Vincent O'Connell New Police Chief of Smithfield

by Kevin J. McGarry

Vincent O'Connell has recently been appointed as police chief in the town of Smithfield. On the job for two months now, the new chief is in the process of moving into a new home in Smithfield. Working for the taxpayers of the town, Chief O'Connell is anxious to be a resident and voter of the town which he serves, although the town council gave him a year's time to move to the town.

Chief O'Connell attended Mount Pleasant High School until the eleventh grade when he entered the United States Navy in 1943 served in the Asiatic and Pacific areas as a gunner on board a troop ship. He was discharged on May 20, 1946, and entered police service in 1948. Chief O'Connell has applied for the Rhode Island State Police, but not wanting to wait the normal period of one year before being accepted, he entered the Providence Police Department.

Police Department they will be there to assist them. If any investigation should indicate a violation of state or town laws or ordinances, they will work with the Bryant College Security to put an end to it.

The Chief claims that any relationships that he has had with students from Bryant have all been good. He has had no problems with students from Bryant, and finds them polite and very civil. The Chief did visit the College on February 14 of this year and had lunch with President Evarts and Robert Gardner, Chief of Security at Bryant. He later toured the facilities and campus.

There have been times when as much as 50 percent of the Smithfield Police Department have been taking law enforcement courses at Bryant. There is a student from Bryant who serves on the police force in a part-time capacity. There are

Parents' Spring Weekend Wants You!

by Paul J. Carroll

All right people, you're always espousing how great Bryant is and what wonderful opportunities abound here, and telling everybody what fantastic things happen around the College. Well, your moment is about to arrive. That's right! Bryant College is going all out to sparkle and shine for the most forgotten segment of the Bryant Community—its financial backers, its investors, its entrepreneurs, its money men—none other than—mommy and daddy.

Few parents of Bryant students really have a good understanding of what is going on at Bryant; (so, who does?) but on May 3 and 4 they'll have the opportunity to not only see the campus, but to learn of the activities and lifestyles of the students.

Under the chairpersonship of Lynnda Pollen, the Parents' Spring Weekend Committee has whipped up a crackerjack weekend specifically designed to orientate parents to Bryant College. A melange of festivities, Parents' Spring Weekend will include information booths of academic and non-academic organizations in the Rotunda, a performance by the Drama Club, a dance, tours of the Unistructure and the Gym, a carnival, a table tennis tournament, an open panel discussion, a karate tournament...shall I keep going?

Students, every time you see your parents they ask you the $64,000 question, "What's new at school?" right? And you always tell them, "Aw, nothin' much," right? Well, this is your opportunity to get them off your back by having them come up and visit the campus during Parents' Spring Weekend. You can show them where you have your classes (if you ever go to them). And you can show them the table in the library where you study every day. And you can show them the faculty offices and introduce them to your teachers (you DO know who your teachers are?). And you can tell them about the "Rat." Of course you won't be able to show it to them because you're so studious that you've never, ever been down there, so you don't know where it is (HA!). So, Parents' Spring Weekend is really the opportunity to show your parents that you're not the flunkie they think you are and that you're not the lush you know you are and so on. Whatever, just get them to come!

Okay Bryant students, faculty members and administrators, are you going to sit this one out and say, "Oh, Parents' Weekend. How nice," or are you going to get off it and do something positive like participating in it? This event may seem like another "so what?" affair, but it should be one of communications and understandings. Students, faculty members, and administrators—particularly faculty members and administrators—should make a point to be on hand to meet the parents—you know, the people who pay your salaries?, and show them just what Bryant is all about. A college can only be as good as the people in it; and if we don't care enough to show the students' parents what Bryant is trying to accomplish then we may as well pack up and leave. So people, don't punch out that Friday afternoon and crawl off to your favorite hideaway—stick around and meet some people! You never know, you might actually find out that Bryant's more than a degree mill.

Tiernan Speaks at Bryant

by Eileen Pulaski and Paul J. Carroll

Congressman Robert O. Tiernan (D-R.I.) spoke at Bryant College yesterday to students in the American Politics class and others in the Bryant Community. Speaking on "American Politics and Public Policy," the hour long seminar included a question and answer period in which topics of current interest were discussed.

Mr. Tiernan began by explaining his functions as a member of the House Committee on Appropriations. This Committee's purpose is to budget programs under consideration in Congress. Also under this committee are the Housing and Urban Development, Space-Science-Veterans, and District of Columbia Sub-Committees.

When questioned on the status of the Watergate controversy, Mr. Tiernan stated that, in his opinion, "There is sufficient support in Congress to impeach the President." He added that if Mr. Nixon is impeached he would not be sent to jail.

Mr. Tiernan was asked if the security expenditure on President Nixon's other "White Houses" was necessary. Mr. Tiernan related that he felt the money spent on security precautions was justified. Congressman Tiernan was also asked if he thought the seniority system in the House was fair. He commented that he thought it very fair and has worked better than any other system so far. He says it gives

Chief O'Connell served on the Providence Police Department for 25½ years. Having been eligible for pension after 30 years, Chief O'Connell has attained position as the Commanding Officer of the Detective Bureau. This being the top position that he would be able to attain for some time in Providence, Chief O'Connell felt that the opportunity in Smithfield was one which he should take advantage of. Thus, wanting to stay in law enforcement and feeling the job as Chief in Smithfield would be a "Challenge," he applied for the position as Chief.

Chief O'Connell has two sons, one of which is a special agent in the FBI in the Bank Robber Squad, and the other is a Rhode Island State Police in the Chepachet Barracks.

The Chief's philosophy on the relationship the Smithfield Police Department has with Bryant College is basically unchanged from that of the former Chief. He lets the college security police their own grounds and should they need the assistance of the Smithfield also five students from Bryant who have submitted applications to be part-time police. After they are accepted they would be trained and should have all the powers of arrest and have the license to carry fire arms. The chief feels that it is good community relations to work with the members of Bryant's Community.

Bryant Students at Model U.N.

by John Rankin and Rose Lee

The International Student Organization of foreign students at Bryant College will be the diplomatic Nicaraguan mission at the 1974 National Model United Nations (NMUN). This event is being held this year in New York City, both at the Statler Hilton and at the United Nations, April 16 through April 21.

The NMUN is a realistic simulation of the United Nations. More than 100 colleges and universities and 1000 college students from all over the nation will be participating. Each college and university plays the role of a UN member state.

Each delegation submits draft resolutions correlating with its nation's policy. These resolutions are presented to the NMUN committees for debate and vote. Any resolutions passed are then placed before the plenary meeting at the NMUN General Assembly, where the issues are again debated and voted. The student delegations are rated on how well they play their roles.

The National Model United Nations provides an excellent opportunity for college students to expand their understanding of international politics and world relations. The seven foreign students of the Bryant College delegation are John Rankin of Bermuda, chairman of the delegation; Nick Stamboulieh of Greece; Berj Kassabian of Lebanon; Henry Lightbourne of the Bahamas; Cyprian Kemp of the Bahamas; Frank Messina of Italy; and Rose Lee of Hong Kong. Dr. Sol Lebovitz is their advisor. The Bryant students are looking forward to a most interesting, intellectually stimulating, and challenging week.

minority members the chance to attain positions that they might not get elected to in a Committee election.

Speaking highly of his supporters in Rhode Island, Congressman Tiernan said that he enjoys receiving letters and constructive criticism. Mr. Tiernan is presently serving his third term as a Representative to Congress. Prior to this he served in the Rhode Island State Senate for six years. A graduate of Providence College and Catholic University, Congressman Tiernan is also an Attorney at Law.

The Lecture/Discussion was followed by an informal luncheon with College Administrators, Faculty members and students.

Editorially Speaking

SELF DESTRUCT

When people first come up the main drive of the College, they are greeted by an inspiring view of Bryant's stylish Unistructure and campus. At first glance it appears flawless in its suburban setting; but with closer inspection, one can find it stricken with abuse and damage that is appalling. The source of Bryant's destruction is known, but it is the reasoning behind it that is impossible to explain. In a time when it is fashionable to disregard social conventions, it seems that moral and ethical principles have also been abandoned.

We liberally espouse the philosophy of letting people "do their own thing;" yet how can we condone the actions of people who's "own thing" is destruction and vandalism? Through a slackness in our sense of respect, Bryant is plagued with carpeting scarred with cigarette burns, ceiling tiles ripped to shreds, holes punched through walls from doorknobs by over-zealous people opening classroom doors, and so forth. One can see wall coverings frayed and torn by nervous types who have graduated from twiddling their thumbs and literary creations scrawled on lavatory walls by constipated authors.

The dormitories are even more horrendous than the Unistructure. Suites are decorated with beer-stained and burned rugs, broken furniture, empty fire extinguishers, and broken locks—and all for what? A few kicks?

It is estimated that the College will spend about $12,000 this year to repair damage done in the dormitories alone. Why so much damage? Are we degenerating so far that destruction is our only amusement? People always tritely ask, "would you do that in your own home?" and the obvious answer is a disappointing "yes." We all want better housing for the under-privileged and clean, beautiful cities; yet we at Bryant who have all we desire for others are hell-bent on destroying it.

Students at colleges with old buildings are forever labeling them "dungeons" and complaining about how depressing they are to live in. Well, perhaps this is what Bryant should have for its students—dungeons—for those who vandalize its structures can only be labeled criminals.

We do not want to see the day when the College will have to restrict our outside activities because of the carelessness of a few selfish students. We are pleading with the students of Bryant College to look around and see the destruction that has been done on this campus in the short time we have been here. We, the students, can see to it that Bryant is spared from further damage—or we can allow the destruction to continue.

But what will be left to destroy after all has been obliterated? Ourselves?

tuO fo redrO

This week, THE ARCHWAY would like to congratulate Mr. Tom Scott, Vice President of Business Affairs at Bryant College for his continuing efforts to institute new College policies while disregarding policies that already exist within the College. Mr. Scott displayed his tactful ability last week when he put into effect a new purchase order system at Bryant.

Although the department heads of the College were not consulted regarding the change of this policy, Mr. Scott was good enough to send memos to them on April 15, 1974—the date the new system went into effect. This is more than what can be said for the consideration given to student organizations handling budgets.

The students involved discovered the new system when they went to the College store to purchase supplies and were told that they could no longer follow the former procedure of purchasing.

Perhaps the College has a heat shortage and a paper surplus which can be resolved by all those concerned by running back and forth to the basement to supply the College with body heat and by filling out Requisition Forms 31 for every pencil or other supply they might need to reduce paper surpluses.

Once again, congratulations, Mr. Scott, for your efforts in keeping up with the "Joneses" of other colleges by adopting new policies. But don't forget, Mr. Scott, that it is policy to discuss new policy with those it will effect—or is there another new policy which eliminates adhering to old policy to "progress" to new policies?

Watu Wazuri Criticized Praised

Dear Editor,

Recently there has been some grumbling about the poor turnout by Bryant students for the I.U. Soul Review and the Black Weekend in general. It seems to me that Watu Wazuri expects the Bryant community to turn out for its events en masse and with all kinds of enthusiasm, and yet what can the Bryant community expect from Watu Wazuri? Watu Wazuri is the Black organization on campus, and yet the campus has yet to see any of the handi-work of the group except for this one weekend out of the entire year. How can Watu Wazuri expect the support of the students when half of the students of the College don't even know what the club is, or what it does? If Watu Wazuri is so proud of this Black Heritage, why isn't there some demonstration of this. Maybe more displays in the Library or exhibitions of some kind. Watu Wazuri members cannot "expect" everyone to turn out for their only function of the year and support them when they are virtually unknown.

Name withheld by request

Dear Editor,

Right on for the "Soul Unlimited Revue" students that invaded Bryant's campus this past weekend and rekindled many crumbling black spirits.

That's right, "black is beautiful and must be seen." More shows and events portraying "blackness" should resound from these walls.

Many, many thanks to those responsible for this spectacular show. It certainly proved a morale builder for black students at Bryant.

Once again, Congratulations for a job well done.

A Pleased Black Student,
Gloria Stafford

EVERY WOMAN on Campus Is Cordially Invited To a "SPRINGFEST"

WHO....

A happy "happening" sponsored by the Women Educators at Bryant for every woman on campus—students, staff, faculty, service departments—all are welcome to the first gala get-together for women only.

WHEN....

This WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, beginning at 3:30 and continuing to 5:30. We should be a good crowd!

SPELLBINDING JAZZ

by Paul J. Carroll

Dr. Burton Fischman has done it again! His jazz presentation, "Jazz: A Modern Art Form III," a top-flight compendium of sound, took off April 9 into a flutter of music that soared for two hours. Brassy, bawdy, mellow, and moody, the music of Art Pelosi, Mike Renzi, George Masso, Bob Petturuti, Artie Cabral and, of course, Dr. Fischman, spellbound Bryant students and lifted them into a dimension of musical ecstasy.

group professionally, they melded their talents into a unified voice that spoke with an intensity that electrified the air.

This is the third jazz concert Dr. Fischman has concocted for Bryant and is one of the "musts" on the calendar each year. He is planning another concert for next year and whether you will be a student here again or a graduate, it is one event that is not to be missed.

Music of all kinds is one of

A mixture of pop, standard, and jazz songs, the concert brought the audience to its feet more than once throughout the afternoon. The outstanding feature which made the concert a success was the musical expertise of the men on stage. Although the men do not usually perform as a the most effective means of communications and one of the easiest to get into. For those who witnessed the concert it was an exhilarating afternoon in which there was communication between musicians and music lovers. For those not able to attend, there's always next year.

Never Too Late

Greek citizen Ioannia Ioannou received his Athens University Law Diploma on Wednesday—at the age of 74.

But the Athenian salesman said he did not intend to practice professionally.

In his words,—"I will continue with my studies in political science. I think one day I will go into politics."

WJMF Update

by Thomas A. Czaplinski

"So close and yet so far" is an appropriate description for the status of WJMF, Bryant's radio station.

WJMF has met with problem after problem in its struggle to go on the air. Its most pressing problem at the moment is the erecting of a tower for the station's antenna. The tower will be placed on the roof of the Unistructure. This alone requires the consultation of four or five agencies both inside and outside the school. Coming into immediate concern are the tower company, roofing people, and two departments within the school. The actual erection of the tower is expected to take from two to three days.

Optimistic personnel are looking forward to test broadcasting towards the end of this semester. Meanwhile the work, the meetings, and the practice are continuing. Major progress has been made with the training of disc jockeys. Planning is an ever existent process in the programming department for that ultimate goal, and the station's album library is taking shape.

According to Donald Labbee, Director of WJMF, "the station is preparing itself for that lone-awaited goal in a most determined manner."

Have You Read A Good Book Lately?

by Jim Angelini

Now that term papers and exams are hitting us full force, many people are discovering the library as an alternate to the Rathskeller. Everyone is hassled with the arduous task of digging out material for various assignments. If you wind up empty handed after tedious searching, see Mr. Patrick Kelly, who's job is primarily to acquaint students with the library.

Kelly is a native of Providence and graduated from Providence College with a B.S. in Accounting. After ten years with the American Universal Insurance Company, Kelly enrolled in the University of Rhode Island and earned his Master's degree in Library Science. Kelly worked at the Warwick Public Library before coming to Bryant and his work included book selection, acquisitions and Head of technical services.

When asked why he changed from Accounting to Library Service, Kelly said that Library Service was more meaningful than Accounting and that he received a greater degree of satisfaction from it. Kelly enjoys a college library more than a public one because of the discipline problem in a public library where children's main interests are to fool around rather than educate themselves.

As Assistant Librarian, he is responsible for references and book selection in the Non-Business section of the library. He is also in charge of the hiring and scheduling of student help which now numbers over 25.

Kelly is pleased with the rotating work schedule which he is now on. He explained that this enables him to work both days and nights and seems to give him more free time than a normal nine-to-five job.

Kelly holds membership in the American Library Association, the Rhode Island Library Association, and the Catholic Library Association.

A main interest of Kelly is jogging and when asked the question, "Have you read a good book lately?" he replied, "Unfortunately, I have very little time to read."

Notices

All interested students. There will be a film committee meeting on Tuesday, April 23 at 3:15, Room 269. Films for next year will be decided by the students. Come give your opinion and help.

There will be a meeting in the student lounge for people interested in becoming big brothers and big sisters on Tuesday, April 23 at 3:00 p.m. and on Thursday, April 25 at 12 noon.

Bryant's Labadie Fashions No-Hitter

Larry Labadie's no-hitter, the first in Bryant College history, took place on Saturday, April 6, in the Indians' season opener against Nasson. He struck out five and gave up just one walk en route to a 4-0 victory. Labadie, the fireballing righthander from Harrisville, Rhode Island, should get the starting nod once again in one of Bryant's two games this week. This past Wednesday, Bryant played intrastate rival Rhode Island College at 3 p.m. after having the Roger Williams game postponed on April 9 due to snow.

Captain Craig Cole and freshman Keith MacWhorter are possible starters against Nichols when the team returns home on Saturday, April 20, at 1:30 p.m.

Turning to other Bryant College spring sports scheduling: Golf Coach Archie Boulet's team has three matches on tap at the Rehoboth C.C.: Wednesday against Rhode Island, Thursday versus Quinnipiac, and Friday opposing Nichols.

The tennis team, after being rained out of its first two matches, travels to Babson on Wednesday and to Quinnipiac on Thursday before entertaining Suffolk here on Saturday.

The track team meets Bridgewater State in a dual meet on Wednesday at Smithfield and will then take part in a quadrangular meet on Saturday at Lowell Tech. Salem State and the University of Maine complete the four teams.

IUSR Performs At Bryant

On Saturday, April 6, Watu Wazuri presented the Indiana University Soul Revue in concert at the Bryant Gym. A contrivance of musicians, dancers, singers, and comedians the group displayed a professionalism unexpected from college students. Evoking moods from melancholy to frenetic, the group transformed the gym into a dynamic sound stage. The two and one half hour concert was unlike any other that has been at Bryant. Although not heavily attended, for those there it proved to be an exciting night. One of the outstanding features of the show were the outfits and costumes worn by the performers, which were as colorful as the music. The dancers, musicians, and singers were together and in control at all times, which made the audience feel like a part of the performance.

The group's director, Ms. Portia Maultsby, is the key to the success of the ensemble. Holding a Ph.D. in ethnomusicology and retaining 11 years' experience as a performing musician, she brings to the group an expertise that brings out the talents of the students under her guidance.

Coffee Beans At Bryant?

by Kevin J. McGarry

Wednesday of this week brought another lecturer hosted by Wally Camper, Department Chairman of Hotel Administration and Institutional Management at Bryant. John Fish, Northeastern representative of Pan American Coffee Bureau lectured students from the various sections of the Institutional Management Courses at Bryant. Pan American Coffee Bureau is a non-profit Educational Bureau geared to educate those involved with the service of coffee.

The Bureau is funded by 14 countries in Central and South American based on the dollar value of their export of coffee. Brazil is the largest supporter contributing 30-40 percent of the money which makes Pan American Coffee possible. Each of the 14 countries has a representative on the Board of Directors of the Bureau and is at the same time the representative to coffee related businesses in their respective countries.

The importance of coffee to the hotel and restaurant industry was pointed out by Mr. Fish in that coffee is the largest single item that is sold in restaurants. It is also the item which people comment on most in operations which use comment or complaint cards. Our country consumes 460 million cups of coffee per day, or a startling 3 billion pounds of coffee per year.

Mr. Fish distinguished the two different types of coffee plants grown in most coffee-producing countries. The "arabica" strain is the finer coffee bean, while the "bobusta" strain is raised in a more rugged climate producing a harsher coffee bean which is used in blending for price purposes.

The maturing of a baby coffee plant in a nursery to a point when it can be harvested takes about five years. The plants spend a year and a half in the nursery where they are shade grown and where the loss of plants is very high. After this first period, the plants are put in plantations and develop white flowers which turn to green berries and then to red berries. When the berries reach the proper color for harvesting they are harvested by hand. Each berry contains two coffee beans.

There are four layers of pulp covering the beans that have no value whatsoever. The coffee beans are laid out on concrete to dry for one month and then are washed and sifted to remove the pulp.

Mr. Fish continued to explain the different grinds of coffee, their proper uses, proper water temperatures, and correct timing in obtaining the best coffee possible.

Mr. Fish leaves an open invitation to all Institutional Management majors and any other interested students to feel free to contact him or the Pan American Coffee Bureau should they need any type of help or information. It is also possible to arrange tours of the labs which are located in New York City provided notice is given a few days in advance.

In Need Of Financial Aid? Be Sure To See Fred Kenney

by Lisa Pesanello

With a closer look into the personality of Mr. Fred Kenney, Director of Financial Aid, it is very evident that a sincere concern to aid the students of Bryant College in financial matters in every way possible has been Kenney's key to success.

A 1953 graduate of Bryant College, Kenney came to Bryant in 1970 to be the Director of Financial Aid. Before his return to Bryant College, he was involved with a family business for 14 years.

While working in the Financial Aid Department at Bryant College, Kenney has also been working towards his masters degree, which he is scheduled to receive next month.

Kenney's interest in the field of Student Financial Aid does not stop at the end of his day in the office. He is involved with several groups—all working in the area of Financial Aid. He is presently the Vice President/President-elect of the Rhode Island Student Aid Association. Kenney is also a member of the New England Regional Association Financial Aid Division, and a recently elected member of the CEEB Board.

His outside interests include golf and tennis. Kenney resides in Riverside, Rhode Island, with his wife Ann and their two children.

As a graduate of Bryant College, Kenney is able to make a few speculations concerning the change in the type of education Bryant College offers its students. This alumnus feels that the students at Bryant College are offered a wider scope of business subjects, as opposed to the curriculum offered at Bryant in 1953.

When asked to comment on the student body, Kenney stated that he likes the student body and he enjoys being in these surroundings.

Tim Banning: Senate Treasurer

by Anne-Marie Vigneau

Timothy Banning, better known to all as "Tim," is a fourth semester Finance major and an active participant of the school's activities. As well as being Treasurer of the Student Senate, he has recently been elected Executive Vice-President of Delta Sigma Phi, to which he pledged just this year. He also served as co-chairperson of the 1973 Freshman Orientation and helped to plan, organize, and supervise the various activities.

Tim, who is a dorm student from Manchester, Connecticut, likes sailing, fishing, camping, hiking, listening to rock and roll (as opposed to classical and jazz), and drinking beer. He would like to see the Rathskellar upgraded and improved because in its present state, "it's too dirty and honky-tonk." He'd also like to see Bryant get a full liquor license and open a bar just for the Bryant Community and their guests. He feels that "with a modest capital expenditure, a new building to house the bar could be built. The bar should operate on a break-even level."

A rather serious-minded student, Tim is here through the help of scholarships; although he is busy with extra-curricular activities, he has made Dean's List two out of the past three semesters. Bryant was his first choice when he applied it was the only one he wanted to go to. Tim came to college for an education, but has found much more. He feels that what he's "learned outside of the classroom is every bit as important" to him. He likes Bryant and his only criticism of the school is that some of the courses, especially in the field of Economics, are not relevant enough. He'd like to see more courses related to current situations, rather than just being given theories which can't be applied.

Tim's plans after college include working for a short time and then traveling for six months or a year. After that, he would like to work in a bank, but may return to school first for his Master's Degree. He likes to take things as they come and his philosophy on life is, "to enjoy yourself and have a good time. You'll only be at each stage of your life once." As treasurer of the Student Senate, he's "confident that in the following year, the Senate will spend its money in the best interest of the students."

Bryant Faculty Federation

Bryant College Faculty Federation representatives attended the March meeting of The Council of College and University Faculty at Providence College. The first meeting of this group occurred at Bryant College last November. Representatives from Providence College, URI, RIJC, Salve Regina, Roger Williams, Bristol County Community College, and RIC attended.

The purposes of the council are to serve as a forum for faculty debate of issues specific to college faculty, to exchange information, and to develop policy for addressing problems arising from experience in collective bargaining.

The next scheduled biannual meeting will be held at RIC in the fall. The BCFF Executive Committee will submit items for agenda consideration.

Mr. Samuel H. Ramsay Jr. Professor, Lawyer, Politician

by Lisa Pesanello

In the society in which we live, it is a rarity to find a man who is a master of all his chosen trades. Mr. Samuel H. Ramsay, Jr., Assistant Professor of Law, is an exception to this situation.

Ramsay is graduated from Trinity College with a B.A. Degree, and received his L.L.B. from Boston University.

As a lawyer, Ramsay practiced law in East Providence for many years. As a practicing politician, he held a position on the East Providence City Council for six years; and he went on to become the Mayor of East Providence from 1970 to 1973.

As a professor, Ramsay seems to have formed a very good impression of Bryant students in the 13 years that he has been associated with the College. In teaching his law classes, Ramsay finds a surprisingly large number of students interested in law as a profession. He seems to feel that the number of interested students in the subject of law today is greater than when he first joined the faculty at Bryant 13 years ago.

Any student who has been in the position of taking a law course, especially a business law course, knows that the teacher can make the difference as to whether or not he will continue in a course of its type. Ramsay's concern and enthusiasm as a professor are a great help in aiding the student's decision as to whether or not he will continue on with courses in law.

Ramsay's talents leave him with unlimited opportunities, and Bryant students should consider themselves fortunate to have a man of his caliber offered to them as an instructor of law.

Alumni-Senior Supper Response Is Good

The Alumni Office reports that Seniors are responding promptly for the Alumni-Senior Supper to be held Friday, May 17, commemorating their graduation.

Tentative graduates for the May and June classes have been sent invitations, either through their post office boxes, or at their homes. Evening Division Seniors and candidates for the Master of Business Administration degree have also been sent invitations.

This will be a "Seniors Only" affair, with no other guests permitted. There are over 700 in the graduating class, and an R.S.V.P. is requested by Wednesday, April 24.

Seniors who have not received an invitation by this time may pick one up in the Alumni Office, located in the Public Affairs suite on the upper level.

Health Rights And Responsibilities Of The Institution

by Kevin J. McGarry

In a final article concerning the health rights and responsibilities of members of the college community, we would like to relate the responsibilities of the Institution itself as defined by the American College Health Association.

The institution, whether public or private, has the right to set health standards for entrance and for continuing participation or employment. In the case of public institutions, this right may be modified or limited by the concern and the interest of the public. In all cases, any specific or unusual health requirements should be made known openly to all applicants.

The institution has the further right to ask students, faculty, or staff who fail to follow accepted public health practices or to maintain acceptable standards of personal health to leave the institution. It is expected that this right will not be exercised capriciously or arbitrarily, since each institution, whether public or private, holds an invaluable social resource in trust for the public.

The Responsibilities:

(a) The institution has the responsibility for initiating and guiding the development of the comprehensive health program, calling upon faculty and students to assist in planning and supporting the program.

(b) The institution has the further responsibility for offering the administrative guidance and financial support needed to implement the health program as recommended. This basic responsibility does not relieve students and faculty from providing appropriate financial and other support, especially for services rendered in their respective interests, when the basis of support has been agreed upon in advance.

(c) The institution has a responsibility for maintaining surveillance of the total environment of the institutional community, for establishing standards defining the quality of facilities and practices to be instituted, and for insisting upon compliance with these standards on the part of the students, faculty and staff.

(d) In the course of its support of the health program, it is expected that the institution will provide continuing administrative guidance and support for the operation of the health program and will follow the professional recommendations of the chief administrator of the health program.

In conclusion, the American College Health Association notes that Health is considered to be the realization of optimum physical, emotional, intellectual, and social well-being—not simply the absence of overt or covert disease, and any given institution should function their health program with this in mind.

DPMA Election Results

At the last monthly meeting of the Bryant College Student chapter of the Data Processing Management Association, the annual election of officers was held. Due to the fact that all current officers are graduating in May, an entire new slate of officers were elected.

Linda Arnold was elected President. She is a sixth semester Systems Management major and is a charter member of the organization. She also works for the City of Woonsocket in the data processing department as a computer programmer.

The position of Vice President went to Joe Haydu. Joe is also a sixth semester Systems Management major. He works in the Bryant College Computer Center as a programmer and operator.

Agnes Rawnsley was elected to the office of Treasurer. She is a sixth semester Management major and works in the College's Financial Aid Office.

Joe Brouillard was elected to the position of Secretary. He is a seventh semester Systems Management major and works at the College's Computer Center as a programmer and operator.

Future plans of the D.P.M.A. are to sponsor activities such as a computer-dance for the student body. It is also hoped that they can sponsor one of the monthly dinner meetings of the Senior Chapter of the D.P.M.A. at Bryant.

I swear, all the people that wrote to me this week must be raving lunatics! What's wrong with you people? Either get it together to forget it! I must apologize to my readers this week for presenting them with such slop, but you'll love it anyways. Great Stuff!

Dear Madame Lovonda:

In the past, college campuses have witnessed such fads as goldfish eating, crowding into phone booths, and streaking. Well, I recently witnessed another old fad—that of blowing bubbles. Yesterday, while walking through the halls of the Bryant Unistructure, I saw two girls holding small, plastic bottle of "magic" bubbles. They seemed to be having such a great time, and it reminded me of my youth in Massachusetts when I used to run around the streets blowing bubbles. Blowing bubbles seems to be the safest and easiest of all the fads, but no one seems to be doing it any more. Can you tell me why? Do you think this "fad" could possibly catch on again?

Signed, "Bubbles"

Dear Bubbles,

Through research and medical studies, it has been proven that blowing bubbles is addicting and leads to sterility. It has been outlawed in 27 states, and is a misdemeanor in the other 23. Last year alone there were 2,647 deaths that were directly attributed to bubble blowing. The most addicting and fatal bubbles comes from California and are known as "Woozie Welks." Since the truth was discovered about bubble blowing active participation has dropped off severely, and it is doubtful that it will catch on as a fad. As for the two girls you saw blowing bubbles in the Unistructure, they are believed to be criminally insane and extremely dangerous. Fortunately they were both apprehended Wednesday night and sent to a halfway house for treatment and psychiatric observation.

Forever Blowing Bubbles
Madame Lovonda

Dear Madame Lovonda,

While walking past THE ARCHWAY Office, I hear these terrible noises and screams. Peeking through the window, I observed many people running around like headless chickens. Can you explain these mysterious goings on? Do they keep some kind of caged animal in there?

A Confused News Fan

Dear Confused News Fan,

They do keep a very volatile and dangerous person in THE ARCHWAY Office. There is a member of the staff, Eileen Pulaski, who is subject to uncontrollable fits of insanity. Even though she is chained to the front desk and kept under heavy sedation she is still very unpredictable and quite dangerous. If perchance you should wander into THE ARCHWAY Office, I warn you to proceed with caution. She's already killed two Editors, the Managing Editor, and three Production Staff members. The "Keep Out," "Go Back," "This is your last chance" signs are well posted. Confused News Fan, you've been WARNED!

Barely Escaping Death,
Madame Lovonda

Dear Madame Lovonda,

I am a dorm student and am very happy living at Bryant College. Correction, I was very happy at Bryant. For three years now I have been able to find enough activities on campus to keep myself occupied. My friends and I used to hang at the Coffee House, play softball and football behind the dorms, or go to Frat parties. The Office of Student Affairs have or are in the process of eliminating all these activities. I live too far from Rhode Island to go home every weekend. What can I do in my spare time?

Yours truly,
Pissed off and Possessed

Dear P.O.P.,

In the word of a well known administrator, "That's your responsibility."

Yours truly,
Madame Lovonda

Accounting Highlights

Annual Meeting

On Monday, April 22, 1974, the Bryant College Accounting Association will hold their Third Annual meeting. This year we have the privilege of having two speakers from Price Waterhouse: Mr. Robert Goff from the Providence office and Mr. Edward Kiradjieff from the Boston office. Their topic is, "How to prepare for an interview."

Also at this meeting elections for new officers will be held and a new date for the Outing will be discussed.

We would like to see every member in attendance and any interested Accounting majors may attend, for this is the most important meeting of the year. That's Monday, April 22 at 3 p.m. in Room 386B.

Bryant Professors To Attend AAA Meeting

Three faculty members from Bryant College will attend the 25th Annual Meeting of the Northeast Regional Group of the American Accounting Association at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia on April 18, 19, and 20, 1974.

They are Dr. Charles Goulston, Professor of Accounting; Mickey Perlow, Assistant Professor of Accounting; and Lee Weaver, Associate Professor of Accounting.

Changes In Patterns Of Foreign Study

Academic Year Abroad, the foremost educational service organization to provide individualized study programs in Paris and Madrid, has announced radically new patterns of participation. This change is in response to the demands of college students today for greater independence.

Up until now, college students and selected pre-college students who were accepted for a year or semester abroad paid a single fee which covered tuition, housing and activities. Beginning with the Fall term, 1974, college students may now choose what services they wish from A.Y.A. Heretofore they were obliged to live in French or Spanish homes; henceforth they may live where they wish—in an apartment or in a dorm or in a home. Up until now the A.Y.A. fee included an extensive extracurricular program which included cooking, wine-tasting, couture along with theatre, concert and opera, all paid from the AYA unit fee. From now on, the participant may opt for:

1. the basic fee covering tuition, tutoring, counseling, transcripts and recommendations;
2. Basic plus housing, i.e., with room and board;
3. Basic plus activities, i.e., with the extracurriculars; or
4. the full program; with a range in cost for a year from $1,000 to $3,950.

Further information is available from the Registrar, Academic Year Abroad, 221 East 50 Street, N.Y.C., NY 10022.

RESTAURANT REVIEW

YORK STEAK HOUSE

by Joan Frias

The York Steak House is a relatively new place to eat in Rhode Island. It's located in the Warwick Mall—about a 30-minute drive from Bryant. The steaks are great and the prices are very reasonable. The Steak House is a cafeteria-style restaurant. You stand in line for a few minutes and then you order your meal by number. Pictures of the meals are displayed along the waiting-line path and you have plenty of time to ponder your choice and change your mind before you order.

The York Steak House has a T-Bone steak dinner, complete with salad, hot roll, and baked potato. Besides this they serve four other steak platters. From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. every day except Sunday, you can order one of the two luncheon specials. If you're into salads, they have chef's salads that look absolutely great!

When you turn the final corner of the waiting-line corridor, you place your order (by number) and proceed to round out your meal.

The first thing you find is the dessert display. Whatever your tastes are, there is a gorgeous dessert waiting just for you. Next, you get a small salad with your favorite dressing. Then come the beverages.

And now you're ready to go down the home stretch and pick up a fine steak. They have a delicious hot mushroom sauce to top off your beef and then you just pay the cashier and enjoy!

No tipping is allowed, so what you pay the cashier is all you pay. Two sirloin strip dinners (number 1) with dessert and beverages costs about six dollars.

So next time you want a good meal at a great price, mosey on down to the York Steak House.

HOURS: Monday through Thursday—11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Friday and Saturday—11 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

From Earth Day To ECO-II

A river cleanup of the Ten Mile River will be held on Saturday, April 20. This project, called ECO-II, is sponsored by concerned citizens in communities along the river and will attempt to remove debris from the river allowing the increased flow of water to act as a self-cleaning process. Volunteers are needed badly, and the Ecology Action Committee at Bryant is hoping to offer the services of many Bryant students. If you are willing to help, contact Dr. Langlois in the Science Department, Room 378. Transportation will be provided, leaving Bryant Saturday morning. Cleanup equipment that has been requested includes canoes, trash bags, first aid kits, safety vests, work gloves, maps, rakes, and shovels. Please help in the never-ending fight against pollution—if you can't make it, send a friend!

Fall Evening Preregistration Now Through April 27

by Mr. Cartwright

Preregistration for the fall semester is open now through Saturday, April 27. Schedules, instructions and preregistration cards are available in the Evening School Office. Veterans must preregister if they wish to apply for advance payment veterans' benefits.

Summer evening registration will begin April 29. This is to avoid a conflict between fall registration and summer evening registration. Tentative faculty for the summer evening classes will be posted prior to registration.

pervasive perspective is evident. The number of women functioning successfully in traditionally "male" occupations is increasing by decimal accrual. Their "ayes" and "nays" of boards, committees, business and political offices is increasing to a level of significance.

In the classroom here the tempo of discussion varies now from outright conflict to enthusiastic debate due to the altered behavior of the previous "silenced" minority of women. This trend must be supported to encourage women who have not yet gained a new level of consciousness.

Significant participation by women in the faculty forum and on important committees must also be noted. Some would interpret this new trend as a female effort to divide faculty consensus, but in this belief they are mistaken.

Women are just beginning to calculate effectively. They are learning just how much they have been gyped out of in this society and they are developing some pretty effective techniques for counterbalance.

The composite of all potentialities of all Bryant College Community women at all levels—faculty, administrators, students, secretarial, and maintenance personnel is greater than the sum of individual competencies. It is closer to the exponent potential for women power.

Women's Measurements

by Joan Marsella

When Billie Jean King accepted the "Athlete of the Year Award" last week she remarked that in sports women's achievements are visible and measurable. We do agree and call upon Bryant women to maximize every opportunity here for development of competence in sports.

From this arena women have heretofore been excluded and thus deprived of heady success experiences where competitive zest and peer support are developed. From the Little League through higher education (all financed by androgynous funds), women have been shown the "get lost" sign. From the locker rooms where the really important business decisions are made they are shut out and have been relegated to the innocuous Wednesday afternoon spot on the golf course. Change must occur here to a measurable extent.

Measurement implies the application of arithmetic concepts. Aside from that important (yet cannot be denied) ten-inch differential in anthropomorphic measurement, women's capacity to "multiply" has been their most notable arithmetic achievement. New social concerns call upon women of today to limit this capacity and, if mistakes occur, society permits correction.

Though in the past women's views of their own potential were somewhat myopic, today a new

THE THREE MUSKETEERS
"The Queen's Diamond"
Directed by Richard Lester

by bob rhault

As if being entertained by a quad of court jesters, THE THREE MUSKETEERS rambles on from one paradoxical sequence to the next. This adaptation of Alexander Dumas' novel of 17th-Century Paris is teeming with the absurd confrontations between the ever-loyal musketeers of King Louis XIII and the staid guard of Cardinal Richelieu (Charlton Heston). These short but numerous duels reinforce the legendary motto of "all for one and one for all," while survival is much more precious than heroism.

The musketeers—Richard Chamberlain, Oliver Reed, Frank Finlay, and Michael York as D'Artagnan—careen through the film hovering somewhere between absurdity and realism which possibly lends these musketeers an air of human quality absent from those of Dumas' novel.

Parody could possibly be the main theme. The musketeers' sworn allegiance to King Louis XIII and against Cardinal Richelieu lends itself to a series of occurrences not easily dreamed of by a good imagination. The casting also seems to be deliberate in being consistent with the theme. Raquel Welch, casts as the Queen's clumsy confidante, has a knock-down, drag-out brawl with Faye Dunaway in which the act itself isn't necessarily entertaining but the thought of these two particular actresses having it out has a certain element of jocular to it.

Mention must be made of the excellence which cinematographer David Watkin lends to this combined farce. Ordinary scenes seldom look so pretty.

This "episode" of THE THREE MUSKETEERS was actually the first in a two-part series. This first one was entitled "The Queen's Diamond" to be followed in the near future by "The Revenge of Milady."

Now playing at the Elmwood Theatre, Elmwood Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island.

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

Frank Rosen of Chicago drew a royal flush while playing seven-card stud at the Sahara Hotel Casino in Las Vegas, Nevada, last night, but he wasn't the only one.

A fellow player, Joe Esposito of Las Vegas, drew a royal flush in clubs.

Mathematicians and gamblers who study such things say the odds of being dealt a royal flush in a poker game are 649-thousand-765-to-one, but there are no figures on the odds of two players in the same game both drawing a royal flush.

Both probably wished they had been in it for higher stakes. It was a 10-cent-a-bet table, and there was only 28 dollars in the pot. The men split it.

STREAKING THE GOVERNOR

(Providence, Rhode Island). A male streaker carrying his clothes darted through the Rhode Island State House yesterday, and escaped in a waiting car before one of Governor Philip Noel's bodyguards could catch him. While State workers laughed and giggled, the unidentified man darted up 15 marble steps into the rotunda and gave a warhoop yell before dashing out a revolving door with the State policeman in pursuit. The bodyguard said the car drove off before he could get the license number.

PLAY BALL

Sex posed no barrier to recruiting Little League Baseball players this weekend in Morgantown, West Virginia.

Three leagues, 21 teams, drafted players, and at least 28 of them are female. And a spokesman adds, "There could be more girls than that, but we can't tell for sure about some of the names."

SENATE NEWS

by Paul J. Carroll

The Student Senate meeting of April 1 opened with comments from the Senate's President, Kevin McGarry. He discussed the status of the referendum and the proposed budget increase for the Senate.

Tim Banning presented his Treasurer's report stating that the Senate had $2,000 left in this year's budget. Ideas for spending the money were discussed, one of which was to have a mixer at the end of the school year at which no admission would be charged. Peter Lockatell suggested the money be spent to hire a good group for the Spring Weekend. Discussion followed. As of yet no final decision has been made on how to spend the money.

Rick Corrente requested that petitions which had been distributed to the Senators be signed as soon as possible. One petition was concerned with reinstating "Insurance" as a course. The other petition concerns establishing a wider selection of economics courses. The purpose of the petitions is to show support for the view that more economics courses are needed.

Mike Lynch presented a letter from the Rhode Island Council of Student Governments asking for support of a suit sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union for the change of the present marijuana laws in Rhode Island. The Council, realizing that the Senate cannot give of its budgeted funds to such a cause, requested that the Senate find some means of raising $1,000 to help defray the legal expenses of filing and arguing the suit. Mike suggested a solicitation of the students as a way of raising the money. Discussion followed and a motion was made that the Student Senate find the means to solicit funds to further the case of the American Civil Liberties Union in Rhode Island to change the marijuana laws of Rhode Island. The motion was seconded and passed by a vote of 11 to 5 with one abstention.

Dr. Burton Fischman, Professor of English at Bryant, presented a background of the Hillel Foundation, an organization devoted to providing religious activities to Jewish and other college students. A meeting of this organization is being planned for April 22, with representatives from area colleges meeting at Bryant to discuss possible future programs of the Hillel Foundation. Dr. Fischman asked the Senate for $100 to help pay for the expenses of this dinner/meeting. Lynda Pollen, Freshman Senator, motioned that the Senate give $100 to Dr. Fischman to help fund the meeting to be held at Bryant. The motion was seconded, discussed, and passed.

At the April 8 meeting of the Senate the first item on the agenda was discussion of funding of the National Model United Nations. Berj Kassabian, President of the International Students' Organization, requested $400 from the Senate to help fund the National Model United Nations, which sends students to the U.N. in New York where they act as representatives from a foreign country. The NMUN was funded for $1000 by the Academic Affairs Department; however, it was found that an extra $400 was needed to cover expenses. When efforts to obtain this money from the Academic Affairs Department and other administrative departments failed, the request was brought to the Senate. Dr. Sol Lebovitz, Advisor to the ISO, gave background information as to the purpose of the trip and what expenses were involved. Arnie Silva made a motion that the Senate accept the request by the ISO for the funding of the NMUN for $400. The motion was seconded, voted on, and defeated. Sheryl Chait, Senior Senator, asked the Ways and Means Committee to look into the matter and perhaps accept ISO's petition for a lesser amount.

Mike Hammer, Freshman Senator, presented a proposal for a resident advisory group. This group would be headed by a senator. Peter Barlow, Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs, explained that the group, consisting of two people from each dorm, would meet to present ideas and provide feedback to Student Affairs on policies and happenings in the dorms. Lisa Brown, Sophomore Senator, motioned to ratify the resident student advisory group. The motion was seconded and passed.

Paul Carroll, Junior Senator, motioned to follow the agenda to the letter for all future meetings. The motion was seconded and passed.

Richard Schiebelhuth, Senior Senator, informed the Senators that the Seniors at Bryant prefer a boat ride as an activity to celebrate their graduation. Rich will get figures regarding the number of seniors, cost of the boat ride, etc. Kevin McGarry informed the Senate that Carmen Jordan, Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs, was presently working on a semi-formal dance for the seniors. He suggested that the two groups get together to coordinate plans.

No meeting was held this week due to the absence of a quorum at the time the meeting was planned to be held.

Tringale Bids Adieu

My term as President of the Greek Letter Council ends today and I would like to take this opportunity to say a few words that are seldom spoken. I would like to express my gratitude to the entire Greek community for upholding a long-standing Greek pride at Bryant. This pride has made me proud to serve as G.L.C. President. There is no doubt in my mind that I have had a successful year. Probably one of the most intelligent and innovative changes we made was the switch to five weekends this year. Innovations such as the weekend change should always be under consideration because the entire Bryant Community is constantly changing.

To Donna Messoré, Ed Gouett and Dan Harrington, I give my thanks for their understanding, assistance, and most of all for tolerating me this past year. Without the efficiency of these three people, the G.L.C. would not have functioned as well as it did.

To the Presidents and Representatives of the past year, you can be proud of the innovations and liberal attitude that you injected the Greek system with. I thank you for your cooperation.

Part of my job was to deal with administrators and other student leaders. I would like to thank Student Affairs, Student Senate and the ARCHWAY for the educational experience received in dealing with them.

May I leave you with a few last thoughts: never forget that you are responsible to the entire Bryant Community and that whatever the G.L.C. decides affects everyone in the Community. Remember also that you must change with the times and the attitudes of the Community and the administrators. Be proud that you are a Greek and that results will come faster if there is cooperation in the G.L.C.

For 1974-----Good luck!

Robert J. Tringale

Phi-Ep

Phi Ep started its softball season off on Tuesday afternoon with a WIN. The first time Phi Ep was scheduled to play "Hue Did What" the game was postponed because of snow. On Tuesday, Phi Ep won by forfeit. This year's team has put in many hours of practice and is looking forward to a very good season.

Phi Ep has also been working on a community project for the Town of Smithfield. Our new advisor, Jack Currier, has arranged with the Town Council of Smithfield to have Phi Ep work on an old house owned by the Historical Society, to clear trees and clean up the grounds. By working on this house, it will bring Phi Epsilon Pi's name within the community.

Phi Epsilon Pi will also be holding a car wash, interior and exterior, on this Saturday, April 20, at 9 a.m. at the Apple Valley Exxon Station.

Sponsor Mr. Bryant And Carnival

On May 2, the Annual Mr. Bryant Weekend, sponsored by Tau Epsilon and Alpha Delta Omega, will be kicked off with the judging in the Auditorium at 8 p.m. The judging will consist of a situation, appearance and talent of male contestants from each of the fraternities on campus.

On Saturday afternoon, May 4, Tau Epsilon and Alpha Delta Omega, in conjunction with the Student Senate, are sponsoring the third Annual Carnival. The Carnival will take place in the area between the Unistructure and the Gym. It will consist of games of chance with many valuable prizes being awarded. There will also be hamburgers and hot dogs along with beer and soda. The Student Senate is sponsoring live bands throughout the day. All who attend will have a very enjoyable day of fun and games.

This weekend is also Parents' Weekend, so please feel free to bring your parents—all are welcome.

SIX Parents' Banquet

Every year the Sisters of Sigma Iota Xi hold their Annual Parents' Banquet. This year it will be held on May 5 at the Admiral Inn in Cumberland. All the girls' parents come up for the weekend to see for themselves what sorority life is like. The girls are on their best behavior; but needless to say, we all have an excellent time. After the dinner, the girls entertain their parents with skits and songs from pledging and then the mothers join their daughters in "The Joy Girls." It's a fantastic time for all and a very special occasion for SIX.

BSO Egg Hunt

On Monday, April 1, the Sisters of Beta Sigma Omicron had an Easter egg hunt at Meeting Street School. In preparation, the Sisters filled egg containers with assorted candy. Three groups of children participated in the egg hunt which was held on the grounds of Butler Hospital in Providence. One of the teachers, dressed in an Easter bunny costume, delighted the children as they searched for the eggs. Many of the children were confined to wheel chairs and walkers, and the Sisters guided them around.

Elections were also held that night. The new officers are: President, Edissa McHale; Vice President, Debbie Oliver; Treasurer, Joanne Cotoia; and Secretary, Charlene Wockin.

Phi Sigma Nu

Phi Sigma Nu is closing out another successful year. Having accepted 18 new brothers, only six are graduating. They are Bill Donaldson, Barry Mellor, Brian Lombardo, Dan Harrington, Mark Gohlich, and Larry Jonas. From the Seniors of Phi Sig to their younger brothers and fellow Greeks, we wish you the best of luck next year.

Phi Sig's new Executive Board consist of: President, Bob Wareham; Vice President, Malin Zergibel; Treasurer, George DeCotis; and Secretary, Howie Seigal.

SIX Basketball Champs

Girls' Intramural Basketball of Bryant proved to be a very interesting and exciting season. SIX came on strong and continued through the season with an undefeated record of 9-0. They met the independent team "Our Gang" with an 8-1 record in the playoffs. The first game ended with Our Gang winning with a score of 21-17. SIX rallied and came back to win the second game, 24-14. Finally, in the third game, SIX outdid themselves by sweeping Our Gang by a 20-8 victory. SIX was by far the best team in the league with their five starters: Joan "Hot Dog" Karpeles, Emily Marotta, Marianna Massed, Joyce Gallant, and Paula Rice. SIX also had an outstanding Coach, Billy Nieman, who devoted his time and energy to make SIX the No. 1 team.

TKE

Basketball Champs

TKE's Basketball Team has posted its second consecutive Fraternity League Basketball Championship. During the regular season TKE was undefeated in eleven contests. In the playoffs, TKE defeated TEP in two straight games to bring home another sports trophy. An all-around team effort, led by Norm Trahan and Greg Zienowicz, was TKE's formula for success this year. Outstanding seniors playing for TKE were James "Moose" Relihan and Bob "Ace" King. The Team and the Brothers would like to express their thanks to their coach, Charlie Armstrong.

Intramural Baseball is upon us again and TKE is readying its team to defend the championship won by TKE last year.

Communication In The Classroom

by Gaytha A. Langlois

A faculty Workshop on Classroom Communication was held at Bryant on Saturday, April 6. The workshop was sponsored by Women Educators of Bryant and was designed to provide a forum for exchange of problems and challenges associated with effective communication in learning situations. A keynote address was given by Dr. Joseph Erhart, a professor in the Department of Speech at the University of Rhode Island, whose research has focused on business communications. Dr. Erhart's remarks centered around Charles Reich's book, Greening of America, and the significance of the "consciousness" levels of the professor and students.

The first workshop session, on social interaction in the classroom, was opened by a panel discussion. Panelists included Dr. Harold Langlois from Worcester State College, who presented research findings regarding the intellectual and ethical development of students during their college experience; Mr. James Estey, from the Social Science Department at Bryant, described the medieval influence over classroom structure and spoke strongly for an "open" classroom to maximize communication. Mr. Estey also suggested the term "learnist," a specialist in learning, as a replacement for "teacher." The third panelist, Ms. Joan Marsella, also from the Social Science Department, examined social interaction patterns that act as constraints over effective communication. A lively discussion followed the panel's presentation, and concentrated particularly on the difficulties of achieving two-way communication in introductory courses.

The second workshop session featured a demonstration of several new audio-visual resources and a discussion of the role of computers in enhancing communication. The session was video-taped and the participants viewed the tape and discussed its effectiveness.

In addition to members of the Bryant Community, and the guest speakers, representatives from Brown University and Providence College also participated in the conference. A report of the entire workshop has been provided to all faculty members and participants and is available to anyone by contacting Dr. Gaytha A. Langlois in the Science Department. Tapes of the proceedings are also available.

Orientation Workshop To Be Held At Bryant

Sister Mary Curtis, Assistant Professor of Secretarial and Office Education at Bryant and Regional Coordinator of IOTA (Instrument for the Observation of Teaching Activities) plans an Orientation Workshop to be held on campus on Thursday, April 25, 1974, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

IOTA is an in-depth training program for teacher self-evaluation and for bringing administrators and faculty together in a common of its usage. Its main objective is the improvement of instruction. The program, which also stresses objectivity in teaching, exists in 23 states and it is expected that Bryant academic administrators and faculty will sponsor a workshop in the near future.

Dr. James O. Carpenter, Director of the National IOTA Council, Arizona State University, will be at Bryant to introduce and conduct the workshop in this area.

For further information and registration, please get in touch with Sister Mary Curtis here at Bryant at 231-1200, Extension 362.

Look Out!

(St. Louis)—Medical studies by a team led by sex researcher Dr. William Masters suggest that heavy use of marijuana may reduce the amount of sex hormones in young men and delay the onset or completion of puberty.

Research was performed at the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation, headed by Masters. The study was published in the New England JOURNAL OF MEDICINE. It was revealed yesterday in St. Louis.

Tests conducted by Masters and three associates showed that the levels of the male hormone testosterone in persons using marijuana heavily averages only 44 percent of the level in non-smokers of the same age. The study found that 35 percent of the heavy users tested had subnormal sperm counts. Testosterone levels returned to normal after a person stopped using marijuana for a week.

Masters said the findings also suggest that pregnant women using marijuana may impair the development of unborn male children. "The avoidance of marijuana use particularly during the first trimester of pregnancy appears judicious," the study said. UPI: 4/18/74

False Fire Alarm Laws

Section 11-44-21 of the Rhode Island General Laws states as follows: "Any person who willfully or knowingly gives or aids or abets in giving any false alarm of fire by any means shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment of not less than thirty (30) days or fined not less than $100."

Section 11-4-10 of the Rhode Island General Laws states: "Every person who unlawfully and without just cause willfully or knowingly tampers with, interferes with or in any way impairs any public fire alarm apparatus, wire or associated equipment shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 or shall be imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years or both."

Tampering is considered to be any unlawful person touching or using a fire alarm or fire extinguisher for their express purpose.

S. M. U. Trackmen Dominate Meet

by Lawrence B. Selvin

Bryant College's Track and Field team decided Assumption and Bentley while losing to powerhouse S.M.U. here. In their season opener on April 6, S.M.U. totaled an extraordinary 122 of a possible 194 points, far outdistancing the Indians' 36, the Assumption Greyhounds' 29, and the wingless Bentley Falcons' 7. This result paralleled last year's quadrangular meet.

The conditions were quite poor as the rain puddles made the track hazardous, thus increasing times for the racers.

In the field events, Bryant's Steve Woodruff, a freshman, took the Hammer throw in 127' 5-3/4" and Co-captain Blaise Ravalli captured the Shot Put on his final attempt by a margin of one foot. S.M.U. proved victorious in the Long Jump with the Corsairs' Bob Hummel leaping 20'8 1/2"; the javelin on Dave Schillinger's 179-foot joust and Marv Alpert's 122'4 1/2" loft in the discus. Craig Morton bested Assumption's Tom Hatten in the triple jump with a hop, step and jump of 40'7". The Greyhounds' Paul LeClerc vaulted 12'6" and won on less misses over Jim Gray of SMU. Hatten high jumped 6'2" for Assumption's only other conquest.

Bryant runners sparked in the performances of sophomore John Dross and freshman Bill Skinner. Dross, the Indians' best quarter-miler, was hampered by a pulled muscle; but he managed to cross the tape in the winning time of 54.4 seconds. Skinner's 2:02.2 in the half mile presented the cheering partisan crowd with something else to root about. Dave Stone placed third in the same field of runners. Ron Golding finished fourth in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles for Bryant.

SMU toppled all opponents in the following events; 100-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 440-yard intermediate hurdles, 220-yard event and the three-mile run. The Corsairs of North Dartmouth, Massachusetts, easily defeated Bryant for top honors in the mile relay in 3:38.7.

R. I. Table Tennis Tournaments Slated

by Lawrence B. Selvin

The yearly Rhode Island Closed Novice and Junior Championships are scheduled for Saturday, April 29 at the Table Tennis Club in Providence, 741 Westminster Street.

The Junior Division is open to those people who have not reached his or her 16th birthday before December 31, 1974.

The Novice division is open to players of all ages, except those individuals who presently compete in the Rhode Island Class "A" League.

To enter either or both events, a contestant should be in attendance at the Club by noon. The Men's Singles titles for both divisions is the only event running. Consolations will in all likelihood be played in the Novice and Junior Divisions. However, if the turnout is excessive and there is a great demand for team play, a doubles tournament will exist according to committee representative Steve Bepko. There are no formal entry blanks for any of the events. An inexpensive $2 fee is required for all participants.

The winners and runners-up in the Novice and Junior divisions along with the consolation finalists will receive trophies for their successful efforts.

On Sunday, April 21, the annual Rhode Island Closed Championships take place, also at the Club. Starting time is between 12 and 1 p.m. Three divisions of play for Class A, B, and C players comprise the competitive events. Ed Raky, five-time state singles champ, will defend his 1973 title. "New England" Raky is seeded second in this prestigious tournament. The top seed is 1972 State Singles Champion, Jack Devereaux. He surrendered the championship to Raky, after losing three straight games in last year's finale. Irving Levine is the third seed and "Doc" Lupien is seeded fourth.

INTRAMURAL PLAYOFFS

SIX

Girls' Playoffs

A team performance by Our Gang propelled them to an opening round play-off victory over SIB-A, 20-16. SIB-A's usual loud-mouth tactics were evident throughout the game, but the poor sportsmanship refused to bother Our Gang. Our Gang jumped to a six-point, 16-10, lead after three quarters. A tremendous effort by Linda Bartee earned SIB a tie at 16-16 with four minutes remaining in the game. Lori Gerace then hit a lay-up to put Our Gang in front for good. Linda Bartee had game high honors with 14 points while Lori Gerace led Our Gang with 6.

Galloway led Theta. The girls' final series proved to be exciting with SIX-A defeating Our Gang two games to one. Our Gang, behind the hot shooting of Grace Hodges, Donna Moen, and Lori Gerace, won the first game of the series with relatively close 21-17. But SIX-A evened the series the next night by trouncing Our Gang 24-16. Marianna Massed's tremendous individual performance proved to be the margin of victory. She was the game's high scorer with 11 points. Our Gang, which fell behind early, was led by Chris O'Brien's six points. The third game of the series proved to be all SIX-A. Joan Karpeles and Emily Marotta combined for 13 points and enabled SIX-A to win the championship 20-10. SIX-A could do nothing wrong and Our Gang could do nothing right.

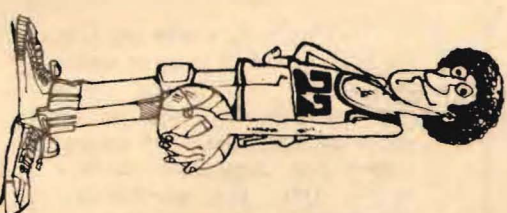

Joan Karpeles has seven points for the champions. Lori Gerace and Cheryl Abrams and four each for the runner-ups. From this writer's point of view it appears Joan Karpeles would have to be the M.V.P. of the girls' play-offs. She did more than keep SIX-A together.

Joan Karpeles' baskets. Theta, with the hot shooting of Laurie Galloway, closed the lead to 12-8 early in the third quarter. SIX-A proceeded to outscore Theta 8-2 with hustling Paula Rice leading the way. Marianna Massed and Joan Karpeles were the high scorers for SIX-A. Laurie

Men's Playoffs

The opening round of the men's independent play-offs resulted in two, one-sided games as Commuter 7 trounced the Garbagemen and Norman and the Green Peas destroyed Roll's Meat Market.

The Peas proceeded to beat Commuter in two straight games to win the independent championship. The team work displayed throughout the play-off by this team was fantastic. Bob Carson's 25 points led the Peas to an easy first-game victory. Commuter 7 could never amount to an offensive attack. Commuter 7, thanks to the shooting of Mark Plante, stayed close to the Peas early in the second game of the series; but Max Zaniewski exploded for 14 first-half points to give his team a 37-22 half-time lead. The teams scored 30 points apiece in the second half and Norman and the Green Peas proceeded to the final round of the play-offs with a convincing 67-52 victory. Max Zaniewski was high scorer with 26 points. Mark Plante led Commuter 7 with 23. The Commuter 7 dynasty had ended.

TKE and TEP proceeded to the fraternity division championship with close wins over their respective opponents, KT and Delta Sig. TKE erased an early deficit to win the first game. Norman Trahan was high scorer for TKE. The second game proved to be the best play-off game of the year. The lead exchanged hands numerous times. The hot shooting of Rolfe Schnur and the rebounding of Rich Pierson kept TKE close. With the score tied at 47 with less than one minute remaining, TKE decided to hold for the last shot. Ken Bowman hit the shot with two seconds to showing on the clock. TEP was unable to score and TKE won the fraternity division championship at a score of 49-47. TEP's Rolfe Schnur and TKE's Norm Trahan shared game high honors with 22 points each.

TKE ran into a tough opponent in Norman and the Green Peas for the Men's Division championship. Despite the absence of two starters, the Peas won the championship 63-51. The score is not as close as indicated. The Peas controlled the game from the outset. Max Zaniewski's 14, first-half points propelled the Peas to a 32-19 head at intermission. TKE was just completely outclassed despite a fine 21-point scoring performance from Norman Trahan. Zaniewski was the game's high scorer with 22 points. He, without question, was the M.V.P. of the play-offs.
