Women’s Summit to be held March 29

By Janet Proulx

SMITHFIELD, R.I. – The Third Women’s Summit, “Women and Business in the 21st Century: Shaping the Future,” will be held at Bryant on March 29, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Limited seating is available for Bryant students who wish to attend all or part of the conference. Students may attend free of charge, except for the optional luncheon. Seating will be provided for any students who wish to hear the luncheon keynote speaker Kelyn Brannon, chief financial officer for Fort Point Partners in San Francisco, and former chief accounting officer for Amazon.com, International.

Other keynote speakers are Sally Helgesen, consultant and author of three books including The Female Advantage: Women’s Ways of Leadership, and Susan L. Taylor, editor-in-chief of Essence magazine and vice president of Essence Communications, Inc.

Call 232-6565 for information. To view the conference brochure, go to the Bryant Web page, click on “What’s New,” and access the Women’s Summit site.

To register, simply print out the registration page, fill it out, and bring it to the Office of Career Services. Space is filling up quickly, so register soon. Limited seating still available for Bryant students.

Bryant College held a Community Forum on February 24, at which President Machtley addressed several issues of importance. The school’s mission statement about being a student-centered college was emphasized, stressing the importance of continuing to help students to achieve their personal best in life and business. The focus of the discussion was on the new academic initiatives that were previously introduced at the last community meeting. An upcoming calendar of events was presented, as well.

The president reported an update about strategic plans for academic programs in the year 2000 and beyond. It is clear what direction the school needs to go, and the staff was asked for ideas as to how to pursue these goals of the future. Several ideas were touched upon, including ways to expand programs within the business school, introducing a school of technology/ecommerce, promoting international studies in order to give ourselves a competitive advantage, and also somehow adding a school of communications or psychology, without becoming a full blown liberal arts school. However, the president maintains the notion of staying a school that develops people for professional careers.

The college is constantly trying to attract better students in such a competitive world. President Machtley addressed that in order to do this we must center first on recruiting students. Once they decided to attend the school we need to reinvigorate them, or stimulate them mentally, physically, and emotionally. Finally, we need to focus on retaining the students: addressing issues such as the graduation rate, how many students came in as freshman, and why some decided to leave.

Also discussed were the upcoming Outreach Programs. On March 29, the Third Annual Women’s Summit will offer extraordinary speakers and programs. A good turnout is anticipated by both students and staff. Last year the Summit closed early for registration due to high demand, so make your reservations early. The dates for a Cultural Series of Trustee Speakers were presented, as well. On April 5, at 8:00 p.m., Jerry Greenfeld will speak, and Piers Lane will be speaking on April 11.

The President also mentioned how Bryant College will undergo an evaluation visit March 5-8, by a team representing the Commission of Institutions of Higher Education of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. The purpose of this visit is to determine Bryant’s eligibility for reaccreditation, an important issue for the College.

Another topic discussed was that of the great changes which will soon take place here at the College due to numerous facility renovations. All the construction will begin this July, in the summer of 2000. The new Wellness Center will be ready for students to use in the fall.
Dear Bryant College:

We just wanted to thank you again for your hard work in organizing the Rachel’s Hope Walk-a-Thon, in September. Because of your effort, we were able to send to Canavan Research Fund over $18,000 as a direct result of the Walk-a-Thon.

We are waiting for FDA to approve the Gene Therapy Trial. Once it is approved, Rachel will be going to Philadelphia for the operation. You can truly take pride in knowing that you directly helped to save, not only Rachel’s life, but also all those who suffer from Canavan Disease.

Rachel is now 17 months old and is doing remarkable well. She is now able to roll over, reach for toys, and vocalize. Her eyesight remains great and focused and she continues to improve daily.

We are very excited about the upcoming Gene Therapy Trial, as we continue to work on all of Rachel’s skills.

Sincerely,
Sherri (Sigel ’89), Ken, Jessica & Rachel Epstein

Response to Questions Raised

By Andrea Piccirelli

In the last edition, I brought forth a serious issue concerning the health and well being of our students. In attempt to ensure that the students I was addressing would know I was speaking about them, I inadvertently included Bryant’s entire international student population. My sincerest apologies to those students who were lumped together with that group of students whose behavior I brought into question. I in no way intended to offend anyone, but I was merely seeking to make it clear as to whom I was referring to, in an attempt to curb this type of incident from happening again.

In response to Kate Sullivan’s defense of these smoking behaviors, “United States Public Health Efforts should not be held as the standard...” I agreed with her, when in my previous editorial, I recognized that fact when I stated, “It is my understanding that many foreign countries do not convey the serious health issues associated with smoking. In the US, we are bombarded with anti-smoking campaigns which raise our social awareness.”

In regards to Sullivan’s question about whether or not the faculty and staff members that I mentioned are aware of the anti-smoking social phenomenon, I feel that if they were not already, they should be. I did state in my editorial that I found their behavior to be more appalling than the particular group of students that I had mentioned.

Regardless of how we should be referring to this group of people, I still feel that both their habit of smoking indoors, in a non-smoking building, and their behavior towards those choosing not to be exposed to second-hand smoke is inexcusable.

Mixed Signals
Another One of Life's Little Lessons

A segment of the Bryant College Community that for the most part remains invisible has recently been recognized for their rude behavior or perhaps for their physical attributes. I'm not sure which. Do the faculty and staff members who smoke in the Unistructure need to be taught a little lesson or is it just people who look foreign or who swear? Are faculty and staff members who smoke in the Unistructure Americans who aren't aware of the fact that it is no longer socially acceptable to expose innocent people to secondhand smoke? What does a foreigner look like?

There has been an anti-smoking campaign going on in the United States for about 20 years now. Here are some ironies. The numbers of smokers is on the decline in some areas of the United States and in some segments of our population but on the rise among women and teens! Cigarettes are heavily exported from the United States. United States Public Health efforts should not be held as the standard bearer for the rest of the world.

Cigarettes by their very design are meant to create an addiction within a person. It used to be considered stylish or fashionable to smoke because advertising campaigns along with their subliminal messages taught us so.

Cigarettes are heavily exported from the United States. I wonder if there is an aggressive advertising campaign that has created has fostered the demand. Launching into a litany of vulgarities towards anyone is really unacceptable behavior. When it comes to manners, many American students at Bryant College are given the benefit of the doubt by Bryant's foreign students EVERY DAY. (Not just the cold and rainy days when no one wants to go outside.)

Let's have some compassion for the millions whom, amidst castigation are struggling with addiction and for those who will eventually be lured into smoking. Let's also have a thought provoking discussion about tobacco use that is separate from a thought provoking discussion about cultural sensitivity.

WANTED BY DPS STUDENT WORKERS

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) is looking to hire student workers. Are you available on Fridays and Saturdays? If so, call DPS. DPS is looking for students to assist at the Entry Control Station. Your duties would include answering the phone, filling out and passing out guest passes.

HOURS NEEDED:

Fridays
Noon - 4:00 p.m.
4:00 p.m. - Midnight or
until 2:00 a.m. if possible

Saturdays
Noon - 4:00 p.m.
4:00 p.m. - Midnight or
until 2 am if possible

If interested, call X-6001 and ask for
Lt. Thomas Mefford

You will!
The men’s rugby team had its traditional recruiting meeting but the turnout was not as good as expected. We would like to thank the few guys who did come to the meeting and encourage them to give rugby a chance. If anyone is still interested in playing but missed the last meeting, give us an email at rugby@bryant.edu.

The rugby team would like to say happy birthday to Zombie, Pat and Mert who all had recent birthdays. Zombie thanks for getting everyone up at 9 am on Saturday to watch 48 hours of the World Cup Team OICE80! Spider and Twink thanks for the doughnuts and the pizza. Chip you got to learn to leave those kids from Panama alone even if there not going to play. Forrest don’t let anyone use your phone anymore. Allison and Shawn, thanks for the show. Bones stop starting fights with Rowdy’s boys; you’re always such a tough guy. What do you Turkish kids eat that make you guys stand so much? Kesharama you can’t fight on cru- ches, well you can but just don’t. Do you believe there was a Mad Dog, Huey, and Rhino sighting all in one night? Is Flash back, yet? Someone keep an eye on Pauly next time please.

It was nice to see such a nice turnout at a social function, too bad it wasn’t ours. You know you need to get well ahead when you have to start fighting girls for fun (and losing). Lets see, Chip 0-Laurie 1, Josh 10-Joanna 0, Josh 0-Susie 2, Bones and Natalie, who knows what that score is. Bathroom, what bathroom?? I wasn’t there. Broken table? Not me either. Who can tell that Chip and Dip aren’t together anymore?? I know can.

If you need help, and you can find them, maybe you can hire the A-Team.

Bryant Communication Society
By Bethany Bulger

The Communication Society would like first to welcome all new BCS members and communication minors. Our events this semester have been successful and we have been busy planning many events for the second half of the semester. Past speakers at our meetings include Shawn O’Rourke from Cox Cable and Ken Frankling, Vice President of Communications at Citizens Bank.

Our next meeting is on Thursday, March 30. At this meeting we will be co-sponsoring a program, Careers in Public Relations, Communications, and Advertising, along with the Office of Career Services. The speakers include: Deanna Gummer, Public Relations Assistant for The Washington Trust Company; Audrey Basso, Corporate Communications Manager for Hasbro, Inc.; and Mary Corcoran, Production Coordinator and Traffic Assistant for Rivers Boyle Walsh & Co. On April 6, we will have Bryant Alumni from the class of 1999 talk about their careers in the communication field and what to expect your first year out of college. We also have a trip to New York on April 14, and an end of the year dinner on April 20.

The Communication Society meets on Thursdays at 5 pm in the Bryant Center 24/8. All are welcome to attend. If you have any questions or suggestions you can email commclub@bryant.edu.

Hey how is everyone doing? Now I know what everyone is thinking and yes this is a joke, this is my second, count it, second week in a row where I’ve gotten an article in. I know I’m awesome, thanks. Well things have been going pretty well down at Beta. Recently we participated in the Frosty 5K in support of the leukemia society. The race went well and the brothers had a lot of fun. We’re now preparing to put Beta’s skills to work. We’re going to be helping Habitat for Humanity build a home when we return from spring break. Lumber is head of the committee, he won due to his vast experience in building tables and houses in Vermont.

Speaking of spring break. Beta has two crews going in separate directions. Flank and Co., is heading for the lovely country of Canada. It’s going to be cold, eh? I’m sure the showers have not recovered from last year, eh. Have fun spending your ‘vacation’ with Theta, you poor guys. Tang is going to Cancun. As for the seniors they’re going to Cancun as well just not with Tang. Can you blame them? As for Mox, he has several shows lined up. It’s going to be tough work but he doesn’t mind because he’s living la vida loca. Go suedeheads.

We had more requests for positions and although there is a lot of tough competition, if I were a betting man I would put my money on Mox’s left side burn to pull away with vice president... and the right one to get assistant treasurer. That away... MMMMM!

Tang learned the application of the crane kick. Flank and Bishop

CAMPUS SCENE

Delta Zeta
By Kimberly Pike

Hey Delta Zeta! Welcome back again for another fun filled week! First of all, happy 21st birthday to Bydell, we all hope you had a great time!

Watch out everybody. Avery’s car is eating wallets. Zoey & Alan need to be on the lookout for “jump jump, click click”! In other hall 4 news, Graci wants to thank Zoey (her PIC) for being the only brave enough to go on a road trip last Sunday and they are looking to initiate a new Ming Member. Graci would also like to thank the Saturday night participants. She leaves with this, “Wicka Chickas... and Jane Fonda’s in the house” - I guess Nick made us proud... Arist had a stressful week like many of us-Kitt says to hang in there. For stress relief, just hop into the bubble and escape to the apartment, aka Pizza Town-thanks Kitt and Anthony (the pizza boy).

For all of us who did not get the pleasure to meet Mr. Ricky Roy, he’s gone so tough luck. I didn’t want to see his teeth anyway! Kitt and Garette are planning another trip to Roller world, they need to finish their conversation, so I guess no one else is invited.

Kacey’s looking for free stuff, she’s been referred to the panly hose queen (you know who you are)! Arist wants to know why everybody wants to touch the pink and green, but I want to know what is up with DZ and Rugby? Dawsyn, it’s okay for people to lose on “Who Wants To Be A Millionaire.” Sounds like Delta Zeta made a pretty good showing at TEP last Saturday and that Thursday, Kacey had a blast on her first weeknight out, although she’s still looking for her samich. Sydney’s pulling people through hell weeks of classes-Masyn says thanx. Sydney that doesn’t balance out the bad habits I’m hearing about! Graci got the CVS but Sydney wants to be more discrete next time. Graci, I want to know why it’s so hard to believe that you didn’t get anything on you after hearing that story??? While I was away last weekend I guess there was an entertaining and educational party! I missed, Julie wants to thank Allison for hosting it, can I still get a catalogue? Zombie has taken on Uncle duties and according to schedule he’s done a great job! Thank you Mattie and Pepper for coming to dinner, come visit us anytime! In other Delta Zeta news, we had a successful chapter retreat last Saturday afternoon. We would like to thank our Regional Chapter Coordinator, Gay Rose, for attending. Also congratulations to Stacey Burinskas (otherwise known as Peppe) our new Collegiate Chapter Director! This last but not least thanks go to Gretchen, our National Consultant, you are wonderful thanks for everything!

Our alumni weekend is coming up soon, stay tuned for details in upcoming Archway Articles along with our Delta Zeta Year in Review. I hope everyone has a wonderful and safe spring break! Enjoy it now because we’ll all be broke after it!

Men’s Rugby
By Donald Foudrat

First off a quick dedication to AJ. Good-bye. Anyways, the season is almost here, ruggers, so get ready to play. Practice will be starting up sometime next week.
learned that: even though they are younger, they can still beat 28 year olds at basketball. Nixon learned how to get tough with his natural self, unfortunately no one else was as comfortable with his natural side as he was. Flank is looking on making a killing on March Madness, so anyone with 10 dollars who wants to double their money, give Flank a call. Half a snap goes out to Tang who finished out all 21. I personally think Tri-Sig had the right idea. The rest of the Week: “I might not be good looking, but at least I can satisfy.”—Tusk

Delta Chi Fraternity
By Andre Scott

Hey what’s up? This is our first article in like a year or so, but you’ll be hearing more from us from now on. First things first. We actively participated in the White Ribbon fund-raiser last week. This past week, we had our annual Swing-a-thon to raise money for cancer research. We have Two associate members, Brian and Matt who are doing a good job so far. We also have a new E Board in Place. The president is Rob Mancusi. The vice president is Aaron Kanarvogel. The secretary is Josh Gampel. The Treasurer is Mike Gumble. The Alumni secretary is Kurt Volhardt. The sergeant-at-arms is Eddie Darragh. I also wanna say happy 21st to Tucker and C.J. who held their own at Parentes that night. We had a banging party with Theta on Friday night. Hey Julie, see I played your song eight. Maria, Maria. Nate learned a valuable lesson the hard way this week, never play with hammers, or you might get bruised. Also, try walking down the stairs next time, instead of rolling down it. Rick started going to the gym recently, so whenever you see him offer some words of encouragement. Don’t worry Lisa, I’ll make sure he sticks to his workout schedule. If you’re wondering why Rick hasn’t been around these past couple a weekends, it’s because he’s busy taking umpire classes. He someday wants to be a major league umpire, if the Financel things doesn’t work out or vice versa. If you’ve been to our floor lately, I’m sure you can’t help but notice Steve’s room door, or lack there of. Needless to say, Steve is in a state of panic and disbelief right now. I had to have a talk with our sports chair on the reason behind our current 4 game skid in football. According to him, “we’re on a roll right now, and there is something positive we can draw from this.” Okay coach, I just learned of some disturbing news. It seems as if the recent outbreak of teen pop music has somehow made it onto our floor here at Bryant College. Now, the fingers are pointing towards Tucker. Upon confronting him about this, I was told, and I quote, well, I was told I couldn’t put in the Archway, I’ll keep you posted on that one. Oh, one more thing, Wyler wants to know if anybody has any extra tickets to the upcoming CASH Money/Ruff Ryders concert. Quote of the week: You have money, I guess you gave you blood this week (the names have been withheld to protect the victim.).

Phi Kappa Tau

Here it is, ladies and gentlemen. We’ve had a long dry spell since our last Archway article, but since we haven’t had any parties, we found it difficult to find stuff to write about. Most of our time was spent in the library, boosting our 2.65 GPA. I did manage to put a few things together, though, so here goes: Let’s start by paying respects to our departed brothers, Tully and Denk. They both found the rigors of a tough class schedule to be too much to handle, so both left. Last I heard, Tully sold his brothers and sisters and was headed for Vegas. Derick was already there, having lost his parking spot at Dunkin’ Donuts. He packed up his mobile home, aka “The Full Monte” and skipped town. He did manage to pick up cigarettes and lip creme before he left. We also have to say goodbye to a few honorary brothers. Chimera the snake, who we thought was gone forever, returned one morning only to meet his maker over Winter Session. One of the scorpions got lung cancer and became flattened. And finally, the lizard found his unhitable demise in Wally’s teeth. With Tully gone, we have had a plethora of new leaders this year, most notably at the Cornerstone and on top of M3. We also have had many sightings of Jordan wearing a Dallas Mavericks #76 jersey. Dennis “the Worm” Rodman is his new favorite player because he loves the way he rebounds. He says he loves the way he goes after every ball, right after it hits the rim. Speaking of basketball, our senior’s team and our B team have been tearing it up, led by star forward Ryan “Bombs” Reeves. Christian will be on the court soon, after his H-bomb sneakers come in. In other sports news, my golf swing is about to form. I did some training before the winter and I’m looking for under par scores this spring. Trent had a brush with a snaggle tooth. It went away one night only to show up again. Finally got that thing cleared up, Trent? I hope so, man, that’s gross.

Queen has been his usual self. He and Trent are happy roommates. But Queenie, which way do you plan on going to the bathroom. Kronoff has done his share of falling down, especially during his try for the school record. He missed breaking the record, but something tells me by the time we graduate, we will be crowning a new champion. Kyle’s 21st at Box seats was good, I think. He kept all the good stuff in his hand. They didn’t have the shot that Kyle wanted though. And good thing, I would have taken a double.

We need to thank Tri-Sig for hosting a party on the night of the NBA Dunk Contest. The sisters of the Sigma were nice enough to open their rooms so all the guys could pay attention to the important stuff. We also have to thank Phi Sig and DZ to participating in a study we did. We tried creating an environment where the guy to girl ratio is better than the 29:1 average at Bryant. We managed to make it 2 girls for every guy, but it only lasted 1½ hour. I guess it was to good to be true.

Finally, we’d like to invite everyone down to hang out. At Hall 1, Floor 1, you can practice your Flying Chinaman on your choice of six doors. You can also start a band, passed out people artistry in a class led by Dal. And, for the low, low price of $20, Kyle will bite the head off of a live snake. For $10 more, you can see Schoenbaum perform acts of self-mutilation with a BB gun. Scotty is also looking for volunteers to help move front off the floor. Well, that’s about it for now. I don’t have the same hand strength that Kronoff has, so I’m getting tired of writing. Maybe I need to practice. Anyway, until next time (God only knows when that will be) KT Top Dog!!!

Student Programming Board
By Lynne Morrison

The Student Programming Board has been successfully planning events to keep all of you entertained through the beginning half of the semester, and has a lot more in store for all of you. First, we have a big announcement. We have booked one of the two bands for this year’s Spring Weekend. The first band is... "Run DMC", a hip-hop, rap­ ping band. Be sure to watch out for more infor­ mation. Also, we 'hope everyone enjoyed "Exposer X" by Tony D'Angelo this past Mon­ day night in Janikies and the Bryant Aca­ demic Invitational (BAI) on Wednesday night in Papito.

Other ongoing SPB events:

Band/Comedian Se­ ries: Every Wednesday night in South Dining Hall at 9:00 p.m. Free Food, Free Admission. Lots of Fun! The next Comedian is March 22nd, and the next Band is March 29th. Don't miss it!

Bingo Series: Every other Tuesday night in South Dining Hall at 8:00 p.m. Great Prizes, Free Admission. Free Food, Lots of Fun! The next Bingo will be March 28th due to Spring Break!

Sunday, March 26th: Movie: The Bone Collector. It'll be playing in Janikie Auditorium at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Admission is $1.00 and candy/ soda/popcorn are all $0.50 each.

Some Future Events: Boston Trip on March 25th, New York City Trip on April 9th (co-spon­ sored with Hillie), Semi­ Formal in April and Spring Weekend (April 28th-April 30th). Watch for more details and in­ formation.

The Student Program­ ming Board hopes ev­ eryone is having a suc­ cessful semester this far, and wishes every­ one a fun and safe spring break. If you have any suggestions, please give us a call at X618. Be sure to check out our web page at www.bryant.edu/~spb for more information about our upcoming events.

Tau Kappa Epsilon
By Greg Montesano

Ah yes, and here we are, another fine week in the Archway. There has really been quite a bunch of events that have been shaking around the TKE fraternity as of late. Why don't we go in depth on some of these topics and address them.

TKE will once again be running the torch for the 2000 Special Olympic Games. We will run the torch from Bryant to URI and back, which adds up to 100 miles. This really gives us a good chance to get our name out and aid in a good cause. Not to mention the fact that Adam has been falling off the Jenny Craig wagon severely and needs some inspiration to run to drop some heat out the end before spring break.

The TKE floor hockey team is now in 1st place after our forth consecutive win this past Monday night and McNamay still smells. Eric "the Dunce" Kasliewicz has really been coming up huge for the team in between the pipes. His key to having such big games is indulging in a couple of toasted salads with Dan before games. Jamoulis is still score­ less however...

Women's Rugby
By Joanna Rockwood and Annie Hodgkiss

Hello girls! Is everyone ready for spring break? We are all look­ ing forward to a break, but before we go we have an informational meeting for any new re­ cruits. We would like to start by thanking the seniors for the "rugby etiquette" meeting last Friday. It was good for all of us, and we had a lot of fun. As for the party after...I hope you all enjoy your new "toys," You pervers. We would also like to thank F7 for always having their doors open...we are enjoying our free door prize. The leopard print really matches our suite motif. As for the rest of the weekend, it was relatively unevent­ ful. Everyone went home for some home con­ connection.

Friday night was pretty eventful. We would like to thank Genny for redesigning our bathroom. Don't worry, we'll be sending you the bill!! Chipper did you find what you were looking for? Jill would also like her Tony's menu back. Boys, next time we'd appreciate the test­ osterone overload left at the door!! We had fun anyway though!!

We'd like to congrat­ ulate Beta for winning their first "race" on Sat­ urday night. Don't get used to it. Step would like to apologize to Tang for sitting on his injured foot, but next time just don't leave it on the chair!! Guppy, we see you had another epi­ sode of "the terrible 2 left feet." Watch out for those stairs! Deanna's been watching a little too much wrestling these days. You are NOT the Rock!! Beta, you should've known better than to try and win an ice fight with us!! You cold, Bates, we'll be seeing you at the couch. Don't forget to say hi!! Kelly and Jill, why are your throats so dry that you need 2 con­ tainers of Brita? That's it for now. We would like to invite any interested women to come join us at our informational meeting this Friday, March 3rd at 3:30 pm in the sec­ ond floor social lounge of hall 15. No experience is necessary. Come find out how much fun it can be!! We hope everyone enjoys their spring break. We will talk to you again when we return!!

Sigma Sigma Sigma
By Tara George

Well this past week­ end proved to be just as fun as the last. Softball was a good time although capac­ ity seemed to exceed the max. Tiff claims to be the winner and is demanding her prize, and for the record, I am not Satan.

It seemed to be the time this weekend to bust a move. Cheryl, Tara and Sue performed a recital in the suite while Carissa and Jodi learned some great new moves in Dance Party U.S.A., a.k.a. 412. Both Cheryl and Genny got all glazed up and were the dancing queens among the 60's generation at Cher on Friday. Sat­ urday turned out to be a big event starting out with an all-terrific brunch followed by festivities at G-block. Shannon and Lil Sa­ rah were 'superstars.'

We tried to teach Katie some game skills, she's got all the arc but not the aim. Becky, Shannon is sorry for Saturday night, but would like to inform you that your new hat look is great. We'd appreciate if everyone would say a prayer of thank you that you didn't have to get her leg amputated. Kudos to the genius doctor. Its become apparent that Stalker.com has been giving out e-mail addresses out- we'd just like to warn ev­ eryone in the event of an unsuspecting mes­sage. Well the time is finally upon us—Spring Break! Hopefully things will go just as well as last year and meet up to everyone's high expectations. Good luck to Cheryl and Julie for the de­ but in Hollywood. You can do it!! Highlight of the week: Lucky's Back!!

Downfall of the week: It's not Lucky!!

By Leanna Mansour

The majority of college students go away for spring break. The fact is that most or all of these students are going to drink alcoholic beverages. The problem is that people don't drink responsibly. You should know your limit while consuming alcohol.

Some helpful facts to think about while on spring break are to eat food while you drink. Food, especially high protein food such as meat, cheese, and peanuts, will help slow the absorption of alcohol into your body. Don't participate in drinking games, and skip a drink every now and then. Having a non-alcoholic drink between alcoholic ones will help keep your blood alcohol concentration level down, as does spacing out your alcoholic drinks. Make sure to keep active; don't just sit around and drink. If you stay active you tend to drink less and are more aware of any effects alcohol may be having on you. Be aware of unfamiliar drinks. Some drinks, such as zombies and other fruit drinks can be deceiving as the alcohol content is not detectable. Therefore it is difficult to space them properly.

While on spring break, watch out for the dangers of alcohol. Have fun, but also take care of yourself, and don't overdo it. For those of you who are driving, please, don't drive under the influence of alcohol. It has been stated by the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control that at all levels of blood alcohol concentration, the risk of being involved in a crash is greater for young people than it is for older people. With that said, have a great and safe spring break!

Market Research on the Web
By Colleen Anderson
Reference Librarian
"Off the Shelf"

The expanding field of market research includes all activities undertaken to collect and analyze information and data on a specific group within a certain geographic area. The job of gathering market data and information has been augmented recently by the capabilities of the World Wide Web. A new book by Robert I. Berkman and Arthur Hammond-Tooke entitled Finding Market Research on the Web (Kalomara Information, 1999; REF HF5415.2.B4565) does an excellent job of explaining what market research is, what groups and organizations provide market information, and where to locate these suppliers on the Web. Perhaps the authors' most important contribution is their clear explanation of the dollar value of market information and their comprehensive coverage of all price levels of such information—from free government data to very expensive brokerage firm reports.

The introductory chapters of the book provide a review of information any novice to the topic needs to understand. For example, market research includes either quantitative or qualitative information and many times elements of both. Quantitative reports are primarily numerical or statistical in content, and qualitative reports are primarily written textual analyses of a particular market. The authors explain the difference between primary research, i.e., research using original documents, and secondary research, i.e., research using second hand reports such as periodical articles, government studies, etc. Next, the authors go on to describe the 4 major producers of market research information and data—market research firms, brokerage firms, the U.S. government, and trade associations.

Numerous URLs for market research publishers, brokerage firms, government and international government agencies, trade associations, and business and market research databases are given and discussed throughout chapters 4-7. For each site listed, the authors give a brief description of the content of the site as well as the provider's area of specialization. Full contact information is given along with a summary of report costs. Market research reports can range anywhere from $500-$5,000 depending on the specificity of the information and on how difficult it is to obtain. Many of the sites provide free indexing of reports and the ability to order charts, graphs, summaries of reports, or pages for a minimal fee ($25-$50). The government data is available for free or for a very minimal fee, and chapter 8 of the book lists the most useful government sites for market research purposes and the best pointers for such government sites.

Chapter 10, "Pulling It All Together," does a great job of explaining how to put together a market research report after you have pulled your information off the Web.

Housing Sign-Up 2000-2001

The process for selecting rooms (housing sign-up) for the 2000-2001 year will begin March 20, 2000. Important preliminary information is outlined below. More details about sign-up procedures and a housing sign-up calendar will be distributed soon. Please contact the Office of Residence Life should you have any questions throughout the process.

DEPOSITS
- A deposit of $100 is required to reserve a campus room for next year. Cash, check, VISA or Mastercard accepted.
- Deposits are made at the Bursar's office with a completed Occupancy and Board Contract. Contracts are available in the Office of Residence Life or at the Bursar's Office.
- Bills or notices for deposits will NOT be sent home. Notify parents only if necessary to get deposit money by the due dates. Every student must submit a contract stamped "PAID" to enter the sign-up process.
- For students entering a townhouse lottery, deposits are due week of March 20-24. (RIGHT AFTER SPRING BREAK!)
- For all other students, deposits are due the week of March 27-21, 2000.
- Deposits are credited to your spring 2001 semester bill. The deposit is NONrefundable unless you notify the Office of Residence Life of your withdrawal by June 1, 2000.

OTHER NOTES:
- Housing sign-up is for current Bryant resident students. Any commuter wishing to enter the housing process must make an appointment at the Office of Residence Life prior to March 24, 2000.
- You should already be thinking about who you want to live with next year and where. Choose your roommate/roommates wisely! You should choose to live with students who have similar living, study and social habits. Changes after the sign-up process are difficult and often unlikely. A bulletin board has been set aside in the Office of Residence Life (first floor of Hall 6) for students to post notices with regard to finding roommates, forming groups, etc.
- Students should pay any unpaid alcohol fines or damage assessments prior to housing sign-up.
- The housing sign-up/room selection process will take place April 3-19, 2000 in Hall 15 Lobby. Dates, times, and more detailed information will be out soon, however, if you have questions, see your Resident or Area Director. You may also contact the Office of Residence Life at x6140 (hall 6-first floor).
- If you are not returning to campus housing this fall, please come to the Office of Residence Life by May 1, 2000 to complete a Withdrawal Form. This will facilitate the release of your damage account money at the end of the semester.

New Beginnings Sparks a New Realization in the Minds of Students

By Tara George

Over the past ten years there has been a vast increase in drug usage among college students. This has caused many to look at the problem of drug and alcohol abuse in a new light. "New Beginnings" is a program that was established by Bryant psychologist Bill Phillips that is aimed at providing a deeper understanding of the effects of these addictions.

Last Tuesday Sigma Sigma Sigma and the Health Education department co-sponsored a presentation made possible through "New Beginnings." Two speakers were invited to share their own personal experiences with drug abuse. This, however, wasn't your typical lecture where the facts and statistics are thrown out in the hope that we ourselves will never get caught up with drugs. Instead, we heard real life stories of young people we could identify with, which made us see how the same thing could easily happen to any of us.

We all know somebody, whether it be a friend or simply a classmate that has had a problem with drinking or drugs. Most of us think that we're smart enough to never let it happen to us, but those were the same beliefs that the speakers previously held. The scary thing we all realized was that the majority of the time people don't know they have a problem until it is too late to turn around and simply say "I'm through with this way of life." It's just not that easy.

Nobody can deny that drinking is a major factor of college life. The majority of students on this campus are occasional "social" drinkers. However, there are many who take drinking and recreational drugs to an extreme. It is tolerated to certain points because of the fact that we are young and in college, but some need to look at the larger picture. If drinking and drugs are a major part of your life right now, what is going to happen upon graduation when we set out into the "real world"? Business careers and heavy drinking and drugs don't exactly mix too well. Many are going to realize that they won't be able to give up this lifestyle so easily. Maybe we should take a step back now and look at our behavior so we could possibly avoid this problem in the future. We would like to thank Bill Phillips and the other speakers for their time and insights. You had a profound effect on many of us. "New Beginnings" is a foot in the right direction of understanding and change.
SPRING BREAK AND BEYOND!

By Rev. Philip Devens
Protestant Chaplain

From my past experiences, I know that most of you are dreaming about traveling home or away for spring break. Imagining a white beach covered with people “catchin-the-rays,” or a snow-covered trail (that no one has skied on) stretched out before you, you drift off for a few minutes. But, daydreaming can be hazardous to your health, especially as your midterm exam hits your desk or your presentation has started without you.

My mother often used a phrase, “Be safe, take care, and God bless.” Her expression of concern for my safety reached out and touched me like the AT&T ads proclaimed. Her love was tangible and real. As she waved goodbye when I left her to go out into the world, I kept her words as a guide to help me. On my return, she would say to herself, “He is back, safe and sound, thank God.” So, when we—your campus chaplains—say goodbye as you leave on spring break, remember to be safe, take care of yourselves, and God bless until we meet again.

Trampolineathon

By Nicole Hurley

As many of you may have seen, the sisters of Phi Sigma Sigma had their annual Trampolineathon in the Rotunda. It was a full 24-hours of jumping for a good cause. For all who donated, the proceeds will be going straight to the National Kidney Foundation. We had a very good turn out this year and we are all hoping that future years will be just as successful. Thank you all for your time and donations. Also, I’d like to say thanks to the sisters, who participated. Getting up at 3am to jump for an hour straight may not be what you’re looking forward to, but neither is the feeling in your back the next morning.

Jumping may look easy, but for some people it may have been their first attempt, meanwhile other people’s acrobatic attempts may have caused some extra headaches, all in all, the event was a success! Thanks again everyone!

Greek Life offers students many opportunities for leadership positions. These leadership positions broaden the opportunities for students even further. On February 17th, the members of the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils traveled to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania for the annual NEIFC/NEPC National Conference.

Kym Burzinski (Phi Sigma Sigma), Sarah Maloney (Sigma Sigma Sigma), Matt Carbray (Beta Theta Pi), Mike Coughlan (Phi Kappa Sigma), Paul Tellesen (Phi Kappa Sigma), Jordan Stark (Phi Kappa Tau), Greg Dicker (Beta Theta Pi), and myself (Delta Zeta), along with over 80 students from Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and all of the New England area were in attendance. This is the premiere leadership training program for Greek leaders in the Northeast. At this conference we listened to speakers, lecturers and sat in on workshops focusing on issues and daily governing activities of Greek Life today. Working with ideas from other students and with guidance from national officers, we learned many new concepts to help us work as a successful and effective team. As student leaders we feel this experience has educated us thoroughly in order to help us lead our fellow students through the new millennium.

The Bryant College Panhellenic Council was awarded the Membership Recruitment Award for last fall. This award recognizes outstanding achievement in recruitment programs and operations. Bryant College sororities have worked to increase the number of women participating in recruitment, improving publicity awareness and adhering to national policies and guidelines for recruitment. At the conference, Tanya McGinn, our Greek Advisor, announced the National NEPC Advisor of the Year Award. Tanya was chosen to announce this award because last year she received this outstanding achievement herself. Although she was not Nationally recognized at this year’s conference, she truly is an outstanding Greek Advisor to the Bryant College Greek System. Thanks Tanya for everything!

Bryant College Greek Life has a large influence on our campus. We participate, sponsor and donate time and money to many events and organizations on campus. We are a large group of unique individuals working together to make these four years of our lives last forever in our hearts, our memories, and our careers. While in Pittsburgh, we realized that Bryant College Greek Life accomplishes a lot more than it feels like sometimes. Our community is more unified as a whole than Greeks are at many other schools. We want to thank our peers and Student Senate for helping provide this opportunity and experience. Thanks for a fabulous time! By the way, did anyone find Flutie yet?

Interesting Facts about Greeks
By Kate Lewis
NPC/NIC Research Initiative Findings

Two years of independent research on the impact of Greek affiliation on the college experience have yielded the following findings:

- Greeks take part more fully in their communities—in civic groups, religious organizations, and charity or volunteer organizations—then do non-Greeks.
- Membership in a fraternity or sorority increases the likelihood that a student will stay in college.
- Greeks are more likely than non-members to contribute financially, and to do so in greater amounts, to charitable and non-profit groups and religious organizations.
- Greek alumni tend to give more money to their colleges and universities than do other graduates.
- Greek students are more likely to be involved in college organizations than non-Greek students.
- Greek affiliated students are more satisfied with their social development during college than non-Greeks.
- Greeks were less likely than non-Greeks to be satisfied with their own college performance and their alma mater.

Senate Update
By Brian M. Kerzner
Student Senator

The applications for the senate's executive board are in. As of now, Lisa Waynelovich, Jordan Stark, Andrew Goldberg and Kyle Kadish will be running for the presidency. Running for the vice president position will be Seth Brickman and Michelle Etchegreen. Jessica Bradbury is uncontested for secretary. Dom Fraone will be running against Sara Smith for the treasury position.

Just a few things to keep in mind.
- The 7th Annual Senior Citizen's Prom is coming up on Friday, April 14th, 4:30-8:00 pm in South Dining Hall. Anyone who would like to volunteer can contact Jaime at x8271 or email at jab1@bryant.edu.
- Seniors, check your mailboxes near the end of this week for your senior week packet. In it, you will find all the information about senior week. Also, keep checking our web page at www.bryant.edu/seniors.
- The campus improvement committee has recently completed a student survey to help determine what can be done to further improve the campus and physical plant operations. If you did not get the chance to fill one out, come a senate meeting and voice your opinion.

If you have any other questions, comments or suggestions for the student senate, let us know. Come to our next meeting at 4:00 on Wednesday in Papatto, or EM me, Brian M. Kerzner at bmk3@bryant.edu.
leadership roles in them when I have gotten the chance. I am President of G.A.M.A.A., or Greeks Advocating Mature Management of Alcohol, a sophomore senator and also secretary for the Interfraternity Council. These experiences being in leadership positions have given me an idea of what it takes to succeed and also have allowed me to represent the students of Bryant College. I also participated in Bryant Experience which gave me the chance to meet many of the incoming freshmen and participate in the Bryant Services Community Service Program.

So the next question is why elect me as your President? I can tell you now that I am outgoing and very friendly. I’m a hard worker and take my responsibilities very seriously. I want to be your presidential representative because I feel that I know a good percent of the diverse Bryant College campus and am in touch with how the students feel and what their needs are. I will fight for what you want to the best of my ability. I am very approachable and open to suggestions, comments and especially criticism. The main reason I want to be President though is that I want to represent you, the student body, to the administration.

If this hasn’t convinced you to vote for me then please feel free to approach me to talk at any time. Thank you for taking the time to read this and I’d like to wish good luck to the other qualified candidates.

Jordon Stark

Hi my name is Jordon Stark and I’m running for Student Senate President. I’ll tell you a little about myself first. I’m a sophomore from Scarsdale, N.Y. which is about 15 minutes from Stamford, Connecticut or 25 minutes from New York City. In my free time I like playing basketball, watching sports and hanging out with my fraternity, Phi Kappa Tau.

Currently, I am involved in numerous organizations on campus and have taken on the administration this year. I hope that the following information on my background and qualifications gives you an idea of why I feel I am good for this task.

In high school and in my first two years of college I have been very involved in many organizations. Here at Bryant, I have been a senator for two years, and this year I had the honor of being the Sophomore Class Chair. One committee that is very important to me and that I hope will become more prevalent and influential in the future is the Diversity Awareness Committee. This committee was formed upon reviewing last year’s annual campus wide survey regarding student concerns. I am also a member of the Students for a cleaner campus committee, which addresses the campus problem with trash issues in hopes of promoting a better and cleaner environment for everyone at Bryant. Also, each year Bryant sponsors one terminally ill child through The Make-A-Wish Foundation in order to finance the child’s one wish. This year, our sponsored child wants to go on a Disney cruise, and as a member of the committee I have been working hard on this year’s fundraising activities for this great cause. In addition to all of these Senate related activities, I am also very active in the Student Ambassador program in giving tours, hosting overnights, and representing Bryant. I am a member of the Finance Association as well, and hold two jobs on campus working for the Office of Admission and the new Chaffee Center for International Business. One major honor recently bestowed upon me is that I was asked to meet with the NEASC Reaccreditation Team in representation of the student body along with a few other student leaders. If elected President of the Student Senate, my primary concern would be representing the student body and your ideas/concerns to the Senate and the administration. The Senate President meets regularly with the College President and Vice President, as well as with the Director of Student Activities. I know these individuals personally, and feel that my good relationships with these people would be an asset to the student body. Another important role of the Student Senate is to act as a liaison between the administration and the Greek community. The Greek community and issues relating to them have a major impact on our campus, and I would be glad to work together with them and the administration to help them accomplish what they feel is important. Lastly, a stronger stance must be taken by the Senate next year to encourage a stronger athletics department. The club sports and varsity teams could use some help with advertising and in other areas, and the Senate had the means by which to help. The administration really does look to the Senate and the Senate President for how the students feel. I would like nothing more than to be the person that has the privilege of representing you to the administration. I want to be your voice.

If you have any other ideas, concerns or questions for me or about my candidacy, please feel free to contact me at x8383 or email me at adg2@bryantedu. Thank you for your consideration for me as your primary representative — let your voice be heard!

Seth Brickman

Whazzup- Over the course of the last three years, I have had the opportunity to represent students and their needs as a Student Senator and it has been a lot of work. We all know how much work sucks, seeing as we all do so much of it, but I do it because it makes a difference. Now I wish to do that in the capacity of Vice President, and though it will indeed be more work, but I will indeed be able to make a greater difference.

Why? -
The Bryant College Student Senate can be a very successful and powerful body given the proper direction, and hopefully both mine and Lisa’s ideas for the bold new direction of the Senate can bring about great change for the benefit of the students.

No man, I mean ‘Why You?’ -
It’s all about the experience baby. I’ve spent a busy three years on the Senate, and the only thing that has brought me is more and more working knowledge of this campus, and it’s policies, in short, how to get things done. I have also served as the Senate Parliamentarian for two years, giving me the best working knowledge of what actually is within the capacity of the Senate to change.

What have you done?- Either past or present, I have been involved with:

- Bryant Ultimate Frisbee - Former Vice -President
- Student Senate - Senator, Parliamentarian
- Bryant Players
- RI Special Olympics -Former Equipment Chairman
- Student Alumni Association(SAA) - Former Chairman
- Student Programming Board(SPB)
- Bryant Caribbean Amphibians (Jimmy Buffet Appreciation) -Current Treasurer

So how does this all ‘tie together’?- I have had the opportunity to do much here at Bryant college, but I have hopes of doing even yet far more in my last year at Bryant. I want to make sure that with increasing enrollment as well as new buildings, even clubs, that Bryant College continues to eagerly meet our needs, because we’re payin’ the bills!

Michelle Eichengreen

Hello J My name is Michelle Eichengreen and I am campaigning for the position of Vice President. First, let me give you a brief autobiography. I am from a small town in NY called Tuxedo. This is my third year at Bryant and I am pursuing a dual concentration in Management and International Studies. On campus I have taken leadership positions in student organizations as well as various offices.

This was my first year on Senate and I am doing my best to serve the Bryant community. I am the Bryant Center Chair. In this position, I help in bringing any suggestions about the Bryant Center to the managers. I also sit on the Campus Improvement Committee and Commencement Committee.

Other leadership experience includes my past two years of being a Resident Assistant in Hall 15. From being an RA, I have interacted with a diverse group of people and communicated effectively with students and administration. These are valuable skills that I have applied in other areas now and will continue to next year.

More experience on campus was my role as an Orientation Leader for the Class of 2003. I helped in the design and presentation of fun events and discussion groups. Over the course of the program I participated in 100 plus hours of leadership and personal growth.

My past experiences on campus have helped me achieve my best and in return I have served the school. In my commitment to continue help the Bryant community, my goals for the upcoming year include:

1. To foster a community welcoming of new ideas that would benefit the student body.
2. To continue off the growth of the past Make-A-Wish community service projects and raise record levels of monies for our sponsor child.
3. To have a united legislative body to work for the common goal to best serve the students’ concerns and needs.
4. To work diligently to represent and protect student and Senate.

Thank you for taking the time to read my platform and please consider all of this while casting your vote on March 27th and 28th from 11-1 and 5-6:30 by the ATM.

Nomination for WHO’s WHO

The Who’s Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges has, for more than 60 years, been an important annual publication for recognizing student achievement. Bryant junior and senior students are selected to the Who’s Who list based upon the students’ accomplishments in one or more of the following areas:

- Scholarship ability
- Participation in leadership in academics
- Participation in leadership in extra curricular activities
- Citizenship and service to Bryant College
- Potential for future achievement

Nominations are now being accepted for the Who’s Who publication for 2000. If you would like to nominate a Bryant student for this honor, please fill out a nomination form available at the following four locations and return the completed form to one of the locations listed:

- Dean of Students Office
- Graduate Office
- Residence Life Office
- Office of Student Activities

DEADLINE: Friday March 24th by 3 PM
SENATE ELECTIONS

For Treasurer

1999 - Graduated Norwood H.S., Norwood, MA
- Freshman at Bryant College
- Served as Freshman Senator on the Bryant College Student Senate
- Bryant College Ways & Means Committee, Freshman Representative
- Bryant College Elections Committee, Freshman Representative
- Volunteer at numerous events on campus this year

Domenico J. Fraone
- Member of the Bryant College Wrestling Team

The Treasurer position on the Student Senate is a very time consuming and tedious responsibility. As a student representative on the Ways & Means Committee, I have had first hand knowledge and experience with the procedures involved with the duties of Treasurer. Just a few of these responsibilities include:

- The handling of all financial matters
- Presenting reports and financial records to the Senate, administration, and other clubs
- Submitting detailed monthly financial statements
- Presiding over the Ways & Means Committee
- Proposing a comprehensive budget for the upcoming year

What sets me apart from most of the competition, is that I have direct knowledge of how the fiscal operations of Bryant College works, what is expected of the Treasurer position, and how to prepare, propose, and present a budget. The Treasurer position is extremely important to this campus, as it affects not only the Senate, but every organization on this campus.

This election day go out and support the candidate with budget experience, fiscal operations experience, Senate experience, and a record of commitment and service to the Bryant College community.

My name is Sarah Smith and I am currently a sophomore. I am a candidate and interested in served as Student Senate Treasurer. This last year I served on the Ways and Means Committee as student body representative and also as Vice-Chairperson, working very closely with the current treasurer. In serving on the committee this year, I have learned how the budgeting and special request processes work and also what the duties and functions of the treasurer include. We, the Ways and Means Committee, all worked extremely hard this year in making improvements to the system, and I would like to continue this upward trend.

If I was to be elected Treasurer my goals, as to benefit the Bryant community, would be as follows:
- To continue making improvement to the budgeting guidelines and the allocation process making it easier for the committee and clubs.
- To make club/organization treasurers more educated and aid them in going through budgeting more efficiently, as well as how to use the special requests.
- To work to the best of my ability to serve all of the functions of the Student Senate Treasurer.

If you have any questions or comments about these goals feel free to contact me at sms2@bryant.edu.

Thank you for your consideration, and I can assure you that if I were to be elected I would put forth all of my effort to do an excellent job as Bryant Student Senate Treasurer.

SENATE ELECTIONS

For Secretary

Jessica Bradbury

Background Information
I am from Scituate, Rhode Island. At Bryant College I am currently a freshman, soon to be sophomore, looking into a dual concentration of Management and CIS and a minor in Communications.

Leadership History
In high school I was involved SLTP which stands for Student Leadership Training Program. SLTP is a leadership program that takes place over the summer. I was fortunate enough to have had the opportunity to attend this camp both as a delegate, three times, and teach the program to other students as a leadership trainer. At this leadership program I learned many valuable skills that have helped and continue to help me in life. Some of these skills include inclusion, teamwork, patience and listening. One of my favorite sayings from camp that I still use today is “You have two ears and one mouth, so you should listen twice as much as you talk.”

Leadership camp was by far my most rewarding experience, but there were many more that have molded me into the person I am today. Also in high school I was on the Executive board of my Student Council for three years and on the Rhode Island State Student Council for two years. From these experiences I have learned how to run a meeting, how to plan functions and fundraisers, how to effectively represent students, and how to work with faculty and administration.

Present Leadership Experience and School Involvement
At Bryant I am currently a leader of Freshmen Success Group as well as a member of the Catholic Community. From these experiences I am able to learn how to lead as well as follow. I also got the opportunity to meet many Bryant students and staff.

I was also very fortunate to have been elected to the Senate as a Freshman. As a Freshman Senator I was able to correspond the concerns and suggestions of the Freshman class and foster solutions and results. In the second semester I was elected to the newly opened Secretary seat on the Executive board. Being a Secretary I had many more responsibilities. I had to be very organized and institute and maintain effective ways to properly do the job. I also had the opportunity to work with the Executive board, where I learned how things work and got to view the Senate from a different perspective.

Since my election as Secretary, the student body has acquired full access to the Senate meeting minutes from our web site, and the office has become more organized and clean.

What I hope to bring to the Senate position next year is:

I want to foster a correspondence between the Secretary position and all clubs and organizations by making all parties aware of everyone’s activities and making sure Senators are present at all major events on campus.

I want to organize the Senate office to make it more efficient.

I want to maintain the Senate meeting minutes on the web site and also keep a them in the office for the Senators to have access to.

I want to be available to the Senate for efficient ordering of office supplies.

I also want to be available to all Senators and students at any time for any reason.

I want to create an efficient, productive, and enjoyable atmosphere for both the Executive board and Senate.

AMAZING GRACE PERFORMS AT BRYANT
Submitted by The Intercultural Center of Sharon Dixon Peay and Mary K. Malakoski ended MSU's Black History month celebration on a thought provoking note. The performers, both from Connecticut, captivated an audience of students, faculty and staff last Thursday in the Rotunda with several vignettes that chronicled race and racism in America. The performers used the story of John Newton, who wrote the hymn "Amazing Grace," as a metaphor for transformation. Although the song is known and loved throughout the world, few in the audience knew that for many years Newton was the captain of a slave ship. It was not until Newton had a near death experience that he wrote the hymn and changed his ways to become a staunch abolitionist for the remainder of his life.

Using poetry, sacred writings, journal entries and characterizations, the performers created a 90-minute presentation that was both gripping and at times emotional and humorous. They provided a historical context for the current state of race relations which demonstrates how we got to where we are today.

They also shared stories of transformation of prominent and lesser-known people such as Prudence Crandall and Peggy Terry. According to Malakoski, she and Peay have been performing "Amazing Grace" for more than four years throughout the US and Canada. "It was developed as a means of working towards the elimination of prejudice and racism. The arts are a powerful tool for addressing issues of social conscience. Over and above the intellectual, the arts provide a penetrating emotional experience."

Moby Tells Us to Go Play
By Maggie Grace

Herman Melville, author of Moby Dick, was raised in a musical family. He began performing in High School in a punk band. After a failed attempt at college, he moved to New York City and became a DJ in a few dance clubs. In the early 90's he released a few independent efforts, and by 1994 he was signed to Elektra. Now 5 years later, after relatively consistent success in Europe and the US, Moby is back with PLAY. It is a blend of blues, electronic and rock, intertwined with his monotonous lyrics and the voices of blues greats. In my opinion, one of the best tracks on the album is #11, "Run On," overlaying the drum beats with a gospel inspired chorus. A great example of how he can incorporate gospel into a 90's dance tune.

Volleyball
By Asa Williams

At Bryant, the first couple one could think of is the President and Mrs. McShillie. But they are not the only one. Another example could be found in the school's athletic department.

Enter Theresa and Ted Garlacy. The two have been running a continually successful ship on the court, averaging 26 wins per season since they became the sole volleyball coaches in 1996, plus a win-loss ratio well over 2:1. They have been involved with Bryant volleyball since 1994, when they were assistants under then-head coach Karen Mendes. The two were recently in Las Vegas scouting high school prospects at the Nike Las Vegas Invitational tournament, which ran from February 10-14. Katie Hudak of Pittsburgh, who will arrive at Bryant this fall, was on one of the clubs in the tournament.

The two Garlacies are an athletic pair to boot. Both were involved in other sports before: Theresa having played softball, basketball, and field hockey; Ted, baseball, basketball, and cross-country running. But it was volleyball that kept them close, if not brought them together outright. Surprisingly, Ted started playing that sport first. "By the way, Roger Williams University, Ted's alma mater, added a men's volleyball program after he graduated."

Theresa, an alumna of Providence, was first to release a Bryant volleyball-related newsletter. She says it was put together for recruiting purposes, as well as for contact with alumni, parents of current players, and recruits. She is also the assistant athletic director at Bryant, as well as a member of two conference committees.

Not only does Ted assist his wife in the volleyball program here, but he's also a police officer in North Smithfield, with 13 years of law enforcement experience under his belt. He says there is such a challenge in juggling these two jobs. However, he does not mind putting time toward the volleyball or women's basketball programs (the latter of which he subsequently helps out), as, he says, "my players (in either program) work just as hard."

The two coaches can definitely agree on what they like about working with each other. "Coaching can be fun and frustrating," says Theresa, "but in our case, it would be easier to work through bad experiences. We also have a lot of fun working together."

"Although they share the pressure to excel, this pressure is alleviated by the team's performance," says Theresa. "We are both honest with each other especially he with her, unlike assistants who would only say what the head coach sees fit. And what's more, they would back each other up, regardless of conflicting ideas or interests.

Everyday and Nothing
By Jessica Stetson

Everything and nothing is a combination rarely found. It lies in those who fear, In those who've lost, And in those who can't explain their complicated being.

Everything and nothing is what you want, But are afraid of at the same time. Its what you think about, But can't handle standing face to face with.

Nothing, Is what's left. When the contemplation is over, And the opportunity has passed you by.

Bryant Sports

By Luis Etherington

Welcome back to another edition of Bryant Sports looking to forecast the ongoing Boys Baseball team and the upcoming season for Girls Softball. Thanks to Chuck Sullivan for all his help in gathering information for your humble sports editor and thanks to the Rugby team for taking a break from the daily bostings I get during practice. Without further ado, let's get into the sports, and the athletes of the moment.

Baseball: Starting the season with the high hopes of re-capturing the Northeast-10 title they won last year the Bryant boys have not disappointed. They have started 3-1 overall eating up the calendar in a tournament in Delaware, Maryland with tough D-I 1 schools. The boys look to be contenders all year for the title but as head coach Dr. Jon Sjogren states "This year, if we can play together with enthusiasm for the whole year we have a good shot at repeating as champions. Bryant Baseball is headed by the well-respected Dr. Sjogren, which last took coach of the year honors in 1998 adding this third crown to his first nine seasons as a coach.

Players to watch out for this season:

- Pitchers: Junior Julian LaPolla who improved his record to 12-1 earlier this year with a victory over Maryland-Eastern Shore. Sophomore Ashton Stone who won his first start of the year against Wilmington also looks to impress.

- Catchers: Junior Scott Yerke the early favorite for starting time and Freshmen Jim Collins, and Clay Field.

Softball: The softball season starts with expectations of eclipsing their 8-29 record of last year on their brand new Bryant Softball Complex ready to open this season. Head coach Bob Reali makes his record to 12-1 early this year. If we can play together with enthusiasm for the whole year we have a good shot at repeating as champions.

- Pitchers: Senior Sandra Davis looks to keep her team leading 108.2 innings in check this year as her most experienced pitcher. Senior tri-captain Lauren Satterlee also looks to muscle her way into the pitching circle.

- Catchers: Junior Kelley Cimino looks to continue her string at catcher as she started all 37 games for the Bulldogs last year.

- Infield: Junior Third baseman Scott Hoyt is on a tear batting .667 on the recent road trip. Junior captain Miké Nelson at shortstop looks to lead the infield while continuing his hitting tear of last year.

- Outfield: Junior Chris Carpenter looks to step into some big shoes following up American Easton Visco's departure this season. Ex Providence Friar Senior Jason Hairston will step into center field duties for the bulldogs.

Basketball Teams Headed to Conference Playoffs

By Beth Connealy

Last year the Men's and Women's Basketball Teams did not qualify for the playoffs. This year both have made it to the post season due to the play of talented underclassmen and determined seniors.

The men's team had their backs to the wall heading into Wednesday night's game against Pace University. The men had to beat Pace, who they lost to earlier in the season, in order to clinch a spot in the playoffs. The team was up for the challenge. Junior Brian Baga led the Bulldogs with a game high 31 points. Freshmen Jon Wallace added 16 points and 6 assists. Senior forward Earl Jones, 7 rebounds, and sophomore forward Doug Schumann, 11 rebounds, controlled the boards for Bryant. Bryant out rebounded Pace 51-39. The Bulldogs won the exciting game 73-70. The men are headed to Merrimack College this Sunday for round one of the playoffs.

The women clinched a birth to the Northeast-10 playoffs with their win over St. Michael's College last Saturday. Senior Kelly Charette drained 5 three pointers in the first half to give the Bulldogs an early lead. Bryant ran over St. Mike's 82-64. Juniors Ali Curry (17 pts.) and Steph Tobey (13 pts. 9 rbds.) put in solid performances as well. On senior night, Pace University gave Bryant trouble. Pace ended up winning the game 64-80 but the Bulldogs played hard. Senior Suzanne Herzog and Curry owned the boards with 6 rebounds apiece. Tobey led Bryant with 15 points. The women will play Bentley College on Tuesday at 5:30 pm to compete in the first round of the conference playoffs.

We would like to wish all our seniors. Jason Bennett, Earl Jones, Lanni Popoola, Jen MacDonald, Karla Bowen, Kelly Charette, Suzanne Herzog and Ray Glasford good luck in their future endeavors. We will miss you!

With nine returning letterwinners and seven returning starters in the fold, twelfth-year head coach Bob Reali has little doubt that the 2000 edition of Bryant College Softball will be an improved version. Reali had a number of young players in key roles last season, when the Bulldogs struggled to an 8-29 record. But the improvements those players have made in the offseason coupled with the addition of a solid incoming class gives the venerable head coach sufficient reason for optimism. "We need to hit better than we did last year," said Reali, "and we need to see our pitching improve. If we do as well in those two areas as I think we will, then with that will come the wins."

If the Bulldogs do improve as Reali suggests they will, then it should make for an exciting time in Smithfield. The 2000 season will see the unveiling of the new Bryant Softball Complex—a state-of-the-art playing facility with all of the amenities to give the Bulldogs a top-notch home field.

PITCHERS
Bryant has its most experienced pitcher returning in senior Sandra Davis (Atlantic Highlands, N.J.). Davis, who threw a team-leading 109.2 innings last season after transferring from junior college, looks for a solid senior year after adjusting to the Division II level. While not an overpowering pitcher, Davis throws a heavy ball and has good control over a number of pitches.

Senior tricaptain Lauren Satterlee (Greenlawn, N.Y.), saw significant innings in as a freshman, but spent much of the last two years outside the circle. She will split time as an infielder and a pitcher in her fourth year at Bryant. A hard-throwing southpaw, Satterlee will give the Bulldogs a different look, particularly in doubleheaders.

Freshman Nadine Reddy (Pittsfield, Mass.) will get a look in the circle as well, thanks to an impressive fall season and solid work in the spring workouts. Reddy’s bat will keep her in the lineup when she isn’t pitching, but her good command makes her a valuable asset on the rubber.

CATCHERS
Bryant will have a familiar face behind the plate in junior Kelley Cimino (Lincoln, R.I.). A solid defensive catcher, Cimino started all 37 games for Bryant last year and drew praise for her work with the Bulldog pitchers. She also showed the ability to deliver the clutch hit and finished second on the team in runs batted in.

INFIELD
Bryant’s infield in 2000 will essentially be the same as it was a year ago, with tricaptain Sarah Marder (New Bedford, Mass.) providing the leadership on and off the field. Marder, who has been Bryant’s top hitter in each of the last two years after finishing second on the team as a freshman, hit at a .445 clip a year ago with a team-leading 15 RBIs. With just five strikeouts in 110 at bats last year, Marder proved to be an outstanding contact hitter who can deliver the power numbers as well. In addition to her ability at the plate, Marder is a hard-nosed third baseman with the ability to come up with the big play.

"Sarah led our team in every offensive category last year, but she also is a leader in the dugout and at practice," said Reali. "She is our top power hitter and she’s aggressive in the field."

Senior tricaptain Nicole Cormier (Merrimack, N.H.) returns for her fourth year in her familiar rightfield spot following a productive 1999 campaign. Cormier flirted with the .300 mark throughout the season before finishing with a modest .293 batting average. This year, she will be called upon for some punch in the middle of the batting order.

Outfield
Outfielder Kori Ferris (Greenfield, Mass.) to get the nod. Ferris is an excellent defensive outfielder who has been plagued by injuries throughout her first two years. Coming into the 2000 season healthy, Ferris is looking to step up her offensive production to complete her all-around game. Freshman Nadine Reddy (Pittsfield, Mass.) is expected to land the starting spot in center in her first year at Bryant. Reddy brings a strong arm and quick first step into the outfield and should be an impact player for the Bulldogs.

Junior Kim Michaud (Saint Agatha, Maine) has experienced in both left and right and will see significant time as a defensive replacement.

Freshmen Elizabeth Karas (Chariton, Mass.) and Dana Scott (Fairhaven, Mass.) will get a look as well. Karas is coming off an impressive fall season in which she proved she could hit college pitching. Scott’s speed and quickness, meanwhile, make her a valuable defensive asset.

With her speed, Scott should be a valuable defensive asset in center field. Senior Lauren Satterlee will look to regain her offensive production from last year, but Scott should be a capable back-up. Scott also comes off an impressive fall season in which she proved she could hit college pitching. Scott’s speed and quickness, meanwhile, make her a valuable defensive asset.

Internationally acclaimed pianist Piers Lane has been praised for his supreme virtuosity and brilliant technique. He has appeared with all of the BBC Orchestras and dozens of world-class orchestras. In addition to his solo engagements, he is a renowned chamber musician. Born in London, Lane holds dual Australian-British nationality and has been a Professor of Piano at the Royal Academy of Music since 1990.
