Beta Iota Beta Becomes Affiliate Of Tau Kappa Epsilon

The Brothers of Beta Iota Beta are very proud to announce that as of December 21, 1967, we have become a recognized affiliate of Tau Kappa Epsilon National Fraternity.

Tau Kappa Epsilon was founded in 1899 at Illinois Wesleyan University and has grown to 234 active chapters where it stands as the largest college social fraternity. With its 10,000 undergraduate members and 62,000 living alumni, TKE is ranked 7th in "quality" (of the 60 national fraternities) by an independent College Survey Bureau.

We feel that TKE's reputation for help and guidance to its chapters, its Leadership Schools for chapters, its Scholarship and House Funds, its Employment Placement Service, and its non restrictive membership clauses should help to bring about in our brotherhood an organization approaching the ultimate in fraternity life at Bryant. TKE representatives are already helping us plan for life on the new campus.

As an affiliate of Tau Kappa Epsilon the brothers and future pledges of BIB retain, for the present, their name, activities, constitution, and by-laws. However, the members of BIB will start to use TKE materials for rushing, as well as TKE manuals in pledging and every day operations. This affiliation period will last until Beta Iota Beta completes certain requirements which include submitting a lengthy formal petition. But they expect to be fully chartered by May or early next fall at the latest.

BIB hopes this National affiliation with Tau Kappa Epsilon will benefit Beta Iota Beta, the Greek Letter Council, and Bryant College.

Union Signs Major Policy-Making Agreement

As a result of an agreement made between the Bryant Faculty Federation and the Bryant College administration on the 19th of December, 1967, two new committees have been officially recognized as major academic policy-making organs of Bryant College. The two committees are (1) The Committee on Faculty Rank and Appointment, and (2) the Curriculum Committee. Each committee is composed of representatives from both the Faculty and the Administration.

The Committee on Faculty Rank and Appointment is responsible for considering appointments, salaries, promotions, increments, and the release of faculty members. The immediate task confronting the committee is to establish criteria for appointment, rank, and promotions. The membership of the Committee is composed of the President (ex-officio), the Vice President for Academic Affairs, (non-voting), the Vice President for Financial Affairs (non-voting), and three members elected annually by the Bryant Faculty Federation from the faculty of the college. The faculty representatives for 1967-68 are Louise H. Cronk, Associate Professor of English; Henry L. Foley, Assistant Professor of Accounting; and Earle A. Messer, Associate Professor of Business Administration.

The Curriculum Committee's duties are to review the offerings of various programs in all schools of the college and to

SUCCESSFUL SHOWING . . .

James Gibney, President of the Senior Class, along with other student senate members, address the throng of rallying students in front of Dean Gulski's office.

Just a few of the over 800 students who marched around south hall in support of the student senate.

Bryant Students have finally awakened to the reality of the world around them. On Wednesday, December 13th, a student-supported Senate rally was held in front of South Hall to present to the administration of this institution certain grievances that had to be aired. The furor on the part of the students was brought to a head the week before when the registrar's office published the new exam schedule for this semester. It happens that the schedule has been tightened up to the point where many students have one exam after another in three days time.

Among the complaints by students is the cut system here at Bryant. Many feel that, at this point in the school's history, it is time to change—to get in step with other educational institutions.

The problems encountered in taking six courses and in dropping courses, the problems of determining what professors are teaching what courses, the rule that every course must have three tests—causing a student to be taking many exams in a week's time, and the ways that the students found out about our tuition increase and other college developments are among the many reasons which led to Wednesday's rally.

With the coming of Christmas, the rally was appropriately timed. During this season, it was hoped that the soft hearts?—of our superiors might be found to derive solutions to these and other problems. Let us hope that 1968 will find Administration—Faculty—Student communication helping to remedy problems and increasing understanding among all the interests at this college.

determine the addition, deletion, and revision of courses and degree programs. The Committee's first business shall be to clarify the academic objectives of the college. The Bryant Curriculum Committee is composed of the President (ex-officio), the Vice President for Academic Affairs (non-voting), and four other members elected annually by the Bryant Faculty Federation from the faculty. Current faculty representatives on this committee are Wallace S. Camper, Instructor in Business Administration; James R. Estey, Instructor in History; Thomas A. Manion, Associate Professor of Economics; and Clarissa H. Patterson, Assistant Professor of English and Secretarial Studies.

EDITORIAL

College newspapers are the voice of the students at most schools of higher learning. The freedom to say what one feels is seldom infringed upon. Attacks on administration, faculty, and the student body fill the front and editorial pages of college newspapers throughout the country. An editorial position is looked upon with dignity and importance. When an opinion is expressed, common courtesy is shown by evaluating the statement for what it is worth.

The Bryant College Archway falls far short of this sketch of a college newspaper. Students fear writing to the editor because of the possibility of retaliation. Respect for the newspaper is lacking not only by the student body, but also by the Archway staff. Members join the staff in September in the hope that a newspaper will be published that they can be proud of. Once the writers submit their articles for publication, the work of the paste-up crew begins.

This crew is composed of three Archway editors. Although the crew spends a lengthy period of time determining how the paper is to look and what is to be included in the paper, changes occur that are beyond their control.

When students devote as much as ten hours a week to the publication of a newspaper, they find that the copy published is totally different from what was set up, dismay is taken over by anger. An obvious attempt at censorship is not to be taken lightly.

Just because the Archway is an extra-curricular activity, it doesn't mean that the paper should not be taken seriously. As Editor-in-Chief of the Archway, I feel that it is my duty to remind EVERYONE that this paper is published "BY THE UNDERGRADUATE BODY OF BRYANT COLLEGE."

Marvin Friedman
Editor-in-Chief

An Open Letter To The Student Body

On the occasion of my resignation as Assistant Editor of the ARCHWAY, I feel that it is necessary to inform you, my fellow students of my reasons for forfeiting my position. After working on the school newspaper for a total of three semesters, I have found resignation to be the only course to choose in lieu of certain pressing internal problems.

I admit that my experience in journalism is truly shallow; however, simple logic has guided me in the job I have done. At the outset, when I accepted the position of Assistant Editor, I had hoped for marked improvement in the paper. All can note that over the past few months numerous format and policy changes have been shown as evidenced by some of the recent issues. However, the prime force which ought to motivate our student newspaper is absent. Simply, the ARCHWAY is financed in total by the student body through the Student Activity Fund which is composed of annual contributions required of all students. The fact that such an activity as the newspaper is financed solely by the students would lead one to believe that editorial policy is finalized only by the students that operate the paper. Unfortunately, in the case of the ARCHWAY, this is a fallacy. Certain incidents during my tenure within the central operations of the newspaper have convinced me that my conclusions are correct and verified, and furthermore, these problems have led to my decision to resign.

In effect, you, the students of Bryant College are stockholders in the newspaper, and you ought to be made aware of the problems that are causing the decay in your investment. It has been my occasion over the past few months to be a part of the layout staff. During this period, I have had partial responsibility for the make-up of the paper. On more than one occasion, I have discovered (only after publication) that the general design had been markedly altered. These changes were necessitated in order to remove articles that may have appeared to be 'less important' or 'in poor taste.' The fact of the matter is that a non-investing party had imposed his will, by making the changes without first consulting with the editors or the editorial board, as on one particular occasion, and by making the changes with the consultation, but lacking in a democratic investigation and understanding on a different occasion.

It has been known that the staff members of the ARCHWAY have had a communications problem; however, the existence of these difficulties (these problems are now in the process of being eliminated through the draft of a new constitution) are mere trivialities compared to the undermining force which has feigned the logical, honest, and judicial operation of the student newspaper.

Because of the circumstances that I have described, I made my decision; however, I would like to make it perfectly clear that my heart is, and always will be with the ARCHWAY. Be it known, that I am not against the ARCHWAY, but for it. A student newspaper must and ought to be maintained; however, by the mere virtue of its classification — STUDENT, it must, by its nature operate for and by students. Note, that if the occasion ever presents itself, I would jump at the opportunity to re-apply for membership on a student newspaper that is truly a student publication.

Robert J. Baruch

December 11, 1967

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the article "Discuss It . . . With J. Philip Regas." According to this article Bryant instructors had a rather unfavorable opinion of the study habits and social patterns of Bryant students.

The study habits of Bryant students do leave much to be desired — when compared with the study habits of math, history, or science majors at other institutions of higher learning. Why not compare our study habits to those of other business majors?

One instructor wanted to know why the Bryant student thought that a date of studying at the library was ridiculous. Certain fields require excess outside reading assignments, and a history or a physics major may find it a necessity to visit the library practically every night to do the assigned outside readings that are required of him. For two people with many assignments who are going to go to the library anyway, a library date is a natural course. For someone with few outside reading assignments dating another person with no outside reading assignments or a non-student, a library date is ridiculous. At some institutions because there are a large number of students at the library at night some regard it as a social center. Every institution of higher learning has these socialites as well as serious students.

If Bryant instructors feel that Bryant students compared to other business students do have poor study habits, then why don't they do something constructive about it? Why are they here?

The instructors who were interviewed also remarked about the maturity and social patterns of Bryant students. The general opinion was that the lack of maturity was "rather obvious because important items seem to be to just get through a course, graduate by any bare minimum, and most of all have a social blast all around." These instructors should have a "group introspection" and look at the intellectual atmosphere they project. Some instructors lecture by reading verbatim from a text book (we can read, honest) and some give objective tests (essays take time to correct) that are scooped, or that have been obtained ahead of time by the person that typed or made the copies of the test. Is it hard to believe that these incidents have discouraged students. Is it hard to believe that this attitude in turn discourages the dedicated instructors?

Some faculty members project such a lack of respect for Bryant students that they are hardly in a position to command respect from students. Also, although there may be a "distinct lack of participation and interest in athletics, dramatics, music, and other activities" there is a very large percentage of industrious students who work to help pay the cost of their education.

There are students who are immature: there are instructors who project a lack of sincerity in their professions. This is evident in every institution of higher learning in the country. There are Bryant students who attend "happy hours"; there are instructors who attend "happy hours", but does that make them irresponsible socialites?

At "other institutions of higher learning" one is taught that if one has an intellectual curiosity toward a question or problem, he turns to libraries, books, authorities, etc.; he just doesn't sit back and wonder when there are tangible answers. So why does an instructor sit back and say "What is going to happen to the immature Bryant socialite when he leaves here and has to face the reality of the world?" There are alumni bulletins, a placement bureau, class reunions, alumni themselves. . . . Is this instructor afraid to find that after graduation Bryant students are able to face the reality of the world?

New Year's Dorm Dinner Held

It was New Year's Eve all over again on the evening of January 3, when dorm students were treated to a party-style dinner, complete with cold cuts, pop corn, noisemakers, and the music of Bryant's own Soul Proprietorship.

Three complete serving tables were set up to speed the lines up, although at times seating was at a premium. Various types of salads, meat and fowl, and desserts were available in keeping with the spirit of the festive occasion.

Reply to Mr. Friedman

By Arthur K. Smith
Archway Faculty Adviser

Contrary to the implications of Mr. Friedman's editorial, the Archway has been completely under the control of Bryant College students since the beginning of the fall semester. The writing has been done by the students, the format of the paper has been done by the students, and any censure actions taken have been taken by students.

It is time for all readers of the Archway to know exactly how the 1967-1968 Archway operates. And it is time for the co-editor-in-chief and the assistant editor to operate within the constituted framework of the Archway organization and not either to exceed their authority or to make it look as though they are being censured anytime they are prevented from being dictatorial.

Making all final decisions about questions of policy, the kinds of articles to be published in the college newspaper, and any other matters creating controversy are five members of a Student Editorial Board. This student governing body consists of Bryant undergraduates, four of whom are on the Archway staff and one who is not. When any controversy arises about anything whatsoever, a majority vote of this student group decides what action will be taken. If there is time for extended deliberation and debate, the members of the Editorial Board get together and talk matters over in a leisurely way. If there is not time for a leisurely debate—for instance, if an important problem comes up at a time when the printer cannot wait any longer for either copy or a pasted-up dummy of the paper—the members of the Editorial Board are consulted individually by the faculty adviser by any method possible, who then acts on the basis of what the majority of the Editorial Board say they want done.

The statement by Mr. Friedman (in the fourth paragraph of his editorial) "When students devote as much as ten hours a week to the publication of a newspaper, then find that the copy published is totally different from what was set up . . ." is somewhat misleading. Mr. Friedman is referring to a situation arising with the planning of the issue of the Archway that appeared just before the start of the Christmas vacation.

What happened on that occasion was that a majority of the Editorial Board flatly and unhesitatingly vetoed the idea of permitting the editor-in-chief and the assistant editor to violate one of the most commonly known principles of honest journalism—the printing of a front-page headline without any story accompanying it. The headline announced a student demonstration; but at the time the pasted-up dummy of the Archway was being submitted, the demonstration had not even taken place. Publishing any kind of story before an event has happened is another violation of journalistic practice that no responsible editor would permit. The Editorial Board requested the faculty adviser to delete the headline, to inform the paste-up committee of their decision to delay any news of the demonstration until it occurred, and to substitute a Christmas editorial (written by a staff member) for the deleted material.

Mr. Friedman's second-paragraph statement "Students fear writing to the editor because of the possibility of retaliation" has been explained by one of the staff members as meaning that some students are afraid of teachers who could not brook criticism and might flunk students who offended them. It is doubtful that any teacher or administrative officer at Bryant College would seek unfair retaliation against a student who used the Archway to express an opinion if the student's opinion had any validity, was expressed in reasonable language, and was substantiated by truthful facts. The present problem seems to be that some students want to express themselves while in the heat of anger about something and are more willing to incite other students to anger than to start a reasonable debate that may lead to a desirable conclusion for all concerned. The Editorial Board wants a good Archway and intends to make it a first-rate STUDENT PUBLICATION.

Reply to Mr. Baruch's Letter of Resignation

By Arthur K. Smith
Archway Faculty Adviser

The statements in Mr. Baruch's letter of resignation seem motivated by a desire to make Archway readers believe the members of the Editorial Board do not have all censure-ship activities in their own hands. These statements also show too well how the cause of anger can bring about an example of a very short memory on an individual's part. Has Mr. Baruch forgotten that about six weeks ago, acting with absolutely no authority, he assumed the right to censure articles written by Archway representatives of the Greek Letter organizations? Has he forgotten that without consulting anyone — much less the members of the Editorial Board — he deleted whole paragraphs from fraternity and sorority articles? that he told some of the students submitting these articles that the Archway would not publish them? that he "feigned" as much authority as would be invested in all offices of the editor-in-chief, the faculty adviser, and the Editorial Board combined? that he attempted to go before the Greek Letter Council and lay down the law (a law he created himself) about what the Archway would accept and what it would reject? Has he forgotten that he was practically thrown out of the meeting and told not to come back? Initiating such an arrogant act of censure-ship, Mr. Baruch was dealing with a group representing almost one-half of the student body who must be classified as contributing individuals.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Baruch states that "on more than one occasion I have discovered (only after publication) that the general design has been markedly altered." If Mr. Baruch had been specific, he would have explained that his "more than one occasion" actually means "two occasions." The first of these involved brief announcements of staff promotions (one of which was Mr. Baruch's own elevation to assistant editor) and the other was the story about the demonstration. In the case of the story of the staff promotions, space had been requested for these articles two weeks before the omitted article was even written, and the omitted article—an editorial by Richard Hurst—was printed in the following issue of the Archway. The space required for the staff-promotions story was a great deal less than Mr. Baruch has required for his letter of resignation. The second incident, which he describes as a censure-ship action taken by a "non-investing party," was the story of the demonstration which the Editorial Board ruled on and which has been explained fully in the letter to Mr. Friedman.

. SPORTS .

Indians Undefeated

The Bryant College Indians, currently 4 - 0, and with a 29-game - regular - season - play-winning streak going, traveled to Maine last week for 2 Naismith Conference games.

The Indians are currently averaging 91.2 points per game and ranking 19th in the country total defense for College division teams with a defensive average of 65.8. They are being led by 5'9" Don Gray, who is averaging 19 points per game and Ben Billie, a 5'11" junior college transfer who is averaging 17.5 points per game and also 14 rebounds per game.

In addition, Joe Goddard, a 6'2" corner man from Warwick is averaging 11.25 points per game, and 6'4" center George Yates from Newport is hitting for 14 points per game and has pulled down 52 rebounds in 4 games for a 13.0 average.

Last Friday night Bryant opposed St. Francis College in Biddeford, Maine, and on Saturday night the Indians invaded Nasson College of Maine.

According to the latest statistics released from a National Collegiate Sports Service in New York, Bryant College, Providence, Rhode Island, is 19th in the College division team leaders in total defense.

Bryant, undefeated this season with a 4 - 0 record, has given up only 263 points in 4 games for a defensive average of 65.8 points per game. On offense, the Indians have scored 365 points for an average of 91.25 points per game.

LIFTERS CORNER URGES PHYSICAL FITNESS

By Ron Gomez

The Uses and The Effects of Isometrics and Isotonics

In today's world of modern conveniences, physical fitness has become a problem of more and more concern. The late President Kennedy is probably the best known person for recent emphasis on physical fitness. What is the importance of physical fitness? The importance lies in the fact that the American male is the most physically unfit man in the world. Aside from this it has also been accepted that lack of exercise and obesity are the greatest contributors to heart attacks. What can be done about this situation?

There are two types of exercises which can help condition the body. One type is known as isometric exercises. This exercise can be called a static exercise because when the exercise is performed there is no movement in the muscle. Isometrics are best for developing strength. This is mainly due to the fact that every time the exercise is performed, there is maximum resistance placed on the muscle. There is a disadvantage in doing these exercises. If they are done alone they detract from the flexibility of movement in the muscle. In order to prevent this, isometrics should be done with another type of exercise known as isotonic. The isotonic exercise may be called a dynamic exercise because they cause movement in the muscle when the exercise is being performed. Some examples of isotonic are calisthenics and weight lifting.

These exercises are performed in sets, usually three; and with repetitions, usually ten. By doing this the muscle itself is more utilized and the circulation is more stimulated.

Many people claim that they just don't have the time for a regular routine to condition themselves. They feel that a regular schedule of isometrics and isotonic would be too much of a hinderance to them. For these people regular exercises are not the best thing because they will tend to get bored with them. The best thing for these people is to get interested in a sport such as tennis, or any other continuous motion sport. They should try to participate in the sport at least three times a week. These types of exercises and sports are the best thing for cardiovascular fitness, or fitness of the heart, lungs, and arteries. With the cold winter months upon us, these exercises should play a part in everyone's individual daily activities.

The point to be made is that the average American is not in the greatest physical condition, but with a small amount of exercise this condition can be changed.

The Bryant College Weightlifting Club is in the process of inaugurating a new boxing program which will teach the fundamentals of boxing. The Club is in the process of attaining a gymnasium with a ring in order for the members to practice. For any information about the boxing program, please contact Gary LaPierre, Gardner Hall.

Youth Guidance Holds Annual Christmas Party

By Paula Pascone

On Wednesday, December 13, 1967, the members of the Youth Guidance Council of Bryant College staged a Christmas Party for their "little brothers and sisters" in the gym-auditorium. The children arrived by bus at 4:15 p.m. and were basically concerned with the food that we had promised them. They didn't seem to notice the crepe paper streamers hanging crossed from the ceiling or the brightly lighted Christmas tree on stage. After they were convinced we meant business when we said "hands off the food," they settled themselves into chairs in front of the projection screen. The house lights dimmed and the hall was soon filled with animated sounds of Donald Duck and Chip & Dale. Following the cartoons, a few of the members and the children gathered around the piano for Christmas carols. Appropriately, we sang "Santa Claus is Coming To Town" and Santa (Howard Duckworth) entered, stage right, with a bag full of goodies. The children stood in line to receive their gifts and hurry off to the banquet table. Sandwiches, soda, cookies, cake and, of course, ice cream kept the tots busy and happy. A short breath of fresh air as they made their way back to the bus, and the kids were on their way back, each with a miniature candy cane. And we were exhausted but happy. It was all worth it.

Beta Iota Beta Has Xmas Party At Boys' Club

By Rich

On Tuesday, December 12, 1967, Beta Iota Beta Fraternity presented its second annual Christmas Party for about 100 boys ranging in age 7 to 12 at the Boys' Club.

The party began at 6:30 and everyone there was involved in shuttle races, three legged races, sack races, and a free throw game with a basketball. After the games were over, everybody ate all the cake, ice cream, soda, and milk that they wanted.

At this point of the party, the tension was really building for the arrival of Santa Claus who really was our Canadian "Lad", Charley DeGrace. All the boys got their chance to talk to Santa and get a present from him.

The chairman for the project was Roger Hatch, and it was his duty to make sure all the food and toys were bought and arrived at the party. All the brothers who went had a great time, and we are all looking forward to next year and another party at the Boys' Club.

The Brothers would like to congratulate our candidate, Beth Whitmore, on being crowned Miss Sno' Queen—1967. We are proud of you, Beth. We would also like to thank TEP for their fine dance.

The Brothers would like to thank our advisor, Mr. Bruce Dauphinee, for the gifts that he gave to the brothers at our Christmas party.

Congratulations are extended to Bruce Vittner and Carolyn Clark on their engagement.

Rumors are going around that Jack Baker has been singing "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossoms,"—or is it "Orange Blossoms"? The guys are wondering if you'll order them down Johnny's. The "Serendipity Singers" were heard around campus last Friday. Well, our annual horror show took place last Saturday at the Chopmist Hill Inn. Too bad the brothers don't remember what happened. The cookies and milk get together before the party began proved to be an abstemious (yeah, sure) evening. The bus ride was highlighted by the singing of Christmas carols. The night really flew by. Too bad some brothers don't remember the good time they had. Quite a few brothers awoke Sunday morning, afternoon, or evening, with unpleasant after effects due to alcoholic indulgence. The brothers exchanged gifts and each received a present? that brought back pleasant memories. Charlie was all excited to get a date because Anne stood up Artie. Frank Kiernan accidentally took two Somnax tablets, mistaking them for No Doz. Albert evidently made the same mistake. "Isms" got carried away and thought he was at the F.E.I. Club. No, Tony, "Anchors Away" is not a Christmas song. Albert is taking lessons on opening storm windows. The "balloon explosion" made their debut at the party. They won't be singing again.

Congratulations to T.E.P. on a fine Sno' Queen Weekend. Everyone that attended had a great time, in spite of the fact the Turtles didn't come.

Congratulations to our Sno' Queen Carol on doing such a fine job. We're all proud of you!

S.I.X.'s Annual Hobo Party was a real success with lots to eat, lots to drink, and lots of laughs. The girls presented a skit, a fairy tale to be exact, which turned out to be quite a laugh. We hope to see all of you that attended again at happy hours, and interviews coming soon.

We're doing great in the sports field so far. The bowling team did a fine job last week winning all four games. Also congratulations to our volleyball team on winning another game. Keep it up, girls!

Last but not least—Congratulations to Krouse and the Baba on their recent pinning; also congrats to O'Dea and Peter on their recent pinning. Best of Luck to all of you!

This is the day for congratulations and best wishes; so I might as well get started.

First — Congratulations to Sharyn and Gene on their recent pinning. We're all happy for you. Congratulations to TEP for a sensational weekend. I'm sure that everyone who attended had a great time. Final congratulations go to AOX for all the work they did on their display and their candidate for Sno' Queen. Michele, you did a fine job.

DEX had their Christmas Party at Linda Moore's house this year, and all freshmen and independents were invited. I'm positive everyone had a grand time, and we all thank Linda and her parents for "taking us in." We really appreciate it — THANKS!

Hi! All of the brothers made it back after the Christmas vacation in fine form. Hope Santa was good to all of you!

At this time the Brothers of Tau Epsilon Phi would like to thank the students at Bryant for supporting our Sno' Queen Ball and Coronation before the holidays. Congratulations to Chi Gamma Iota on Beth's victory — she was great! Sorry the Turtles couldn't attend, but we know you all had a great time. Again, thanks for your support!

Turning to the sports scene, TEP was eliminated in the volleyball tournament before the vacation. All the brothers performed great, and after losing our first round we came back strong with a second round victory. Our third round wasn't as successful though, and that's where it ended. Thanks to A.D. Gene Biben for doing such a fine job coaching. All the guys had their hearts in the games and showed true TEP spirit. Everyone played their hearts out, and we're all proud of our fine efforts.

Two TEPmen took the bite over the holidays. It took Al Cooper 2 years and Barry Zimmerman 6 months (shows the difference in their technique), but Al finally pinned Barbara Weinstein. Belated congratulations go to Marco Petruzzi as he lavalared Michelle Ostrander, and Ronnie Rueter as he announced his engagement to Ellen Zaslow. Sid Goldman who is looking toward bigger and better things, pinned Donna Goldberg not long ago, and alumni brother Dave Seigal recently announced his engagement. Congratulations to all "yuse" guys! Vendy — Keep the faith!! Jose — Good luck at N.Y.U. Elles — At last!! Rat and Quigs — OC champs of TEP! Jon K. — Your wife is a great hostess!! Steve Cowen — Real good job on the party last week.

We hope everyone had a nice vacation and are diligently getting ready for exams. Congratulations to Jane Gorman and Donna Stein upon becoming engaged. Stein, you should have a pair of sunglasses to go with that ring!

Our informal tea was held Monday, January 10. We hope everyone had a good time. Our congratulations to Chi Gam for winning Sno' Queen and our special congratulations to our sister Kathy Mollico for being runner up.

Janis, do you think you might go to New York during semester break? Some of the sisters are going to Florida on semester break. From those of us who are not going, have a good time.

See you next semester!

Good Luck and study hard, especially you Freshmen, for Pledging is not far away. Interviews will be held shortly after semester break. We hope to see you there.

Congratulations, Sue, on your recent pinning from all your Theta Sisters.

Best Wishes to our sister Joyce and brother Jim on their recent engagement. May happiness fill your future. "Well, Jim, you finally broke down!"

Dr. Russell Resigns Vice-President's Position

Leaves to Fill National Post

By V. L. Robinson

Dr. Charles H. Russell, Vice President for Academic Affairs at Bryant, has left the office he so ably filled since 1963 to become associate director of the newly created National Commission for the Study of Nursing Education in Rochester,

New York. The Commission, headed by W. Allen Wallis, President of the University of Rochester, will be composed of fifteen leaders in the health disciplines, higher education, the social and physical sciences, and business.

Since the publication of his independent study, Liberal Education and Nursing, in 1958, Dr. Russell has continued his studies in this field. He has been appointed to this National Commission as an educator outside the field of nursing to assist in making an exhaustive survey with the purpose of alleviating the problems now facing hospitals and all the medical and health institutions in the recruitment and training of nurses.

Dr. Russell received his bachelor's degree from Dartmouth College and his master's and Doctor's degrees from Teachers College at Columbia University.

He was an aerial gunner with the Air Force during World War II, serving in Europe. In July of 1962, Dr. Russell came to Bryant College as Assistant to the President and in 1963 he was elevated to Vice President for Academic Affairs. Before his affiliation with Bryant, Dr. Russell was Associate in Higher Education of the New York State Department of Education having served as assistant to Dr. Earl J. McGrath, Executive Officer of the Institute of Higher Education at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Dr. Russell has written many articles on higher education and lectured widely on the subject. Before becoming Dr. McGrath's assistant, he taught social relations courses in the Junior College at Boston University and served as supervisor of student teachers in the social studies department at Teachers College.

Dr. Lionel H. Mercier Appointed Vice-President

Dr. Lionel H. Mercier, long-time Dean of the School of Business Teacher Education and Secretarial Science at Bryant College, was appointed Assistant to the President and Acting Vice-President for Academic Affairs for the coming semester. This announcement was made last week by Dr. E. Gardner Jacobs, President.

Well-known in local educational circles, Dr. Mercier most recently published a report on business education in the public schools in his capacity as Chairman of this committee for C.O.P.E. (Cooperative Planning for Efficiency) for the city of Providence. He is a former President of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, the Rhode Island Business Teacher's Association and the Barnard Club, (Rhode Island Men's teacher organization).

He is serving as Business Education Consultant for the Dominican Republic's Educational Project sponsored by U. S. A.I.D. and the Ford Foundation. He is also a director of the New England Teacher Preparatory Association and the Rhode Island Education Association of which he is a consultant on the Teacher Education and Professional Standards Committee.

Dr. Mercier holds degrees from Bryant College, Rhode Island College, Teachers College of Connecticut, and Calvin Coolidge College of Boston. He has also done advanced study in education in State Extension at Yale University, Trinity College, and Boston University. A native of Connecticut, he joined the Bryant Faculty in 1939 after teaching at the Union Junior High, the Farmington High School, and the Moody Business Institute in that state.

The author of articles on business education in several periodicals, he has also lectured on this subject in educational institutions and on the broadcasting media.

His background also includes considerable experience in the world of business. He has occupied executive positions in several firms including that of Business Manager of the Connecticut Craftsman printers.

Dr. Mercier resides with his wife, the former Gertrude Straight of Providence and their son, Richard at 95 Leroy Drive, Riverside, Rhode Island.

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 2

Last week we discussed England, the first stop on the tour of Europe that every American college student is going to make this summer. Today we will take up your next stop—France, or the Pearl of the Pacific, as it is generally called.

To get from England to France, one greases one's body and swims the English Channel. Similarly, to get from France to Spain, one greases one's body and slides down the Pyrenees. And, of course, to get from France to Switzerland, one greases one's body and wriggles through the Simplon Tunnel. Thus, as you can see, the most important single item to take to Europe is a valise full of grease.

No, I am wrong. The most important thing to take to Europe is a valise full of Marlboro Cigarettes—or at least as many as the customs regulations will allow. And if by chance you should run out of Marlboros in Europe, do not despair. That familiar red and white Marlboro package is as omnipresent in Europe as it is in all fifty of the United States. And it is the same superb cigarette you find at home—the same pure white filter, the same zestful, mellow blend of tobaccos preceding the filter. This gem of the tobacconist's art, this prodigy of cigarette engineering, was achieved by Marlboro's well-known research team—Fred Softpack and Walter Fliptop—and I, for one, am grateful.

He introduced shortness to France

But I digress. We were speaking of France—or the Serpent of the Nile, as it is popularly termed.

Let us first briefly sum up the history of France. The nation was discovered in 1066 by Madame Guillotine. There followed a series of costly wars with Schleswig-Holstein, the Cleveland Indians, and Jean Jacques Rousseau. Stability finally came to this troubled land with the coronation of Marshal Foch, who married Lorraine Alsace and had three children: Flopsy, Mopsy, and Charlemagne. This later became known as the Petit Trianon.

Marshal Foch—or the Boy Orator of the Platte, as he was affectionately called—was succeeded by Napoleon, who introduced shortness to France. Until Napoleon the French were the tallest nation in Europe. After Napoleon most Frenchmen were able to walk comfortably under card tables. This later became known as the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

Napoleon, after his defeat by Credit Mobilier, was exiled to Elba, where he made the famous statement, "Able was I ere I saw Elba." This sentence reads the same whether you spell it forward or backward. You can also spell Marlboro backward—Orobrom. Do not, however, try to smoke Marlboro backward because that undoes all the pleasure of the finest cigarette made.

After Napoleon's death the French people fell into a great fit of melancholy, known as the Louisiana Purchase. For over a century everyone sat around moping and refusing his food. This torpor was not lifted until Eiffel built his famous tower, which made everybody giggle so hard that today France is the gayest country in Europe.

Each night the colorful natives gather at sidewalk cafes and shout "Oo-la-la!" as Maurice Chevalier promenades down the Champs Elysees swinging his malacca cane. Then, tired but happy, everyone goes to the Louvre for bowls of onion soup.

The principal industry of France is cashing travellers checks. Well sir, I guess that's all you need to know about France. Next week we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—Spain.

Grievance Committee To Be Formed At Bryant

The Grievance Committee of Bryant College is a channel of communication between the students, faculty, and administration. The sole purpose of this organization is in acting as an instrument to insure "justice" in collegiate affairs.

I. Membership

The grievance committee shall be composed of seven members — each of whom is to be appointed by the president of the student senate.

The president shall appoint, as chairman, a senator, who by his (her) persuasive qualities will do the most to enhance the committee's standing in the eyes of those with whom it shall deal.

The remaining six members are to be chosen among the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Here, the president, after consultation with the senate, shall appoint two people to represent their respective classes.

It is advisable that both men and women and commuters and resident students be represented on the committee. These students should not be involved in a prohibitive amount of extracurricular activities. (One, possibly two other organizations, is the maximum.) These people should be in good academic standing.

II. Operation and Procedure

Forms shall be printed and given to each member of the student senate, and each member of the grievance committee.

When a student has a grievance he must write it down on this form (or one of similar design) and present it to a senator, or committee member. All these forms are to be turned into the committee chairman, as soon as possible. When the chairman receives these forms he may call a meeting to discuss the grievance at any time.

A quorum of 2/3 including the chairman must be present. The grievance shall be brought onto the floor, discussed, and voted on.

If nay, the issue is dropped with an explanation going to the person who submitted it.

If yes, the committee can summon the person who submitted it to get a better idea of the problem, and from this approach the proper people to come to a reasonable solution.

The chairman of the grievance committee is required to report the activities of his committee to the senate at each regular meeting.

III. Grievances

There are two areas in which the grievance committee does not have authority to act in behalf of the student body.

(1) No dormitory problems are to be handled by the committee.

(2) No matters pertaining to fraternity and sorority activities are to be taken up.

Respectfully submitted,
George B. Kohler, Chairman

Formation Committee members:

1. Audrey Plotkin
2. Sidney Tinson
3. Howard Duckworth
4. Steven Lander
5. Robert Stutz

Advisor:

Paul K. Delude, President of the Student Senate

Philip Anderson Talks to Delta Omega

By Louis J. D'Onofrio, Jr.

On December 4th, Mr. Philip Anderson of Radican Associates, Inc., talked to the members of the Delta Omega Professional Society at the Admiral Inn, Cumberland, Rhode Island.

The topic of his discussion was "The Computer Dilemma in Business." Mr. Anderson discussed the various systems involving computers, the costs of installing the systems, and showed the members through visual aides the methods employed to set up a system. He also discussed and showed statistics of the expenses in the past, present and those expenses they expect in the future.

Mr. Anderson graduated from Dartmouth College in 1957. He joined Radican Associates in April, 1966, as Vice-President. He has been responsible for several consulting and systems contracts, and is responsible for RAI's planning for future needs in such areas as personnel planning, the possible establishment of a Data Center, and the setting up of RAI's Education Division. Mr. Anderson is also the Vice-President and a Director of the Rhode Island Chapter of the Systems and Procedures Associations.

As a special guest, Delta Omega was honored to have Mr. Robert Radican, President of Radican Associates, and a 1957 graduate of Bryant College.

Sid Tinson, President of Delta Omega would like to remind all members that the next dinner speaker meeting will be held on March 4 instead of February 19 as previously scheduled.

Bryant To Be Represented At Model Assembly

By Roy Dempsey

At the November 29 meeting of the World Affairs Forum, the members began to make preparations for their annual trip to the United Nations Model Assembly in New York. The meeting, held in the assembly room of the Student Activities Building, was mandatory, for only those members in attendance would be considered as eligible to represent Bryant at the Model Assembly.

Last year six members of the W. A. F. made the trip to New York. For five days the members attended and participated in discussion at the U.N. Students from across the nation attended the Assembly, and they were addressed by the distinguished ambassadors from the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom. The delegation from Bryant also met and asked questions of the assistant Ambassador from Afghanistan. The meeting with the assistant Ambassador was arranged in order to give the members a chance to further their knowledge about the country that they were representing at the Assembly.

It is interesting to note that at the Assembly each school represents a country that is now a member of the U.N. or hopes to be a member in the future. The students participate as if they were the delegation from the country they are representing, and parliamentary procedure is followed at all meetings.

This year, the members of the W. A. F. are going to try to send nine members to the Model Assembly as compared with six last year. Various ways of obtaining the needed money were brought forth by the members at the last meeting, and the club's adviser and president are now trying to work out a solution.

The last meeting of the W. A. F. was held on December 14, at 3:00 in the Committee Room of the Student Activities Building. Mrs. Majorie Vinal, Co-ordinator of the World Affairs Council in Rhode Island, was the main speaker. Mrs. Vinal spoke on parliamentary procedure as used at the Model Assembly.

Student's Check Sheet of End-of-Semester Responsibilities

1. Have you made your own final examination schedule and checked it for accuracy? Failure to take an examination when scheduled involves a special final and a late examination fee of five dollars.

2. Do you have a conflict between examinations? If you will report the conflict to the Dean's Office on January 3, 4 or 5, a special final will be scheduled at no charge. Conflicts reported after the above dates will involve a five dollar penalty.

3. Do you know where your exams will be given? Most classes are divided between two rooms. Make a note of the room on your exam schedule when the instructor makes the announcement.

4. You will need an I.D. card to sit for each examination. If you have never obtained a photo I.D. card, or if you have lost yours, you may obtain one at the Student Activities Building between 1 and 4 p.m., January 8 thru January 11. No signature I.D. cards will be issued.

5. Do you plan to change your major? If so, you must report the change to the Dean's Office before the end of the examination period.

6. Have you filed your renewal application blank indicating your plans for February? Failure to file can cause you some inconvenience at registration time. Please take care of this item.

7. Grades will be mailed as soon as they are available. If you have reason to believe that your address on our records is wrong, please check it out before you leave. No grades will be given over the telephone, so please do not call.

8. Registration for the new semester will take place according to the following schedule:

- Monday, February 5, 1968
