Bryant College couples balance work and marriage

By Megan Regimbald
Staff Writer

Maybe you noticed that some faculty, staff, and administration share last names. And we're not talking about the Smiths and the Johnsons in this world, where there were about 20 people with those last names in your high school and they weren't related (Unless you were from my high school and then they probably were). But here at Bryant College, some faculty, staff, and administration with certain similarities are not just coincidences, some are actually married. To maintain Valentine's Day, the couples at Bryant get to share their love.

If you've ever had the pleasure of landing a personal item, say keys or an ID card, then you've probably met one half of the wonderful couple known as the Coronados. George and Carol Coronado have been married for 38 years. They have three children: Angela, Shelly, and George Jr. (Apparently, George has the better memory, he's also got a personal item in his office and Carol wasn't there yet). George asked me to help him play a little trick on his wife. I was supposed to ask random questions, and he was to answer in a way that would shock Carol. George might call George a bit crazy because he loves the and Carol will be watching from the window.

During Friday's snowstorm George thoroughly enjoyed himself. But Carol hates the cold. She'll avoid walking outside. The legend at Bryant College is if you see Carol walk to the inner circle during the winter, then spring must be right around the corner because usually she grills dropped off.

 Carol and George were very excited to do the interview. They don't usually

They met at the University of Arkansas where she was working and he was studying for his doctorate at The Department of Public Safety (DPS). And while they both feel that moving to New England was a good move, it has a healthier atmosphere and is the most beautiful, serene campus they've worked on. There was also better education for their kids.

George and Carol love working together, and they get to ride to work together everyday and they understand what each other do on campus which helps them get to do what they need to be successful. They can converse with each other and understand why.

On Saturday's they clean, then later have pizzas and watch a movie on the couch. But this Saturday, Carol will be up to his usual antics asking George why she only dines out when they meet their clients. They are each other's best friend and still act the same way for each other. Their kids are already planning on how to make it difficult when they meet their clients. And George wants everyone to know that he considers himself extra lucky because he absolutely married

Forum discusses the Notion of Bryant University as a College

By Ebenezer Mills-Robinson & Brian Levin
Staff Editors

President Ronald Machulsky has improved an entire month of forums to discuss with faculty and students the consideration of a change in the name of our educational community. The actual change will not affect the school's identity as Bryant but only its institutional designation from college to university. Historically, the only difference between the college and the university is the fact that a college did not have a graduate program. The change in name has been met with mixed reactions, with some students saying that it would be a smooth transition, while others criticize the change as being unnecessary.

Machulsky explained the changes took two reasons. Firstly, in the international community, the word "college" conveys a community college or a high school. This negative connotation has not helped Bryant's reputation and as a result, it has lost a fair number of international students which it otherwise could have attracted. Secondly, the change would help Bryant build alliances with the international, educational community.

When asked if the language barrier concerning the word, "college" precluded Bryant from making such contacts, Machulsky said simply, "I believe it does." When told about how concerned students were about the effect such a possible change might make, Machulsky responded that the school would retain its personal touch and still focus on its niche in business.

According to Machulsky, he anticipated no changes in the size of the school or the programs, or customary tuition increases. The only change being considered is the name and only if students and faculty are open to the idea. He mentioned Salve Regina, Johnson and Wales and Quinnipiac as several colleges which are now universities.

When asked why students would rather see Bryant as a liberal arts college with a major like communications, Machulsky said that Bryant as a university would retain its business core requirements meaning that students would be able to major in communications but have a business background. The college, which just recently got re-accredited by AACSB International, will not have to go through the process again as a result of the name change, but just have to submit new documentation.

Machulsky believed that Bryant would give up too much to affiliate with another prestigious university in its business school. He would however want to make students aware that there are just discussions and not a finality.

Full implementation of the change would have to come as a result of a vote from the Board of Trustees. After the Trustees vote, the slide show explaining the change and the legal process as a "Walk in the Secretariat of State office to amend articles of Incorporation Charter," showing the ease of such a change.

The last forum scheduled so far is on Feb 11th at noon in Salammany.

Council Meets to Tackle Diversity Issues at Bryant

By Ramon Parenti
Staff Writer

In this fast-paced world of diversity and change, feelings of discontent occur more frequently than positive emotions. It does not help being a minority to try to keep the problem in the background, even though the majority doesn't care. Diversity is an issue that we have to confront every day. It is not a matter of "we" versus "they," but a matter of understanding each other. Diversity is a term that has been used in this world for many years, and it is a term that needs to be understood. It is a term that needs to be used in this world. Diversity is the key to success and it is a term that is used in this world.

In this fast-paced world of diversity and change, feelings of discontent occur more frequently than positive emotions. It does not help being a minority to try to keep the problem in the background, even though the majority doesn't care. Diversity is an issue that we have to confront every day. It is not a matter of "we" versus "they," but a matter of understanding each other. Diversity is a term that has been used in this world for many years, and it is a term that needs to be understood. It is a term that needs to be used in this world. Diversity is the key to success and it is a term that is used in this world.

In this fast-paced world of diversity and change, feelings of discontent occur more frequently than positive emotions. It does not help being a minority to try to keep the problem in the background, even though the majority doesn't care. Diversity is an issue that we have to confront every day. It is not a matter of "we" versus "they," but a matter of understanding each other. Diversity is a term that has been used in this world for many years, and it is a term that needs to be understood. It is a term that needs to be used in this world. Diversity is the key to success and it is a term that is used in this world.

In this fast-paced world of diversity and change, feelings of discontent occur more frequently than positive emotions. It does not help being a minority to try to keep the problem in the background, even though the majority doesn't care. Diversity is an issue that we have to confront every day. It is not a matter of "we" versus "they," but a matter of understanding each other. Diversity is a term that has been used in this world for many years, and it is a term that needs to be understood. It is a term that needs to be used in this world. Diversity is the key to success and it is a term that is used in this world.

In this fast-paced world of diversity and change, feelings of discontent occur more frequently than positive emotions. It does not help being a minority to try to keep the problem in the background, even though the majority doesn't care. Diversity is an issue that we have to confront every day. It is not a matter of "we" versus "they," but a matter of understanding each other. Diversity is a term that has been used in this world for many years, and it is a term that needs to be understood. It is a term that needs to be used in this world. Diversity is the key to success and it is a term that is used in this world.
White House says tax cuts will result in job growth this year

By Kim Merlissig
Knight-Ridder Newspapers

President Bush's economic advisors predicted Monday that the U.S. economy would add 2.6 million jobs this year in an election-year boost for the incumbent president.

In the annual Economic Report of the President, the president's council of economic advisors gave credit to Bush's 2003 tax cut, saying it "has propelled the economy forward into a strong recovery.

The upbeat forecast, should it be realized, could add credence to the growing chorus of Democratic presidential candidates that Bush has mismanaged the economy. On Monday the candidates zipped in on the 2.2 million jobs that have been lost since Bush took office three years ago.

"I don't think we need a new report on jobs," said John Kerry, the Democratic nominee, and a rival in Keene, N.H. "I think we need a new report on how our economy is going to create jobs in America.

Private sector economists generally believe the growth will pick up this year, but they differ on when and by how much. The pace of a jobs recovery could determine whether voters see a broad sense of economic well-being on Election Day in November.

Some economists say that job growth may not prove strong enough to keep the recovery going.

The economy has added jobs for five straight months, for a tepid average pace of 73,000 new jobs a month. Job growth picked up to 122,000 in December, but it was still short of the 150,000 needed each month to keep pace with the growth of the labor force.

One reason for the slow growth of jobs is the rapid increase in productivity, the amount of output a worker produces per hour that allows companies to produce more with fewer workers.

As a consequence, the economy must grow faster than previous years to create the 2.6 million jobs, the report said.

The unemployment rate has dropped from 6.3 percent in June to 5.6 percent last month, an improvement that economist David Mankiw called "a really quite significant" change.

A future job growth rate is based on a different survey than the one that measures unemployment.

The unemployment survey paints a more positive picture of the economy, the report said.

Pick flowers from the heart for Valentine's Day

By Linda Shrieve and Darryl Owens
The Orlando Sentinel (KRT)

Roses are red,

Violets are blue.

What does this Roses are the most popular flower on Valentine's Day. Red roses can convey feelings of deep affection, while white and yellow roses generally signify friendship and appreciation.

The price of cut roses often depends around Valentine's Day if your budget can't handle a dozen long-stem roses, or if you don't want to proclaim 'I love you,' don't despair. There are many other types of flowers that can help you convey your Valentine's Day message.

If you're not opting for roses, you can still say it with flowers. Here are some suggestions from the California Cut Flower Commission.

Long workout, chocolate gives similar mental lift

By Linda Liddell
The Orange County Register (KRT)

What do chocolate and an hour of a vigorous workout have in common? Feel-good vibes.

If you're feeling energetic, euphoric or happy, the exercise might be a perfectly logical physiological answer. The buzz from exercise may be coming from chemical compounds called endorphins, said Daniel Piomelli, professor of pharmacology at the University of California, Irvine.

Piomelli and colleagues found that people who exercise vigorously for about an hour had high levels of these endorphins.

Back in 1996, Piomelli found these endorphins in chocolate, which may explain why some of us feel good after munching on a bar of Godiva dark chocolate, calories not included.

Piomelli presented with colleagues at Georgia Institute of Technology for a study published last year in the journal Nature. They recruited 24 male college students who regularly exercised and were put into three groups.

Eight ran on a treadmill, eight rode a stationary bicycle, and eight sat. Those in the exercise groups worked out at 70 percent of their maximum capacity. After one hour of exercise, including warm-up and cool-down, researchers took blood samples. They found that those who exercised had levels of endorphins 30 percent higher than those who sat.

For chocolate and exercise, each has a place in a fit life. I'll take several slices of Dave Promises followed by an hour hike up the hills, please.

President Bush's economic advisors predicted increase in job growth.

saying it added 175,000 jobs a month over the past five months.

The president's economic report, in contrast to the discrepancy between the two surveys, which Mankiw called "puzzling," put the unemployment rate up to 5.6 percent, a Merrill Lynch analysis said.

The rosy picture of the economy they're painting is out of step with what people are experiencing," said Lawrence Mishel, president of the liberal-

Health concerns feed changes in fast-food menus

By Vinessa J. Schodowski
Chicago Tribune (KRT)

Nancy Woo and her best friend, Amy Chan, pondered the lunchtime menu choices at a local Subway sandwich shop, debating the healthy merits of a turkey-and-veggie wrap versus the low of a meatball sub.

"I want the meatballs, obviously," declared year-old Woo.

"Yeah, but the wrap has like just 200 calories," countered Chan, also 16. "That way we can eat our bag of chips.

The girls chose the wrap, an appealing nod to growing awareness of obesity epidemics as fast-food restaurants feel the pinch of their healthier alternatives.

Subway, which has more stores than McDonald's, has heavily marketed its low-fat and low-calorie fare.

Burger King joined the low-cal trend this month by unveiling new business Whopper hamburgers, served in whole bread bowls and eaten with a knife and fork. And McDonald's, in the wake of the Oak, Bros. 18, has been more aggressive in marketing its salads and this month began pushing calorie, carbohydrate and fat information on its products at its restaurants in New York.

We live in a toxic food environment," said Marilyn Farmerston, director of the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center's Weight Management Center. "People are not going to go to a fast-food restaurant to eat healthy food.

As the federal team overseeing the redesign of the food pyramid considers a radically different approach that aims to compete with the Atkins and South Beach diet plans, fast-food chains again are introducing healthier menu items such as salads, fruit and sandwiches with lower fat content.

Ken Barnan, corporate vice president for McDonald's, said the chain has an army of healthier options in restaurants around the world, including apple slices, more salads and juice. He said McDonald's has been selling Big Macs without fries for years.

Fast Food chain offer healthier menus.

The Subway chain's somewhat healthier menu is seen as part of the reason for its rapid growth, spurred by a national advertising campaign featuring Jared Fogle, now 24, who lost 245 pounds in one year when he was a college student in Indiana, helped by exercise and eating the same low-cholesterol Subway sandwiches every day.

While the introduction of healthier fare may offer some people alternatives, many said it was unlikely to change the way Americans eat in any substantial way. "One thing we know about consumer perceptions is that they are hard, if not impossible, to change," said Christine Moorman, a professor of marketing at Duke University.

"Consumer are skeptical of wholesale changes in their belief structure, especially if the changes are seen as being too cynical," he didn't think it was new menus) will affect people's perceptions."
Bryant Couples cont’d

the woman he loves and he knows that everyone is not that lucky.

Someone who would consider himself just as luckily wedded is Tom Garlays, the asnistant coach of the University
Volleyball team. He’s married to Theresa, the head coach of the University Volleyball team.

They were married 15 years and consider the 13 or so girls on the volleyball team to be their own children. They also have a Beagle named Bonomo.
They met at a summer job in Florida. Tom was on the job, and it wasn’t unusual for the coworkers to go out for a bit of a lift after work. There he was, part of the court police. Theresa was the coach’s secretary. They became a volunteer assistant coach because they needed the help they were working together since 1993. And they say it’s easy. They can’t laundry and work with play book and work with work and vice versa. They unleash the winter and the vasting, but they don’t get away from work either. They eat lunch together everyday; they make sure of it, even, with quick snacks kept in the drawers of their office, because they don’t get to eat together

Megan Regbott

Although they dressed identically for their interview, George removed his red sweater for their picture so they wouldn’t match.

Bryant Students Refuse to Put up with Rubbish

An awards ceremony was held in the HSU Room on November 14, 2007 in honor of five local volunteers who carried out this past year.

Pictured here from left to right: Margaret McGahee, State
Chairman; Theresa McKeown,
Assistant Director of the State Department of the Environmental Management;
John Tarsell, Recycling Program
Manager of the Rhode Island
Department of Public Safety Log

LARGENY

A student came into the DPS office to report that his interpersonal phone was taken during the Super bowl from the residence halls. The call was returned.

ACCIDENT

Motor vehicle accident in the parking lot.

EMT CALL

Student fell in the bathroom.

ACCIDENT

Motor Vehicle Accident

Delivery truck hit fire hydrant at entrance of rear circle.

EMT CALL

Student claims his vehicle was hit while parked in the two residence halls.

EMT CALL

A student was requesting assistance by EMS in the residence halls.

EMT CALL

A student requested assistance from EMS in the residence halls.

EMT CALL

A student stated that something taken from their room.

VANDALISM

A student reports a broken windshield outside hall 1

VANDALISM

A student reports damage to a vehicle parked on the strip.
Fire Safety Coordinator encourages students to react quickly

By Peter McMichael
Fire Safety Coordinator

Anyone who was in the Unistructure on January 29 knows about the fire alarm at their dorm in the afternoon. The fire alarm was caused by students smoking in the main doors leading to the amphitheater, directly under a smoke detector.

A serious problem occurred during the evacuation of the building that could have led to serious injury. While investigating the cause of the alarm, Department of Public Safety (DPS) officers encountered several hundred students that had gathered in the Rotunda.

Apparently, due to the cold weather, the majority of students were not leaving the building. Those that did leave the building traveled just a few feet before stopping, making nearly impossible for others behind them in the building to leave.

DPS officers that attempted to keep students from moving away from the Rotunda realized that several students were either ignored or verbally assaulted by a few uncoun-

The Archway

By Toby Simon
Staff Columnist

Simon Says: “Love Carefully”

Sex is perfect naturally but not naturally perfect. That’s why churches and parents are afraid of it. It’s a low but it may be the most difficult for you— today’s college student. This doesn’t happen to everyone. Some students are more prone to having sexual problems than others. But you may sex alone or with others; you may be acting under the influence of alcohol, experimental with new sexual feelings, or focusing on a partner. Although many adults may think that the sexual revolution is over, it’s not, and it’s not going to be. In fact, according to researchers at Trinity University, students today are engaging in the same sexual behaviors that students engaged in during the 1970s.

After nearly twenty years of talking about college students about sex, the most frequently mentioned issues are still: virginity, pregnancy, contraceptive, non-consensual sexual encounters, self-esteem, and sexual functioning. Sex is still the number one issue students are talking about, even with private conversations with their friends, they still carry with them a good deal of baggage, packed with their desires, anxieties, and self-consciousness.

And the bottom line is, that you should choose to be sexually active, you must protect yourself and love carefully. One in 500 college students has HIV disease. Over 20% of the living young for a transmitted infection, and these can be prevented. Simply put, because you want to keep you, don’t leave home without a condom, and if you don’t have a condom, you don’t have sex. Just make sure you have a condom. It’s probably not the best advice, but it’s not the best advice.

In addition so wanting our grudges to be resolved quickly, we should also hope that they are not resolved quickly. Bryan has already taken steps towards condoning lie in making condoms available in numerous locations on campus. Many programs we offer at Bryan build on personal values and active decisions about health and the future consequences of our current behaviors. And we must respect each person’s right to make decisions where they are ready to be sexually active.

The importance of sexual communications is stressed enough. Sometimes the skills needed to successfully talk about sex don’t exist. Friends and lovers must be taught to talk about sex naturally to make it more common to most people. My hope is that you, students at Bryan, will be more comfortable with your sexuality than you are now. Bryan is a small, close-knit community that will hopefully all contribute to responsible sexual behavior for Bryan students.

Welcome back class. In light of Valentine’s Week, I would like to share with you a song lyric by another up-and-coming provocative with a beat: your parents. It’s called "We Came Here for the Love of God" by Corona (from the album Resurrection). This is love about Hip-Hop.

I am a girl, when I was young, my name was Lynda but at 28, she had to much said. She was just a girl, she was just a girl, she was just a girl, she was just a girl, she was just a girl, she was just a girl, she was just a girl, she was just a girl.

"We Came Here for the Love of God" by Corona (from the album Resurrection). This is love about Hip-Hop.
Celebrating the victorious season of Bryant's Ice Hockey Team

By Shannon Nunez
Staff Writer

Bryant College's hockey team is bringing in a large number of fans. These spectators come and support the team at all costs. The crowd brings motivation and inspiration for the players to keep their opposing teams in check.

Trevor Henry said, "It was great to see such a turnout in support of Bryant hockey. The team deserves and earned the respect of the fans." In a recent game, the Bryant hockey team went into overtime. During overtime play, the fans cheered and showed great enthusiasm to support the players. This active celebration helped the team on its way to victory.

The previous weekend the Bryant hockey team played two important games. On February 6th, the team had a tough loss at home to Bridgewater State with a 1-0 victory. These two games were intense and competitive battles. The Bryant hockey team has played with the same great enthusiasm all season. Their passion for hockey has brought in a record-breaking number of spectators at each game.

Spectator Davita Ford said, "The team showed great teamwork, which provides the fans with exciting and skill-filled games."

A great sport of all sports is President Macdade. He was present at the Bryant College hockey game on January 20. President Macdade heard of the hockey team's success and came and supported the team for the entire game. President Macdade said, "I particularly enjoyed the competitive nature of our team and their winning spirit. It is not just coincidental that our team is undefeated in our league and won in overtime against a very aggressive opponent. Friday night, Bryant's team is talented and they play with heart and team work. I encourage more fans of hockey to cheer on our team at our next home game."

The accomplishment of Bryant hockey does not just come from the fans. It particularly comes from such a spectacular team. This recent Bryant win was considered to be the most victorious hockey game in the history of the club.

Coach Brautman said, "Since my arrival to Bryant, hockey is a program, I have watched the team progress and overcome new challenges. These players are the possible best successful Bryant has seen."

The team has a record of 17-3-1. Bryant Hockey as of now is undefeated in their league. They will be the first hockey team at Bryant to possibly become undefeated in league play.

The Bryant College hockey team is well suited. They have a consistency in team effort and in winning games. The team's success has not come from great star players. There have been 10 different players who have scored the winning goal. This hockey team unites as one to overcome their opponents. Bryant Hockey relies on this team unity. In some instances, the fourth line has played a significant role for the Bryant hockey team. Coach Brautman said, "The team would agree we might have lost some games without the fourth line. They have been a big help in shutting out other teams."

This season the team will have competed in 20 games for their regular season schedule and continue on to playoffs. The last two regular season games are this weekend. Friday, February 13th is the last regular season home game. The game begins at 8:00pm. It is also Senior Night where the team honors their senior contributions throughout their years at Bryant.

The NECHA Quarterfinals begin Monday, the 16th. This is the last home game and it starts at 8:00pm. The seniors will be on the 21st and the finals on the 22nd.

Captain Brian Gray said, "We are looking to win our league playoffs for the third consecutive time."

The Bryant hockey team needs all the support and enthusiasm from local fans because these players are on the verge of qualifying for nationals. They are in fifth place and need to win the rest of their games to continue moving forward.

Bryant Basketball Hunting for 1st Championship Ever

By Ed Brady
Assistant Sports Editor

Slam dunks, hitting the three, games to the wire, and one stop at the line are displayed at Bryant College. There is not a better time to describe this year's men's basketball team. The team is in first place in the Northeast-10 with a conference record of 13-5. This year's team is quite an improvement from last season. The team only finished four games over .500. This is the team's first run in the NE-10 in the history of the program.

Mike Coliek, an avid basketball enthusiast said, "Every player on the team plays an important role and contributes in their own way."

There are many players that are key contributors to the Bulldogs' success. Transfer player Ronald Augustin from Providence College believes a lot of the Bulldogs success is due to "playing on an unselfish team with a great bunch of guys who share the ball well."

Junior center Mike Williams is the conference leader in blocked shots. He has 203 blocked shots this season.

Junior center Mike Williams is the conference leader in blocked shots. He has 203 blocked shots this season.

Chris Burns dribbles his way to the basket during a game that has lead the team to victory this season.

Jason Nickerson is a transfer student from the University of Rhode Island. He was a star at local Hendricken

High school in Warwick, Rhode Island. His presence on the court is very welcome when he comes off the bench. He isn't the only player the other team wants to foul. He generally fills in either forward or guard position.

Jason Noel is just a good guy on and off the floor. He contributes with points, blocks, assists, and steals. County Ewe and Cullen McElroy always seem to get the ball off the zone. They are off the bench. John Williams, who has only played in eight games this year, averages the third highest points per game on the team.

Basically, this team would not be where it is if every player didn't do what they had to do. They have great unity which is one of the keys to their successful season.

The motto of the PGP is "These guys are good," is very fitting for our college men's basketball team. They have been playing good enough to place first in place in the Northeast-10 and more importantly, have created a school spirit that sometimes can be lacking in presence.

The excitement created at these games is actually drawing some of the Bryant students to watch the team play. Last year, they got ousted from the Northeast-10 Tournament in the first round by Franklin Pierce. February 18th, 10th at 1:00pm the Bulldogs take on Franklin Pierce. The Black and Gold Headquarters during pre-game and halftime of the game.
Sports

Women's Spring Sports Look Hopeful: Softball, Lacrosse, Tennis, Golf, & Track and Field

By Meghan Lovell
Sports Editor

Pretty soon the warm weather will be here. With this weather comes spring sports. For the women athletes of the spring season, this means the difficult lifting sessions and indoor practices will soon be coming to an end. At Bryant College, there are four spring varsity sports offered for women: lacrosse, softball, golf, and tennis are all very successful programs at Bryant.

Senior captain Elizabeth Blaisdell challenges an opponent's defense last season. Women's lacrosse is currently preparing for their season.

Women's lacrosse is entering their 2004 season on last year's high. Last season, the Lady Bulldogs made it to the final of the Northeast-10 Tournament Championship. This accomplishment was the first time the team made it to the NE-10 Tournament in the history of the program.

The team finished with a record of 12-6. They beat NE-10 competitors such as Southern Connecticut, Merrimack, St. Anselm, Franklin Pierce, AIC, Assumption, and St. Michael's. In the NE-10 Tournament, the Bulldogs beat Franklin Pierce and St. Michael's to reach the finals where they lost to Stonehill who are the NCAA 2003 champions. Looking at the past season, the team is looking to another successful season.

Junior Michelle Lewis said, “We surprised a lot of people last year with how well we did. I think, we'll surprise a lot of people again this year because I think we will do pretty well again this year.”

The team also had one exciting last season when Michelle Lewis was named the NE-10 Defensive Player of the Year as well as selected to a First-team All-American and first-team NE-10. The team lost five players because of a combination of factors. These nine players left because of graduation, transferring, or quitting. The team also gained freshmen that will replace some of those players.

Lewis said, “[The coaching] brought in a lot of talented freshmen and we still have a good core of the team from last year. Almost every spring team plays a spring break trip that will open up their season.

According to players, the team is looking to fill those spots for the second year in a row in which they play one game against Limestone. Last year the team lost to Limestone.

Sophomore, Amy Bartlett, Michelle Watchell, and Meghan Leonard coach the team. The captains who will lead the team to another successful season are the senior co-captains Elizabeth Blaisdell and junior Lynne Zalwalk.

Softball is looking optimistically towards their 2004 season. After finishing with a final overall record of 18-20, the team is ready to begin their season. The team only lost two players from their last season’s roster. The loss comes from graduation and a week conflict.

The team beat NE-10 competitors such as St. Rose, Lubboke, Stonetown, Assumption, Franklin Pierce, Bentley, Southern New Hampshire, UMass/Lowell, and St. Michael’s. The team fell short of the NE-10 Conference Championship their last year. Hitting and fielding work is holding these women down. They are more motivated for this season.

Senior captain Nicole Keene said, “I’m excited about the team. We have a lot of returning freshmen and our goal is to win the NE-10 tournament.”

Last year’s spring break trip was to Lake Buena Vista in Florida where the team faced NY Tech and Southern New Hampshire. This year’s trip is to Tuscon, Arizona. The team is preparing to face Eastern New Mexico, Colorado School of Mines, Iowa Wesleyan, and Crown College. The home opener for the Bulldogs is against NE-10 competitor St. Anselm’s College.

The team captains are senior Nicole Keene, sophomore Kate Kelley, and junior Carly Murray. Along with the two senior captains, there is Kate Black a prominent senior player. These leaders will have motivate the team to many victories and hopefully will achieve their individual and team goals.

Wallace, Nancy Burgess, and Keri Leviseau will coach the team.

Another spring sport that is played at Bryant College by women is golf. Golf almost wasn’t allowed to compete under NCAA rules and this regulations because of the lack of members on the team. Unlike the other sports played at Bryant, the team is small. The conference only has six schools the teams can carry a minimum of five golfers, but only four to compete. The competing players are ranked one through five.

After the fall season, three members of the team quit, including their senior captain who was ranked as number one. Last spring the team lost two players to graduation. This spring the team consists of one graduate student, one sophomore, and three freshmen. Kathy Nanis in a graduate student with slightley left to play. She said, “I feel we will do well because our freshmen are strong and we have the heart to compete.”

The team also plays in the fall, but only at invitational.

The Archway

Project REWARDS

Earn REWARDS for cutting down your cigarette smoking!

May be eligible to participate in a research study if you are:
• a current daily smoker
• between the ages of 18 - 24
• enrolled in college

Earn a variety of prize rewards valued up to $100 by providing us with daily CO readings.

Earn cash bonuses for keeping all of your appointments.

Earn up to $175 for follow-up appointments.

For more information, please contact Polly Priel at 444-1814 or e-mail us at REWARDS@brown.edu.

The Bulldog’s Best

Female Athlete →

Female Athlete →

Dede Fogarty

By Ed Brady
Assistant Sports Editor

Sport: Women’s Basketball
Number: # 4
Player: Dede Fogarty
Year of Grad: Junior
Position: Guard
Height: 5-5
Hometown: Middletown
Connecticut

Against Le Moyne, senior Dede Fogarty scored 14 of her game-high 20 points in the second half of the game to lead the Bulldogs to a 64-52 victory. Dede not only scored points in this game, but she has the highest points per game average on her team with 17.7. Dede is also leading the team in steals with 10 in many categories. She also scores 8.7 assists per game and 2.43 steals per game. The team’s overall record in the conference is 13-3. Their overall record is 17-2. They only trail Merrimack College by one game and the Bulldogs face off versus Merrimack for the last home game of the regular season.

Sponsorships - Sororities - Clubs - Student Groups Earn $1,000 - $2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our free programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so get with the program! It works. Contact CampusFundraiser at (888) 523-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com.
Great Bands You (Probably) Haven’t Heard Of (Until Now) Part II: The Black Dice

By Christian Collard
Variety Editor

“The Black Dice are Eric Copeland (vocals), Bjorn Copeland (guitars), Aaron Winslow (bass/vocals), and Mariah Black (harmonica/vocals).”

The Black Dice are a band with a unique sound that combines elements from various musical genres, creating a unique and intriguing listening experience. Their music is characterized by their harmonica-driven sound, which gives their music a distinct feel.

Screening and talking through heavy duty fear are the only vocals in their music. This makes their music stand out from other bands. Their music is a mix of experimental indie rock music and experimental radio dramas.

The Black Dice have a unique sound that is not found in any other band. Their music is a mix of different genres, making it a unique listening experience.

Need A Valentine's Day Gift by Saturday?

By Christian Collard
Variety Editor

Title: Need A Valentine's Day Gift by Saturday?

Ingridents: 1 tsp. butter or margarine 1 pkg. of marshmallows or 1 pkg. (16.5 oz.) Mini Mallows Marshmallows 9 strips red food coloring 6 cups crisp rice cereal

Preparation:
2. Mix until light and well coated. Press into greased 15x10x1-in. pan. Cool completely.

Recipe of the Week - Crispy Rice Cut-Outs

The heart-shaped box of chocolates always goes over well and you can find a decent assortment for a rather cheap deal. You can’t get off campus. The Barnes & Noble bookstore has plenty to offer, from cards to candy to stuffed animals.

If you want to get flowers, you may be out of luck, because local florists have already been busy filling orders for weeks. If you plan to give a gift, you may be out of luck, because local florists have already been busy filling orders for weeks. If you want to give flowers, you may be out of luck, because local florists have already been busy filling orders for weeks.

Good luck with your Valentine's Day gifts!
you are having trouble understanding something your professor is teaching. everyone else in the class seems to get it. what do you do? answer the question. compare your opinions with others. explore what matters at pwc.com/lookhere.