

Festival of Lights

"Shining as One"

The Bryant Community comes together as one in this holiday season.

At last night's 17th annual Festival of Lights, Walter B. Roettger commented, "Tonight is a time when we come together and set aside individual differences." He added, "Let us rejoice in the company of each other."

Roettger, executive vice president spoke on behalf of President William E. Trueheart who could not attend due to back problems.

The evening kicked off with a non-denominational service in the Rotunda and was then followed by the lighting of the tree. Clergy representing the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths led the service.

Father Douglas Spina led the celebration with an opening prayer as students, faculty, and the administration joined together in song and spirit in celebration of the holiday season.

The theme of the evening's celebration was "Shining as One." Roettger remarked, "When we light the candles together all we really lose is the darkness. Let us shine for one another and for those who live in our memories and in doing so we can shine as one."

Roettger concluded by encouraging everyone to remember the sense of community and to "celebrate diversity and rejoice in the company of each other."

Before lighting the Menorah, Rabbi Lawrence Silverman recounted the history of the Hanukkah. He explained, "The name 'festival of lights' has been appointed to the Jewish feast of Hanukkah for more than 2000 years."

The Rotunda became illuminated as the candle passed from person to person. Following the candle lighting ceremony, local guitarist Dave Binder provided music and led the singing throughout the celebration.

The holiday celebration held in the Rotunda was sponsored by the Student Alumni Association and the Office of Student Activities. This year's tree was donated by Elaine Goodwin.

Special Olympics Directors Named

Katrina Pfannkuch
Archway Staff Writer

The Northern Rhode Island Special Olympics is an annual event held at Bryant College. It calls on student interest and support to create a special day for mentally handicapped children. Bryant seniors Carla Fazzuoli and Thomas Decker have recently been named Games Director and Assistant Games director for the 1994 event.

Fazzuoli is a marketing major in charge of the entire games management team. In prior years she served as core director and chairperson, so she is not new to the experience. Her duties include choosing the other thirty members of the team, deciding what athletic events to include, and how to implement them into the event. Fazzuoli feels that the past Olympics have been successful, but hopes for more support for next year's.

"Our goal is to get not only the Bryant student body involved, but the teachers and Smithfield community too. It is an opportunity for the kids to enjoy the day and local people to interact on a more individual basis," commented Fazzuoli.

Decker, a Business Communications major, is embarking on his first year on any special Olympics committee. He is hoping to learn a little more, while at the same time combining his efforts with Fazzuoli's on the game committee. Decker plans to become more involved with sports and sports teams after college, so the Olympics will give him experience in trying to organize teams and manage them efficiently.

"I want to see the games run better than any other year," explained Decker. "The ability to have people work together from the community and the campus to make it a special day for the kids is a great accomplishment."

Both students had to apply and interview for their positions, and hope that their involvement with twelfth annual special Olympics will fulfill their goals. Fundraising is provided from other organizations including those that are student run. Further details will be available in April when the event actually takes place.

"I would like to see the games unite the Bryant campus as one on the kids' special day", added Fazzuoli.

ΦΚΣ Fundraiser Held for McCauley House in Providence

Sue Martone
Archway Staff Writer

The brothers of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity built and slept in cardboard boxes on campus Friday night, November 19. It began 6 p.m. Friday evening and continued until 6 a.m. Saturday morning.

The purpose of this third annual "Cardboard City" was to raise money for, and awareness of, the widespread problem of homelessness.

"Homelessness is not just an issue for major cities like New York, L.A., or Boston," said Christopher R. Hallisey, president of Phi Kappa Sigma at Bryant. "The money we raise will go directly to McCauley House in Providence, which serves men, women, and children who have no place to live right in our local area."

The brothers braved the rain and cold wind during these twelve hours with only the cardboard for minimal protection. They bundled up and tried to stay warm as the plight of the homeless came to life for them.

On other college campuses, Phi Kappa Sigma chapters are planning similar cardboard cities. This year, Bryant's chapter was recognized by the national Phi Kappa Sigma Convention for its innovation, efforts, and philanthropy on behalf of the homeless.

Phi Kappa Sigma's sacrifice will make this holiday season more enjoyable for many homeless in our community. Donations made by businesses and individuals were given to the McCauley House.

Reflections...

Thinking back to this time last year, we can both remember being excited and nervous about taking over our positions as editor-in-chief and managing editor. Despite the many days when we had too much to do in too little time, the endless meetings, and the loooong production nights, we can honestly say that if we had to, we would do it all over again.

This past year, we have dealt with problems ranging from a small staff to opposition from various individuals on campus. However, by dealing with these problems, we have grown individually and as an organization.

It has been an incredible feeling knowing that we could work so well together and be so productive.

Along with several other faculty, we would especially like to thank Dr. Mary Lyons for all her advice, help, and support over the years. We'd also like to thank our Archway alumni for helping us time and time again with production, articles, and ideas. It's great to know that you are still there for us.

Well, this almost brings us to the close of our final editorial. We hope that the editorials over the year have encouraged you to think about the various issues we've addressed.

We are happy to announce that Julia M. Arouchon will be taking up the editorial pen and will continue to address the many issues and concerns that many Bryant students face on a daily basis. Angelo L. Corradino will assume the position of managing editor. We have all the confidence in world that the two of them will do a great job.

Good luck on finals everyone and have a very happy and safe holiday season!

Country Comfort Closed For Remainder Of The Semester

To the Bryant College Community:

On Wednesday, December 1 the liquor license for the Country Comfort expired. Since November 1, BRYCOL management has completed the necessary paperwork and paid the proper fees to renew this vital license. However, on December 1 while visiting the Smithfield Town Hall to obtain the license, BRYCOL management was then notified for the first time that the Comfort needed to pass inspection by the Rhode Island Department of Health.

Therefore, the Country Comfort has been closed for business since that day. A health inspection was completed on December 8 and BRYCOL was then informed that in order to be in accordance with Rhode Island law, and thus be opened for business, the Comfort must relocate a sink into the kitchen area.

It is due to this that the Country Comfort will not be open until the Spring Semester. We apologize for any inconveniences this may have caused to the community.

Sincerely,

James A. Zahansky

Chairman of the Board of Directors

When Flying The Friendly Skies, Don't Use Continental

To the Bryant College Community:

I recently flew home over the Thanksgiving break with Continental. It was a big mistake. I had no idea what I was in for. As far as I am concerned, Continental is the worst airline. And I'm determined to keep all students from going through what I did. Below is a portion of the letter that I sent to their Customer Relations office and the Better Business Bureau. Before you read that, let me warn you that all airlines have student discounts. So don't let the airlines convince you that they are better than another just because they have them. Use them because they can save you a lot of money. So here it goes:

First of all, whenever I came into contact with an airline employee, I was treated as if I was just a problem. I was even made to feel that because I am a student my business didn't matter. I think Continental has a bad attitude. Considering some students travel frequently during the year, I don't think any airline should discourage my or any other student's business. When we graduate and go out into the business world, whose airline do you want us to remember?

Secondly, on my flight returning home we sat for 30 minutes in the terminal before we left for the runway. No apologies or explanations were given to us. I also would like to know why we flew under such terrible weather conditions. Flights before mine and flights afterward were all canceled. How come flight #3602 wasn't? The flight was very rough and turbulent. That won't discourage me from flying again. However, because Continental didn't show any concern for their passengers by canceling the flight, I'm not so sure if I'll be flying with Continental. I'd rather pay a higher price to another airline who is concerned about the safety of its passengers.

Lastly, my luggage was lost. In fact, it appears as if everyone who traveled on the flight lost their baggage. At baggage claim only six bags came of our flight.

How odd is it that those bags belonged to the flight crew? Upon talking to others they felt that was pretty convenient for the employees. Doesn't it look a little suspicious when a plane carrying twenty to thirty passengers only has a few suitcases? How could a professional airline do this? Upon filing a claim, I was promised I'd have my suitcases by 5pm that night. On Wednesday, I still didn't have them. I called your baggage department, repeatedly. I always got an answering machine and had to wait till your representatives felt like calling me back. When they did I was told that an effort was made to deliver my luggage on Monday. I was home all Monday, no one came by. I tried to explain this to your agent, but she would not listen. Apparently your policy is as long as you feel you made an attempt to deliver the luggage, you shouldn't have to try anymore. It's your employee's word against mine. Still, Continental lost my luggage. It should be Continental's responsibility to return it. There is no reason why I should have had to pick it up myself. This was it for me. I had had enough of your airline.

Finally, I'm not sure how Continental feels about all this. To me it appears as if no one cares. Myself, I am highly upset and irritated with your airline. It wasn't just one incident. It was a series of events, from the moment I left Providence to the time I returned.

Maybe Continental doesn't realize the buying power students have. If that is the case, Continental will be left out in the cold. Right now, students are in the stage of their life where they are deciding which companies and brands they will be loyal to. Many businesses are picking up on this.... Continental needs to wake up because I am not the only one who feels this way. Students are the future. And if companies like yours don't realize this, don't expect to be around too much longer.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Barile

Yes, Virginia, There is a Santa Claus

Dear Editor - I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.

Papa says, "If you see it in The Sun, it's so."

Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia O'Hanlon
115 West 95th St.

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except [what] they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God he lives and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay 10 times 10 thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Editor's Note: This letter and response are the full text of what is considered the most widely read letter to a newspaper. It was written by 8-year old Virginia O'Hanlon, who lived with her parents on 95th Street in New York City, New York. The New York Sun published the letter on September 21, 1897 along with a reply by Sun editorial writer Francis Pharcellus Church.

The Wonderful Gift of Christmas

The beautiful season of Christmas is upon us, as we prepare for the birthday of our Savior. Jesus is God's gift to the world. What is our gift to God? Let our faith, hope, and love, our very lives be the gift we lay before our Infant King.

A truly wonderful poem entitled, "A Christmas Present," and written by

Chaplain's Corner

by Father Doug Spina
Catholic Chaplain

A Christmas Present

On this day that was my birth,
I walked again upon the earth.
My heart is heavy, tears fill my eyes,
The people I love I can't recognize.
So much hatred, so much pain,
They only care for what they'll gain.
The children of God I do not see,
Unborn babies cry to me.

Elderly people sit and stare, left in a home, no one to care.
Wars and battles scare my land,
Peace is something you can't understand.
Cold and sadness line the street,
So many people with nothing to eat.
Down every alley, road, and lane,
Drug dealers are now pushing pain.

The gifts of nature that I sent,
Lie crushed and broken, each one spent.

Bonds of brotherhood I labored to create,
Yet you cannot love ... you annihilate.
Through every synagogue, temple, and church,
I've wandered forsaken, but still I search.
My soul with torment it abounds,
One compassionate friend I have not found.
I've grown so weary along the way,
So much sorrow this Christmas Day.
A broken man I start to leave,
When a tiny child tugs at my sleeve.
"Please, sir" this little one said,
"You look as though you should be fed."
"We do not have much, but we'll share,"
Said the little one standing there.

Into their home they welcomed me,
This poor but loving family.
With peaceful heart I took my rest,
And I realized with their request.
Just like before, thought it's been a long while,
The hope of the earth comes from a child.

Joanne M. Schondek speaks to the heart of the Christmas Message. I would like to share her poem with you.

On behalf of all the members of our Catholic Campus Ministry Family I wish you and your loved ones a Blessed Christmas and a New Year filled with love!

Easing the Stress of Studying

Here are some suggestions on how to make your studying more efficient and your workload more manageable.

Health Services

by Jayna Fontaine
Student Intern

Choose a quiet place to study. Studying demands all of your attention. Choose a study place that's as free as possible of noise and other distractions such as friends, music, telephones, etc. The library is often the best place to study.

Learn to manage your time. Make and follow a daily schedule that includes time for classes, reading and writing assignments, exam preparation, meals, exercise, a job, social activities, etc. As a general rule, plan to spend 2 hours studying for each hour you spend in class (this doesn't mean that if you skip class you don't need to study).

Take breaks

After each hour of studying, your mind and body are ready for a short break. Loosen tense muscles by getting up, stretching and walking around. (A break can also serve as a small "reward" for finishing a particular part of your work.)

Don't give in to peer pressure

As tempting as those midweek get-togethers may be, if you planned to study, you should study. You will thank yourself later when you receive your grades.

Don't rely on cramming

More often than not, this desperate, disorganized method of studying increases anxiety and causes confusion.

Stimulants

Vivarin, Jolt, and strong coffee are contributors to stress. They may keep you awake for a short time, but they will wreak havoc in the long run. Compare it to a sugar high after eating a candy bar!

First of all, I'm sorry I forgot to write the news last week. Doesn't it stink that teachers make everything due on the last week of school?! I hope everyone isn't waiting until the last moment to do things. Good luck to everyone in their final exams.

A very late congratulations goes to our wonderful new sisters, Wyz and W.K.A. You gals are great and we're glad you stuck with it.

Our Silver & Bordeaux was a success. Thanks to everyone who attended and helped out.

Friday night was eventful when we had a visit from the Phi Kaps from U-Lowell. Sparx and Swist were especially psyched to see them. Then on Saturday, some sisters followed the guys back to U-Lowell.

I'm happy to say this is my last Greek News of this year. Have a safe and happy holiday.

Amnesty International

by Toby Stapleton

Thanks for a good semester, and good luck on finals.

This Sunday the 12th, from 1 to 5 there will be an Amnesty Write-A-Thon sponsored by Providence's group #49. It's not only for a good cause but they will be holding raffles and prizes will be offered. Refreshments will also be served. For rides contact Dr. Camp @ 232-6246 or drop by at 1 p.m. for information.

Only when we all work together can we stop human rights abuses. Only when governments feel the heat from organizations such as Amnesty will they stop political repression, torture, and abuse.

The Archway

by Lisa M. Lucchesi

Well, here it is, the last issue of the semester. Once again, it is time to change positions of the editorial board.

As the outgoing editor-in-chief, I am pleased to announce the promotions of four very talented people. Julia M. Arouchon, the new editor-in-chief; Angelo L. Corradino, managing editor; Sue Martone, news editor; and David Mattingly, photography editor.

Julia is a junior, communications major from Nashua, NH. She joined the staff as a writer during her freshman year. During her sophomore year, she was promoted to features editor. Julia was once again promoted to news editor during her junior year. Julia has been extremely dedicated and dependable over the years and will no doubt be an excellent editor!

Angelo is a junior, accounting major from Thornwood, NY. He joined the staff as a sports writer during his freshman year and was soon promoted to sports editor. During his sophomore year he was promoted to production manager, but still continued to write various sports articles. Angelo has been very reliable and is an extremely hard worker. He will continue the excellent job he has started.

Sue is a sophomore, marketing major from Shelton, CT. She joined the staff in September 1993 and because of her hard work and exceptional writing abilities was recently promoted to news editor.

Dave, a sophomore, management major from Providence, RI was quickly promoted to photography editor. Time and time again, he has exemplified his creativity and professionalism.

Congratulations and lots of luck to all of you! It's a hard job, but you all definitely have what it takes to do it.

I am so proud of all the accomplishments the entire staff has made. Together we have conquered the toughest battles!

I will miss you all. Good luck and keep up the great work!

Beta Sigma Chi

by Bill Bailey

I'd like to start off by saying that we won our first hockey game of the year Monday night. Dingo Casey recorded his first shutout of the season and stopped all 45 shots in our 3-0 win over TKE. An early goal by Dobber Nemchinov, who was assisted by Finch Federov, helped set the early pace. Excellent performances were also turned in by Clam, Burgis, Duck, Brooks, Imus, Treat, Syd, and Hutch.

Our annual Christmas Formal was held on Saturday night. It went very well and all the guests were happy. We would like to thank Sledge for the delicious turkey and we would also like to thank Clam for the wonderful refreshments he managed to find. Later that night, Brooks was awarded the turkey leg for his great heroics.

This week: We have a basketball court in our suite and there are many trick shots to learn. Brooks and Imus have a wall that talks very provocatively in a girls voice, Hutch and Rosko found a new use for the turkey plate, Munk just can't see anything, Rosko has played twelve games in nine days, Dobber and Otis have some bad battle wounds, Burgis is still undefeated in his grandfathers old shirt, someone from across the hall took Syd's Polo shirt and we want it back now.

Happy Hanukkah to Finch and Lewie, and congratulations to Mack who will have his hands full second semester.

by Kathy Krason

Hi everyone! Can you believe the semester is almost over, it flew by didn't it? Hope everyone is not stressing. BRYCOL would first like to announce the positions of assistant treasurer and general manager of Tupper's are available. If interested, please call the BRYCOL House at 231-1220 or stop by between 3 pm and 5 pm. Secondly, BRYCOL would like to say CONGRATULATIONS to Julie, Jen, Jean, Peter and Darren for making it through their thirty day trial period. Keep the good work and be prepared for Friday!

Tupper's pizza of the Month is a vegetable pizza for $5.95 (plus tax) so come on buy and try this new pie! You can only have so much cereal and bagels for dinner. Tupper's also has breadsticks. So if you want a small snack give them a try, they are GOOD.

The Country Comfort on Thursday as all you Seniors know is SENIOR NIGHT! Stop by for a good time and to buy a Comfort shirt. Only one more semester left, so make the party last! When you are hungry and all you want to do is eat, call the Comfort to satisfy that need. Have a good week everyone and see you at the Comfort!

College Republicans

by Paul V. Liss

Hello everyone! I hope that your week has gone well despite all the pre-finals work. This has been a good week for politics in Washington. The Brady Bill was passed and many republicans on Capitol Hill are not too happy about it. This bill is a step in the right direction though, if America wants to decrease the crime rate. The NRA had a strong lobby that was against the bill, but I believe that the Brady Bill is in everyone's best interest, no matter what party you belong too.

The semester is coming to an end and the Bryant College Republicans would like to thank everyone for their support. Our organization is larger than ever and is still growing. If you happen to miss our exciting programs this semester, don't worry about it because there are plenty of activities on tap for the spring. We would like to wish everyone good luck on finals and a safe, relaxing holiday. See you in the spring!

Delta Chi

by Frank L. Milazzo

Greetings and salutations Bryant students. As the new Chapter Relations Chairman, I hope to inform you on the happenings of the fraternity and not completely bore you in the process. I won't be as politically correct as the last chairman, but I'll do my best to entertain you.

Delta Chi held their annual Fall semi-formal on last Friday evening. Everyone in attendance had a great time and a special thanks goes out to Kuperman and Beak for the great job they did in preparation for the event. I would also like to personally thank Diego for his interpretation of the famous "Latin Chair Dance."

Congratulations are in order for all the new committee heads and for the new E-Board members: Kevin Looks like a Vivarin night.

It's 10 PM. You've crammed for finals all week. Took two today. And now you've got to pack an entire semester's worth of Philosophy into one take-home exam, in one night.

But how do you stay awake when you're totally wiped? Revive with Vivarin. Safe as coffee, Vivarin helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours.

So when you have pen in hand, but sleep on the brain, make it a Vivarin night!

McCassey, Gregory Zak, Jon Garbarino, Joseph Geremia, Jim Bray, and Diego Garcia. Boys, the fun is just starting.

Delta Chi will be trying to raise money again this week for Shriner's Hospital. We were successful with our fund-raiser last week, but we are still short of our goal. So this Friday, if you are in the Bryant Center during the afternoon, any support would be greatly appreciated.

Is everyone out there ready for finals? Aren't you just looking forward to pulling an all-nighter with a box of Vivarin and a two liter bottle of Jolt cola? Good luck to everyone during these final semester weeks. I know I'm going to need all the luck I can get.

Finally, on the behalf of the all the brothers, I would like to wish Iggy the best of luck in the future. Break-dancing and Rolling Rocks will never be the same.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS EVERYONE AND BEST OF LUCK NEXT SEMESTER!!

Karate Club

by Eric Zine & Chris Bilotti

After much time and deliberation, we have come to the conclusion that rather than writing about meaningless activities such as the Thanksgiving stretch, we will discuss issues that are relevant and will keep the readers awake. First of all, a special congratulations goes out to our three new black-belts: Sensei Julie Paul, Sensei Michael Richard, and Sensei Neal Beliveau, who all did an exceptional job on Saturday's challenging test. Now that the rest of us can see that getting a black-belt can become a reality with a lot of time, hard work, and dedication, a more involved intermediate class is expected.

There will be a gathering at Wright's Farm Friday evening and we will be meeting at 5:00 PM in front of the MAC. This will be the last formal engagement for the semester and all are encouraged to attend. See Vice-President Bonny Miller for more details in class. During the final exam week there will be informal classes held at the regularly scheduled times which will also serve as a good stress reliever. Also, there will be winter session karate classes held from Jan. 3-Jan 20 Monday through Thursday 6:30-8:00 PM in the MAC.

We are very appreciative of the time and expertise that Sensei Doherty, Sensei Mastroianni, and especially Sifu Renaud have passed on to us all semester. Hopefully next semester will offer the same. Also, thanks goes to the other black belts that have participated in the parent's weekend demo and this semester's tests, and we hope to see more of you in the future. Good luck to Tracey R. and Anthony M. during the spring semester overseas and to Darwin Molina in his future endeavors. Lastly, a safe and Merry Christmas to all and don't fatten up.

P.S. DON'T DRINK AND FIGHT!!! Designate a fighter or unleash the secret weapon.

Phi Kappa Sigma

by Dan Bliss

Well, it's me again. Yeah, I know, it has been a while. Sue me. I am here to announce the fact that we gave out 19 bids this weekend. I would like to take this time to thank these boys for the entertainment over the weekend and that we are looking forward to a great time next semester. And here are the lucky winners are Dante, Christian, Jeremy, Mike, Jay, Jake, Chris, Allen, Matt, Bob, Aaron, Ed, Steve, Steve, Ryan, Marc, Craig, Shane, and last but not least, Gabbo.

Since this is the last article until next semester, I hope everyone has a great winter break and have a Merry New Year and Happy Christmas. And who knows, this may be the last article ever if my plans follow through as to setting up a cot at Parente's. Hey, don't laugh. It will keep me off the roads. Anyway, good luck on finals. Cheerio!

Phi Sigma Sigma

by Lisa Bacon

Hi! I hope everyone had a great weekend. Friday was our X-Mas dance. Marge- you did a great job getting everything together. This was another interesting formal, ask anyone who attended. The sisters would like to thank TEP and SigEp for their X-Mas formals. Even the one's who were invited last minute. One important thing I forgot to mention last week, is one our new sisters, Kristin. You did a great job, and I'm sorry.

This week is very busy for sisters. Good luck to everyone with finals next week. This is the last Greek News for the semester. It's been great. So until next semester, see ya later BYE!!

S.A.M.

by Jennifer Baranowski

Hi everyone! First of all, I would like to thank everyone who showed up for elections and the pizza party. I'd like to congratulate Lisa, our new Vice President. This was our last meeting for the semester, but we already have some interesting meetings lined up for next semester. If you have any suggestions you can contact any of the S.A.M. Board members. Good luck on finals and I hope everyone has a good break!

SPB

by Stacey Parron

Hello for the last time this semester! Some congratulations are in order for SPB. First to the four people and the alternate who are going to NACA National - Steph, Ben, Todd, Michelle, and Jill. Next, we have Chairperson of the Month - Joe Fredricksen. Voting Member of the Month is Ben Jordan. We also have a new Voting Member - Fred Bedoya. Congrats to all and thanks for all your hard work!

The last event before finals is a Cartoon Brunch. From 10:00 to 11:30 Aladdin will be shown. Then from 11:30 to 12:30 you will get to see Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer. 12:30 to 1:30 will bring The Grinch that Stole Christmas. The grand finale, Santa Claus is Comin' to Town, is from 1:30 to 2:30.

The calendars are out. Please note the SPB newsletter on the reverse side. We regret that there was not a newsletter last month, but there were some technical difficulties.

SPB would like to thank all the Chairpeople, Voting Members, and Non-Voting Members for all their hard work this semester. We would also like to thank those who come to our events. Good luck on finals and have a Happy Holiday. Have a great break (get lots of rest so you can attend our events next semester!) and I'll see you next year - same time & same place.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

by Urooj Burney

So I missed last week, big deal! Congratulations to the new brothers, great job guys. Doesn't it feel great to be a balcony bum? Thanks to everyone who was at our social gathering last Saturday night, we do hope to see you again. Thanks also to all those who attended our formal, the brothers had a good time.

Not much else is new, the week after Thanksgiving was pretty dry for most of us except a few. "We've turned Bernie into a bad boy!" (Tattoo). Hockey has been a disappointment this year, a few key guys couldn't play and Alex got injured, yeah we'll blame it on that. We also got shutout in our last game, but rolling over the competition was Bernie, yes I, with a score of 43-16. Go Baby!

Zeus got blood on him and didn't like it, Mike couldn't remember names and brother "Hogger" did a number on the dance floor. Hey, I've got pictures. Looking forward to finals? Thought so. Kermit, how's Miss Piggy? Spanky, if you can't hold it, don't do it. Thanks to Prancer from Zeus for the TKE taxi, "Next time get a bigger car so I can fit all my luggage!" Well there it is, quotes of the week, "Yes....No!", and from our illustrious alumnus, C. Granger, "Only in America baby!" See ya, GO TKE!

Student Alumni Association

by Jackie Shaldjian

Hi, everyone! Hope you are all having a great week. Just think 2 more days of classes. Unfortunately, we still have to take finals.

SAA has had a very productive semester. We were happy to see so many of our members involved with the events. The Festival of Lights took place last night. It was a big success thanks to Anthony and his committee. Survival Kits went very well this semester thanks to Amy and the help of her committee. They will be distributed December 13-15 between 10:30 and 4:00 at the Alumni House. Don't forget to pick them!!!

The Toy Drive still needs your help. If you have any toys you would like to donate, please put them in any of the SAA boxes around campus by December 10, 1993. Toys will go to the Nickerson House. So far, it is going quite well thanks to Jason and Melissa. Also, Denise and her committee is working hard to get great prizes for this year's Sweetheart Raffle. Watch for further details regarding the sale of tickets for the raffle.

Last week, we went out to dinner. We all had a really great time at Ron's. We were happy to see such a good turnout.

Well, it's time to say good bye. But before we go...

SAA WOULD LIKE TO WISH YOU ALL GOOD LUCK ON YOUR FINALS!!!

P.S. - Annie, this one's for you!!!

WJMF

by Chris Hinckley

Hey, what's up Bryant College? We haven't had a write up in a few weeks, so we have a lot to say, but we won't.

First off, we would like to congratulate our DJ of the Month for November - Sonny Aziz and for December - Hoang Nguyen! Congratulations guys, you deserve it. Keep up the great work Hoang, and we are all going to miss Sonny who is on his way back to King's College in London. The airwaves in the U.S. will miss you and the Chunky Monkey show.

Make sure you watch out for some events 'JMF will be sponsoring next semester to celebrate its 21st birthday, including a couple of Comfort Nites with one of the biggest local bands around! More news to come in the future.

Make sure you tune in on Tuesday night December 14 for the WJMF Top 25 of the Semester. If you are interested in becoming a DJ, stop by the station sometime and sign up for a time to get trained. Well, good luck on finals and remember, "If Music Did Not Exist, Life Would Be a Mistake" - Nietzsche.

Women's Basketball Continues to Roll

Angelo L. Corradino
Archway Sports Writer

The women's basketball team won two games and dropped one last week to bring their record for the season to 4-2.

In their final game of the semester, the lady Indians came away with an impressive 82-54 win over Sacred Heart last night. Bryant was able to chip away at the lead throughout the first half and take a 33-31 lead in to the locker room at the half.

In the second half, Beth Connealy and Heather Lopes quickly found themselves on the bench with foul trouble. The backups, Stephanie Meyer and Jen Cloos then stepped in and helped Bryant to a 82-54 win. Mary Beth Feeney also picked up her play to help lead the team on the floor.

High scorers for the lady Indians were, Liz Davies with 25 points; Cloos with 14; Feeney with 11; and Meyer with 11. Davies also grabbed 18 rebounds.

On Monday, the team traveled to Keene State in New Hampshire and came up losing by a score of 70-75. The teams were able to stay even throughout the first half and took a 38-38 tie into the locker room.

In the second half, Keene State was able to outplay and outscore Bryant for the win. Davies and Lopes led the scoring for the lady Indians with 18 points each. Davies also swiped 10 boards. Feeney hit four from down town and had six assists.

In the game against St. Anselm's on Saturday, the team came away with their first conference win of the game.

Bryant was able to grab an early first half lead, and never looked back. In the second half, Bryant continued to control the tempo of the game and came away with a 64-57 win.

High scorers in the game were, once again Davies and Lopes with 14; Kristin Regan with 12; and Connealy with 10. Davies and Regan also teamed up for 26 rebounds (13 each).

The team is continuing to get big play from their seasoned veterans. Davies leads the team with 17.6 points per game, and Lopes is right behind her with 13.4. Davies also leads with 11.8 rebounds a game.

Freshman Feeney has also been

Steph Meyer (40) drives the lane for a lay-up in the Sacred Heart game last night providing some big help in the back court for the lady Indians. She is 12 for 25 from beyond the three point line and is averaging more than six assists a game.

The team played well their last game of the semester yesterday. They will be off until December 28 when they will travel to Albany, New York for the St. Rose Tournament.

Patriots, continued from page 12

Patriots sweatshirt and hang it from the flagpole. As I left his office, I heard him muttering something about a fourteen point spread.

The abuse continues today. As I walk down the halls of Bryant College, wearing my Patriots number eleven jersey, I'm greeted with merciless jeers.

"Hey, when is Bledsoe gonna show up?"

"I hope (running back Leonard) Russell doesn't die of fumbleitis."

"Tell Scott Sisson he's supposed to kick the ball between the goal posts."

"See ya in St. Louis."

Those are the mild ones, and just about the only ones printable in a family newspaper.

When I must ask, did supporting the home team become outrageous? With the Celtics looking at the worst season in franchise history ahead of them and the Red Sox being perennial losers (can anyone alive remember their last World Series title, besides my 101 year-old great-grandmother?), the Patriots—who have lost the last six games by a total of 20 points—are the only thing New England fans can look to for excitement.

What have I done to deserve the hardships and heartaches all these years? Maybe it's the Curse of the Bambino. No, that's what's made the Sox losers all these years.

I can't even convince my own father, who introduced me to football, and loaned me the '86 Lincoln, to hang in there.

In 1979, when I was seven, he took me to my first game, a cold Sunday afternoon in the almost-new Foxboro Stadium, to watch the Patriots demolish the Buffalo Bills.

Now he spends his Sundays, perched in front of the tube, waiting for updates on the New York Giants. My girlfriend is also among the unconvinced. She's been not so subtly suggesting I might be happier if I became a Cowboys fan "like everybody else."

As of November 30, 1993, with the announcement of Jacksonville, Florida being awarded an NFL franchise, Patriots fans now have to live with the real fear that the team could be on their way to St. Louis. A certain amount of the charm will die if they move away from home.

Until that happens, it's important to focus on the present. I know the team needs to make improvements and changes for them to make any talk of long-term success feasible.

I still haven't given up hope that this team can return to the Super Bowl. If only they could manage to win these last four games.

World Cup Soccer: The World's Super Bowl

Being a sports writer, I usually don't criticize comments made by fellow writers in their columns. I will admit, sometimes I make comments which are a bit off the wall, but never as off the wall as one particular comment.

The comment which was way off base appeared in the article, "Will the U.S. Get Out of World Cup Soccer?" written by Jim Donaldson in the November 21 issue of The Providence Sunday Journal. This was one of his weekly sports columns where he expresses his feelings about goings on in the sports world. This week it was about the World Cup, soccer's premier event. "Nil-nil-nil. That's how much interest I have in soccer's premier event - the World Cup," Donaldson exclaims.

Well, I can see where he might have no interest in a sport which is constantly moving and takes tremendous athletic talent to play. After all, he could be a professional badminton player.

He goes on to talk further about this travesty of justice - the World Cup coming to the United States. What match will interest the United States in the upcoming tournament according to Donaldson.

"How about Nigeria against Bolivia? Maybe Bulgaria versus Romania - a.k.a. The Tussle In Transylvania? Unless there's a guy named Dracula playing, who cares?"

On Deck

Angelo L. Corradino
Archway Sports Writer

What is The Tussle in Transylvania? Is it a railroad car? No maybe it is a mountain. Anyway, the people who will care about these games are soccer fans. If they are a true fan, they don't really care who is playing. Much like a American football fan.

Then he really got down and dirty. "Perhaps Belgium versus the Netherlands in the Battle of the Lowlands? Or Morocco versus Columbia in the Battle of the Lowlifes? I can't wait to see the results of the drug tests after that one."

This started a huge controversy throughout Rhode Island, petitions were being signed all over to have him removed from the staff at the Providence Journal-Bulletin. I fully agree with these people.

Sports writers just like any other professional, and in this case I use the term loosely, are held up to certain ethics. This time Mr. Donaldson, you have gone too far.

I also can not see how an experienced editor could allow this story to be printed.

Even if they were lowlife drug dealers, which they are not, the United States will have a hard time winning a game against them. These men are professional athletes, making more money than any professional athlete in the United States.

A world cup soccer player can care less about drugs. They have been preparing for this event their entire life, they are not going to let drugs mess up their dream.

The column goes on to talk further about the World Cup and the players involved, but I will not continue to bash Mr. Donaldson. He has to realize World Cup Soccer is a different sport than any sport we know in the States.

When it comes down to game time, it is time to stop the politics and play soccer. Soccer is a great game, it is one of the few games in sports where there is constant action. The game is divided into two 45 minute halves, and the only time the clock stops is if a goal is scored or the referee feels the action should be stopped. Which, by the way, is very rare.

When you go to a soccer game you know you will be there for 90 minutes. With any other sport who knows?

I do commend the Providence Journal for their response, in the Sunday, December 5 edition. They did print two apologies - one from Donaldson and another from James V. Wyman, the Vice President and Executive Editor. Their response was justified no doubt, but the story never should have been run in the first place.

Great Week for Men's Basketball

Pam Barry
Archway Sports Writer

The men's basketball team played some great games this week increasing their record to 3-2 overall.

The first game this past week was a heart-breaking 101-98 loss against New Hampshire College in Bryant's first home game of the season. The Indians held the lead for the entire game, but unfortunately came up short in the end.

At the half, Bryant lead 54-47 over New Hampshire, but a neck and neck second half found Bryant down by 3 points at the buzzer.

Dave Burrows was the high scorer for Bryant with 24 points. Burrows is averaging 21.3 points a game. Scott Dion, Kevin O'Brien, and Jerome Grier also had great games for Bryant.

On Saturday, the men ventured to St. Anselm for an excellent win of 94-82 against a strong conference opponent.

O'Brien was the high scorer with 24 points, followed by Colin Lawson with 17 points, Chris Berntsen with 16 points and Burrows with 12 points. Both Berntsen and O'Brien played excellent games for Bryant, pushing them to victory.

On Monday night, Bryant was again victorious over Keene State 74-61.

Burrows had another great game scoring 24 points, 10 rebounds, and 5 assists. Burrows is now only 38 points away from the 1,000 career point club. With a game on Saturday at Southern Connecticut, Burrows hopes to become one game closer to 1,000 points.

After Saturday, the team will be off until December 28 when they will travel to

Suaviso's 300 Leads Bryant to National High

by John Holmes
Bowling Coach

This past weekend, the Bryant Bowling Team competed in the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference Finals at Syosset Bowl in Syosset, NY. This was the last of five conference matches held this year. In the Metro Division, Bryant was trailing three teams by 19 points. On the first day of competition Bryant's record was 33-7 which put them in 3rd; only 4 points from first with 32 possible points left. The team averaged over 200 for the entire day which kept them in contention.

Some highlights from the Classic Division were games of 276 by David Lacoff, 267 by David Nagelhout, and 268 by freshman Vinny Sheehan who also had a three game series of 701.

Because of sleeping in his car, senior Matt Sadosky also had a high game of 236. On Sunday, Bill Beck joined the rest of the team with a three game series of 703 with a high game of 246.

The excitement began on Sunday in the Metro Conference. Bryant took 21 of the remaining 32 points to surpass William Paterson College to win the Metro Division Championship. Bryant had been in the same situation last year when they lost the championship in the final game. This year the team would not let history repeat itself.

In the final game, Bryant bowled against a very confident Sacred Heart team. Down by one point, Bryant had to win the match to bring home the championship. Bryant was in the zone, they couldn't miss. The team shot a national high 1308 to Sacred Heart's 1100. This five man team score is a new conference record and the second highest ever thrown in the nation. The individual scores for this game were 242 by senior Bob "O" Perinka, sophomores Steve Fiore (241), Jon Hester (246), Scott Beverly (279), and an incredible perfect 300 by sophomore David Suaviso. The 300 could not have come at a more opportune time. It was the icing on the cake. For the weekend, Suaviso averaged 223.5 for nine games. It was his first perfect game and only the second in Bryant history.

An awards ceremony followed the competition in which Bryant racked up the trophies. Lacoff and Nagelhout were voted second team all conference in the Classic Division and Sheehan was named Rookie of the Year. In the Metro Division, freshman Louis Maynard and Beverly were voted all conference second team and Perinka, Suaviso and Hester received first team all conference honors. Suaviso earned more honors by receiving high average (202), high series (757), and high game (300) for the Metro Division.

The next stop for the team will be Atlantic City and the Brunswick Classic in Turnersville, NJ over Christmas break.

The Metro division team is proud of their accomplishments and would like to dedicate this first place win to the graduating seniors - David "Hoot" Nagelhout, Bob "The O" Perinka, and Matt "Chewy" Sadosky.

Woe is Me: A Patriots Fan

submitted by Anthony Pires

They haven't had a winning season since 1988, they're 10-50 in the 1990's, and they've been humbled most recently by NFL powerhouses such as the Indianapolis Colts and the Seattle Seahawks.

They're the New England Patriots, of course. And they're my heroes.

Call me a die-hard. Call me a romantic. Call me crazy. Most of all, call me loyal. After all, the Patriots were my introduction to football. At the age of seven, I vividly remember the glory days when we could count on Steve Grogan to throw that miracle touchdown pass or John Hannah to make that crucial block.

I've been a season ticket holder since the time I could drive pop's 1986 Lincoln. Now, five years later, I'm hoping I won't have to take my 1983 Audi up to St. Louis.

I've supported this team through thick and thin, the good times and bad. If I had supported a cause, like Save the Whales or Clinton's Health Plan the same way, I'd likely be praised for my dedication or idealism.

But because I'm supporting a 1-10 team (3-24 the last two years), I get absolutely no respect. In fact, what I do get is abuse.

This abuse began back in January of 1986, Super Bowl XX, when the Chicago Bears pummeled my beloved Pats, 46-10. The next day, someone scrawled foot-high numbers 46 and 10 in white crayon on my locker and plastered in the space left over pictures of Refrigerator Perry.

The culprits were thirteen year old "die-hard" Bears' fans, who I doubt could even find Chicago on the map.

Complaining to the principal did me no good. Mr. W. looked as though he wanted to tear off my

Bowl Pictures Falling Into Place

Eric Handa
Archway Sports Writer

With the college football season winding down the bowl game situation is starting to shape into place. Currently there are two undefeated teams in the country, Nebraska and West Virginia. The bowl matchups are as follows: the John Hancock bowl pairs Texas Tech vs. Oklahoma, the Liberty bowl pairs Louisville verse Michigan State, Freedom bowl is Southern Cal vs. Utah, the Peach Bowl features Clemson versus Kentucky, the Hall of Fame Ball features Michigan versus the Wolfpack of North Carolina State, the Citrus Bowl faces Tennessee versus Penn State.

The New Year's bowl games are most likely going to decide the final top ten college football teams. The Fiesta bowl showcases Arizona versus Miami, surprise team Boston College plays against Virginia, and Texas A&M versus the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame will play in the Cotton Bowl. The two most watched games will be the Orange Bowl featuring Nebraska versus Florida State and the Sugar Bowl pairs Florida versus undefeated West Virginia. With all the surprises making bowl games this year, one time perennial power Syracuse failed to earn a bid for a bowl game this year after seven consecutive bowl games appearances.

So, college football fans know how the bowl match-ups are paired. We'll just have to wait till the New Year to see who will be the number one football team in the country.

Intramural Basketball Rosters due Wednesday, December 22 in the Intramurals Office.

The roster is limited to 12 players and must indicate Major or Minor League. Men's and Women's Leagues will begin play on Tuesday, February 1.
