About Our New Format... Bryant Declares Free Kingdom

by Fynul Saye

It's now official! Bryant College is now free and independent! A proclamation issued jointly from the former Board of Trustees and President William E. Trueheart earlier today declared that Bryant College is seceding from the United States, the State of Rhode Island, and the Town of Smithfield.

The proclamation reads as follows: "From this day forward, the college shall be known as The Kingdom of Bryant, College of Business Administration and Liberal Arts. Furthermore, the administration of the kingdom shall be referred to appropriately. From this day forward, the president shall be known as King William E. Trueheart. His wife will be crowned Queen Carol."

For all eternity, the executive vice president of the kingdom will be known as the prince, as in Prince Walle Roettger. As the vice presidents will be: known henceforth be called dukes (i.e., Duke Lafond, Duke Mechanbeck, Duke Gibson) and associate vice presidents, marquises and marquisses (i.e., Marquis Oldham and Marquise Lemal). The former deans and directors will forever be known as Barons and Baronesses, including Baronesses Daniels and D'Arty, and Barons Cartwright, Hannon, Fogarty, Drury, Talley, Kenney, and Slos. Assistant directors shall be known as lords; for example, Lords Alvaraz, Pavek, and Blumenthal and Ladies Read, Powers, and Walker.

The proclamation continues: "May it be further noted that all members of the support staffs are now considered peasants. All governors of every status shall be known as court jesters.

The board of trustees will, for all posterity, be known as the Lords of the Rectangular Table. They shall be addressed, for example, as Honorable Knight Seliya and Knights Begin, DeAngelis, and Sankisan.

The following declaration was also issued: "Students in the Kingdom of Bryant are to be known simply as serfs, because they are the real workers in our kingdom and they provide the economic backbone of our operation.

Now a sovereign state, Bryant is free from all legal constraints of the outside world. Therefore, gambling will be legalized within the gates of the kingdom. If you can't bet 'em, join 'em!" declared one of the court jesters.

Jimmy the Greek Named Commencement Speaker

by U.R. Glubile

If Yale University can have George Bush as their commencement speaker, why can't Bryant College? Jimmy The Greek has been invited to speak at the commencement of the 1992 graduating class of the College of Business Administration.

The famous handicapper was chosen after the commencement committee carefully reviewed the qualifications of a number of speakers. Also considered in the search were former University of Nevada-Las Vegas basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian, Casino King Donald Trump, former North Carolina State basketball coach Jim Valvano, and Providence Mayor Vincent "Buddy" Cianci.

According to a statement released by the commencement committee, the choice "was difficult, but in the end, we decided that Jimmy best represented the institution and he has agreed to take a position at Zim's as the casino's handicapper.

The statement continued the eventual goal of the college to replace Las Vegas as the center of gambling and odds making in the United States, and Jimmy is by far one of the most efficient ways of making money.

Although it is uncertain at this time what the theme of Jimmy's address will be, it is expected to address concerns that gambling is an independent state and as a gambling concentration in the business administration program.

At a press conference held in his home, Jimmy expressed his concern about being chosen as the commencement speaker. "Hey, I haven't got a problem with gambling - look at my name for crimminals sake! And with gambling becoming more and more prevalent in today's global society, it just seems to be a natural extension of the theme of the college and the commencement program.

At a press conference held in his home, Jimmy expressed his concern about being chosen as the commencement speaker. "Hey, I haven't got a problem with gambling - look at my name for crimminals sake! And with gambling becoming more and more prevalent in today's global society, it just seems to be a natural extension of the theme of the college and the commencement program.

Jimmy to Speak (Continued on page 3)
The Senior Class Gift Committee has announced a change in the class gift for 1992.

The committee, headed by Deana Panariello, had originally decided on an outdoor fitness trail. But, in the wake of the recent interest in gambling, they have decided to change it to "Zim's Casino City Under the Dome."

The casino will be built on the area that was to be used for the prison which was proposed, but fell through, in March of 1992. Since the class couldn't possibly raise enough money for the casino alone, they have called on real estate mogul Donald Trump for assistance.

Trump is being called upon for his experience in the real estate market and knowledge of the casino industry. He told B&G, "I am very excited about getting in on the ground floor of something that can be this big. Hopefully, this will be more successful than the Taj Mahal. The casino is going to be my wedding present to Marla."

An unnamed Student Senator, whose code name is Leona Heimley, (see article on page 4) stated "We are glad Mr. Trump is willing to donate his funds to help us increase the value of our kingdom. We really need all the help we can get and we appreciate it. Really, we do."

The senator went on to state, "So the man has lost many millions of dollars. Who cares? As long as we make a profit, but we'll have to abstain from telling you how much it was."

Most of the funds being used, however, will come from Bryant students. Since the amount of money needed is excessive, Bryant seniors will sponsor a "Casino Night" in which all the proceeds will benefit the gift.

The night, scheduled for tonight, will offer a variety of casino-style games. To get the guests even more in the spirit of things, those who wear a Bryant basketball jersey will not have to pay the $10 cover charge. Security for the night, and the handling of the money, will be done by the Bryant College bowling team. When asked if they could handle such a responsibility, the team responded, "Oh yeah. You can bet on us to keep the money safe and keep things in order. It's right up our alley."

Since Bryant has declared itself an independent state, the casino city will not pose any threat to the surrounding society and will not be held to Rhode Island regulations. King Trueheart stated, "I am very pleased with the addition of the Casino to the Bryant Kingdom. It will be an environment to foster community well being as well as a place for interaction between administrators and students."

The casino will be two floors, complete with a skee ball area and has ample office space for whoever is going to run the place. It will also have a restaurant, ARA's Starlight lounge.

The second floor will also offer a gambling meeting room, which will be used to give seminars on the latest gambling techniques. It will also house weekly Gamblers Anonymous meetings. All are invited to attend.

Zim's City will be domed topped, resembling the Rotunda so those upstairs can keep an eye on the action downstairs.

The first floor will house the games, such as blackjack, roulette, poker, and craps. Also, it will contain slot machines, and will have a special sports room with televisions linked into all professional sporting events. This room will have a special betting booth where bets can be taken at any time.

The first floor will have a lounge with a stage and dance floor. Guests already scheduled to appear are Bob Base, Julio Iglesias, The Guess Who Band and Wayne Newton. Acts such as Barry Manilow and DiVynils are also being pursued.

Neon signs will light the way from Jacobs Drive to the casino. Billboards will also be placed on I-95, from here to Florida.

Panariello is very excited about the change. She told B&G, "No one really wanted the fitness trail anyway. After all, in the real world, people would join a health club if they want to exercise."

Not only is the Bryant community invited to attend Casino Night, but the entire state of Rhode Island is welcome. King Trueheart stated, "We will allow the outlying areas residents to enter the kingdom to share in the fundraiser. After all, I am a king and this [the Bryant campus] is my castle."
Involvement in Safety Encouraged by all

by Ozzy Osborne

Recently, the Office of Public Safety announced the launching of a Citizen's Arrest Program (CAP). The program, initiated during winter break, was conceived after Public Safety felt they could not handle all the campus crime that occurs.

The program has proven to be very successful in its first few months, and will be adopted permanently in the fall. In addition to providing information about campus activities, CAP will give an insight into the sports betting controversy. It has been learned Public Safety had an undersized plant involved in the operation, and was the key player in busting up the ring.

The CAPpers involved in the program will be in charge of making sure not only the Bryant community follows the policies of the school, but Public Safety as well. The CAPpers have the authority to ask you to dump your cup, to let you into your room, and to lock people in the bathroom.

In the first few months of implementation, there have been a few mishaps that have called for a few changes in the program. For instance, a CAPper saw Public Safety's Taurus illegally parked in the SBDC parking lot a month ago and had it towed. Also, Public Safety ran a STOP sign in Parking Lot C-3 and was promptly issued a ticket.

Teacher Dumping

Ronald Deluga was the latest victim this week of an alarming and horrifying practice that is sweeping college campuses across the country.

Teacher dumping is becoming ever more prevalent among college and university teachers in the United States. It usually occurs when students are unwilling, or unable, to put up with a professor's techno-babble. A group of such students will get together and nominate a "dumper," someone who makes the appearance of cozying up to the professor until he or she gains the teacher's confidence. Then, when no one is looking, the dumper leaves the professor stranded in a remote desolate location.

This is the situation Deluga found himself in early Sunday morning. He was discovered wandering the streets of North Providence wearing a sign indicating his identity as "I.M. Born.

As police escorted him to his home, he NEVER looked back screaming at the top of his lungs, "I don't care what you do! Mr. Happy Face Envelope still likes me!"

Surprisingly, the Deluga incident is not unique. Last semester, finance professor Jack Rubens was discovered outside the Wickenden Pub in Providence. According to Rubens, one of his students allegedly invited him for a beer at the watering hole, and, after relieving Rubens of his money, abandoned him on the street. The victim has not been caught because a positive identification could not be made.

When asked who was responsible for the heinous act, Rubens, one of his students allegedly invited him for a beer at the watering hole, and, after relieving Rubens of his money, abandoned him on the street. The victim has not been caught because a positive identification could not be made.

OOPS is looking for new members of the Citizen's Arrest Program. As a CAPper, not only will you be able to perform the duties mentioned above, but you will also be given permission to drive the powerful Taurus owned by OOPS!

If that's not a reason to join, then what is?

Don't be part of the problem, be part of the cause. Become a CAPper, TODAY!

For more information on how you can arrest your friends call OOPS at 232-6677 (BE-An-OOPS)

Teacher Dumping Sweeps the Country

by U.R. Gullible

Bryant College psychology professor Donald Deluga was the latest victim this week of an alarming and horrifying practice that is sweeping college campuses across the country.

Teacher dumping is becoming ever more prevalent among college and university teachers in the United States. It usually occurs when students are unwilling, or unable, to put up with a professor's techno-babble. A group of such students will get together and nominate a "dumper," someone who makes the appearance of cozying up to the professor until he or she gains the teacher's confidence. Then, when no one is looking, the dumper leaves the professor stranded in a remote desolate location.

This is the situation Deluga found himself in early Sunday morning. He was discovered wandering the streets of North Providence wearing a sign indicating his identity as "I.M. Born.

As police escorted him to his home, he NEVER looked back screaming at the top of his lungs, "I don't care what you do! Mr. Happy Face Envelope still likes me!"

Surprisingly, the Deluga incident is not unique. Last semester, finance professor Jack Rubens was discovered outside the Wickenden Pub in Providence. According to Rubens, one of his students allegedly invited him for a beer at the watering hole, and, after relieving Rubens of his money, abandoned him on the street. The victim has not been caught because a positive identification could not be made.

When asked who was responsible for the heinous act, Rubens, one of his students allegedly invited him for a beer at the watering hole, and, after relieving Rubens of his money, abandoned him on the street. The victim has not been caught because a positive identification could not be made.

OOPS is looking for new members of the Citizen's Arrest Program. As a CAPper, not only will you be able to perform the duties mentioned above, but you will also be given permission to drive the powerful Taurus owned by OOPS!

If that's not a reason to join, then what is?

Don't be part of the problem, be part of the cause. Become a CAPper, TODAY!

For more information on how you can arrest your friends call OOPS at 232-6677 (BE-An-OOPS)

Teacher Dumping

Ronald Deluga was the latest victim this week of an alarming and horrifying practice that is sweeping college campuses across the country.

Teacher dumping is becoming ever more prevalent among college and university teachers in the United States. It usually occurs when students are unwilling, or unable, to put up with a professor's techno-babble. A group of such students will get together and nominate a "dumper," someone who makes the appearance of cozying up to the professor until he or she gains the teacher's confidence. Then, when no one is looking, the dumper leaves the professor stranded in a remote desolate location.

This is the situation Deluga found himself in early Sunday morning. He was discovered wandering the streets of North Providence wearing a sign indicating his identity as "I.M. Born.

As police escorted him to his home, he NEVER looked back screaming at the top of his lungs, "I don't care what you do! Mr. Happy Face Envelope still likes me!"

Surprisingly, the Deluga incident is not unique. Last semester, finance professor Jack Rubens was discovered outside the Wickenden Pub in Providence. According to Rubens, one of his students allegedly invited him for a beer at the watering hole, and, after relieving Rubens of his money, abandoned him on the street. The victim has not been caught because a positive identification could not be made.

When asked who was responsible for the heinous act, Rubens, one of his students allegedly invited him for a beer at the watering hole, and, after relieving Rubens of his money, abandoned him on the street. The victim has not been caught because a positive identification could not be made.

OOPS is looking for new members of the Citizen's Arrest Program. As a CAPper, not only will you be able to perform the duties mentioned above, but you will also be given permission to drive the powerful Taurus owned by OOPS!

If that's not a reason to join, then what is?

Don't be part of the problem, be part of the cause. Become a CAPper, TODAY!

For more information on how you can arrest your friends call OOPS at 232-6677 (BE-An-OOPS)

Jimmy to Speak (Continued from page 1)

The one dissenting voice at the press conference announcing Jimmy's address was former Student Senate President James P. Bergeon.

"How can you possibly even consider allowing this cretin to speak at my commencement? This college has gone to hell in a handsetket - there has been no democratic process in any of these horrid decisions, not to mention the complete disregard for Robert's Rules of Order."

King Trueheart ordered Bergeron seized. A search uncovered the King's missing scepter, and Bergeron was banned from the Kingdom of Bryant.
Men's Basketball Swipes NCAA Crown

by Churchill Downs

The Men's Basketball team competed in, and won, the 1992 NCAA Division II post season tournament. Due to a change in the selection process, the NE-10 was given an automatic bid into the tournament. When the other nine teams declined, Bryant wason the road to Springfield. With basically a new team, due to an alleged gambling scandal taking away a few players, coach Ed Reilly was forced to recruit some of the women's team to play for him. Joining the team were Heather Houle, Jennifer Spencer, Kim Ross, and Holly Grinell.

"It seemed logical (to recruit the women) since the women's team always seemed stronger at Bryant," sports information director John Gilbody said. This set up a unique situation, but since there are no specific rules in the NCAA prohibiting women from playing, the selection committee had to let them play.

Some teams balked saying they didn't want to hurt women.

In response Houle said, "A lot of the guys who thought we were delicate are the ones who ended up injured. I sent three people to the doctor, alone." In round one, the Indians faced New Hampshire College defeating them 93-89.

"We came into the game with one goal," Reilly said. "We wanted to become the Cinderella team. So we called upon our Fairy Godmothers!"

The team faced Bridgeport next, looking to avenge a previous loss during the regular season. That is exactly what they did winning 107-101 to capture the New England Regional Title.

"This was a huge emotional win for us, since they are a nationally ranked team and they already beat us soundly during the season," Reilly added. "I think that gave the team the desire to win, which brought them together."

Next up was Central Oklahoma, this was a tough game for Bryant. They were down by 24 with ten minutes left in the game. That was enough for coach Reilly. He called a time out and five people came off the bench to complete the game. Led by freshmen Matt Kuss, who scored 17 points in the final 10:00, the Indians rallied back to win the game 89-82.

"Coach just told us to go out there and play the best we could; that's what I did," Kuss said.

The Indians were now in the semifinals against South Dakota State. This was probably the easiest game for Bryant as they crushed South Dakota State 97-71.

"Our woman-to-man defense was too strong for them," Reilly stated. "We forced 22 turnovers and numerous desperation shots with time running out on the shot clock. This set up the Finals between Bryant and Virginia Union. The game went down to the wire, for it was closest game of the tournament for the Indians. With time running out, Bryant was trailing by two. Scott Meyer brought the ball down court and chucked one up from half court: it hit, all.

"I knew time was running out. I just said, why not?, and took a shot," Meyer said. "I really didn't think I would go in, but it did. What a great feeling!"

ESPN's commentator Dick Vitale said, about Bryant, "Coach Reilly's unique way of substituting five men and women at a time was remarkable. The other teams couldn't handle it. It was showtime, baby. They should have gotten a T.O."

Bryant captured its first NCAA crown and is looking toward next season. "Hopefully this will get some of my recruits who were looking at other colleges to stop looking and settle for Bryant," coach Reilly concluded. "Who knows, I might even start talking to some top female players in the area.

An awards ceremony/casino night will be held in the Gym tomorrow to honor the basketball team.

All are welcome, don't forget your Sports Log!

Senate To Keep All Actions Secret

by Long Winded and Short Fused

With yesterday's late passage of the Senate Official Secrets Resolution (SOSR), all Bryant Student Senate voting results will be kept secret from now on, senate President Rob Fontanella announced early this morning.

"And that means all votes," he said, result disclosure. While a majority of the minority of non-abstaining senators have mandated secrecy, popular student sentiment has called for revealing all results.

"The senate only wants to avoid embarrassing people," one anonymous senator said, "so we said to ourselves, Why extend a great privilege like that only to candidates? Let's extend it to all of us." So

A glimpse of things to come.

The Senate Unidentified Committee on Knowledge Suppression (SUCKS) holds its organizational meeting, complete with Passive Personality Restraint Systems.

SOSR will save our senate's reputation and let us keep more secrets for ourselves.

SOSR includes a new senate voting system in which the secretary will randomly discard one-half of the secret ballots before counting them. The system should "work out fine — there's a 95 percent chance it'll be right at least half the time," according to statistics professor Alan "The Greek" Ollinsky, who is consult-
Men's Basketball Swipes NCAA Crown

by Churchill Downs

The Men's Basketball team competed in, and won, the 1992 NCAA Division II post season tournament. Due to a change in the selection process, the NE-10 was given an automatic bid into the tournament. When the other nine teams declined, Bryant wason the road to Springfield.

With basically a new team, due to an alarming gambling scandal taking away a few players, coach Ed Reilly was forced to recruit some of the women's team to play for him.

Joining the team were Heather Houle, Jennifer Spencer, Kim Ross, and Holly Grinnell.

"It seemed logical (to recruit the women) since the women's team always seemed stronger at Bryant," sports information director John Gilleely said.

This set up a unique situation, but since there are no specific rules in the NCAA prohibiting women from playing, the selection committee had to let them play.

Some teams balked saying they didn't want to hurt women.

In response Houle said, "A lot of the guys who thought we were delicate are the ones who ended up injured. I sent three people to the doctor, alone." In round one, the Indians faced New Hampshire College defeating them 93-89.

"We came into the game with one goal," Reilly said. "We wanted to become the Cinderella team. We called upon our Fairy Godmother!"

The team faced Bridgeport next, looking to avenge a previous loss during the regular season. That is exactly what they did winning 107-101 to capture the New England Regional Title. "This was a huge emotional win for us, since they are a nationally ranked team and they already beat us soundly during the season," Reilly added. "I think that gave the team the desire to win, which brought them together."

Next up was Central Oklahoma; this was a tough game for Bryant. They were down by 24 with ten minutes left in the game. That was enough for coach Reilly. He called a time out and five people came off the bench to complete the game. Led by freshmen Matt Kuss, who scored 17 points in the final 10:00, the Indians rallied back to win the game 89-82.

"Coach just told us to go out there and play the best we could; that's what I did," Kuss said.

The Indians were now in the semi-finals against South Dakota State. This was probably the easiest game for Bryant as they crushed South Dakota State 97-71.

"Our woman-to-man defense was too strong for them," Reilly stated. "We forced 27 turnovers and numerous desperation shots with time running out on the shot clock.

This set-up the Finals between Bryant and Virginia Union. The game went down to the wire, for it was closest game of the tournament for the Indians.

With time running out, Bryant was trailing by two. Scott Meyer brought the ball down court and chucked one up from half court. It hit, all net.

"I knew time was running out I just said, why not?, and took a shot," Meyer said. "I really didn't think it would go in, but it did. What a great feeling!"

ESPN commentator Dick Vitale said, about Bryant, "Coach Reilly's unique way of substituting five men and women at a time was remarkable. The other teams couldn't handle it. It was showtime, baby. They should have gotten a T.O." Bryant captured its first NCAA crown and is looking toward next season.

"Hopefully this will get some of my recruits who were looking at other colleges to stop looking and settle for Bryant," coach Reilly concluded. "Who knows, I might even start talking to some top female players in the area."

An awards ceremony/casino night will be held in the Gym tomorrow to honor the basketball team.

All are welcome, don't forget your Sports Log!

Senate To Keep All Actions Secret

by Long Winded and Short Fused

With yesterday's late passage of the Senate Official Secrets Resolution (SOSR), all Bryant Student Senate voting results will be kept secret from now on, senate President Rob Fontanella announced early this morning.

"And that means all votes," he said, result disclosure. While a majority of the minority of non-abstaining senators have mandated secrecy, popular student sentiment has called for revealing all results.

"The senate only wants to avoid embar-rassing people," one anonymous senator said, "so we said to ourselves, 'Why ex-tend a great privilege like that only to candidates? Let's extend it to all of us.' So..."
BRYCOL Reverts Back to Bryant Control
by William McKinley

The Brycol Student Services Foundation, Inc., a non-profit corporation formed in 1975 to provide a variety of services to the student body, was taken over by the new Bryant Kingdom today.

The creation of the Kingdom in a declaration by former-President William E. Trueheart effectively revoked the corporate charter of Brycol. With the new status of the college and the elimination of the corporation's existence, all legal relationships between the former-college and former-corporation were promptly dissolved and void by newly crowned Prince Wallie Reottig. In a statement from their temporary offices in Lincoln, RI, former-Brycol Chairman Terry Brennan pledged to fight for the corporation's existence in the new fiefdom.

"This is a total outrage and we will return to our rightful place on the Bryant campus," stated Brennan. Current legal complaints from Brycol are being held by the Rhode Island Attorney General's office pending an investigation of the legality of their claims. The legal status of the kingdom's secession from Rhode Island has not yet been determined.

As part of the consolidation of services within the Kingdom, services formerly run by Brycol were placed under the jurisdiction of Charles Merrhew, Baron of the Bryant Center. The formerly-student-run enterprises will be split up under the command of the five current student Lords. The Lords, formerly called student managers, will be responsible for both the operations of the Bryant Center and the newly acquired Brycol properties.

"We'll obviously dump all of the worthless companies we acquired," said Baron Merrhew. "That defunct travel company is history. Their resume and copy services...we've already beat them with images, so we'll simply say the cheap equipment they have for some quick cash."

"But The Informant (the on-campus directory), we'll probably give that to The Archway. They are good with those low-profit projects," he noted.

Merrhew spoke with Bryant's Lack of Business about his other plans for some of the newly acquired property.

- Tupper's
"Tupper's will be a good cash cow for us. Besides, with The Scoop, we've experienced in operating, adequately supplying, and improving efficiency in food service industries such as this."

Merrhew added that the location of Tupper's in the Bryant Center makes it an obvious addition to his niche in the kingdom.

"Simply improving the service and planning for it will make it a boom for us," noted the Baron.

- The Campus Connection
The Campus Connection, also located in the Bryant Center, will be renamed the Bryant Connection. Services offered by the variety-type store will essentially remain the same.

"All of it," Merrhew said, "as long as you have the financial ability to pay a film developer, florist, and video agent, you have a veritable gold mine up there.

- The Country Comfort
The Country Comfort will also come under the control of the Baron of the Bryant Center. Yet Merrhew envisions no major policy changes at the establishment.

"The kingdom has yet to establish a drinking age," Merrhew pointed out. "So until they do, everyone in the Bryant Kingdom will be able to enjoy the social atmosphere at the Comfort."

But Merrhew does not ignore the financial impact this legal implication has.

"With no drinking age and no fire regulations, we can pack as many people in here as possible. And as you remember from economics and accounting, the more people in here, the more sales. The more sales, the more money we have coming in," he reasoned.

"They don't call me 'Make-a-Buck Chuck for nothing," he quipped.

Don't Trust Your Resume to Just Anyone...

Ihava N. Telua

School Address
Box 00129887-Bryant College
Smithfield, RI 02917

Permanent Address
3313 Mockingbird Lane
Spring Lake, Utah 82001

Objective: To get me a job to get me the hell outta here!

EDUCATION: EXPECTED DATE OF GRADUATION: 1/1/99!!
SCHOOL: BRYANT COLLEGE, SMITHFIELD, RI
DEGREE: BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN GAMBLING
GPA: 2.35 to 1 overall, 1.62 MAJOR

Experience:
Office of Public Insanity Intern,
All my years here (and there are many)

- Stuffed Envelopes
- Received paper cuts from envelopes (OUCH!
- Moved papers from one pile to another
- Untangled paper paper clip
- Filled stapler
- Picked hole punches up off floor
- Did nails
- Perfected art of shooting rubber bands across room (.350 shooting percentage)

Up-to-the-minute résumé technology is not restricted to profit-making areas, such as Images, here at Bryant. Let the knowledgable production staff of the Office of Publications design your résumé for you using our top-of-the-line software.

After all, with 94-percent of recent graduates obtaining employment within 6 months of graduation, you don't really need that much help...now do you?

Featuring Low Rates and Reasonable Delivery

Call x6130 - Right by where the tree used to be

1. All production staff members have graduated from CM350, AV Graphics
2. Yeah, Du Pont FSP makes really cute-effective software. What do you expect us to use? Atlas PageMaker™ or QuickXpress™? Who do you think we are? Some big publishing company the McGraw Hill? Those guilty ploys are just too effecitive, too inexpensive, and too easy to use for our staff.
3. Percentage includes employees of all major fast food chains who work for at least minimum wage and a minimum of 6 hours a week.
4. Admit it, what chance do you have at getting a job with Bryant's tarnished reputation and this economy? That's right, the same as a snowball's chance in hell.
5. Rates are structured to help pay for this "state of the art" technology. We admit these rates "may" seem steep since September and haven't shown a single thing for them. But this same postcard on campus that hit us for years and year are effectiveness for what it took this long to find a use for. At least we finally found a use for them.
6. Delivery guaranteed within two weeks, unless we just can't find the time to do it. Then you'll get your round whenever we happen to get around to it, but it's every time we can.
7. At least we don't have to send out a "professionally" typed envelope.
8. "They don't call me 'Make-a-Buck Chuck for nothing," he quipped.
WPRI Takes “Sweeps Week” Battle
URI President Edging Out Trueheart is the Key

by D.H. Zenith

The three Rhode Island television stations pitted two local college presidents against each other as they battled it out to win the prized “sweeps week” war.

In a tight battle, WPRI-TV Channel 12 edged out WJAR-TV Channel 10 for the highest ratings of the annual February ratings competition. WJAR-TV Channel 6 placed third.

“arthritis” was definitely a big factor in our victory over WJAR,” noted WPRI executive news editor and evening anchor Walter Cryan. “If those two had any more airtime as a result of this gambling fiasco, we certainly would have been forced to expand our evening news, featuring myself and Karin Adams, well past a mere half-hour.”

“Trueheart, and Carothers made quite a newsworthy impact on the daily revelations about the case,” remarked Adams.

“A credit to both of their institutions that [the two presidents] satisfied the media as thoroughly as they did.”

“Youth, but what did we get out of it...not much, just a lousy interview with someone from The Archway. And they really didn’t provide us with anything new,” quipped WJAR-TV reporter Dave Laymen. “Not getting Trueheart on camera really cost us.”

The news stories surrounding the arrest of Bryant senior Matthew Zimmerman as the alleged mastermind of a large-scale gambling operation broke right in the middle of the annual sweeps week.

“At first he wasn’t obligated to face the press when [the gambling allegations] all cropped out. But after Carothers started stealing the spotlight, Trueheart opened right up.”

Yet each leader had his own favorite sweep. Carothers was seen 90 percent of the time on WPRI-TV. Trueheart was seen 80 percent of the time on WJAR-TV.

“For the fact that URI is a public institution requires that I face the press in times of adversity,” said Carothers in an interview last week with Bob Carothers and myself,” Trueheart continued. “It just doesn’t exist. I am not trying to gain the spotlight or have myself seen more often. I am just trying to give this institution the most tangible leader, so that we can work together to make Bryant a richer kingdom.”

The evening press conferences from Smithfield and Kingston have diminished in recent weeks as the gambling probe moves off of the front pages.

However, as the state police and internal college investigations continue, this couch potato would not be surprised if the battle for network newsmanship continues once the investigations conclude.
Presidential Candidate Strikes Bargain With Bryant

by Flick-my-Bic

In an attempt to boost declining college revenues, Bryant announced today the establishment of a new "800" donation line, which will allow supporters of business education throughout the nation to call in and pledge funds to Bryant. The effort is believed to be linked to the presidential campaign of former California governor Jerry Brown.

Sporadic unconfirmed reports coming into BioB from across the nation indicate that Bryant and Brown struck an agreement last week which allows the college to share the candidate's toll-free donation number on a time available basis. High level Brown officials have indicated "since Mr. Brown has reached the point where he no longer needs to rely on the '800' number for funds, we feel the line should be available on most evenings."

In return for the use of the phone number, the college is reported to have agreed to allow Brown and his supporters to have access to the college's ancient satellite dish to make contact with the Moonbeam Foundation easier. The extraterrestrial-satellite dish link was exposed in a report last year in The Jacobs Drive Journal, which also linked the gazebo at the center of the new townhouse village to attempts at extraterrestrial contact.

College officials would not comment on the Bryant-Brown connection, but did confirm that governor Brown and President William E. Trueheart met during Brown's recent campaign stop in the state.

According to high level Brown officials, Trueheart and Brown performed the Vulcan mind meld in an attempt to reconcile Brown's tax plan with Bryant's tuition increase schedule.

Bryant Director of Public Information William Rupp said, "It is important to remember that any agreement between the college and Mr. Brown will be a positive one which will bring in hundreds of thousands of dollars for the college - money which will, of course, be put into the replacement and replenishment fund of the college; we are a non-profit institution, after all."

When questioned about the Brown-Trueheart mind meld, Rupp responded "I just want to know if he [Brown] can teach me that nerve pinch thingy."

It is still unclear how much money the college expects to bring in from the donation line, but initial projections made by Finance professor Jack Rubens show the number "highly unlikely to provide any significant increase in college revenues."

Members of the Bryant Board of Directors called a press conference yesterday to express concern that the phone number is a business and as such should be run through their organization.

"We're the only company allowed to be on-campus. We are supposed to get all of the contracts. Our charter specifically says that we are to have a monopoly on all on-campus business, and we're going to sue. So there!" said Garrett Goldstein, V.P. of Food.

"We don't care how much money it won't make," added Alan Voll.

"We have proven hundreds of times in the past that we know how to not make money - we're the best there is at it."

In a statement released by the college, F.J. Talley, Dean of Student Life, called the Bryant outburst "childish and counter-productive. If it wasn't for the Country Comfort, Brycol would be dead in the water - you think Toppers is making money? There's less grease in John Travolta's hair than there is on their pizza!"

Student Senate president, freshman Rob Fontanella, expressed concern at Talley's statement. "Well, I know I don't have a lot of leadership experience in college, but my experiences in high school have helped me to come to the conclusion that the statement was unfair. Since we are the liaison with the administration, I am appointing a senate committee to investigate the fairness of his statement, and I expect to have a report on my presidential desk, right next to my presidential gavel and all those other presidential goodies by November."

Lines of Defense for the Bryant Kingdom

Two members of the King's artillery squad are issued their training weapons

The first line of defense: the most control station, manned by a Public Safety Knight

QUICKLY

...Student organization treasurers will be honored with a ceremony to be held in the newly constructed Zim's Casino City. The ceremony will recognize their ability in new and creative ways of accounting...

...Kingdom radio station, WJMF, has received the support of media mogul Merv Griffin in their fight against WLNE channel 6. Griffin has agreed to purchase WLNE and sell off all assets with the exception of broadcasting equipment which will be donated to WJMF. The equipment will allow WJMF the signal strength to become a national radio network...

...In response to the furor created during the 1991 World Series about the use of native Indian names as team mascots, King Trueheart has announced the kingdom's mascot will no longer be the Indians. It will be replaced by the Canadian Goose. Due to the dense population of geese on campus finding one to appear at sporting events will not be difficult...

...With the change in status from mere annoyances to mascots, the Bryant Glee will now be residing at the newly created Goose Motel. Halls 6 and 8 will be converted to goose housing complete with straw floors. The pit of each hall will be flooded and stocked with fish and plant life...

...In an effort to make the kingdom more energy efficient Bryant has installed motion detection light sensors in the bathroom of the state. This is the second part of a three part plan to save energy by keeping people out of the bathrooms. The first step was a policy of locking the bathrooms after dusk. BioB has learned through unnamed sources in the royal family that the next step will be to install pay toilets...

...Dr. Burton Fishman won the annual Bus Stop competition last Friday in Providence. He boogied with the best, but was no competition for Paula Abdul, The Rockettes, and Mikhail Barshakov. Doc left them all in the dust and danced home the Bus Stop Champion...

...Professor Ronald Deluga has entered this year's Boston Marathon. If he does well, he plans on running in the Summer Olympics in Barcelona...

...Danny Sheridan will be on campus next Wednesday to host a seminar entitled "Odds Are." This focus of the seminar will be on how to play your card right in today's job market. This event will be sponsored by Career Services...
By the way...

Lorraine Lallier, the switchboard operator, suffered a hang nail putting on her pantyhose last Friday. Lorraine is in the process of filing for worker's compensation for her injury. A law suit against the college is pending because she feels it is the college's fault; if she had been able to Dress Down even though the students were here, she would not have been wearing those designer pantyhose.

Registrar Tim Castwright tells me that his prized dog, Tarski, has received a gold medal in the Canine Spring Olympics for free style skateboarding. He also expressed his thanks for the get-well wishes that were sent to him while he recuperated from a broken ankle during the skate boarding training. Glad you're back on your feet, Randy! And congratulations to Tarski!

Due to its recent popularity, Point Shaving has become an Olympic event. The I.O.C. yesterday announced it will be a demonstration sport this year and will become a full medal sport in 1996.

The game is much like basketball. It has the same rules, with one exception. The winning team must score between 63-91 points while the loser has to score 70-76. All countries have showed interest in participating in this event which could replace Track & Field as the most watched Summer Olympic Event.

Junior David "Magic Man" Kaplan is missing from campus. Kaplan was last seen giving a magic show for the Bryant Trustees when he lied a new trick using "Magic's Box."

Kaplan went into the box, claiming he could make himself disappear and reappear. It is reported he then entered the box, closed the curtain, and murmured a few magic words that sounded like "Butt," and hasn't been seen or heard from since.

New Course Offering Brings Personality to Campus

by U.R. Guibude

As part of a continuing series of new course offerings, Bryant will offer a new Gambling Skills course starting during the fall semester 1992. According to a press release about the new course, designated with the course number IOU 54K, Gambling Skills will "provide students with an open, dynamic environment with many first hand opportunities to practice newly acquired gambling skills."

Students will be graded in three areas: proficiency at card games, number of slot machine pulls made in a single night, and knowledge and understanding of the underworld.

The course, at least initially, will be taught by former baseball great Pete "Charlie Hustle" Rose. Rose, who was imprisoned at a federal prison for tax evasion, and suspended from baseball allegations of gambling, will make the commute from Cincinnati, where he resides, to Bryant twice a week.

Due to activity limitations imposed on Rose due to his parole, he will be required to wear an electronic "dog tag" when in the Kingdom of Bryant. The dog tag will insure he remains outside of Zim's Casino City, being constructed adjacent to the Bryant campus on land originally slated for a new federal detention center.

Ironically, had the detention center proposal gone through, Rose would not have been required to wear the tag and would, in fact, have been allowed to reside at the detention center during his tenure in the Kingdom.

In the new kingdom hierarchy, Rose will take the title Jack of Clubs. In addition to his responsibilities teaching IOU 54K, Rose will also preside over seasonal non credit seminars concerning taxes. The first, titled "Tax Evasion and Me: How to beat the Fed and Get Away Clean" will take place early next semester.

Rose is also a candidate to replace Bill Phillips as Bryant's director of counseling services due to his significant experience in illegal gambling. Phillips, who left Bryant to accept the position of head basketball coach at UNLV, was nationally renowned as a gambling expert.

The new course, according to Kingdom officials, will serve as the basis for a new concentration in "creative finance." Beginning in 1994, entering freshmen will be able to declare themselves a Creative Finance major.

Other required courses for the new major include the Fundamentals of Financial Management, Tax Evasion 101, Foundations of Underworld Management, Count Your Fingers, and Toes Never Trust Other Gamblers, and Finding a Job in the Mob.

Students in the Creative Finance major will be required to complete a semester's internship stacking the decks and loading the dice at Zim's Casino City.

Those who are not blinded by mobs of angry gamblers will be able to advance in the major and serve an internship in the office above the gambling floor, where they will be able to laugh at the thoughts of angry gamblers, they will come away missing vital body parts.

King William E. Trueheart heralded Rose's addition to the kingdom as a "significant event in the short history of our sovereign state. I look forward to a successful business partnership with him, and I hope he can help me find a way to avoid paying taxes."

Trueheart, still new to the job of King, was apparently unaware that, as King, he can declare himself exempt from paying taxes.

In a telephone interview last night, Rose expressed a great deal of excitement about coming to Bryant.

However, he also raised concerns that, should he fall into the bad favor of the royal family, he could be extradited back to the United States for parking illegally.

Trueheart has already made it clear that the Knights of the Public Safety Office will have reign to write out tickets for anything they see fit.

George Coronado, the Baron of Public Safety, was not available to comment on the situation.

Philips to Coach at UNLV

by Churchill Downs

Gambling expert Bill Phillips of the Counseling staff announced earlier today that he is leaving Bryant at the end of the year to become the head basketball coach at UNLV.

UNLV announced at a press conference that Phillips has signed a five year $490,000 contract with $15,000 bonus for winning the divisional title, and $30,000 if they are ever eligible for post season play again.

Phillips was one of the candidates to visit Las Vegas in the wake of the recruiting scandal, which has forced Jerry Tarkanian to resign at the end of the basketball season.

"I got tired of sitting on the bench without anything to do," Phillips stated. "I wanted to get back on the court where I belong. When the chance to coach came up, I jumped at it."

Sources from Caesar's Palace, The Las Vegas Showboat, and the Golden Nugget were contacted and have confirmed they have all offered Phillips contracts to sponsor their Casinos.

A Las Vegas Showboat spokesman stated, "We needed a good man who knew a lot about gambling."

When Tarkanian was interviewed on the phone, and stated "Bill who? From where? How is he going to coach here if he couldn't handle Division II?"

Other people who interviewed for the job also considered the state coach job, including Valvano, URI's Al Skinner, and Golden State Warrior coach Cotten Fitzsimmons.

"Fitzsimmons is too arrogant, Skinner would feel like a golden boy, and Valvano can't win a championship to save his life. That's how Phillips was selected," according to UNLV president Robert Maxon. "Reactions about Phillips leaving were mixed.

King William E. Trueheart said, "I was sad to see Bill go. He always did a good job and of course I never had any problem with him."

Phillips has already started recruiting for the Showboat and was scheduled to visit Cal's Hill, a senior from Pleasantville, New York. "Hi is a power player who should help us."

Candidates mentioned as possible replacements for the Gambling Director are Yankee principal owner George Steinbrenner, who is expected to sell his team to Paramount, and ex-presidential candidate Paul Tsongas, "I have to be in charge of something."

"We'll be Pete Rose who has already expressed interest in coming to Bryant to teach."