Because it’s just one big party!

Four Bryant alumni told us why they’re looking forward to coming to Homecoming/Reunion. Find out why. Maybe you can relate.

You probably think that because you get together with your Bryant pals on your own that you don’t need to come to Homecoming/Reunion on September 29. But here’s what you’re missing. A relaxing day of food, fun, drinks, and games that’s already been planned for you at very reasonable prices. An area where your kids (or you and your partner, if you’re feeling adventurous) can play. An opportunity to replace that ratty old “Bryant Alumni” T-shirt or sweatshirt at a 10 percent discount. A chance to cheer the football team on to victory or watch your fellow alumni take on current Bryant students in baseball, lacrosse, tennis, ultimate frisbee, or volleyball. Or maybe you’d like to run into an old professor who really helped guide you throughout school and into your career. The Bryant campus is a beautiful, safe environment for you and your family to enjoy.

Marsha (Glickman) Reiser, Class of 1957
Marsha and her lifelong friends from Bryant — Irene (Armao) Coletta ’56, Joyce (Etchells) Murphy ’58, George Babcock ’57, and John Scanlan ’57 — have returned to campus several times over the years for reunion. This year is particularly special, because it’s her 50th. “I’m so excited,” she says. “I’ll be reaching out to my classmates soon to entice them to attend. It will be wonderful to see each other.”

Jeff Rotatori, Class of 1977
In his downtime, Jeff and his friends played intramural football and basketball, and hung out at the Rat Skellar, a lively bar on campus. As a member of the Student Programming Board (SPB), he worked to bring well-known bands like Yes and Aerosmith to campus. And it was through the SPB that Jeff met fellow student Ann Hubbard, who was the club’s president. They dated, married a year after graduating, and this summer, they’re celebrating their 29th anniversary. Jeff and Ann, also a member of the Class of 1977, return to campus fairly often, not only to reminisce, but to visit their daughter, Gail, who is a junior studying marketing at Bryant.

David Cooley, Class of 1982
As is the case with so many Bryant alumni, the friends Dave met at Bryant are friends he still has. He looks forward to Homecoming/Reunion every year. “We’re not on this planet for very long,” he says, “so I don’t miss a chance to get together with friends.” His frisbee team takes on the Bryant ultimate frisbee student team every year and while the old timers still have the game, some things do change. “We’re in our 40s and get older every year, while the student team is always in their late teens or early 20s,” Dave says. “But we hold our own and we have a great time.”

Angela Gugliotta, Class of 2002

Angela speaks freely about how the support she received from faculty and staff enriched her learning experience and inspired her career choice. “Most of the reason I chose a career in student affairs is because of my interaction with my advisors,” she says.

Angela is on the class reunion committee and will soon be contacting classmates to return to campus on September 29.

“I’m looking forward to seeing people I haven’t seen in a while and finding out what they’re up to,” says Angela. “It will be fun to catch up.”

Join Marsha, Jeff, David, and Angela at Homecoming/Reunion to reminisce with the people you met while at Bryant. Go to www.bryant.edu/homecoming for more information.
