Bryant Holds Tax Seminar

By Paul Langelle

Last Saturday, December 1, Bryant College, in cooperation with the United States Internal Revenue Service and the Small Business Bureau, conducted a seminar on "Facts About Taxes." The seminar got under way at 8:45 a.m. and concluded at 5 p.m. Professor Joseph H. Santos, director of the Evening Division of Bryant College, introduced the day's activities and Dr. E. Gardner Jacobs extended Bryant's welcome to those attending.

The seminar was attended by many owners and managers of locally owned independent business firms, including their accountants and their attorneys or tax consultants. Those attending received a day-long working knowledge of tax regulations and their influence on management decisions.

Morning speakers and their topics were:

Louis J. Rankowitz, revenue officer of the Internal Revenue Service, "The IRS, Businessman's Kit."

James R. Milligan, conference coordinator, IRS of Providence, "Tax Considerations in the Selection of the Form of Business Organization," and

Maurice Bouchard, group supervisor, IRS of Providence, "Depreciation Guidelines—Procedure 62-61."

At the luncheon session, Robert P. Hincanz, president of Cipher Systems, Inc., spoke on the topic of "Machine Tax Accounting for the Small Business."

Afternoon speakers and their topics were:

Dr. Charles Goulston, professor of accounting at Bryant College, "Inventory Methods and the Importance of Accounting Records," and

Joseph H. Canale, senior instructor and IRS agent, IRS of Providence, "Current Tax Problems in the Expense Areas of Travel, Entertainment and Dues."

Bryant Choir Christmas Concert On December 18

By Ann Louise Weimer

Final preparations are being made for the Bryant Choir's December concert. Committees for decorations and publicity are busily working out the details which will make this year's concert an enjoyable and memorable event for all who attend.

Under the direction of Mr. Richard Albert, the Bryant Choir will present its program of religious and popular music on December 18 at 8:15 p.m. In addition to numbers by the entire choir, special songs by a men's group and by a women's group will be featured.

The Choir has been invited to sing at the Providence Post Office again this year. Plans are now being made for a program which will be presented before the December 18 concert.

Be sure to reserve December 18 at 8:15 p.m. for the Bryant Choir's concert!

SEVEN FRATERNITY SPONSORED CANDIDATES COMPETE FOR SNO' QUEEN TITLE

CORONATION TOMORROW NIGHT

By Joseph S. Dwyer

Although December 7 is a date that lives in the hearts of all Americans as a "Day of Infamy," because on this date twenty-one years ago, the Japanese attacked our Pacific naval base at Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1962, will go down in the annals of history, at least in the annals of Bryant College history, as the day when the students of this school cast their ballots for the girl who they felt was worthy of being their twenty-fourth Sno' Queen.

The choice is not an easy one with seven charming lovelies like Elaine Chirnside, Betty Ann Coray, Kathleen DeLeone, Nancy DeSantis, Margo Drotter, JoAnn Joyner, and Terry Walker running. The seven participating fraternities deserve to be complimented on their choice of candidates, but it makes the job of casting a ballot all the more difficult.

As in previous years it is anticipated that the contest will be a very close one and the coronation may very well hinge on an infinitesimal number of ballots. Therefore the brothers of Sigma Lambda Pi urge each student to cast his valuable ballot, for the crowning of the queen may hinge on one or two votes. The brothers also urge students not to vote for the fraternity sponsoring a candidate, but the girl who is deserving of the title, "1962 Sno' Queen."

The brothers of Sigma Lambda Pi are sure that this has been a vigorous and exciting week for the whole school and especially the candidates and their sponsoring fraternities. The week began with the traditional Sno' Queen parade.

It is during this bonanza of floats, marching units, and general excitement that the candidates are first introduced to the student body. The spirit of enthusiasm that first is only enjoyed by those who work directly on the floats builds up until it is a crescendo of sounds that sweep across the campus and the whole East Side. It is a sound of percussion made up of voices, truck horns, marching feet, clapping hands, and all the other sounds that indicate that a parade is passing by and that joy is its marching companion. The candidates are cold but enthusiastic; the brothers and sisters are tired, but proud; and the audience is critical, but excited.

All of this emotion boils over into the rally where the faces are given names. It is here that the candidates are formally introduced and the sponsoring fraternities and sororities display their vocal support for their candidates.

When the students leave their residence halls in the morning, they have to be met with a barrage of color and design telling that so and so is the best candidate and will make the best queen. This colorful spectacle of imagination is the cavalcade of posters. Although some say that the posters are a

Resident Students Enjoy Annual Semester Banquet

By Peggie Ahern

On November 20 between the hours of 5:00 and 6:30 there were two extremely long lines of students assembled outside the cafeteria doors. All Freshmen were anxious to enter the dining hall and experience the treat that upperclassmen and previous dorm students talk about.

The resident students appeared in their best apparel for the buffet which consisted of 20 entrees. There was no limit on the amount of food to be distributed.

The cafeteria was decorated lightly in line with a touch of the fall season. To add to the created atmosphere, tables were covered with linen, candles were aglow on each end, and trays were nowhere in sight.

Many thanks go to the people responsible for our annual Semester Banquet and the great job they fulfilled.

less disadvantage. Working together, all of us, epitomizes the goodness of people who care about being their "Brother's Keeper."

Don't forget, citizen interest and volunteer help, too, give spirit, integrity, and character to a community. These things are difficult to measure in precise monetary terms, but we know that they have immense value to the well being of a community.

So let's all do our "Fair Share" to help support 86 health, welfare and youth agencies all year long. Remember, small contributions, in combination, can make up a large enough sum to do a man-sized job. We want our small contributions, when turned over to the Student Senate, to be a sum that can do a man-sized job for someone, through the United Fund.

Internship Program in Washington Offered to Bryant College Students

By Carolyn Squillante

Senator Pell is offering an apprenticeship program for students enrolled in Political Science (also History, Economics, and Sociology) courses, who are residents of Rhode Island, and who are enrolled in a college or university here.

The basic objectives of this program are to provide the student with meaningful experience and exposure to practical politics, and to stimulate a desire for more active participation in politics and government.

Any student who is chosen will work for one week in the Senator's Office. He or she will have an opportunity to observe and to participate in various phases of Senate Office operations, including preparing bills, doing research, and handling correspondence with constituents. He may be admitted to senate committee hearings, and to the senate floor. He may be asked to do small tasks for the senator's office, such as clerking, paging, etc.

Bryant College will be allotted four internships for the first half of 1963. This will mean two students a week will be selected, for each of two weeks. Bryant may be allotted the last two weeks in January, but this may be subject to change.

For participation, all applicants must have a grade of B or better in his Political Science (or History, Economics, or Sociology) courses, preferably be on the Dean's List, and be a junior or senior.

The cost for the full week in Washington will be approximately $75.00, including transportation to and from Washington, plus lodging and food.

Any student interested in this program should address a letter of application to Dr. Leboritz to include the following: Listing relevant courses taken in Political Science, History, Economics, and Sociology, and the grades therein; setting out in one paragraph why he or she is interested in participating in the Internship Program.

For answers to any further questions concerning this program, please contact Dr. Leboritz, faculty coordinator.

President Jacobs Invited to Be Warwick Urban Renewal Adviser

By Charlene Basso

Mayor Hobbs of Warwick has asked President E. Gardner Jacobs to become a member of the advisory committee for urban renewal in the city of Warwick. Dr. Jacobs was also elected a life member of the Corporation of the Osteopathic Hospital.

Bryant Backs The United Fund

By Joseph Minio

Every recognized organization on the Bryant College Campus has agreed to make a contribution to a fund which will be donated to the United Fund. These recognized organizations include fraternities, sororities, dormitories, the student council, etc. Their members feel that an intense campaign on the part of these organizations to augment the United Fund will instill the enthusiasm in people that is required to make such a worthwhile campaign a success.

The United Fund is your local non-profit organization, formed for the purpose of raising money for your health, welfare and youth agencies, through one annual campaign. The basic goal for the 1962 United Fund Campaign is as follows: To curtail juvenile delinquency by building better citizens; give attention and love to the abandoned and abused child; give therapy to the afflicted and disabled; give nursing care to the home-bound patient; give training to rehabilitate the handicapped; provide purposeful activities for the aged . . . To make our State a better place in which to live.

The United Fund is run by responsible volunteer citizens who are leaders in the community's life. Without your assistance and that of substantial numbers of your fellow citizens, however, these citizens' leaders would be at a help-

"WE WANT . . ."

By William P. McMillen

"We want meal tickets." Fine, everything in your demand is fine, except . . . "We" is the wrong word. Are you a collective being? Have you ever heard of "I." Use it, if you can. You can speak for no one else but yourself because you are unable to know what others really want. Try to say, "I want a meal ticket." Can you? or is it a lie? Do you "want," or are you hiding your wants by the use of the word "we," the word imposed upon you by the man unwilling to stand alone and identify himself by saying "I." Are you making demands for friendship? Are you succumbing to demands for friendship? Your friends are not true if they cause you to misrepresent yourself. They cannot ask you to refrain from action to give their demands more weight; no more than you can ask them to act in order to give your right of free choice its equal representation. They cannot ask you to represent them unless they will represent you and do what your free choice tells them to do—free from the boos, the jeers, or any other resultant. Should you take their position and set your own aside, you give their demands a greater representation than they deserve. The price of those demands, the price of their responsibility is something you cannot afford.

Why do they want you to join them in their "we"? It is because they do not want to pay the price; they do not want the responsibility. They are cowards! They are afraid to identify themselves. They are frauds because they do not believe their action is honorable enough to have their names associated with it. They hide behind the protective coating of the word "We," a word that stands for no one in particular but everyone in general—except themselves—when the time arrives to pay the price.

Look around you; where are your leaders? Who are they? Who is co-ordinating your actions so that they don't get out of hand? the television cameramen and news photographers? Tell me you are co-ordinating your own action. Now say, "I want a meal ticket." If you cannot speak the truth, someone else has control over you.

Those that can say it truthfully, but not aloud, are the enslavers of your free choice. They exercise the control that prevented you from going into the caf. How? . . . by what you consider friendship or the use of the word "we"?

Effect of the 35-Hour Week

WASHINGTON—The less a man works, the less he produces. With a nation, it's the same way. Cutting the workweek from 40 to 35 hours, as the AFL-CIO plans to ask Congress to do next session, could mean a one-eighth cut in production, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

If this happens, we would have fewer products (like food, TV sets, and autos) and less services (like auto repairing).

Holding wages at the same level for a 35-hour week as for a 40-hour week, as the AFL-CIO suggests, could mean inflation, inasmuch as the same number of dollars would be chasing fewer goods and services.

Other possible consequences of cutting the workweek would be:

—A curb on economic growth as the less we produce the less we have to invest in new equipment and research.

—A slow up in the rate of productivity increases as this growth depends on new investments.

—A sharing of unemployment rather than employment as dampening of productivity gains by a shorter workweek would hurt long-range ability of American firms to compete with foreign firms.

Nor is it likely that the unskilled and semi-skilled workers for whom demand is slackening would be helped. Demand is for well educated clerical and technical workers. Cutting the hours of work might actually increase demand for these workers, but how could they share their work with the unskilled and semi-skilled?

There is one sure way to boost employment: tax cuts to spur job producing investments. The National Chamber will ask Congress to act quickly on tax cuts after it convenes in January.

Want Meal Ticket

Dorm Students Demonstrate At Refectory

By William McMillen

Dormitory students demonstrated in front of the cafe last Tuesday night and Wednesday noon over the issue of a new policy about meal tickets. They want these meal tickets as a rebate on the breakfast that many of them don't eat because of the "early serving hour", 7 A.M. to 8 A.M.

The demonstration Tuesday night occurred around nine o'clock in front of the cafe on Young Orchard Avenue. It was overheard that television cameramen and press photographers helped direct the action for the purpose of obtaining photographs. Apparently they did; for next morning, students gathered around to see who were lucky enough to have their pictures on page 4 of the Providence Journal.

At eleven o'clock Wednesday, the demonstrators once more gathered around the cafeteria with signs, posters, and drawings. The students stood around discussing their demands.

A few of the demonstrators sat on the cafeteria steps for awhile, but they dispersed shortly after a motorcycle cop came into the area. Another policeman, stationed in a car across the street, said the students had not been warned. President Jacobs discussed the matter with a few student gatherings. He said that they were going about the thing in an "improper way." He said that the proper way was to present a plan through the Student Senate. "We are willing to do what we can," he said. He stated that what could not be done could at least be discussed so the student body would know they were not being ignored.

At a meeting in his office, Mr. Jacobs presented a proposal that will go into effect when and if the operational difficulties can be solved. Mr. Falcione indicated some of these problems in an interview Wednesday noon. He said he cannot spare the help needed to push the line through at a later time. They are needed to prepare the food for lunch. The meal ticket, he indicated, would involve a cost of printing. He added that he would never know how many students were going to use the meal ticket or come to the hot breakfast. Since he has to prepare for the possibility of all coming to breakfast, the rebate would be an additional cost. Dr. Jacobs' proposal entails a possible solution to this problem by guaranteeing a definite number for Mr. Falcione to plan on each morning.

A demonstration scheduled for Wednesday night was cancelled at the request of the Student Senate.

Summer Job List Available Before Christmas Vacation

A directory listing summer jobs throughout the United States for college students is now available. Students can begin their summer plans during the Christmas holiday vacation.

The 1963 "Summer Employment Directory" gives the names and addresses, of 1,485 organizations which want to employ college students. It also gives positions open, salaries, and suggestions on how to apply.

The many types of jobs in the directory are found at summer camps, resorts, various departments of the government, business and industry. National parks, ranches, and summer theatres listed also need college students.

Students wishing summer work apply directly to the employers, who are included in the directory at their own request.

Copies of the new "Summer Employment Directory" may be obtained by sending $3.00 to National Directory Service, Dept. C, Box 32065, Cincinnati 32, Ohio. Mark "rush" for first-class mailing in December.

Theodore C. Schmults To Address Newman Club

Have you ever asked yourself this question, "What does Christmas mean to me personally, as a college student?" When you think Reverend Theodore C. Schmults this question through, bring your answer to the Newman Club's speaker meeting on December 12, at 3 o'clock. Then, you will be able to compare opinions with Reverend Theodore C. Schmults, our guest speaker.

Reverend Schmults is a graduate of St. Brieux Seminary in France. He teaches religion at St. Xavier's Academy. Also, Father Schmults has been for the past seven years part-time curate at St. Joseph's Church.

Come to the speaker meeting on Wednesday and lend your ears to an enlightening speech about Christmas in the student's personal life. Be sure to look for our blue posters and fliers as a reminder.

PROFITS

You cannot tell the truth about profits too often. Despite all that has been said, it is not enough.

Profits are not only an inducement to risk savings in the face of uncertainty, but they are the reward for having succeeded.

Profits measure the performance of the managers of the capital invested in business and they regulate the allocation of capital among businesses.

Rising profits signal the need for expansion and attract capital. Declining profits signal the need for contraction and repeat capital.

Profits are, of themselves, the primary source of venture capital for modernization, expansion and the creation of new enterprises.

Considering the functions of profits, it is not surprising that profit deterioration over the past several years has been accompanied by worrisome problems.

For it is profits and the expectation of profits that give forward momentum to the economy.

It is profits that encourage savings to become employed productively, creating jobs, producing higher incomes, generating resources and strengthening the security and leadership of the United States.

A rise in profits means a rise in investment.

A rise in investment means a decline in unemployment.

These relationships are clear-cut and basic.

Why have profits been squeezed? My own convictions are these:

First, a growing number of our basic, important industries have been increasingly found that foreign competition and imports are putting ceilings on prices they can obtain for their products. This situation will not, in my opinion, diminish but will grow.

Secondly, wage increases far exceeding gains in productivity have been pushing costs upward against the price ceiling. It is in the convergence of the price and wage trends that the squeeze on profits occurs.

Thirdly, business costs have suffered from a rising level of taxation and the direct tax on corporate profits has increased to 52 per cent.

Also, business and industry function in the United States today under an increasing pressure of uncertainty arising from non-economic forces—to put it bluntly, from political forces. I am talking about the day-to-day control exercised over business and industry by the regulatory agencies of government and the constant threat of new legislative restrictions.

The public has virtually no conception of the administrative maze or regulation surrounding businesses in this country. Left to businessmen the regulation is a hard reality. The flow of new regulations and reinterpretations of old regulations—many appearing to be at cross-purposes with one another—introduces elements of confusion and uncertainty over the future. And a clouded future is the most effective deterrent to investment.

The time is past due for the American people to study the record and to realize:

That investment and profits are directly linked, rising and falling in a lockstep pattern.

That no investment declines, unemployment rises, and vice versa.

That sales and investments by corporations in the United States have grown steadily less profitable over the past 15 years.

And, most alarmingly, but not surprisingly in the circumstances, that investment in our economy has fallen over the past ten years to keep pace with the growth of population.

It is important that people study this record and realize these things, because they are being told that investment isn't what the country needs. They are being told that what we need is more spending, and particularly more government spending. The proponents of the We Can Spend Ourselves into Prosperity Theory are not the least ashamed by the fact that spending has been rising at a rapid clip for 15 years or more. They fail to acknowledge the inconsistency when they say that we still have economic problems for which the proper medicine is more spending.

While spending has been rising, investment has been failing to keep in step. Unless this trend is reversed, the country will continue to be plagued by unemployment and an unsatisfactory rate of economic growth.

Any business that fails to invest sufficiently in its future is certain to be buried by its competitors. As much can be said of nations. Mr. Khrushchev's interest in the health of our economy is enough to take the discussion out of the category of special pleading, and that is where we must take it.

We must search out and make clear the conditions under which a growing multitude of Americans will be increasingly encouraged to seek profits in our competitive enterprise system. For therein lies the key to reversing the downward trend in the rate of investment.

We must ask why investment has failed to keep up with our need for growth and solvency.

Is it because "profits" has indeed become a dirty word, as Mr. Eisenhower says?

Is it because people have had small concern for the effect on profits of wage increases that absorbed our economic gains as fast or faster than they were achieved?

Is it simply because of the hard-boiled fact of declining profits and a lot of hard-boiled corollary decisions that the rewards weren't worth the chances?

Is it because taxes have siphoned off too much income that otherwise would have shown up as venture capital?

Is it because uncertainty arising from non-economic forces have worked to discourage the taking of risk?

These are hard questions because they demand thought and perhaps the discarding of bias. But they are meaningful questions for Americans today. Employees, stockholders, neighbors, friends—anyone who will listen—should be encouraged to consider them seriously. It is important that we sacrifice time and effort to this task. I say that not just because the material well-being and the security of the American people are dependent upon the progress of our economy, but because individual freedom hangs in the balance.

What The Greeks Are Doing

ZSO News

By Sandy Hart

Hi, everyone! I hope you all had a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday and are returning in full swing of things.

On November 15 at 7:30 p.m. the sisters of Zeta Sigma Omicron Sorority held their smoker upstairs in the Student Union.

As independents and freshmen arrived, they were presented with a sachet pillow, a program about the sorority, a book of matches with the sorority and fraternity letters on it, and a corsage of small white mums.

The sisters of the sorority and Mrs. Wallace C. Camper, our sorority adviser whom we were very pleased to have with us, wore large orchid mums corsages.

Our meeting opened with the sorority prayer led by Jane Mulligan, Chaplain.

Pauline Burghardt, president, then told the girls about the sorority and what they should expect from a sorority and introduced the officers and the sisters of the sorority.

Mrs. Camper told the girls that they make a sorority; the sorority doesn't make them.

Joan Millard, vice-president, prepared the girls for the future by telling them about "help week" and "hell night."

After the brief introductory meeting adjourned, the sisters joined the brothers of Alpha Omicron in the gym for refreshments and dancing. Dancing was to the music of "Le Quintet."

Hi! The sisters of S.I.C. are eagerly planning for our coming Hobo Party. It will take place December 13 at St. Joseph's Hall. Invitations will be sent out to all freshmen who attended our smoker, and if you don't receive an invitation, come anyway; we'll be happy to see you. Interviews will be scheduled at this time. Keep your eyes open for our posters for full details of time, place, and transportation.

Because we are a National Sorority each sister must take a National Exam each year. These exams were taken Tuesday; let's hope everyone passed.

We would like to congratulate Jean Kott, Jeri Clouser, and Maurine Monfet (Chairman) for the wonderful job they did with SNOWBOUND. We would also like to thank everyone who attended.

Don't forget to buy your raffle ticket for the motor scooter and other great prizes that our Brothers, Phi Sig, are raffling off December 8.

That's all for now.

News of Phi Upsilon

By Rosey Rook

Now that the winter season is coming upon us, Chi Gamma Iota and Phi Upsilon have chosen their own Snow Queen, Elaine Churnside. All the brothers and sisters are working very hard to help our queen be recognized all over the campus. Good Luck, Elaine!!

Congratulations to Chuck Moore and Linda Zachiek for the wonderful job they did at K.T.'s Turkey Trot! They really cut a rug!

Preparations are in order for our annual tea to be held in Jacobs Hall. All the prospective pledges are invited.

All the sisters wish Jack Speed a very Happy Birthday, HONK! We are planning a surprise birthday party for him, which he helped to arrange.

Beta's and Theta's Smoker A Success

By Jerry Greifer

Beta Sigma Chi's and Sigma Lambda Theta's smoker on November 20 was a success. All the brothers would like to thank the freshmen and independents that attended. After the brothers introduced themselves and gave a brief history of the fraternity, Theta and its prospective pledges joined Beta and its prospective pledges. An enjoyable evening was had by all. The evening was highlighted by refreshments and music. Beta's interviews are approaching, and all those interested are invited to attend.

Everyone had a great time at the orphanage party at St. Aloysius Orphanage. The brothers of Beta, the sisters of Theta, and prospective pledges were busy all afternoon playing football, twister, playing musical chairs, ducking for apples, and eating refreshments. Even though all this activity tired everyone out, all are looking forward to the next orphanage party next semester.

Beta Sigma Chi started off the basketball season on the right foot by beating BIB 27-21 in the first game of the season. Our next game is on Thursday. Anyone wishing to watch is invited.

The brothers of BETA SIGMA CHI want to wish Joanne Joyner, their Sno' Queen candidate, lots of luck. We're all behind you, Joanne!

News From Delta Sigma Chi

By Patti Toof

Congratulations, Kathy, and best wishes to our candidate for Snow Queen. The Brothers of AOX and the Sisters of DEX are behind you all the way. Good Luck tomorrow, Kathy.

We were very glad to see the girls that attended our tea last Sunday. It was really most gratifying to see so many girls interested in Delta. After the prospective sisters departed from Ellie's home, the present sisters rolled up their sleeves and made posters for Kathy's campaign for Snow Queen.

The DEX sisters want to congratulate the brothers of AOX on the wonderful fashion show they presented at Masquers' Talent Showcase. Brothers you were just great—and so-o-o pretty.

The present task of the sisters is selling Schraff's hard candies. These candies are just perfect for the upcoming holiday season.

Doug Powell, Chuck Grundman, and Jim Sama play "piggy-back" with the children at the orphanage party.

As everyone in Theta and Beta was rested up after the Thanksgiving vacation, they were ready for a week of hard work in support of our candidate. The haste and bustle of this campaign made everyone in Theta anxious to display their artistic talents by making posters.

The Beta and Theta Smoker, which was held November 20, was enjoyed by all those who attended. Now that the smoker is over, plans for Theta's Tea are in progress. The tea, which is slated for December 16 at Barbara Aiello's house, is for all prospective pledges of Theta.

We hope to see you there.

What's New In Phi U?

By Marie Cataldi

Congratulations to Phil Upsilon and Chi Gamma Iota, especially Linda Zajicek and Chuck Moore, for winning first prize in the dance contest held at the Turkey Trot Saturday, November 17. Thanks, Linda and Chuck, for a job well done.

Sunday, November 18, the sisters of Phi Upsilon held an ice skating party at the Shippard Ice Bowl. Aside from sore ankles and frost-bitten toes, everyone had an enjoyable time. A beginning skater, Ellen Sylvia, didn't even fall once. Keep up the good skating, Ellen.

Congratulations to a happy couple who were recently engaged—Trudy Walsh, sister of Phi Upsilon Sorority, to Ronny Marino, brother of Chi Gamma Iota Fraternity. We wish them the best of luck and happiness in the future. We would also like to wish the best of luck to Frank Rook who has also found his happiness. Need I say more?

Have you heard who Chi Gam's candidate for Sno' Queen is? I'll give you a clue: "Look for the girl in blue." Yes, it's Elaine Churnside. What a wise choice!!! Elaine, who resides in North Providence, is a senior at Bryant College and a sister of Phi Upsilon Sorority. She is a Medical Secretarial major and has achieved a place on the Dean's List for two semesters. To our sweet and lovely candidate, Phi U and Chi Gam wish you the best of luck in the coming events of Sno' Queen.

The sisters of Phi Upsilon are diligently preparing for their tea, which will be held Sunday, December 9. A lot of planning and hard work are being put into this affair so that we can assure all who come a good time. All interested girls are invited to attend. Posters will be on all bulletin boards. See you there!

KT has a pretty good candidate for Sno' Queen this year. Our candidate is short, has long brown hair, big eyes, and is very cute. Why don't you get to know her; she has a terrific personality.

It's about time! KT has a party coming up on December 7. Ask the brothers for directions and the time.

Thanks for coming to the Turkey Trot. We hope you had a good time. Bill Hoffman deserves all of the credit for the dance. I don't think anybody else could have done one-half as good a job. Sincerest thanks to Bill from all of the brothers.

I hope you Freshmen remember that you have a 1.75 average to pledge any fraternity; so get busy. Interviews start pretty soon, and we'd like to see all of the guys that attended the smoker there.

KT got a good start in the basketball season this year. Turn to the sport page for the game.

Chi Gam News

By Harry Mikaelian

The brothers of Chi Gam are pleased to announce the candidacy of Elaine Churnside as our next snow queen entry. All the plans have been ok'd and the next step is to put her on top. Good luck, Elaine.

Hats off to Chuck Moore and Linda Zajicek for winning the Turkey Trot contest. But there is a rumor among the brothers that we might have to get another trophy. It seems that Linda and Chuck have polished away most of it already.

A number of pledges have been disappointed due to the sudden lack of Chi Gam parties. I am happy to inform them that the apartments we had used previously are almost repaired; and if we are lucky, there might be a little tiny blast at one of our usual demolition sites. Let's hope the party will celebrate our candidate's winning the Sno' Queen.

Excitement Mounts for Gala Sno' Queen Ball

noisance, others maintain that there is no better outlet for the imagination than a blank piece of cardboard. The poster display has found its own little place in Sno' Queen and apparently it is here to stay. The Bryant initiative and imagination have often been beautifully displayed in the float design and construction combined with the poster display.

In the next phase of the Sno' Queen festival the candidates are completely on their own for they must face a group of carefully selected judges. The tension in the auditorium builds until the air is electric with anticipation. The last words of moral encouragement are uttered to the candidates and they walk down the aisle individually to be introduced to the judges. The candidates are scored on appearance, poise, intelligence, and all the other qualities necessary in a Sno' Queen. The encounter with the judges is one that is anticipated with fear, encountered with numbness, and passed with relief.

The questions formulated by Sigma Lambda Pi are designed to challenge the girls' intelligence, test their social poise, and add a spark of humor to the affair. The judges are carefully investigated by Sigma Lambda Pi and are selected only if the brothers feel that they have the necessary qualifications to judge and will be completely impartial in their scoring. Great care is taken in selecting the judges, and those chosen should feel very proud of their ability and character.

At this point it is only proper to present an expression of thanks to those fraternities sponsoring candidates. To correctly handle a campaign requires strong organization and fraternalism. Without these two qualities a campaign can turn into a shambles and be a disgrace to the fraternity. All of the participating fraternities have shown these two important qualities and should be congratulated. All should be proud of their candidates and the campaigns they formulated. Nothing but pride should be in the hearts of the brothers of the sponsoring fraternities.

As soon as one enters the doors of what use to be Bryant's gym tomorrow night, one will enter a new world of color and excitement. An extensive job of decorating is being completed that will make the Bryant gym unrecognizable. The brothers of Sigma Lambda Pi have gone to every possible extreme to make this a Sno' Queen Ball that will excite the imagination and create an atmosphere of gaiety worthy of a Queen.

You are all invited to join the Queen's court. Long live the Queen!

Sigma Iota Beta News

Our bowling team is bowling down the right alley this season with victories over KDK, Theta, and SIC. The highest single on the team was bowled by Sandy Massaro with a 202. How's that for bowling!

SIB recently received a letter from its orphan, Allbagucci, who lives in Florence, Italy. SIB has been corresponding with her for the past seven years. Through the kindness of our advisor, Carolyn, we are able to write letters to her in Italian. Her last letter told us how well she was progressing in school, and she wishes all the sisters a joyous holiday season.

To start the holiday season off right, SIB made a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family in the Providence area. We hope we filled their appetites for the day and made their holiday a little bit brighter.

The holiday season this year will again be high lighted by the annual Sno-Queen Campaign. Undoubtedly you saw BIB's entry in the parade of floats which was high lighted by Margo. All the brothers and sisters kept busy making posters and putting forth all efforts for their support in this campaign—especially for Margo.

BIB will hold a cocktail party in honor of the efforts during campaign week for all sisters and brothers on December 15. That will be a welcome relief after loads of hard work.

SIB will hold three teas this year instead of the usual one. Our first tea was held a week ago last Thursday and will be followed by our informal tea on December 5, which will be followed by a formal tea on December 16. Through these teas we hope to be able to get better acquainted with our prospective pledges and for them to develop a warmer insight into SIB and to meet the sisters again. All interested freshmen are cordially invited to attend.

The Brothers of Beta Iota Beta wish our Sno' Queen candidate Margo Drotter the best of luck at the dance Saturday night. Thanks to all those who made the campaign a success—especially our division in the parade.

We express our appreciation to Roz Miller and Manny Gorriaran for the fine performance in the Turkey Trot. Manny, is that the way they do the Cha-Cha in Cuba?

The Brothers feel that our basketball team is especially strong this year and that we have a good chance of winning the trophy.

Good luck to Chris and Mary Lou who are being married December 15.

Thanks to our sisters who held a party at Gordon Parsons' house for the brothers. There was plenty to go around.

Chi Gamma Iota News

By Dick Bartels

Chi Gam held an ice skating party last Friday, Nov. 9, and judging from the fun had, there will be a repeat party held soon.

The brothers are making plans to spend a weekend in New Hampshire sometime in January. Such ski trips have proved a big success in past years.

The cry of all the sisters is: "Where has Harry been hiding?" Frank Rook's strange adventures in Woonsocket caused him to miss last week's party.

A Special Thanks

By Joseph S. Dwyer

The brothers of Sigma Lambda Pi wish to extend a special note of thanks to two of their members who have worked above and beyond the call of duty. We refer to the efforts of Ted Arena and Peter Castelli in the Sno' Queen preparations. Everybody made their contribution, but these two stalwart individuals deserve special attention and thanks.

All the preparations for Sno' Queen are now completed and all that remains now is the sweat and tears of the final week. We feel that everyone will be amazed at what can be done with the gym. The road to Sno' Queen was long and difficult, but we feel the outcome will be well worth while. Join us Saturday night and see if you don't agree.

We wish to extend our best of luck to all the sponsoring fraternities and their candidates. Naturally only one girl can win but all should be proud of the candidates that they sponsored.

On behalf of the brothers of Sigma Lambda Pi I would like to extend an invitation to all to attend the grandest dance of the year. I'll see you at Sno' Queen!

News of Alpha Theta Chi

By K. Rich Zurowski

The planning and work for Sno' Queen took up a lot of the brothers' time last week. Work on the float was a real fraternity project and was well worth the time and trouble put into it. We're sure that Kathy Deleone, our candidate, will do well in the contest.

Congratulations to Joe Alfano (AOX) on pinning Nancy Manchester (SIB).

Two weeks ago the brothers were a big hit in their representation of the GLC in the variety show. Quite the fashions were shown.

Quickies but goodies . . . Boy! Does Skip do a lot of work . . . Cement's got money troubles . . . How's that ankle, Rich . . . We hear that Blaze is quite the basketball player . . . Dick's quite the Santa—ho, ho, ho, what can he pick-up for you . . . All I can say about you Bobbo is—hah . . . Pete misses that fashion show . . . Fini.

Bryant Christian Association News

By Ann Louise Weimer

At a recent BCA meeting a selection for the office of Vice-President was held. Bruce Powell was elected to fill the vacancy created when Owen Johnson, former vice-president, became president upon the resignation of Gordon Cochran. Bruce will serve as vice-president for the remainder of the year.

On Sunday, November 18, members of the Bryant Christian Association attended a special communion breakfast service at the Church of the Redeemer.

On Monday evening, November 26, the Bryant Christian Association held another bowling party. The expert bowlers in the group maintained an extremely close, but very friendly, contest all evening to determine the champion bowler. Only a few pins separated the winner from the other experts, and the tie did result in one game. BCA's top bowlers that night were Bruce Powell, Owen Johnson, and Marjorie Collison.

BCA's Christmas party is scheduled for Friday evening, December 14. This year an ice-skating party will be held first, and the annual Christmas party will follow.
