Bryant Professor Assesses Importance of Business Ethics

Lisa Lachey
Archway Staff Writer

Professor William Haas sponsored a student-focused workshop on business ethics on Tuesday night. The primary focus of the workshop was to discuss the lack of ethics in the business world.

Co-sponsoring this seminar was the College of Business, the Student Alumni Association, and the Graduate Alumni Council. The seminar consisted of two video vignettes on ethics in the workplace and was followed by a discussion on ethical concerns and how to deal with them. One primary reason for studying business ethics is to know how to protect your interests.

Haas hopes this seminar is the first of many which may involve those with an active interest in the ethical dimensions in their fields.

One of its main concerns was to make students aware that their ethics in college will carry over to the business world. A survey was distributed and addressed such topics as using "scoop files" to study exams and company loyalty versus personal values.

According to Haas, "Ethics is defined as the application of reason to choices and actions concerning what is good for human beings." Three ways of looking at, and analyzing ethical problems, are to consider what rules apply, the consequences of the actions, and how to accept responsibility for those actions.

Bryant is the former president of Providence College and North Adams State College in Massachusetts. He is a graduate of Providence College, a Doctor of Philosophic candidate in philosophy from the University of Fribourg in Switzerland. He served as President of the College of Business, Providence College, the University of Rhode Island, Pepperdine, and Wakefield. He has taught business ethics at Bryant since January 1984.

International Studies Concentration Added to Curriculum

Kelly A. Cartwright
Archway Staff Writer

In the fall of 1992, Bryant will introduce an International Studies concentration as part of the new Liberal Arts program.

According to Professor Bill Hill, one of the program's coordinators, the International Studies concentration will orient students to the ever-changing world "through the promotion of international knowledge and a sensitive understanding of the interdependence of the world's political, economic, social, cultural, and ecological systems."

As an "interdisciplinary" program, the International Studies concentration will integrate three new core courses with existing electives in economics, English, political science, history, psychology, sociology, and advanced foreign language study.

Students will still be required to take the usual ten business core courses.

Professor William Haas expounds on ethics Tuesday night.
Speak Up and Be Heard!!

In the past several weeks, there have been numerous submissions to The Archway which were not publishable. These submissions fall into two distinct categories to which all potential contributors must be aware.

As must already be noticed, there have been quite a few "Letters to the Editor" published this semester. Many valuable and valid points have been raised in these written opinions. To an editor, there is nothing more encouraging than receiving letters from the readership. Well, actually there is one thing more encouraging: being able to print those letters.

The point of a Letter to the Editor is to express your opinion about an issue in order to inform or persuade others of your position on a given issue.

A second category of non-publishable material falls into the unessayable category. The Archway masthead, which is located directly below the editorial each week, covers this matter: "Copy considered objectionable by the Editorial Board will not be accepted."

It appears the definition of objectionable has been misunderstood, as evidenced by this editorial board. As a rule, objects to all statements that are potentially libelous. Additionally, comments which are sexually derogatory, or otherwise prejudiced, will not be tolerated in news formats.

If someone wants to make a submission, but is unsure about a phrase or idea, he or she should contact the editor to discuss the issue.

An important point to remember is that newspapers don't have to print everything they receive. Newspapers print materials which they think will inform and enlighten their readers and will be of value to them.

Remember, The Archway opinion section is your forum to express your thoughts, ideas, and opinions. But, the rest of the paper must be confined to verifiable factual material which the readers will benefit from.

THANK YOU FOR MIKATA

I would like to take this time to thank the Bryant College Performing Arts Series for bringing to the dynamic minds of Mikata that swept through her Auditorium like wild fire on Monday night. It's a rarity that we get to experience and relish in such an uplifting display of culture within the confines of such an ultra conservative school. Not only did Mikata highlight the celebration of Black History Month, but it was a pure celebration of life! To witness Monday night's performance, was to witness a festival of unity. Although we are at times divided, the festival of unity will hopefully continue on in everyone's lives.

Thank You,

New Policy at the Comfort

To the Editor:

We are writing this letter to inform the Bryant College student body of the current ID policy at the Country Comfort. This policy has been implemented to preserve the right of 21 year olds and older to purchase alcoholic beverages. This will help to avoid any liability for Bryc0l and Bryant College.

Brycol is trying to prevent the closure of the Country Comfort and safety for its customers. Two forms of positive ID are required. The first being a license and second either Bryant ID, social security card, or another positive ID.

If you bring a visitor they must have two forms. The Country Comfort is one of the last on-campus pubs in New England. This is a privilege and requires great deal of responsibility on the part of both the managers and the patrons of the Country Comfort.

If you have any concerns please leave a message at the Brycol house at 231-1220.

OPINION/NEWS

Saturdays: Pick-Ups Only

Dear Editor,

Last Saturday I went to the post office to mail a couple of oversized letters and get a money order to pay my Visa bill. When I got there, they said that they only dispensed stamps on weekdays. I was directed to a regular post office, which they claim to be, is more than a pick-up window on Saturday. I know that's their rule but when I'm home and need a stamp or a money order from the post office, even on Saturday, they have the services I need. I was so angry when I went to the envelopes, I had my PAF and my Citibank Visa bill. This stuff had to be mailed immediately. I needed the PAF to see if I can get money to help me pay this tuition. Another stupid reason I went there to pay my Visa bill, so they don't respose the staff I bought.

I thought the post office was there for my convenience. People still mail oversized letters and pay bills on Saturday. I should see them not doing money orders, they might have to actually turn a machine on, but not the one on my letters, that's ridiculous. What happened.

Did the Smithfield post office come and take their money orders? They had that sign up on their window, but I didn't see it.

This is the way I do my shopping.

Sincerely,
Angelo Corradini

Faculty Contract Negotiations

The end of the current contract between the Faculty and the College is rapidly approaching. In Article I, Section 1, the contract acknowledges that the College recognizes the Federation as the exclusive representative of all full-time faculty members, including department chairs, excluding all other employees. This recognition has had and will continue to have a profound effect on the faculty at Bryant College. However, the reality is that this effect has significant, real consequences for the rest of the Bryant community.

This is particularly true with regard to the students of Bryant College.

1 suspect that most students would expect that a contract between the College and the Faculty union would have minimal to no impact on them. This is not necessarily the case for Bryant's students. It would be hypocritical of me to imply that the financial aspects of the contract are not important to both the Faculty and the Administration of Bryant. They certainly are! On the other hand, they are frequently the most important aspects of the contract. Certainly they are not the most important aspects to the students - nor to the long term viability of our institution.

The assaulted student also claimed that he does not believe the suspect well and does not know what provoked the assault. He has decided to press charges with Smithfield Police at this time.

Harassment/Assault

Public Safety was requested to Residences Hall 4, for an incident of harassment. When Public Safety arrived at 2:30am on February 9, a male student claimed that he had been harassed and assaulted earlier, giving a detailed description of the suspect.

The student stated that he was sitting in his suite with some friends when someone knocked on the door. Before they could open it, a male entered and began verbally harassing the group. According to the suspect, the student then began removing the male's belongings. The suspect also stated that he and two of his friends were able to hold back the intruder, forcing him out of the hall.

The group claimed that the intruder was aggressive, punch-fighting, and yelling the entire time. The suspect left the building shortly after, witnessed by two resident assistants.

Approximately ten to fifteen minutes later, the suite received a phone call from the resident assistants. The call was broken up by fellow students.

Safety Tip of the Week

Knowing the location of a fire extinguisher is important that the victim be honest with the EMT who is treating the medical problem. If you want to gain the victim's confidence, it will make the treatment easier.

For an EMT, call 232-6001.

Student Arrested

On February 8, at 2:12am, a Public Safety Officer was dispatched to Residences Hall 1 when Public Safety arrived, a male was being held down on the floor by three others.

The detained student had apparently been very agitated with some of his guests, had assaulted a Resident Assistant, and was acting psychotic. The responding officer called for Smithfield Police and the Resident Director (RD) on duty. The RD and both Smithfield and North Smithfield Police responded. The student was taken into custody and later transported to a nearby hospital for further evaluation.

This was the following morning and had been prohibited from returning to campus per the results of medical evaluation.

Gospel Jubilee

JULIA ARSCHELICH

Arts Columnist

Eight different choirs performed a Gospel Jubilee before a capacity crowd last Friday night in the Janikoff Auditorium as part of Bryant's celebration of Black History Month.

Emcee Cox and Patricia Kelly organized Waynestoff from Providence and Boston.

Performances ranged from invigorating songs that the audience clapped and sang along with some uplifting ballads. Many sang along to the opening "This Little Light of Mine."

A big hit of the evening was "Little Wonders," a group of inner city kids from Boston. The performers were the third generation of Little Wonders ranging in ages from two to thirteen. The program gives them an alternative and an opportunity to learn the Bible through song.

Lunicia Russell, Mistress of Ceremonies for the evening, said the Jubilee was a great success and one of the best performances for Black History Month.

According to Russell, the Gospel Jubilee was an important and needed event.

"The church is one of the support groups for the African Americans and the music revitalizes people's spirits," said Russell.

"Hopefully the Gospel Jubilee will continue to be an annual event," said Russell.

Keigwin has made this public statement.

Now I'm going to tell my colleagues that if they have problems getting a loan from their local loan officer, that they can call Tom Skala.

That kind of tension between Keigwin and Skala was evident throughout the show, which also included a Providence Business News and Lisewski Erikson of G.W. Dall Company as guests.

Erikson's business was recently bought by Parade magazine and moved to North Carolina, resulting in a loss of 55 jobs in Rhode Island.

Keigwin noted that the banks' unwillingness to lend money often results in the delay of new job creation or the loss of jobs, in the case with G.W. Dall.

Skala replied that low consumer confidence is curbing spending, which increases pressures on manufacturers.

"Bank's don't want to lend money to these businesses because if they have a large order backlog from established customers, unless they can move "money out the door" at a profit, he said.

Despite the banks' tight guard on their money, Keigwin said, the Fed's policy of lowering the prime rate ultimately will pull the economy out of the recession for two reasons.

First, "(the lower rate) is helping the residential market considerably," he said.

Home owners are able to refi nancing their homes, which lower rates come down, increasing disposable income. This in turn increases sales in home-related industries such as draperies and furniture, Keigwin said.

Professor Jack Keigwin (left) and Fleet Bank president Thomas Skala (right) have had a tense relationship. Keigwin made this public statement.

Second, and more importantly, he said, "Banks are going to get extremely cautious." This is because of the gap between the prime rate and the rate banks charge on loans.

The spread between the [banks'] cost of money and the rate that they lend at has never been wider, Keigwin said.

He also noted that banks are at a disadvantage on the interest rate side in real estate, as well.

Keigwin is optimistic about an economic upturn.

"We have to start feeling positive about ourselves. Once they take the uncertainty out of their equation the economy will change," said Keigwin.

Also included in the result in loosening lending restrictions, pumping money into the economy and creating jobs in manufacturing and construction.

formed the third generation of Little Wonders ranging in ages from two to thirteen. The program gives them an alternative and an opportunity to learn the Bible through song.

"The church is one of the support groups for the African Americans and the music revitalizes people's spirits," said Russell.

"Hopefully the Gospel Jubilee will continue to be an annual event," said Russell.
When The Professor Says No More Time

Aren't you worried about the assignment that requires a library research in scholarly journals? Do you understand why? Time magazine doesn't qualify! Here are a few tips for ensuring that the articles you have found for your assignment meet the professor's scholarly requires.

BOOKS AS SOURCES. Many students may not realize that a good approach to any research on an issue can be found in reference books. Your library has a good array of standard handbooks and encyclopedias that explain a topic and offer selected references to landmark studies published in journals and books.

A few moments spent with a key source on your subject will help you sort out important scholarly contributions made by significant authors. Many times an article or book you use on a search term in the computerized databases to discover if the work is one being used by a more recent scholar.

Examples of these standard works include Dictionary of the History of Ideas (shelved Stack #1 CB 5 D52), The Oxford Companion to the Mind (shelved Stack #1 RF 31 094 1987), Encyclopedia of Bioethics (shelved Stack #7 RF QT 332 E52). Our more recent guides include The Guide to American Law (shelved Stack #5 RF KP 16.07.07), Encyclopedia of Sociology (shelved Stack #4 RF HM 17. ES191, and Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice (shelved Stack #6 RF HM 17. ES52).

Electronic Reference Sources. Your professor may already have discussed the need for

Studies Committee made up of: Prof. Bill Hill (Political Science); Prof. Bill Graves (Foreign Languages); Prof. Jim Eaton (History); and Prof. Sam Mimmmen (Economics).

Beginning with this semester’s pre-registration for fall 1992 courses, current freshman and sophomore students can consider International Studies as a major concentration. Students who are interested and would like to learn more about what this new concentration will offer to students, should attend one of two Orientation Sessions scheduled for: Wednesday, February 26th from 3:30-4:30 pm in Room 243 and Thursday, February 27th from 3:30-4:30 pm in Room 243.

Hill added that anyone unable at attending one of these sessions “can contact any member of the IS Committee (listed above) to learn more about this new concentration.”

New Health Staffer to Start Alcohol Education Program

Andrew B. Hershenow
Archway Staff Writer

On January 22, 1992, Bryant College added Doris Horridge to the Health Services Staff. Horridge will be a health educator and preventionist, and is the first person to work in that capacity specifically. According to Horridge, the role as health educator entails prevention of drug use and ultimately teaching students to become more responsible while drinking. In her role as drug and alcohol abuse counselor, Horridge will be implementing a comprehensive program on campus which consists of the College Health and Counseling Center, community efforts on this issue. The Bryant Alcohol Peer Educator (APE) program is being organized and led by Horridge to instill a new environment at Bryant College. Its purpose is to clear up misperceptions about alcohol, peer pressure, and expectations while drinking. "Many freshmen feel that upperclassmen put pressure on them to drink; but in fact there is simply a fear to fit in," said Horridge. She will also begin to integrate all aspects of Bryant's current health education program into this new project assignment since many health problems on campus directly result from alcohol and other drug use. The program is designed specifically for sexually transmitted diseases while intoxicated.

Is the New Smoking Policy Working?

by Dustin Goldschie

As of January 1, 1992, Bryant College implemented a new restrictive smoking policy that stated that "smoking is prohibited except in designated areas." The college explicitly banned smoking in all areas with the exception of designated smoking areas. Designated areas include selected tabs on the Library, the Dining Room, and Salomonson Dining Hall, the lower lounge of the Koffler Center; the enclosed smoking area in the library; the faculty lounge; and the main floor social lounges in Halls 14, 15, and 16. The new policy resulted partly because of a new RN State law on smoking in public areas, 23-25.02.470. Almost all of the return from winter break, how did students, smokers and non-smokers alike, feel about the new policy? J.J. Scandurra, a freshman smoker, stated that he feels the smoking restrictions are "totally unreasonable." He states that "despite the fact that I’m a smoker, I don’t think that there is any reason why people in other people’s second-hand smoke is very unhealthy." In a proviscion in the EPP, a report that put second-hand smoke on the "Group A" human carcinogen list, right along the career-causer asbestos. It is estimated that 53,000 preventable deaths a year occur due to second hand smoke.

Another freshman nonsmoker, Andrew B. Hershenow, said that "because second hand smoke is so dangerous, no one has the right to force anyone to breathe. There should be more stringent policy on students that persist in smoking in restricted areas.

Another unidentified student even suggested that someone should be enforcing the policy by implementing a system similar to the citation system that the Public Safety department currently uses to cite illegally parked cars. Are students really being as courteous as possible with regard to smoking habits since the implement of the new policy? It would appear that smoking has indeed ceased in most corridors of the "Unstructure, Koffler Center, and the Bryant Center. There has been more of a sense of control and a restriction of smoking in the corridors of halls 14, 15, and 16 where smoking is explicitly prohibited. The echo chamber of many students, like freshman Hudda Al-Qabdan, who commented, "It’s worked, it is definitely a good idea. However, it’s useless to put people under any kind of pressure in some manner." In any case, the rights and health of the non-smoker are of utmost importance when enforcing the college policy on smoking in restricted areas.

We are now just a little less than a week away from that great harbinger of spring: Valentine’s Day. The temperature has reached a balmy climate, a day of remembrance, and a good excuse to cancel classes. Women's health services will be on hand to provide preventative care. The president’s birthday, named after the United States' first president George Washington Birthday, is February 22nd, the 8th president’s birthday, named after the United States' first president George Washington. It is said to mean that we are just a little less than a week away from the National day of remembrance. Some means, across the nation, streets of journalists are diligently working at obtaining facts on the current situations on the issues, how many beauty queens are sleeping with, etc.

I was going to do the same thing as those other journalists this week who would work all day. I would also actually researching my column, and God only knows what would happen then. I might tell the truth or something. What I've done, in the interest of time and resources, is that so that I can go back to bed, is prepare the first (and probably last) Annual Flick Awards for Political Hopefulness. The "Vision Thing" Award for Lost Promises: This goes to President George Herbert Walker "Bill" Bush. If you recall, in 1988 Bush claimed, among other things, to be the only president whose four policies are working like a well-oiled machine, as shown by the fact that he has made up, of 10,000 high school seniors. On this exam, 63% of the respondents wrote that "Quayle was a "kind of flightless waterfowl," and 79% identified English. "I'll Correct You. The "I've Answered All Your Stupid Questions, so SHUT UP!!" Award: go to President Clinton. When that final fiasco of journalistic integrity, the Star, reported that flowers had an affair, opinion polls showed that 99% of breathing Americans at the time thought it was a crock. This led to the surprise resignation of White House Chief of Staff George Washington. Clinton for the kind of money she got out of the story!

The "I Expected, I Promise Not to Know Anything About World Trade" Award: Republican Pat Buchanan gets the nod here. Never known for being too smart with money, Buchanan has promised that he would do anything to protect American jobs. This idea has about as much merit as David Duke's "Hook if you Love Sheets" banner suckers (see below). Of course, Buchanan's real competition for the Republican nomination and (when I say competition, I mean I am talking about a contest that is anything but "fair").

"The Only Candidate Who Doesn't Deserve to Go to Jail" Award: President Clinton has never been a candidate for President. While researching his past, journalists have found he has an affair with flowers herself, and I'd say that I had an affair with Bill Clinton for the kind of money she got out of the story!

Put your hand on your heart, that was a rhetorical question! I hope this guide to our leader helps us understand what we will try as you try to determine who holds your hearts to lowest, to those of you, if course. We are asking the people of the United States to all the candidates, and your instruction on the candidates, my advice would be to go pick up a reparable paper, such as the Star. you do, the romance, the passion, the intimacy, the dinners, the flowers, the roses, please remember that no other hearts will say: YOU'RE SPECIAL! The First (and probably Last) Annual Flick Awards for Political Hopefulness

by Dustin Goldschie

The First (and probably Last) Annual Flick Awards for Political Hopefulness

by Dustin Goldschie

They are:
Sexually Transmitted Diseases:

Prevention and Treatment

We are currently experiencing an increase in the number of cases of sexually transmitted diseases (STDs). Unlike many other ailments, this trend cannot be reversed, but can ultimately be prevented. Each of us takes personal responsibility for our sexual health and conduct.

Syphilis: Left untreated, syphilis can lead to serious health problems later in life including heart disease, seizures, visual and other sensory problems, and occasionally death. Fortunately, antibiotics can cure syphilis when it is diagnosed early. The first sign of syphilis is a chancre, a usually painless ulcer on the skin genitals, anus, or mouth that has a "punched out" appearance. A blood test called the VDRL usually confirms the diagnosis.

Gonorrhea: Gonorrhea is caused by a bacterium that lives on the mucous membranes of the mouth, throat, rectum, urinary tract, and cervix. In men, the primary symptom is pain and burning upon urination with a pus like discharge appearing 2-10 days after exposure. In women, gonorrhea is a common cause of pelvic inflammatory disease (PID), which can result in infertility and sterility. Not everyone infected shows symptoms, however. Gonorrhea is diagnosed by laboratory culture and is treated with antibiotics.

Chlamydia: This STD has recently come to light as a cause of PID in women, and of "non-specific urethritis" in men. The symptoms of chlamydia are usually pain or burning upon urination and itching of the urethra. It is difficult to culture the chlamydia organism, so diagnosis is made by ruling out other possible causes. Special antibiotics (with both partners receiving treatment to prevent reinfection) are used to treat chlamydia.

Herpes: Herpes is caused by one of two viruses that enter the body through the thin skin of the genitals, anus, mouth, or lips, and takes up residence inside nerve cells. Breakouts occur when the nervous system is stimulated (by local injury, stress, cold weather, etc.) or when the immune system is suppressed (sunburn, a cold, flu, etc.). Herpes "cold sores" appear on the skin where the infection first occurred but can spread to adjacent areas. The drug acyclovir can greatly reduce the duration and frequency of herpes outbreaks. Persons with active herpes lesions can infect others, however, so they should not have sex until the skin has completely healed.

AIDS: AIDS is the hpest and most dangerous STD. It is caused by the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), which cripples the immune system, leaving a person highly susceptible to infections and certain kinds of cancer. Death usually occurs within months or years after the diagnosis. The virus is transmitted by intimate, unprotected, sexual intercourse or the sharing of needles. Anyone with an active sex life, multiple partners, or history of IV drug use, may be at risk for exposure to HIV. Short of abstinence, condoms with a spermicide offer the best protection.

Bryant Family Comes Together to Make Winter Weekend Successful

Kelly A. Cartwright
Archway Staff Writer

"For the sake of unity" proved to be an appropriate theme for Winter Weekend 1992. According to Student Programming Board Vice President and Winter Weekend Coordinator John Morrison, "The Bryant family" came together to celebrate love, friendship, and diversity.

"It was excellent," Morrison said. "I was very pleased with the crowd." Morrison remarked.

"Friday's events were fabulous," Morrison noted. The person who ran the photomuck booth was booked for three hours, but "sold out" after an hour and a half. Also, the talent card reader had a continuous line at her booth.

The afternoon's events were followed by another huge success. The Friday Night Live Comedy show had an unusually high attendance of 115 people. Morrison said it was the highest Friday night event turn-out he's seen in his year's here.

The weekend's major event, the Valentine's Semi-Formal, was the biggest success of all. The turn out at the Holiday Inn in Providence for the event was just ten people shy of a sell-out.

"Things went smoothly," Morrison said. "It was great to see so many different faces and everyone having fun."

Several students said that the formal was more fun than all of their proms put together.

Another student added, "The highlight of the evening was when Michael Yaffe, SPF's president, fulfilled his lifelong dream of leading a 'party train' to the tune of "YMCA."

Morrison noted that the video disc jockey, Turning Circles, was another highlight of the evening.

Winter Weekend was concluded on Sunday afternoon with a trip to Cranston Veterans Memorial Ice Rink for indoor ice skating. The program was well attended by about 40 people.

"It would like to formally thank Multicultural Student Union, the Office of Student Activities, WAVE, and the Student Senate for their support and guidance through-out the planning process to help make the events very successful," Morrison said.

He added that because of the success of all of the weekend's programs, "SPB hopes Winter Weekend is here to stay and the support continues to grow."

Sexual Harassment in the Workplace, Part II: The Employer and the Law

by Barbara Gregory, Career Services

Sexual harassment in the Workplace. Part I: A Victim's Story was presented last November to a standing room only audience. Part II will continue to discuss sexual harassment with focus on management and legal responsibilities. The program will again include Angela Fusco '90 who initiated the program with her story and Dr. Frank Bingham, who serves as an educational advisor to the National Association of Purchasing Managers.

Dr. Elaine Notaranzoni and Dr. Charles Quigley will moderate the panel discussion. The program is being coordinated by Barbara Gregory, Career Services and Roseanne Duna, Counseling Services.

After attending the program, you will have a better understanding of the sexual harassment concerns in the workplace and knowledge of what your responsibilities as managers will be, and also what legal resources are available to you if you become a victim or are accused of sexual harassment.

Last Wednesday was not exactly a normal day for me. Only the morning started out as usual with breakfast at 7:30 am followed by a double Accounting class, Sociology, and CIS. After all the classes came more work-laying out the pages of The Archway.

Everything was going well at The Archway, so I decided to take a short break. The break was longer than I expected, however, and not at all relaxing.

I was in the men's locker room when I heard the door open and close. I thought nothing of it until I tried to open the door and I found that it was locked.

Apparently, Public Safety had come by on their nightly door knocking spree and locked me in. "Aren't they supposed to check if anyone is in the locker room before they lock the door?" I asked myself. Regardless of the answer, I had to get out.

I pounded on the door hoping that someone, anyone, would understand that there was someone inside. I was a futile effort. After a few minutes I realized that whoever locked the door was coming back, and no one else would be able to get to the locker room since all the hallway doors were locked, too.

"What would MacGyver do if he were in my shoes?" I wondered. When I locked up the answer bite by bite, the room was coming down (excuse the pun).

I climbed up on the lockers and popped a ceiling tile out of the way. After finding a sturdy place, I hoisted myself up into the ceiling. Once I was up on the wall between the locker room and the hall, I moved another ceiling tile from above the hallway.

I was scared just looking down from my ceiling perch. It was a good ten feet to the floor.

I yelled for help, but there was no one around to hear me. Finally I gathered up enough courage to slide down the wall.

Now that I was on solid ground in the hallway, I had to worry about getting back to The Archway office. Luckily the dead bolt on the hallway doors was on my side of the door.

Once I got back to the office, I yelled a few obscenities appropriate for the circumstances and asked aloud why Public Safety even locked the locker rooms. The doors into the building are locked, the doors in the hallways are locked, what more do they want?

I gave Public Safety a call to find the answer. The officer who took my call told me that according to lockup procedure, the officers are supposed to check for people before locking an area.

The officer asked me how I managed to get out. When I told him that I made my way through the ceiling, he had the nerve to ask if I put the ceiling tiles back into place! (Public Safety even suggested that this would make a good column in The Archway!)

I hope that if they ever finish laughing over this event, Public Safety will start following their own procedures so that no one else will be unfortunate enough to get locked in a bathroom.

Well, until my next adventure...take some advice: make sure someone else knows where you are in the MAC!

The Tale of the Original V-Day

Cindy Gale
Archway Staff Writer

Everyone thinks Valentine's Day is the day of the year when friends and lovers express affection for one another through cards, candy, flowers, or whatever other means the imagination can find. Although it is celebrated every year on February 14th, most people don't know how or why it originated.

St. Valentine, after whom the day is named, really had nothing to do with the revelry and festivities of the day. Valentine was a Roman priest who was martyred on February 14 A.D. 269.

He was beaten and beheaded by the Emperor Claudius II for refusing to give up Christianity. His remains, it is said, are now preserved in the Church of St. Praxedes in Rome, Italy.

Before he died, he was said to have been in jail, and while there, cured the jailer's daughter of blindness.

He supposedly left a farewell note for the girl and signed it "From your Valentine." It is concluded this is where love letters began, and you could say the rest is history.

During St. Valentine's lifetime, it was a common practice for bachelors and maidens to get together in February for social festivities.

Attention: Bryan women! If you think that cute guy in physics class or the hunk you met at Stix might be the one for you, don't wait too long by the phone.

A recent study of Bryant University students indicates it is likely he will be waiting for the phone to ring. A statistics class late this fall posed these questions to undergraduates. How do women feel about asking a man for the first date? How do men feel about being asked? The results were very enlightening.

The study found that 90 percent of men surveyed welcome the opportunity to be asked for a first date. Just nine percent were unsure. The remaining one percent was the result of statistical rounding off.

This means every Bryant man surveyed would enjoy being the ask-e-rather than the ask-ee.

However, Bryan men are going to have to wait a little longer for the phone call from a charming female.

Inquiring Photographer: "What is the craziest photo you've ever been asked to do?"

"I worked all night New Year's Eve one year and drove a girl I worked with home hoping for a goodnight kiss. Use your imagination."

Valentine With Love

expressed in different ways, but they are feelings we all experience.

You love everything, around you in some way, which makes some things more special to you than others.

Love is something that is with you throughout your entire life. It's something you never lose, but there is always room for more of it.

Valentine's Day has traditionally become the day to celebrate that love, whatever type it may be. Whether you call your best friend just to say hello, or give that someone special in your life something you made only for them, this is the day to express your true feelings.

Today it is customary to send a card along with flowers or candy, hoping your affections will be reciprocated.

There are post offices in certain parts of the country where people send their mail to be postmarked to add a special touch to their Valentine.

Such places include Loveland, Colorado; Love, Mississippi; Darlington, Pennsylvania; Romeo, Arkansas; Los Angeles, and Kissimmee, Florida.

People who find their "true loves" on February 14th owe thanks to St. Valentine for sending the first ever Valentine love letter.

Happy Valentines Day to all those special people in my life.

This year -1992 -is a leap year. Tomorrow is Valentine's Day. There's even Sadie Hawkins Day on February 29th, a Saturday night at that! Why not take a chance? Get up your courage and make that call, courtesy of AT&T, Sprint, or MCI. More likely than not, a romantic candle light dinner for two is in your future. You may also be setting a trend. If the world follows this lead Bryan women can set the next box office hit we see may be "When Sally Met Harry" or "Dolls and Guys."

Worldbeat "Mikata" Gives World Class Performance

By Ben Parkiss
Archway Staff Writer

Bryant students rocked to the beat of Mikata on Monday night in the Janikiet Auditorium.

The band blended the musical styles of African, Caribbean, Latin, Jazz, Rock, Rap and Funk. They put on a high energy show, which even had Bali students clapping and dancing in the aisles.

Mikata consists of three singers who wore bright original costumes, influenced by the African, Latin American and American cultures.

The two women and one man sang with sweet, soulful sincerity. Power and emotion oozed from their beautiful voices.

The Mikata band played guitar, banjo, bongos, saxophone, trumpet, keyboard and a variety of traditional African and Caribbean percussion instruments. Each individual musician showed great talent and the band blended the different styles and instruments with grace and electricity.

The singers bodies expressed the mood of the music with elegance and energy. Their exciting and provocative dance really got the audience pumped. Although based on tradition, their dance was brought thrillingly into the 20th century with an original style, which at once projected sensuality and then vibrant sexuality. Their facial expressions also changed with the different songs.

Some of their numbers were for fun, others carried a message of racial unity. They opened with a song about freedom for all peoples around the world. The song used African and Latin beats and built into a powerful climax. It utilized the awesome vocal power of the trio. They did another number with catchy rhythm and instruments. It had a salsa based rhythm which brought the audience to their feet at Janikiet. They did a love song for Valentines day with a sensuous sax solo which pulled at the audience's heartstrings.

In the second session a change of costume took place, once again each outfit was Brazilian. This time they used more funk and rap as well as ska and reggae. There was the suggestive song "I Want To Go To Paradise" and another called "Don't Buy It". In the latter, some good advice was given, if you don't understand it don't buy it, or in other words don't be a blind sheep.

Mikata entertained and educated. One of the themes that we should get up and change the world.

We should use the positive energy inside of us and the power to change it, if we don't use that power we won't have to worry about it much longer.

Mikata are a real party time band and we should definitely bring them back on campus to give others a chance to see them. Some of the comments made by Bryant students and faculty were "Marvelous," " winger Jean Louis, "the drumming was superb" Mauricio Mazzi, "Incredible energy." Annette Nutt and from me "go see it because it's good."

As part of Black History Month, Mikata performed their blend of music styles. Above, LaTricia Russell, a Bryant senior, is shown joining in with the celebration.

You've Just Been Cleared For Take Off.

You can get a lot more out of life when you set your sights a little higher. Which is what applying for the American Express Card is all about. When you get the Card, it's easier to do the things you want to do. And with the student savings that come along with it, you can do even more.

Fly roundtrip on Continental for less than $100 each way.

Student Cardmembers receive four travel certificates. They can be used to fly any way to any U.S. Continental Airlines flight in the 48 contiguous United States. Two for the school year, and two for the summer.

Depending on where you fly, each school year travel certificate is good for $129 or $189 roundtrip—and each summer travel certificate is good for $49 or $99 roundtrip.

Savings that upgrade your lifestyle.

As a student Cardmember you get more than great travel savings. You also save money on everything from clothing to long distance phone calls. All for a $55 annual fee.

Obviously, savings like these say a lot about the value of the Card. And having the Card will say a lot about you. For one thing it says you have a handle on what you spend, so you don't have to carry over a balance. Also, say you're smart enough not to pay interest charges that can really add up. So take a few minutes now to call (have your bank address and account number ready), and apply for the American Express Card.

With all that the Card offers you, not even the sky is the limit.

Get going, call 1-800-967-AMEX.

aware of the great impact drinking and driving can have on your life, as well as the lives of innocent drivers."

A certificate was awarded to everyone who attended. SADD has been at Bryant for three years and always welcomes new members. The next meeting is tonight, February 13 at 7:00 p.m. in Room 2A at the Bryant Center.

At the meeting, SADD plans to schedule a date for a guest speaker from MADD. Why not be SADD-especially in the spring, the season which is so full of life.

Students who have any questions about SADD or about tonight's meeting, are welcome to contact SADD President Kristine Moyaiah, Dorm 9.

SHRM
by Shari Foulain
AttoniSHRM Meeting! Last Wednesday, February 5, we held a meeting in Dorm 15 to inform freshmen about our society and what Human Resource Management is all about. The attendance for the meeting wasn’t as large as we had hoped. On a positive note, the Executive Board did accomplish a lot of strategic planning for our society’s plans and goals during this semester.

Our next meeting will be on Wednesday, February 26 at 7 p.m. in Room 2A of the Bryant Center.

Any new members, as well as old, members are always welcome!!

Hope to see you there!!!

Sigma Phi Epsilon
by Derek Fairfield
The Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon had an eventful Friday. Friday night the floor was a Ghost town, while brothers headed to Regionals, UConn, and other various destinations. All Regionals the E-board diligently attended all seminars and meetings. They brought back useful information and insight, good job E-board. A few of us stayed with Sig Ep at Uconn where we were treated with hospitality and respect. However, Dennis did end up getting lost on the huge campus. Saturday night we wound up with a good time at Theta’s floor.

In Sig Ep sports the B-teams is 1-1, with Mark “AIR” Alvarado leading the team in scoring. The S-Team is on a roll with Book and Darren as MVP’s. Each ended up with triple double, having scored together 49 points, 24 rebounds, and 26 assists.

The play of the week goes to Book for his break away 350 reverse jam! Way to fly high, little man.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

First, we would like to congratulate Lori, Leea, Adrienne, Linda, and Ange on their initiation. After initiation the sisters had a class at the town house.

Some of the Sigma headed to URI on Friday night and a great time was had. Shelly and Carolyn are the only people in their right minds! Gabby who is calling you the “hot tamale”!! To Sue, who is O.K!!!

Good luck to all our pledges and all the other pledges, stay strong, each day you are one step closer. Missing: the hot pot and squeeze! See you next week, Happy Valentine’s Day, and have a great long weekend!!

Special Olympics
by Heather K. Caldenbee and Tracy Markiewicz
The EXCITEMENT has begun. The 1992 Special Olympics Team is proud to announce that the games are underway. Kick-off for fundraising begins on February 21 at the Country Comfort. Come show your support and remember all proceeds go to Special Olympics.

Students will also have the opportunity to donate a meal on Friday, February 28. Tables to sign up will be located in front of Salmoson and South Dining Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 18 and 19. We would like to wish our fundraising team the best of luck and congrats on a positive beginning.

Keep your eyes open in each Archway edition for weekly progress reports and special events planned for the ’92 games. We hope to see everyone become a part of the games on May 2, 1992.

Tau Epsilon Phi
by David Detertader
Week Three: Reality sets in. No more fun and games boys, this is the big time. But stick with it, it’s all worth everything that you put into it in the end. The brushes would also like to wish the new sorority pledges luck with their upcoming weeks of fun.

Alumni weekend was a real good time. It was a lot of fun hanging out and hearing all kinds of stories from our past. Thanks goes to Sig for organizing the weekend and pulling the whole thing off.

In sports, TEP basketball is hot! TEP A defeated DX, TEP B beat both Sig Ep and KDR, and TEP C defeated Sig Ep’s S team. It is still early in the season, but the boys are lookin’ good. To rup things up, Walt’s weekly words of wisdom are “Everybody who is anybody is doing it.”

 Theta Phi Alpha
by Tara Reilly
Greetings and Salutations!! First off, we continue to welcome KT on our floor. It’s always an adventure. On Friday we saw a side of Beta we have never seen. Although things were under control as first, things definitely changed by the end of the night. Saturday night had the potential of being a fantastic gathering. The new and improved Zub Tube is Theta’s newest edition and we welcome all to experience it. Hang in there pledges! Liza Theta . . .

Men's Basketball
1-1 Last Week

The men's basketball team split their games last week, defeating the Bentley Falcons 14-5, but losing to Quinnipiac 97-92.

Against Bentley on Saturday, Bryant was up by 10 in the second half. However, Quinnipiac made 80% of their free throws and 50% of their field goals, to pull off the win.

Coach Reilly attributed the following factors to their opponents' success:

"Quinnipiac added an extra shooter and an extra passer to their line-up. They had three excellent guards who all shot the ball very well."

"We [Bryant] got in foul trouble in the second half. Another thing that hurt us was Colin Lawson's injury. "Lawson left the game with a "bruise on his thigh." It was yet to be determined whether or not he would play against St. Michael's on Wednesday.

Bryant had several scorers in double figures: Glenn Tatro with 24 and C.J. Simmons with 21. Dave Barrows and Rich Ross contributed 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Quinnipiac's starting forward, Mike Buscetto had 24 points and his teammate David Haver had 23. The more successful part of last week's schedule was the win over Bryant's rival Bentley College. "The Bentley game was a big win against an experienced veteran team," coach Reilly said.

During the game, senior center Rich Rose earned his name in Bryant's 1000-point club. He scored eight points to reach his 1,000th point before fouling out of the game. Bryant was down 13 at the half, and came back in the second to outscore Bentley 35-27.

"We relied on the offensive efforts of Glenn Tatro and his key "set-ups" for his teammates," coach Reilly added.

"C.J. Simmons hit a shot with 30 seconds left," he added. This was the shot Bryant needed to win. Tatro scored 16 points and Simmons had 10 to help Bryant overcome Bentley. The Indians played St. Michael's last night, but it was too late for this edition.

The men's team hopes to better their 3-18 record when they host Assumption College on Saturday at 3:30 and travel to St. Anselm's on Wednesday at 7:30. The men's alumni will play Saturday at 11:00.

Racquetball Team
Defeats Clarkson

by John Gillisody
Dublin University, Ireland.

The Bryant College Racquetball Team traveled to upstate New York this past weekend in its quest to overwhelm the Clarkson University Team at Potsdam, NY. By a match score of 18-2, Clarkson had no chance as they were overpowered by a charged Bryant team, who was rebounding from last week's loss to Penn State.

The men's team was led by #1 Jesse Albright whose opponent was often seen talking to himself, the ball, and his racquet as he had no chance in the match. Number four John Powers and freshman Derek Gonda, playing at the #5 position, overwhelmed their opponents in straight sets, while #2 Jacob Hart and #3 Paul Marvin were forced into tiebreaking matches in which both Bryant players prevailed. Number #5 Michael Laffite, was down in the first match 9-1, battled back to win in straight sets.

The only men's loss came at the expense of #6 Brett Dement, whose loss was a tough one.

The highlights of the tournament were the men's #1 match where Dan Auster collected his first collegiate win after losing his first game, but battling back to win the match. The Bryant men's team continued its court mastery in doubles by going undefeated with wins posted by the teams of Jesse Albright/Derek Gonda, Jason Hart/Mike Laffite, and Paul Marvin/John Powers.

The women, who also only lost one match, were led by Bobbi Jo Bell, Erin O'Connell, Tricia Colozzo, Sue Donatelli, and Maria Acompora. The only loss came in the women's #1 doubles spot as the team of Sue Donatelli/Maria Acompora lost 5-15, 13-15.

The match was the biggest win of the year and improved the team's record to 2-3 in the ECRC with five matches remaining. Bryant will play at a tri-cam meet this coming weekend at Binghamton, NY against SUNY Binghamton, Morris College, and SUNY Plattsburg.

The Medal Count

Saturday through Tuesday

The men's and women's annual alumni basketball game will be held this Saturday in the gym, tip-off 10:00 am.
The 1,000 Point Club

Bryant's Basketball Program recently added Brionn Murrill to the 1,000 point club. Rich Rose, C.J. Simmons, and Holly Grinnell have all scored over 1,000 points this season. Here is the remainder of the club:

Rose: 1,022
Ferreira: 1,081
Grinnell: 1,000
Simmons: 1,063

This week's athlete of the week is Richard Rose of the men's basketball team. Rose became the 21st member of the 1,000 point club with eight points in a 68-67 win over Bentley last Wednesday. He said, "We need a couple more wins. I just go out there every day and try to improve and help my teammates."

Coach Ferreira Honored by RI Sports Casters and Writers

Head women's volleyball coach Karen Ferreira will receive the 1991 "Rhode Island Unlimited Female Sports Coach of the Year on February 23rd. This award is given by the Rhode Island Sports Writers and Sportscasters and includes both collegiate and professional sports. "It is great competition. I feel honored to win this award," Ferreira said.

Ferreira, although proud, was surprised to win the award. "Actually I was pretty much in shock. I had heard about this award and never given it a thought. I didn't expect to win."

This award means more than personal satisfaction to Ferreira. "Basically the award will not benefit me personally. The girls will be much prouder of their season," Ferreira added.

"Awards like this make us more prestigious to recruits. Athletes in the RI and Southern Mass. area who hear of this award might be enticed to come here," Ferreira said. Ferreira will top her list of accomplishments this year by marrying her fiance, Chris Mendes on April 10th.

He [Chris] has been my biggest supporter this season. It's tough with the hectic schedule in the fall. I would be coming home at 1:00 three days a week, but he was always there for me," Ferreira said.

"Once again, I am extremely pleased to win this award and, if it carries over, the girls can increase their self-esteem," Ferreira concluded.

Richard Rose

1,000 Points!

"Our goal is to get into the play-offs because we haven't been in a while and anything can happen in the play-offs," Rose stated.

"As of late, we have been playing well. We struggled at the beginning because we had a tough schedule. I think we can make the play-offs if we continue to play hard," he added.

When asked what he would like to improve upon, Rose stated, "Nothing about my game really, the team is more important. We need a couple of more wins. I just go out there every day and try to improve."

Rose's hard work and hard play has helped the team and provided an example for others to follow.

Women's Basketball Drop Two

The women's basketball team lost two NE-10 conference games this week dropping their record to 13-13. Bryant hosted Quinsipm Saturday, losing 65-64. The team was behind by as much as 14 before the late second half rally, which ultimately fell short.

High scorers for the game were Holly Grinnell with 18, Bridget Casey 15, Heather Houle 12, and Kelly Jacob 11 points. Grinnell and Houle also combined for 14 boards, eight and six respectively.

"The kids played great in the second half," coach Mary Burke said. "It's the first half we have to work on; we need to play better."

Last Wednesday the team went on the road to face Bentley, which is currently ranked second in the country, and lost 89-66.

High scorers in that game were Grinnell with 28 and Houle 19. Grinnell and Jennifer Spencer also combined for 27 rebounds, 15 and 12 respectively.

"We were real tight the first half. We were down by 17," coach Burke said. "We played up to our potential in the second half and came within eight before Bentley turned the defense up a notch."

"It was tough, Bentley is number 2 in the nation and known for their defense," Burke added.

Injuries have been a big problem for the team this year. "I'm only playing with eight (players). The players are on the court for 35 minutes or more while other teams have 15 people on the bench," coach Burke said.

The players are tired but we did a lot of pre-season conditioning that has saved us," she added.

The team played St. Michael's last night, but the game was too late for this edition. The Lady Indians will host Assumption on Saturday at 5:30 and travel to St. Anselm's on Wednesday.

The 1,000 Point Club

Holly Grinnell (13) goes up for a jump shot in a 65-64 loss to Quinsipm on Saturday.
