Mr. Albert J. McAloon came into office as President of the Faculty Federation on November 15, 1973, following the resignation of Wallace S. Camper. McAloon was unopposed and feels he has the "general" backing of the faculty. McAloon is an Assistant Professor of Psychology. He received his Ph.B. at Providence College and his M.Ed. at Rhode Island College.

One of the founders of the Federation, McAloon feels the position enjoyable. He will be in office until May, 1975.

McAloon realizes that all segments of society need to be organized for their own protection. By being organized they are able to protect themselves in hiring and firing situations, especially firing.

McAloon believes that education is a necessity of society. "It is a democratic right that every student has the right to the Federal Government to support and educate not only through aid to institutions but also through grants and scholarships with as few strings attached as possible." McAloon foresees the day when college such as Bryant will seek and receive Federal funds, and that the Federal Government for their contributions to society. Presently, without federal funding and bond issues, Bryant's new campus will not be completed.

NO BEHIND SCENE REVIEW

Mr. Albert J. McAloon
New Faculty Federation President

McAloon has many plans and goals as Faculty Federation President. He feels he has a responsibility to the faculty and university due to the executive committee for acceptance or rejection. "Everything written in the minutes of the executive committee and actions will come from the Faculty Federation," he states. "There will be no high-handed behind-the-scenes maneuvering." The president of any organization has the responsibility to offer leadership while at the same time realizing the progress of the program. McAloon intends to achieve this end.

McAloon has made several proposals to the executive committee thus far. Some of them are presented here as discussed by him.

STUDENTS IN FACULTY MEETINGS

McAloon strongly believes that student representatives should be allowed as well as welcomed to attend Faculty Federation meetings. All meetings consist of open democratic decisions being made. It would give them an opportunity to see how the faculty and executive committee function in their meetings. He feels that they will be mature enough to interpret and report on the proceedings of the meetings adequately.

FACULTY OUTRAGEOUSLY CROWDED

McAloon is very concerned about the facilities of the faculty at Bryant. He has proposed a health and space utilization committee. His intention is to survey and investigate the outrageously cramped conditions of the faculty members. There also exists the evident and blatant malfunction of the air conditioning system which creates a health problem. Assistance from the Occupational Safety Health Administration (OSHA) will be sought if necessary.

In McAloon's words, "The faculty is so cramped for space that in comparison Perdue's chickens are better taken care of in terms of space." In commenting on this, McAloon feels that it is an indication towards the mentality of the administration in its disregard for the needs of the faculty.

INDIFFERENT AND ABHORREN'T

Although McAloon does not see this situation as malicious on the part of the administration, he feels it is "indifferent and abhorrent." At a result, experts will be brought in accordance with OSHA (1970) to help with advice and proposals to the administration and trustees.

McAloon is by no means void of ideas of his own concerning this matter. First of all, all classrooms in the Unistructure are not in use during the busiest times. Thus, walls could be broken down and faculty offices could be constructed. Secondly, the height of the student dining room is, in McAloon's words "wasteful." A floor could easily be extended out from the faculty dining room across the open space. This would help conserve heat and energy and provide room for more faculty offices and give the faculty room to breathe.

CREDIT UNION AT BRYANT

McAloon plans to start a committee for the institution of a credit union at Bryant College. It would be available to students, faculty, and administration; and with time, Bryant alumni. Original funding towards the establishment in its disregard for the needs of the faculty.

Give A New System Half A Chance

by Kevin J. McGarry

Mr. Richard Alberg, Registrar, understands the controversy which is being expressed by students in receiving their grades so late. He was good enough to take the time to explain the new system and the flaws that could be found only after it was in operation for the first time.

First of all, with the grades being done by computer, some new equipment was involved. The mark sensing equipment was late in arriving. Next, 25 to 30 percent of the grade reports were rejected because the pencil marks were not dark enough. As a result, electrographic pencils were ordered; and all the cards had to be done over. After they were received they were put into envelopes in hopes of saving time. However, notices of Dean's List, probation and warning had to be put in some of them. This caused more of a delay. There were other problems connected with the computer. All the grade point information was not registered or was cancelled by the computer and had to be repeated.

Nevertheless, Dean Alberg thanks everyone for their patience. Although he is aware of the fact that all of these problems should be solved now that they are known, he hopes that hopefully there will be no recurrence of them.

Editors' Note: Another reason for the grades being late was that some teachers did not send their grades in on time.

Student Enrollment

Although the attention figures for this year are not as yet available, information concerning enrollment was obtained this week. Approximately 155 students entered Bryant in January, 1974. This figure is up from 153 in 1973, and from 137 in 1972. According to Mr. George Craig, Dean of Admissions, the MBA programs' enrollment is higher. Although the exact figures are not available, Mr. Oertwig, Director of Evening School, has said that the MBA program at night school is also higher than last spring.

Attrition rate and total student enrollment figures should be available next week.

Editorially Speaking

No Censorship at Bryant!

In these days when administrations and presidents seem to be having “difficulties” with the news media—difficulties meaning that the news media prints the truth, which sometimes hurts—they are trying to solve the problem by, in effect, removing the thing causing the problem. They're doing this by imposing various forms of limitations on the media's rights and freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution.

In Washington, President plans to do this by cutting back on network television hours (through the F.C.C.). Also, the White House Communications Office has been advocating the breaking up of the three major networks.

At Bryant College, the President plans to do this by setting up an "Editorial Policy Board" to, in effect, CENSOR the output of the Newspaper and the Radio Station. This board will supposedly be made up of representatives of each of the constituencies at Bryant.

In order to save our President a lot of trouble, we are publicly stating that we will not submit to this or go along with it in any way whatsoever! We would hope that the Radio Station will assume a similar position while staying within the guidelines set down by the Federal Communications Commission. This is absolutely necessary in order for the students at Bryant to receive a free flow of information.

The ARCHWAY, as a responsible member of the news media, will continue to print the truth as it is; not the way some would like it to be, or by suppressing parts of it. We will continue to stay within the bounds of good taste, and without libel, provide Bryant students with the news.

If a confrontation occurs, we will be ready. We will rely on our record and the complete backing of the Association of College Newspapers of Rhode Island and the Rhode Island Press Club. As a college newspaper, we are entitled to the same rights and freedoms guaranteed to any other member of the press. AND WE WILL HAVE THEM!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing in regard to the closing of the game room at seven o'clock on a Saturday night (An. 20). This has been the case with the gymnasion a few instances like this. The repartee by the "personal" working at these premises is that the person on the ensuing shift hasn't showed, "so we're closing up".

This is just another "Popholo" in the many at Bryant that have to be patched up before they get out of hand. I think that the employment center or whoever employs the "laborers" at Bryant should interview their employees with a little more charity.

I also think since we have to pay for playing pool, that the facilities should be of better quality. The pool tables used bowling, sticks are warped (sic), pool balls are missing, and the racks are either bashed or scoured. If it means paying a few cents more for better equipment, I'm sure the student's (sic) are willing to pay the price. If the game room would provide useful and adequate facilities, let's either close it up or better yet, fix it up.

Behind the Eight Ball,

George Allen Jr.

P.S.: Since 1 (sic) had so many (sic) in my last writing, please inform me and everyone else interested, what (sic) means.

Editors' Note: According to Webster's New World Dictionary of the American Language, (sic) is an adverb. It means thus or so. It is used within brackets to show that a quoted passage, often containing some error is precisely reproduced. We have been using (sic) lately because we are not at liberty to correct spelling, wording, or grammatical errors in letters to the editor. In the future, to present existent use of (sic) in your letters, please proofread your letters before you submit them. And thank you for your questions and your letters.

Student Senate Elections

It is the time of the year when many changes occur in a many of the organizations of Bryant College. This year, the Student Administration (Pres. Greg Evans, Vice-President Matt McGinnis, Treasurer Matt Zeller, Secretary Joanne Lipsey) have heard the desires of the students. However, Fred Leonard, Speaker of the Council’s term does not end until the end of the school year. New officers of the Senate will officially take office on March 1, 1974. This year, the Student Senate Executive Council Elections will be held for three days, February 26, 27, and 28. We feel that this will give the students the opportunity to vote, which they should do. In last year’s election approximately 38 percent of the student body voted. This doubted the previous years’ election of 19 percent.

We are hopeful of a strong

FOREIGN LANGUAGES AT BRYANT

McAloon sees the need for a re-evaluation of a language department at Bryant now, at least on a small scale basis. He believes that French and Spanish be taught as well as other Chinese and Japanese. They are market areas of untold opportunity where Bryant graduates could earn good things and make valuable contributions to the idea of world interdependence. McAloon is a firm believer in the Berlin teaching method and feels confident that it can work well at Bryant.

However, in September, we would have more of Bryant student community in the written form. “We live in an interdependent world and I would like to see Bryant as leaders in this interdependent world. However, without foreign languages, they are handicapped.”

He wishes to create a prestigious group called the Committee for Educational Development (CED) which would work with the education community to study with which the Federation agrees and work towards its goals. He states, “We strongly uphold the principle that faculty should play a part in governing the college and in the formulation of their educational affairs. Matters in which the faculty should have a part in include administration and retention standards, introduction of program education, and courses, requirements for graduation, and enrollment of both faculty and students.” CED also advocates that “the equalization of educational development should be a major social goal and a basic requirement of courses.” It is interesting to note that CED is made up of 200 of the most active students, and each must respect the needs and rights of the others. He believes this is best accomplished by coordinating actions. “The Federation is in an individual place of leadership, viable body and as far as I am concerned it is here to stay.”

Reverend Martin to Offer Services

By Paul J. Carroll

A new face is soon to be seen around Bryant. Reverend William Martin, of St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Greenwich, will be working at the College one day a week in an attempt to offer religious services to students and relieve the burden which Father Barreto has carried in serving the entire Community. Reverend Martin, who received his B.A. in English in 1952 from URI, and his Masters in Divinity at Yale, is planning to hold a Counsel Service each Monday at three o’clock. The Episcopal Service, as close to the Roman Catholic Mass, is not only for Episcopalians. Rather, it is open to “any who is interested and believes in the presence.” Reverend Martin stated that three o’clock, Thursday, has been selected as the day for the services because it is a time when classes are not in session, and he hopes it will attract commuters to the service.

Aside from performing religious services, Reverend Martin will also be available to students who wish to talk with him. He will be available Thursday afternoons in Fisher Barberie’s office, and welcomes students to stop in.

AFSC Gives Presentation

The Americans Friends Service Committee came to Bryant College of Greater to give a slide presentation and distribute literature on the prison policies and conditions in Vietnam. The American Friends Service Committee is a nationally based Quaker organization, which has been working since 1956, with the purpose of ending U. S. military intervention in Vietnam. Through the use of their literature and slide show they hope to educate the public on the United States involvement in the imprisonment and torturing of political prisoners. Through this education they hope to motivate people to work with them in their endeavor and instill others to take the presentation given to the students.

Do you feel that a final grade you received was unfair?

If all the final grades you receive are a fair representation of your knowledge and work in class, there is no problem. When they aren’t, something is wrong. It could be many things that brought that sure B to a C. A clerical error, a misunderstanding on your part, or it could possibly be the fault of the professor. We are all human—we all make mistakes.

A student has a right to an explanation of where his mark came from.

Student Senate Appeal Center

Do you feel that you have a valid complaint, come and see us.

The Student Senate Appeal Center has two functions:

1. To supply a student any and all obtainable information including school rules and regulations, proper and most effective procedures to appeal and the educational rights a student is entitled to.

2. A representative of the student appeal center will work directly with you on your case. We will stand beside you every step of the way through the entire appeal procedure.

Don’t complain if you are not willing to appeal. You have the right and the school has developed the procedures to appeal.

The College has an Academic Grievance Committee made up of students, faculty members, and administrators. This committee, whose chairperson is a student, makes recommendations directly to the APPEAL! You could very well say, but what can you lose by trying. If everyone appealed when they thought they had a valid complaint, may everyones would have less to complain about. It is in the interest of a better education.

Sincerely,
Fred Leonard

O'Connell and Pelkey Author Text

by A.M. Vigneau

In this age of specialization, many teachers and a growing number of students are finding that the cost of buying three or four was a lengthy and expensive project for the author. While the new book was being written, there was no need for a new book, but some students can and have been working on the project for nearly a year. The result is that the new book is the first book that has been written for the new book by Paul J. Carroll

Rick Corrente made a proposal to the Student Senate by which the Senate would sponsor a formal, in-class discussion of the issues involved in the motion to put it on the floor and pass. The Senate then voted on a means to raise the $192. The method decided upon is to put a box in the rotunda where people can make donations.

Peter Lordiello noted that the general fund be used for charitable and the sponsoring of organizations, but it was defeated.

Fred Leonard, Speaker of the Senate, reported on the Student Bulletin Board for the Snack Bar. This is mainly for the use of the community and Janice Salvato is working on the Dorm Damage Deposit complaints, which comes under the SAC.

Dean Rogers is working towards acquiring a Senate Bulletin Board for the Snack Bar. This is mainly for the use of the commuters who for the most part do not go by the bulletin board outside the Senate Office. By a five percent student vote, funds in the amount of $120 were allocated and the Snack Bar Board approved.

A motion was passed to recommend to ARA Dining Services to extend the hours in the Snack Bar. Also, the Senate is seeking to enforce the hours of 11:30 to 5:00 p.m. in the Game Room, which has not always been open at its specified hours.

Day for Night

By Bob Rahlst

Francois Truffaut's DAY FOR NIGHT is a film dealing with the making of another movie. The story accurately portrays the likely tribulations such a production is apt to encounter. This French film is subtitled in English, save for some of the dialogue of Pamela, played by Jacqueline Bisset, and her American-doctor husband.

The French title of the movie, La Nuit Americaine (American Night), is better than the English title DAY FOR NIGHT, because the term American night in movie jargon implies that a day scene will be filmed using heavy blue-tinted filters over the camera lens to simulate a night effect. This is characteristic of the entire film-purposeful juxtaposition of a realistic situation. Truffaut carries this theme throughout the course of the film. He casts himself as the director, Ferrand, of the film, "Meet Pamela," within the film which is being produced in a studio and on location near Cannes.

As Truffaut develops DAY FOR NIGHT, Ferrand's plot line in "Meet Pamela" becomes very apparent. By the time Ferrand reaches the later stages of production in "Meet Pamela," he must do a remake of the climactic scene due to the unexpected death of his leading man, Alexandre. In this scene, Alexandre seduces his son's wife, Pamela. This final scene must be reshot with a look-alike for Alexandre because he died before the movie was completed. The scenario for this final take calls for summer to be converted to winter by using fire fighting foam instead of snow, and day is played for night, la nuit Americaine.

From the original scene to the end, day is continually changed for night in many ways. Pamela, Jacqueline Bisset, who plays the female lead, is thought to be a high risk by Ferrand because of her emotional instability. Ultimately, however, she turns out to be one of the more stable members of the cast. Even to the point of seducing her film husband to keep him from abandoning the production, while the script of "Meet Pamela" calls for Pamela's father-in-law, Alexandre, to seduce her and estrange her from her husband.

When DAY FOR NIGHT is first viewed, it may seem rather silly, even lightweight. But this theme of juxtaposed representations or inversions and of evaluation, exemplified by the "window imagery" which Truffaut manifested to symbolize his retrospective outlook of the impact which his genius permeates into French film making.

COMEDY WEEK AT THE BRYANT CINEMA

At The Circus

February 3

6:00 p.m.

AT THE CIRCUS Groucho Marx, Harpo Marx, Chico Marx, Margaret Dumont, Kenny Baker, Florence Rice, Florence Eldridge. The story: how a strong man's assistant, a night watchman, and a lawyer save the funds of a circus owner from a band of crooks. Its function, of course, is merely to provide a line on which to hang a collection of the Marx Brothers' best gags. Majestic Margaret Dumont becomes a human projectile, shot from a circus cannon, in one demanded scene, and the songs include Groucho's noted "Lydia, the Tattooed Lady."

Take the Money & Run

February 6

9:00 p.m.

TAKE THE MONEY AND RUN Woody Allen, Janet Margolin, Marcello Mastroianni, Jacquelyn Moore, Jim Hutton. An innovative exploration using incongruous flashbacks. He is the product of terrible miscalculations: broken glasses, a "bully" neighborhood,icketing parents, acute cello playing and a neurotic tendency to win a girl by compulsively stealing bigger and bigger amounts of money. Woody Allen's first outing as a director satirizes various stereotypes—established French restaurants, suicidally obsessed psychiatrists, mother-loving FBI agents and other crime movie cliches. High point of this comic confusion is the Virgil gang's heist of a Los Angeles bank. Unfortunately, the bank they choose is already being robbed by another gang.

Delta Sigma Phi

Delta Sigma Phi’s goal is to have a constructive as well as a physical pledge program. Unity is a major factor in pledging. If the pledges can maintain unity during pledging, they will once again be able to rely on each other and support one another. Also included in our pledge program are functions to serve the community, in which pledges and brothers will work together. This year’s team will be like to work together for an organization. Of all these aspects added together will make for a well-rounded program.

Kappa Tau

Kappa Tau Fraternity has been around since 1915 and today still contains 28 brothers. Twenty-two distinct personalities with the ability and understanding to respect each other’s opinions and to coordinate these opinions into one working fraternity. To get-brothers in the fraternity is a long, hard road. Pledging activities begin in February and will probably last three to four weeks. Pledging is only a challenge to test those who feel they want to know what brotherhood is all about.

During this time, the pledges will always be together as a unit and will inherit a lasting friendship and a strong feeling of pride. There will be constructive activities along with traditional activities during this time. The main purpose of pledging is to have the pledges get to know all brothers of the fraternity. Remember, fraternities play a large role on this campus and can only be seen by the improved brotherhood for all those who make it through pledging.

Beta Sigma Chi

Beta Sigma Chi, the first fraternity on Bryant’s campus, was established in 1935. Beta Sigma Chi’s pledge program is a flexible three-to-four-week program. This program contains both traditional constructive activities, submitted by the brothers, which will benefit and improve the entire chapter. The other brothers in the chapter. These activities will allow the pledges to pledge as a unit. Through working together, as well as being brothers, a feeling of brotherhood and lasting friendship will be instilled within the pledge class. The program will also contain traditional segments that have been part of Beta’s pledge program since its beginning. The brothers are looking forward to it.

Remember—fraternities play an important role in college life and can educate you through experiences not found in your textbooks.

Phi Epsilon Pi

In February, Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity will continue its constructive pledging program. Phi Epsilon Pi’s program is designed to build the pledge into true brothers of Phi Epsilon Pi. This program finds the pledges working right along side with the brothers.

The brothers and pledges of Phi Epsilon Pi, in the past, have worked with the Philadelphia Eclectic Movement, the Children’s Center in Philadelphia, and the Red Cross. Also in February, the brothers and pledges of Phi Epsilon Pi will participate in the Rikken-Canesi Karate Institute in a fund raising benefit.

Phi Epsilon Pi will again present the Bryant campus with a constructive program that can be accomplished.

Tau Epsilon Phi

This year the pledge program will consist of both physical and constructive participation. The brothers and pledges will be working on a project to improve our environment; we also will work together, helping alumni brothers in projects they have suggested to us.

The constructive part of pledging includes the first two weeks of our three-week program. The final week will be physical for the purpose of totally uniting the brothers with the future fraternal brotherhood.

Sincerely,

Kappa Epsilon

Kappa Epsilon is a very unique fraternity, in which objectives are fulfilled and good times had. It is the fraternity of 30 brothers who care about one another as well as their duty at Bryant. As one wanders throughout the Bryant campus, he will see TKE in the Rotunda, football field, or at a party. That is the thing that TKE demonstrates at all of these functions: that’s PRIDE! Scarcely, the parties have been a tremendous success with our friends and “party” parties. The fraternity has sponsored a mixer, as well as our Freshman Queen Week, that are times to remember.

Philosophy is four-year period, in which TKE’s goal is to simply know the pledges and have them get to know all the brothers. It is with the help of 30 brothers seconded this may be achieved.

The spring semester looks like a good time for all, and TKE, as well as the rest of the Greeks, will try to make it that.

After two disappointing seasons, this year Phi Sigma Iu will also participate in some traditional activities but always for a constructive benefit and never at the expense of the pledges, health of the brothers and TKE are looking forward to you making the right decision, and we sincerely hope this is to pledge Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity.

Phi Upsilon

Since Phi Upsilon Sorority was re-established in 1971, many changes have taken place in our pledging program and many more are in store for this year. The sorority has six active sisters who are all equally anxious to see a successful pledging program put into effect. Most of Phi Upsilon’s pledging is traditional, and through the help of alumni sisters we have just recently met much old friends that we were not aware of and which will be re-entertained in this year’s program.

I know the sisters are anxious to see Campus Pollies put into our pledging calendar again this year because of the advantageous effects it has had on last year’s pledges and all who were involved. Besides all the tradition, each year we support the Heart Fund Drive and attend all Bryant’s home basketball games; and this year will be no exception.

Pledging has always been conducted strictly by the Pledge Mistress, but this year I plan on leaving much of the responsibility of decision making upon our pledges. Pledging for Phi Upsilon always has been four weeks; but if the pledges feel that they can produce the work they must, they can make the decision of it being extended.

The motto of Phi Upsilon is “Peace Through Sisterhood,” and this is what we try to teach our pledges during our pledging period, as well as what the concept of sisterhood means. Pledging has been described in many ways; however, I think pledging is an experience both happy and sad—but when all is done, only the happiness shines through.

If the idea of pledging appeals to some of you and you still have questions, please feel free to contact me or any other sister. Phi Upsilon is being held on Monday evening, February 6. No appointment is necessary, so we all hope to see some interested faces there.

Beta Sigma Omicron

As pledgessimere of Beta Sigma Omicron this year, my goal is to maintain a united pledge class. Our pledges will be shown what sisterhood is and how becoming a member of our organization can be rewarding. My constructive pledge period will contain an equal amount of physical, mental, and goodwill tasks to ensure a well-rounded education into Greek life at Bryant. Our entire sorority is looking forward to an exciting pledge period. A very promising pledge class.

Sigma Lambda Theta

As the school year passes, THETA gets ready for another year of pledging. This program will have the sisters working together with the pledges even more. Last year the “rewards” made a sincere effort to contribute to needed causes. One cold weekend last year pledges and sisters were out collecting for the Easter Seal Drive, eventually bringing in the highest percentage of contributions of any Greek organization.

One group project was the Valentine’s Day Party we put together at the Cedar Crest Nursing Home. For about a week or so we (pledges and sisters) worked together to make a big Valentine centerpiece and small favors filled with candy to hand out to all the elderly people. We also sang songs and everyone enjoyed in. They really seemed to enjoy our company as much as we enjoyed making, others smile for a while.

At Greek’s on campus known, THEETA’s “fly” is a local unique, traditional part of our program. This year we hope to add a few more constructive and rewarding projects to our program—such as additional basketball games, and of course, the field and songs.

Sigma Iota Xi

This year the Sisters of Sigma Iota Xi have organized a constructive pledge program. Throughout the three weeks of pledging, we hope the pledges will achieve the objectives of unity and sisterhood. Many constructive activities will unfold in our pledging programs. The pledge will initiate their own basketball team. They will also work on community programs. Sigma Iota Xi, united with the brothers and pledge brothers of Tau Epsilon Pi, will hold their annual Sea Queen Weekend in February. We feel that throughout these various constructive projects the pledges will come to learn the true meaning of sisterhood.

Sigma Iota Beta

Sigma Iota Beta Sorority was founded in 1944 by Margaret Kane. Mr. Kane met with a group of hard-working and interested girls and organized our chapter. Through his leadership the sorority had an active term and the Sibbies became an involved unit of Bryant College.

Each year SIB has a basketball, softball, and volleyball team of which we are all proud of.

Included in SIB’s most recent accomplishments was the winning the Mr. and Miss Personality Contest.

There is a special spirit to SIB. It’s difficult to describe, but every Sib knows it. It’s a mixture of honesty, love, and care. The Sibbies are not a carbon copy of one another. Each one of us is an individual, but when all our individual ideas and personalities are combined, we have the unity and sisterhood and Sigma Iota Beta.

Pledging for SIB consists of four weeks. The pledges will all wear a certain uniform every day during pledging. This will be all required to do both physical as well as mental things to help them become a Sorority woman.

The Sibbies are back and the Sibbies are psychiatric. We are prepared for all the ups and downs of the coming semester.

SIB VOLLEYBALL was exciting and full of enthusiasm this year. SIB’s A team, backed by smitten and her "mangle foot" were and there to show. SIB A played exceptionally well. They placed first in their division but lost to Theta in the final playoff. All in all, it was an enjoyable time.

Phi Upsilon was also a big success. They came alive in the season, backed by "the fist up" and "Bunny and her "ballet tina dive." SIB B held a 7-9 season. A season we all are proud of and enjoyed immensely.

The Sibbies extended their volleyball season by playing an enjoyable game against Club’s competitive team. SIB B came to Bryant on a Sunday and had lots of fun playing a win against SIB B and a loss with SIB A. This event is sure to be a repeated performance next year.

SIB-TEK-C ritual was divided into A, B, and C teams. Team A succeeded on its workout to Sib Silo - BSO. The team was great—backed by Moose his "head shots" and Sue, the one-armed rimer.

Team B, backed by Mayo and his surprise shots and Club and her "head shots" were the crowd enthused. Team B lost to 1 A and TFD-5X, but gave the performance of an enjoyable time.

Team A-A is still in the running with Julie and her "super spikes" and Dan standing over the crowd. They have one less "head shot" but are still alive and well.

SIB held a pre-game "hot pink" on November 6 in the Covered Lounge. We had a few drinks and had a great time.

Also, our ANNUAL TEA was held Sunday night in the Embassy Club in Woosterock. It was a rowdy time, which also began the Christmas season for everyone who attended.

The "Hand of Friendship" is a special feeling of honesty, loyalty, and pride to the sisters of Alpha Phi Kappa.

The main goal of pledging for this year is to instill unity among the pledges and the sisters. Pledging also brings sisterhood and friendship to the girls, and this is something that will never be lost, but always with you.

To bring about unity among the girls, they must go through two to four weeks of pledging. Alpha Phi Kappa is proud and knows how you achieve sisterhood.

Police in Everett, Washington, say they skipped a breath test for sobriety on a 20-year-old man whose car smashed into a store and caused $30,000 worth of damage. The car crashed into a state liquor store, and police said flames from the broken merchandise made sobriety tests impossible.

The national fuel shortage took its toll on amateur athletics when two private swim clubs had to conduct their competition over the phone.

The Coach of the Valley swim club said his team didn't have enough gasoline to travel 125 miles to Pasadena, California, so the coaches reached a compromise this weekend.

The Valley Swim Club swam in its swimming pool and the Cal Tech Swim Team swam in its. And, with the aid of the telephone, all four lanes of the pool was fired simultaneously.

When each race was finished, the coaches relayed the times to the phone and the results were posted on duplicate scoreboards—125 miles apart.

FILL ER UP WITH CHOCOLATE CHIPS

A battle between the Internal Revenue Service and the Girl Scouts appears to be shaping up in Miami.

Service station operator Louis Doucette has a rule, No Cookies, No Fill-Up. Lately because of the energy crisis, the IRS has taken a dim view of such gimmicks.

Doucette let his daughter and other members of her Girl Scout group sell cookies to motorists waiting in line at his station and then gave sales a little extra boost.

One motorist declined when an attendant asked if he wanted to buy cookies. The attendant then poked his head in the car and asked:

"Well, how's your gas situation?"

He explained that without a purchase of cookies there would be a 5-gallon limit on gas sales. The customer called that blackmail, but then he smiled, bought the cookies and got his full tank of gas.

Doucette says he doesn't see anything wrong with the idea and plans to continue the practice for a few more days.

March 8, 1971, Joe Frazier vs. Muhammad Ali in the fight of the century for the heavyweight championship of the world. Joe Frazier was victorious in the fight by an unanimous decision after 15 rounds. Despite winning the fight, Frazier took a tremendous beating. He needed hospitalization for one month... All suffered a severely damaged jaw. Most boxing experts believe Ali fought a "stupid" fight.

Since their first fight Ali has fought 13 times and Frazier has just four bouts to his credit. Frazier had looked unimpressive in these fights which included a mismatch knockout by George Foreman. All never seemed to regain his strength even though he won 12 of the 13 fights. The crime the United States Army bestowed upon Ali damaged his career. We will never know when he was at his prime. Also, there is little question Ali's pounding of Frazier took a lot out of the man.

The promoters finally staged a rematch. The consensus speculated the fight would be between two has-beens who had nothing left to offer. These people proved to be wrong.

A slim, smart, and in-shape Ali entered the ring Monday night, while a strong mean looking Frazier came into his corner. Ali came out dancing and he proceeded to dance for the entire fight. He picked away at Frazier and easily won the opening round. Two beautiful combinations almost put Joe Frazier away in round two. But Frazier would not go down. The third and fourth rounds belonged to Frazier. He scored damaging quick left hooks. Ali used his jab effectively in the fifth and sixth rounds. This writer believed Ali would continue this pattern for the remainder of the fight. Joe Frazier did not let this happen. He came out fighting in the seventh and eighth rounds. Once again he started to score with left hooks but failed to hurt Ali. The genius of Ali was evident in the final four rounds. He danced, jabbed, and scored with brilliant combinations. Frazier would never come close to Ali. In the twelfth round Frazier knew he needed a knockout to win the fight. Ali stayed away from "Smokin' Joe" for two minutes. He proceeded to score with more brilliant combinations to finish the round. Ali won a unanimous decision. Referee Tony Perez scored the bout 6-5-1. All the two judges scored it 8-4 and 7-4-1. All I had the fight 8-4.

From this writer's point of view Muhammad Ali dominated the fight. He definitely has lost some of his once dominating quickness. But he has changed his style. Ali now fights like an artist. He has a so-called game plan and follows that plan throughout. Ali is still a great fighter and if he continues to fight by studying his opponent, could regain the championship. On the other hand, Joe Frazier is not the "beam's ham." He fought a courageous fight. But it appears he may have punished himself cut and taken far too many poundings to continue as a contender. Retirement seems realistic for Frazier. He has nothing to be ashamed of, and should retire before he is embarrassed.

Ken Norton will probably get a title shot at George Foreman. The winner would likely fight Ali. If possible, boxing fans hope Ali gets his chance at the title before he reaches old age. No matter what, Muhammad Ali is still the people's champ.

On Thursday night, January 26, the 1973-74 edition of Bryant's Table Tennis Team debuted by enduring a severe whipping from the paddlers of the Bruins of Brown University. 21-6 agreement scheduled the match (equivalent to a scrimmage) which offered practical experience and an earnest involvement. The two rival squads had intended services serving for competitive improvement while playing under the most realistic condition. Stationed at 741 Westminster Street in Providence, both star-studded geographies displayed prominent qualities of sportsmanship.

The Brown quintet, without a doubt, was the powerhouse as they have finished impressively in two leagues of intercollegiate competition. The Bruins were run-up last year in the eight-team Ivy League and dominated the six-team Rhode Island Collegiate League last season, compiling a perfect 10-0 record. Brown manifested a consistent offensive fury with an incredibly flawless demonstration of table tennis. The score of 21 for the local capital city team and but six earned by Bryant, failed to implicate the type of play illustrated by the Smithfield confrontation.

Bryant utilized all their resources, battling their invariably boasted fans with eight eager and optimistic enthusiasts. Four of 1972-73's Indian fire on fire were represented by Howie Donsfeld absent from the Bryant roster. The visitors Team "A" and "B" members both took part in the Orange Blossom and Schenider luminated the Indian's lethargic warpath as the New England contributed the team's lone winning mark at 3-2. A spectacular comeback bid by the sophomores, culminated when capturing his final three in the straight games. Browns surprising enough appropriated just five points in the three preliminary stints.

The contest featured highly-intensive individual matches. The high-scoring included several Bryant College Dorm 12 fans among others witnessed tremendous revenge entanglements in much of the three-hour struggle. undergraduates' brilliance and experience enabled them to overcome many crucial volleys in the majority of the tightly fought games. As had been previously customary in prior matches, each win constituted setting out of three games. This produced a single team point, with the winning side obliging only a minimum of 14 for the conquest.

- Quinnipiac vs Bryant
- Will the Streak Run to Eleven?

  by Steve Sadecky

Quinnipiac College plays host to Quinnipiac College Monday night. The Bobcats have beaten the Indians ten consecutive times over the last year to extend a team to trip to this year's NCAA Tournament. The Indians, playing excellent ball of late, should make a game of it. The players are confident of the victory, as well as they should be, Charlie Armstrong is in good form, and Dave Sareneff should give Bryant the rebounding advantage. Walt Washington's defense and outside shooting along with Ned Bobhan's passing should put Bryant in high gear. Fans support is a must for this game.

A Solid Round For Boxing

During the past week, the people involved in the world of boxing jumped high in ecstasy as Muhammad Ali recaptured the lightweight in boxing's heavyweight division.

By staging an amazingly difficult non-stop fight with another former title holder, Joe Frazier, Ali, the most popular of all contenders, has thrust himself into contention for another crack at the heavyweight title.

George Foreman, the current heavyweight champion, appeared in the ring before the fight, along with other noted boxing celebrities including his next adversary, Ken Norton. Foreman took on as Ali and Frazier pleased most of the crowd that paid over a million dollars to see the match live at Madison Square Garden.

Both fighters entered the ring with anger in their eyes. At the bell for the first round of the two practically ran to the center of the canvas to begin. Ali won the first two rounds and stopped the fight for the second time, and as Ali won another title. The three fighters were all quite evenly matched, and the fight was a real knockout punch which would finish off Ali. Fortunately for boxing fans, Foreman won the fight.

Because of Ali's victory, we now have four contenders for the heavyweight title. Three of the eight challenges are Muhammad Ali, Ken Norton, and Joe Frazier. Of the four, the owner of the title, George Foreman. Although there are too many possibilities to list on paper, boxing's future looks like this.

Foreman should win his next fight with Ken Norton. If he does, then he must fight Ali for two reasons. First, Ali has beaten Norton; and second, Foreman loses another chance at the title. After Norton tosses to Foreman, his next opponent is Joe Frazier. Don't count Smokin' Joe out yet because he is sure on an even keel with Ali as far as his ability is concerned. Each fighter has a style entirely his own, but two fights have been fought in the ring and both have been extremely close. I count on Joe Frazier to beat Ken Norton. If he does, he deserves another crack at Foreman and the title. The loser of the Frazier-Norton fight will win the heavyweight title. Foreman will fight for the last time and the title will be in contention for another crack at the title.

Oh yes, I forgot to tell you that there is one missing ingredient. This is exactly what I have in mind. That ingredient is the Lomond. In the near future you will learn very quickly not to bet against George Foreman. All of this looks quite exciting for the next two years if all four stay healthy.
