Dean Kurtz Resigns Takes Position At Brown

It was learned yesterday that Anderson Kurtz, Dean of Student Life, is leaving Bryant College. He has accepted a position of Assistant Dean of Student Affairs at Brown University.

Dean Kurtz has been associated with Bryant College for two years. During his sojourn here he has developed a rapport with students and has given the student body a youthful identity with the Administration.

His one regret about Bryant was his inability to increase the number of blacks at Bryant including faculty, students, and administrators.

Bryant Resorts To The Mass Media

In an attempt to reach a wider group of students, the Bryant College Evening Division has begun an extensive newspaper and radio campaign. This was done, according to Mr. Cartwright, Head of the Evening Division, to attract new students from the Worcester area.

To accomplish this, two ads were taken out in the WORCESTER TELEGRAPH GAZETTE; and fifty one-minute ads were purchased from WAAF-Radio. The radio commercials, although approved by the school, were written by the staff at the station.

In his explanation, Mr. Cartwright stated the reasoning behind the use of radio. He said that the actual cost for radio was almost equal to that of the newspapers, plus he felt he could attract a larger audience and a more responsive group by using this medium. through the use of this medium.

The ads were run during the peak commuting times and lunch hours and once an hour for this entire week. Students can draw their own conclusions of the ads by monitoring WAAF this week.

Although no conclusive results have been received yet, the Evening Division feels that the program was effective and will be continued in the future.

Jon Frede Named New Editor-In-Chief

Jon Frede has been named as the new Editor-in-Chief of the ARCHWAY after Rob Rounds turned in his official resignation yesterday, September 7, 1972, to the Editorial Board of the newspaper.

Rob stated that after a careful and thorough weighing of his priorities, he feels he could no longer afford the amount of time necessary to carry out the burdensome duties of the Editor in the proper manner.

Jon is a senior at Bryant College and has been working on the ARCHWAY since his freshman year. As a member of the ARCHWAY, Jon has proven himself as a reporter, photographer, News Editor, and Managing Editor. Jon is also very active in Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity and the Bryant College Student Senate. He is presently the President of the Young Democrats of Bryant College and was an intern to Robert O'Tieman.

Dr. Fullerton New Vice President Of Student Affairs

Dr. Barry A. Fullerton, 37, a native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, was elected Vice-President for Student Affairs by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees at Bryant College, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Harry Evarts, President.

Dr. Fullerton earned his undergraduate degree at Michigan State University, his master's and doctor's degrees at the Pennsylvania State University. He served three years with the United States Marine Corps, retiring with the rank of Captain. A teacher and athletic coach, he also signed a professional contract with the Philadelphia Phillies baseball organization where he played for one year before returning to the field of education.

After serving as Assistant to the Dean of Men at Penn State University, he became Dean of Student Affairs in 1966 at Dean Junior College in Franklin, Mass., from which institution he comes to Bryant College.

Dr. Fullerton taught psychology and conducted seminars on adolescent behaviour modification, and drug abuse during his career at Dean. He also served as co-chairman of the Franklin, Mass. Bay United Fund Drive and on the Board of Governors of the Franklin Youth Athletic Fund. He was a Sunday School Teacher at the Franklin United Methodist Church.

Elected the first president of the New England Junior College Student Personnel Association, he was also selected as a member of the visiting evaluation team for the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Mr. Fullerton has conducted several Student Personnel Institutes for Junior College organizations and is a member of the American Personnel and Guidance Association and the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators.

The object of a three-month search, the Vice-Presidential Committee consisted of an administrator, two faculty members and two students. John P. Hannon, Director of Library Services, served as Chairman assisted by Professors Mary Jane Pelkey and Frederick W. Reinhardt, and students Kathleen A. Grimes of Pawtucket and Ronald F. Janey of Providence. Dr. Fullerton was one of more than 400 applicants screened for this position.

Dr. Fullerton is married to the former Helen Howard of Pittsburgh and lives with his wife and two children, Holly Leigh, 5 years and Kurt Alan, 3 years, in Franklin, Mass.

Coffee House To Open Friday

Country Comfort opens its season this weekend with live entertainment both Friday and Saturday night. The Coffee House will feature "Colette", a folk jazz trio on Friday night at 8:30. Saturday night at 8:30, folksinger Gil Hager will perform.

Everyone is welcome to drop in, kick off their shoes and mellow out to some of the best music the coffee house has ever presented. If you mellow out too much we guarantee you'll wake up by the following weekend when "Brilliant Corners", a rock-jazz group hits the stage and the place starts jumping. Brilliant Corners will perform September 15 and 16 at 8:30.

If the sight of concrete, glass and steel starts to wear on your mind, take a trip to the coffee house for a little country living.

This year at the coffee house should prove to be very entertaining, not to mention economical. The admission charge is only 25 cents for an evening of entertainment. For this small fee, you will see top dollar groups. How can we do it? It isn't easy! We even considered charging 25 cents to get in and $2.00 to get out, but we're not capitalists.

We conned the administration out of a good budget (thank you, Administration).

Plan to drop in this weekend for some good music and refreshments; and if you like the atmosphere and want to lend a hand, we need people to help out. The staff of the coffee house welcomes you to another year at Bryant and Country Comfort and wishes you the best of luck because you're going to need it.

What You've Always Wanted To Have--But Were Afraid Would Never Be Made

(AFS) The largely worthless "rhythm method" for natural contraception may soon receive a badly needed technological boost.

British inventors have just patented a device that can detect the exact time of ovulation in the female body. Identifying the ovulation date could potentially take the guessing out of the only means of contraception that doesn't actually alter bodily functions.

The new device consists of a meter which detects minute differences in electric potential between various parts of the human body. It works in the same way as a car battery tester, but much more sensitively.

Under normal circumstances, voltage in the vagina is negative, and the difference in electric potential between the vagina and certain other parts of the body, such as the leg, is about minus ten to minus twenty-five millivolts (thousandths of a volt.) At the time of ovulation, however, the vagina's voltage falls to zero or becomes positive.

The device (British patent No. 1 268 183) contains electronic circuitry which illuminates one of two indicator lamps: if the voltage is negative (that is, normal), the lamp marked "GO" lights up, but if the voltage is zero or positive, the "DANGER" lamp blinks on.

The proposed gadget would likely be easy to use, since it consists of only two electrodes and an on/off switch. One electrode is a narrow strap applied to the leg or lower abdomen, the other a probe to be inserted in the vagina. The device could be used once or twice a day; if the warning light flashed, users could abstain for two or three days to avoid conception. To be truly safe, though, the cycle might have to be checked against a calendar, and checked rather carefully at that, since sperm can live up to two days within the female body.

The electrode contraception should be perfectly harmless, since no changes would be made in the body--it merely measures a natural characteristic. This could also be a selling point in the jungle of dogmatic theology, since no physical intervention occurs in the process of conception.

Signing up for Army ROTC in college is no big deal. No major commitment. All we'd like you to do is give it a try. Take the Basic Course during your freshman and sophomore years. See what it's all about. You'll find that it's only a few hours a week.

That's not going to get in the way of classes, study, sports or other activities. At the end of your sophomore year you'll know for sure.

If you decide to go on with the ROTC Advanced Course you'll be paid $100 a month during your last two years of school.

You'll also be earning your degree and commission at the same time. It's even possible for you to go on to graduate school. Then serve as an officer later. Check out ROTC now.

Fullerton Speaks Out

RW - I am sure that by now you have had a chance to tour the dormitory village and see the wanton damage. In your opinion, what can be done and what will be done to deter students from damaging school property?

BF - Probably the best thing that we can do is make it an undesirable situation for anybody that presents us with that kind of problem. In other words, if a person feels it in the pocketbook for the damage that he's done and if he is disciplined appropriately, then I think, and I'm not suggesting this hasn't been in the past, I really don't know if it's been done in the past or not; but my philosophy is one of having only absolutely necessary rules but enforcing as completely as possible these necessary rules so if somebody is wantonly destroying a dorm. If the residencehall staff. I think they should be very carefully screened. I think they should be the best people around. These are very sensitive jobs. Counseling, and I know that I'm going to be taken to task for this statement; but counseling is not the principle responsibility of these people. Counseling is for professional counselors, psychologists, psychiatrists, etc. I think that one of the things that as I look around Bryant right now that I'm concerned with is the absence of an identifiable counseling center, and I would say that one of my objectives is to push for and hopefully get approval for the development of a counseling center where actual clinical counseling can be taken care of, but as far as the residencehalls are concerned, I view these people with a variety of degree of expertise because my doctoral thesis was in the area of residence hall staffs, performance, evaluation, and so forth so I'm not saying that I'm an expert of residence hall staff and the kind of things that they should be doing. I view the residence hall program, by the way, as probably one of the most important programs on the entire campus. I know that the commuters have been short-changed and I don't want to short change them anymore. In fact, I am sending a letter to each commuter encouraging him to become involved in the school and the person I am bringing in to replace Dean Dehner will be devoting considerable time to the commuting student program, but I view the residence hall program here at the Smithfield campus as probably one of the most important problems, as I say, of the entire institution. If the students are not happy with their living situation if there is not good quality residential life, we are losing an awful lot and I don't think we can afford to lose it so we are going to put in an awful lot of thought and time and effort in the whole area of residence halls and try and make them something less than, I heard a guy give a speech once and he was speaking of residence halls as underprivileged homes where people were thrown aside with no stimulation, no nothing and boy that we want to try and avoid at all costs. I want it to be a good living experience for everybody and that is the direction that we want to go. necessarily problems brought on by the administration. It was more or less problems brought on by themselves. Let me give you an example, if a student is living with a group of other students let's say this one does not agree with how the other ones act, in the past there was little way in which the other student could come and talk to someone because it seemed as if the person was not interested, felt as if he had been turned aside because he had acted just a little bit different from everyone else and many times when students would have problems they wouldn't feel free to come out and talk about them.

BF - Well, I think I agree and that is what I was eluding to is that we have to create an environment in which people will feel free to talk and to take some action and as John Lindsay said several years ago, just 'give a damn,' that's what it amounts to. If everybody gives a damn then we are in good shape.

RW - In the past, motorized vehicles have been allowed up on the campus dorm village green in order that students will be able to drop off personal belongings near their dorm, but this has caused a great deal of damage to the green. Will their be any change in the existing policy?

BF - Most definitely. I have been sitting here looking out over my shoulder at fairly expensive landscaping and outside maintenance projects going on right now and I think that it is absolutely foolish to be continually engaged in filling up tire ruts and all this sort of stuff so the sum and substance of my answer is no, they will not be permitted there any more and those that choose to do it in violation of this policy will undoubtedly wish that they hadn't done this also. It's unnecessary. I'm sure it creates some inconveniences but for example, I'm sitting here looking at the lot, not everybody can. To have to carry something all the way up to, what would be the farthest one; 5. 6. 3 and 4, something like that, that's a long haul, but that doesn't give you any special privilege to drive over the grass and knock down the stone walls and tear up the seeding and so forth. No, it's unnecessary again and we hope that we can effectively put an end to it without offending anybody hoping to get the cooperation of everybody involved making them realize that the destruction they are causing and the expense that they are causing the school and you can't blacktop the whole area and go and live in an asphalt jungle so we are going to try everything as hard as we can to keep them off in a fair and hopefully a human way.

RW - The policy of the use of drugs on this campus was set down by Doctor Evarts. It called for strict regulation and punishment when deemed necessary. However, in the past, those who were turned in by resident assistants were merely given a slap on the wrist and were sent on their way. Will there be any change?

BF - It's very difficult to generalize how you would deal with one particular incident, but I would say that any person who violates local, state, national laws or college regulation be they drug regulations or other kinds of regulations then they are going to have to answer for these and as I said before I am not a believer in having a three thousand page volume of rules and regulations most of which you can't enforce so if we have a rule on the books, it will be enforced, and that applies to every area drugs included.

RW - Let me set an example for you, a hypothetical case. Let's say a student is found with a nicker bag of marijuana in his room and the resident

My best friend is going to prison in five days. We don't know exactly where he's going. There's been talk about Missouri or Michigan or Minnesota. But it will be a work camp or prison. We do know that he'll be back in six months--180 days. And nights. We don't know what he'll be doing; what he'll be remembering or forgetting; if he will be permitted to read outnights. We don't know what he'll be doing; what he'll be remembering or forgetting; if he will be permitted to read our letters in their entirety, or censored, or at all. We do know that he'll be separated from his wife and family, the few people he cares about, his job and his education.

And why? Because he refused to step forward. Or because he stepped forward.

After being denied a conscientious objector deferment, he was drafted. On induction day, he refused to step over that invisible line that indicates one's willingness to go into the armed forces. Instead he stepped forward and said he would rather serve his country in another manner. No he's going to prison.

At his sentencing two days ago, he stood before the judge in a routine Monday morning courtroom appearance. There were bigger things to adjudicate than the problems of a routine resister, and his sentencing took only a few short minutes. But the judge--one of the more "liberal" ones--made himself perfectly clear as he handed out the "standard" sentence: "You are hereby sentenced to six months in a federal institution and to 18 additional months on probation."

I've thought a lot about that since Monday. I don't know what "serving one's country" means anymore.

I have seen quadriplegics--paralyzed from their necks down--who wear the living scars forever to remember how they "served their country." I have seen pictures of corpses of men who had "served their country." And I have seen men making decisions concerning the sincerity of others--judges, probation officers, members of draft boards--who are MMserving their country."

My friend doesn't fit the stereotype of draft resister. He would never think of leaving the country, because he likes this country. He wants to serve the country--but in a way in which he can feel comfortable. Until he goes off to prison, he'll continue working at his job--a public service position helping blind people. So he has been serving his country, but in five days he'll have to stop so he can serve his country in prison.

It all seemed so illogical. My friend is mild and gentle and sincere. Old military men have written letters to draft boards attesting to this. His father--a military educator--has vouched for his son's sincerity. He has good credentials. But he broke the law.

At the sentencing, he was given one week to "get things in order." Perhaps the judge should have given this country some time to "get things in order." Like priorities. I can't help but question the legitimacy of a country that puts men on trial to test their pacifism, their sincerity, their degree of opposition to a war. They did this to my friend. And he lost. I can't help wondering if there's a difference between serving our country and servicing our country. Why must someone's personal convictions lead to convictions?

I guess I'm thinking about all this now because I just talked to him on the phone. He's at work now, finishing up some final projects. He's delighted that they've promised to give him his job back when he returns. But a strange thing has happened to him: he's turned into a martyr. Not in his own eyes, but in the eyes of people he rarely talks to who've suddenly dropped over, invited him for dinner and turned his six-month sentence into cheap radical chic, with my friend in the role of foldover, invited him for dinner and turned his six-month sentence into cheap radical chic, with my friend in the role of folk hero. They are treating him with the same indignity and impersonality that the judge did.

I don't know what any of this means. But I keep thinking of the letter my friend wrote to his parents, who live in Italy. "By the time you read this, I'll be in prison..."

By the time you read this, my friend will be in prison. Where will we be?

Is Your Number Up?

The Selective Service System today announced that the draft lottery number ceiling for the last three months of the year will be RSN 95. Men with lottery numbers through RSN 75 are being inducted in August and September. The year-end ceiling of RSN 95 assures almost three-fourths of the men who faced induction during 1972 that they will not be called this year.

Approximately 15,900 men will be inducted during the October-December period, with the majority of inductions taking place in October and November. All available men with RSN's of BUMP CITY, the latest offering from San Francisco based Tower of Power is one of the better albums to be released so far this year. With the aid of co-producers Ron Capone and Steve Cropper, the band has put down on record a very tight blend of rock, blues, and soul. The first cut on the album, "You Got To Funkify," a powerful rocker, sets the stage for some very enjoyable listening. Throughout the album Rick Steven's vocals are complimented by the fine work of the rhythm and horn sections -- the combination. It took a top 40 single from the album, "You're Still A Young Man," to bring Tower of Power to the fore but now that they are here, I'm sure they will be around for a long time to come. BUMP CITY is a fine second album from one of America's most promising bands. COMING UP - On Friday, Sept. 22, Capitol Record's Skylark will be in concert in the rotunda along with Stash...the following week on Saturday, Sept. 30, Jerry LaCroix will be leading his high-powered rock and roll band, White Trash, into action. Ticket information and more news of the future concerts next week.

Bump City

assistant finds it and he reports to your office that he has made the find what steps would be taken on the order of disciplinary action against that student?

BF - Well, I don't know what the system is here at the present time but systems that I am familiar with and the kind of system that I would like to have in effect here is that there will be some kind of a student faculty or simple student judicial system, a campus wide judicial system so that when the incident you're speaking of or any other incident if there is an obvious and known violation of the rule or regulation then it will be processed through this system which will be in accordance with accepted legal procedure and anybody would certainly have his day in court and will be entitled to due process and so forth. I'd rather not respond to a particular situation because then I'm putting myself in a box. I'm not evading the issue really, it might seem as though I'm evading the issue but I'd like to go back to my statement before that if there are rules and regulations they will be enforced, and this means that the person who violates these rules and regulations will be subject to either minor or major disciplinary action depending upon the incident. I do rather not respond specifically to your example because it would depend on the person involved, it would depend, I think, on our experience with this particular individual. I would think you would also have to consider any extenuating or mitigating circumstances that might be involved in this particular case so if you don't mind I'd rather not respond specifically to the example but simply go back again to the statement I made that we run a fairly tight ship in terms of the rules and regulations that we collectively agree that in the Bryant community should exist. To be continued.
