Tita Dismissed by Evarts

Tita Intends to Sue

by Kevin McGarry

Although several rumors exist throughout the College concerning the leaving of Mr. Tita, there seems to be little, if any, information available concerning the reason for his leaving. After efforts through several channels within the College were made in order to find out just what happened, we were told that we would have to go to the President for a statement. This futile attempt resulted in Dr. Harry Evarts saying that he did not wish to comment on the matter, although Tita had left for several reasons.

Consequently, in order to do justice to Mr. Tita and his reputation, which was good and well established with many of us who knew him, it was necessary to take another course of action. As a result, we interviewed Mr. Tita himself concerning the controversial matter of his leaving.

Mr. Tita told us that as an administrator he supported Frank DeMolino more than anyone else in the College, a consequence, when he left, Tita was appointed as a half-time vice president along with Frank Albright, who shared the other half of the vice presidency. After Albright passed away, Alton Mott was appointed to the one half of the position. At this point, Tita was a viable candidate for the Vice Presidency. He said that he has already been having been appointed as one half vice president, he had been given the responsibility over the construction of the Townhouses and at the same time was performing his own duties as Director of Budgeting and Personnel. As a result, Tita found that he was in higher on the rating scale than did Scott. However, he felt that Tita was, in fact, the better man.

Tita informed us that he found Mott had been given a base salary which was higher than that of Tita's present base salary after being with the College for three years. Tita approached the President in order to question him on just why he had come out lower on the rating scale and why Mott had been given a higher base salary after three years of service to the Bryant Community.

When Tita confronted Evarts with his questions, Evarts told Tita that he had always asked whether or not they could work together in the long run. Tita asked why, after all the responsibility that the President had placed in him from July to December, did he wait until that time to wonder something such as this. Tita then requested that he be allowed to take a two-week vacation during December. Evarts denied Tita his request on the grounds that Tita was "too busy" to take a vacation, although Evarts took a vacation at the same time.

Tita informed Evarts that they had to make a decision. He felt that at this point there were no rewards involved in all his extra responsibility and that he had not want to work himself into the ground. Therefore, as a result of the inequity that had taken place, Tita asked Evarts to take back all the extra duties that he had, along with the extra monies that were being paid for them, and allow him to resume his administrative position and responsibilities as were defined in 1971. Evarts told Tita that a decision would have to be made.

Some time later, Tita was told that an appointment had been arranged for him with Evarts. Although Tita was under the impression that the decision that was to be made was as to his responsibilities and assuming them retroactive to 1971, he was told by Evarts that he was "all through," and was asked to clean out his office and leave. If he could not clean out his office that day, he was to return the following night and clear his belongings out. At this point, Tita was told by Evarts that "...However, if you resign tonight I will give you your two weeks vacation pay, plus a good recommendation."

Scott Appointed V.P.

Of Business Affairs

The position of Vice President of Business Affairs, which has been vacant for the past six months, has recently been filled with the appointment of Mr. Thomas Scott as the new Vice President. Mr. Scott, who holds a B.S. in Marketing and Business Administration from Indiana State University and an M.S. in Business Administration, comes to us from the Port Wayne Campus of Purdue University. Mr. Scott, who began his term at Bryant on January 2, finds that his position is unique many aspects that are inherent to private institutions. A professor at a large university, Mr. Scott finds Bryant to have a friendly atmosphere and the relationships of his people are more personal and open. Although the position has been vacant for some time, the backlog of work is minimal and there are only a few problems to be tended to.

One of the projects that the Department of Business Affairs is working on is the town houses. Mr. Scott related that a rental price on them would be established in the near future. One question which has been circulating the campus is that of the terms of the lease. Supposedly, the lease is to be for a full year. I asked Mr. Scott if there would be a problem for those students who would be here for only one semester. He stated that some arrangement could be worked out for those students who would only be at Bryant for one semester. Mr. Scott also commented on the Campus Statement that some were a number of details that he wants to examine and improve upon before the candy store opens. He was unable to comment on exactly which would be.

In general, Mr. Scott's department is running well and they are working to improve things around the campus. One idea Mr. Scott has is to improve the elimination procedure. One alternative to the present method would be to do it through the mail. Mr. Scott is still new to Bryant, but he has shown a willingness to work for the betterment of the College and above all, the life of the student.

If You Don't Like It You Don't Have To Eat It!

by Kevin J. McGarry

I think that we are all aware of the many problems which are integral parts of our present day economy. Close to us here at Bryant is the paramount problem of spiraling product and operating costs that are effecting our food service operations so greatly. As a result of this, there are several changes that are to be instituted that will effect all the students who live at Bryant College. Out of necessity and upon decision after meetings with the Administration, it has come to light that one of the most inefficient flaws in our food service program is that of waste. This situation is taking too much out of the dollars that we, the students, are laying out each year for food. This problem is indeed something that we all must concern ourselves with. The objective is to direct a dollar that is worth 20 to 30 percent less than last year and still maintain essentially the same service. Impossible, you say? Not according to John Ledwick, Director of Dining Service, but definitely difficult.

Consequently, there are to be several changes that he would like to make to the students aware of. The first item of concern is that of portion control, ARA will be serving, for his maintenance, a production as possible with the idea being the elimination of any over-production and wasted dollars. To us as students, this means only one portion—AT A TIME. We may still eat as much as we like, returning with our plates for a second helping. A little inconvenience at times perhaps, but it is our money we are wasting. We are encouraged to consume all we wish but only during regular meal hours in the dining room.

Finally, "If you don't like it, you won't eat it." Fine, ARA is here to give us what we want—it's our dining room. To attain this goal, which is trying to give the students what they want, ARA is going to issue a Food Preference Survey. PLEASE USE IT!!! The only way in which Mr. Ledwick is able to give the students what they want is to know what they want. So now, we, the students, have an opportunity to put our
During the semester break, Dorm 11 was broken into on two separate occasions—first on January 14 and again on January 16. The first break-in can be chalked up to fate and misfortune, but to have the same dorm broken into two days later?! The college has stated its policy on their responsibility for personal property—they aren't—and this is understandable. But how about their own property? I feel that they are responsible for the security of their facilities which includes the dorms, and the occurrence of these thefts shows the callous/careless attitude of the College concerning this protection. I feel it is a gross injustice that we must be held responsible for the damage done to them. When the college does not accept the responsibility of providing adequate security and protection for them. There is an obvious inconsistency in this entire matter. If security was properly catering the area, how is it that they did not hear the doors being kicked in? Also, it would have taken a crew of twelve and three Paul Arpin vans to cart away all of the contraband—and it is no one saw them packing the cars. Where was the proper security and protection?

There is no excuse for this negligence. If security is understaffed, then why doesn't the college hire more people? They're paying enough to go here! Also, if there had been sufficient dorms, that might not have happened. Perhaps the College saved some money and energy by moving the students into three dorms, but it is sure cost the students in Dorm 11. And just to show how unfair the students might have been stung this might not have happened. Perhaps we should start charging the college a $1000 theft and security deposit (refundable, of course) to insure our safety? All I can say is that once again it is fiasco time at Bryant College.

OPINION

In the past, the relationship between The ARCHWAY and the Administration has varied in its degrees of sincerity, honesty and general rapport. There have been times in the past, we are told, when members of The ARCHWAY Staff and members of the Administration worked very harmoniously to attain the same ends. This type of relationship, it is needless to say, was most invaluable; and obviously both parties benefited mutually. It has also been brought to our attention that in some of the more recent years, this relationship which was so valued has been deteriorating. It is unfortunate to have to say that this下降 has led the dorm this might not have happened. Our Food Deserves

A Second Chance!

Dear Editor,

Last semester, the students of Bryant College voiced their extreme dissatisfaction with the food being served in their dining room. It became evident that past ARA administrative officials were not interested in dealing with the problems of their operation. The current ARA administration of John Ludwick has prepared a change that prevailing attitude.

Mr. Ludwick will be initiating a food preference survey sometime this semester. He maintains that the survey will be an essential determinant in deciding future food offerings. A recent poll of the students in Dorm 11. And just to show how unfair the students might have been stung this might not have happened. Perhaps we should start charging the college a $1000 theft and security deposit (refundable, of course) to insure our safety? All I can say is that once again it is fiasco time at Bryant College.

"The Man Is Alone"

Dear Editor,

The man stands alone and looking grim. His expression now showing the turned within. Claiming that he committed no crimes

The man is now caught in the temper of the times. Corruption has prevailed during his reign, yet the man refuses to accept the blame. The nation cries out for him to reign,

He simply claims that he is deviate. His attitude is that the public are fools. For he is the ruler and we are the ruled. But how much longer can this man believe

That the country as a whole can be deceived? Lies upon lies, he continues the game

This man it appears nearly insane. His cries can be heard throughout the land. "I'm innocent my people, in this office I'll stand."

I am the leader, your President!

What is the meaning of this dissent?" The media he claims has been unfair Yet with his silent majority he has nothing to fear, But he is wrong, they do not exist, Those people whose welfare that he did resist. For as the media, which he must despise, I pray they continue to uncover the lies

For the people are united and he is alone It's now time for him to step down from his throne.

Receiving Of Grades

Dear Editor,

In attending such an ultra-modern facility, this I find it difficult to understand why it takes five weeks to process semester grades. Bryant even has its own computer!! Most area colleges received their grades approximately five weeks following the close of school for their holidays. However, you can be sure that I received another tuition bill within two weeks of our winter vacation. It seems like when there is money involved, the students are never educated.

There has been alot (sic) of talk about the Bryant faculty and administration for the students was not interested in dealing with the problems of their operation. The current ARA administration of John Ludwick has prepared a change that prevailing attitude.

"Does Anyone Have Any Feelings?"

Dear Editor,

I couldn't do my accounting homework, and I was having my final test two days later. Frustrated and upset; I pulled my coat on and stepped outside into the cold night air. I decided that a long walk would clear my head and make release a tension.

As usual, the walk did nothing but fill the first few webaby body into an empty parking place in the dormitory parking area, and waited. No one seemed to want to park in the last row of the parking lot so I moved closer. Again, I lay down, and waited for someone great deal other than this came. I then decided to walk to a car in the last row of space, and then I would lay down in its place. I'd be bound to get run over in such a smeared parking place. So I waited and some guy finally came running out of Dorm 7, 1 into his V8, hopped in the front seat, while I that was in the front row, took off. My change had finally arrived. I walked into the parking space, and I eventually fell asleep. When the new dawn arrived I awoke to find myself alive and well, only to find an added burden upon my shoulders. Apparently the parking space that I laid down in was an illegal space, because I woke up with a wheel lock attached to my body.

Student Appeal Center A Reality

The Student Senate has formed a Student Appeal Center (SAC) through the efforts of Speaker of the Senate, Fred Leonard. The purpose of the center is to aid students with problems or issues who would otherwise encounter Bryant of either an academic or non-academic nature. Primarily, SAC is an information center where students can discuss their problems, seek resolutions, and work on solutions.

SAC is responsible for student affairs and in addition has the responsibility of the Student Senate to exercise the proper authority. SAC must go through to reach a decision that is satisfactory. A representative of the center will accompany the student on any matters of importance, such as grievances, committees, or deans.

There are more to saving gasoline than just slowing down. While slowing down will do better, a better bet is to switch to a smaller car. Buy a small car, a small engine, a standard transmission, no power steering, and no air conditioning. That would mean giving up a whole lot of things, but it would let you average slower equipment on their new cars. But, they also require more validity.

Some of the things Most American motorists think about when they are thinking about how much gas a car will use are the emission control devices and the air conditioning. The workers would agree and have an ally in Congressman William Dickinson.

Dickinson told his constituents recently that gasoline rationing probably won't work and he labeled the emission control devices as "none of the main reasons our American automobiles consume so much gasoline." But what can you do if the Government doesn't have environmental controls for automobiles?

A recent Transportation Department test showed that 12 recently-built cars, with air conditioning, averaged 44 and one-half miles per gallon of gasoline. The highway speeds from 70 miles per hour to 60 miles per hour. Each car averaged 49 miles per gallon. This dropped to 40 miles per gallon when the speed increased to 70.

The average speed on the roads, the average miles per gallon at 50 miles per hour was 16.42, and dropped to 13.17 miles per gallon at 70 miles per hour. While you may save a few gallons by slowing down, it's only true for smaller cars which will make a bigger difference.

Earlier this year, Chrysler compared three cars--a typical full-size sedan weighing about 3,200 pounds and an intermediate-size car weighing about 3,000 pounds, and a sub-compact weighing about 2,000 pounds.

The difference was about 15 miles per gallon. It averaged roughly four miles per gallon for each 100 pounds between the big car and the smaller car.

The difference wasn't due to size, weight, or gas consumption, but reflected some of the things American look for in their cars. The engine was equipped with an automatic transmission and a displacement V-8 engine in order to maintain equivalent performance at a lower cost. Conditioning, power steering, power brakes and power windows are the average 1974 chevrolet.

Textbook Auction - Going.

... Going.

... Gone.

Next Tuesday, January 29 between 12 Noon and 2 p.m. the Student Senate will sponsor a textbook auction in the SAC office. The procedure will be as follows: the list of books will be announced on the bulletin board. A book will come and hand it to the auctioneer, telling him how much he wants for it. The auctioneer will then broadcast the winning bid, taking offers from other seller together. Mr. Rick Corrente, who will be running the auction, feels that this rapid-fire buying and selling process will greatly aid the students. This is a good opportunity to get the books you need at a cheaper price, and also to pick up some extra cash.

Dorm 11 Burglarized

by Paul Carroll

During the semester break, thefts occurred in 11 dorms on two separate occasions. The first break in was reported on January 14 by Thomas Arsenault of Dorm 11. Approximately 20 doors had been broken into in the building. The means of entry into the building has not yet been determined, although it is believed to have been accomplished with a key, since the outside doors of the building had not been tampered with. After the first break in, the damaged doors were replaced and a second door device was inserted on the exterior doors. All windows, doors, and entrance were checked to ensure the safety of the building. The second theft occurred two days later on January 16. Again, doors were broken in through the building, and suites were burglarized. Entry on this occasion is believed to have been made through a window which had not been secured, although it appeared to have been locked. On both occasions the dormitory was vacant because of the policy of moving some students into three dorms during wintersession for the purpose of conserving energy.

Thefts were stolen which included television sets, stereo, tapes, cameras and radios. The cases has been turned over to the Smithfield Police for their investigation.

Another Bummer

Dear Editor,

At a point in our history when so much is tumultuous and unrest and controversial decisions are being made, we are asking just what justice and honesty are all about.

It appears that situations which parallel those in Vietnam are taking place in the national scene have a tendency to generate on all levels where power and position are involved. It is perhaps a greater misfortune to think that Bryant College is not a part of such a situation that is so complex and so difficult to understand. That is the Community. I feel that Bryant College has many potential and dedicated leaders who could emerge from a crisis such as this.

Here at Bryant College, we have already lost the services of an outstanding man in our administrative ranks. Mr. John Smith has had to resign, and Mr. Smith will no longer be a part of Bryant.

Why? we ask, has such an outstanding man resigned from our college? After getting no conclusive answers, I called Mr. Smith to hear his side of the story. Mr. Smith said, "I decided to resign for no apparent cause and without justification." Having heard of this great inequity that has taken place, I feel it is my duty to report this to the Administration, Board of Trustees, Faculty and Student Body a full account for his actions for which no apparent justification can be found.

I choose not to think what would befall Bryant if this career should ever be overturned the Board of Trustees. Hopefully, they are objective, independent, and adequately appointed to attend to this matter in a manner which will benefit the Community from such further action.

Sincerely, Kevin J. Mcleary

On-Campus Recruitment Procedures

1. The Spring On-Campus Recruitment program begins February 25th. Details will be released in the "Interview Request Forms" are now available in the Placement Office.

2. Review thoroughly the following information found in the "Interview Request Forms" is now available in the Placement Office.

a. Company "Interview Date Sheets" should be available positions and qualifications.

b. Recruiting brochures.

c. Placement sign-up procedures (Roman numeral III in the Placement Office).

3. Obtain and complete the "Campus Interview Request Forms" and return this form to the Placement Secretary.

4. Assignments of companies and times will be made on an equitable basis in consideration of the needs of the students who seek interviews, proportionate number of interviews per student, and those students who are interested in the interview through the "Campus Interview Request Form.

5. Subsequent changes to your schedule, if absolutely necessary, will be handled on an individual basis. Consult with the Secretary or the Director.

6. PLEASE! Inform us in advance, as much as possible, if you cannot make an interview. This will make the remainder of your schedule see SCHEDULE OF INTERVIEW PROCEDURES, Summary, Paragraph 6.
Unique Talking Plants Shop Opens in The Plantations, Providence

Two Bryant College graduates agree that plants are sensitive to feeling and need a lot of love. Carrying this theory to a practical point, graduates Gilbert Bryant of Class ‘71 and Glenn Schin of Class ‘73, have gone to work on the belief they only own the best green plants store in Providence.

Their enterprise is called Talking Plants and has opened at 246 South Main Street in the Plantations renewal section of the city. "There are florists who sell plants and flower shops that sell plants as a sideline," Wollin, who has been in the flower business for 24 years, said, "but we don't believe there's anyone else in this area doing what we're doing."

About this theory that plants "talk," which William M. Atwell, owner of the brown flowers, expressed in a front-page story in the November 29 Evening Bulletin, both Wolfe and his 22-year-old partner, Wollin are in agreement.

"Plants are very sensitive to love," Mr. Atwell said, "like Japanese Pitysorompum, which carried a $45 price tag. "We set off the other day and it dropped its "buds," he went on, "and if we set it in a better manner, the plant will talk to us again." In fact, Mr. Atwell has two bonsai plants in his living room that he claims "talk" to him. Mr. Atwell also claims that he is able to identify his plants at a distance by their "talking," which allows him to have a "better handle on their needs." Mr. Atwell also claims that his plants are "very intelligent" and are able to "read" people's emotions, depending on their treatment.

Talking Plants carries more than 80 varieties of indoor plants, from ferns to cycads, and offers an extensive selection of outdoor plants, including succulents and cacti. The store also has a wide selection of gifts and accessories, including vases, plant stands, and decorative items.

"We have been able to create a unique and personalized shopping experience for our customers," Mr. Atwell said. "We believe that by providing a sense of" — continued from Page 1

ALTERNATIVE USE

THAT INFAMOUS CAT IS BACK

Cartoons have come a long way since Snow White and her Seven Dwarfs pranced across the screen back in 1936, introducing the world’s first full-length animated feature. With that landmark film, animation finally came of age, taking its place as a full-bodied element in the motion picture field. Now, over three decades and dozens of cartoons later, sophisticated audiences are being treated to the latest and most drastic advance in animation—the full-length X-rated cartoon.

"Fritz the Cat" pegs its humorous, timely action onto the satirical misadventures of a long-haired, poetry-loving, white-collar, drug-obsessed cat. With a healthy share of primal-women, sex-crazed men whores, hundreds of intelligent-looking individuals who are not afraid to say anything, and a zesty sense of adventure, this milestone film traces its feline hero through an underground society of exciting big-city business and politics. The picture animals play teetery-hoppers, hard hats, hippies, Black Panthers and revolutionaries during 90 minutes of violence, nudity and sex—enough to start Walt Disney whirling in his grave.

With sassy, saucy language and a realistic Manhattan background, "Fritz the Cat" represents a grand first step in animation maturity. If Fritz is any indication of cartoon heroes to come, Snow White, Mickey Mouse, and Bambi are going to have to stand up and take notice.

In color, "Fritz the Cat" features a rock music score written especially for the film by Ed Bogas and Ray Shanklin.

Tita's admirable decision was to clean out his office as he was told to do, and leave. Tita continued that Dellonico told him and all the administrators that they had a contract from August 1, 1973 through July 31, 1974. As a result, Tita has contacted his lawyer and told us that he intends to sue Everts, all the members of the Board of Trustees, and the College for his salary and benefits. Tita and his lawyer are also exploring the possibility of a civil suit against these people for the potential damage to Tita's reputation as a result of his dismissal.

"Jail to the Chief"

by Mark P. Vincent

And so, while plans were in the making for the Dodge boys to take over the administration of the nation, so, too, plans were in the works for the farewell party to Richard Milhous Nixon in regards to which this first mentioned press release was about. The following release from the White House was made at 3:30 a.m. today:

"Due to a capacity response, the farewell party for former President, Richard M. Nixon, has been moved from the telephone booth at 27th Street and K Street to the Men’s Room at the Capitol. Stay tuned for any further location changes if the number of people expected to attend numbers more than six or seven."

Streaking

(CPS)---swallowing goldfish, stuffing ice cream cones, and smoking dope can’t compare to the latest "fad-streaking" or running around in the nude.

At the University of Maryland (UM) at College Park, this pastime has become part of the fun, although according to the campus police chief, only one person has been arrested so far this year. The runner was charged with assault and disorderly conduct after hitting a resident director who tried to make him go inside.

The record for most running in the nude was set at UM by about 20 University of California males who circulated a dining hall while spectators urged them on with shouts of "naked boys!"

A group of college-students claim they hold the most bizarre nude event, a mock wedding in which the participants wore only hats and headbands.

One student claims he started the nude activities by taking off his pants in front of a girl’s dormitory.

"It wasn’t premeditated," he notes. "I just snapped, and afterward we got drunk one night at a mixed fraternity house."

The activity is not limited to colleges. TIME magazine reports that Los Angeles housewives are prone to shedding their clothes and loopying off into the cool nose of a cool night. Two women are reported to police, who are not overly concerned anyway, TIME says. But passers-by have been shaken up by the spectacle seen in three of the past few weeks and no one knows where the streakers might sneak next.

MBA Highlights

by Dean Lebovita

We welcome your return to the campus and wish you a good spring semester.

With the growing interest in graduate study, today's column will continue to answer the questions that the Graduate Office has been receiving. The President is attending the Graduation Ball at Dartmouth, and for Naval Personnel at the Naval Officer Training Center (NOTC) in Newport.

Q. Where are the MBA classes being offered?

A. On campus, at the Russell Conference Hall to Portsmouth, and for Naval Personnel at the Naval Officer Training Center (NOTC) in Newport.

Q. Do you have day classes?

A. Not now. At present all graduate classes are evening classes.

Q. Since it is too late to register for the spring semester, when can I register?

A. The classes for the first summer session will begin on Monday, May 16. Registration starts April 15.

Q. When should I apply if I want to be considered for admission for the first summer session?

A. Right now. It takes time to obtain your transcript and letters of reference, to interview you, and to jointly plan your program.

Q. Can I apply now for the fall semester?

A. You certainly can.

Q. Is the admission test for Graduate Study in Business required for admission?

A. Yes, it is.

Q. How soon can I take the ATGSC?

A. The next exam will be given on March 30 (Saturday) at Brown University. Your application must be received in Princeton no later than March 1 (Friday).

Q. If I don't apply in time, can I still take the exam on March 30?

A. Yes, there is a provision for walk-ins. But there is an extra charge, plus the regular fee. Also, you have to take your chance that extra exams are available. (If you have questions on this, check with the Graduate Office.)

Q. Suppose my ATGSC scores are not the minimum of 450, as recommended by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

A. A new revision of standards weights your scholastic rating against the ATGSC scores. A good cum for four years, or for your junior senior years, may offset a weakness in the ATGSC scores. Check with the Academic Counselor of the Graduate Office on this question.

Q. I am a junior at Bryant, and I'm looking forward to applying to the Graduate School for Admission to the MBA Programs. How do I make certain that I meet all the undergraduate prerequisites?

A. You can ask for a brochure that explains the MBA programs from the Graduate Office. If you have a question, check with the Academic Graduate Counselor.

Lower Legal Age May Cause Problems For Colleges

(CP) — Lowering the legal age of majority from 21 to 18 years may have serious implications for colleges and universities in those states where the change has been affected.

In a study prepared for the Council of Student Personal Association, Higher Education, D. Parker Young of the University of Georgia discussed the legal and financial problems being created for college administrators by the newly gained adult status of many students. Copies of the report have been forwarded to 480 college presidents across the nation.

Young questioned the legal status of campus rules requiring undergraduates to live in dorms and obey curfew hours, and suggested schools may be forced to stop acting in loco parentis. Similarly, university regulations of campus organizations, clubs, publications, fraternities and sororities are subject to change.

According to the study, developing troubles include student students establishing residence to obtain lower tuition at state schools, the validity of awarding scholarships based on parental income, and the question of legal justification for mailing grades or disciplinary action notices to parents.

In addition to raising these questions, students who have attained the age of majority will have the right to bring suit against universities in an attempt to cope with other traditional tenant disputes with colleges and challenges to being charged a uniform activity fee.

Prompted largely by the 26th amendment which granted 18-year-olds the right to vote in federal elections, about two dozen states have lowered the age of majority.

As a result of the change, the two Fall students filed suit against Mid-Western University to obtain an injunction preventing enforcement of rules requiring students under 21 live in campus housing. In granting the injunction, the court cited the Texas law lowering the age of majority to 18.

These suits have been filed by students against colleges in Georgia, Illinois, and Florida.

Dr. Patterson feels that Bryant's emphasis on career education is a great asset. This, he feels, makes Bryant unique in the area of meeting the needs of young people and preparing them to meet the challenges they are going to find in the world.

Dr. Patterson was appointed by President Clinton to serve as Chairperson of the Curriculum Committee, representative on the Committee on College Organization, and Chairperson of several United Methodist departments.

Dr. Patterson is currently Dean of Academic Instruction. The responsibility of this Office, according to Dr. Patterson, is one of coordinating the efforts of individual departments and communicating with both Department Chairpersons and Faculty Members. Dr. Patterson sees her position as "one of keeping up on curriculum trends and making sure that things run smoothly between Administration, Faculty and Students." Dr. Patterson's first relationship with the Philosophy of Bryant College is student and business
The basketball team should have gone home instead of hosting its own tournament. Bryant lost both ends of their holiday festival by 4- and 17-point margins. The competition was not taller, nor was it any better than the Indians. The tournament was lost because of a previous game. The attitudes of Bryant players were poor and the results were just as discouraging.

December 27 and 28, Bryant College participated in Bentley College's first tournament. The Indians whipped Hunter College (New York) 64-32 in the opening round. As usual, sophomore Dave Sorensen led the way, as he netted 18 points. The victory was Bryant's third straight, raising the season mark to a respectable 4-3. Bentley also had a runaway, as they clubbed Middlebury College. The victory was Bentley's eighth of the season. The Falcons continued to dominate the weekly UPI polls as they earned first place in New England, and was voted third in the nation.

The championship game was played in Bentley's new field house, the Charles A. Dana Athletic Center. Bryant led 20-16 after twelve minutes, as Tom Dupont hit eight of his 22 points early in the game. However, Bentley scored seven unanswered points, taking a 23-20 lead. The teams went into the lockerroom with the scoreboard showing Bentley ahead 37-35.

The second half, Bryant again battled back. Dave Sorensen (29 points) hit three straight hoops at the ten-minute mark. Bentley, still clutching a two-point lead 64-62, was held scoreless for three minutes. The Indians forged ahead 60-64 with three minutes to go, but Bentley came right back. The Falcon hallhandler, Brian Hammel (29 points), scored two hoops in the final two minutes giving Bentley a 71-69 lead. Charlie Armstrong knocked the score with a hoop with 34 seconds remaining for Bryant.

With six seconds remaining in the game, Armstrong rebounded a missed Bentley's shot and fired the ball to Ned Bohan. Bohan missed a layup with one second remaining, but Tom Dupont tipped the ball in at the buzzer. The midcourt referee signaled that the basket was good—a victory for Bryant. Coach Al Shields of Bentley protested the call to the other referee, and after consulting with the timekeeper (Bentley employed), the basket was nullified.

Bryant was forced to return to the floor to play five more minutes in overtime. Bentley outscored the emotionally drained Indians 12-4 in the overtime period, as the Falcons robbed Bryant of the championship win. Bryant straight, Bryant had lost three in the same number of days. Bentley defeated Bryant last year in overtime, as well. Two overtime losses to the "best" college division team is enough. The Falcons, though, will have to travel to Bryant next time. February 28 is the date, and Bryant will be waiting for them.

Coach Tom Foliard juggled the starting lineup last Tuesday and his strategy paid off. Starters Ned Bohan, Walt Washington, Bob Narrum, Dave Sorafine and Charlie Armstrong combined for 33 points, as the Indians defeated Gordon. The 76-58 triumph lifted Bryant's Naismith Conference record to 5-1. The victory also stopped a three-game losing streak, as Bryant marched to its fifth victory in eleven games.

Just six minutes into the game, Foliard pulled the starters, as Bryant surged to a 15-2 lead. Substitutes Rick Stanley, Paul Menes, Bob Moll, Tom Dupont, and Bill Goodkisser came to play, as they performed as well as the starters.

Armstrong owned the boards, as the 6'10" soph grabbed 38 rebounds. Big Chan intimidated Gordon players time and time again as he blocked a half-dozen shots. Dave Sorafine's 30 points again spearheaded the Indian attack. The 6'10" soph converted a miraculous pass from Bill Goodkisser late in the game as Bryant supporters were brought to their feet. Goodkisser, in addition to his passing, scored nine points, bombing four 25-footers. Tom Dupont, although not starting, scored ten points and took down eight rebounds in the romp. Ned Bohan (ten assists) again called the plays, as he controlled the tempo of the game.

Although Gordon was a weak team, it was good to see the Bryant players performing as a cohesive unit once again.

Starting the two big sophs worked well Tuesday night. With seven more conference games remaining, Bryant still eyes the Naismith crown. Armstrong and Sorafine should hold off the opposition as Bryant earns the automatic bid for the NIAA playoffs.

Charlie Armstrong will start again tonight against Suffolk.
