Festival of Lights:
"Tradition of Unity"

Reverend Philip Devens led the celebration with an opening prayer. As students, faculty, and administration joined together in song and spirit in celebration of the holiday season.

The theme of the evening's celebration was "A Tradition of Unity." Trueheart remarked, "This year's theme represents the unity of different faiths, different ethnic backgrounds, and the unity of the Bryant community."

Trueheart concluded by encouraging everyone to remember the sense of community and "find strength understanding to go forward together."

Before lighting the Menorah, Rabbi Lawrence Silverman recounted the history and tradition of Hanukkah. He explained, "The name 'festival of lights' has been appointed to the Jewish feast of Hanukkah for more than 2000 years."

In addition, Rabbi Silverman added, "In times of struggle such as these, we should help those in need of our help in all walks of life."

The Rotunda became illuminated as the candle lighting ceremony began. Local guitarist Dave Hauer provided music and led the singing throughout the celebration.

Holiday Toy Drive

Not all families take for granted the gifts they receive during the holiday season. Some families cannot afford to exchange gifts at all. In light of the traditional meaning of gift-giving, it is better to give than to receive. In an effort to share with those who cannot afford to celebrate the holidays through gift-giving, the Student Alumni Association is sponsoring a toy drive.

The drive will take place from November 30 through December 13th. SSA will accept new as well as 'as is' toys, wrapped or unwrapped. If a toy is too large, the Student Alumni Association will arrange to collect it.

Smokeout Increases Health Consciousness on Campus

Karinna Pfanzach
Archway Staff Writer

Just before Thanksgiving break, Bryant held their annual Great American Smokeout sponsored by the American Cancer Society. The event took place in the Rotunda where pamphlets, buttons, etc., were given out to try to curb smokers from continuing to smoke, or non-smokers to start. In addition, risk assessment tests were given to determine the possible effects of smoking may have already had on one's health as well as the risks in the future.

The event was successful in attracting not only students, but a few faculty, such as school maintenance employees too. The information in the pamphlets indicates that although smoking as a whole is harmful, on average, the number of female smokers has increased. Another important note is that smoking while taking birth control pills can be very harmful to your health.

A survey of freshmen taken this year at Bryant indicated that 7.6% of the student population are regular smokers. In comparison to the 12.7% of URI students. This doesn't include any of those "once in a while smokers" so we still are not sure how much of the Bryant population really smokes in total.

Doris Horridge of Health Services commented, "It is important to remember that the health risk factors due to smoking are completely reversible upon quitting, starting even in as few as thirty days. However, smoking is still the leading cause of death."

How can one quit smoking? Some individuals are self-disciplined and can quit cold turkey. If not, a nicotine patch is available in Health services to help one quit gradually. Health services will also be more than happy to help those who want to quit without using the patch.

In closing, Melanie Samuelson played an important role in organizing the Smokeout. She was in charge of attracting students, faculty and other volunteers to help in making the Smokeout a success. Ultimately, one can only hope these Smokeouts will no longer be necessary.
A New Perspective

This year saw the birth of a new publication at Bryant College. Faculty Forum, a publication of the Bryant College Faculty Federation AFI/CIO began in May 1992. Since its inception, Faculty Forum has indeed been a forum for stimulating exchanges of ideas. In the very first issue, Paul Dion, a professor departing for Susquehanna University, prophesied: "As I leave Bryant College I see it coming to a fork in the road where difficult decisions with long lasting consequences must be made." And, as Faculty Forum's editorial board has repeatedly pointed out, Bryant really has come to that fork now. It has taken great courage for the editorial board of Faculty Forum to say this, because other people have been grappling. They should be applauded for giving their co-workers a forum to voice their opinions year-round. And they should be congratulated on gaining respect as a publication from their own. On pages 5-8, two of the articles reprinted from Faculty Forum. The first of these is a compilation of "Comments and Queries" that address important issues on campus and question "conventional wisdom" of the College's decision makers. Also, reprinted from the Forum are an Editorial ("Let's Buy the College" by S.S.) and a Letter to the Editor in response ("Letter from Trustee"). These two articles have been reprinted with permission of the respective authors. We hope to see so that everyone can form their own educated opinion.

The letter from Dr. Greg Paskos, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, was published in a special section of Faculty Forum, to signal a new beginning. It was refreshing to read that someone really does care about leaving this institution a better place, instead of leaving it with nothing but their own "better" resume. We hope to see the groups addressed in Dr. Paskos' letter take this golden opportunity to let the people who have the power to make changes (AKA. the Board of Trustees) understand what is at stake in their college. We wonder, though, if real communication can really take place with the trustees in the presence of high level administrators. (Since some faculty, staff, and administrators may feel their jobs will be jeopardized if they dare say unpopular things about the administrative hierarchy.)

At last night's Festival of Lights, Rabbi Lawrence Silverman explained the purpose for lighting the candles both on the Menorah and in the students' hands. Today we'd like to propose lighting one more candle. We light this candle in hopes that all members of our campus will realize their part in this opportunity to stand tall and help make Bryant College a fine place to grow and learn (and use to be).

To the Editor:

Yes it's that time of year again: time to put up the lights and sip mulled wine, time to pour a cup of hot chocolate at dinner, time to wrap gifts (jack!), and time to depart with our beloved text books. December is supposed to be a month of joy and happiness but many students become disheartened when they receive two free dollars or less for books that cost them at least thirty dollars. Being one of these students, I took advantage of the opportunity that I have as Chair of the Bookstore Committee to inquire about the Bookstore’s buyback policy. I learned that the book selling/buying business is quite complicated and costly; however, here are the basics of what the manager of the Bookstore had to say:

1. The bookstore buys books from students any day of the year, as long as those books are priced in the bookstore's wholesale buying guide. It does not matter whether the books were purchased new or used, but books in unsellable condition will not be bought.
2. Students must show a picture ID and write their names in their books when they sell them. This helps deter students from stealing other students’ books.
3. The price paid for books can be as high as half of the new book price or as low as zero.
4. Half-price is paid for books which have been ordered by faculty for the next semester-up to the amount needed. The wholesale price is paid for books that the bookstore already has that have not been reordered. Old editions and other obsolete books may have no resale value.

This can change whenever new book orders are received and when target quantities are reached, some students may receive more or less money than the standard prices with the same book.

This article cannot change the amount a student will receive for his/her books, but perhaps it will bring a better understanding to buyback prices. However, every student should realize that he/she does have a say in matters on campus, so utilize the committees to voice your opinion. If you have any comments about the Bookstore, not necessarily about text books, please share them with the Bookstore Committee by writing to Tracy Ross '95 Chair of the Bookstore Committee.

Call for Donations

To the Editor:

There are many common threads that individuals at Bryant share. I would like to focus on one in particular: Our investment in the future. I believe it is safe to say that there is mutual interest in brighter tomorrow among students, faculty and staff. If I am correct, then please continue reading.

Satellite Dish Scenario

To the Editor:

Nick's Place: Big Screen TV-Sports Atmosphere-Satellite Dish接收器恩格尔 games Sunday all over the country on CBS and NBC. So what is the problem? It is always broken. This letter is on behalf of all the concerned fans who have gone up there numerous times to watch a game on Sunday afternoons. The last two weekends, (Nov 22nd and 29th), the dish has not worked for the entire game. Anyway, is there any way that students can watch events not televised in the Providence and Boston area-right?

No doubt in my mind Nick's Place is great to have in the ESPN/N-band SportChannel. You can watch Hockey-Braves, Rangers, Devils and Basketball-Cells, Knicks, etc. How about having a new model? Bryant Center Operations would save money if they replace it once, instead of waiting an entire week. Is there any way that students can watch events not televised in the Providence and Boston area-right?

A Few Thoughts from the Faculty Forum

Some Comments and Queries

New standards for AACSB accreditation provide for "professional qualification" of faculty even though two might not have a doctorate degree or an appropriate doctoral track in their discipline. These "new" standards have become the focus of study during the 1993-94 academic year and will be the sole standards for accreditation purposes beginning in 1995. While these new standards are now available to all schools, Bryant is pursuing "older" standards "doctorally qualified" only. These older standards will be inoperative in two years, allowing faculty to focus more on these issues in future quarters.

A number of faculty (and administrators) have questioned the cost benefits as well as the propriety of appropriating Carol Word, President Trustee's wife, as an international ambassador for the college. In this something we really need in the light of current budgetary cuts?

There is much talk about cutbacks in financial aid. The decrease of two members of the CMD coupled with reports of declining enrollment (now at about 1,000) and an urgent list of 15 or so personnel that will be gone by September. One wonders when the next shoe will drop.

These reports of further declines in enrollment come in little surprise when viewing the background of weakening demographics and the poor economy exacerbat- ed by the national system of tuition increases. It seems Bryant has at last priced itself out of its traditional market position. In the closing of another dorm for the fall and further reduction in freshmen counts.

August 1992

A recent 5% reduction in the size of the new freshman class and an income shortfall of $1.2 million, the College has raised 17 administrative people, will hold back on filling another 13 stochastic vacancies and will cut student control costs by lowering medical benefits. Few could argue against the need for cutting expenditures times. But questions remain: Is the financial picture as bleak as portrayed? What administrative actions might have prevented our current crisis? Have the annual 14/8 tuition increases done the administration? So far,

Letter from Trustee

Gentlefolk:

The advantage (disadvantage) of being old friends is that you know my "hot buttons" so, naturally, I have to submit an opinion with my response to the S.S. editorial in your last issue.

This Trustee's opinions is that the issue facing us NOW is not in the items listed in the "takeover" proposal in the last editorial. We need a simple answer to the question: How can we begin a series of dialogues so that we can hear and understand the ideas of a true cross-section of the administration, the faculty, the students and the support staff?" The Federation may or may not speak for the entire faculty, the Student Senate and The Archway may or may not speak for the entire student body, and we need to determine whether the College may or may not speak for all of the administrators and staff. We Trustees will not know until we engage in real communications with more of you, not on our turf, but in your own turf.

Why not invite me, Bill Trustee, and some of our Trustees to meet with the Federation group separately for a two-hour session? The "group," in my opinion, is not just the Federation, but the faculty in general, or just the Senate for the student session, or just the benefactors for the administration group. We could have an open session for all within each group who feel they want to participate in the meeting.

If I were a Trustee to reap the benefits of such a role, I would simply negotiate a "golden parachute" with the new "takeover company" and be on my way elsewhere. Unfortunately for those who would like an easy answer, my reward as a Trustee will be to leave this institution a better place because I stay here, and therefore, my "stock" is not for sale.

Let's not forget, but remember what Francis Bacon wrote in 1605 in The Advancements of Learning: It is nothing worse to admit men (women, too!) with an open door and reserved conscience.

Your Friend,

Gerry Parker
Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Editorial: Let's Buy the College

It seems with all the malaise and unrest perennially plaguing our campus a major effort must be made to turn things around. Most thinking focuses on the president and his administration, but misses the point. Bryant's problems, as anyone in management knows, are fundamentally attributable to the board of trustees.

It's the trustees who decided for accreditation. It's the trustees who raised tuition 13% for four straight years in a row. It's the trustees who brought us an ineffective task force on enrollment. Ultimately, it's the trustees who bore responsibility for what's wrong with Bryant. Making changes in the administration does nothing if you cannot get at the root cause.

Solution: Let's buy the college from them.

Put the trustees to work for us and make them responsible for what goes on. This is not the ideal. It is not plausible. Assuming the college's value at $30 million, the trustees could turn a leveraged buyout with only $310 million. Offer stock to all employees, and we all need enough to make a million in appreciation of $25,000 each (payable in installments) and we have our seed money.

The difficult question now becomes whether or not the trustees will sell. Probably not. But let's make them an offer.

Just consider the sensible actions that a new administration could take, as follows: to stabilize stockholders through a newly elected board of trustees, would need to announce a new administration would:

- Cancel all plans for accreditation under the new standards. Reorganize and take our time applying under the new standards. This will save a mountain of money in expensive, new faculty. Better yet, the result will include more professionally qualified faculty, which is crucial to Bryant's heritage.
- Re-read the non-documents. Help them to research and write under the new standards. They'll be better for it and so will their students, who will learn from professionals who understand the world, rather than some theoreticians.
- Stop wasting valuable assets such as the professionally qualified professors in accounting. Give the students their money's worth with people who know accounting. Give me time to know how to teach it. Stop trying to squeeze out the non-docs all in one blow.
- Demand real leadership of administrators to forge a unified team of faculty. Stop dividing us into the old and the new; those who get the perks, the stipends, the smoking, and those that don't.
- Stop appointing non-tenured (i.e., non-faculty) federation as department chairs. It's a half-baked attempt to undermine the federation, and it fosters all ill.
- Revamp the board of trustees so that it totals only 7 members. Let's focus on who's who and who's responsible for what.
- Make public the qualifications of officers of the college plan and special arrangements so that the trustees and its consultants.

And this is just for starters. Just imagine what this place would be like if everyone took a real stake in the fortunes of the college. Sure we'd be the ones to thank for each other. But we'd only have one vote each to vote for a board that would last beyond two or three years. And once a wise action would go on without the trustees reporting it to the administration.

Employee ownership is the wave of the future. Its benefits are responsibility, accountability and in-...

We are the children of the light and we no longer live in the darkness of doubt or despair. Whether we are cross-country skiing in Vermont or horseback riding in the desert of Arizona, walking through fields of scented flowers or running after milkweed pod seedlings, we are children of the light. Within each one of us is a spark of the Divine; it never fades or blows away. We can nourish the light's truth, management issues. In the process, students will learn to identify the "take-for-granted" assumptions underlying their thinking and to question the acceptability of various conceptual models."

Professor Thomas Powell will be teaching "The Management Game: Studies in Leading-Edge Management Theory." The objectives of this course are to acquaint students with the management "gurus" and to familiarize students with both their theories and their recommendations for practicing managers in the 1990's.

In his course, Managing Change in a Chaotic World, Professor James C. Segovis will discuss the increasingly chaotic environments that managers face in modern organizations. "This course will help students understand the basic principles of chaos theory and explore their implications for effective management," commented Segovis.

In the November 19 issue of The Arrow, we reported that President William E. Trueheart hosted a jazz show on 88.7 FM WJMF Monday night. David Kaplan, General Manager of the station, initiated the show because he "wanted to create a bridge between the students and the administration through radio." Dr. Trueheart was "honored" to host the show and stated it his schedule permits, he would like to do it again.

El Clima de Nueva Inglaterra

by Pedro Brade

El clima de esta región es famoso por sus cuatro estaciones, especialmente el otoño, pero recientemente los inviernos han sido muy fríos, con muy poca nieve y temperaturas relativamente altas. En 1978, hubo una gran tormenta de nieve que paralizó el estado por una semana. Muchos profesores y estudiantes tuvieron que dormir en Bryan varios días, porque era imposible salir de aquí. Todas las carreteras y caminos de Rhode Island, y de otros estados también, estuvieron cerrados al tráfico por tres o cuatro días. Había como dos pies de nieve y lamiéramos hojas varios días.

Pero desde esa famosa ventana del 78 los inviernos han sido muy fríos, más útiles del sur del país que de Nueva Inglaterra. Yo estoy convencido de que este año va a ser más normal. Desde el punto de vista de las estadísticas, un invierno fuerte nos va a tocar pronto.

También podemos ver que el verano y el otoño han sido frescos y húmedos, así que estoy convencido de que el invierno va a ser igual, con temperaturas más bajas y más precipitación que es el pasado reciente. Mi reputación como meteorólogo está en la línea.
This year, the Bryant community and business students need to be current on the complex relationships that global interdependence creates.

Students should be aware of the resources available on campus to make the current trend toward globalization work for them. World Trade Center Rhode Island provides a variety of training services, while maintaining one of over 230 World Trade Center Association licenses worldwide. Although its flags may be smaller than its parent in New York, World Trade Center Rhode Island represents a politically aligned organization which helps to facilitate international trade. The fact that Bryant College is the only private school in the world with a license to operate a World Trade Center should be a source of pride and a resource for students who wish to excel.

tion will result in a more competitive position and we intend to have a more inclusive management style and delegate more," President Trueheart in his reference address on July 22, 1992.
"As a business school we teach responsibility and delegation of authority, but here at Bryant all empowerment is in the hands of four people-the president and three vice presidents," Administrator.
"I’ve never worked at a place with such a sense of discouragement and poor morale," Administrator.
"We have a national leadership crisis, a leadership crisis in baseball and a leadership crisis here at Bryant. It’s absolutely hilarious," Administrator.

October 1992
Contract: Unsigned!
Some five weeks after the Faculty Federation ratified the new contract, it remains unsigned. Why is the administration delaying? No one has a copy of the new contract, committee are unsure of how to proceed; confusion reigns...Is this any way to run a business?

Faculty Votes Its Concern
The September meeting of the Bryant Faculty Federation was mostly devoted to discussing the state of the College. Reflecting widespread concern about management, leadership, and poor morale, members voted to form a committee to bring to the President and the Board of Trustees the college community’s concerns regarding the state of the College. Let’s hope the effort has a positive effect...Time will tell.

November 1992
The Numbers Game
At the recent admissions seminar, international specialists Nick Serical speculated that Bryant might produce 50 new students as a result of his foreign travels and those of the president’s wife. He allowed that this didn’t sound like much, but the purpose of these international initiatives, he said, was not to make up shortfalls in enrollment we’ve been experiencing. (No explanation, however, of what the goals really are.)

Following up these remarks, the Provost reassured those present that “we (the college) could fill two dorms if we wanted to, but that this is not our goal.” (No explanation here either.)

Debit or Credit?
The most recent example of the administration shenanigans is the transfer of “Mr. Auditing” (Bob Provost) out of his specialty (for which he is so well known among the Big 6 throughout New England) to teach introductory accounting. The rationale given: Bob is such an effective teacher (four awards in recent years) that the students will truly benefit by this move. Uh huh...

Logo Lanyard?
On top of the bad taste the coffee caper has left us with, we are now inflicted with the cheerleading hoopla of an employee recognition program focusing on a $100 contest to create a logo to symbolize Bryant’s rejuvenated team spirit. As if a symbol or design really makes a difference. (Remember Gerald Ford’s WIN campaign to Whip Inflation Now? That went nowhere too...) Interesting to note, the idea for this contest came from the “President’s Cabinet.” When did this notion surface?

Positive/Negative
At his State of the College address, President Trueheart acknowledged that we had seen a lot of constractive criticism but also negative. He hoped we could communicate in a more positive way.

Right he is.
But it begs the question. How do we voice concerns in a positive fashion when we see unfairness, lack of forthrightness, and terrible management decisions? Example: firing employees in the name of cost-cutting. No sooner have these jobs been eliminated than replacements are coming on board under new titles.

Unhomecoming Weekend's mascot raises the spirit of the crowd during both the Men's and Women's exhibition games.
Evan Kuperman and Michelle Nathan light the Menorah at last night's festivities.

Rabbi Silverman, Reverend Devens, and President Trueheart light their candles from the Menorah.

The other important variation to the Trinity performance is the emphasis on charity for all humanity. Marley’s ghost, a strange mixture of humor and haunting, warns Scrooge not to be so concerned with his business since the ghost has learned, “Mankind was my business.” The once joyful spirit of Christmas Past also warns Scrooge to “beware Ignorance and Hunger.”

Outstanding performances in this year’s play are made by Timothy Crowe as a miserly, philosophical Ebenezer Scrooge; Robert J. Colonno as a bumbling, jolly old St. Nick type of Christmas Past; Janice Duclos as an arrolicidding Christmas Present; and Ricardo Pultz-Wiley as the emphatic “reader” of the play.

So if you good done of holiday cheer or are just looking for an entertaining way to ring in the holidays with someone special, make sure catch A Christmas Carol at Trinity Rep in Providence. It truly is the best holiday performance in Rhode Island.

A Christmas Carol runs through December 27. Curtain times are 8PM Wednesdays through Saturdays, 7PM Tuesdays and Sundays, 2PM on selected dates. Individual ticket prices range from $22 to $30, with student, senior citizen, disabled, military and group rates available. For more information and the exact schedule, call the box office at (401) 351-3422.
Housing Information

Students Leaving Campus Housing Permanently

Any resident withdrawing from the residence hall system at the end of this semester must complete a “Withdrawal from Housing” form by December 11. Also, please notify your RA that you are withdrawing so they can inspect your room with you sometime during your last week in the residence hall. Also, be sure to return your room key to the Lock and Key shop at the Office of Public Safety before you leave. Your cooperation with these steps is crucial to ensure the timely return of the balance of your damage/key deposit.

Leave of Absence from Housing (study abroad, internships, etc.)

Any resident student planning on leaving the residence halls and returning in the fall of 1993 should have a “Leave of Absence” form on file in the Office of Residence Life. If you do not already have this form, please complete a “Leave of Absence” form prior to December 11, 1992. Only those students who are participating in an internship or study abroad for credit at Bryant may have their name placed in the housing sign-up process to take place in April 1993.

Room Changes

Any current resident interested in requesting a room change for the Spring '93 semester must meet with their Resident Director by December 11. Suites village residents and Hall 16 residents should stop by the Office of Residence Life in Hall E.

Singles

Due to a large number of vacancies on campus this fall, a large number of students have had the luxury of living in a single room. Residence Life reserves the right to assign students as necessary and reminds all students that a roommate may be assigned at any time. Also, single rooms may NOT be guaranteed by paying additional fees.

Quiet Hours

Twenty-four hour quiet hours begin Saturday, December 12 at 7:00 a.m. for the remainder of the semester. Good Luck on Exams! (Students are reminded that they are to vacate the residence halls within 24 hours of their last exam.)

Hall Closing

The residence halls must be vacated by 5:00 p.m. on Monday, December 21. Please make packing and travel plans accordingly.

Wintersession - '93

Registration Information:

Housing

Students who have signed up and paid for housing during the Wintersession period (January 4 through January 22) are asked to stop by and notify the Office of Residence Life so that Wintersession assignments can be made. Students will be housed in Hall B during Wintersession. The hall will open on January 3 at noon for move-in.

Welcome Back from break! Hope everyone had an enjoyable time! Congrats to all those that ended pledging!
A thanks to those who came to our Christmas gathering on Tuesday to get into the Holiday Spirit. The Festival of Lights on Wednesday was great too!
A Happy Birthday to Shannon (20th Wednesday) and her sister. Underclassmen are invited to come up to our Open House tonight at 7:30pm to meet the staff. Dorm 7-310 and 326's. Can't wait to see you there!
Thanks to all who participated in the soup kitchen on Sun., Nov. 22. Another thank you goes out to all those who helped with the Blood Drive on Tuesday, December 1.
The event originally set for Wednesday, December 2, at 7:00pm was canceled because of the Festival of Lights ceremony. Our next meeting is rescheduled for Wednesday, December 9 at 7:00pm in Room 2.
If anyone is interested in making additional donations during the Christmas season for the McKenney House, they can be sent to Box 3. Thank you in advance for your generosity.

We need you.

Bryant Players

Welcome back, dearans (and everyone else)! This week we voted for the spring play; the results will be posted in next week's Archway. Those people, whether members or not, interested in directing, building set, running the lights, and so on should contact me ASAP.
We will begin selling Christmas Wreaths Monday for $1.00 during the dinner hours at the Bryant Center. These will be delivered next Friday. Contact me to volunteer!
We hope each cast member for this weekend's performance of 'Twas the Night Before Christmas will be amazing and enthusiastic.
Our next meeting will be Tuesday, December 8 at 5:00pm in meeting room 2 in the Bryant Center. Have a good week.

The Comiters will be closed Saturday, December 3. Don't forget to check out the Comiters' specials: when you buy any large sandwich get a free small fry, and with the purchase of any large order of potato alms get a free soft drink. The coffee machine should be working this week at the Convenience Store. Snapple and 7up products will be available soon for your convenience.
Seniors don't forget to get your class rings, as Archwired will be on campus today.

I hope that everyone had enjoyed turkey and stuffing over Thanksgiving break. We're in the home stretch now. Only three weeks to go (and two more games at Foxson). To all those brothers who don't have dates to the Holiday Formal, you only have 24 hours left to get one. Adon.

Everyone enjoyed the break. Everyone is looking forward to the Christmas party which is "officially" this Friday at Dimmes. Quote of the week: "They said they'd (Ron's) get back to me."

Entrepreneurship Club
by Lisa Lucchesi
On Thursday, November 19, the Entrepreneurship Club held its second formal meeting. The club warmly welcomed guest speaker, Paul A. Curry, a 1988 Bryant alumnus. Paul started his business activities soon after graduation. Paul became interested in international business after attending a business school in Germany. He also took advantage of Bryant's scanner at sea. He commented, "It was at this point in time that I saw the big picture of what I wanted to do. I knew I wanted to go into international business."
Paul is now actively involved in importing and exporting goods internationally.

The members of ISO would like to thank Professor Hubbard for his excellent speech on the history of Yugoslavia. His lecture was very informative and enlightening.

We would like to thank all the members to attend a special meeting on Tuesday, December 8th from 4:45-5:30 in the Captin Dinner Room in the Bryant Center. Professor William Hill, the chair of the Social Science department, will speak about the new relationship between the EC (European Community) and the United States. ISO invites anyone interested in this timely issue to attend.

Karaté Club

by Mike Richard

Hi there! First of all I would like to offer congratulations to all the members of the club that tested for their next rank and passed. To all the new yellow belts: see what a little hard work and dedication can do for you! To all the new brown belts, you have amazed the next level little grasshoppers, training will now begin anew! Sifu was very pleased with the tests. He thought that everybody worked very hard this semester and it shows. Kudos to the individual for being named first student.

This week’s Milky Way award goes to Darwin Melina for his perfect attendance. Sign advice: If one sees a vicious animal, expect to hit. On a more serious note, everyone is asked to keep Sensei Bedard in their thoughts for the coming weeks. As always...BKA!!

Kappa Delta Rho

by Tom Foolery

First, we would like to congratulate the four pledge class on becoming brothers. They are Brian Maffei, Erik Fox, Steve Spencer, Danjou Pugno, Rich Tierney, and Greg Vanasse. We would like to thank Tri Sigma for last Monday night.

Last Saturday night was a memorable one as KDR was visited by the illustrious alumnus Scott “Scooter” Thomas. Also that night, Delta Zeta helped us celebrate the end of pledging as our new brothers and their new sisters got acquainted.

In sports, KDR-A is rolling along in the tournament in a five-peat is looking ever brighter. Where is the competition?

In hockey, KDR-A is skating along, and no one has us not just yet. The brothers of the Kappa house in the standings. Ryan is the powerhouse of the team, and now is the leading goal scorer. Also on the powerhouse offense is Rolille and Wolf. Leading the defeated defense is Mike ‘Hacker’ Andrade. Damien has been pulled from the net and is being replaced by the Skinner. Until next week, Wreck Em.

Phi Kappa Sigma

by Jay Fogarty

First off, I would like to thank everyone that has had a good break and enjoyed their turkey. Breakfast wishes go out to Belch, Dong, Peres, Gromm, Tregan, Antony, Big Bill, and Pleva’s mom. Several brothers are going to phi sig’s and Theria’s Christmas formal.

Our Christmas gathering is on Saturday night and there are still a lot of brothers without dates. It’s good to see there will be a new generation of homesorts, we will miss the old ones come graduation. The Bodyguard was voted best movie by the fraternal movie review board. Phi Karp sports are doing well. Kudos to Slone on landing a job.

Phi Kappa Tau

by Jim Cosgrove

Hello, hello, hello everyone someone has had a happy homeward swing. Quality home cooked food and sleep always makes the hallowed halls of Bryant College look kind of dreary. The brothers of Phi Kappa Tau would like everyone to know that the recent alumni weekend was a success. Also, we’d like to thank the many Phi Sig Sig sisters who joined us this past Monday night.

Good luck to KT-L/Zockey, who probably plays someone on their toes this week. The Double A Lewiston Haulers are looking rather weak lately. Hopefully, the team will be on the up and up in the upcoming weeks.

Finally, word is that the official song of G-5 is that catchy little showtune, the ‘Rocky’ theme song. Good luck to the champion in the upcoming Tuesday vs. Bowie fight. KT TOP DOG.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

by Robin Deder

Welcome back to Thanksgiving break everybody! We hope everyone had a good time at home! We celebrated our local sorority, Beta Sigma Omicron, founder’s day on December 1. Look for signs for our upcoming fundraiser... Pictures with Santa! Pictures will be taken on Monday and Tuesday night. We hope to see everyone there! The countdown continues for the Christmas party...only 9 more days to find dates if you don’t have one! Also, we hope everyone has fun at their Christmas parties this weekend! This week, we had two birthdays... Melissa finally turned 21 and Nicole; she still has a year to go! Be on the look out for posters about our real events if you are interested in rushing. Everyone is always welcome to stop by the fourth floor of Dorm 7 if you have any questions!

Sigma Phi Epsilon

by Rodney C. Welch III

The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon would like to welcome everyone back from Thanksgiving break. Hope all enjoyed the time away, especially those who had their first time off campus. Monday morning the retaining and dwindling pledge class of 1990 enjoys a festive dinner at Tom’s kitchen. Congratulations on our new E-board-elects; Mick-Pres, Riley-VP, D-Man-Sec., Matt-Tre., Mo-Fundraising, King-P.R., Means-Alumni. Congrats also go out to the other brothers who gained positions, especially to the new historian.

And a little note to the Sunday night TKE foursome, good game boys. The hockey team played Tuesday night.

SPB

by Tammy St. Pierre

The Student Programming Board would like to congratulate Laura Dufresne for planning a successful Uhomecoming weekend. We’d also like to thank all of the organizations that co-sponsored the weekend events. The Arcturus, Beta Sigma Chi, REAC, Braycol, Delta Chi, MSU, SAV, Student Senate, Residence Life, TEM, and WIMF. The Woodsmen won the Battle of the Bands and will be opening Spring Weekend.

We have a new voting member to congratulate. Robert Bobbino. Our next meeting will be the last meeting of the screeen on Monday, December 7th.

Theta Phi Alpha

by Christy VanKamro

Hey Theta! Congratulations go out to all the new brothers and sisters that finally finished. We saved the best for last and I’d like to see everyone sure! A big thanks goes out to Kelly and Wendy for all their work.

Outgoing brothers; welcome to Maria, Deb and Steph. And yes, we will be having cake.

Do not forget the Christmas Party tonight as it will be washed up. If anyone is interested in going, stop by the floor and we’ll pair you up. There will also be gatherings on the floor Friday and Saturday, all are welcome.

Congratulations to Matt Lushene our new pledge educator and to Patrick our new Rasp. Chairman. However, congratulations also go out to Jerry, who got a job on Monday.

Quotes of the week: “How about another round Rocky?”, “Secure the area” and “But we had to dip into the book of knowledge.”

Tau Kappa Epsilon

by Peir Pappas and Mike Slomba

We hope everyone had a great Thanksgiving, and an amazing break. Our Christmas party is on December 6th, and there will be a 70’s theme dance...co-sponsored by Tau and Eta.

Not every brother has a date, so if anyone is interested in going, stop by the floor and we’ll pair you up. There will also be gatherings on the floor Friday and Saturday, all are welcome.

Congratulations to Matt Lushene our new pledge educator and to Patrick our new Rasp. Chairman. However, congratulations also go out to Jerry, who got a job on Monday.

The men’s basketball team opened their 1992-93 season by posting a 1-2 record last week. The team suffered their biggest loss, at the hands of Bentley 68-90, Sunday. High scorer for the game was freshman Omar Sharif with 16. "Offensively in this stage we are not where we want to be," head coach Ed Reilly said.

“We are inexperienced. We have been a little better on defense we just need to develop an offensive pattern.”

On Tuesday, while the rest of us were home, the Indians dropped a close game to Stonehill 53-61. High scorer in the game was Jerome Grier 27 points.

“We ran out of gas after leading by 10 at the half,” Reilly said. “It came down to time. Everyone was home. If we had a big following we probably would have gotten over the hump.”

In the home opener Bryant overcame Rhode Island College 73-66 and controlled the game most of the way. Grier lead the way once again with 18 points.

Soccer Coach Named Coach of the Year

Pam Barry
Archway Sports Writer

At the end of every season, coaches vote on players and coach of the year. This season, Bryant’s own men’s soccer coach was selected as the NE-10 Coach of the Year.

Although this is only Len Mercurio’s second year as head coach at Bryant, he has been involved with soccer since he could walk.

Born in Italy, he was introduced to the national sport right away. After moving and finishing his playing career, he became the assistant coach at Brown University for six years. Now the head coach at Bryant, he finds coaching very challenging.

Throughout the years, Arrigo Sacchi, Coach of the National Team in Italy, has been an inspiration to Mercurio because he revolutionized the game and showed how teamwork really works. Coach Mercurio feels playing is a lot easier than coaching because a coach has to offer his time and sensitivity to all 25 players.

He gives a lot of credit to the players though, “I was lucky at Bryant to have players willing to listen and who believe in getting good results.”

The team’s season began slow but finished a strong second in the league. Mercurio felt his job was to get the players to believe they could turn the season around and be successful.

To him "everyday was a challenge in hoping for good results in a game.”

At the end of the season, Mercurio felt his team was "the best in the conference." The team suffered an unfortunate loss in the play-off to Springfield. This game was a case of bad luck for Bryant since they played the entire game extremely well.

Being named Coach of the Year, according to Mercurio, was a sort of "consolation prize,” because he and his team had worked so hard and felt bad to fall back in a few key games. The players on the men’s team feel very lucky to have Coach Mercurio. He instills the values of teamwork and “every player on the team is important.”

His skills and knowledge of the game are also unsurpassable. Right now, he coaches and works full-time. To Mercurio, "to be able to coach full-time would be a dream come true because there is so much to be done.”

Women’s B-ball Opens With Win

Angelo Corradino
Archway Sports Writer

The women’s basketball team opened their season by splitting their first two games.

On Sunday the team was defeated by 65-46 at the nation, Bentley College 43-91.

In their home opener, the team started out on the right foot by defeating Rhode Island College 74-64 after trailing at the half.

Freshman Liz Davies lead the way with 28 points, 13-23 from the field, and 18 rebounds. Davis had 17 of those 28 points in the second half to lead the Ladies Indian comeback.

The team, as well as coach Mary Burke, seem optimistic about the season and hope to get continued support from the student body.

“It will be a big plus,” Burke said when asked about the sixth man section.

“We play against two nationally ranked teams and the support of the sixth man society will give us a true home court advantage.”

The players also feel the impact of the club, “It pumps us up so we get motivated to play,” Davies is leading the team in scoring with 16 points per game, 14-27 from the field and 23 rebounds on the season.

The Lady Indians are getting the needed help from their returning seniors, Bridgett Casey is second on the team in scoring with 12.5 ppg and Kelly Jacob is right behind her with 9.5 ppg. Jacob is also second on the team in rebounds with 16. Kim Ross is also helping the team with ball control as she has 5.5 assists per game.

The Lady Indians will travel to New Hampshire College on Thursday and Scared Heart on Saturday. They will then return home to take Keene State on Monday at 7:30.

Hockey Drops Close Game

by Jason Crozier

On Saturday, November 21, the Ice Hockey team’s record dropped to 1-2. The team came out a little slow in the first two periods, and the Springfield State Chiefs dominated. Fortunately for Bryant, senior goaltender Andrew Witkin performed tremendously.

In the process of stopping almost 50 shots, he allowed only two goals in those two periods.

Being down 2-0 at the start of the third forced Bryant to pull together. Captain Jon Mandeville got the team rolling by setting up a two-on-one which allowed Jim Barre to score Bryant’s first goal of the night.

Mandeville broke free from the first Springfield defender and then skated towards the second one. He opened Barre, hoping towards the Springfield net and sent a hard pass on his stick. Barre, alone in front of the net, put the puck past the Springfield goalie with ease.

Shortly after Barre’s goal, Ryan Fox tied the game at two with a wrist shot to the short side. Springfield was advancing the puck up ice when defenseman Harry Kochin came off the bench and challenged the play at Bryant’s offensive blue line. His skills paid off, and he was able to keep the puck in the zone allowing Fox to pick it up and tie the game.

Bryant’s scoring drive was stopped due to a penalty call. Springfield capitalized and made the score 3-2. Springfield finalized Bryant’s defeat scoring on a screen shot in the final minute of play. The team will attempt to improve their record this week when they travel to MIT on Monday night and Keene State on Thursday.

Athlete of the Week

This week’s Athletes of the Week are Dave Nagelhout of the bowling team and Liz Davies of the women’s basketball team.

Davies was named the NE-10 Conference Player and Freshman of the Week in her first week of college competition. In her debut she had 26 points on 13-25 shooting and 18 rebounds in the 74-64 win over RIC. She said, "I didn’t feel any pressure (starting as a freshman) because we worked hard the past three weeks getting ready for the season; I felt confident. There were also three senior on the court with experience which helped.”

Davies rolled a 300 (a perfect game) against Sacred Heart University in the EBC conference match two Saturdays ago in Cornwall. He helped the team to a third place finish for the day and a third place in the overall standings, Nagelhout said, “I try to get everyone motivated to go out and do the best they can do.”
