? What law firm does the college do business with? For a non-profit institution, why are the financial records kept secret? Why is tuition going up $200 this fall? Why the overwhelming rejection by the students of the present Board of Trustees in this week's election? Whose interest does the Board service? Interesting questions to be answered. Remember, businesses are not supposed to make money from an accredited college.

A Job Well Done!

Last Tuesday, elections were held for the four officers of the Student Senate. The elections were run by an ad hoc group of volunteers who spent many long hours publicizing and preparing for last Tuesday. On behalf of the Student Senate of Bryant College, I would like to congratulate the members of that committee on a job well done.

They were able to bring 36 percent of the student body to the polls, which is a significant increase over last year's elections.

I wish the new officers the best of luck for the year ahead, and I hope that the student body will support the new officers of the Senate and attend the regularly scheduled meetings.

David. G. Brown

To the Bryant Community

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you Bryant students on behalf of my fellow officers: Matt McManus, Berj Kassabian, Joanne Lipsky and myself for the faith and confidence you showed in elected us your new officers to the senate. Retain that confidence and help us make this the best year the school's ever had.

Sincerely,
Greg Evans

To: The Editor

Subject: Professor El Nagggar

Dear Professor El Nagggar:

Since I have not yet been able to obtain any action through the Grievance Committee and believing that the "Archway" is read by most of the Bryant community, I am presenting more information about certain facts relating to a management course you had last semester.

You made three statements on the "Student Request for Instructor's Review of Final Examination and Computation of Grade" form which I filed December 20, 1972, that I question. First was the statement: "For the sake of helping students, I announced a make up exam on Thursday 21 at 3-5 at my office and the student failed to appear." I was told, through the department chairman, that the only student with a failing grade who could not attend this make up exam was myself. I was told this about 1:15 p.m., Thursday, December 21, after studying several hours for the exam.

The second statement I question is: "Student will be taken in front of Grievance Committee for bad behavior." Because you made this statement, and because this seemed to be the best way to handle the situation, I waited, in my opinion, a fair amount of time for a meeting with the Committee. If there is in fact a Grievance Committee in existence, it may also read this letter.

The third statement I question seriously is under the section "Student Performance." You stated, "Absence 6 times." I would like to see reasonable proof of this statement; namely 45 dated sheets of paper with the signatures of all students who were present for these classes. Since you were absent from at least three classes and there was no substitute for at least two of these classes, it is my opinion that you cannot produce reasonable proof.

Sincerely,
Wayne Spears

THE ALMANAC

THE ALMANAC

Today is Friday, March 2, the 61st day of 1973 with 304 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Pisces. Texas frontier hero Sam Houston was born on March 2, 1783.

Also on this day in history:

In 1899, Congress established Mount Rainier National Park in Washington State.

In 1927, Babe Ruth signed a contract with the New York Yankees for $70,000, making him the highest-paid baseball player to that time.

In 1943, American airmen destroyed a Japanese convoy of 21 ships in the World War II battle of the Bismarck Sea.

In 1945, units of the U.S. Ninth Army reached the Rhine River opposite Dusseldorf, Germany.

MBA Highlights

Preregistration Survey-Summer Sessions 1973

As part of its preparation for the 1973 Summer Sessions, the Graduate School is conducting a preregistration of the MBA students.

At the same time, the Graduate School is also conducting a survey of student preferences for Library hours.

Each Graduate Student who is currently enrolled should receive a copy of the preregistration. Last week we publicized the tentative Summer schedules.

Dormitory Room Choices

Dormitory room choices for the Fall, 1973 semester will be made in the Office of Student Affairs from March 5 through March 9.

Only those students whose $50 dorm deposit receipt is on file in this office will be allowed to reserve rooms. Rooms will be assigned on a "First Come, First Serve" basis. The deposit reserves only one bed; not a complete room or suite.

A significant number of students were notified in December that their health records were not on file in the Infirmary. To date, only a few have completed their health forms and returned them. Failure to take care of this matter will only delay room selections and/or pre-registration for Fall classes.

The Skiers Dilemma

Where have all the ski slopes gone? Long life lines passing. The long lift lines have a good chance of becoming longer if the Vermont Legislature imposes an already-passed, precedent-setting piece of environmental legislation officially names Title 10, Chapter 151, Vermont Statutes Annotated.

The act has given the state control of the development of private property by setting limits on the uses of all land in Vermont, not merely state-owned land. Guidelines have been established for the preservation of air, water, and soil quality and a mandate that future development of private and public property would not affect these conditions.

If rescuing the Green Mountain State from ecological disaster means imposition of such enactments, it does not seem that it will be likely to happen. Recreation is the state's second biggest resource; skiing alone generates up to $85-million in annual revenue. Boating, water skiing, swimming, horseback riding, hunting and foliage viewing raise the total considerably. Visitors require the ski areas, lakeside developments, beds and restaurants that make it possible for them to enjoy seasonal pleasures. On the other hand, who would come to enjoy the seasonal pleasure of viewing a new motel being built?

Vermont, just a few years ago was a region of small farming, small industry, and small income. As skiers discovered came with them. Pasture lands were turned into ski areas and vacation homes. From the pastoral scene of barns and farmhouses developed the not-so-tranquil scene of nightclubs, guesthouses, and restaurants. Prices skyrocketed as Vermonters found themselves in a bind.

As John Ruskin once brought out, "When we build, let us think that we build forever."

ISO Reminder

Reminder--the Cafe de la Paix on the Rue de Bryant will present its gala soiree on Sunday evening, March 4 at 7:30 p.m. Reserve your ticket to the ISO Gourmet French night and dinner, the third in a series of international epicurean adventures presented by the foreign students of the College.

Here is the gastronomical menu for this event prepared by genuine French chefs: Soupe d'Oignon, Quiche Lorraine, Poulet Roti Avec Petits Pois, Vin Rose, Salade Fromage, Petits Fours, Cafe.

As additional attractions, travel films of Paris and France will be shown and French chansons and disques will be played. Also, citizens of France will be ready to answer all those questions that you wanted to know about France, but

INTERNSHIP PROGRAM GIVES INSIGHT TO GOVERNMENT

During the week of February 12 to February 18, two Bryant students participated in the Pell Internship Program held in Washington, D.C. During their stay in Washington, the students, Jack McLaughlin and Joe DeToma, attended the National Air Transport Conference at the Shoreham Hotel. Besides this conference, the students worked in the administrative branch of the Senator's office; and attended various Senate hearings. Also, the students had the opportunity to visit historical landmarks and other institutions in the Washington area.

Congressman Tiernan also sponsored an internship program during the period, in which Jack Davanne and Tony Pizzane took part.

Evening Division News

by Timothy Cartwright
Director

A national organization of evening students has inquired if there would be any interest in our organizing a chapter at Bryant. If enough response is received before March 9, further consideration will be given to an evening division student activities group.

Summer evening courses are listed on the evening division bulletin board. The tentative faculty list will be posted after April 1. Summer school registration begins May 1.

Questions continue to occur concerning several policies on academic matters in the evening division. Course(s) may be dropped through the fourth week of the semester without academic penalty. Course(s) may not be added after the close of late registration which is the end of the first week of classes. To take part in commencement exercises and be awarded a degree the student must complete ALL degree requirements as of the date of graduation. Those completing requirements after the graduation date will receive letters certifying completion of the requirements and will have their degree conferred upon them at the next graduation exercise.

The new evening catalog which should be available around final exam time will be a two-year catalog. Hopefully all policies and procedures will be included. Each semester there will be a supplement updating the catalog information as well as listing the courses offered that semester. The semester supplement will be the governing word should there be any discrepancy between the catalog and the supplement.

Notice

There will be a meeting of the Ecology Action Committee next Wednesday, at 3 p.m. in Room 359. Anyone interested in joining is welcome and needed.

Dr. Hagan to Speak on "Dealing With the News Media in Government"

The Rhode Island State Internship Program will present Dr. Joseph H. Hagan, Vice President for Public Affairs, Bryant College, Smithfield, R.I. at a seminar on Monday, March 5, 1973. Dr. Hagan will speak on "Dealing with the News Media in Government."

This talk is part of a coordinating seminar composed of representative faculty members, legislators and representatives of executive agencies to be conducted for two hours on 12 Monday afternoons during each semester. The seminar is intended to bring legislative members and officials, students and scholars together for analysis of specific problems, discussion of readings, and guidance of research projects.

Three students from Bryant are participating in the program. They are Michael L. Dionne, Austin P. Clark, and Nicholas DeStefano. The program began on Monday, February 12 and will run through Monday, May 7, 1973.

Then One Morning It Was Spring

by JoAnne Goldstein

Time is an illusion.

The day began when my alarm clock rang out loud this morning. I pushed aside my blankets from my body. Then I crawled to the other side of my bed and reached up to the dresser to shut off the alarm. It's so early. Instead of getting out of bed, I just leaned back, lowered my body back down onto the bed, and sank into the soft pillows. I noticed that the room was very warm. I was awake, but my body did not want to function. Well, not just yet. I hadn't looked out the window to see what the day was like; but as I lay in bed I could hear, smell, and see enough to know what type of day that I would meet when I set foot outside the front door. As I lay with my hands behind my head, I looked around the room. The metal mobile hanging from the ceiling was sparkling as the air played with it. It was difficult to hear the voices of the people outside the window as the lawn mower turned the corner of the building. It was a fine spring day. My ears heard sounds of spring: children laughing as they ran by, the birds, and the noise of the trucks cleaning the sand from the winter months off the streets. Smelling the fragrance of the freshly cut grass made me feel good inside. I got out of bed to see if I was dreaming the whole day up in my head. As I walked over to the window, the sun blinded me at first; then my eyes adjusted to the sun. The more I looked the more I realized that it wasn't a dream. The day was beautiful; it was finally spring with birds flying in the sky, squirrels running from branch to branch, children romping in the playground, everyone socializing with each other as they walked down the street, cars being washed, and everyone on my block opening windows for spring cleaning. It is truly spring; so what am I doing inside? I will get dressed and walk down to the beach, where I can walk along the sand barefooted.

Time is a funny thing. Everyone watches the clock; but on a day such as this, time becomes an illusion. You don't care what the precise time is, just the amount of time you have left to enjoy the life around you.

by Donna Messor

On Tuesday, February 13, the sisters and pledges visited the Cedar Crest Nursing Home in Cranston, Rhode Island.

The pledges had constructed a Valentine's Day centerpiece of a heart with Cupid in the center, made out of styrafoam and hand-made bows. Also, tiny favors were made with small cups surrounded by red and white ribbon bows and a tiny handle running across the top, giving the affect of miniature baskets. These were filled with chocolates and distributed among the elderly patients.

The Theta girls sang some of their favorite songs, as well as demonstrating their famous "jig," the "Theta Duck Walk," and "Theta Follies."

Punch was later served and the girls had their pictures taken with some of the patients. It was quite a feeling to know you were actually putting some sunshine into people's lives.

We were all asked to go back and visit whenever we liked, and the patients seemed reluctant to see us go. Valentine's Day for us this year was one to always remember because we brought joy to a lonely but

Theater Review

"School For Wives"

by david t. pandozzi

At the first of a series of three plays to be revived, "School for Wives" is the first. A delightful French comedy by France's leading comic playwright, "School for Wives," by Moliere is pure joy. An occasion for laughter and simple enjoyment, "Trinity Festival, 1973" has certainly started with there "best foot forward" with this production of such a fine classic.

"School for Wives" can best be described as a story about a man's quest for the dutiful and loving wife. A man of stature and discreetness plots to accomplish this way to a perfect marriage. He takes responsibility over a young unwanted infant and commits her to a convent to be raised by the nuns. He specifies that she is not to be given too much education for he would like her to be simple and innocent. Her naivety will be the key to a happy and loveful marriage, said he.

Arnolphe, her plotting and prospective husband, later takes her from the convent and places her in his home along with the care of two faithful but dumb servants. Unsuspectingly, Agnes, the young maiden, one day falls in love, quite innocently, with a passing stranger named Horace. Horace just happens to be the friend of Arnolphe. Now to the disadvantage of Arnolphe, Agnes is not aware of his pursuits of proposal and she discloses her love for the young and handsome Horace. Arnolphe is stricken with grief, to say the least. At this point in the play it could be said that the plot thickens. With Arnolphe's attempts to discourage young Horace from seeing Agnes any further, the unsuspecting Horace describes his plans to his friend and quite sure enough havoc is the result of this amorous adventure.

Again, the Trinity Square cast is truly the spark of life in Moliere's comedy. George Martin with golden curls and stout character is perfect as the conspiring and bungling Arnolphe. The naive and swooning Agnes is played by Jobeth Williams. Her innocence presents a radiant freshness to the play. Richard Kavanaugh's giddy and flamboyant Horace adds to the well staged French comedy. The simple yet functional set is deserving of praise. Robert D. Soule's set is adequately designed to create an image of the period.

"School for Wives" is scheduled to run until March 17. Then on March 22, "Lady Audley's Secret," the box office hit of the 72-73 season, will return for a seventeen day run. The "Trinity Festival 1973" is the beginning of the real 'repertory company' and now is the time to see the best of the company's famous productions.

"Whereas we believe that a group of college students should organize for mutual benefit and pleasure, we hereby establish the American Marketing Association of Bryant College," reads the association's preamble.

The Bryant College Chapter of the American Marketing Association kicked off the semester's program with an orientation-type meeting this past Tuesday. Mr. George Bates, faculty advisor, presented and explained the purpose of the Association as predominantly a student-involvement project. The opportunities are many and varied. Suggestions raised were guest-speaker tours to local businesses and running projects within the school. The Collegiate Chapter, when affiliated with the national organization, its members are able to take part in specially sponsored dinner-speaker affairs and the chapter is able to contribute school news items to the national publication of the Marketing News which avails the school national publicity.

The next meeting of the American Marketing Association will be Tuesday, March 6, in Room 243 at 12 Noon at which time elections of officers will be held. All interested students, marketing majors or not, are

SUBJECT:

Absenteeism

TO:

All Personnel

It has been brought to our attention that the attendance record of this company is a disgrace to our gracious benefactor, who, at your request, has given you your job. Due to your lack of consideration for your job with so fine a company, as shown by such frequent absenteeism it has become necessary for us to revise some of our policies.

The following changes are in effect as of today:

SICKNESS: No excuse. We will no longer accept your doctor's statement as proof, as we believe that if you are able to go to the doctor, you are able to come to work.

DEATH: (Other than your own). This is no excuse. There is nothing you can do for them, and we are sure that someone in a lesser position can attend to the arrangements. However, if the funeral can be held in the late afternoon, we will be glad to let you off one hour early, provided that your share of the work is ahead enough to keep the job going in your absence.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE: (For an operation). We are no longer allowing this practice. We wish to discourage any thoughts that you may need an operation, as we believe that as long as you are an employee here, you will need all of whatever you have; and you should not consider having anything removed. We hired you as you are and to have anything removed would certainly make you less than what we bargained for.

DEATH: (Your own). This will be accepted as an excuse; but we would like a two-week notice, as we feel it is your duty to teach someone else your job.

Also, entirely too much time is being spent in the restroom. In the future, we will follow the practice of going in alphabetical order. For instance, those whose names begin with "A" will go from 0800 to 0815, "B" will go from 0815 to 0830, and so on. If you are unable to go at your time, it will be necessary to wait until the next day, when your turn

Old Campus Revisited

by Dan Aderholdt &amp; Michael McLarney

Students who lived on the old Bryant Campus remember walking to three or four buildings to attend classes and having to step over puddles of water on sidewalks and jumping over snow banks into slush. Commuters have mixed emotions as they had to get to school half an hour early to find a parking space on the numerous side streets on the East Side.

Anyone returning to the campus will notice an extraordinary change. The men's dorms such as Scott House, Parks Hall, and Barber House are now converted apartment complexes and Gardner, Appleby are under the control of Brown University.

The major change has taken place on Young Orchard Ave. Stowell Hall, Salisbury Hall, Allan Hall, and Carroll Hall, no longer exist. In their places Brown is building new dorms. Their rooms are similar to Bryant's dorms. A suite is composed of two single rooms, one double, a kitchen, a bathroom, and livingroom.

The Administration building presently seems to be unoccupied. The worn marble steps leading to the front door, brings back memories of visiting the former Dean Smith.

Those guys who lived in Gardner remember walking down a path of asphalt with girls dorms on either side of them. This setting is now filled with construction equipment and two rising dormitories that incomplete.

Looking at the old gymnasium in comparison to a new million dollar gymnasium, one wonders how Bryant managed with the old one. Here the memories of the 1969-1970 protest took root, mass Bryant meetings, and intramurals of the school.

Diagonally across from the Shouth Hall, where the Archway Gates were taken, stand the old bookstore. Above the bookstore was the commuter lounge and the latter-Coffee House.

The former Henry Jacobs Library is now the Anthropology Department of Brown University. The library we now occupy offers more services and students have much more ease of access to books than ever before.

There are still remains of the alleged KT annual painting on the Faculty House steps. I was told it was a yearly event to paint the campus green and this usually was on St. Patrick's Day.

To summarize, with coming to Smithfield, we left a great amount of tradition and fond memories. But everyone should look to the future and anticipate greater horizons. With all the complaints one might have of this campus.

All and all we have much to be proud of.

Bryant And Babson Tangle

by Peter Lockatell

The NAIA's were tough enough, but Babson and Lowell Tech in a tri meet! That's what the Bryant Swim Team was up against last Wednesday at Babson. The Beavers are one of the strongest swimming schools in New England, and they have the NAIA District 32 team championship to prove it. Lowell Tech, on the other hand, is not as strong as Babson, but they have been successful in defeating Nichols, an earlier Bryant opponent.

In their meet with Lowell Tech, Bryant did surprisingly well. John Johnston added a pair or first-place finishes in the 500 and 1000 yard freestyles. Mark Rafferty also faired well against Lowell Tech in the freestyle events. Mark finished second in the 50-yard freestyle and he later registered a second in the 200-yard freestyle. Art Burrows seemed to be fully recovered from an early arm injury, as he swam to a second place in the 200-yard individual medley.

In the Babson meet, Babson showed its depth by limiting Bryant to three place finishes. Babson is so strong that its second and third teams could give average swim teams a hard time. There was no question of that Babson dominance in this meet. John Johnston provided a few bright spots for Bryant with his performance in the 500 and 1000-yard freestyles. Johnny managed a second in the 1000, and he wrestled away a first in the 1000. John Copley was the only other swimmer from Bryant to place against Babson. John finished third in the 200-yard backstroke and he cut six seconds off his time in the process.

The final scores for both meets were Babson, 96-17; Bryant and Lowell Tech 87-26. Personal records were set by John Johnston, Art Burrows and John Copley in the meet. John Johnston did a 12:03.0 in the 1000 yard freestyle and a 5:47.5 for the 500, while John Copley did a 2:48.3 in the 200 backstroke and Art Burrows did a 2:37.2 in the 200 IM. Bryant will not finish its season as scheduled against Boston College. Instead, Bryant will wrap up its season against URI on Tuesday afternoon at Kingston.

The Bookstore

anything & everything

From The Grandstand.

by Peter Lockatell

As I prepared to broadcast last week's encounter with number two ranked Bentley on video tape, I failed to realize the game's increasing emotional impact on the coaches, players and fans of both teams assembled. I have seen other hotly contested Bryant ballgames this season, the Quinnipiac losses for instance, but this game had something that I neglected to see right from the start.

The game started out as a shooting match between Ray Depelteau and Bentley's Brian Hammel. As Brian swished his first two field goal attempts from the top of the key, Bryant fans (including yours truly) were wondering whether they were seeing the same Hammel performance (it was Bert last year) of last year. Suddenly a lid descended on the Bentley basket, and Bryant was off and running. Before the number two Falcons could gaze at the scoreboard, the Indians had piled up a nice nine point advantage on steals and fast break layups to the delight of the Bryant faithful.

Even though we all expressed joy at the score, everyone in the building could sense a possible Bentley comeback. It's like the Vancouver Canucks taking a 4-1 first period lead against the Boston Bruins. (Of course Bryant is far superior than Vancouver). Sure enough, the Falcons did recover to the delight of their spoiled fans on the other side of the court.

From that point on both teams traded baskets as the score was tied at half time. As peaceful as the first half appeared, the second half would be the complete opposite.

The fans of both teams were starting to get quite restless and Bentley jumped to quick five points as second half got underway. At this juncture in the game, both teams were ignored in favor of the fans and officials. It became quite obvious that the fans and the referees would not strike a happy medium that night. At every opportunity, both sides lodged useless complaints against the other's rough play. In fact, the late stages of the second half reminded me of a typical football game with players flying and fans screaming in every direction.

Lost in the maze of confusion was a masterful Bryant comeback. Fed by the likes of Tommy Dupont, (who played like a seasoned senior) Brian Ahern, Ray Depelteau, and others, Bryant crept to within a few points of the lead. With just a few minutes left, Bentley staged a near fatal pull-away. I was conceding defeat with thirty seconds left in the game, as the Falcons converted a pair of free throws. At this point in the game, Bryant found a miracle in guard, Brian Ahern.

Brian sped the length of the court and unleashed the first of his two last second desperation shots. Bang! The ball swished through! After Bentley had missed a chance at the free-throw line, Ahern streaked for the right corner with four seconds left! He twisted, and uncorked an off-balance one hander. The ball stayed in the air for an eternity, but at last Bryant fans heard the familiar "swish," and it was all tied at 82 apiece.

The place was bedlam. I was in shock. The Bentley fans were angry at everyone, while Bryant rooters were celebrating as if it were the Fourth of July. It all added up to overtime, but it would never be Bryant's night. After an early Indian lead, the Falcons took charge and won at the end of the first overtime by four. After all the ill feelings and confusion had cleared the air, one fact remained. The Number Two ranked Falcons were fighting for their lives against the eleventh ranked Indians, and their fans knew it! Note: If you missed that superb Bentley game, don't miss the NAIA playoff game against Boston State this Saturday at Bryant. For the price of one dollar and fifty cents, you can see the excellence of Bryant varsity basketball.

use greater degrees of creative intelligence. It is an effortless process and those who practice it report improved efficiency in many spheres of action and thought, greater progress, and increasing satisfaction.

Scientific investigations into the effects of this practice of TM have been made at over eighty universities and research institutes in recent years. Briefly the research shows: during the practice rest and relaxation measurably deeper than sleep, with benefits surpassing a full night's sleep; increased mental alertness; marked reduction in the work load of the heart; biochemical indications of decreased anxiety and tension. The cumulative effects of regular practice of the techniques are: faster reaction time, improved mental and physical coordination, improved physical health, improved efficiency and performance, increased learning ability better memory, increased self-assurance, outgoingness, and staying power, personal flexibility and resistance to environmental stress, reduced nervousness, and inhibition.

Maybe it all shound too easy. Actually it is. If one can develop more of his creative intelligence through a simple thought process which takes only a few minutes (15-20) twice aday without any change in diet, schedule or life style-why not?

There will be a free introductory lecture March 5 at 8:00 p.m. in Room 386. Here on the Bryant campus. The lecture is sponsored by the Students' International Mediation, a non-profit educational organization. For further information call 521-1524.

Brown Paddles Bryant

by Lawrence Selvin

This past Sunday, the Bryant Table Tennis Team bowed to the Bruins of Brown University. The outcome, a decisive twenty to five triumph for the undefeated paddlemen from Brown.

Attempting to avenge an earlier season defeat to Brown (16-9) proved to be a difficult task. Brown has clearly shown that they own top talent in the league. However, despite the loss Bryant remains deadlocked with URI for second place. Due to the forfeiture by URI to P.C. in that match, no ground was lost in the battle for second place. Bryant and URI possess identical 6-3 records and are now three full games in back of Brown.

Individual match play records for this past Sunday are as follows: Larry Selvin 2-3; Larry Ostrower, Howie Dornfeld, and Howie Schreiber were 1-4; and Neil Goldman was 0-5.

This upcoming Sunday has Bryant opposing RIJC. The results of this match and the URI-Brown confrontation will mostlikely determine the second position in the league. If anyone wishes to witness these two crucial matches please contact any member of the team.

Indians Lose To Nationally Ranked Bentley In Overtime

by Michael Kata

The Bryant Indians, playing one of their best games all year nearly upset the tenth ranked team in the nation-Bentley last Friday night at the winner's court. The Indians led by Ray Depelteau and Bruce Stewart gave the Falcons of Bentley one of their toughest games all year.

In the first half, behind the shooting of Depelteau and Stewart, Bryant jumped out to a 17-8 lead in the first five minutes of play. Bentley, playing a tough zone defense outscored the Indians 25-16 in the next ten minutes to knot the score 33 all at the six minute mark. A basket by Al Grenfell, Bentley's 6'7" forward with 4:42 left in the half gave Bentley the lead 39-38 for the first time. The Indians however came back to score four quick points to regain the lead with three minutes remaining on the clock. The Falcons of Bentley then outscored the Indians seven to four in the next two and a half minutes to knot the score at halftime 46 all.

Both teams exchanged baskets for the first seven minutes of the second half. A free throw by co-captain Bruce Stewart gave the Indians a slim one point lead. Bentley then went on a surge as Bert Hammel hit on an outside jumpshot with 8:30 showing on the clock to jump out to a five point advantage 68-63. The Indians refused to quit however; behind the shooting of Brian Ahern and the rebounding of Dave Sorafine, Bryant's 6'9" center, the Indians once again regained the lead 73-72. A basket by Al Grenfell and two clutch free throws by Bert Hammel gave the Falcons an 83-78 lead with just twenty-five seconds remaining in the game. The Indians still refused to admit defeat, and things looked brighter when Brian Ahern hit on a twenty foot jump shot with 16 seconds left making the score 82-80 in Bentley's favor. Bentley took the ball out of bounds and was called for a traveling violation by Tom Cockill thus giving the Indians the ball and one last chance. Brian Ahern quickly brought the ball down court, worked himself free, and put up an eighteen foot jumpshot that was perfect to knot the score 82 all at the four second mark sending the game into overtime.

Bryant scored the first basket in the overtime on a long jumper by Ray Depelteau. A basket by Bentley's Jim Fuerst tied the score at 84 apiece. A free throw by guard Ned Bohan with 3:17 left in the overtime gave the Indians an

This week I would like to express my opinion concerning some events that have already occurred and some that have not. With the final weeks of winter sports creeping up on us fearless predictions are here to heed.

First on the agenda is the resurgence of the Boston Bruins. Within the past month Boston has reacquired the services of Derek Sanderson who had bolted to the fledgling World Hockey Association during the past summer. With Sanderson back combined with the recent promotion of Bep Guidolin to coach, the Bruins are suddenly back in the thick of things. Coupling these turn of events with the recent Ranger injuries spells out a Bruin takeover. If Guidolin can induce his players to skate both offensively and defensively, a Stanley Cup may still be in reach. For sure I'm not forgetting the fabulous Canadians, but any team with an Orr and an Esposito can't possibly be overlooked.

On another front, look for the Boston Celtics to capture a National Basketball Association Championship title if and only if Johnny Havlicek's knees are healthy. Don't let the back to back losses to the Knickerbockers fool you—"The Celts are back." During this week the Knicks will play three of the four divisional leaders. In squaring off against the Bucks, Bullets, and Celtics, the Knicks will either make it or break it. Don't expect too much.

continuing with basketball, I would like to relate that I was thoroughly impressed with Bryant's first performance at the Civic Center. Looking back I was pleasantly surprised to see how well Brian Ahern appeared to maneuver the ball. Speaking of performances, tip of the hat from this corner goes to Ray Depelteau and Bruce Stewart for having passed the one thousand point mark. Good luck to both of them in the future.

Watching the second game was also exciting if you enjoy massacres. From viewing the game I couldn't help thinking of some old Providence College powerhouses. P.C. is proudly represented in the N.B.A. First there is Lenny Wilkens a former coach of the Seattle Supersonics. Since being traded to Cleveland, Lenny has transformed the Cavaliers from being one of the league's favorite doormats to being quite respectable. Then there is Johnny Egan the newly appointed coach of the Houston Rockets. Egan just happen to be coaching a team that includes another P.C. student, Jimmy Walker. Besides them there is Mike Riordan one of the big contributing factors sparking the Baltimore Bullets to a Central Division title.

The Indians were led by Ray Depelteau and Bruce Stewart who scored 23 and 18 points respectively. The Bentley Falcons were led by Jim Fuerst, the game's high score with 24 points. Bert Hammel also added 21 points for the Falcons. Dave Sorafine was the leading rebounder in the game with 15... the loss gave Bryant an 18 and 5 record, while Bentley upped theirs to 22-2.

With winter sports schedules dwindling quickly, I must give some exposure to the Providence Reds. The Reds who this year are playing in Providence's new Civic Center, leave much to be desired. This year's edition which includes many of the Rangers top framhands is playing second fiddle to the Rochester Americans another team which is affiliated with the Rangers but stocked with less potential talent. Dissention seems to be the basic ingredient in any hockey team playing in Providence—this year the story is no different. While the Reds are averaging four or five thousand fans per game more seats stay empty than filled. Let's hope for a playoff berth—a calder cup is out of reach.
