An Apology

To the French Consul-General

In the March 14 edition of the Archway an article appeared entitled "French Consul Explains His Nation's Position." Because of a typographical error a quotation by Mr. Jean Savelli, French consul general of Boston read: "President DeGaulle is trying to dominate Europe." It should have read: "President DeGaulle is not trying to dominate Europe."

Trade Show to Be Held at Bryant

By Kenneth Levine

The current American Marketing Association is planning a trade show entitled "Rhode Island Industry on Parade," to be held in the Henry L. Jacobs Library on April 22 to May 4. The show will consist of the participation of eleven outstanding industries, all of which are located in Rhode Island. Each company will exhibit its articles of production, showing the product from the beginning stages to the finished product. Some of the companies will exhibit working models of the production routine in their industry.

The committees who have been working arduously for the last three months are headed by Richard Haines. The assistant chairman for the show is Walter Blackburn. The chairman for the advertising committee is Kenneth Levine, with Gary Van Wie, Robert Marcus, and Charlotte Kenny. Floor Planning is headed by David Dahlen, with Herbert Zeiman. The chairman for the Promotional Planning is Dana Towle, with Edward Zeminski. These ten people have spent a great many hours in planning and designing for the up-coming show.

The administration and faculty have been working side-by-side with the trade show committee since the start of the project. Their help has been highly appreciated by everyone concerned with the show.

The companies who will exhibit at the show are Armbrust Chain Co., Gorham Corporation, California Artificial Flower Co., Brown and Sharpe Mfg. Corp., American Luggage Works, Inc., Corning Glass Works, The Bonner Company, Imperial Knife, and WJAR television and radio. Two tentative companies are Bulova Watch Co. and United States Rubber Co. With this group of companies, the show will be of interest to many people in Rhode Island, including business men and college students.

The planning of the show thus far has been conducted by the committee, with the help of Dr. Russell, assistant to the president, and Mrs. Hochberg, director of public relations. Further planning for the show will require a greater participation from the student body. If anyone is interested in working for the show, whether in A.M.A. or not, he may contact Richard Haines or Walter Blackburn. Any help will be greatly appreciated.

Twenty-Three Attend Eastern States Teachers Conference

By Fred Ricci

On Thursday, March 21, twenty-three members of the Business Teacher-Education curriculum left Providence at 8:50 p. m. to attend the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools Conference held at New York City for Teachers. Upon arriving at the New Yorker Hotel, the students proceeded to the grand ballroom where they registered for the conference and received the official badge stating their names, college, and state.

At 4:00 p.m. Miss Wanda Przybyla and Miss Jeanne Rivet attended the meeting of student discussion leaders held at New York University. Mr. Anthony Barraco from Oswego State University College introduced the student discussion leaders and assigned each leader a summarizer and a recorder for his group.

On Friday, March 22, at 9:00 a. m. the delegates attended the general session which was held at the grand ballroom in the New Yorker Hotel. Dr. Senora of Southern Connecticut State College discussed the theme of the conference: "Survival of the Free Mind."

Following Dr. Senora's speech, faculty members and students proceeded to their assigned rooms. Each group was assigned a topic for general discussion. The topics included the following: "Free Mind—Working or Stagnant" "Teacher Preparation Influence on a Free Mind" "Free Mind on a Conforming Society," "Student Government's Role in Developing a Free Mind," "Controversial Issues," "One World and the Free Mind," "Limits of a Free Mind."

After the morning adjournment of the discussion groups, all members proceeded to the ballroom for a luncheon meeting. At this meeting Dr. Margaret Mead addressed the assembly on "Cultural Conditions for a Free Mind." Her speech was very interesting, educational, and enjoyable. Later the faculty and students proceeded for a second time to their assigned rooms. Here the groups completed the topic and summarized the discussion.

On Saturday, March 23, the student and faculty delegates gathered for the last general speakers' meeting. Dr. Oscar W. Weigand, President of the Conference, summarized the conference and announced the new officers for next year. Students at Bryant were pleased when Miss Priscilla Moulton was named Secretary and when Dr. Dorothy Mierzwa of Rhode Island College was named President.

The Thirty-Eighth Annual Conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers adjourned at 12:00 p. m. and the Bryant delegates proceeded to sight-see New York City.

Spring Is Here

Came the Spring with all its splendor,
All its buds and all its blossoms,
All its flowers and leaves, and grasses.

Hiawatha: Longfellow

As the new season of spring made its arrival, a 5-inch blanket of snow covered the ground. The day was cold and dreary as the snow flurries continued to fall.

The state and local highway plowers and sanders were at work to correct the dangerous road conditions; however, numerous skidding accidents did occur.

Now that the snow has melted and the warm weather has set in, many signs of spring are visible. The grass is turning green, the blossoms are starting to appear on the trees, the birds are beginning their long journey back to the north, and the crocuses are starting to bloom—all truly the first signs of spring.

Everyone on the Bryant Campus is beginning to feel the effects of spring. Enjoying the warm weather, many students sit outside to study.

Blue skies are here to stay,
And snow will fall no more,
As summer sports get underway,
To winter we close the door.

College Spirit

By Lawrence Walinski

Spirit, as it applies to campus activities, is the joining or grouping together of many students for a common cause. A few examples will illustrate the point—a large group of students attending a basketball game, yelling and cheering for their team to win; a fraternity or sorority that puts up a candidate for a particular contest with its members doing everything possible for him or her to win; students getting into groups to discuss the qualifications a certain candidate has or what he can do for the school at the time of Student Senate elections.

Having the right spirit is just as important a trait in a person as is a high scholastic standing or being an outstanding athlete.

How do you think the members of a basketball team feel playing a game with a large following cheering their opponents and a meager few cheering them on?

How do students expect the various organizations to get the right kind of leaders if they don't become active and participate in them?

The only way to find out what's going on is to be a part of what is going on.

At this time of year many elections are taking place. The Student Senate will elect a new slate. Members of fraternities and sororities will be voting for new officers and so will other various organizations.

Your spirit will be shown by your having an enthusiastic outlook upon these elections and by taking part in them.

Remember, the person you vote for is the one you want for your leader. A baseball team is to be formed for the first time in 25 years. Spirit is needed to encourage these boys. Your spirit can be just as instrumental as a home run in winning a ball game.

"Came the Spring with all its splendor . . ."

The campus of Bryant College was covered with a blanket of snow on the first day of Spring. The Administration Building provided a gorgeous picture viewed through the snow covered trees.

Student enthusiasm for the Spring weather was shown by the snowman built in front of the Faculty House. Adding the finishing touches are John Clow, Jim Grace, and Bob Else.

Crazy Spring?

Trotting through the snow to class, early arrivals had to walk through 4 inches of newly fallen snow. The first day of spring provided everyone with an amusing surprise.

HOW TO GET EDUCATED ALTHOUGH ATTENDING COLLEGE

In your quest for a college degree, are you becoming a narrow specialist, or are you being educated in the broad, classical sense of the word?

This question is being asked today by many serious observers—including my barber, my roofer, and my little dog Spot—and it would be well to seek an answer.

Are we becoming experts only in the confined area of our majors, or does our knowledge range far and wide? Do we, for example, know who fought in the Battle of Jenkins' Ear, or Kant's epistemology, or Planck's constant, or Valsalva's maneuver, or what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey?

If we do not, we are turning, alas, into specialists. How then can we broaden our vistas, lengthen our horizons—become, in short, educated?

Well sir, the first thing we must do is throw away our curricula. Tomorrow, instead of going to the same old classes, let us try something new. Let us not think of college as a rigid discipline, but as a kind of vast academic smorgasbord, with all kinds of tempting intellectual tidbits to savor. Let's start sampling tomorrow.

He was so moved he wrote Joyce Kilmer's immortal Trees

We will begin the day with a stimulating seminar in Hittite artifacts. Then we will go over to marine biology and spend a happy hour with the sea slugs. Then we will open our pores by drilling a spell with the ROTC. Then we'll go over to journalism and tear out the front page. Then we'll go to the medical school and autograph some casts. Then we'll go to home economics and have lunch.

And between classes we'll smoke Marlboro Cigarettes. This, let me emphasize, is not an added filip to the broadening of our education. This is an essential. To learn to live fully and well is an important part of education, and Marlboros are an important part of living fully and well. What a sense of completeness you will get from Marlboro's fine tobaccos, from Marlboro's pure filter! What flavor Marlboro delivers! Through that immaculate filter comes flavor in full measure, flavor without stint or compromise, flavor that wrinkled care derides, flavor holding both its sides. This triumph of the tobaccoist's art comes to you in soft pack or Flip-Top box and can be lighted with match, lighter, candle, Welsbach mantle, or by rubbing two small Indians together.

When we have embarked on this new regimen—or, more accurately, lack of regimen—we will soon be cultured as all get out. When strangers accost us on the street and say, "What was Wordsworth doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey, hey?" we will no longer slink away in silent abashment. We will reply loud and clear:

"As any truly educated person knows, Wordsworth, Shelley, and Keats used to go to the Widdicombe Fair every year for the poetry-writing contests and three-legged races, both of which they enjoyed lyrically. Well sir, imagine their chagrin when they arrived at the Fair in 1776 and learned that Oliver Cromwell, uneasy because Guy Fawkes had just invented the spinning jenny, had cancelled all public gatherings, including the Widdicombe Fair and Liverpool. Shelley was so upset that he drowned himself in a butt of malmsey. Keats went to London and became Charlotte Bronte. Wordsworth ran blindly into the forest until he collapsed in a heap ten miles above Tintern Abbey. There he lay for several years, sobbing and kicking his little fat legs. At length, peace returned to him. He looked around, noted the beauty of the forest, and was so moved that he wrote Joyce Kilmer's immortal Trees . . . And that, smart-apple, is what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey."

Bryant Centennial Display in the main office of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company on Westminster Street has attracted much public interest.

A good practical pen for everyone. Everybody likes the LINDY. It writes nice. Lots of students buy two or three at a time. Maybe because it's only 39¢. Maybe because there are twelve brilliant ink colors. Or maybe they just like to have two or three or twelve around.

- Also nice to have around:
- STENO-PEN 49¢ ea. The secretary's secretary.
 - AUDITOR'S PEN 49¢ ea. Fine for (it figures) auditors.
 - LEGAL COPY PEN $1.00 ea. Retractable. Makes a permanent impression.

Display Commemorates Bryant's Centennial

By Alan Gilstein

In the lobby of the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company's Main Office on Westminster Street, there is a display commemorating Bryant's Centennial.

The display is titled "Service to the Community—Education for Business." The display is divided into three main sections. The left side of the display is devoted to earlier pictures of Bryant dating back as far as 1892. Some of these pictures include a photo of Bryant and Stratton in 1925, a graduation picture dated 1892, and a picture of Bryant's South Hall in 1935.

The center of this display features a huge open book. On the left page of this book is a copy of the old Bryant emblem and on the right page of the book is Bryant's new emblem. The title of this book is "A Century of Education for Business Leadership."

The right side of this display features Bryant as it appears today. Some of the pictures on this side of the display include pictures of Kilcup, Gardner, and Jacobs halls.

Also included in the display are the Governor's Proclamation honoring Bryant's Centennial Year; the Mayor of Providence's Proclamation, also honoring Bryant;

Dear Penelope

Dear Penelope:

I have been debating the idea of writing to you and have decided it was the only thing to do.

My boy friend is away at school and I am at home. We plan to get married someday, meaning that I don't go out with any other boy.

I sit home every night and write him a letter—sometimes two letters a day!! The thing is, he can't stand writing letters. I am lucky if I get three a week from him, although he does call me once a week. Now I am wondering if I should stay at home. He may have someone else—and I don't know about it—I'm all mixed up and need help!!!

LONG-DISTANCE LOVE

Dear LONG-DISTANCE LOVE:

In your letter you said that your boy friend is away at school. Did you ever stop to think that he may have a lot of schoolwork and that he may not always have time to write you a letter? If he did have someone else, I doubt that he would spend the money to call you every week or even take the time to write. Maybe he even wonders if you have someone else. Whether or not you should stay home every night is entirely up to you and depends on how serious you are about your boy friend. If you get too bored staying at home, just remember, "While the Cat's away ..."

Dear Penelope:

I have a very serious problem. I write for a column that is similar to yours; in fact, VERY SIMILAR. The problem is that I am running out of problems. It seems that no one has any problems for me to solve. What do I do? I've ended up solving my own problems except this one. Please try to help me!!!!

"DEAR ABBEY"

Dear "DEAR ABBEY":

It seems to me that I have a similar problem. After all, what is a column when you don't receive any letters?!!! The only way you can solve your problem is by putting out a plea for more letters—and numerous pamphlets about Bryant.

Many of the patrons of the bank have stopped to view the display and it has been apparent that those who did stop enjoyed what they saw. An elderly woman was heard to say that she was a 1911 graduate of Bryant and that she was still using the shorthand which she had learned at Bryant.

The display is open to the public Monday through Friday during the bank's normal banking hours.

I guess that is the only way I can solve my problem, too. GOOD LUCK to both of us!!

Dear Penelope:

I went out with a girl steady for two years. I then broke up with her in June, 1961. Around this past Christmas, I started taking her out again. I want to go steady with her, but she doesn't believe a word that I tell her. I would like your help so that you will be able to tell me what to do. PLEASE!!

CYRANO de BEGERAC

DEAR CYRANO:

You must have given this girl cause not to believe you. Maybe you told "little white lies" once too often!! If she did go out with you again after you had split up with her, then she must still be interested in you. She probably tells you that she doesn't believe a word you say because she wants reassurance—maybe it's not REASSURANCE she wants!!

Any problems? Write to Penelope and put your letters in the Archway mailbox.

Inside the Game:

Adieu to a Legend

By Jerome Langton

Whenever I think of Bob Cousy, the immediate image visualized, strangely enough, is not one of him in the throes of one of his contortionist-like stunts, but instead he is seen in street attire in the lobby of the R. I. Auditorium signing autographs for a herd of idolizing youngsters. Stopping to inspect the scene more closely, Cousy was found to be bantering lightly with the group who were hanging tenaciously to every word. A companion of mine had the gumption to fire a remark at Cousy concerning his protege, John Egan, who at the time was in the midst of his famous knee bedevilment. Hearing the remark, he sauntered over and soon a lively conversation was in progress, not only of Egan, but of the basketball world in general. This went on for some time until Cousy's immediate supervisor, a man by the name of Auerbach, came to summon him for the return trip to Boston.

This even capsules Cousy most completely. The stop in Providence was the last leg of a long two-week road trip for the Celts, and they were visibly anxious to get home. The game played that particular evening had, in itself, been a ragged affair; and although Boston had won, the team was not in an affable mood afterward. They brushed past pint-sized admirers and were all but discourteous as they hustled out; all but Cooz. He had time for everyone; he, the bell-wether of the whole show.

All that could ever be written or said with respect to this magician's prowess on the court as such has been written and said. Surely, the game is losing its greatest showman, but more than that, it is losing, at least as a player, a marvelous person. Those that have known him most intimately claim, without exception, that his deeds of charity and the hours that he has given freely to the worthiest of causes could never be counted.

When the 1950-51 N.B.A. season got underway, the league was in a — to say the least, destitute condition. It had material of some repute, but little in the way of color and great ballplayers. The N.B.A. had been riding, mostly, for years on the large back of one George Mikan, who was no slouch when it came to basketball playing. However, Mikan was 6' 11" and so completely dominated the game that it had long since, become old hat. Enter Cousy, by virtue incidentally of his name being drawn out of a hat. Cousy had to prove himself, said the Celtic authorities, for after all he had nothing to show except three All-American selections.

Show himself he did, and all of a sudden the N.B.A. had what it had once lacked: namely, class. The Cooz enthralled thousands upon thousands all across the country. Attendance boomeranged around the circuit. Sellouts became common place, where before they had been all too few and far between. Pro ball was on its feet.

Cousy had it all: the tremendous ability, the small size that would

Intramural Basketball Draws to Close

By David Barber

As the intramural double elimination tournament headed into its final week there were five teams left out of the original 15-team field. As the final week got under way, the leading clubs were Montana Raiders supporting a 4-0 record and Tau Epsilon also undefeated with a like number of victories. Other survivors were Gorman's Five, 3-1; AOX and Parks House, both 2-1.

The Raiders got to the final week via conquests over KT, Chi Gam, Gorman's Five and Beta Sigma Chi. Tau Ep advanced by getting by AOX, Sigma Lambda Pi, BIB, and Barber House.

The two pre-tourney favorites—Montana Raiders and Gorman's Five—clashed last week with the Raiders edging Gorman's 36-30. The game was highlighted by the fine second half shooting of Dick Gull, the Raider's leading scorer, who posted 18 of his 20 points in that period. Another big factor was the fine defensive work done by Jack Ray on Gorman's Five's leading scorer Bill Leclair, holding him to a scant 4 points. Co-leading Tau Ep's attack has been featured by well balanced scoring with all five starters figuring prominently.

Intramural Highlights:

The tournament's leading snipers thus far have been Chi Gam's Armond Desmaris, 14.0; the Raiders', Dick Gull, 13.7; AOX's, Charlie Andrade, 13.0; and Gorman's, Bill Leclair, 12.1. Montana Raiders and Gorman's Five look like the best bets to get to the finals, with Tau Ep considered a dark horse. A single elimination tournament between fraternities will follow this round.

serve to endear him to the fan everywhere, and the know-how to handle himself as an individual. Never, at any time, was there a trace of the prima donna in this great. Nights when he was injured or sick he was still in uniform if he could run the length of the floor. He brought a style to the game that had never before been tried. His wizardry with the ball influenced the game more than that of any other single person with the possible exception of Naismith. He drew the Boston ballclub together, and once they got the needed height, they were unstoppable. Everytime you saw him perform, and a performance it was, he showed you something new. He could make the impossible look as easy as jumping off a step.

There are many greats in the game today, and it is very possible that they all owe their jobs to Cousy. Without his much needed shot in the arm, pro ball might not have survived, and maybe there would have been no chance for the Baylors, Robertsons, Chamberlains, and Russells to do their stuff.

It will be a sad thing next year when the Celtics roll their mighty

Beta Sig Leads by Three and One-half Games

With one week of bowling left, Beta Sig holds a 3½-game lead over second place Phi Sig. This means that the Beta team will only have to win one game to clinch the title; however if they lose all four games Phi Sig stands a chance, by winning their four games, to go ahead by half a game. In the last week of bowling Phi Sig will be meeting third place Beta Iota Beta.

This match will be a crucial one; it will determine whether Phi Sig places first, second, or third. BIB is now only two games behind Phi Sig and could take over second place if the inspired bowling of the past four weeks continues.

Led by Manny Gorriaran and Joe Scarpelli, the BIB team has won more games during the past four weeks than any other team. They have steadily closed the seven-game lead Phi Sig held, to two games. BIB will be hard to stop; however, if Phi Sig wins only two games they will hold second place. Since the team standings are so close that one week can shift the top three teams around, interest and competition remain keen even to the last week.

In the high average race Dave Coon now has a decisive edge of 3 average points over Chuck Grundman and is therefore favored to win the trophy. Dave also holds the high three mark of 591; however, since no bowler can win more than one team and one individual award, the trophy will go to the bowler who rolls the next highest triple. Up to now Grundman and Scranton are tied at 570; however, Grundman holds the high single of 241 for which he gets a trophy. This leaves Scranton as the possible high triple winner. Phi Sig looks like the winner of the high team triple trophy, while the high-team single will probably be won by Beta Sig since Phi Sig will already have the high triple award. Even though Beta Sig may take first place, this does not make them ineligible for the high single team game trophy since a first place finish is not considered as one of the league records. The final awards, presented by the American Bowling Congress, will be four patches to the first place team and a buckle to the most improved bowler. As of now Dave Scranton and Dave Coon are just about tied for the award.

As confusing as all this may sound, the awards are distributed in this way to prevent one team or individual from winning everything, thereby keeping the individual incentive alive which is so necessary for a good league.

Something Else! Varsity Program Expanded to Include Intercollegiate Baseball

By F. Robert Else

April 1, 1963, will be remembered not as April Fool's Day but as the beginning of a new era in intercollegiate sports at Bryant College. Monday, April 1, in the Bryant gym more than sixty men reported for Bryant's first baseball team since 1933.

Our coach, Wallace S. Camper, was all-state for three years at Burlington High, Burlington, Vermont. After high school, Coach Camper played semi-pro ball in the New Hampshire State League, Woodsville, New Hampshire. He played freshman ball for U. R. I. Following college, he played professional ball in the St. Louis Brown's Farm System. In 1954 Mr. Camper coached Tabor School, Needham, Massachusetts. During the 1958-59 season, he coached the freshman team of Nichols College.

Coach Camper and Mr. Robert Hathaway, athletic director, have been working diligently for the past several months on the baseball schedule. Home games will be played at the Aldrich-Dexter Field at Brown University which is located at the corner of Hope Street and Lloyd Avenue.

Basketball Wrap-Up

By Larry Walinski

With the ending of the National Invitation Tournament and the N.C.A.A. Tournament, the only competition left in the roundball game is the National Basketball Association playoffs. The favorites here are the Boston Celtics, gunning for their fifth straight championship. The fact that this is the incomparable all-pro, Bob Cousy's, last season will be an additional incentive for the Celts to win.

The role of "favorites" did not produce a champion in the two past-season college tournaments.

Wichita, top seeded in the N.I.T., was handed a quarter-final defeat. Possessors of an 18-7 record, 7th-ranked nationally, and the fact that they defeated four of the top five teams in the country was enough to warrant their being top seeded.

Cincinnati, 25-1, first in the country, was considered "shoo-ins" for a third consecutive N.C.A.A. title. Much to their dismay, Loyola of Chicago won in overtime, 60-58.

The winner of the N.I.T. was a team from the smallest state in the Union—Providence College of Rhode Island. On their way to victory, the Friars, under the guidance of Coach Joe Mullaney, defeated Miami and Canisius, two teams that previously had beaten them in regular season play. The Friars also had the M.V.P. in captain, Ray Flynn, whose shooting exhibition still has New York buzzing. Jim Stone made some "moves" that even the experts of the game had never seen.

The other members of the starting five which Mullaney calls his best team at P.C., were Vin Ernst, John Thompson, and the big "K", Bob Kovalski, all of whom made invaluable contributions.

The N.C.A.A. final pitted Loyola, the nation's highest scoring team, 94 points per game, and Cincinnati, the leading defensive club in the country, allowing opponents a paltry 52 points per game. However, as it turned out, Cincinnati allowed Loyola three points too many.

So until the next "bounce," see you around the "sim."

Bryant Girls Defeat Rhode Island College In Second Match

By Ellen Kindstedt

On March 26, the Bryant girls' basketball team matched the talents of R. I. C. once more. The Bryant team defeated R. I. C. by a score of 41-14. At the end of the first quarter R. I. C. led 8-4, but not for long. Bryant pulled ahead at the end of the second quarter 13-9. From this point on, it was Bryant's game.

Marianne Bablewicz was high scorer with 17 points. Janet Fontaine added 13 more points to the final score. Another 8 points were contributed by D. Hageman; D. Oldfield and E. Gandolini scored 2 and 1 points respectively. By the end of the fourth quarter Bryant had rolled up 41 points and another victory.

Bryant Ten Pin Team Undefeated in Intercollegiate League

After seven weeks of competition the Bryant II team with Manny Gorriaran, Ray Antrop, Mark De-Bisshop, Jim Guy, and Dick Earle has won six matches and tied one. The team has won three of its matches 4 games to 0, another three matches 3 games to 1, and just last week had to settle for a tie with Barrington College at two games apiece. The games won during the six victories and one tie total 23, while the number lost is 5. This 23-and-5 record gives the team a first-place lead of four games with eight weeks of the 15-week season remaining.

Fine individual efforts have really helped put the team where it is. For instance, Ray Antrop, who has been bowling ten-pins for only two months, bowled a 233 game for the league's high single. Ray also has close to a 160 average which is pretty good for a beginner. A few weeks later, however, Manny Gorriaran bowled a 238 game to take over the league's high single. Both bowlers received a small trophy from the bowling establishment for bowling over 225.

Manny Gorriaran also holds the second highest league average of 174 while Mark De Bisshop holds the second highest three game total of 559. Jim Guy with his fine clutch strikes and Dick Earle with his enthusiastic bowling have also helped the team at the critical points when good bowling was needed. This fact was particularly evident when Jim and Dick helped to defeat the Bryant I team in one of the best matches of the league. For the Bryant I team it was a must game; they had to win all four games to catch up to Bryant II.

In the first game Bryant I won 971 to 930. In the second game Bryant I had apparently also won, 1000 to 998; however, upon re-checking the score was found to be 1007 to 1000 with Bryant II the winner. This demoralized the Bryant I team and Bryant II went on to win three games out of four, thereby holding on to first place.

With eight more weeks of bowling left either one of the two Bryant teams stands a good chance to win and bring home the big four-foot trophy to the campus. It was announced by the management that the trophy will be awarded at the Words Unlimited banquet this year. The presentation would give some nice publicity and recognition to Bryant. Let's hope we can do it.

Bryant Girls' Basketball Team Victorious Over Salve Regina and R. I. C.

By Ellen Kindstedt

The Bryant girls' basketball team played their first game with Salve Regina at Martin Recreation Center, Newport. At the end of the first quarter, Bryant was trailing 7-6; at the end of the half, 10-9. During the second half, the team rallied up a 20-19 lead going into the fourth quarter. When the final buzzer sounded, Bryant had pulled ahead to a final score of 30-26.

Scoring for Bryant were M. Babelewicz with 11 points, J. Fontaine with 9, K. Fascitelli with 3, D. Oldfield with 3, and E. Kindstedt with 2.

The team did a superlative job under the coaching of Bill Favirol. Bryant's second match was with Rhode Island College. R. I. C. took a wide lead during the first quarter and led Bryant 11-3.

It was not until the third quarter that Bryant pushed ahead with the fine shooting of Janet Fontaine and Marianne Babelewicz, who scored 20 and 15 points respectively. The final score of the game was Bryant 37, R. I. C., 23.

What The Greeks Are Doing

News of Alpha Theta Chi

By K. Rich Zuromski

Well, frat elections have taken place and all that's left is to count the absentees. The winners' names will be in the next article.

It was a gay election time for a while with plenty of parties taking place. Our fraternity "mother" had a sweet little party with plenty of refreshments. In fact, she fed the guests so much that it came out of their ears.

A meeting was recently held in New York, eleven brothers attending. After (and during) the meeting, refreshments were served. Everyone had a great time.

Basketball is in full swing and AOX is running over opponents. Led by "the bull," it looks like a successful season.

Want to see trophies of a man's fraternity? Go up to the union.—AOX is there.

Hi there! On behalf of the sisters of KDK, I want to congratulate Joan Nielsen on being crowned Miss Bryant at Phi Sig's Bryant dance March 15. On March 19 we held our formal initiation at which the pledges were installed as sisters of KDK. It was held at the home of Enid Rivkin and Alice Lipson, alumnae of KDK. Afterward, refreshments were served and a meeting was held. We are happy to welcome these girls as sisters of Kappa Delta Kappa.

Tau Epsilon Fraternity defeated Beta Iota Beta Fraternity 28-13 last Thursday in a basketball game in the Bryant College gym.

With Dick Davis's expert rebounding, Alan Winterbottom's and George Anter's playmaking ability, the Tau Ep five was too powerful to overcome.

With four wins in four starts, the Tau Ep basketball squad is tied for first place; however, plans to alleviate this difficulty as soon as possible.

Oh, by the way, congrats go to Tom Grady on his new coaching position for one of the better known basketball teams on campus.

Latest News on European Jobs

Upon his return from an extensive two-month tour of Europe, Frank X. Gordon, Jr., Director of the International Student Travel Center, told staff members at a meeting yesterday that he had completed final details on hundreds of jobs for the ISTC work-travel program in Europe this summer. "The bulk of the jobs are those we outlined in our brochure and cover factory, hotel/restaurant/resort and construction work," he said, "but in addition, I am pleased to report I was able to turn up a number of jobs of special interest."

Mr. Gordon said he had requests from prominent European families for male students to act as chauffeurs in France and crew on yachts in Denmark, Sweden and Norway. One lucky "Chauffeur," he noted, would drive a Ferrari in Paris. There are also a number of seafaring openings of longer duration in the fall and winter for stewards, deck and engine room hands on foreign freighters and passenger ships.

For girls, he said, probably the most glamorous work will be some modeling jobs in Paris and Brussels (sizes 12-14) and taking care of children in wealthy families. There are also a number of requests for girls to work as private maids with English-speaking European families vacationing in St. Tropez, Juan les Pins and Antibes on the French Riviera.

The best paying jobs this summer, Mr. Gordon pointed out, will be in restaurants and factories. Boys and girls who wait on tables can expect to earn in wages and tips close to $200 a month. Factory pay in several countries will also run to about $200 a month. Mr. Gordon emphasized that the special interest jobs should go to the best qualified students who apply the earliest as most all of the jobs listed by the ISTC would have to be filled by May 15 to meet the planning deadlines set by European employers.

Mr. Gordon also added that the ISTC is now placing students on a year-round basis and has already obtained jobs for 15 students abroad for more than the summer months (6 months to a year). Information may be obtained by writing to ISTC, 39 Cortlandt Street, New York 7, N. Y.

Labor Leader Addresses Delta Omega

By Elias Fatta

Delta Omega held its second dinner-speaker meeting of the semester at the Admiral Inn on March 18, at 7:00 P. M. The speaker, Mr. Edwin C. Brown, secretary-treasurer of the state AFL-CIO, spoke on "Labor-Management Scene, 1963."

Mr. Brown said that every state including Rhode Island is now faced with a tax problem, and the Rhode Island AFL-CIO will use all its resources to fight Governor Chafee's proposal for an increase in the state sales tax.

He said that the sales tax was "unfair and immoral" because the heaviest burden would be placed on those least able to pay. He also pointed out that it was not the responsibility of his organization at this time to come up with an alternate tax plan.

He suggested that the tax structure in Rhode Island be revised on a broader base.

The labor leader went on to say that his group is opposed to the Governor's program of medical care for the elderly. He said that aid to the elderly should be financed through the Social Security program.

Mr. Brown emphasized the need for a 35-hour work week to help the problem of unemployment in Rhode Island. He said that this 35-hour week would help create a number of jobs and this in turn would help the economy.

According to Mr. Brown, from his experience, there are more and more people turning to his organization for help. He said that the labor movement was brought about by necessity and that workers definitely needed labor unions.

On the national level he said that organized labor is in favor of the European Common Market, because this is the only solution for the United States economy.

Following a very lively question-and-answer period, President Thomas Little adjourned the meeting after presenting Mr. Brown

Directory of Bryant Alumni Published

By Sandra Goodman

The first directory of Bryant College alumni was published in February for distribution only to graduates of the College. It contains the names, addresses, occupations, and business addresses of alumni who returned directory questionnaires prior to last September 1st. A section containing a list of the administrative officers and faculty of Bryant College has also been included.

The directory contains information about approximately 12,168 alumni. Alumni information is generally classified in three sections—alphabetically, 3,600 entries; geographically, 10,241 entries; and by class, 12,168. It took eight months to compile the information for inclusion in the directory. Proof-reading and layout were done by Kenneth W. Cedergren, '57, Director of Alumni Affairs, and Miss Judith R. Lombardi, '62, assistant to the Director of Alumni Affairs.

Special mention should be given to the section of the directory which contains the "History of Bryant College." The information for this section was gathered by Mr. Cedergren and is a concise summary of all the information available on the history of our school from 1863 to date.

Over 3,500 copies of the directory have been mailed to our alumni. You are an alumnus or alumna of Bryant if you attend for at least two semesters. All alumni are encouraged to let the Director of Alumni Affairs know what they are doing and where they are.

The directory provides much information concerning the positions held by many alumni. Bound copies are in the College library, and copies are also in each of the dormitories.

Circle K Plans Easter Safety Campaign

By Elias Fatta

SAFELY HOME AND BACK FROM EASTER VACATION is the theme of the safety campaign planned by the newly formed Bryant Chapter of Circle K for the week of April 5-11.

Safety leaflets, booklets, and posters will be distributed throughout the Bryant campus during the safety campaign week. The safety posters were generously given to Circle K by the Automobile Club of Rhode Island and the Rhode Island Council on Rhode Island Highway safety.

The safety campaign will be conducted around the following general areas: a table-top library display of safety leaflets and booklets; a distribution of safety posters around the campus; a dorm distribution of safety posters; brief public address announcements on safety precautions and of safety slogans.

The purpose of this campaign is to impress upon students the great need to heed every safety precaution during the Easter vacation. The Program committee consists of Dave Palmer, chairman; Lee Johnson, and Jack Minnehan. All other members of Circle K will be participating in this campaign.

Have a safe and happy holiday—from Circle K.

INTERVIEWS for:

Sales and Sales Management Training Program

This Program is designed to develop young men for careers in life insurance sales and sales management. It provides an initial training period of 3 months (including 3 weeks at a Home Office School) before the men move into full sales work.

Those trainees who are interested in and who are found qualified for management responsibility are assured of ample opportunity to move on to such work in either our field offices or in the Home Office after an initial period in sales.

The Connecticut Mutual is a 115-year-old company with 520,000 policyholder-members and five billion dollars of life insurance in force. Aggressive expansion plans provide unusual opportunities for the limited number of men accepted each year.

Arrange with the placement office for an interview with:

Thomas Wallace

Hometown: Attleboro Falls, Mass.
High School: Sacred Heart Academy
Activities at Bryant: Masquers, Newman Club, Softball (Intramural), Brother of Tau Epsilon Fraternity, Basketball (Intramural)
Office Sought: Vice-President

Statement of Platform:
 My Statement of Platform is—YOU:

You are the reason I am running for the office of Vice-President of the Student Senate. Your needs and interests are the prime purpose of the Student Senate, and your selection of candidates to represent you is important.

The officers of the Senate are your spokesmen for your wants, and without all of the members of the student body voting for their choice, a few fraternities and sororities can virtually place their candidates into office for their reasons.

A slate of candidates for office is common but too often students do not evaluate each candidate separately. Elaborate signs and posters cover the College grounds with one name after another, and individuality is lost. Students' interest is abandoned, and it becomes a contest for space on the trees, walls, and fences, NOT an election for your representation. Your interest and attention is invaluable, but more important is your VOTE!!!

Campus politics does exist and will exist. The fact is that a group gets together and promises each other votes, regardless of the people running. Independents have no such group—Fraternities and Sororities with no member running have no such group. I have no such group. We know who does!!! It is up to you Independents, Fraternities, and Sororities who do not have such "DEALS" to vote. It is up to you to make the decision of who goes to the Student Senate.

Your election of a person with your interest foremost in his mind can only be done by all of you as a body, with Independents, Fraternities, and Sororities combining as one in a mass election to break these "DEALS". Vote for me, TOM WALLACE.
 It is up to YOU!!!

Stephen G. Richmond

Hometown: Lynn, Mass.
High School: Lynn English High School
Activities at Bryant: American Marketing Association, Treasurer; Kappa Tau Fraternity, Chaplain; Delta Omega; Gardner Hall Dormitory Association, Secretary
Office Sought: Treasurer

Statement of Platform:
 As present treasurer of the American Marketing Association, I feel that I'm well qualified and have gained the necessary experience to fulfill the job of treasurer of the Student Senate.

Running as an independent, I feel that my ideas can be coordinated and become a reality with the other individuals that become officers.

At the present time there is a lack of both school spirit and general participation in school sponsored events. I feel that in the Senate I can work with its members on different committees striving to bring out to the student body the importance of school spirit.

Activities at Bryant: Secretary of Student Senate, Archway Reporter, Sister of Sigma Iota Beta Sorority, Member of Golden Key Honor Society, Shorthand Key
Office Sought: Secretary

Statement of Platform:
 Our platform is to organize an efficient liaison between the Student Senate and the Administration. This liaison would be a hand-picked body of Student Senate members whose task would be to create an atmosphere of true understanding and cooperation between the Student Senate, the leaders of the student body, and the Administration.

There seems to be a general feeling on campus that the student body lacks that certain spark of enthusiasm and practices a policy of little participation in all school activities. It is a most serious problem, and a problem that has been discussed by us candidates. The on-campus experiences of our slate indicates a general all-round interest in campus activities, and we hope that we can correct this situation.

We will, if elected, try to put through reforms for the benefit of the students and the school as a whole. We intend to have meetings with the college leaders to discuss the many problems that seem to be shared by all of the students, and we will return to the Senate floor with their suggestions. Much work is required of persons elected to Senate offices. We are willing to put our time and best efforts to this cause.

BE SURE TO VOTE FOR THE CANDIDATE OF YOUR CHOICE
