Many students, especially the commuters, are familiar with the motorcycle policeman who patrols the streets near Bryant College. They may not know him by name, but when they hear the roar of his cycle and see his blue uniform and white helmet, he is easily recognized.

Patrolman Paul Karolik knows personally many Bryant students. More than some may think. For that matter he is familiar with many students from Brown and R.I.S.D. also, for he patrols the entire south half of the East Side, which includes the area from Angell Street to the waterfront near Cohen Boulevard.

A resident of Providence, Patrolman Karolik is married and has two daughters. He has been a member of the Providence Police Department for 25 years and has patrolled the area around Bryant College for the last four years. During this time he has made many friends with the students, workmen, and faculty of the College.

Although some may not think so, Patrolman Karolik is very sympathetic with the students' parking problem.

"I realize the situation these kids are in," he says. "Don't forget, I was a kid too. I don't get a commission on the tags I put out. I only work for a week's pay."

During the course of a day, Patrolman Karolik may write out traffic tickets for violations such as parking too close to a corner, parking in a restricted zone, and overtime parking. However, he feels that many of these violations need not take place with a little effort on the part of the students.

Although he admits that he overlooks many little things, Patrolman Karolik is firm on his position that certain parking regulations must be enforced. "There are things that can't be overlooked for the protection of the public," he says.

Overall the patrolman is pleased with the students' actions this year. He says that unlike past years, no cases have come up that warrant special attention.

To point out the situation that he is faced with, Patrolman Karolik tells of one of his experiences. One afternoon he saw a Bryant student parking in a restricted zone. Patrolman Karolik offered to show the student a legal parking space that was up the road a little way. "What," said the student, "and walk all that way back to class!"

"I try to help these kids," stresses the patrolman. "I'm not out to hurt anyone. I even talked with a few members of the faculty, to whom I suggested the construction of a student parking lot."

Along with Patrolman Karolik's firm policy on traffic violations goes his philosophy on the matter: "You can't fight them; so join them."

16 Area Colleges Are Represented At College Business - Symposium

By Milt Wroblewski

On Wednesday, November 14, about 200 college students from 16 colleges gathered at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel in Providence to attend a College-Business Symposium which was sponsored jointly by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce. Among the represented colleges was Bryant College with a delegation of 30 students.

The program included lectures and discussions of current business and economic topics, and a luncheon. Guest lecturers included Mr. H. Ladd Plumley, President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Edward P. Neilan, Vice President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Iva T. Ellis, Economist for E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.; and Mr. Curtiss E. Frank, Chairman of the Reuben H. Donnelly Corp.

The Symposium opened promptly at 9:00 a.m. with a welcome and review of the program for the day by Mr. Neilan. Following Mr. Neilan's address was a discussion by Mr. Plumley on the "European Common Market and the USA". Then Mr. Ellis commented on "Unemployment and Technology". Last Mr. Frank lectured on "Economic Growth."

After the speeches, the students asked questions pertaining to the subjects discussed. This concluded the morning session, and the participants proceeded to the luncheon.

The luncheon was hosted by 21 local business firms and was held in the Garden Room. Mr. Stanley Livingston, Jr., President of the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce, served as Master of Ceremonies. Mr. Livingston introduced the distinguished guests at the head table to the audience, and then called upon some of them to speak to the group. Dr. E. Gardner Jacobs, President of Bryant College, addressed the body as a representative of the Presidents of the 16 attending colleges. The luncheon was then adjourned and the participants were asked to assemble in the Ballroom for the afternoon session.

The afternoon program centered around discussions between the students and the panel on the topics discussed during the morning session. However, the students weren't limited to these subjects. Any economic topic could be brought up for discussion. Each of the tables elected a chairman and formulated a question which their chairman was to pose to the panel. The panel was confronted with questions pertaining to the topics discussed in the morning session, the balance of payments problem, business morals and ethics, and numerous other topics. With the type of thought-provoking questions that the students directed to the panel, it was amazing that some member of the panel wasn't stumped. The panel was able to answer to the satisfaction of the students every question directed to them.

At the conclusion of the afternoon program, Mr. Plumley commented on the reaction of the students to the Symposium. He thanked the students for being present and for participating so actively in the discussion. Mr. Plumley also remarked that he was happy that he had been able to join with the students in this experimental program. He then adjourned the session and the students gave him and the other members of the panel an appreciative ovation before dispersing.

Following the adjournment, many of the students who had attended spoke of how much they had been impressed with the success of the Symposium and how glad they were that they had been invited. The students stated to Archway reporters that the most important result of their attendance was that they had been able to get practical business ideas to add to the theory that they receive in their college courses. They believed that they could now more objectively look at business and economic issues and come up with conclusions that are more apt to be correct. They also remarked that they thought that it was beneficial for them to be able to present their ideas to other college students and to businessmen for objective discussion.

All in all, everyone who attended gained much insight as to the ideas of business men and other students who were entering the business field.

Conn. Alumni Club Plans Area Party

By Chris DiSano

The Bryant Alumni Club has planned an informal cocktail and pizza party for the Hartford and surrounding areas.

This first large alumni club activity of the '62-'63 year will be held on Saturday, December 1, at the Rosewood Restaurant, Route 10, College Highway, Simsbury, Connecticut, from eight to twelve. The planning committee are Ray Carlson, Class of '51; Walt Uzwick, Class of '52; Frank Zeffiro, Class of '54; Roger Martindale, Class of '56; Virginia Dube Blasko, Class of '57; Gall Eaton Colon, Class of '58; Rick Michaud, Class of '60, and Sylvia Belter, Class of '61.

Other area clubs are making plans for alumni activities, and January seniors will want to look forward to participating in these events when they take place.

Begins At Noon

Thanksgiving Recess

By Joseph E. Amaral

An uncontrollable excitement is in the hearts of most Bryant College Students. What is the cause? Why of course, the Thanksgiving Holiday is about to begin. The Thanksgiving recess will start at 12:00 noon today—and sessions will resume at 8:00 — Monday morning, November 26. In accordance with the school rule today, the day prior to the holiday, and Monday, the first school day following the holiday, will both be double-cut days.

The ARCHWAY STAFF extends to everyone wishes for a most enjoyable Thanksgiving.

Dr. Paul Buchanan Participates in Educators' Cruise

By Peggie Ahern

Dr. Paul Buchanan, Director of the Admissions Office, departed from his desk on Tuesday, October 30, to represent Bryant College as one of a group of thirty educators on the Navy Aviation Officers Procurement.

After driving to South Weymouth, Dr. Buchanan flew on to Pensacola where he boarded the aircraft carrier, the USS Antietam. While on board ship the passengers cruised in the Caribbean. They also had the opportunity to view planes take off and land again on deck.

Dr. Buchanan and Admiral Lee, training officer for the N.A.O.P., conversed about the educational programs of American colleges and their use in the service. Vice-Admiral Lee made a favorable remark about the record achieved by Bryant College graduates: No graduates have failed while in training at the Pensacola Base.

Several lectures were scheduled for the guests. One, about a new program that has been in operation for a year, related the effects of new techniques in warfare. Another meeting was a thorough briefing on medical research on flight given by the director of research on the Astronaut Physical Ability Program.

Yale Dean To Retire

New Haven, Conn.—(LP)—One of Yale's best-known educators, Dean William C. DeVane, announced here recently that he will retire at the end of the 1963-64 academic year as Dean of the undergraduate Yale College. He pointed out that by next June he will have completed 25 years in office, the longest that any man has ever held the deanship in Yale's history.

Business Enterprise
By Dwight L. Gentry
Charles A. Tall

Each year colleges and universities are replenished by students seeking an education in business administration. Many of these students have limited experiences in the field and often have little knowledge of the various aspects of business activity.

Four basic goals are kept in mind: first, to present the beginning student with a survey of business management as illustrated in those areas of study usually included in the business curriculum.

The text is organized into five sections: Business Management Background; Organizing the Enterprise; Industrial Production and Employee Relations; Distributing Goods and Services and Other Specialized Areas of Management.

Men Who Control Our Universities

This book was written with the aim of broadening the perspective of American teachers, parents, students, educational administrators, and other citizens in viewing the forces which are acting upon American education.

This book starts by giving the reader a background for the study which contains a look at the amazing growth of American higher education and some revealing indications of the extent to which a few universities and their governing boards occupy dominant positions.

Men Who Control Our Universities is a suitable work which should be studied and discussed by all who are interested in the course of higher education in the United States.

Student Senate News

Senate Highlights

By Margo Drotter

The fifth meeting of the Student Senate was called to order by President Bill Word. The minutes were distributed and the roll call was taken.

The first topic discussed was that of class elections; the tie for Vice-President of the Class of '66 was broken by the election on November 1, Tom Furrey being elected.

The next topic brought to the floor was that of the United Fund collections. Carolyn Marsis, Chairwoman of the Committee, said that the date for final receipts from Senate Representatives is set for Friday, November 30.

Bill Word next brought up the topic of Varsity Basketball and emphasized the importance of school spirit at the games throughout the coming season. There will be nine home games and fourteen away games.

A motion was made to adjourn the meeting; it was seconded and approved.

Placement Interviews

By Charlotte Kenney

The annual visitations of College Relations representatives to the Bryant Campus will begin the week of November 25th. Several companies will be seeking marketing, management, and accounting graduates for their training programs.

Topping the initial recruitment list after Thanksgiving are The General Telephone Company of New York (Utility), November 26; The Reuben H. Donnelley Corp. of New York (Advertising), November 28; Socony Mobil Oil Company of New York, November 29; The Connecticut General Insurance Company of Hartford, December 3; and the F. W. Woolworth Company of Boston, December 5.

All interviews are held in confidence at the Placement Office. Check with us for further details.

tions and enterprise available to the public. This valuable information is presented in a uniform and orderly arrangement which will facilitate its usefulness.

The title of the more important companies is followed by a Capital Structure table which gives a summary of outstanding bond and stock issues with Moody's Bond Rating. Following the table are details of the history, background, mergers and acquisitions, subsidiaries, business and products, principal plants and properties.

The officers' and directors' names and titles are presented along with the general council auditors, date of the annual meeting, latest number of stockholders and employees and the addresses of the corporation. More than 350 financial statements of important companies are included. The company's operations and finances are represented by ratios.

Moody's Industrial Manual was organized primarily for use by individuals and institutional investors. This will serve as the missing link between business students and their future employers.

European Business-Study Tour to Be Available To Bryant Students

By Ray Antrop

A European Tour, which will be conducted by Mr. Wallace S. Camper, a member of the Bryant faculty, has been designed for a small group of students, just enough to fill a private motor coach provided solely for the transportation of the Bryant contingent.

Cultural values are of importance, but of even greater importance is the opportunity to meet and know the people of other lands to gain a better understanding of them, and they of us. Thus, the primary objective of this tour is to add to the student's liberal education and business knowledge, which go hand in hand in society and various business circles.

The rise of the Common Market and the imminent lowering of our tariffs under the recently passed Trade Expansion Act means that we must learn to compete with European industry. And what better way is there to compete than to visit and study European business and industry on the spot and to talk with business leaders there?

Stops at sports and recreation centers have been planned so that those in the group may relax in a good atmosphere. Good clean hotels will be used and excellent food provided. In Rome, London, and Paris, lunch will be omitted for greater flexibility of movement. The boat trip is planned for fun and relaxation on the newest and largest passenger vessel in the world, the SS FRANCE.

Scheduled programs are provided throughout the tour, and supervision will be provided at all times. The tour leader is a professional educator who will lead, not merely guide.

Certain responsibilities and minor expenses (such as refreshments, etc.) will be assumed by the students going. Mr. Camper welcomes any questions that students may have about the trip and recommends that those interested in going submit an application early since the size of the group is limited.

The itinerary for the 41-day trip is as follows:

July 26--NEW YORK--Depart for Europe on French Line SS France.

July 31--PARIS--Arrive at Le Havre, France. Proceed by boat and train to the "City of Light."

Aug. 1--PARIS--Morning sightseeing includes the Notre Dame, the Royal Palace, the Louvre, Sainte Chapelle, Luxembourg Gardens, Pantheon, the Sorbonne, University of Paris, Town Hall, Palace de la Bastille and Montmartre. Afternoon sightseeing includes Madelaine Church, Rue Royale, Place de la Concorde, Arc de Triomphe, Ecole Militaire, Eiffel Tower, Invalides, Place Vendome, and the Opera.

Aug. 2--PARIS--Entire day as guests of one of France's largest industries. Morning visit Paris office and factory. Afternoon luncheon guests at company chateau and park.

Aug. 3--Morning excursion to Versailles, magnificent palace of the kings of France; Hall of mirrors, Gallery of Battles, the Royal Chapel, and the famed gardens. Afternoon free for shopping. Evening train with sleeper to Geneva, Switzerland.

Aug. 4--GENEVA--Morning visit to United Nations. Reception at International Labor Organization. Here tourists will see the actual treaties signed by Churchill, Eisenhower, and other

High Pressure
By William P. McMillen

Several weeks ago, I was approached with a request to buy into a group as a booster for one of the traditional dances.

It came up again a few weeks later. Before I had again been contacted, a claim was made to another party that all the other members of the group had given their "tentative approval." I had not done so. The claim was made with the belief that being faced with the overwhelming opposition of the rest of the group, this member would also give his approval.

There is something sinister and evil about a sale of this type. Its success depends upon a misrepresentation. Its success depends upon backing each member of a group into a corner with the opposition of every other member. Its success depends upon playing up to one's fear of being alone with opposition. Although many may not agree, if each member believes he is the only one, his opposition may soon fade. The few will rule. Very often, all that the members of a group have in common is a fear of being outside the group.

Aug. 15--VENICE--Depart Florence and proceed to medieval Bologna with its 11th century university, magnificent Ferrari, Padua with St. Anthony's Shrine, to the fabulous city of Lagoons, Venice.

Aug. 16--VENICE--Morning sightseeing afoot includes St. Mark's Square, Cathedral, Doge's Palace, the lead dungeons, Bridge of Sighs, and the Grand Canal. Evening concert at Piazza San Marco.

Aug. 17--INNSBRUCK--Motor to Cortina d'Ampezzo, Queen of the Italian Alps, over the Brenner Pass and through the Dolomites to Innsbruck, the capital of the Austrian Tyrol. An evening at a gay Tyrolean theatre.

Aug. 18--MUNICH--Cross the border into Germany and proceed via the mountain resort of Mittenwald to Linderhof Castle, a replica of Versailles in miniature. Thence via Ettal to the gayest and most robust city of Germany, Munich. Evening at the biggest Brauhaus in the world.

Aug. 19--STUTTGART--Through the German countryside to the highly industrialized city of Stuttgart, home of Mercedes-Benz.

Aug. 20--STUTTGART--Full day as guests of the Daimler Benz Company. A study of exacting and meticulous industry in action. A trip through the plant and conference with company officials.

Aug. 21--HEIDELBERG--Motor through the lovely hills of south Germany to the University city of Heidelberg. Evening at student cafes and the university.

Aug. 22--BONN--Through the Rhine Valley, along the river carrying more freight than all the railroads of Europe combined, past the Lorelei, to the capital city of Germany, Bonn. Reception at the Finance Ministry.

Aug. 23--AMSTERDAM--After a short tour of Cologne, cross the border into Holland. Through the land of windmills, to the great city of Amsterdam. Evening boat ride through the canals.

Aug. 24--AMSTERDAM--Sightseeing includes the cheese market, the fish market, a diamond cutting factory, the great Rijks Museum of Rembrandt. Afternoon excursion to the Hague for a meeting with government officials to discuss trade.

Aug. 25--BRUSSELS--Via the flat countryside to Fort Breendonk, former Nazi concentration camp, to Antwerp, port city of Belgium, and then to Brussels, capital of Belgium. Evening visit to the Town Square, lined with gilded medieval buildings, all aglow at night under lights.

Aug. 26--BRUSSELS--Morning sightseeing includes the stock exchange, King's Palace and Guild Houses, Parliament, and the Albert War Museum. Afternoon visit to Headquarters of the Common Market for a discussion with officials.

Aug. 27--LONDON--By motorcoach to the city of Ostend on the English Channel, by ferryboat to England, train from the White Cliffs of Dover to London, heart of the British Empire.

Aug. 28--LONDON--Morning around the city to see the British Museum, Trafalgar Square, St. James Palace, Buckingham Palace and the Changing of the Guard, Tower of London, Bank of England, Lloyd's of London. Afternoon business meeting.

Aug. 29--LONDON--Sightseeing includes Piccadilly Circus, Regent and Oxford Streets, Hyde Park, Lambeth Palace, Whitehall, Houses of Parliament, Westminster Abbey. Afternoon business meeting.

Aug. 30--LONDON--Entire day free for personal activities. Evening boat train to Southampton where all board the SS France for the return voyage home.

Sept. 4--Arrive New York harbor and home again. The total fee for this trip is $1100. Application for membership should be accompanied by a deposit of $300. The balance will be due March 10, 1963.

Bryant Sports

NFL Specialist

By Larry Wallanski

With so much emphasis being placed on offense and defense, the only names N.F.L. fans hear about are Brown, Taylor, Arnett, Mitchell, Hornung, Huff, Jordan, Unitas, Lipscomb, and many others. To close followers of the game, there is more than just ball carriers, pass receivers, linebackers and linemen.

Each phase or part of the game has its specialist, most noteworthy of which is the punt or kickoff specialist. The honor of being rated the best all-round kick-return man in the N.F.L. is given to Abe Woodson of the San Francisco 49ers.

Woodson, who is small when it comes to football standards—5-11, 188 pounds, is a three-year veteran in the N.F.L. and a two-year All-Pro. During those three years his accomplishments read like this: 44 punt returns for 489 yards and 57 kickoff returns for 1662 yards.

Woodson's "kick returns are among the most important yards we get in any game" says 49er coach, Red Hickey. With Abe returning the kickoff, the 49ers are a good bet to start a series of downs between their own 40 yard line and midfield. Woodson's dazzling runs have broken many an opponent's back. He has great speed and terrific reactions.

Woodson, himself, says that he runs in a daze. If he cuts, pivots, or stops, he says it's not a conscious maneuver. "I just seem to do what's called for."

Alumni-Varsity Basketball Game To Open Season

By Dick Bartels

On Monday evening, November 26, the Bryant College Indians will play a pre-season game against an alumni team being captained by James T. Handy, '58 in the Bryant College gymnasium.

Handy, an active sports participant while at Bryant College, is a cost accountant for Vista Underwear in Pawtucket, and a member of Kappa Tau fraternity. Also leading the alumni will be Everett Chadwick, captain of the Bryant Indians last year, an alumnus of the Chi Gamma Iota Fraternity.

The rest of the alumni lineup will be as follows:

- Alton Holmes '60 from Swansea, Mass.
- Joseph Roe '61 from East Providence
- James Aiello '59 from Providence
- Dick Casertano '60 from Rumford, R. I.
- Manny Pimental '61 from East Providence
- John Hall '56 from Cranston
- Bob McGivney '59 from Providence
- Tony Cusa '62 from Providence

Varsity coach, Mr. Wallace Camper, is looking forward to a strong performance from the Indians in their first-game action of the 62-63 season.

College Calendar

By Lawrence Walinski

Ah! November 21. To many people this day is no different than any other November 21. Cornstalks spread out over many fields, pumpkins ornamenting lawns and porches, and the womenfolk, buying turkeys and all the necessities to prepare for the great holiday—Thanksgiving.

But to the majority of students at Bryant College and colleges across the nation, November 21 is looked upon as a day of "liberation." Beginning at 12:00 noon today and until the 26th of the month, the College will be closed for Thanksgiving recess. For five glorious days the students will put their books aside and relax. The pressure of having to get up early, studying for tests, and writing out assignments will be relieved.

This five-day break will also give the faculty members a chance to rest from their arduous task of teaching students the skills of their chosen profession.

But to many students at Bryant this recess is a warning that there are only five weeks left until Christmas vacation. And wham! Final examinations!

Students who are behind in studies will be catching up in them during the break. Many who have failing grades or are on the border line of getting out of final exams will be revising plans in an attempt to do better the second half of the semester.

This is the price a student pays for not studying when he should have. If he studied as he should, he would be able to spend his vacation as it should be—sleeping, relaxing, etc. . . .

November 21 is also a signal for the start of three long recesses, the first and shortest starting today and lasting five days; the second beginning December 19th and lasting until January 3 of the new year; the third beginning January 18th, upon completion of the "comps," and lasting until the 28th. After these three vacations, getting a day off from classes will be like trying to find a needle in the haystack.

So although today is typical of any other 21st of November, it is a warning to many students to get on the ball if they are lagging behind in their studies; or it may be a signal to prepare for a lot of sleeping, relaxing, and enjoyment, which is their reward for studying.

Levin Looks At Chuck Grundman Bows High Game Of 241

By Mitch Levin

The Los Angeles Lakers and the Boston Celtics have resumed their close rivalry again this year. In the first meeting between the clubs since last season's exciting playoffs, the Lakers led by the snipping of Elgin Baylor and Dick Barnett upset the Beantowners on their home-court.

The Lakers seemed immeasurably stronger than the team that barely missed the championship last March. They looked especially strong in the rebounding department where Leroy Ellis and Gene Wiley consistently outjumped Bill Russell. The two teams met for the second time on December 7, also on the Celtic's court.

Aside from the Laker defeat, the Celtics seem to be in stride. Los Angeles, however, has had its problems winning only 8 of its first 14 games. Yet the potential is there and the Lakers don't figure to lose too often in the latter stages of the campaign.

Elsewhere, Detroit's Pistons are still having trouble finding the success formula. Unless they start winning a few games, Coach Dick McGuire's job could be in jeopardy. In the annual draft Detroit selected Dave DeBusschere and bypassed a chance for a taller man to play center. This strategy seems at the moment very poor, especially since Walter Dukes has been a complete bust in the pivot. One bright spot has been the recent play of John Egan who seems to be improving each game.

Basketball fans throughout the country were indeed very happy to see that Tom Stith has apparently triumphed over tuberculosis. The Knicks certainly hope that he will be able to perform as he did in college, but only time will tell how much a year's absence has hurt. More than one expert has criticized the Knicks for choosing Paul Hogue over Leroy Ellis; however, the season is still young and Hogue may yet make them eat their words.

This season has seen the finest crop of rookies in many a year. Actually it's a little early to tell if a rookie will become a star, but a few of them have been mighty impressive to date. The Boston Celtics are busy shouting the praises of their number-one draft choice, John Havlicek. Red Auerbach has called him "my most complete player since Frank Ramsey." This coming from the coach is indeed a high compliment. Terry Dischinger of Chicago has also been impressive even though he is available only on a part time basis. Chet Walker of Syracuse and John Barnhill of St. Louis are both away to fine starts. Barnhill has added a great deal of speed to the Hawk lineup. Walker has been tough off the boards and also boasts a good shooting percentage. Leroy Ellis has found the change to a forward position much to his liking. He is exceptionally fast and has a good outside shot not to mention his rebounding ability. The second and third time around the league should give a sounder indication of each player's ability.

Once again Wilt Chamberlain has a stranglehold on the individual scoring statistics. Currently the "dipper" is averaging well over 60 points per game. It might also be noted that Chamberlain reached the 10,000 points total at the beginning of the season in this, just his fourth season as a pro. Bob Cousy of Celtics seems intent on making his last year a very big one. The "Cooz" has been especially sharp in the first few games.

Just a personal thought on the subject of Tom Stith: The hope is that he comes all the way back and reaches the heights that he was capable of two years ago.

By Manny Gorriaran

In a hard fought match between Phi Sig and Beta Sig for first place, Chuck Grundman bowling for the Beta team came up with the season's high game of 241 which was part of his 570 series. Chuck's 570 boosted him well into the high average spot with 175. Phi Sig on the other hand was led by Al Jewell's 212 game and 539 series. This total helped Al move into second high average with a 169. In spite of Grundman's effort however, Beta Sig only won two games, the first one and total pin fall, while Phi Sig won the second and third games. By splitting two games apiece, Phi Sig remained in first place with Beta Sig in second, one game out.

During the past two weeks an inspired Beta Iota Beta team has moved into a third place tie with AOX only three games out of first. Led by Manny Gorriaran's 202-541 series, BIB took four games from the first place Phi Sig team and in doing so came within 3 pins of the league's high team triple score. The following week BIB with Earle Glazer's 192-496 series took three games from Dyer House to take 7 out of 8 games during the past two weeks. Dyer House the week before had defeated AOX on the strength of Dick Van Praag's 221-546 series; however, AOX came back this week with Palmissano's 198-547 series to take three games from KT and move into a tie with BIB for third place. Dyer House moved down into fifth spot. Barber House and the Four Patches have been fighting it out for sixth place with the Four Patches getting the edge this week by one game. In their match both teams won two games. Dave Coon's 213-552 helped the Four Patches and moved him into third high average; while Larry Shapiro's 198-504 helped Barber House win two of its games.

The competition is so close however that Dyer House in fifth spot is still only five games off the winning pace. Anything can happen to change the standings and this is what makes the handicap league exciting and enjoyable.

Indians to Prep for Opener in Alumni Clash

By Jerry Langton

As a ball club begins to take shape and round itself into condition for the season's inaugural, there is one thing that you tend to look for in any sport, but more especially in roundball, that being cohesiveness, or a lacking thereof.

Without it a group of athletes are just that, a group of athletes, not a team. It is a satisfying thing to watch this quality develop in a team. The Bryant ball club is showing just such development as of late and will have the opportunity to test this development prior to the opening of the campaign in a formal game with the alumni in the school gym on Monday night, November 26.

Some of the grads returning to do battle with the Indians are James Handy, '58, Alton Holmes, '60, Joseph Roe, '61, James Aiello, '59, Richard Casertano, '60, Manuel Pimental, '61, John Hall, '56, Robert McGivney, '59, and Anthony Lisa, '62.

How adequate the competition will be will have to remain to be seen at the present moment; however, one thing is certain, it will give the student body an excellent chance to preview the club against some formal competition.

The Indians, as mentioned above, are beginning to take shape and are showing well on the whole in practice. It is still a mile too early to start picking a starting five, and this is indeed a blessing. It means that Coach Camper has eight or nine men that are making serious bids to land on the starting squad, and this definitely is not an unhealthy situation. Attendance at a couple of practice sessions by even the most casual observer will reveal that a really wide open race is being waged over starting posts.

The team continues to show the fleetness of foot that it was thought capable of some weeks ago. However, there is developing an asset that was not counted too heavily on in the beginning and if it continues to show promise it could mean a considerable difference. The club has depth! Those that do not ultimately make it to the starting squad will have enough savvy, experience, and ability to come off the bench and get the job done.

This will mean that the starters will be able to go harder while they are in the ballgame because the bench will be there if needed. To draw a corollary, this fact has been a prime reason for the success of the Boston Celtics for years. When you've got someone to come off that bench to help you, you're not in bad shape.

The Indian camp will feature something new this year in a Junior Varsity squad. Although lacking the general overall talent of the varsity contingent, this squad will probably be even faster about than their fast elders. Composed mostly of freshmen and sophs, the team gives coach Camper a good ready reserve if needed this year, and some top replacements ready to make the move up to the varsity squad next season.

So the season's opening on the twenty-eighth of November draws closer. There is a lot of work to be done in the teepee before then, but it is to say the least, progressing satisfactorily at present.

Hi there! On Tuesday, October 23, we had our joint smoker and buffet dinner. It was a huge success. Everyone remarked about how beautiful the table looked; all the food was prepared through the courtesy of "Bridgett's Italian Kitchen" (By the way, fellows, she is still hanging on.) Another highlight of the evening was Professor Hayes. Professor Hayes added humor as well as expert twisting to the success of our smoker. The sisters join with me in expressing our gratitude to Professor Hayes for his help. We couldn't have done without him, and we are glad that our brothers have chosen him as their advisor. He is great!!

I want to congratulate our sister, Debbie Lindenberg, on her recent engagement. You know what that means, girls: "One down and sixteen to go."

Friday night we had a belated Halloween party for brothers and sisters. Some were in costumes and they really made quite a hit. The others who were not in costumes enjoyed themselves in spite of the fact.

Congratulations to our bowling team who won their game with S. I. C. Peggy Jeffrey, Elaine Chruszide, Leslie Muir, Barbara Hutton, Joyce Jackson, Marie Cattoli, and Terry DeVons really shocked everyone as well as themselves. Good luck next week.

We are now preparing for K. T.'s turkey trot. (Our dancing

"Personality" A Success

By Jerry Greifer

Beta Sigma Chi's annual PERSONALITY BALL was a huge success. The brothers of BEX would like to thank the student body and the fraternities and sororities on campus for their support and to congratulate the candidates for the fine jobs they did. Congratulations for their winning performance go to Dave Hayllar of K.T. and Joan Jobson representing A.P.K. The fraternity thanks the maintenance department for their assistance in eliminating many complications.

On Saturday, November 3, BEX held its semi-annual orphanage party at St. Aloysius Orphanage. The theme was Halloween. A bus waiting in front of South Hall, took any Bryant students who wanted to attend.

Congratulations are in order for Beta's bowling team which is presently in second place. Leading the team is Chuck Grundman with a 170 average. The basketball season is approaching. Beta plans to put a top team on the court and expects to have a winning season.

(shoes are out.) We will also plan to have a tea at the home of Ellen Sylvia for our prospective pledgees. A date will be announced later. So long, until next issue.

Phi Sigma Nu Wins Marlboro Contest

The brothers of Phi Sigma Nu Fraternity once again won the Marlboro Contest for the third straight time. This contest, which is sponsored by the Philip Morris Company is held at Bryant College twice a year. First prize is awarded to the club, fraternity, or individual who turns in the largest number of cigarette packs. The first prize this year was an RCA 19-inch Television set.

The brothers of Phi Sig were very pleased to find out they had been successful in winning the recent cigarette "pak" contest again. As in the past, the prize will be raffled off among the brothers at the forthcoming dinner dance to be held on the fifteenth of December.

Phi Sigma Nu's annual raffle for the benefit of the Lakeside Children's Home will commence on the twenty-sixth of November. The prizes are (1) a Vespa motor scooter, (2) a Webcor stereo-hi-fi, (3) a Channellmaster clock radio.

The brothers have taken up a collection to buy John Alfred a new white silk smoking scarf to replace his old one.

Congratulations to Buzz Lipman for being unanimously elected to play Santa Claus at the Lakeside Children's Home party. Don't forget that Ho, Ho, Ho, Buzz!

Everyone had a great time at the smoker November 1. Some of the Frat trophies were on display along with the fabulous Frat scrapbook. Movies of the brothers' activities were shown, a few speeches were made, and the evening was rounded off with a mixer.

The perspective pledgees of AOX and DEX, along with the brothers and sisters, danced to the music of "The New Yorkers." (They were great, as everyone will tell you.) The eats were fabulous, thanks to the brothers, sisters, and the parents.

Joe Belucci, Tony Porrecca, and Bill Squizzerro (some of the brothers who are out student-teaching), along with Joe Razzo (our most active alumni), and practically all the brothers showed up.

Indeed a fabulous time was had by all.

Conversation amongst the brothers and sisters still centers around the Halloween party. Thanks to Bill Salvestrini for letting his house be overrun by all the costumed revelers.

Parties have been confined to week-ends this semester because 14 of the 15 brothers work on school nights.

Plans are being earnestly made for participation in the Turkey Trot and Snow Queen contests.

The girls want to know where Harry Mikaelian has been hiding. Jack Speed reclaimed the "hearts" championship of Chi Gam, which he lost last summer.

Frank Rook missed a party last week-end; could it be because of that Woonsocket girl?

In honor of our brothers we held a cocktail party this past Sunday afternoon at the home of a brother in appreciation for their abled-bodied assistance above and beyond the call of duty in making our dance once again a success.

We just added another shiny plaque to our over-stuffed trophy case, presented to us by our brothers at our smoker for the sisters' efforts in BIB's winning Campus Follies. Speaking of the smoker, the turnout really showed that all were enjoying themselves, especially when the evening was highlighted by the singing of the Barrington Belvedereers.

A few weeks ago BIB threw a successful fraternity party that gave everyone a long-earned rest from their studies. Many came to the party; even the men in the blue uniforms came—but by special invitation only.

Congratulations and the best of luck to Margo Drotter, BIB's choice for the annual Sno' Queen Campaign. Congratulations are also in order for the following sisters recently pinned: Janice Castreata and Ted Harrison; Nancy Manchester and Joe Alfred; and Sandy Massaro and Tony Conera.

Phi Sig captured the first place trophy in the volleyball tournament. The rapid pacing set by "Spike" McDermott led us to a clean sweep victory. A hand of gratitude is extended to all members of our squad.

Our little princess, Betty Ann Coray, will represent Phi Sig and SIC in the Miss Snow Queen contest. Preparations are in full swing to make this campaign a smashing success.

Many valuable prizes have been selected for our annual raffle which is held for the benefit of the Lake Side Children's Home. It will be held from November 26 to December 8.

May we take this opportunity to thank all the freshmen and independents for their overwhelming and enthusiastic turnout at our smoker. A good time was had by all with refreshments and entertainment by the "College Hill Singers." Our interviews are not long off, and all those interested are cordially invited.

Plans are already underway for our third annual Miss Bryant Pageant. The air will be sparkling with excitement, for the winner will represent Bryant in the Miss Providence Pageant.

Looking Forward To Sno' Queen

By Carolyn Squillante

Winter is here again, and it will soon be time for our annual Sno' Queen Dance, sponsored by Sigma Lambda Pi. This year's dance will be held on Saturday night, December 8, in the Bryant Auditorium.

Prior to the Saturday night dance, there will be a parade on Tuesday evening and judging on the following Thursday.

During our five-day vacation, all the sororities and fraternities will be very busy preparing a float for their Sno' Queen candidate to ride on. The decorations on each float will be based on a carefully chosen theme.

While the parade is in session, cameramen will be there taking pictures of the lovely candidates and the beautifully decorated floats.

Don't forget—! Support your favorite candidate in this year's competition for Sno' Queen.

Postern, Raffle, Smoker, and Monte Carlo have really kept the sisters of Zeta Sigma Omicron busy for the past weeks.

The sisters enjoyed helping the brothers of A O with their annual raffle which came to its close when the names of the winners were drawn at Monte Carlo Nite by Hal Whittam.

How about those fabulous posters that were up on campus announcing Monte Carlo Nite? They were done co-operatively by the sisters and the brothers. Pretty sharp, huh?

If you weren't able to attend Monte Carlo, you missed a great time. There were card games—Showdown Poker, and Blackjack—which were dealt by some shrewd card players, money wheels, roulette, and the winning "Bird Cage." Near the end of the evening about 10:30 after everyone had either lost or won some money, an auction was held with articles going for as high as $25,000. Even Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway took something home with them.

We would like to thank Hal Whittam for all he did at Monte Carlo. He did a fabulous job of arranging and planning the evening. Thanks again, Hal. Also thanks to all the other brothers who worked so hard to make Monte Carlo such a success.

Hi, everybody! I'd just like to say a few words. Last Tuesday evening, November 13, KDK had a very successful smoker which was attended by many. After the preliminary meeting, which was held in a relaxed, social atmosphere, everyone went down to the gym for a get-together with Tau Epsilon where there was dancing to a terrific band. The food, of which there was plenty, was catered and needless to say—delicious! It was good to see everyone there and having such a good time.

Congratulations to KDK who won their recent bowling game against Sigma Lambda Theta.

The DEX-AOX Smoker which was held on November 1 was a great success. After a short meeting the sisters and prospective pledges joined the brothers for refreshments and dancing. We all enjoyed dancing to the music of the New Yorkers. The sisters were very pleased to see so many of the alumni back to join the festivities.

The sisters were busy baking for Delta's Cake Sale which was held on November 3—so far no complaints about our cooking.

The sisters of DEX are now making scrapbooks for the children at Rhode Island Hospital.

Included in our list of coming events is an Alumni Tea for the graduate sisters of Delta Sigma Chi.

Sigma Lambda Theta News: PARTY --- SUCCESS

By Marge Rocco

We are happy to report that the Brothers of Beta Sigma Chi and Sisters of Sigma Lambda Theta are doing fine after their "action-packed" day at St. Aloysius Orphanage on November 3. The children really gave the brothers, sisters, and prospective pledgees a run for their money! While the fellows were busy playing football and giving "piggyback" rides to some, the gals decided to teach the others to do the twist! Well, the youngsters ended up teaching us a few steps!! Musical chairs, ducking for apples, dancing, and eating the refreshments all added to the merriment of the afternoon. We are all now looking forward to our trip there again next semester.

Lots of Luck to our "Turkey Trot" candidates, Barbara Aella and Jerry Greifer.

The Sisters of Sigma Lambda Theta would like to extend a cordial invitation to everyone to come to Beta and Theta's Smoker Tuesday night, November 29, in the Student Union. SEE YOU THEN!!!

will be held on December 9. There will be more news about that later. Well, that's all I have to say for now.

KDK hopes that everyone has a nice Thanksgiving and a good Thanksgiving vacation. So, until the next time . . . bye for now . . .
