Young Presidents' Organization Addresses Bryant

On February 10, 1970 four members of the Young Presidents Organization addressed the audience assembled at the Student Activities Auditorium.

The Y.P.O., as they call their organization, is an international organization with approximately 2,300 men and women in its membership. Contrary to previous information, the Y.P.O.'ers told the audience that a candidate for membership must be president of his company before age 40. General requirements state that a candidate's company must employ 50 or more employees and have at least $1,000,000 in annual sales. Mr. Bronson Fargo, unofficial spokesman for the group that night, stated that the typical member company employs 200 people and has approximately $5,000,000 in annual sales. Other members of the panel were John Feeley, Todd Ballou, and Philip Siener, Jr.

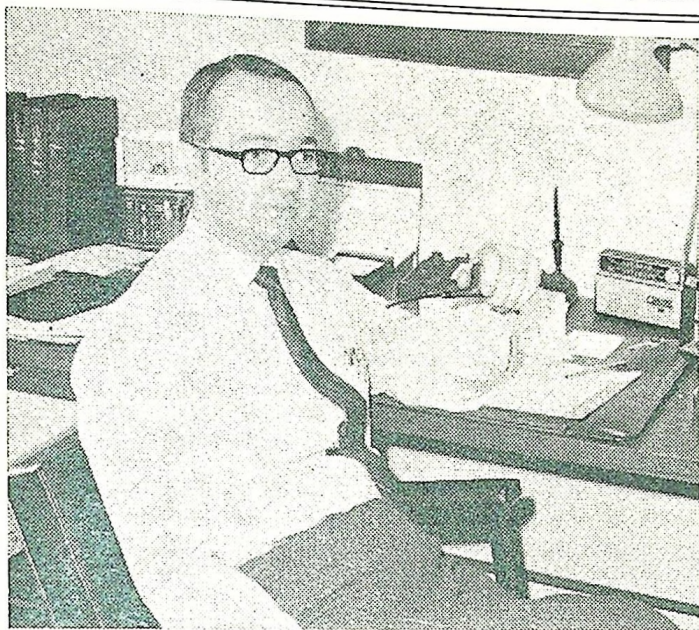

The lecture started by each man giving a short description of his company including the number of employees and sales volume as well as the nature of their business.

Three of the four gentlemen expressed a desire to "go public." One of the three said that it was his company's goal to incorporate by 1972.

Of the four men on the panel two came up through the ranks while the other two inherited family businesses. One of the men started in business as a manufacturer's representative. His company asked him to come to work for them as a sales manager. From sales manager he was promoted to vice-president and finally to president.

All four panel members felt that their companies were relatively small even though their sales ranged from $6 million to just under $10 million. One company has two subsidiaries.

Thom Brown Resigns As Financial Aid Director

Thom P. Brown will be leaving his post as Director of Financial Aid today, Friday, February 20, 1970. His new assignment will be at Roger Williams College in Bristol as Director of Student Financial Aid and College Personnel Officer. Mr. Brown has been at Bryant College since September 1966 and was international student advisor in addition to his financial aid duties. He is President of the Financial Aid Officers of Rhode Island and a member of the Federal Relations Committee of the Eastern Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators.

He graduated from Hobart College, Geneva, New York in 1958 where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Theta Delta Chi national social fraternity. Following his graduation he attended the Navy Officer Candidate School in Newport. Leaving the Navy as a Lieutenant after five years of active duty, Mr. Brown was associated with the Personnel Department of Industrial National Bank of Rhode Island.

Archway—Twenty-two ..... Mr. Brown's dedication was not limited to his vocation responsibilities; his devotion was extended to all of his individual clients and friends. Friendship was extended to all. Advising people was one of his rare attributes; he was always able to find time to help anyone who needed some advice. Administrative, Tom was; however, much more important was his sincerity in stating his own opinion without being afraid of being criticized.

Mr. Brown resides at 757 Stevens Road, Swansea, Mass. He is married to the former Dodie Peacock and has two daughters Cindy and Betsy.

Mr. "P" Holds Dialogue

Last Wednesday afternoon in Appleby Hall's lounge, was a very important day for Bryant College. An attempt was made to bring together students, faculty members, and distinguished members of the administration in an informal atmosphere where they could express their views and ideas to each other. I must confess that the attempt was quite successful and I am sure that it is the desire of everyone who was present at the dialogue that more of these meetings will be held in the future.

This first meeting was conducted by Mr. Piperopoulos, who by his very nature had evoked enthusiasm in everyone present by the end of the session.

Dean of the M.B.A. School

Dr. Sol Lebovitz is named acting Dean of the Graduate program at Bryant College by Dr. Nelson J. Gulski, Acting President.

The Graduate Program, which began in September, 1969, offers professional education for business leadership through courses leading to the degree of Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.).

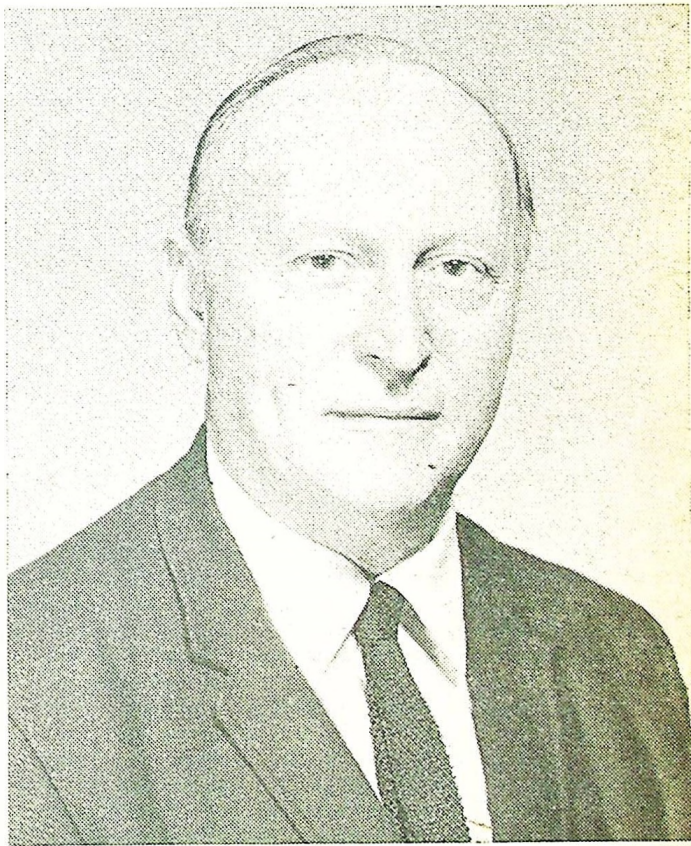

Dr. Lebovitz joined the Bryant Faculty in 1962 as Assistant Professor of Political Science. He rose to Associate Professor and then to full Professor of Political Science and Chairman of the Social Sciences Department. He also has been the Director of the College Lecture Series.

He came to Bryant College from the International Office of Dictaphone Corporation in New York City where he was an Executive Assistant.

A graduate of Boston University (College of Business Administration), Dr. Lebovitz received his master's degree and Ph.D. at Harvard University.

In his new post as Acting Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. Lebovitz will have offices at 129 Hope Street on the Bryant campus. For the present, he will continue to serve as Chairman of Social Sciences.

Dr. and Mrs. Lebovitz, and their two daughters, reside at 15 Governor Bradford Drive, in Barrington, Rhode Island.

He suggested that these meetings should be held every Wednesday at 3:30 P.M. in Appleby Hall's lounge and it is his hope that there will be more feminine participation at future sessions.

Dean Woodbury was also present throughout the meeting and felt that the students were very perceptive to the ideas expressed by faculty members. It is his hope that these meetings will continue and become a successful source of communication between students, faculty members, and the administration. The Dean made this statement, "The entire success of these dialogues lies with the students." I think we all have the desire to make Bryant a better college; all we really need now is some active participation.

LETTERS:

Letter to the Editor

Pledging has finally taken a step in the right direction. One fraternity and one sorority have advanced the spirit of pledging by breaking age-old traditions.

The new theories are constructive and truly fraternal. DEX and TEP have replaced harassment and physical torture with beneficial programs. The main theme of both programs is friendship through constructiveness, thereby eliminating demoralization.

This year has begun the age of Aquarius and it seems as though the significance and meaning of this age has reached at least two Greek organizations.

For those who question the effectiveness of these two pledge programs, we have a few questions to ask of you. First, since when are physical capabilities demonstrative of the makings of a good brother or sister? If this is so, then why does this physical activity cease at the end of pledging? Secondly, what does having a cast-iron stomach prove? Will the leaders of tomorrow be those who can consume shaving cream, raw eggs, goldfish, dog food, etc?

I have often wondered how the Greeks can survive during the rest of the year without their slaves. The ancient Greeks declined and then fell due to such things as public degradation of their enslaved brothers and sisters, which provided entertainment for the so-called "upper class."

The Greeks as a unit are concerned with their possible decline. It is indeed unfortunate that they do not foresee their self-destructive potential before it is too late.

DEX and TEP acknowledge that theirs may not be the perfect pledge programs, but are certain that it is a step in the right direction.

To those who remain independent, isn't this worth some consideration?

Letter to the Editor

Wonders never dismay the student at Bryant. Or would they if the student body really knew what their elected demigods were doing each senate meeting? I promise any student who manages to find time to attend the next senate meeting a rare treat, you will be seated in a place of great honor in the gallery. You will be treated as a gourmet to an amusing and at times somewhat ludicrous monologue by one of the elite, this monologue at best might be diagnosed as coming from someone suffering from a terminal case of mental constipation and verbal diarrhea.

There is something strange behind the psychology of power and authority over others that our senate here at Bryant works under the influence of, perhaps by your attendance at the next senate meeting the key will be found to open the door and thus destroy the facade. I encourage the student body to take an active interest in the affairs of the college through the Student Senate. And then perhaps the objectives of the senate in theory as well as in practice can become a reality.

It is not my objective to debase the senate or the members that take an active role in the affairs of the college, but rather to blatantly demonstrate that the senate will only be as good as the students demand it to be.

Student government is a step in the right direction, when it reflects the will of the majority, in a responsible manner and with respect for the rights of the other governing bodies of the college. The senate should serve as a channel of communication between the Administration of the college and the student body. The Senate at all times should be mindful of its responsibility to the students as well as to protecting the honor of the college.

We are fortunate in having some excellent, hard working people on our senate, and it is an interesting observation also in my opinion to note here that the brothers from Phi Kappa Tau are in vanguard of those students who are doing the most constructive work for the college.

Adieu

TO THE STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND ADMINISTRATION:

I should like to take this opportunity to thank you all publicly for the privilege and experience of being associated with you and Bryant College for the past three and one-half years. I have profited by that association. I hope that some of you have also.

My best wishes to you individually and collectively for success and happiness in the years to come.

Cordially,
Thom P. Brown

Bryant Interns

Last weekend five students from Bryant College left Providence for Washington, D. C. Their destinations were the offices of Senator Claiborne Pell and Congressman Robert O. Tiernan, both of whom represent Rhode Islanders in our nation's capital.

The students, Mary Ellen Coppinger of West Haven, Connecticut, Marianne Hill of Pearl River, New York, Dorothy Waleiko of Providence, Rhode Island, Kenneth S. Harmelin of Highland Park, New Jersey, and Leonard C. Hodgkinson of Buchanan, New York, went to Washington to spend a week working in the offices of Senator Pell and Congressman Tiernan. The ladies will be working with Senator Pell; the gentlemen with Congressman Tiernan. The internship programs are designed to give students from Rhode Island colleges and universities the opportunity to observe and participate in the various phases of Government office operations.

Consideration is still being given to those students who are interested in participating in this program for the week of March 23, 1970. All interested students who have not done so should contact Dr. Lebovitz as soon as possible.

Mental Retardation

"Mental retardation is not a mental illness," those were the words of Mr. Miles Santomur, Assistant to the Director of the Office of Mental Retardation.

Mr. Santomur was a guest lecturer last week at Mrs. Marsella's afternoon Social Problems class. He also stated that "mental care or mental health should not be mixed with mental retardation, they just are not compatible. First of all mental retardation is not a mental illness nor is it necessarily a medical problem any more than any individual or any group could be considered mentally ill or in need of medical care. It's a health problem, it's an educational problem, it's a vocational problem, it's a development problem. But we do not feel, at least I do not feel that mental retardation or that the mentally retarded should be indiscriminately given health care or care by a psychiatrist any more so than anyone of us. Mental illness is a problem between the inter-psychic mechanisms, mental retardation is a development problem. People are limited intellectually, their abilities to comprehend, to develop are limited because there is intellectual limitations. Mental illness is an affliction that we all can acquire as a result of undue anxiety or anxiety that we are unable to handle. Mental illness and mental retardation are not the same thing. The mentally retarded like anyone of us can become mentally ill, let's don't confuse the two types of afflictions.

We feel that the majority of the retarded should reside in the community that if they can't reside in their own homes then this behooves us to establish halfway houses, group homes, apartment dwellings, professional foster care homes, private foster care homes or what have you. That the mentally retarded person has a right to live in a small group that he has the right to live by himself if he so chooses. But in any situation it should be as small as possible, as home-like as possible. He should have the same right to privacies as others have. Each of us needs a room of our own, a place to withdraw and not be herded into large dormitory type facilities and be treated in a dehumanizing fashion."

Mr. Santomur also stated that it is unfortunate that when the general public thinks of retardation, the image they got is one of a Mongoloid idiot, when in fact this form of retardation accounts for only about .2% of all the mentally retarded. The mentally retarded account for approximately 3% of our population and this is a conservative estimate.

"The mentally retarded should not be considered different. We concentrate on the differences and when we do he begins to think he is, then he begins to act accordingly. The retarded will act socially as they are treated. It is only when they need to use their intellect that they cannot function properly. The biggest offenders are parents and professionals in regard to their treatment of the retarded. We must keep them in the community as much as possible and allow them a normal life. They act the way they do because of the way they have been treated."

Mr. Santomur also stated that with mental retardation the gap increases as the individual grows older. He also stated that the state is attempting to play a major role in the care and treatment of the mentally retarded but in order to do an adequate job much larger funds are needed.

What is a teacher's responsibility as to the conduct of his classes? He could either review the text and add supplemental information or he could talk about any topic that meets his fancy as two possible answers to the question. Most people will agree that in order to classify as a teacher, an individual must subscribe to the former alternative.

Assuming that this is the correct answer, it can be concluded that a member of the faculty is not performing his duties in his psychology classes. Anyone who has had the misfortune to have had to attend this individual's class easily recalls the way in which this faculty member injects his own political ideology into his "class lectures."

It is not difficult for the student to lose count of the lengthy lectures about the use of napalm by the United States in the Vietnam War. He condemned all aspects of United States involvement in Vietnam. Another favorite topic was the grape boycott. He took great pains to liken the grape pickers' situation to the conditions that existed in Biafra at the time.

This faculty member's (note I do not call him a teacher) favorite topic was the virtues of socialism. In fact, one day last spring in a psychology class he spoke of the evils of capitalism and stated that if our country is to be saved or if we have any sense of justice, we must immediately convert to socialism. At the end of the same lecture he said that the only hope for improvement of life in America is to see that people with certain political philosophies are not elected to political office.

The issue at question is not this individual's personal views, which he is certainly entitled to, but the podium from which he preaches his ideology. United States foreign policy, grape boycotts, and economics are not even remotely related to psychology. The course proved to be a course in one man's ideology instead of psychology.

When a teacher feels compelled to talk about the merits of his philosophy, or ideology as the case may be, he should state these views as his own views. They should not be stated as if they were a part of the lecture.

diaries overseas; one in Japan and one in Italy. However, these subsidiaries were not included in the description of the company.

After the introductory speeches Dr. Lebovitz, Director of the Lecture Series, opened the assembly to questions from the audience.

One student asked if companies were still looking for the aggressive young man. The answer that the four panel members seemed to agree upon was "yes" provided aggression means ready and willing to accept responsibility for the good of the company. When asked about their commitment toward the community, specifically pollution and the hiring of blacks, their answers were again similar to each other. All companies seemed to be pursuing all known means to fight pollution. All but one company stated that blacks were on the payroll. However, none had blacks in executive positions. A training program was said to be in the works to help qualify their black employees for executive jobs. The one company that did not have any blacks in its employ stated that it had gone to the Office of Economic Opportunity to recruit black people. Due to this company's location in Bristol, with no black people living in the immediate area, a transportation problem is present. The distance discourages would be workers. This company has hired a black student from an area college to recruit other black people to work in the Bristol area; not only for the company doing this work but for other small companies in the area as well.

A wide variety of questions were asked. Other questions dealt with inflation, the sales force, and general business backgrounds. Everyone in attendance seemed to enjoy himself while learning about many aspects of business from sources other than the classroom. The next lecture in the lecture series will be on February 26, 1970. The speaker for that night will be announced shortly.

Contact the Admissions Office before February 28 to complete the necessary formal application for program transfer.

TOGETHER

Together is the name of an organization that is attempting to establish a 24 hour drug assistance center in the Providence area. There are four primary purposes of our organization:

1. To make available to the public objective information about drugs.
2. To offer assistance to people with personal problems related to drugs.
3. To refer people to professional help when necessary.
4. To organize educational programs pertaining to drugs.

Presently there are over one-hundred centers around the country of the type that we are establishing. We are drawing upon their resources for assistance in organization, training, and operation.

Since we are attempting to establish an around the clock drug-assistance center, we will need people who are concerned and interested in aiding us in our endeavor to make TOGETHER a successful community service. Therefore, we are presently conducting an extensive search for people in the community who would be willing to give some of their time as volunteers.

If you would like to help us and render the community a valuable service, please call: 751-5700, Monday through Friday between the hours of 1 P.M. and 4 P.M. for further information. Thank you very much!

BRYANT FACES BARRINGTON TOMORROW

By Mark Cutler
 Bryant College will be seeking to guarantee itself a tie in the Naismith Conference with a win over Barrington tomorrow night at Barrington. The winner of the conference automatically gets a birth in the NAIA Regional tournament.

Bryant is in two conferences. The Naismith Conference has us as leaders with a 5-0 record with Babson in second place with a 5-2. We have Naismith Conference games left with Barrington, Babson, and Nasson. Nasson is at home. Bryant is also in the SNEC. That conference has Quinnipiac and Bryant tied for first with one loss each. Bridgewater gave Quinnipiac its only loss. Quinnipiac defeated Bryant for its only loss in the conference. Quinnipiac is now playing without its high scorer and pro-prospect Cliff Mosley which makes a difference.

Last Tuesday night Bryant lost to Quinnipiac, thus losing first place in the process.

The winner of the Southern New England Conference (SNEC) does not get an automatic birth in the NAIA Regionals. We are the only team in both conferences and when Mr. Foliard was asked about this he replied, "It was done before I got here. . . ."

At a recent press conference in which all the coaches of the Rhode Island schools were present Gerry Alaimo, coach at Brown University, had some nice words to say about George Peckham. He called him the best college division defensive basketball player in the east.

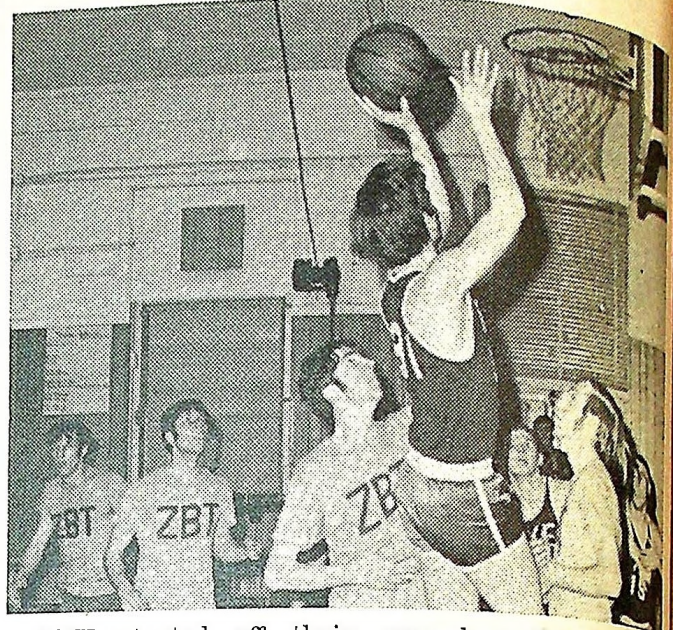

Besides the Naismith Conference winner other teams under probable consideration are Husson, Western New England, Rhode Island College, Quinnipiac, Boston State, and Eastern Connecticut. Out of all of these, three will be picked along with the Naismith winner.

APK started off their action with a 36-1 victory over KDK. In the second game, SIB romped DEX 27-1. Both winning teams completely outclassed their opposition.

The best game of the night pitted the Barbarians against the Transfers. The game was highlighted by foul shots in the last minute of play with the winning points scored by Russell in the closing seconds. The final score 47-46 Barbarians.

In the second independent game, Charles Field defeated the Hustlers 51-42 with Eden pumping in 18 for the victors.

The last independent game was between Parks House and Scott House. Parks House proved to be the better team by defeating their Northern rival 39-18. Hattub had the hot hand with 19 points.

The fraternity league started the evening with an easy victory for PKT over BEX 40-17. Snow was high man with 10 points for PKT.

Another victory occurred in the second game as TKE walked over ZBT 53-17. Buecher was high man with 18 points which showed he was enough to beat ZBT singlehandedly.

In the final game of a long night's action, AOX outlasted TEP 38-30. McLaughlin contributed 10 points for AOX while Leow had 10 for TEP.

In a low-scoring nail-biter, Phi Sigma Nu edged out Beta 20-16. Reade, with 5 points, led both sides in scoring. Neither team could get their offenses clicking. Villa and Hyde each had a pair of buckets for Beta. Rounding out Phi Sig's scoring was Olson, Myer, and Reinman all with 4 points.

TEP was nearly upset by PEP in a very close game. Dennis Giukas, only about 5 feet tall, sparked Phi Ep to a 17-16 lead at halftime, with 9 points and a few steals. With only about two minutes remaining TEP was down by seven. The combined effort of Weibust, Nichols, De Fabio, Leon, and G. Biden in the full court press enabled TEP to go out in front to start 40-33. Giukas led both teams in scoring with 14. Pappalardo with 9, and Payette with 8 rounded out PEP's attack. Weibust led TEP in scoring with 6 buckets. Nichols chalked up 10 points in the winning effort.

On Monday, February 16th, intramural basketball was once again the main attraction in the Bryant gymnasium. The first game saw Al Kluger's undefeated Gardner Hall team run over Scott House 41-23. Jay Goldberg and Jim De Ferra each contributed 12 points in pacing Gardner to victory. Dave Green rounded out a fine showing with 9 points. Kluger's full court press and fastbreak were too much for Scott House.

The mighty Barbarians, led by Meeker and Wernett, handed the Weightlifters their second loss 55-32. A balanced scoring attack for the Barbarians went as follows: Meeker 15, Wernett 14, Russell 11, Kesner 9, and Kaplan 5. The hot hands of Bromberg and Smiarowski, who scored 16 and 12 points respectively, could not stop the Barbarians.

Parks House, with the shooting of John Hattub, the leagues leading scorer, defeated PSP 41-32. Hattub put in 22 points with Dave Carr giving Parks House 13 more. Feldman and Saunders dropped in 15 and 8 points respectively in the losing effort.

In the fraternity league, Delta Sigma Phi and AOX played a nip and tuck game. Dave De Sousa and Doug Snyder each with 9 points were too much in the closing minutes and gave DSP a 32-27 victory. Tremendous hustling by AOX's McLaughlin and Giomare made the game a thriller. Both men also chalked up 9 markers.

Bryant has been the beneficiary of fantastic support of late. When Bryant faced Quinnipiac last Tuesday, 200 students travelled to New Haven to see the team lose 92-84.

THETA CHI

OX beats TEP 38-30. This week the X'ers put on a good effort against Delta Sig and Tke. In the second week of pledging, Theta Chi has 14 men left. Only two weeks left.

Thanks to Ron Robinson for his great time last Saturday at Klein Innsbruck.

Tonite is Bacon night for the Pledges and Brothers.

ZETA BETA TAU

Bernie Hohne, Bernie Notar, Hugh Boynton, and Pete Fishel bring ZBT the bowling trophy. Basketball team vs. TEP and PEP this week. Only 3 weeks to go until HELL NIGHT!!! Pledges did a good job for the Heart Fund.

PTJ—don't press it too far.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

TKE over Phi Sig & ZBT. Good work, Weird Eddie; still can't find the classrooms? Gobin, Barth, Allbach, read "Robinson Crusoe." Pledges, use the installment plan, scoop now pay later. Hang in there you 22 dreamers. Ken Barth, will you tune my piano?
