Personality Shines

By Debbie Brunner

The Prize-Winning Personalities Relish the Moment

It seems the weekend was a true success. Kappa Tau, Alpha Phi Kappa, and Beta Sigma Chi made the good times roll. It all began on Thursday with the Judging of Mr. and Ms. Personality. There were nine couples as contestants and the auditorium was almost full despite the inflated seventy-five cent admission. There was piano music for the atmosphere and alumni of our hosting Greeks were posted as judges.

Each couple could be best summed up with their most successful line.

Coz and Patty for Phi Sigma Nu: "One's most interesting experience at Bryant is putting your roommate on the couch for the first time."

Pugsly and Marie for Delta Sigma Phi: "Know how we end this?... We leave."

Debbie and Tom for Kappa Delta Kappa: "No one will attempt to get in the car with you in it."

Debbie and Greg for Tau Epsilon Phi and Sigma Lambda Theta: "I'd like to become invisible and infiltrate the Saga kitchen to see what they really do to our food."

Michele and Michael for Beta Sigma Omicron: "You can't be too ugly if somebody mugged you." "But they didn't rape me." Cheryl and Turk for Sigma Iota Xi: "I don't really want to go in the bushes."

Kathy and Paul for Sigma Iota Beta and Tau Kappa Epsilon: "You can't be pregnant. I got a uh...uh..."

Sharon and Ray for Phi Epsilon Pi: "I had this operation, you see. Someday my cups will runneth over."

Laurie and Rod for Tau Epsilon, who came to the conclusion that if you catch your boyfriend in the bedroom with another girl and he won't let you in, then sleep on the couch with his roommate.

This whimsical event was followed by a Mixer Friday night, and a formal Saturday evening. Music was provided at both by "Smiles", a group which seemed to please everyone.

As for the winners, you could say that they all were. But the judges determined:

Winners-Debbie and Greg for Sigma Lambda Theta and Tau Epsilon Phi.

First Runner-Up-Michele and Michael for Beta Sigma Omicron.

Second Runner-Up-Ray and Sharon for Phi Epsilon Pi.

Congratulations to all for a fun and successful weekend!!

THE INFORMED STUDENT

By Steve Sellers

Imagine, if you will, a scene in which you are seated in Room 386 frantically attempting to piece together your schedule for the next semester. Four of your original course choices have been filled up, and you can't decide whether or not to take Appreciation of Music or Introduction to Philosophy. Suddenly, Dean Alberg (your host, the Registrar) calls out your number and you kick and scratch up to the entrance door to insure that another course is not cancelled before you get there. Wouldn't you just love to have something which would make the trials and tribulations of Preregistration a bit less nerve wracking?

The Student Senate has come to the rescue! Led by Sharon McGarry, the Senate Committee is in the throes of preparing a system which will give students information regarding courses and professors and the characteristics of each. Sharon and her committee have been and will be working with members of the faculty to provide students with information which is most helpful in course selection for each semester.

The end result of sending a series of questionnaires to Faculty members, soliciting responses of members of the student body, and studying curricular factors will be a report which will summarize courses to be offered, requirements, style used by the professor, etc. For instance, if you choose to take a course in Management, you will know whether or not a term paper will be required, average grades in the course, special requirements, number of texts needed, etc.

Sharon insists that the purpose of her committee is not to evaluate faculty members, but simply to provide students with information which will aid them in the selection of their courses. If the students make informed choices, perhaps they will be less likely to buy the Registrar's Office with Add/Drop forms. "The evaluation cannot be expected to be one hundred percent accurate," says Sharon. "It is designed to be an indicator of what can be expected in a particular course with a particular professor."

The first "Faculty-Course Information Report" (Sharon and her committee have yet to decide on a name for the program) will probably be issued to students shortly before Preregistration in the Spring of 1978. Thus, students can peruse course offerings in advance of actual preregistration.

The Faculty Federation has been responsive to the efforts of the committee and several faculty members have volunteered to assist in implementing the informational-evaluation report.

The subjective nature of the program allows the committee, professors, and students to elucidate upon the requirements of a course and an instructor more fully rather than by pigeon-holding information on an objective form.

The bottom line of all of this is that students will be able to gain input about a wide range of information helpful during the trauma of Preregistration. It would be too much to expect that this "Faculty-Course Information Report" (or whatever it is to be called) will replace the word-of-mouth evaluations which pass from student to student on an informal basis. Professor "X" will still be boring and course "Y" will remain off-the-wall. But, at least the poor freshman will gain insight in what to believe and what not to believe about a given course and professor. (Don't you remember wondering what kind of a teacher Dr. Staff was?)

While you are recovering from this semester's edition of Preregistration, look forward to only a minor headache next semester.

Peace?

(UPI) Egyptian President Sadat, denounced by his allies and deserted by members of his cabinet, vowed today that he will go to Israel. "I am going," he said. "I always mean what I say." Sadat spoke after two of his key cabinet members resigned in apparent protest over the visit. Egypt later issued a statement saying Sadat is going to Israel, quote, "in response to the call of peace." The announcement made no mention of the resignations of the Cabinet Ministers, and no reference to the opposition voiced by Syria and the Palestinians. It did say that Sadat will perform prayers for the Annual Moslem Feast Of Sacrifice on Sunday, in Israel, at the Al Aqsa Mosque.

Cuba

(UPI) The State Department told Cuba today the the Havana Government has killed chances for further improvement in relations, for now, by sending more troops to Africa when it promised to withdraw some. The U.S. government estimates about 27 thousand Cubans are stationed in 17 African nations.

Elvis

(UPI) If you looking for something to read, you can get a copy of the latest book on the life of singer Elvis Presley for 125 dollars. And if you don't get one of the first 300 copies, it will cost twice as much. A volume of "The Minstrel", bound in white leather, will be delivered to buyers by a chauffeur in a white cadillac.

EDITORIAL EMPHASIS

You must surely be accustomed to the parade of Archway Editors who have ranted, raved, screamed and bellowed about student apathy. In a sense, you have been providing them with an incentive to do so. Were the situation at Bryant such that students actively pursued every injustice, sniffed-out every inequality, pounced upon corruption in every corner, then what good would a student newspaper be? The written word has inspired men to do what even they themselves thought could never be accomplished. (Take a look at the language in the Declaration of Independence sometime). We attempt to inspire students to do what we think should be done. However, our influence is limited in its power to propel people into some sort of action. It is something akin to trying to push something with a string. We can only try to pull you into listening to what we have to say.

Newspaper people have a built-in aversion to apathy. We think of it as the tool of tyrants and part of the environment which lends itself well to corruption, deceit and wool-over-the-eyes-pulling. An apathetic student body compels a student newspaper to be ever-more meticulous in its "watchdog" role for fear that no one else really cares.

Bryant, of course, is a study in apathy (you knew it had to come sometime). Our recent emphasis on vandalism was not a crusade, as some would have it, but yet another attempt to inform students of a very real problem which bears concern. Alas, the problem still does not possess enough personal impact for the individual student to be overly concerned. If any of you were to stand back and look at the issue on a larger schedule, however, you would see its long-range implications. Just how interrelated are the issues of campus drinking, tripling of dorm students, vandalism and the quality of student life in general? Are we to allow these ever-increasing problems to become critical before we take some action to relieve them? Only a concerted effort by administration and students can the strains of these dilemmas be reduced in the future. If no such action is taken, then let it not be said that The Archway didn't warn you.

Apathy has its good qualities. An apathetic student body communicates a general acceptance of the way things are - the status quo. However, too often students are lulled into apathy and then cannot be awakened from it until things are so bad that the situation becomes critical.

Arousing students from their apathy is a difficult task when you must try to convince them that it is the prevention of future problems which is crucial. Again, we are pushing with the proverbial string. Nevertheless, we are trying.

FOCUS

This week I decided to try and do something a little different. Almost all the editorials I have read criticize something or somebody or else they are so off the wall, you don't understand what they are trying to say. Let's try and see what we can do about this.

The Bryant campus is outwardly very attractive. It is landscaped with apple trees, nice well kept lawns, woods, paths, usable playing fields and a fairly ample parking space. (In a lot of schools freshmen are not allowed cars on campus.)

The housing on Bryant is also well laid out. The size of your room is more than adequate and the furniture in your room is a lot nicer than in most other colleges. (It is not like home, but how could it be.) The whole idea of the suites where the 6 or 7 students can get together is a much better environment than a "lounge" for the whole dorm.

Another item that is often griped about is the teachers. Granted some of our teachers are not exactly "too swift." Some of them take advantage of their positions and don't put enough effort into planning their lessons and tests. But, overall I think that we have a staff of teachers that do generally care for the students and are not out to shaft them. If one of your teachers is overly and unnecessarily bad, griping between your fellow classmates is not going to help the situation whatsoever. Take the proper course of action.

Next gripe, administrators. I think that if you really look at most of the administrators carefully you will find they do not work 8:30-4:30 only! They are not working at this school totally for the money. They are looking to benefit Bryant College and to benefit the students of Bryant College and to benefit the students of Bryant College. Most of them will listen to you if you have a legitimate problem, and do the best they can to help you. But first off, you must be willing to listen to what they have to say.

Next gripe? Tuition costs? Look at what you have, what you can put into the school and get out of it and compare it to other schools costs and benefits. You just might surprise yourself.

Sometimes it is so easy to gripe, because it does not take much time and effort. It is another thing to really sit back and listen to all sides of a particular issue, understand both sides and then gripe. I am not trying to say that complaining is bad, I probably will start complaining about something in my next editorial in two weeks. (maybe I just need a vacation) If just for 5 minutes, if we just sat down and looked at what we had, maybe appreciated it a little, then go back to being our normal selves!!!!

Student Newspaper?

Dear Editor,

I thought the ARCHWAY was the Bryant school newspaper?

If so, I don't understand why you had pictures of the Patriots playing the Jets in last weeks (sic) paper. We can see pictures of the Pats or any other Pro team in sports sections of most papers. I don't feel it necessary to put those pictures in our paper.

Why don't you cover intramural football, volleyball, or any other intramural sports? Those things that most students would be interested in. Or hadn't that thought occurred to you?

Dave Chastanet

In Response

Mr. Chastanet,

As Sports Editor for the ARCHWAY (yes, it is still the Bryant school newspaper,) it is my responsibility, as stated in the ARCHWAY Constitution, "to include coverage of all on and off campus sports activities of interest to the student body."

Unfortunately, the Patriot-Jet picture page was of no interest to you. However, it was to many other students who commended me on it. A great many students at Bryant are from the New England and New York areas and are extremely interested in their football teams, basketball teams, and hockey teams. Because of this, I plan to have more of this type of coverage in upcoming issues.

I agree that intramural football, volleyball, or any other intramural sport would also be of interest to most students at Bryant. However, you asked why we don't cover these sports. Dave, why don't you cover intramural football, volleyball, or any other intramural sport? Or hadn't that thought occurred to you? There is a shortage of writers up here at YOUR newspaper and we always welcome interested students.

Sincerely,
Jeff Tunis

New Vice-President

The most recent addition to Bryant's Vice Presidential roster is Jacqueline Low, who replaces the familiar Gertrude Hochberg. Ms. Low hails from Boston, where she has lived, learned, and laboured most of her life. She received a Bachelor of Science from Simmons, and has worked in the advertising field, including as a Vice President for Public Relations and Advertising for a national real estate company.

She sought the position here at Bryant because she "wanted to join the academic community"; also, having been in business also, having been in business, she wanted to be associated, even if indirectly, with business education of the young. She began here Sept. 6, and she professes to be very impressed with the caliber of the faculty, students, and facilities, in particular the latter. She marvelled the Unistructure, an "exciting" building, the landscaping, and the way they are maintained. The students are "attractive, co-operative, and bright".

Jackie's department is responsible for communications encompassing the outside world, including press relations, publications, alumni affairs and development (i.e. fund raising). Essentially, Jackie seeks to insure that everything written and published reflects the caliber of Bryant, and highlights Bryant's leadership role in business education.

Public Affairs is now searching for development and alumni directors, in the belief that there should be more opportunity for involvement by alumni. They hope to be able to increase their fundraising goals, and thus enable the college to offer increased financial aid assistance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Saga is Not Here to Help The Students

Dear Editor,

Last Sunday, Alpha Phi Kappa Sorority held a halloween party for some orphans up in our suite. We had games, prizes, and made costumes for the children. Every little kid loves a halloween party, but what is halloween without bobbing for apples?

When we called Saga to ask if they could donate 10 apples for the party, we were informed that they "could not afford to give us the apples, would we care to bob for oranges!"

This brings to mind the question of how much could the cost of 10 apples hurt Saga, and with that in mind, also the question-is Saga here to provide a service for the students at Bryant, just here for the money?

With their contract coming up for renewal soon, one would think they might try a little harder to help the students with a worthy cause, but apparently this is not the case. We think it is time to look elsewhere for a food service for Bryant College.

Sincerely,
The Sisters of Alpha Phi Kappa

Ski Club News

Skiers, our time has finally come! The snow has arrived. Saturday, November 12, Killington Ski Area received 7 inches of natural snow and it is expecting more this week. With the temperature cold enough to make snow, they are busy at it every night and it is expected that four chairlifts will be operating this weekend.

With this in mind, all members are urged to bring their skis back with them over the Thanksgiving vacation. Let's take advantage of the snow while it's here. We are planning our first trip for December 3 or 4, so don't be left out.

All Ski Club members must pay their dues before the first ski trip. All non-member students will be charged $2.00 extra for the trip, provided there is space on the bus. The membership fee entitles each member first preference on trips, invitations to Ski Club parties and a 5 x 7 glossy of lightweight Mike Nevins.

Special Note:

Starting November 28 & 29, money will be collected at 3:15 in the Rotunda for the Killington Ski Trip on December 3.

Student Senate

Student Senator

Tim Barry

Tim, from East Longmeadow, Massachusetts, is a first-semester senior. As a Management major, Tim would like to go into Sales and Politics and eventually own and operate his own golf course.

Some of Tim's other activities include the College Commencement Committee, and the Senate Ways and Means Committee, which is dedicated to the justification of club budgets and the presentation of suggestions to the Senate for the allocation of money awarded to these clubs. Also, as co-chairman of the Senior Activities Committee, Tim helps organize and plan the Senior Banquet, the Senior Luncheon and various other Senior activities.

As a Senate member, Tim says 'I see the Senate as a very important service to Bryant Students.' He sees an increase this year in the desire to get involved in the Senate and he says if you 'put your effort in, you will get something out of it.'

When asked what improvement could be made at Bryant, Tim replied that the Pub needs higher attendance; because it is only crowded during mixers and special events. One of the problems he cited was that the atmosphere needed improvement. He encourages students to visit the Pub more often and says that Bob Hebert, the Pub Manager and Gerry Hura, the director of Student Services are doing their best to get the Pub going.

Tim says the thing he likes best about Bryant is its closeness and size. He says that Bryant has much to devote to its students and gives one an opportunity to meet a lot of people. He is very proud of the reputation that Bryant has in the business field and he feels that his degree from Bryant will mean more to him in ten years than it does now because Bryant's name and reputation are really growing. About its size, he stated that 'I could not be as involved or as much a part of Bryant College as I am right now if it were a much larger school or university.'

Filing For Financial Aid

Students who wish to be considered for financial assistance during the 1978-1979 academic year may obtain the necessary application forms in the Financial Aid Office. Financial Aid Forms will be available beginning Thursday, December 1, 1977.

Immediately following is a brief outline explaining the application procedures for the 1978-1979 school year. These procedures reflect a new concept in applying for financial aid. For the first time, by filing one needs analysis instrument, students will be able to apply for a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant, a State Grant, if your home state has such a program, and federal and institutional programs offered by Bryant College. This instrument is the Financial Aid Form (FAF) offered through the College Scholarship Service.

Most financial aid offered by Bryant is based upon financial need as determined by the information you supply in the FAF. When questions arise concerning that information, we reserve the right to request a certified copy of your parents' income tax form, 1040, for the previous year.

Special attention should be given to the upperclass deadline for submitting all required forms. The FAF must be completed and filed with the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, New Jersey, no later than February 15, 1978. Forms filed after this date will be considered for financial aid only if funds are available to reach those applicants.

Students will be considered for all programs provided a FAF has been filed by the deadline date, a financial need has been demonstrated through the needs test, and enrollment status has been met. A satisfactory academic and personal record each semester is a prerequisite to the continuation of aid for the next semester.

Review of applications will take place during the late winter and early spring with award notifications forwarded to students some time in the early summer, 1978. Students will be allowed a two week period to respond to this notification. Failure to notify us within this period will result in the forfeiture of the funds offered for the next academic year.

We urge all students who seek financial assistance to file early. In addition, we welcome your comments and any specific inquiries you may have.

1. Students should file one form, the Financial Aid Form (FAF), through the College Scholarship Service, to apply for:
 - a. Basic Educational Opportunity Grant
 - b. State Student Assistance Programs
 - c. Bryant College's Student Assistance Programs
2. The FAF will be available after December 1, 1977. It should not be filed until after January 1, 1978, or until actual tax and income data for 1977 are known.

3. The Bryant College deadline for filing the FAF is February 15, 1978. Normal processing time by the College Scholarship Service is three weeks. All students will receive an acknowledgment from the College Scholarship Service indicating receipt for the FAF.

4. All FAF's must be completed fully. Applications received without the Parents' Confidential Information will not be accepted.

5. Students must also complete the College's Financial Aid Application.

6. A student's file is complete when we have received:

a. A FAF processed through the College Scholarship Service.

b. A Bryant College Financial Aid Application.

7. Once a student's file is complete, the Financial Aid Office will evaluate the request for assistance. Notification of financial aid will be forwarded as soon as possible.

Inside Saga

The following was written by a SAGA employee who, understandably, wishes to remain anonymous

The fearless food servers of SAGA really know how to hurt a guy! How much of their treatment can one spiritually and physically handle? The answer is plain to see - just come back and take a look at how many barrels of leftovers ("sludge") are sent off the hog farm! (Really!) Few people willingly eat in the Dining Hall unless they are either penniless or just super munched-out to such a degree that they don't know what they are doing.

The food really isn't all that commendable, to put it mildly. I guess that we are all just hooked on good old "Mom's home cooking". Personally, I wouldn't think twice about eating here or there - it's always elsewhere!

Want seconds? You can never get everything all at once - three or four trips through the jungle aren't unusual. Considering drool guards, penny-pitching juice glasses, long lines, and just a plain fight for survival, you must ask yourself, "What the hell am I doing here?"

Take a look at the workers. What with food fights, greasy "washed" pots, tough managers, and a "something-that-walked-in-and-died" type of monotone smell, you can understand why most employees have critical comments to make. The dishroom crew all hides, so that they don't have to wash pots for 4-5 hours straight. Some people have it made, though. The slop line is funny: "Hurry up, faster, are you guys on strike?" The guy unloading the giant dishwasher knows what a real set of "hot hands" are like - too bad it isn't another type of situation! It seems like they are out to get you down there. I'm surprised they haven't run a fellow worker through the dishwasher yet!

I've noticed one thing since I've found out how things are done: I've cut down considerably on my food intake. It's not a question of right or wrong; they owe it to us (the people who eat here morning, noon, and night, day after day) to make some changes beneficial to our digestive systems. Even the chefs don't eat much of their cuisine; they wait till they go home! A word to the wise: if it's packaged, try it; if not, well, it's your future!

Bryant Senior to Guide School Board

By J.W. Harrington

Gene Noury, a Bryant senior majoring in Public Administration, was re-elected for his second two-year term on the Central Falls school board. Gene, who was initially elected at the tender age of 20 (making him the youngest person to hold the job in the city's history), is the only returning member of the body. As such, he will have to assume the responsibility of "initiating" the remainder of the Board.

Gene became interested in politics at 16, when he worked for the re-election campaign of Robert O'Tiernon, the father of a friend. He was subsequently asked to run for the School Board, and won following an intense campaign. His philosophy at the time was that Central Falls could never spend enough on education, being a depressed area. This year, he was more specific, campaigning for bilingual education and more federal aid. The campaign was cleaner than the last, even though his opponent was the same. Gene indicated that campaigning interferes with his studies, even though his job doesn't.

Looking forward, Gene would like to see some changes made in the School Board and the Cumberland School System. He feels that overlapping 4-year terms, for example, would eliminate the current leadership problems. He favors a "back-to-basics" approach to education, with an end to social promotions. He would like to see student newspapers developed, and he believes that the schools should concentrate more on education than on sports. Gene believes that students should have a non-voting representative on the School Board. There are problems with students cutting classes; Gene feels that the solution is more curriculum development. Gene also sees the potential for problems, however; a teacher contract comes up for renegotiation in January.

L.E. Association

The Law Enforcement Association of Bryant College is continuing to schedule events for the school this semester. Earlier in the year, the Association toured the Adult Correctional Institute in Cranston, Rhode Island, and took a field trip to the Connecticut State and Municipal Police Training Academy in Meriden, Conn.

Our next events include a Quiet Entertainment Night this Monday, November 21, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Student Center, featuring Tom Michaud. Admission will be 50¢.

For Tuesday, December 6, the Association has scheduled a tour of the new, modernized Warwick, Rhode Island Police Headquarters. The Association will leave the front circle of the school at 11:00 a.m.

On Tuesday, December 13, the Connecticut State Police Arson Squad will be arriving on campus for a display from 12 to 3 p.m. between the front circle and the front doors. A panel discussion with the squad will then follow in Room 386 A and B from 3 to 4 p.m.

The Association is sponsoring a new chapter of the Lambda Alpha Epsilon American Criminal Justice Association at Bryant College. Its first organizational meeting will be held on Monday, November 28, at 3:15 p.m. in Room 261.

Sometime in December, we will be showing a new film entitled, "Day in Court". The twenty-four minute movie is built around a typical day in traffic court with a presiding judge listening to numerous drivers giving their side of the story. The viewer is given a chance to rule on the situation along with the judge. This movie was produced by Allstate Insurance and International Harvester.

Anyone interested in these events and activities should attend the meetings of the Law Enforcement Association. Membership is $2.00, and is open to any interested student. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 29, at 3:15 p.m. in Room 261.

Planning Your Career? It's Not an Easy Job

By Rod Cohane

I am a senior here at Bryant College planning to graduate in May, 1978. Like many of the graduating class, however, I find myself asking one basic but very important question: What line of work or career do I want to pursue? As it is with so many questions, there is no easy answer. Being a Marketing major, there are a number of different fields from which I can choose. There's advertising, marketing research, sales, and many more. The same goes for accounting majors. They may like taxes, but is it to public or private? A big corporation or a small firm? Then again, they may be ambitious and choose to go for the CPA degree!! Whatever our choice is it is probably going to be the one we believe will make us happiest. Most of us are saying to ourselves, however, "How do I know what job I'll be happiest in, especially since I haven't had enough experience in any of those types of jobs to know what it's like?"

Five weeks ago I attended the first of a thirteen-session program, the Career Planning Seminar, which is designed to help a person overcome certain obstacles which hinder this decision-making process. Moreover, it directs the individual towards possible careers or jobs which best suit him or her. The group meets once a week on Thursday. This is the first seminar of its kind being offered by the Career Planning and Placement Office. Dr. Stanley Shuman, the director, and Susan Chamberlain, the assistant director, serve as instructors. They do a wonderful job, too, not only in the time they take out to be there but also for the concern they show for each individual participating in the seminar. Due to the nature of this program, it had to be limited to 25 students. In order to qualify for the Career Planning Seminar, one must be willing to put in a great deal of time and effort, and, as the saying goes, you get out of it what you put into it. This is especially the case when planning for your future. The Career Planning and Placement Office will offer the Career Planning Seminar again next semester. So if you are in this position, and are interested in participating in such a program, keep your eyes open for details coming up in The Archway.

Before I started the Career Planning Seminar I had no idea what it was I wanted to do; I was just guessing what it might be. I can't say that I now know, but I do have a better understanding of myself, my interests, and my skills, and above all I have a better sense of the direction in which I am going. The courses are designed so that I have a way of methodically and practically approaching the task of finding the right career. Let me explain by briefly describing our first five sessions.

The first session was an introduction to the course, its objectives, content and what was expected of us during the thirteen week period. One of the first assignments we had was to pick, from a list of about 55, all the personality traits we saw in ourselves and see if the top five were similar to the top that five friends picked for us. If the two lists were totally unlike, then you'd discovered a job-finding drawback: The image you project is not the one you think you are putting out.

In sessions two through four we concentrated mainly on our interests, skills and attitudes, which we derived from similar exercises as I previously explained. Having discovered these three aspects of ourselves we were able to match them up and come up with several jobs related to that particular skill and interest. For example, I found that I was being selected for certain jobs because of a skill in communicating with people. I matched that with an interest of mine, written and verbal communications, and I came up with about twelve different job titles (including public speaking, writer, DJ, TV announcer, commentator, and movie critic).

As you can clearly see, we do not arrive at any one job we want to make our life work, but many possible jobs. This may seem to make the situation tougher, but, with the help of the Career Planning Seminar and the practical methods used in the program we come to a better understanding of where we are heading. A person should not consider a program like this if he or she thinks that it will provide definite answers. He or she may be in for a disappointment if that's the case.

In the remaining sessions we will discuss taking a job interview, evaluating job offers, and making the transition from campus to job. I will be writing an article once a month in which I will discuss these points and the progress we have been making. If anyone wishes to find out more about this seminar, feel free to ask me anytime. You can catch me in the Rotunda during school or at my dorm (12 - 112). I'd be glad to discuss it with you.

In retrospect, I'd just like to say that by putting in the time and effort now to discover what you would like to pursue as a career, you will save a lot of time and effort later. Instead of going from job to job in a desperate attempt to find one's vocation, apply the proper methods and skills that will aid you in your search for a rewarding career. Even if one isn't able to participate in such programs as the Career Planning Seminar, he or she can utilize the proper methods and resources to arrive at a career goal or any goal for that matter.

YOU LOSE!

Weren't in the Student Center Monday night, huh? Stayed home, did you? You sure missed a treat this time!

The Student Programming Board hosted singer/guitarist Daryl Beard from nine o'clock until midnight. Ignoring the Cowboys and Cards battling it out on the large screen T.V., Daryl combined some accomplished guitar work with his very pleasant voice to produce fine listening music. Daryl entertained the audience with his own compositions, stories, some of the best efforts of well-known artists like Jim Croce, Jesse Winchester, the Dead, and James Taylor. In the request department, Daryl offered a medley of Chad Mitchell Trio songs and a couple choruses of "Happy Birthday".

Daryl Beard provided some bright and talented entertainment for those who ventured into the Center Monday night. Members of the audience were even heard to say, "This guy is as good as Ed Sullivan!" Gasp!

If you missed Daryl Beard on Monday night, like the Cowboys you lose!

Bryantonian Of The Week

Mr. Piascik

Mr. Chester Piascik has been with Bryant for quite some time—a decade to be exact. He graduated from Rhode Island College in 1965 with a B.S. in Secondary Education and in 1967 with a Masters Degree in Mathematics from the University of Rhode Island. After teaching at Bristol Community College (in Fall River) for a year, he came to Bryant.

Mr. Piascik has a very positive attitude towards Bryant. He has seen the college come a long way in ten years. Originally, Bryant was regarded as a 'skill' school, one geared mainly to the training of secretaries and aimed at the career-oriented market. When Bryant first evolved into a four-year institution, it was in the 'nouveau riche class.' Now it is an established four-year institution with a graduate program. 'Bryant has entrenched its identity in the state and has taken its place among other four-year institutions.' And since it is now 'in vogue' to be career-oriented due to economic conditions, he feels that, 'Bryant is in the right place at the right time.'

Because he has been here for a number of years, Mr. Piascik is in a position to reflect on the types of students at Bryant during the last decade. He says that 'a larger proportion of students are more serious-minded, diligent, and goal-oriented.' They seek more relevant applications to business management and economics. Ten years ago 20-30% were interested in math, while today 70-80% are.

In case you are under the impression that small classes were the norm in the past, Mr. Piascik can remember classes of 60, 'where I could not even see the student in the last row' (rooms were long and narrow). Class size runs in cycles; we happen to be in the section where 40-55 is not unusual. He feels that 30-35 is a good number, and that Bryant is much better than university classes where he has taught part-time.

Mr. Piascik also has positive feelings about the Mathematics Department at Bryant. He has surveyed other colleges and feels that the curriculum here is comparable to other schools in giving students a good foundation in math. He would like to see homogenous groupings of students in freshman algebra, as most classes are currently a mixture of students with varied backgrounds in math.

Unlike many people, Mr. Piascik does not feel there is a great deal of apathy on this campus. Certain people are always involved and will continue to be so, when in the public eye. Most students, he feels, are concerned with the everyday task of going to classes and only a few really get involved with other activities.

Currently Mr. Piascik is working on a college textbook for algebra and calculus. It will contain practical applications for management and the social sciences. He plans to have the completed book in two years. Among his other activities, Mr. Piascik has served on the Curriculum Committee and the Student Grievance Committee.

It is very apparent that Mr. Piascik enjoys teaching at Bryant, and he sees the college moving forward in the next ten years.

The same is true of Tilden-Thurber diamond engagement rings. No matter what you decide to spend, it will be the best possible ring for the money.

Sure, some stores claim to give you a deal. They've even got a system for grading diamonds. But you can bet it won't be the tough American Gem Society system that we adhere to at Tilden's. Nor, will you get the chance at most other jewelers, to gain the advice of four nationally recognized Certified Gemologists.

THE BOOKSTORE

By Jayne Morris and J.W. Harrington

Ask the average Bryantonian his or her opinion of the Bookstore, and the answers are apt to be less than complimentary. With this in mind, the Archway decided to accumulate a few facts about the object of all this affection. The following article summarizes the results of interviews with Richard Curran, Manager of the Bookstore, and Bernadette Dembrowski, Chairperson of the Bookstore Committee. The accompanying table outlines the results of hours of exhaustive comparison shopping.

The manager of the Bookstore, Mr. Richard Curran, joined the Bryant community in August of 1977. He is a graduate of Boston College with a B.A. degree in English. Working as an assistant manager in a college store in Bridgewater gave him some preliminary experience in the field.

The bookstore is part of the College Stores Association, which leases twelve stores. The main headquarters are in Waltham, Mass., and they handle all the records of the individual stores.

As we are all well aware, one of the major complaints about the bookstore is the high prices of textbooks. Interestingly enough, the publisher is the one who sets both the wholesale and retail price. The best way to avoid the high prices, according to Mr. Curran, is to buy used books, as they can be "recycled." A student can buy a book for $10, sell it back for $5, buy again for $7.50, and resell it for $5. With this process, fewer new books are needed. However, high-pressure salesman often approach professors with new editions, and a change in the text may be requested. This puts a damper on the recycling of books, as old used books fetch only $1.50 if sold back, and both the bookstore and the student lose money.

Another disturbing problem in case one is not able to, the products are available here. Mr. Curran has little control over what items are sold, as it is determined by Hermann, Inc. of Avon, Mass. Most of the products are the "cream of the regular brands."

Some students have inquired as to the poor quality of the records. Mr. Curran agrees wholeheartedly that these records are not good and states that they have not sold well (which not surprise anyone who has browsed through the titles.) He will probably discontinue them. If current records were to be sold at the bookstore, they would be higher-priced than those at nearby stores and, thus, would not be worth it.

It may seem odd that a college bookstore would sell children's books. But in Bridgewater where Mr. Curran previously worked, the books sold well. Many members of the staff and administration, as well as faculty and students, made purchases,

When asked about the high prices on cosmetic items, Mr. Curran explained that these articles are sold for convenience. He realizes that one can easily go off campus and obtain much larger items for lower prices, but especially during Parents' Weekend and Christmas.

Mr. Curran is very disappointed about the antagonism between the students and the bookstore. He feels that "if the teacher wants to teach the course, and the student wishes to buy the book, and the bookstore sells it, then all should cooperate in order to please everyone." He hopes that the store's image will change, and he encourages suggestions from the students.

A chat with Bernadette Dembrowski, Chairperson of Bryant's new Bookstore Committee, reveals that the group has accomplished little as of yet. Their first meeting was organizational and their second, while questions were posed of the Bookstore Manager at it, determined nothing of significance. Another meeting is scheduled for Dec. 2, and Bernadette sees no reason why it couldn't be open.

Tidbits from United Press International

(UPI-Washington) The National Institute of Dental Health said today it has dropped an experimental program involving the sweetener "xylitol" because of preliminary findings that the substance might cause cancer. Xylitol is used in Wringley's "Orbit" gum.

The Food and Drug Administration gave xylitol limited clearance for use in dietary foods several years ago. But a spokesman said today there is not enough information yet to determine whether there will be a ban on use of the sweetener.

The Dental Institute said it is scrapping a new program under which one-thousand school children were being given gum with xylitol to determine its impact on tooth decay or the lack of it.

The tests were suspended because of Preliminary information from a laboratory in England showing test animals fed the substance developed cancer.

The agency said the sweetener is being used in "Orbit" under the still outstanding approval for use in special dietary foods.

(UPI) Singer Anita Bryant's 100 thousand dollar-a-year contract as a promoter of Florida orange juice was renewed today by the Florida Citrus Commission. The commission also passed a resolution praising her courage in fighting against homosexual rights.

The action by the commission extended Miss Bryant's contract through August of 1979 and put to rest speculation she might be dropped from the lucrative job because of declining juice sales and her controversial stand against homosexual rights.

QUALITY OF STUDENT LIFE COMMITTEE

Charge: The Committee's primary responsibility is to assess the essential nature of student life at Bryant College and recommend institutional response. Particular emphasis should be placed on residential living. The objectives of the Committee are: (1) to identify those aspects of student life which could be considered problem areas; (2) to identify those aspects of student life which should be expanded and strengthened; (3) to make recommendations for remedying problem areas. Among factors to be considered are: (a) alcohol and drug abuse; (b) security of persons and property; (c) effectiveness of resident directors and resident assistants; (d) honor dorms, quiet dorms, fraternity dorms, etc.

In 1977-78 the College will have approximately 1,500 residential students. Assumptions and beliefs about student life differ markedly among members of the Bryant community. Life styles, values, attitudes, opinions, etc. undoubtedly vary greatly within the student community, too. Consequently, the Committee's basic task is to attempt to identify the "campus personality" diverse as it may be, and after doing so, to attempt to define this personality. The Committee's work should result in greater understanding of the complex nature of Bryant's students in the late 1970's. It is expected that the Committee will suggest appropriate institutional responses to students' wants and needs. The Committee should strive to promote and encourage the interrelations of the academic and social aspects of life on campus. And, it should also work to promote a spirit of community among the students, faculty, staff and administration of Bryant College.

Reality

We sit in the Archway, its five to one
Time is against us, and no one cares
You people complain, you don't understand
That this whole paper is volunteer hands
So if you don't like our words or our pics
Just stop and think--We don't act

We've Got Legs

So you think you've seen everything? Well I'll give 100-to-1 odds that you haven't seen what I saw last Friday night. Because in the very pit of Dorm 12, the 1st Annual Bryant College Leg Contest was held. You read it right, no need to rub your eyes and wonder if you're going blind. By now you're probably thinking, "Is he in possession of all his faculties?" Well, the photographs and following should verify that I possess most of them.

The brainstorm of Rod Cohane and Carol Lyman, and funded with the help of Jerry Ramos' programming fund, the contest started about 9:00 p.m. Before the contestants were brought out, the judging was explained. There were three judges for the boys, and three for the girls. For the girls, the judges were John Guiney, Bahman Shafa, and Pete Vimini. And for the boys, the judges were Alicia Watnik, Cathy Frank, and Michelle Gauvin. The whole leg was taken into consideration by the judges, and points were assigned on a scale of 5. They gave points on everything from Shapely Shins to Cuddly Calves.

Anyway, moving right along with the competition...to say the least, the contest was hot and heavy. All the contestants put on a well choreographed display, and used every trick in the book

(and some not written yet) to impress the judges and the audience. The audience responded by cheering on their favorite appendages and yelling for more. After the competition, they waited with building anxiety for the final verdict.

When all the points were tallied, the female winner was Cindy Pagnotto, with Sally Czarnecki runner-up. John Figleuski took top honors for the males, with Tut Della Rocco runner-up. The winners each received a 20 dollar gift certificate from Genevieve's Kitchen, while the runner-ups received 3 dollars towards the snack bar in the Student Center. After the announcement of the winners, everyone returned to what they were doing before: good-old-fashioned partying.

As for me. Well, I'd like to write some more, but I have to start getting my legs ready for next year. Figleuski, watch out! Metzger's comin' to take you title away!

Glass Recycling Picks Up

By Doug Stone

Over 750 bottles from "TOP of 13" puts Dorm 13 over the top! In other words, Dorm 13 once again saved the most glass, accumulating nearly TEN barrels full for our pick-up on November 3. Dorm 12 seemed to have things rapped up with SEVEN barrels full, however suites 431-3 and 441-3 of 13 added their collection (pictured) of nearly FOUR barrels full the day before pick-up to give Dorm 13 a come-from-behind victory!

So you're not from 12 or 13; keep saving your glass, because the cash we are getting for it is being put into a fund. From this fund we hope to distribute prizes (before the end of the school year) to the Dorms saving the most glass. I would also like to take this opportunity to say that there will be a paper drive next month, tentatively scheduled for December 14. Besides helping the environment, proceeds from all paper saved will-you got it!-be added to the same fund as the glass proceeds!

Why is the Ecology Action Committee doing all this anyway? Why not?! When you think of all the material that is thrown out from the dorms, it is phenomenal. Why not exchange some of this junk for something we can use? That's what we're trying to do!

The total amount of glass collected on our first pick-up of the season was approximately TWO TONS! there was 100% participation from all Dorms and the Townhouses, as usual. The total "barrelage" or barrels of glass saved since the inception of Glass Recycling less than two years ago, is now-are you ready?-ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-FIVE barrels FULL!

How well is your Dorm doing? According to most glass saved for the first pick-up was: 13, 12, 6, 11, Townhouse Utility Room, 9, 3, 7, 2, 10, 1, 8, and 5. Go 5!!!! Remember, just match the color

Bible Seminar I "Faith"

The following is the summary of the presentation made by Dr. John Williams in the first Bible seminar held at Bryant on November 3, 1977.

1. What is Faith? Faith is believing without seeing or any other physical evidence whatsoever. Faith is a spiritual quality (which is different from physical or mental quality). Faith is believing in heart--not in mind (Romans 10:9) Faith is not 'hope.' Faith is the substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not seen (Hebrew 11:1).

2. Why do we need faith? The Bible makes it very clear that without faith it is impossible to please God (Hebrews 11:6). Anything which is not of faith is sin (Romans 14:23). Faith is the means of knowing God. It is an ingredient for (a) receiving answers for prayers (Mathew 21:22), and (c) receiving divine healing (Act 14:9).

3. Faith in what? We must have faith in the "Word of God." Faith says the same thing the word of God says. (Unbelief takes sides against God's word.) Those who have faith say--"If God said it, I believe it and settles it."

4. How to receive faith? Jesus is the author and finisher of faith (Hebrews 12:2). He has given a measure of faith to everyone. Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God (Romans 10:17). We receive faith and grow in faith only as we read and hear God's word (the Bible).

5. How to exercise faith? Faith has no value unless it is exercised or used. Faith demands action, obedience and confession of what the word says. Only as we

POETIC INTERLUDES

To You, My Friend

You're scared. Scared of what? What harm can come to you? Pain is the base for joy. Happiness is so much more fulfilling because of the sorrow we experience. So why are you afraid of pain? It can't be avoided, no matter what style of life you choose. So why does love seem so awful?

Love initiates pain and human suffering, but isn't all that despair worth the overpowering joy of love? Isn't love the most fulfilling aspect of human life? And, isn't love, in all its facets, worth just the experience of sharing with another human being?

I love you because I can't help it. I love everyone because each of us has qualities incomparable to those of another. Is that frightening to you? Aren't there times when you could just hug someone for something? Does that hurt you? Do you accept love? If someone offers you love, do you shun them? They are giving you the most precious gift they can, so when I say I love you, can you really insult me as you turn away? Can you now understand pain, suffering and hatred? Could they be the responses to all the unaccepted love?

Lucky Sally

By Punchy

For this young damsel there existed no reality
The powers of her mind were far beyond that of her body
Her life had no meaning, its destiny unrecorded.
This meant nothing to this fuzzy haired sports writer
His world was shallow, his mind at ease, for he knew that Jack In The Box was open all night.
She gazed with wanting eyes and drooling lips as he finished his third Bonus Jack.
Could there be salvation for this poor tattered soul,
could this be reality?
Sad but true, it was fourth down and goal to go for the two lovers as their clock ran out, salvation was lost.

Innervisions

Who Ever Would Have Thought...

Who ever would have thought that I would fall in love with you.
I didn't plan to, you know.
Maybe that is why it has lasted as long as it has.
I only know that loving you couldn't be more natural.
I feel as though I've known you forever.
We've shared so many moments together and the ones we haven't shared-we've recalled to each other.
Through all the secrets; now unfolded,
I've come to know and understand you better.
Although we've both made some mistakes in the past,
our relationship is my most prized possession and will endure over all.

To Be In Love

By Jay Metzger

His life had been an ever growing valley of darkness.
The steady advance of gloom had all but obscured the sun in his life.
It made him pessimistic of his chances to find the happiness owed to him.
But now the skies were clearing.
He was advancing towards the open plain from the valley
Even his pessimism was turning to long lost optimism.
He was in love.
It was a different feeling for him, and one he had shared all too rarely.
But now that love was here, it didn't feel all that bad.
Unfortunately, he wasn't sure if the girl of his affection felt the same for him.
She had never even said hello to him, much less looked at him.
Part of it was his fault, he figured.
He was scared of her, because she was so beautiful.
It was this fear that kept him from talking to her too.
He guessed that he was expecting too much from her, wanting all that attention.
But then again, the world owed him something for his years of loneliness and suffering.
Oh, he was being foolish.
The world owed him nothing he couldn't have had had he gone out and worked up the nerve to get it.
But enough of that philosophical garbage; he had other things to figure out.
Like how he was going to finally approach her and get to know her.
He had thought about it as often as he could,
but never expressed his feelings to her or all the others he had liked in his mind.
The time would come when he would finally take the first step, it had to come.
But would she still be around for him to do it?
Or would she be swept away by another who felt the same as he did?
It was a question that filled the back of his mind constantly, and one that scared him Not that his fear was without basis, for he had been beaten out every time before.
He figured the odds had to be in his favor, but that just wasn't good enough.
The time had come for action, the time was now.
Would he break out of his shell of fear?
He hoped the answer was yes, and he hoped she felt the same for him.
"Isn't love a funny thing?" he thought.
Maybe.

The Jungle

By Nick Danger

As he ventured into the deepest darkest, Bryant community he finally realized that reality had been distant.
All the pretty flowers and the wonderful countryside had overwhelmed his perception
The trek was long and tiresome as he searched for the entrance to the ARCHWAY office.
All the workers were in their place, the HELLRIDE was in complete operation, and resumes were on the lips of everyone.
He had not ventured into such a place before,
Was this the place of truth? Was this the place of knowledge? How the hell should they know? They are just the poor feeble natives who publish this paper.

"The Best Little Boy in the World", by John Reid (G.P. Putnam's Sons; $1.75) This is a straight-forward, well-written, and humorous account of a growing up gay in a straight world. The author, John Reid, begins by telling us of his experiences as a youngster. He tops his class, excels in sports, and respects Mom and Dad. It is not until Reid enters Yale that he becomes acutely aware of his homosexuality and learns of the difficulties in coping with it. The incidents the author writes about are hilarious. After graduating from Yale, Reid goes to New York where he becomes a highly successful IBM executive. It is during this period that he finally comes out of the closet after eleven years of silence and makes the great revelation. The reader can not help but feel sympathy and admiration for this man for what he has gone through in accepting his homosexuality. For a rare moment one can experience how it feels to be a homosexual. The last half of the book deals with Reid's activities the following summer in a roundelay of sexual adventures which add up to no more than a getting acquainted period for Reid. Reid handles situations with perseverance and the book affords many opportunities for intelligent discourse. He never quite gets up the nerve to tell his folks, but in the last chapter (which consists of two sentences), Reid states: "I told them. They said as far as they were concerned I was still the best little boy in the world."

This is possibly one of the best little books around too. It is not the story of a gay crusader or of a closet queen. It is a book about owning up to one's self. I highly recommend it to everyone.

John Reid has published several books (under his real name) in the field of business and finance. His articles have appeared in a number of publications including New York, This Week, and The Boston Globe.

Genevieve's Hungarian Fare

By Philip Livcey

Sitting unobtrusively on route 116, Genevieve's Hungarian Fare is an enigma in the minds of most Bryantonians. It looks to be the ubiquitous road-side greasy spoon; yet, you might be surprised if you took a last minute date there some Saturday night and were turned away for lack of reservations.

Genevieve's has a subdued, casual ambience with cuisine that will please anyone. In addition to its delectable Hungarian dishes they also have excellent Italian food. Both are prepared with great expertise by the owner and cook, Bernie Delisle. Bernie's personal philosophy concerning his business is simple: the customer always comes first. He proves this by going out of his way to accomodate even the most demanding customers.

Bernie's wife, Enilro, pays meticulous attention to every detail, making Genevieve's a special place to eat. She has provided the restaurant with many things that keep it fresh and spontaneous. There are flowers on every table. The waiters are congenial and the service is always excellent. There is a wall containing live birds, a nice place to eat dessert. There is even a violinist on week-ends.

If you are tired to the scatological cuisine Saga offers, go to Genevieve's. There, you can have an excellent meal, in a pleasant atmosphere, without paying too much. One suggestion: it's usually a good idea to have reservations on week-ends. Check it out; you will really enjoy it.

Movie Review

OH GOD

By Craig Perry

Isn't "Oh God" the expression you use when something is unbelievable? Well, that may be, but it is also the name of a new smash movie starring John Denver and George Burns.

The story line is as follows: God (George Burns) wants John Denver (Supermarket manager) to spread the word that we can make it; all we have to do is try. Well let me tell you, Denver tries.

He torces the newspaper to give him print, they look at him as if he just escaped from the Country Comfort after an all-nighter. After he gets some news space, he is further graced with a personal appearance on a television show. On the show, a police artist draws God from Denver's description. Heavy, right?

How does Denver prove to people that he has actually spoken with the Almighty himself? What else but a business card that says, simply and unequivocally, "God." During the movie God talks to him over the car radio, in the shower, and at the supermarket. Can you imagine God talking to you and telling you that he has made a few errors? For instance, the pits in the artichokes are too big or the reason that Adam and Eve were naked was that he didn't like to make clothes.

You don't have to believe in God to like the movie. It is just a fun flick made with anyone in mind. It is not sacrilegious, for those few of you who are devout. I consider it inspirational because it reminds you that you can change things from what they are. There is still free will in this country. You don't have to attend the party or get high. Use your own mind and you will make it.

I think the movie is excellent. Those people who thought that Mr. Goodbar had meaning would have an adrenalin overflow viewing this picture. There is a lot of meaning here and all you have to do is take it from the movie and see where you can apply it.

Hopefully you can see the movie and see God. Did you ever think you could see God for only three dollars?

Horoscope Highlights

November 18-November 24

Scorpio (October 24-November 22)

Family is of the utmost importance to you this week. Be tolerant of the shortcomings of a younger person in your family. This is a phase and will pass soon. However, don't just stand idly by. A little experienced advice could help considerably.

Sagittarius (November 23-December 21)

Your Sagittarian personality rules the roast this week. Use your magnetism constructively. This is a good time to promote your personal interests!

Capricorn (December 22-January 20)

Something planned will not be working out exactly as you hoped it would. Don't let it get you down because there is quite a bit of action and excitement in other areas in store for you this week. What you ask will be given.

Aquarius (January 21-February 18)

Diplomacy is the name of the game this week! Certain occurrences will make this a very aggravating period. Your free-wheeling tendencies could bring big trouble. Remember, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Pisces (February 19-March 20)

A good week for "pulling strings" where it is needed. Gains can be made if you ask the right persons. Stop daydreaming and get to work.

Aries (March 21-April 20)

A very unusual week is in store for you Aries. Be ready at all times to cope with the unexpected. People you never knew before will approach you and the results could be great!

Taurus (April 21-May 21)

This will be a week charged with emotions. However, if pressed, you must state exactly how you feel.

Gemini (May 22-June 21)

You're in a rut! This is the week to get out it. Positive influences exist for you. Take advantage of them. Get away from school, meet new people, see new places. Don't put it off any longer or you'll just dig a deeper hole for yourself.

Cancer (June 22-July 22)

A hectic week in some respects. On top of this, a casual and harmless remark will be taken the wrong way by a sensitive individual. Think before you speak!

Leo (July 23-August 23)

Great news is in store for you either by phone or mail. Revel in the news and enjoy. This week will be full of love and excitement. It will surely linger in your memory.

Virgo (August 24-September 23)

Do not give your nod too readily to ones who want you to join an organization. You must study the situation a while longer and learn more about it. Don't act swiftly, no matter how tempting it is.

Libra (September 24-October 23)

Words, either written or spoken, come under chancy vibrations this week. An important person gives unmistakable evidence of noticing you most favorably. If you play your cards right, this could lead to something very interesting.

Ed's Almanac

By Ed Kasinkas

"Rain is caused by high-pressure areas, cold fronts, moist air--and --and weekends." That quote comes from The Virginian-Pilot, a newspaper published in the Tidewater section of Virginia. I visited the area over the long weekend hoping to get away from the rain which plagues Rhode Island every weekend. Instead, I witnessed the heaviest rainfall ever recorded in a 24-hour period in the Norfolk/Virginia Beach area of the state.

As of November 1, rainfall in the Tidewater area was 4.1 inches below normal, with the water restrictions imposed during the summer still in effect. On Sunday, the old record of 2.64 inches of rain set on November 2, 1947 was broken when 3.05 inches of rain fell between midnight and 10 p.m. That was more rain than what fell in June and July. Remember, one inch of rain over one acre of land equals 27,154 gallons of water. Driving through the Norfolk Naval Base, I saw that all the low-lying areas and many streets were folded, with some water as high as the car door.

Heavy rains and snow plagued many areas of the country last week. Portions of New York received five inches of rain and a blizzard hit the northern Midwest. More than nine inches of snow fell, with some places in Minnesota receiving as much as ten inches. It was the worst storm on record for this time of the season in Fargo, North Dakota. Winds gusting up to 80 miles-an-hour immobilized snow removal crews and travellers. A number of deaths were reported.

The storm continued eastward, dumping a foot of snow in Ohio. Michigan received only six inches of snow, but the heavy winds caused power failures in two counties and produced eight- to 12-foot waves on Lake Michigan. The northwest hills of Connecticut and the Berkshires got one to three inches of snow on Sunday. There were a few flakes mixed in with the rain here in Rhode Island on Sunday. Winter isn't very far away. Next week: The wind chill factor.

Extended Forecast:

Cold weather will dominate over the area for the next week and a half. Frost will be common every night and you can expect some light snow over Thanksgiving.

Full Moon: November 25

Average hours of daylight: 9 hours 33 minutes

The planet Mercury can be seen as the only bright object, very low near the southwestern horizon in the evening twilight. On November 24, it sets one hour after sunset.

WOMEN IN SPORTS

Bryant Bowlers Take Charge

By Mark Masley

The Bryant varsity bowling team captured 36 out of 54 match points in Tri-State action last Saturday at UCONN to move closer to division leading Lowell University. Bryant now stands in second place, only two points behind.

Highlighting the scoring were the doubles team of Paul Weissman and Russ Surdi. They finished overall second to Central Connecticut with a combined score of 1146. Surdi led the way with a 577 series and a 214 game. Other fine performances included Mike Massey (207), and Steve Miles (202). Weissman chipped in with a 569 series.

Bryant travels to Auburn, Mass. this Saturday for the Worcester Polytech Invitational tournament. First place is at stake, with Bryant going head-on against Lowell. Game time begins at 12 noon.

"Twelve Down, One To Go"

By Jerry Gaynor

The 1977 X-C season is over officially. The final two championships have been run and have closed out the NCAA competition schedule. The first of these was cold, windy and rainy and the course not in the best of shape, but the runners did more than manage.

It was a field of about 150 runners including the number four ranked team in the nation, Providence. The pace consequently was very quick in the beginning, but due to headsy and smart running by the Bryantonians, they did not allow themselves to get caught up with the pace and could run their own race. The Bryant forces were led by Jack O'Connor who finished in a time of 26:47. Next was Phil Goss 46 seconds behind Jack. Bill "Sticks" McKitchen, in his first Varsity race of the season, impressed in a time of 27:40. Crossing the tape for Bryant next was Craig Anderson, clocking 28:14. Following Craig was the Irishman, Mike Kearney in 28:30. Running hard to the finish was Dr. Proctor, who was the next Bryant harrier across the line in 28:47 and rounding out the team effort was Billy Sanford in a time of 29:07. In the JV race Sam Blackmore covered the course in a time of 29:45.

This past Monday the team travelled to the Bronx and Van Cortlandt Park for the IC4A Championships. It was very cold & windy and the course in excellent shape. Van Cortlandt is by far the toughest course in the Northeast and it took its toll on all the competitors. The Bryant squad fared well considering their inexperience on so tough a course. Billy Sanford was the first to transverse the tape for this week, clocking 28:20. Jack O'Connor finished less than a minute later in 28:44. Phil Goss was very closed behind Jack, only 3 seconds back. Completing the beat Bryant last year in overtime. Folliard said that the passing and shot selection was excellent. In the six halves they played, Bryant did not shoot less than 56 percent in any of them. Folliard says the Bryant has "a stronger team than last year". He states that, "we picked up some very good players, but so did the other teams". But overall based on what he has seen in practice Folliard seems very optimistic about Bryant's success this year.

With the additions of the freshmen and only losing one player from last year to graduation, Bryant should be able to put a competitive team out on the court this year. The team should be exciting as well.

Bryant's first game is away against Worcester State who was a New England division three finalist last year and they are greatly improved over last year when Bryant beat them by 30 points. The next two games are also away, December 1 at Quinnipiac and December 3 at Nichols at 2pm. The first home game is December 6 against Southern Connecticut.

course next was "Sticks" McKitchen in 29:03. Rounding out the cause for us was Craig Anderson in 29:35, Dr. Proctor clocking 30:20 and Mike Kearney finishing in 30:37.

Only one race remains and that takes place this Sunday at Bryant. It is the R.I.A.A.U. Championships for 10 K's. Race time is 1:00 p.m. starting by the intramural football fields.

Meet Jerry Gaynor

Meet Jerry Gaynor, Bryant's own rendition of the Marathon Man. Jerry, this years cross country captain, has lead the young team through a very successful year. Jerry started getting in shape for the cross country season last June.

Running on the highways and byways of his hometown, Garnerville NY, he was able to log almost 775 miles through the course of the summer. Though he was working 8 hours a day, he usually managed to run 5 to 20 miles almost everyday.

Jerry, a junior accounting major, began running his sophomore year in high school and was a member of the country's number one ranked high school cross country team his senior year. With only two runners returning from last year's cross country team, Jerry has been put in the position of leading the inexperienced team through the rigors of everyday practice. When asked how he felt the team ran this year, he replied, "I feel the freshmen and transfer students were able to make the tough transition from high school cross country (which is 25 miles) to college cross country (5 miles) with relative ease." Jerry feels that with a year's experience under their belts, and through the coaching of Fred Reinhart, the team will be even stronger next year and a power to contend with in Division II cross country. The cross country season concluded this past Monday at Van Cortlandt Park in New York, so Jerry is now looking forward to participating in intramural sports and routing the New York Giants on to a wild card berth in the N.F.L. playoffs.

Hockey Varsity Sports Outlook Basketball

Bryant hockey coach Bob Reall enters the 77-78 season with a combination of experience and youth. Coach Reall has called this season's schedule the toughest he has been faced with, but looks forward with optimism to a possible play-off berth. The offensive alignment seems to be the backbone of this year's hockey team. The lines are well balanced, and Coach Reall refused to number the lines, giving me the impression that all can do the job.

Center Jim Grimm, right wing

Ted Ferry, and left wing Jack Judge are expected to do most of the scoring. Grimm's line, the most experienced, will be facing the opponents' top lines all season.

Center Dana Bengston, left wing Vito Scotti and right wing Bill Condon will also be depended upon for scoring punch. Grimm and Bengstrom's line will be taking turns on the power play.

four lines, all with strong potential. Freshman forwards Jim McDonald and Joe Germano will also see action.

The defense core will revolve around number one goal tender, Bob Fisette. Able back-ups in goal will be freshmen Marcel Lapierre, Keith Costa or Bob Monti.

Co-captain Dave Dolce will be playing his fourth season in an Indian uniform. Dolce will be leading a core of young defensemen made up of Greg Calkins, Bob McCabe, Jeff Pentergast, Rick Reynolds, Dave Magill, Clay Shackleton and Mark Murphy.

This year's hockey team has

high hopes of making the playoffs. Student support is always a plus factor. There is a home game package deal offered to Bryant College students and faculty, for the 16 games at Mount St. Charles, for only $5.00. Chamber of Commerce members and alumni have the same deal at $17.00, and for the general public the price is $20.00 for adults and $10.00 for highschoolers. If enough student interest is shown, a bus will be provided for transportation, round trip.

The Indians open their season November 25 & 26, in the Merrimack tournament.

GOOD LUCK INDIANS!!!

By Joe Welch
and Bob Dakers

Bryant's Basketball team is looking forward to a promising year. With ten experienced players back from last year and a good group of freshmen, Bryant should improve on a 13-13 season in 1976-77 that had some big wins and some disappointing losses.

Co-captains for this year's team are senior's Tom Box and Paul Seymour. Box, a 6'4" forward was the leading scorer on last year's team with a 14.2 points a game average. He also led the team in rebounds averaging over 11 a game. Seymour is a 6' guard who has a fine shot and was third on the team in scoring, averaging 13.3 points a game.

The frontcourt has more depth this year. With such players as Box, Chris Avery, Dan Mazzulla, Bill Yukna returning, and the addition of Freshmen Ernie Dewitt, Steve Walker, and Don Sweet it should make for a strong front line.

Avery is a 6'6" senior forward, who averaged 11.8 points a game last year and was also third on the team in rebounding. Mazzulla is a 6'4" sophomore forward. Mazzulla is coming off a very good freshmen year in which he averaged 14 points a game and 9.3 rebounds, both totals good for the team. He is also one of the strongest defensive players on the team. Yukna is a sophomore forward who stands 6'4". He saw quite a bit of action as a freshmen and is a good shooter.

Dewitt, Walker, and Sweet will add more talent and depth to the frontline. Dewitt is a forward, who became of his jumping ability Coach Folliard calls him a "strong" 6'6" center from Providence, R.I. and while playing Rogers High School he was named first team all-state and was also named to the all-tourney team for Rhode Island schoolboys. He averaged 25 points a game for Rogers last year. Walker is a 6' from Newport, R.I. and while playing for Rogers High School he was named first team all-state and was also named to the all-tourney team for Rhode Island schoolboys. He averaged 25 points a game for Rogers last year. Walker is a 6'6" center from Providence, R.I. He also was a first team all-state selection and one of the highest scorers in Rhode Island Class A while playing at Central High. Sweet is a 6'8" center who like Box and Mazzulla played for Johnston High School. Sweet should fit the middle well when called upon because of his size giving Bryant something it did not have last year. Sweet was first team Class B and one of the leading scorers in Class B.

The backcourt is also deep this year with returning guards Paul Seymour, Jeff Kusz, Ernie Isom, Mike Travassos, Tom Coppinger, Bob Corbett, plus the addition of two freshmen.

Kusz, a senior, is returning after missing a good portion of last year because of a knee injury. Having him for the whole season should help the team. Isom is a senior who finished last year with an 11 points a game scoring average. Travassos and Coppinger are both juniors and are both good ballhandlers. Travassos also had some good scoring games last. Corbett, as a freshmen last year, saw quite a bit of action. Corbett was one of the better shooting guards on the team last year.

The two new guards are Joe Savickis and Bob Mahon. They both should add more ballhandling ability to the team. Savickis is 5'9". He was named first team all-state and the M.V.P. in the Rhode Island schoolboy tourney while playing for state champions Our Lady of Providence. Savickis, along with Dewitt, Walker, and Sweet, was on a Rhode Island schoolboy all-star team that played in Europe this past summer. Mahon is 5'9" who like Avery, Kusz, and seymour played for Worcester Academy. Mahon was the top playmaker for Worcester Academy who last year won the New England prep school championship.

Coach Thomas Folliard felt that Bryant had a "very impressive scrimmage" Saturday against Brandeis, a team that

Intramural Finals

By Mike Nevins

With the intramural football season coming to a close, I hope that all participants do not look back at the lost game, but at the good times they had. No matter which Division you were in, the competition was tough. In the play-offs this past week, the Frat League played out its season, while the other teams that made the play-offs tried to stay alive.

On Saturday, there were six games. Here is a brief summary: In the Delta Sig vs. Phi Sig game John Coffey and Steve Terk caught wide-open touchdown passes, yet lost 19-13. For Phi Sig, Brian Donahue, Mike Galuitch and John Costello all scored touchdowns. In the TKE game, Phi Ep launched a Sonny Novac-to-Tim Whitton pass for a victory touchdown, beating TKE 7-0. The Boys at 13 beat Norton's Mooners in overtime 3-0. Bad Co., the team that upset its division, played the Invalids and lost a close one 3-0. Skidrow, a team that had won only a game or two, upset Jokers II 12-10 with Joe Sarno scoring their only touchdown. Rio Grande was the final game of the day and they crushed G.S.S. 17-7 with Bussy and Wilt scoring touchdowns and Artie a field goal.

On Sunday, Phi Ep lost to KT 3-6. Mark Van Dyne kicked a field goal for Phi Ep's only points and Cliff Lawton ran back a 60 yard interception to score for KT. TE also played and won against Delta Sig 7-0 with a short pass to Wayne Zarosznay.

Monday was the deciding day for which two teams would play in the semi-finals against the two best frat teams. The Boys at 13 were to play Skidrow, and Rio Grande to play the Invalids. The Boys at 13 won 6-0 with a touchdown by Chuck Cossoli. Rio Grande also won 13-0 beating the Invalids. Gil Jeffrey and Ed Bartel both caught short passes for touchdowns. On Tuesday KT and TE played to a tie of 0-0 and Delta Sig played TKE to another scoreless game. On Wednesday Phi Ep played Phi Sig.

If you like the football program here at school, then tell Tim Easley or Magic, who are the commissioners. If you do not, then give them your views. Here are a few ideas to think about: Would you like a longer or shorter season, having the first down markers of fifteen or twenty yards, allowing blocking on kicks to get good field position, trying flag football which would give the offense a little more variety, or even if you would like to see a club team for the school. The program is set up for students, both residential and commuting.
