Oh Boy!

by Paul Carroll

For the past several months, Bryant College has been steeped in a controversy that has caused a rift between the faculty and administration of the College.

The central matter at issue is the College's decision not to rehire Drs. Obutelewicz and Mahdi to the Bryant faculty. The College arrived at a decision during the past academic year to decrease the number of Economics sections offered at the College as a result of a shift of enrollment away from Economics courses. This automatically necessitated the College to decrease the number of economics teachers at the College.

Examining the situation, the College found itself with two more teachers in the Economics Department than it actually needed. At that time there were three untenured faculty members in this department: Dr. Obutelewicz, Dr. Mahdi, and Mr. Mahoney; and it was decided that one of these three would have to be selected for the single position open in the department.

Recommendations in such cases are made by the department chairperson, which in this instance is Dr. Li. Normally, the chairperson would recommend one person to the Rank and Appointment Committee for consideration to a vacant position; however, it is alleged that in this instance Dr. Li "refused" to recommend only a single candidate to the committee, and instead insisted on recommending all three. Dr. Ingraham, as Chairperson of the Rank and Appointment Committee at that time, felt that the recommendation for this position should be made by a segment of the faculty, whether it be the department chairperson, or the Rank and Appointment Committee. Not wanting to submit three names for consideration to the administration, which would put the decision completely in the hands of the administration, and not being able to obtain a single recommendation from Dr. Li, the Rank and Appointment Committee decided it would make the decision of which person to recommend.

The three faculty members' qualifications were all studied, analyzed and evaluated by the Committee in an effort to make the best selection from among the three. The Committee did not take a negative position on any of the three candidates—rather their decision was based on the candidates' qualifications and not on whether a candidate was rumored to be good or bad.

The Rank and Appointment Committee, having examined the situation, made a recommendation to Nelson Gulski, Acting Vice President for Academic Affairs at the time, to hire Mr. Mahoney, who they felt was the "best" choice out of the three. Dr. Ingraham stated that "nothing happened."

Mr. Gulski then accepted the Committee's recommendation and Mr. Mahoney was retained as a member of the Bryant Faculty.

Controversy over this episode came from the Faculty Federation of Bryant College and on February 9, 1974, they submitted a grievance to the College, which states:

"A. In accordance with the provisions of Article X of the Agreement between the Bryant Faculty Federation, Local 1769, AFT, AFL-CIO, and the Bryant College of Business Administration, the Federation alleges that a grievance exists between two of its members and the college in as much as the College has treated Drs. Robert Obutelewicz and Syed Mahdi unfairly and inequitably under the terms of the contract.

"B. Specifically, the Federation argues that the failure to reappoint Drs. Obutelewicz and Mahdi for the 1974-1975 academic year is both unfair and inequitable in that:

1. the Faculty Rank and Appointments Committee failed to consider all of the available information relating to the reappointment of the grievants; and in so doing failed to assure that the rights of the grievants were adequately protected.

2. the Faculty Rank and Appointments Committee acted arbitrarily in preventing the Department Chairman, Dr. Li, from presenting data relevant to the reappointment of the grievants.

3. the Faculty Rank and Appointments Committee acted arbitrarily in granting reappointment to one non-tenured member while denying appointment to the grievants without full and proper consideration of the relative qualifications of the individuals in question.

4. The V.P. for Academic Affairs failed in his duty to lead in the formation and implementation of philosophies designed to maintain and improve academic programs by failing to give proper recognition to the department chairman's authority to recommend and advise on the reappointments of the grievants.

5. the Federation further alleges that as a result of the actions described above the grievants rights of Academic Freedom as set forth in the principles of the AAUP, as well as their constitutional rights have been violated by the college administration."

Mr. McAloon, President of the Faculty Federation, claims that the College acted improperly on this grievance by not submitting it to an arbitrator. He related that instead of following this procedure, the College "short circuited" the process by seeking a Federal Court injunction against the grievance. According to McAloon, the Federation is presently contesting the College's actions.

The Review Committee of the Faculty Federation submitted the following report on March 14, 1974, to the members of the Federation which states:

"Based upon interviews with all concerned parties, we believe there has been an arbitrary decision by the Vice President for Academic Affairs concerning the elimination of two positions in the Department of Economics; also, that the procedure followed is a threat to the job security of all Faculty members and therefore is a matter of serious concern.

Some of the pertinent facts which have been presented to us are:

1. We have information from the Chairman of the Economics Department that a full load does in fact exist for the ten present members of the department.

2. The proposed course offerings for fall of 1974 as compared to the courses that ran in the fall of 1973 show that several courses that ran at full capacity have been eliminated from the proposed list.

3. The attrition in the Economics Department seems to have run its course and enrollment should remain stable.

4. We also find no evidence at this time that overall enrollment in the College will decrease next fall.

"It is the recommendation of this committee that the Federation convey to Vice President Gulski its concern over this arbitrary action and take the position that Doctors Obutelewicz and Mahdi should be retained on the Faculty for the next academic year."

The Federation voted to support the recommendation which was presented to Mr. Gulski for consideration. It is alleged that Mr. Gulski rejected the recommendation and explained that there was no room for Drs. Obutelewicz and Mahdi on the faculty.

This report is part of the Federation's grievance and they have filed for arbitration of the matter.

Last week, further conflict between the faculty and administration arose. Statements made in an ARCHWAY interview by Dr. Smith, Vice President for Academic Affairs, have been objected to by Mr. Sweeney, Mr. Iacqua, and Mr. Long, as being falsehoods. The statement in question is as follows:

"When asked if Dr. Obutelewicz would be teaching at Bryant this year, Dr. Smith stated, 'No, he will not. The decision was a result of the decisions of the Chairman of the department, the rank and appointment committee, and the Vice President for Academic Affairs.'"

Mr. Sweeney interprets Dr. Smith's statement as implying the Department Chairman's (Dr. Li's) decision as being unfavorable towards Dr. Obutelewicz. Dr. Smith states this is not so. (As printed in the newspaper, the statement does not specifically mention whether or not Dr. Li's decision was favorable of unfavorable towards Dr. Obutelewicz.) When asked to comment on this, Dr. Li replied, "I, as Chairman of the Department of Economics, have never made a recommendation to fire anyone in the department." Both sides remain adamant in their positions on Dr. Smith's statement, and this matter remains unresolved.

Also coming to issue is Dr. Smith's use of the Student

Senate To Hold Freshman Elections

The Bryant College Student Senate announced this week that it will hold elections for Freshman Senate seats on Thursday, September 26, 1974. This is the first time Freshman elections have been conducted apart from upperclassman elections—the new format being part of a plan to facilitate a smoother operation of the Senate when it reconvenes in the fall.

Having already elected Senior, Junior and Sophomore Senators last May, the Senate was able to conduct business and work on projects over the summer.

The Senate urges Freshmen to seize this opportunity to become involved in Bryant and contribute their efforts toward the improvement of student life at Bryant.

Election Rules

1. All candidates for Senate positions in the Legislative Body can display as many posters as they desire in the Unistructure and the dormitories beginning at 3 p.m. on Monday, September 23, 1974.

2. The Student Senate will provide one stencil and 50 sheets of paper for each candidate when they return nomination papers. Stencils must be returned to be processed.

3. The Elections Committee of the Student Senate has the power to ban or remove posters, handbills, or other displays that it deems not within the realm of open and fair competition.

4. All candidates seeking an office in the Student Senate can obtain nomination papers from the Student Senate Office beginning at 12 noon on Friday, September 13, 1974.

5. Each candidate is required to obtain 50 signatures of students in his class and return the nomination papers to the Student Senate Office no later than 12 noon on Wednesday, September 18, 1974.

6. By Friday, September 27 at 3 p.m., all posters, handbills, and other displays must be removed from the campus or a maintenance charge will be made.

7. Any candidate found guilty of misrepresenting names on the nomination papers or found guilty of breaking any of the election rules set down by the Elections Committee of the Student Senate will be declared ineligible to run for a Senate seat.

8. Voting will be conducted according to the following procedures:

a. There will be one polling station in the Rotunda from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Thursday, September 26.

b. At the polling station, Freshmen students must present their identification card and their names will be checked off on a master sheet. They will then be given a ballot for the Freshman class, and that ballot, once completed, will be put in a locked box.

9. No candidate will be permitted to remain near the polling station during the balloting.

10. Each candidate must submit to THE ARCHWAY in letter form his or her platform and reasons for obtaining a seat on the Senate by 3 p.m. on Wednesday, September 18, 1974. This letter must be typed and double-spaced on plain paper—not onionskin.

11. Six Senators will be elected at large from the Freshman class.

12. Any challenges to the election procedures or the balloting must be written and submitted to the Elections Committee by 3 p.m. on Thursday, September 26, 1974.

13. Each candidate will be permitted to have one representative at the counting of the ballots and that representative must be in Room 386 no later than 3:15 p.m. on Thursday, September 26, or he will not be permitted to enter.

Jewish High Holy Days

It was learned last night that Kevin J. McGarry, President of the Bryant College Student Senate, met with Dr. Lowell Smith, Vice President for Academic Affairs to present to him the petitions that were signed by a total of 969 students who were in sympathy with the requests by the Jewish students to close Bryant for classes for the Jewish Holidays of Rosh Hashana on September 17, 18, and Yom Kippur on September 26. The petitions requested that classes be postponed and made up as the teachers deemed necessary. Dr. Smith was to give the matter serious attention and issue a statement on his decision early today.

Senate's Faculty Evaluation as a component in his decision not to hire Dr. Obutelewicz as a part-time faculty member in the Evening Division. New to Bryant, Dr. Smith has stated that he did not know that there was an understanding with the faculty that the evaluation would not be used by the College in decisions regarding appointments of faculty members. Some faculty members feel that Dr. Smith's use of the evaluation is a violation of the unwritten agreement concerning the use of the faculty

From The Editor's Desk

Last week many of you may have wondered what happened to THE ARCHWAY. When you picked it up last Friday morning, you may have thought that it seemed a little undernourished. Well, it was then and it still is. Last year THE ARCHWAY went through a year of very poor management. Financial records were not kept by the last editors in chief and the budget was not watched carefully—if it was watched at all. When I became Editor of THE ARCHWAY last March 29, I was under the impression that the former editors in chief had taken care of the financial end of the newspaper. As those last weeks of the semester went on, I found out that I was quite wrong in my thinking. By the end of the summer THE ARCHWAY budget was in very serious condition. The situation the budget was in became apparent to me during the summer because bills were still coming in that had to be paid—for supplies used during the academic year, for rental of our typesetting equipment, for the UPI Wireservice rental, and for the printing cost of the paper. Although the rental fees for IBM and UPI equipment is the same each month, the past editors did not seem to realize that they were supposed to leave enough money in the budget to cover the expenses that were incurred during the academic year but which had to be paid during the summer—before the end of the fiscal year, which is July 31 at Bryant College.

When July 31 came around, I was told that the budget for THE ARCHWAY was "in the hole" for the second year in a row. The College policy on matters such as this is that any money that is spent over the budget must be taken out of the next year's budget. This is why I have had to cut down on the size of THE ARCHWAY. We are also trying to sell as many ads as we can to cover the cost of printing the paper, so that the money that is left in the budget can be used for taking care of fixing machinery which we have in the office (two of our machines were left inoperative due to the poor management of the past editors), supplies, and any equipment that we may have to buy this year.

Besides these expenses, there are other things that I have had to take into consideration. During the summer, THE ARCHWAY Office was ripped off. Although the summer has ended, the ripping off of ARCHWAY property has not. It seems that there are far more keys out that belong to THE ARCHWAY Office lock than I care to believe. Supplies and equipment have been stolen from our darkroom. Equipment that we use to do our typesetting has been stolen from the main ARCHWAY Office. But Maintenance says that the locks cannot be changed until they finish the construction and relocation of offices that they have been working on most of the summer. If my memory serves me correctly, I asked to have the locks to THE ARCHWAY Office changed about three months ago. I'm still getting the same answer that I got when I first asked—"We're too busy." It doesn't seem to matter that we are getting robbed blind.

It is also imperative, at this point in THE ARCHWAY's history, to restate our advertising policy. As of today, September 13, 1974, our advertising policy is as follows:

Full page (5 columns x 16 inches) .....	$100.00
Full back page (same size as above) .....	$110.00
1/2 page (5 columns x 8 inches) .....	$50.00
1/4 page (3 columns x 6 1/2 inches) .....	$28.00
1/8 page (2 columns x 5 inches) .....	$15.00
Other sizes (per column inch) .....	$2.00

Discounts will be given for ads from firms or organizations buying three or more consecutive ads. The discount rate for such advertisers is ten percent. Any Bryant clubs or organizations wishing to advertise in THE ARCHWAY will receive a 25 percent discount on their ads. Any club wishing to advertise events such as mixers, smokers, etc., will receive free ads only if they do not charge admission to these events. If admission is charged, the regular 25 percent discount will apply. The free ads will not exceed the size of four column inches (two columns by two inches), and we cannot guarantee that free ads will be printed. This depends on the amount of space available in the newspaper during the week the ad is placed. Notices of club meetings, student services, and other general information will be run in a special "Notice" column. These will be printed every week. Nothing that could be considered to be an advertisement will be printed in this special column.

All segments of the Bryant College community which wish to have professional typesetting and production work done on such articles as newsletters, brochures, invitations, letters, etc., are invited to come and see me in THE ARCHWAY Office. By having this type of work done right here at Bryant, it is much more convenient for all segments of the College to get printing jobs done. I can guarantee that the price will be the same or lower than that of outside printing firms and that the quality of the work done will be just as professional. By bringing your printing jobs to THE ARCHWAY, you will also be helping the newspaper out—so we won't let you down.

This year THE ARCHWAY Staff is working very hard to get the newspaper on its feet again. It's going to be a long, hard year; but I am sure that we can do it and that we will be able to bring THE ARCHWAY to you every week. Anyone wishing to submit any letters to the editor are encouraged to do so. However, any letters or articles submitted to us for printing must be typed on plain paper (8 1/2 x 11") that is not onionskin. All letters to the editor must be signed by the writer, although writers may ask that their names be withheld from publication. Any letters or articles which do not conform to these rules will not be printed. All letters and articles must be submitted to us in THE ARCHWAY Office before 3 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding the publication date of the issue in which the letter or article is to appear.

I am looking forward to bringing THE ARCHWAY to you every week. Please let me know of any thoughts or suggestions you have concerning THE ARCHWAY. It's your paper, too!

A Culmination And Examination Period?

by Paul J. Carroll

After reading this year's college calendar, many students at Bryant College either went into cardiac arrest or catatonia, depending on their present psychological disposition. The cause of all this helter skelter can be traced to an elusive term on the calendar—the culmination and examination period: The immediate reaction to this was, "Oh no, we're going to have to take final exams!" Well now that the college's supply of smelling salts has been depleted, let's all calm down and find out what this term really means.

This new culmination and examination period is a re-scheduling of classes during the final week of the semester. Classes during this period will be 2 1/2 hours in length, with two sessions daily. What this does is take the three regular weekly second session will be from 1:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. each day. To illustrate this hypothetically—your 11 o'clock class that regularly meets on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday may be re-scheduled to have all three classes meet from 8:00 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on a given day.

So what's the point of having this new procedure. Well, as explained by Mr. Richard Alberg, Registrar, some faculty members felt it necessary to give final exams in some of their classes. This new culmination and examination period will allow these teachers to do so. The college is not enforcing compulsory final examinations! The decisions to hold final exams will be at the discretion of each instructor. Thus, teachers may elect to hold regular classes or give a final exam during each 2 1/2 hour period. This also eliminates students taking three or more exams on one day.

The scheduling process has not been finalized yet; however, it will be published upon completion.

Well, all of us should be able to breath a little easier now; that is, if your instructors are the ones not giving final exams!

in memoriam ida cantini

This summer a much loved member of the Bryant Community passed away. Ida Cantini, a maid for the Faculty Offices, died after a short illness on July 16, 1974. Her warm personality and outgoing friendship won her many friends here at Bryant among students, faculty, and staff.

Adopted as the "Queen Mother of Bryant College," Ida described herself as "a simple person." In an ARCHWAY interview last November, Ida was asked what she attributed her widespread popularity to. She replied, "They go for me. I don't know why—they just go for me."

Ida first came to Bryant in September of 1969 and worked here until her illness last spring.

She may have considered herself to be a simple woman, yet she was a very special woman to those of us who knew her. To quote last November's ARCHWAY, "She has adopted all of us as her children, and has added sparkle and joy to our lives here at Bryant." We will miss you, Ida.

Well, folks, I think you'd better sit down and take a good belt of the old medicine before you read my column this week. You may as well, 'cause I did before I wrote it (hic, cough, gasp)! Yes friends, this week Madame Lovonda has concocted another one of her surprise souffles, so have a napkin handy. You'll need it to wipe the egg off your face. Come and get it!

Madame Lovonda

Dear Madame Lovonda,

I recently returned to Bryant College to find the campus broken out in a rash of discreteness. I'd never seen an epidemic spread so fast. It is so rampant that people are being discrete about being discrete. What I'd like to know, is does this effect the entire Bryant Community, or are some people immune to this strange affliction? Madame Lovonda, can you clear up the smoke on this matter?

Dee Screte

Dear Dee,

You know how these fads come and go. Discreteness is like streaking—nobody thinks it's socially acceptable, but everybody wants to watch. As for people being immune to it, I believe, and my colleagues will back me up on this one, that no one is immune to discreteness as long as there's a good doctor in the house.

Indiscretely,
Madame Lovonda

Dear Madame Lovonda,

Could you please tell me where I can get some of the nice chintzy furniture that they have in the townhouses? The stark cheapness of those Dr. Scholl Corrective Chairs overwhelmed me—and after I'd been swallowed up by that squishy squashy wrap-around couch, I just knew that this was my kind of furniture. I'd heard rumors that the College had its own vacuform machine (that Santa gave them last Christmas 'cause they'd been so good to the students) and they'd turned out that quality furniture all by themselves; but I just don't believe it. I've had perfect posture all my life and feel this great new furniture is just what I need to keep my physique in shape—so, in all seriousness, could you please tell me where I can get some of that furniture?

Quasimoto

Dear Quas,

I know how you feel, but believe me when I tell you that the townhouse furniture is not what you're looking for. It'll do nothing but ruin your posture and make you hunchbacked. If you really want some nice furniture, go out and buy your own vacuform and 20 gallons of gooey-glop glippity-glup and do it yourself. It'll be more expensive than the townhouse furniture, but it'll be of much higher quality. But then, of course, what wouldn't be?

Chairfully,
Madame Lovonda

Dear Madame Lovonda,

I came to school the other day and had to go to the Student Affairs Office—but when I got there it was gone! A passerby told me that the office had been relocated, but he couldn't tell me where the office had been relocated to. So, I set out to find it for myself. I looked in the Rotunda and it wasn't there, and then I looked in the library but it wasn't there, and then I looked in the gym but it wasn't there either. Madame Lovonda, I've been all over this campus, but I still haven't found where Student Affairs is located. Can you tell me where it is?

Larry J. Phulatum

Dear Larry,

Student Affairs is now located on the upper level of the Unistructure in the Student Lounge, which was previously the game room. But we all know that Student Affairs is really where it's always been. Nowhere!

Phun-lingly,
Madame Lovonda

The Used And Abused Watergate Women

by Joan F. Marsella

Now that dust has settled around the bunker after the fall of the biggest enchilada of all time, women can take some comfort in the fact that theirs was only the usual supportive role.

The graceful weepers were publically displayed on appropriate occasions. The beauteous were exploited as usual in the service of their men. The over-informed were whisked off to clandestine places lest they disturb Pandora's Lid.

Whatever did happen to Dita Beard, author of the infamous memorandum linking the White House hanky panky to ITT? Last we heard she was sequestered in an obscure Colorado hospital where she was diagnosed as too ill to memorandize further.

Martha, "The Mouth" Mitchell was a pathetic caricature, serving only to humanize her hangman husband, John. When her press leaks threatened the Washington Gestapo, she too was treated to a cross-country trip and kept incommunicado. Though her verbal catharsis could not be stemmed, the nation sympathized with "Poor John;" and when he gave his "Duke of Windsor Address" most people understood. A few of us skeptics knew that when Daddy volunteers to baby-sit there must be a good fight on T.V. that night and we were so right!

At least Martha is still around though broke and abandoned, a better fate than that of Mrs. Hunt, wife of the conspiratorial architect. While she was carrying $10,000 on some unexplained errand for her husband, her plane crashed killing all passengers. All suspicions about that mission were not buried with the victims!

Who had heard of Maureen Dean before her pristine grooming caught national attention as she served as an effective backdrop for her husband's remarkable testimony before the Ervin committee? Modesty and devotion personified, Maureen challenged any sully against her husband's integrity.

Was there a Mrs. Ehrlichmann before she and her brood were dragged out to stand by a husband being found guilty of subverting the Constitution? Where was she when "his knighthood was in power?"

Maurice Stans unhesitatingly offered his wife's anguish as good reason why he, Maurice, was not responsible for irregularities in stock exchanges. Apparently, the acquitting jury was moved by his maudlin pleas.

Let's not forget Rosie Woods, "Some dancer, she," they said. Her slip-step on the erasure pedal turns out to be her "Last Tango." To save male skins, hers was tossed to the wolverine press where she begged that her technical ineptitude not be misconstrued as duplicity.

The Nixon dolls, Julie, "The Wind Up," and Tricia, "The China" were artfully displayed to maximize father's image. "Wind Up" recited on cue, "My daddy's innocent!" "China" dropped thinly veiled threats of regal retaliation against her father's critics.

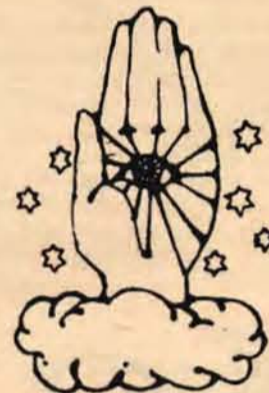

Pat Nixon, miraculously, was given special treatment by the press. I guess we all agree that marriage to Richard is punishment enough, despite the diamond earrings.

When you look at my words, you have seen my soul. Do not read them carelessly... they hold the pain of endless thought...

A harvest moon followed me home tonight. All the stars smiled to light my way as a warm breeze sang to me songs of summer. The night is so still, only a quiet cloud and an occasional cricket to carry the darkness into dawn

Is it love that bids my return to you or just a lonely soul in search of a cloud to rest upon.

In those sleepless quiet nights, my thoughts wander and try to find your star among the twinkling eyes of night

And in those sunny laughter filled days, you are always with me I feel your presence as I feel the presence of the sea.

i sat today, on the verge of a storm, the sky as dark and threatening as my eyes, cold as my heart. there is an emptiness within me like the silence before the thunder. i don't want to rain but the clouds keep gathering.

Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity is looking forward to another successful football season. As last year's division winner, the team, under the coaching of Mike Carlucci, has a very optimistic outlook on this year's season. Coach Carlucci has the following returning starters: Tim Gilligan, Eric Fieldman, Rick Kart, Bob LaPlant, Steve Gray, Dan Doris, Bob Finnegan, Rich Genden and Al Ehrens. Much new talent is also divided on the team: Randy Janis, Jimi Sullivan, John Blaschik and others. We are looking forward to seeing all freshmen and independents give us plenty of support.

Alpha Delta Omega

Dear Freshmen,
Welcome to Bryant College. By now you should be getting into the swing of college life and with this also noticing the many different Fraternities and Sororities on campus. We, the Brothers of Alpha Delta Omega, are just one of the many Fraternities on campus and also one of the largest.

Alpha Delta Omega is one of the newer frats on campus and in a short time has become very well known. Alpha Delta Omega came into existence when some of our Alumni felt that there should be a Fraternity for commuters. Although most of our Brothers are from the Rhode Island area, our President resides in New York and a few of our Alumni were from outside the Rhode Island area. ADO, as we are known by other Greeks, has a great year planned. The first smoker of the year is coming soon and should prove to be a total experience.

We hope that this year will prove to be as exciting as the year past. Along with Tau Epsilon, we sponsored Parents' Weekend, '74, which was one of the most successful weekends of the year. We are proud to announce that we were the winners of last year's annual Blood Drive. If at any time you would like to meet the Brothers, look for us—in the Snack Bar—we wear Maroon and Gold. We are ready for an exciting year and look forward to meeting you.

Hope this article finds you settled and ready for an invigorating year.

Sigma Iota Xi

Being a sister of Sigma Iota Xi consists of many fond memories and experiences that are shared by all the sisters.

This year our annual event is Freshman Queen Weekend by which we will all make lasting memories and share in lots of fun. SIX also participates in the GLC-sponsored Blood Drive every year.

The Hobo Party, the spaghetti dinner, and the happy hours give freshmen, independents and transfer students a chance to see sorority life through the eyes of SIX and to be able to get acquainted with all of the sisters.

Sports are a large part of the lives of many of our sisters. Our unity is shown through our team sportsmanship whether a sister participates or cheers. We're all looking forward to the volleyball season to start next week. We also have teams in basketball and softball.

SIX was founded in 1903 and in 1963 dropped its national name. It's colors are brown and gold. Most of the sisters live in Dorm 5 where the happy hours are held. There are also sisters in the townhouses.

As you can see, Sigma Iota Xi is a sorority that has long been known for its friendship, love, and fun on Bryant's campus.

Phi Epsilon Pi

The Brothers of Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity would like to welcome all the incoming freshman and transfer students to Bryant.

Our social calendar is packed this year ranging from happy hours in Dorm 2 to our annual Beer Blast in Rehoboth, Massachusetts. Also on the calendar is our Fraternity Smoker, Christmas Party, ball game trips, Civic Center Party, and a lot of other parties. A party is planned for this Saturday night, so why not stop up to Dorm 2, fourth floor and meet the brothers.

We've begun football practice, and under the leadership of "Digger" Lawrence, the Brothers expect to have a most promising season.

Hope to see you up in the dorm!

Tau Epsilon

The brothers of Tau Epsilon Fraternity welcome all the freshman and transfer students to Bryant College. We urge you to take advantage of all athletic and academic opportunities while at Bryant College.

This year, Tau Epsilon hopes to field one of its best teams in recent years. We are looking forward to a tough schedule and a very interesting season, in which to prove ourselves. We wish the best of luck to all teams, both Greek and Independent, and welcome any and all support from the sidelines.

Tau Ep is anxious to meet and help all newcomers in any way possible, and we urge you all to attend our social gatherings. Friday night, September 13, will kick off our social schedule with a party to which all are invited. If you are interested in a good time, we will look forward to seeing you there.

Once again, welcome to Bryant College and the best of luck to all of you in the future.

Sigma Iota Beta

SIB wants to welcome all the freshmen and wishes them a good year. We are glad to be back and will be having our first Happy Hour this coming Friday. We invite all those interested in attending this Happy Hour. We know you will have a good time.

Coming events for SIB include our Alumni Dinner at the Coachman Lodge in Bellingham, Massachusetts on November 2. SIB is also looking forward to beginning volleyball season.

Once again, we wish everyone a good year.

SENATE NEWS

by Paul Carroll

The Student Senate's first meeting of the year commenced with the usual task of correcting and approving the minutes of their previous meeting. Following this action, the Senate's proposed foster child program was brought up to the floor for discussion. A tabled matter since last May, the program was a proposal by which the Senate would sponsor a foster child for one year. It had been decided last year that funds for this program would not come from the Senate budget because it was felt student monies should only be spent on programs which the student body benefits from. Anne-Marie Vigneau made a motion that the Senate investigate for one month what program would be best and how to raise money for the program. The motion was defeated by a vote of six for, eight against. A second motion was made by Mike Hammer on whether the program should be supported at all by the Senate. The motion was defeated by a vote of one for, twelve against, with one abstention.

Howard Flaum, Vice President, urged senators to increase discussion during meetings to ensure all viewpoints are expressed and taken into consideration before decisions are made.

Tim Banning, Treasurer, reported to senators that the Senate had spent 99.5 percent of last year's budget as of the end of July. Banning foresees a minimal deficit in the budget but added, "we ended up the year pretty well."

Discussion then turned to the matter of the Jewish high holy days. Kevin McGarry related that the Senate is looking for a College precedent concerning the matter. He added that the Senate would wait until the Jewish Student Organization's policy had been established before taking a stand.

In other Senate matters, the Senate has been approached by two graduate students from Brown University desiring to offer a course in mixology at Bryant. The course would consist of two night sessions for one week at a cost of $15. The Senate voted 12 for, zero against with two abstentions to support the program pending further information and administration approval.

The subject of the Rathskellar was brought to the floor in regards to its hours of operation. Stimulus for discussion was a reaction from students over the Rathskellar having been closed this past weekend. The Senate voted 13 for, zero against, with one abstention to oppose the Rathskellar's new hours of operation. The matter will be looked into with the Business Office.

evaluation. Dr. Smith has sent a memorandum to the faculty stating that, "The student faculty evaluation will not be used by the administration in future cases of evaluations for appointment, promotion, or tenure. This is an interim guarantee, however, pending a review of the original constraints within which the faculty evaluation was proposed." However, Dr. Smith has stated that he will stand by his decision on the Obutelewicz case.

As the situation stands now, it appears that any solutions to the problems plaguing the Bryant Faculty and Administration seem to lie somewhere in the distant future.

MBA HIGHLIGHTS

by Dean Lebovitz

WELCOME BACK

We welcome the return of our graduate students and the entry of our many new MBA students. We hope that we have answered all your questions and have met your program needs. If you have any questions, call or visit the Graduate Office. But please note the new location below.

NEW HIGH IN MBA

ENROLLMENT

MBA enrollment for Fall 1974 reached an all-time high of 425 students enrolled in 36 classes, as contrasted with 350 enrolled in the Fall 1973 Semester. In addition to the 22 classes on campus, 8 classes are running in Portsmouth at the Raytheon Company plant and four at Newport with the Navy. A new off-site program this Fall is at B I F in West Warwick. This new off-campus program has begun with two classes.

NEASC ACCREDITATION

We are most pleased to report that the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) has not only accredited the Undergraduate School, but also the Graduate School and the MBA Programs in their own right as of this year. The previous accreditation had accrued to the Graduate School because the College had been accredited.

MBA GRADUATES

The value and visibility of the MBA Program are becoming more manifest with the increased numbers of graduate students who are successfully completing our programs by attaining their MBA degrees. In 1974 Bryant awarded 81 MBA degrees, 70 on campus and 11 Navy. This in contrast to 58 MBA degrees in 1973 and only 29 in 1972.

Gordon Bentley Bryant Veterans' Representative

by Lisa Pesanello

On July 29, 1974, Bryant College welcomed Mr. Gordon Bentley of Woonsocket. He is the new Veteran Education and Training Representative.

Mr. Bentley is part of a new, nationwide program in which there are roughly 13,000 such representatives on college campuses across the country. These representatives are employed by the Veterans' Administration and they work out of offices on various campuses. There is a training course being conducted by the Veterans' Administration to train Vet. Reps. that will prepare men and women to work in this field. Prerequisites for these positions include a college degree and a desire to work with people.

The duties that come along with the position Mr. Bentley holds include the distribution of checks to veterans on educational assistance and most of the paper work necessary in the administration of veterans' educational aid benefits.

Mr. Bentley is a 1968 graduate of Providence College, where he earned a degree in chemistry. Before joining the Veterans' Administration, he was employed as an industrial research chemist and as a process development chemist. He is currently enrolled in the evening division at Bryant where he is working on his master's degree. A Vietnam veteran himself, Mr. Bentley stated that 98 percent of the men and women holding positions similar to his own are Vietnam veterans.

Mr. Bentley's initial opinion of Bryant, its students and administration is a positive one. He feels that everyone here has been more than cooperative since his coming to Bryant in July.

"A Step In The Right Direction"

During the senior year of college, many students are approached to sit down and discuss their future with company representatives. Many times this representative is a Life Insurance Salesman.

Yes, Life Insurance! This is the one property that we hardly ever call and ask for; or ever brag about; or ever really take seriously, except when we can't get it. But why Life Insurance, and why the college senior? The college senior has in his previous three years on campus laid the groundwork for his future, and in doing so has spent a great deal of money, time and effort. Now, in the senior year the student begins to take his first step into the world outside of the academic community.

Where does he begin? If aggressive, conscientious, and ambitious, the student will want to protect that which he has worked so hard to develop; his future earning power.

How is this done? Through life insurance property you can guarantee that your entire estate will be self-completing in the event of a serious injury, illness or even death.

The senior year is the ideal time in which the initial purchase should be made; since age, health and occupational rating factors are working in favor of the student;

(a) Mortality experience indicates he will live longer, probably because his higher income affords him an easier lifestyle, less taxing physical work and better health care.

(b) His early purchase will mean a lower total contribution, since each age change costs an additional 3 1/4 percent in total premiums he would pay into the plan.

(c) Should his job on graduation be classified as a hazardous one (i.e. a science major employed in a technical field position like nuclear research or mineral location work) his premium would be rated accordingly. No occupation has a better rating than student status.

When searching for Life Insurance you should consider the company, the insurance program itself, and especially the agent. The agent should be a professional with ambition, integrity, and plenty of self confidence. If so, you can be assured that your program will be handled with these same qualities.

When approached by the agent, be receptive; you will surely find his product of great interest. It will also enable you to decide whether he is the type of person you would like to have helping you develop a portion of your future financial portfolio, a most important part of it, the foundation.

Another Test Of Student Power

by eileen pulaski

On August 30, 1974, Carmen Jordan, Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs, issued to all former and prospective student organizations a copy of the new Student Affairs regulations regarding the recognition and registration of all student groups. A two-page memo attached described the procedure. In it, the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs claimed all responsibilities for student activities heretofore held by the Senate. This seems to reduce the role of the Student Senate as a "deliberative, policy-making, student-governing body," that the students of Bryant College have elected it to be. The purpose of the Student Senate has always been to develop, plan, fund, coordinate and evaluate all of the Bryant College student activities. Now it seems that the Office for Student Affairs wants to take that responsibility from the Senate. The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs would reserve the "right to deny recognition to any student group whose stated

Maybe it has been a long time since most of the people running our illustrious school went to college, but really; you don't mean to say that they've all forgotten the simplest pleasures of college life—like having your own desk; having your own closet; and, yes, even having your own dresser to hide all of those heart-warming letters from home in.

It seems that the dream of each and almost every freshman who has been subjected to over-populated dormitory rooms is to wake up in the morning and have a waiting line of only five suitemates using the bathroom rather than the six in a line found in many suites today. And yes, the most ultimate dream of students who are in these seven-person suites must be getting enough toilet paper to go around once you get in the bathroom after fighting the most unruly mob.

Upon several interviews with freshmen, it was found that they all share one common wish: to be away from the maddening crowds found in their rooms.

All freshman triples expressed some type of disdain concerning their living conditions. Of the many comments and criticisms expressed, these were prevalent: "There isn't enough room to live in these rooms". "If one of us decides to study for an exam and someone else is using a desk, the third party must either study out in the suite, if there isn't anyone around; or go to the library if it is still open". "Once we've made friends in the suite we're in, we will have to adjust to a new set of suitemates all over again."

Out of a survey taken from several "triples" selected at random, there was only one instance in which three boys, all from the same home town, were content with the situation at hand. In fact, they said that they didn't care how long it lasted as long as they could convince the roommate that washing his underwear once a week was a good habit to get into living under such cramped conditions.

However funny, or not funny, depending on your present rooming situation this may seem, there is definitely a snag in the "system" here at Bryant. As a business school that is dedicated to "Education for Business Leadership," a really poor example has been set in the area of planning. Another bad example has been set in the area of customer satisfaction. Any management teacher will tell you that customer satisfaction comes first. This time, somebody made a big mistake at Bryant in the customer satisfaction department.

music and dancing. We are open to any suggestions that you would like to make for our country Dinner Nights and any other suggestions concerning new activities that you would like to see.

Our first meeting is going to be held on Thursday, September 19, 1974, at 12 noon in Room C351. All those interested meet new people, learn something about their culture, country, and teach them something about your culture and country.

ISO To Meet Thursday

by Birj Kassabian

Those who have been waiting anxiously for the International Students Organization to start its activities do not have to wait any longer.

To familiarize the newcomers to Bryant, we will give a brief idea about our (gastronomical?) club.

Our members consist of both foreign and American students from 16 countries. Under the leadership of our advisors, Dr. Lebovitz and Mr. Roy Nelson, the club promotes fellowship and cultural exchange through different social events (Dinner Nights) and lectures, and to familiarize the members with international politics, it participates in the NMUN.

Our social events are something every person in the community looks forward to. In the past we have had Jamaican, Lebanese, French, Greek and German Dinner Nights; every one of them was a different adventure to explore the country's food,

The ATGSB is required of applicants to more than 370 graduate business schools. Registration materials for the test and the ATGSB

The $3 late registration fee does not apply here.

Townhouses

by Rita Banner

Anyone observing Bryant's long and winding entrance road probably saw a series of apartment-like buildings. Well, those apartment-like buildings are Bryant College's new Townhouses.

What are these Townhouses like and how do they compare to the dormitories? Funny you should ask! According to some of the people who live there, Townhouses are nice. In fact, when asked what they thought of their new residence, the first thing the students said was that it was "nice."

One advantage seems to be the privacy Townhouse dwellers enjoy. The students liked the quietness as opposed to the constant roar of the dorms. Various comments were, "I like having my own room", "The facilities are great", "More rooms, more places to unwind", "It's got the feeling of a house."

Another great advantage is the food situation. Students seem to like their freedom of eating time. Everyone liked the fact that they can eat what they want when they want. One person even said that the food was better than ARA. No one has any problem cooking a meal after a hard day of classes.

Of course, where there are likes, there are dislikes. The biggest complaint about the Townhouses has to do with the "horrendous furniture," which appears to consist of a small couch, three plastic chairs, a coffee table for the living room, and a table with a few chairs for the dining area. The walls are completely "naked." One student said that he didn't think that "they put much thought into it." Another problem is that fact that it is "too far from the action and you miss campus life." A student commented that "When you're drunk late at night, you can't find your way home."

All in all, the students interviewed definitely liked this way of life better than dorm living. So one can safely assume that Townhouse living is "nice."

Jacobs Drive Dedicated

by Anne-Marie Vigneau

The Information Center was the site last Tuesday of the official unveiling and dedication of a plaque honoring the Jacobs family for its contribution to Bryant over the years. Representing the Jacobs family was Dr. E. Gardner Jacobs, Chancellor and President Emeritus of the College, who arrived at the site in the 1928 yellow Rolls Royce of Great Gatsby fame. He was accompanied in the car by his wife, Dr. Harry Evarts, and Dr. Frederick C. Tanner, Vice Chairman of the College and Chairman of the Board of Federal Products Corporation.

Accompanied by a band playing meodies from the Gatsby era, the group stopped just short of the booth and was greeted by a gathering of about 150 people, as Dr. Jacobs cut the ribbon, officially opening the drive.

Dr. Jacobs thanked those present for the honor given him and summed it all up by saying, "It has always been my dream to dedicate my life to a living memorial. Bryant College is the fulfillment of this dream."

Following the conclusion of the ceremony, a reception was held in the Faculty Dining Room for invited guests.

Dr. Evarts, who officiated over the event, made a short welcoming speech and then introduced Dr. Tanner, a close friend of the Jacobs family. Dr. Tanner paid tribute to the family and especially to Dr. E. Gardner Jacobs, "whose vision and determination was largely responsible for bringing Bryant into the ranks of fully accredited colleges of business administration, and whose courageous optimism made possible our historic and dramatic move to this new campus in Smithfield." He then formally named the entrance "Jacobs Drive" and helium-filled balloons were released in the background as Thomas Dubreuil and Suzanne Cousineau, representing the school, unveiled the bronze plaque. Set in a monumental stone in front of the Information Center, the plaque reads: "JACOBS DRIVE, symbolizing the progress of Bryant College from an illustrious past under outstanding leadership to a future filled with promise."

As the Season Draws to a Close

by Cory Raphaelson

This season the baseball races in all four divisions have been exciting. No division has a real runaway team, but on occasion there have been some comfortable margins. With one month left in the season, only the American League West has been decided.

The Oakland A's have thwarted the up-and-coming Texas Rangers and the young K.C. Royals. Once again the A's are trying to prove to everyone that they are the best team in baseball. The A's started the season slowly but under pressure from the Rangers and Royals they surged to the top to stay.

The American League East is an entertaining division that has seen nearly each team spend time on the top. The Boston Red Sox have been in first place the most—they apparently had the top spot sewn up but anemia of the bat has knocked them down into the pack. The New York Yankees have been one of the top teams in baseball since the All-Star break. They have adjusted to Shea Stadium and behind "Doc" Medich and Bobby Murcer are making a strong run for the flag. The team to watch is Baltimore. The Orioles veterans have bonded together to try for yet another crack at Oakland. Should Jim Palmer's form return to the team, the Orioles could win going away.

The National League East has lived up to its reputation as the craziest division. Last year the New York Mets won by accident and this year the mysterious Pittsburgh Pirates look the strongest. The Pirates are basically the same team that was billed as a dynasty not long ago. The players have recovered from the shock of losing Roberto Clemente and are ready to show that division how to play baseball. The St. Louis Cardinals are so concerned with Lou Brock's attempt at the stolen base record that they don't realize how much talent they have. The Philadelphia Phillies are so happy that the Flyers won the Stanley Cup that they have forgotten that they had a good chance for the pennant. Could you imagine two champs in Philly in the same year?

The National League West is the best division in baseball. The Division has four teams over the .500 mark but only two of them are involved in the race. The Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds are once again involved in a dog fight. For the second consecutive year the Dodgers squandered a huge lead. These two teams have the two best records in baseball and it is a shame that only one can win. The pressure is on the Dodgers to win; if they lose they are sure to be labeled as a choke team. Overall, the Dodgers have better talent but the Red's have the experienced veterans. The Dodger pitching should prevail however, giving them their first flag since their rebuilding.

Prediction: Oakland over Baltimore; L.A. over Pittsburgh; Oakland over L.A. and three in a row!

BRYANT SOCCER

Selvin's Sport Quiz

by Lawrence B. Selvin

A new edition of the Bryant College Soccer Team kicks the season off tomorrow against Worcester State. The 1 p.m. start in Worcester, Massachusetts, will commence Coach Gerald Guay's fourth campaign as the Indian head. The initial home contest has our booters opposing Roger Williams on Monday, September 23 at 3 p.m.

This year's 25-man roster shows 16 returning players. A team of youth and experience, the squad has four seniors: Bruce Lostocco, Mark Shoham, Hank Stepowski, and Jim Teixeira; five juniors: Jef Arpin, John Feeley, Kurt Nyman, Howie Schreiber, and Dale Speicher; eight sophomores: Bill Eaton, Kevin Homan, Rick Lewis, Gary O'Brien, Arnie Silva, Pat Sullivan, Howie Widman and Damien Ziruk; and eight freshmen: Bill Davis, Pete Dumas, Lenny Jay, Bob Kaye, Mike Kelley, Bel Perreira, Gary Schwab and Bob Tillman.

Coach Guay faced a difficult decision of choosing this year's team as 47 hopefuls battled during tryouts. Many of last season's close defeats and ties resulted in the final minutes of the game. To combat and prevent this from occurring again, a stiff conditioning program was implemented. Bryant's booters exercised, drilled, scrimmaged and ran in the two weeks of hard practices, often twice a day. Guay says, "We have the talent and the added work in practices should show a substantial improvement in second-half play."

The players have been concentrating specifically on bolstering their control over the mid-field with intensive drills. Special stress has been put on changing defensive assignments as well as increasing coverage in certain positions. Speaking about the mental attitude of the players, Guay commented, "The team appears more optimistic than last year, and their discipline and self-motivation is very encouraging. This inspiration will aid in this year's tough schedule." Babson, Southeastern Massachusetts University and Rhode Island College, Bryant's most difficult challenges, will host all three powerhouses this time around.

The opening game 4-3-3 lineup will be led by Co-captain John Feeley's minding of the nets. Jumping John was voted defensive MVP last year by his teammates for his superlative goaltending. Sophomore sensation Kevin Homan, similarly

Karate Club Begins Second Year

Once again the time has come for Bryant clubs to introduce themselves to new students. The Bryant College Karate Club is beginning its second year as a Senate-recognized club.

From a humble beginning last year of only eight hard-working members, it has grown to a strong membership of 30 just as dedicated members. Last year we hosted many fascinating demonstrations and our first successful tournament.

At our tournament, Bryant proved itself as a fighting Karate School by winning nine out of twelve possible trophies. Needless to say, we had a good first year.

More important to us than winning trophies or putting on fascinating demonstrations is the fact that we brought knowledge to Bryant: knowledge never before available to Bryant students—knowledge of one's inner strength and knowledge of self discipline.

What we strive for in the Martial Arts is not just physical stamina or the ability to defend oneself if necessary, but a way of thinking and acting. We help provide self confidence. Knowing you can handle a situation changes an attitude of fear or near panic to calmness.

The Martial Arts teach fairness and brotherhood. A Karate practitioner is armed with a very useful tool and must learn not to abuse it. By knowing your total capabilities, you no longer have the need to prove them.

From this lesson of fairness comes humanity. When a person acquires self confidence and no longer has to prove himself, fairness and humility come naturally. Then you become in harmony with many things and calmness is eventual.

In our class we learn meditation, coordination, aggressiveness, control, and awareness. The students work hard—but the rewards are great.

This Monday at 12 noon in the Rotunda, the Bryant Karate Club will host one of its spectacular demonstrations. If you are there, you can see first hand what the students have learned in the past year. Those interested in some hard work are welcome to join, and everyone else can watch a great demonstration.
