Outsiders Barred So Students Will Have Seats

When local banking officials, who subscribe to Sylvia Porter's newsletter "Reporting on Governments," learned that Miss Porter was going to lecture here on Monday, they asked permission to attend. Administration officials, however, have made it clear that this Good Citizenship lecture so that there will be enough seats available for Bryant students.

Sylvia F. Porter, who will speak to the student body Monday at 9:45 a.m. in the auditorium, may be an internationally known financial expert, but she's a woman, too! What a man would say and do is not likely to be exactly what a woman would say and do, is not likely to be exactly what a woman would say and do. But rather it will be informal talk by successful bank manager, who is eager to pass the benefits of her own practical experience on to college students.

 orientation of geriatric field.

Sylvia F. Porter's lecture on "The Financial Structure of Government" will be re-broadcast over station WJAR, Dade 12 for an hour on Monday evening at 10:30 p.m., it was announced yesterday.

BA, A & F Societies Combine; Membership Open to All Students

By Larry Davis

The coming semester will see a new organization appear on the Bryant campus. This organization, a result of the cooperation between the Business Administration and Accounting departments, will be known as the Business Administration & Finance Society. The need for the consolidation has been apparent for some time because of the duplication of effort by B. A. and A. F. as two distinct organizations.

The purpose of the society, as stated in the by-laws is "to conduct and promote the study of organized business principles and to further interest in more general business knowledge."

Throughout the coming semester, the Business Administration & Accounting Society will arrange for its members to hear and be well known in the business world speak on such topics as accounting, personal, and market research, and other allied subjects.

These programs will not be cut-and-dried lectures, but rather will be informal talks by successful bank managers who are eager to pass the benefits of their own practical experience on to college students. Information of this type is extremely valuable to students considering careers in business.

Noted Columnist Will Talk On Government Securities

Sylvia Field Porter, financial editor of the New York Post, and world-famed authority on government securities, will be the featured speaker at an all-college assembly Monday morning at 9:00 a.m. in the auditorium. She will talk on "The Financial Structure of Government." Drawing upon a wealth of financial knowledge and years of study in the world of economics, she will recount the background of today's international monetary problems.

Miss Porter's talk on Monday is one of a series of important, informative lectures staged here in conjunction with the Good Citizenship program. One of the most widely sought-after speakers in the country, Miss Porter is making this special trip to Bryant out of affection for her "boys off Id.," as she refers to the New York Post's downtown office. She will come here from Toledo, Ohio, where she has been addressing various civic groups and organizations during the past few months.

Miss Porter is probably the only woman in the world holding down the job of financial editor of a large metropolitan daily newspaper. Her column in the New York Post is syndicated to newspapers from the coast to coast, and her annual year-end financial review is read by nearly everybody. She is consulted by top men in government, and by the doors of the Wall Street financial houses.

Probably no woman in the n pter of her age has climbed more successfully into finance than Sylvia Field Porter. She is only 38 years old, and looks ten years younger.

She began young—with the stock market crash of 1929. In that decade, her professional career was launched. She is a student at Hunter College at the time. And in the midst of the present wave of money thinking, she would not be satisfied with the answers she gets.

She promptly switched her college major from English to Economics, and graduated at 18 with a magna cum laude degree. She went on to graduate work in business administration at Columbia University. In 1942, she received the New York Women's Club Gold Medal for "the best financial and business articles of 1942," and in 1947, Miss Porter continued her winning ways, coping the New York Times "best financial articles of the year" awards for the "best column written by a woman in any field."

Miss Porter has authored three books and conducted two. In 1945, she published "I Work Comes to the American Woman," and "How to Make Money in Government bonds."

Last year, she published a "household" book on money, called "Managing Your Money."

There's a lot more to Miss Porter. She edits a weekly newsletter "Reporting on Governments," recognized as tops in the field of personal financial guidance in government bonds and the financial world. The newsletter is sent to hundreds of thousands of financial advisors and institutions throughout the nation.

Despite Miss Porter's mastery of financial doings, she is the opposite of the famous financial queen who is so often pictured on magazine covers.

Student's Prayer

We pray to this most reverently
Oh, Guardian Angel of students and scholars:
Grant us the means to gain the goals
For which we plan in our dollars.

Not long ago, filled with great expectation,
We all ventured forth into this new nation
In search of some knowledge to store up in each brain,
And fond memories of college for our hearts to retain.

In our search for this knowledge
We have almost succeeded;
But to finish our mission,
Fond memories we found.

Hear us, Oh, Angel; we pray once and all
Grant us these requests so that we may recall
Final exams soon, and the test that we forewarned knowledge,
And devoted our time to just being in college.

Here is a list of the things
We want to accomplish.
If you can provide them,
We'll be grateful indeed.

A large well-equipped gym
For the basketball team
Would keep them in trim,
And right on the clock.

And an athletic field
Would be welcomed by all
To replace that old lot
Where the teams play today.

When we're still taking tests
In the hot month of June,
Air-conditioning systems
Would be a great boon.

And those missing scope
Nobody found
Would be a great help
When exam time rolls 'round!

We yearn for days
With plenty of space
For each Caddy and Chevie
To have their own place.

These are the favors
We are asking of thee,
To make our Bryant brighter
In 1-9-5-3.

B.A. Banquet February 4

The Business Administration and Accounting and Finance societies will hold their annual joint banquet on Wednesday, February 4, at Johnson's Heggies on Allens Avenue, Providence. A steak dinner will be served.

Over a period of time, this affair has come to be regarded as the final big get-together of the two societies for the semester. It is of particular significance to the seniors because it will be their last affair before graduation. All the men who have spoken to the two societies this semester will attend the banquet.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Jack Emerson, Tom Farnese, Edward Pinet, and Robert Murray. A vast parking lot... and right on the clock.

Murray Notkin
New Hill! Prexy

Murray Notkin of Montreal, Canada, was elected president at a meeting of Hill last week. He succeeds Joseph Wasserman who graduates this February. Other officers elected were Daniel Weiss of Brooklyn, N.Y.; vice-president; Arlene Baran, Albany, N.Y.; secretary; Edith Adler, Cobalt, Connecticut, treasurer; Rhoda E. Goldie, Woonsocket, R.I., social chairman; Elise Chies, Utica, N.Y., cultural chairman.

Other out-going officers were Charles Lovett, Daniel Weiss, and Jerry Kaplan.

New plans were discussed by the executive board for the coming year. An expansion is contemplated in both membership and activities.

New Tau Ep Men Enjoy Steak Dinner

Tax Elopion held its Pledge Banquet at Dorrington's Restaurant on Tuesday, January 14. After eating a steak dinner, the new brothers were welcomed into the fraternity, and heard short speeches by Mr. John Allan, Dean Mercier, and future president Al Nelson. The singing of traditional songs wound up the evening's festivities.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Tom Dunkle

Sometimes I feel that this article is a complete fail, and that I have failed as a reporter. My only aim in creating "One Man's Opinion" was to convey information to the students of this college. Information that would inform, and also create interest in school affairs. But sometimes I wonder if anyone is interested in these events I write about, or in any of the events that happen at this college.

This week's article was supposed to be about the downtown hour, but how many people care about this? How many students care what happens in the Student Senate, the Greek Letter Council, or any other college organization?

I know I am not alone in deciding to continually improve conditions here, but how many of you will help those in the Senate or the Council to attain what most of you talk about but fail to do anything about? I think heaven, this message does not refer to everyone, but does it refer to you? Are you giving the "workers" your support? Do you support the basketball team, and attend the different organization banquets? Does the board have a vote? We have heard your many gripes, and I have many more to add to these. I also know that it doesn't usually seem that the Administration is behind us.

I feel that the fault or ours - the Student's. Think about it: What do you yourself do to support your own organization? The board and the council are not fighting a losing battle but a difficult one. Won't you help to stop this fire? The real opponent is you.

I would like to go just a bit further: tell those of you who will graduate, come February. To tell you how much, though sometimes what you have done has been forgotten, and you have not received full credit for your efforts.

One thing that no one will be able to take away from you is your personal pride and satisfaction in knowing that you did something for the college, for yourselves, and for the students to come. But, don't let your efforts stop here. Won't you help to form a strong Alumni? I know you will, and I hope you will.
Senate Approves Varsity Club; Bob George Named New Prexy

It's official now. The Student Senate has overwhelmingly approved the Varsity Club. The Varsity Club, foundation of George Tashjian, the first president, was organized to advance, foste and promote sport and social activities on campus.

Among the club's first actions was the sponsoring of a formal dance which was held last week, and the following week they will be in Niagara Falls, New York.

The new president of the club is Bob George, who succeeds Paul Schleich, who was one of the organizers of the club. Schleich will continue to serve as vice-president.

The Varsity Club is planning to hold a formal dance every two months, and to have a membership of 500 students. The club will also sponsor athletic events, such as a track meet and a basketball game.

The club will also promote social activities, such as a dance and a banquet.

Indians' Accomplishments Recapped for Posterity

By Norman Metcalfe, Jr.

The Bryant basketball quintet capped their seven-game losing streak, and clinched third place in the Southern League.

The Indians are the only team to win a final game, winning the final game against the Bulldogs.

The Indians finished the season with a record of 7-5, and are now tied with the Bulldogs for the Southern League title.

The Indians' season was not without its difficulties, as they suffered a number of injuries, including the loss of star center Bob George, who was forced to miss the entire season.

The Indians are now looking forward to the next season, and hope to improve their record.

1953 Genie Fund Drive Gets Under Way Next Monday

Special Assembly Will Touch Off 1953 Campaign

The opening guns of the 1953 Genie Fund Campaign were fired yesterday, according to Ben Nulanek, chairman of the Genie Fund arrangements. "We are planning a special assembly some time next week," he said yesterday, "so the purposes of the Genie Fund can be explained to our new students."

According to tentative plans, several alumni who went on to graduate work will speak to the student body in an attempt to outline the many advantages of continuing one's education.

The Genie Fund was established by the August, 1952, graduating class as a special fund to provide financial support for worthy students who desire to attend graduate school. The fund is self-perpetuating. In other words, the present graduating class will familiarize students now in their third semester with the workings of the fund, so that, in two years, a group able to continue the principle of the Genie Fund next August, will be established.

The 1953 campaign for funds will resemble last year's in many respects, but with one exception: the Genie Fund will be posted in the gym next week, and a large thermometer will record the progress of the fund-raising committee.

Actual collections will take place in February, following the one-week indoctrination campaign.

Every segment of the college will participate in the Fund—business administration, accounting, administration, finance, secretarial, teacher-training, administration, faculty, and maintenance.

career woman. Probably the best-dressed woman in the city room of her home newspaper, she looks at the world with a bright, twinkle-eye, and continual egerness.

Miss Porter is a trustee of Bard College, Ramapo-on-Hudson, New York. She is also a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Association, and of the Council of Phi Beta Kappa.

In 1913 she received the award of Theta Sigma Pi (the national honorary organization for women in journalism) for "achievement in Journalism," and she was also honored with an award by the First Assembly of American Women of Achievement, presented by the Boston Chamber of Commerce as "one of the 25 outstanding women in America." In 1913 she was also named "Key Woman of the Year."

In private life she has been married since 1943 to G. Summer Collins, president of the New York Journal-American, and is the mother of two and one-half-year-old daughter, and step-mother to a tall fair-haired college boy.

A Washington executive earned himself a meeting one afternoon with the explanation: "My mother-in-law is coming in on the four o'clock train."

CO-ED OF THE WEEK

"Terrific!" That seems to be the unanimous decision of Division 3 BAZ when Meg Wallace walks into class and they smell that exotic perfume for which she is famous. "Terrific!" could also be used to describe Meg herself; not only carries a full B.A. schedule but also takes an active interest in extra-curricular activities.

Meg comes from Milford, Conn., where she took part in high school activities. Her experience as editor of her high school paper and yearbook makes her a valuable asset in the "Archway" staff. This experience also makes her a natural for the post of Lodger co-editor which she now holds.

Besides these two time-consuming activities Meg still finds an extra minute to be an active member of Sigma Chi Sorority, the B.A. Society, and the Key Society.

Meg is very popular with her 3 BAZ classmates. The male element of the class predicts that she is bound to succeed in her chosen field as a buyer as long as she continues to wear that perfume which they describe as "divine and heavenly."

Gerry Feeney and New State Installed At Beta Banquet

New officers for next semester were installed, and pledges were inducted into the fraternity at the semi-annual Installation Banquet of Sigma Chi last night at Oscar Tavern.

Installed as president was Gerry Feeney, a native of Cranston. R. I. Gerry, a World War II vet, enrolled here in 1947, but was recalled to active duty during his third semester.

At that time, he was fraternity vice president. Returning to the campus in September, 1952, Gerry started his third semester again, and was elected fraternity secretary.

Other officers installed were Bernie Topper, vice president; Ray Naughton, secretary; Ray Leprechaun, treasurer; Tom Lbaru, assistant treasurer; Dick Afrued, sergeant-at-arms; Dick Canelly, alumni secretary; Dan White, chaplain; and Bob Paul, athletic director.

Pledges who were inducted into the fraternity as active members were: Don Anderson, L. A.; Lawrence Sarafino, New Britain; Bob Paul, Dan Pitzer, George Pritchard, Jim Rendick, Ed Ryan, Norm Troble, and Dan Whitlock.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Mr. Henry Lee, accounting teacher. Omneex and fraternity adviser, Art Borriman, a recent alumnus of Sigma Chi, was the master of ceremonies.

Phi Sig Keglers Win First Round

By Bernie Goldstein

Phi Sigma Xi won the first round of the intramural bowling leagues Wednesday. However, Beta Sigma Chi put on a brilliant fighting effort down to the wire, losing the first string to Phi Sig by four pins and the second string by only three pins.

The presence of Phi Sig because it needed all four points to edge out Tau Ep who knocked off Kappa Tau four to zero. In the other match of the day Sigma Lambda Pi defeated Beta Iota Beta three to one.

The standings:

Phi Sigma Nu: 29 4
Tau Epilson: 23 6
Chi Calima Iota: 22 5
Beta Sigma Chi: 20 14
Sigma Lambda Pi: 20 14
Kappa Tau: 19 15
Beta Iota Beta: 2 22

Faith is not trying to believe something regardless of the evidence; Faith is daring to do something regardless of the consequences.

Phil's report on last week's activities was rated "Terrific." Meg Wallace was an outstanding member of the "Archway" staff. This experience also makes her a natural for the post of Lodger co-editor which she now holds.

CO-ED OF THE WEEK

I "smoked Chesterfield in college—I smoke 'em now. Read this ad and you'll know why I say... MUCH MOLDER"

CHESTERFIELD IS BEST FOR ME!

"Bring your own" is a popular expression these days used in connection with various social activities on campus. But this expression is going to be used in connection with another activity in the not-too-distant future—the activity of taking tests.

Rumor has it that the school's stockpile of pasted paper has dwindled down to an insufficient amount, and that a new supply is not forthcoming. This situation has resulted in the new ruling that students will have to supply their own paper for tests. Of course the Profs will have to be on hand to prevent the use of the "observational method," and the students might have a little difficulty in meeting one of its individual standards as to size, color, and texture of the paper used.

So remember the new ruling when you're setting out to smash another exam and "Bring your own paper."
