

Why the Music Makes Us Cry

PAUL HOSTOVSKY

I thought it was just me until my Aunt Hannah said no it wasn't just me it was just everybody thinking it's just them until the music saying it's everybody it's everybody gets inside our heads and we nod our heads in agreement with the music saying it's everybody it's everybody it's everybody and we know it's so we nod our heads to the music because we know it's so and it's so sad to think we thought it wasn't and it's so sad to think we will think that again when the music ends we will think that again and we shake our heads no at the thought of that we shake our heads because the music is saying it's everybody and that's when the tears start because we know it's so
