Mommy What Is War For?

ELLEN

One rainy day some people get scared spill drips of innuendos until they become puddles of confusion and deluges of deceit

The scared people scare other people When enough are washed with terror they spiral downward and nearly drown but resurface with a disease named “desperate to kill”

They look down into metallic water the faceless mirror from whence they rose Drenched in hatred they wade through a bloody flood of bones