

Apple for your thought processes?

ERIC CISTERNELLI

Like hundreds of flies to a carcass
Sacrificing money at an altar,
Symbolized by a violated fruit,
These hordes would like
This device to be attached
Immediately out of necessity, preferably surgically.

The tech-stupefied masses
Gather around their phones
Chanting praises in unison
At ceremonies in soft glow
Where they sit and hold their breath
For a dead man's next update.