It was disclosed last Tuesday that Bryant’s radio station was granted its long-awaited broadcasting license by the FCC. This was a joyous day for all the hard-working people involved with the station, particularly the Chairman of the Board, Steve Boulter. The station is planning to be on the air by February 1, and hopes to be broadcasting over the public address system in the Unistructure within the next few weeks. John Orrell, the station’s publicity man, stated that the station would not be broadcasting until February because of a few unfinished details. The station’s call letters have not yet been determined by the Federal Communications Commission and the terms of the license must be changed. Also, the radio room is still in the process of being made-ready for broadcasting. The work is being carried out under the supervision of professional communications engineers. The radio staff feels that it wants the station to be run in a professional manner, and that it will take time to organize and coordinate its functions.

A key person in working for the station’s license has been Dr. Fullerton, who contacted government officials on local and national levels to aid in obtaining the license.

Once the station is operating, it will be an FM educational station with ten watts and a frequency of 91.5. Students interested in working on the radio staff are invited to attend the meetings which are held Tuesday’s at 3 p.m. in the radio room (off the lounge on the third level of the Unistructure).

REPORT TO OUTLINE

TEXTBOOK TROUBLES

The scarcity of required textbooks is a fact the students of Bryant College have had to cope with for five weeks. Texts have been administered with many students lacking the necessary text. Students just having received the book have had to “cram” in order to catch up with the rest. The students have been innocent bystanders receiving the punishment while the blame, of course, lies elsewhere.

Alan Chep, Chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee, has been looking into this and other problems concerning textbooks. These reports, which are now being finished for presentation next week, concern the Bookstore, the Faculty, and the publishing companies. The aspects include not only scarcity of books, but also prices (a student pays approximately $500 in an average four-year career at Bryant), neglect on the part of the faculty, and the publishers’ indifference towards college bookstores.

All of this will be included in an extensive report with tables outlining prices, turnover of books, etc., in next week’s issue of The ARCHWAY.

CAMPUS HIGHLIGHT

Rumor has it that everyone enjoyed last Tuesday night’s meal...on the floor, walls, and windows of the cafeteria. Thanks and a tip of the hat to Tommie D., this year’s new ARA conductor. See page two for his new hit release. (Photos by Stein).
Editorially Speaking

This year, there seems to be an incredible parking problem at Bryant College. We have parking spaces available for 2500 vehicles on the new campus, but Security is still calculating how many cars are registered in their office. Because of this, we don’t know if the shortage of parking spaces is because there are more than 2500 cars here every day or if it’s because people are being hogs and are using more than one parking space for one car.

It seems that more dorm students have cars this year. This has to be a fact, because if you happen to come back to the campus late at night—after evening students have gone home—you’ll find that most of the parking spaces are in use this year. If you’re a dorm student and you leave campus during the day, you just may find yourself parked near the athletic fields. This is mostly due to the fact that commuting students and faculty members have been parking in the lot closest to the dormitories. On week nights, the only one taking advantage of Division students can often be found in the lot near the dorms.

Another problem in all of the parking areas is that some people feel as if they are entitled to more than one space at a time. On Thursday evening, more than five people took up two spaces space in the dormitory parking lot alone!

We see no reason for this type of thing going on. Faculty members, non-resident students, and Evening Division students don’t need to park near the dorms. Those people spend most of their day in the Academic Wing of the Unistructure. Why do they feel as if they have to park near the dorms?

If we would like to suggest a solution to this problem, we think that a new parking-sticker system should be put into effect. Dorm students, administrators, and staff members would be given stickers different from those given to faculty members, commuters, and Evening Division students. Members of the Security Force (Security is on a 24-hour schedule) could stand at the entrances of the parking areas to be sure that people don’t go into the wrong lot. This may sound like the beginning of a police state to some people; but this type of system is used by other colleges, and there is a lot less confusion when a logical system is enforced.

Student Discounts

Dear Editor,

I should like to bring to the attention of the student body the availability of student discount rates for numerous concerts presented in Rhode Island. Through the Endowment Program offered by the State Council on the Arts, students may attend the programs at half price. This rate is applicable to series tickets as well as to individual concerts. Those programs in this year’s schedule include both renowned artists in the world, among them Nurney, Van Cliburn, Beverly Sills, the National Chinese Opera Theatre, etc.

Those students wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity should contact me in Room 370 or Room 380 in any Tuesday, Thursday or Friday.

Yours sincerely,

Lolia Josepsegh, Lecturer in Music

Commuter Rights

Dear Editor,

I am writing in response to the letter submitted by "Six Happy Dorm Students" printed in the October 5th edition of the Archway.

Though there is a lounge set aside supposedly for commuters at Bryant, dorm students used this room last year at least as much as commuters. No check was made to see that only commuters were admitted. Therefore, dorm students took it upon themselves to make this lounge available to the entire student body.

The commuter lounge last semester had soda, milk, pastry, candy, and cigarette machines. These are not present in the "new" commuter lounge. It is easy for particular dorm students to reach a solution to the difficulty of carrying cups of soda upstairs to carry cans of soda instead. However, I would like to know where a canned-soda machine is located in the Unistructure or where there is an available refrigerator to store cans of soda to keep cold during the day at Bryant.

Just in response to another letter printed last week, most commuters work for the money that they get for tuition. If this is what is meant by "pampered," what is having the opportunity to live on campus called?

In closing I would like to point out that Bryant is a solution to most of its leisure activities (movies, etc.) during the evening when commuters are either working or recuperating from their daily parking near fulltime jobs. The rights of commuters must be recognized:

I cannot remember ever picking up an issue of the ARCHWAY and not reading at least one article in which some "lone voice in the night" was urging and pleading for student involvement. It seems that committee chairpersons, student senators, and activity or g anizers are not senate members. In the past, I've heard statements from students who have never attended a senate meeting. I realize that many students work, have other activities, and have to go to school, you should at least take the time to meet the people who you have elected to the senate. It is true that senate meetings are late in the afternoon and are sometimes rather drawn out, but I think that everyone should at least stay by a few minutes before the meeting to meet other representatives. They would be more than glad to meet you, and listen to any ideas or problems you might have. We, the students of Bryant College, cannot expect to have everything done for us by just a handful of students. We must back these people and show them that we are interested and that we appreciate their efforts. I am not going to beg anyone to come to a senate meeting or to join a committee, but I will ask you to stop and think of what has been offered to you at Bryant and what you have offered it.

"The Battle Hymn of the Students"

(With respect to J.W. Howe)

Our eyes have seen the gory of the malnourished food, We've suffered through the rubes and the people who are rude. In service you are lacking and the silverware is brown. The food just won't go down.

On entering the dining hall your ID must be shown This is a lot of bullshit because the broad is always stoned. The line is stupendous and it seldom moves The food just won't go down.

Where is the steak and roast beef cuts that you have advertised? The only cuts of meat we get are always underdone. The lady barks "potatoes" out of the smashed or the French Fries? The starch just won't go down.

We lift our voices in praise to you, almighty ARA We thank you very kindly for the three great meals a day The food is lacking tastiness and vitamins per pound Our health is going down.

Here's a warning to you ARA it's known that your food sucks. If you don't soon improve yourself you'll end like Jimmy's Track. The only thing I can suggest is get out while you can The students can't be kept down.

Now don't forget your Archway when you come to eat tonight, If we all sing at six, ARA will lose the fight. Throwing food and dropping trays we all must do it right. Come on, people, join the fight.

REFRAIN:
Power, power to the student Power, power to the student Power, power to the student Power, power to the student It must be done tonight!

Careers for Secretarial and Office Education

Dear Editor,

On Thursday, October 18, in the Library the Department of Secretarial and Office Education will be holding its annual Freshmen Orientation Seminar.

The program will feature speakers discussing the various majors available in the Department—accounting, executive, legal, and medical.

Marie B. O.

Lee Ann Apthorp, a freshman at Bryant, died early last Monday morning in her dormitory suite. She was discovered at about 2 a.m. by two of her suite-mates who notified other students and the College Security Office.

Lee was taken to Fogarty Memorial Hospital by the Rescue Patrol of the Smithfield Police Department. Cause of death was reported as suffocation by the State Medical Examiner, Dr. Joseph Polumbo.

Lee was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Apthorp of Jewett City, Connecticut. She graduated from the Norwich Free Academy, Norwich, Connecticut in June, 1973 and was a Secretarial-Science major here at Bryant.

A memorial service was held on Wednesday in Jewett City.
Movie Review

A Question of Functionalism

'Le Sex Shop'

...continued in English. The director and star, Claude Berri, is a Frenchman who has become a success with American audiences. The film survives through its potentiality for satire, which is in part of the flavor of the film. An ounce of sophisticated humor goes a long way here. As Allen preceded, Berri tries to continue, not quite succeeding in the unpredictable category of a very small store with little. No other store? The film is a unique here at Bryant College. We want to call it the Bryant HOTLINE. It is a general information service. If a person should happen to call you with a serious psychological or emotional problem, you will be supplied with a directory of reference numbers that will put the person in touch with a counselor on campus, such as Father Barrett, Janet Morahan, Peter Barlow, Carmen Jordan, or Barry Fullerton.

As a general information service it can work like this: You belong to an organization on campus and are planning an open party or meeting of some kind. Use the Bryant HOTLINE to help you. First name the list on the hat you will be supplied with. Or maybe you will need to call someone once in a year. Simple! Theoretically we could have every member of the Bryant community on the list—dorm students, commuters, faculty, and administration. Let's finally get the communication we have always wanted in this college.

See you Wednesday night, October 17, at 8:30 p.m. at the coffee house (Country Comfort) and once again—it's for everyone. Administration, faculty, and students need to come with someone. You, yourself, may need help...
MBA Highlights

by Dean Lebovitz

Today's column will feature questions that many students have had about the admissions procedure to the MBA Program of the Graduate School at Bryant College.

Q. What are the minimum requirements for admission to the MBA Program?
A. You have to be a college graduate; your scholastic cum should be at least 2.5 for four years or 2.75 for your Junior and Senior years; you should have an acceptable ATGB score; and you must submit three letters of reference.

Q. What do you mean by an acceptable score?
A. At least 550 on the 44th percentile.

Q. Why does Bryant require those cum's and scores?
A. Because they are the minimum standards of acceptability of the national accrediting agency, The American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

Q. Are there any other considerations for admission?
A. No, the Graduate School also takes into consideration other factors, such as work experience, professional societies and stature, extra-curricular interests, leadership, motivations and goals of the applicant.

Q. What about the letters of reference?
A. The letters preferably should come from former professors who can attest to your academic background for graduate study. When these are not available, letters from employers or other persons who can attest are acceptable.

Q. Are the Bryant MBA Programs accredited and by whom?
A. Yes, by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Q. What about college transcripts?
A. Official transcripts must be submitted for all undergraduate schools that the student attended. If the student is a Bryant undergraduate, the Graduate School will obtain a copy of his transcript at no charge to the student. Unofficial transcripts may be used for interview purposes.

Q. What about interviews?
A. Each applicant to MBA programs is invited to come for an interview. A major reason is jointly to review the student's qualifications, including the transcripts and to be able to inform the student just what his or her program will be and the tentative conditions of admission.

Q. Is there a graduate counselor available?
A. Yes, the Graduate School now has an admissions counselor.

Q. When should one ask for an interview?
A. Preferably after the application and transcripts have been received, but making it possible to define the student's admisibility and program.

Q. Can one ask for an interview prior to submitting an application?
A. Yes, the Graduate Office is always available to discuss its programs.

Q. How does the student know that he or she has been admitted?
A. The student will receive a formal admissions letter, together with a checklist of the courses that must be taken to obtain the MBA Degree.

Women In Organizational Management

Speakers for the Bryant College Seminar for Women in Organizational Management designed for career-oriented women in non-profit organizations are announced by Professor Joan Marsella, professor of Social Sciences at Bryant and Director of this Project. She is being assisted in the direction of this seminar by Mr. Phillip Graf, Director of Management Development at the College. This is to be a ten-week program. It began Tuesday, October 9, at 6:15 p.m.

The first speaker in this Seminar was Professor Marsella, whose topic was, “The Economic Status of Women: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow.” The seminar is strongly directed to community needs and addressed to the issue of internal promotion for women who seek advancement to the management level in such institutions as schools, churches, libraries, social service, adoption agencies, Red Cross, Blue Cross, all community welfare agencies, hospitals and other non-profit organizations.

According to Professor Joan Marsella, professor of Social Sciences at Bryant and Director of this project, “there is an urgent need for women trained in administrative skills and a managerial perspective in these areas.”

This is a pilot program funded jointly by Bryant College and a grant from the Rhode Island State Advisory Council for Title of the Higher Education Act. Planned to maximize the ability of existing institutions to meet community need, this seminar aims to prepare women for managerial positions in the important non-profit agencies that serve so many vital areas in our daily lives. It will be restricted to non-profit organizations, each of which is invited to select one woman employee who has been identified for career advancement to attend this seminar.

Professor Marsella insists that participants “will not just sit and listen,” they will be required to participate actively and to interact with seminar leaders. The seminar will include the case method, role plays and management simulation games. Seminar leadership comprises key representatives of management in business, non-profit organizations, the consulting professions, and the academic world. She describes the first part of the ten-week program as an analysis of the economic role of women today with emphasis on social, political and historical roles. The second section will accent the fundamentals of management the skills needed and the philosophy of modern management concepts. The final and final segment will deal in experience, case histories and analysis of ongoing management programs.

Nichols Nips Bryant
by Lawrence Selvin

Our soccer team suffered a heartbreaking defeat at the feet of Nichols College 2 to 1 on Columbus Day. The Bisons from Dudley, Massachusetts, took to the warpath early on the Indian's reservation, under sunny skies.

Bryant Coach Gerry Guy decided to start Freshman Tom Robbins in the nets. He played well in the first half, before an average sized crowd. Robbins accumulated 12 saves during the time he saw action.

Regular goalie John Feeley replaced the former, adding his talent and experience to the Bryant team in the final half. Bryant incurred a 1-0 halftime deficit for the following reasons. Although more frequent substitutions were made than in past games, the Indians attack at times lacked cohesiveness and precision. While taking the offensive, Bryant often buzzed their players causing difficulty in mounting real scoring threats.

Even the unexpected and brief appearance of an elder dog failed to motivate Bryant's defense. Two of Bryant's goals, originating when John Feeley made a diving save. Two of Bryant's goals, originating when John Feeley made a diving save.

Bryant's next encounter has them facing arch-rival Bentley at Waltham, Massachusetts on Saturday at 2 p.m. The schedule shows the Indians back home on Thursday the 18th, opposing Providence, a 3 p.m. start.

Leonard and Lynch Elected to New Positions Within Senate
by Paul Carroll

The Student Senate elected two new members to its Executive Council at last Tuesday's meeting. They are Junior Senator Fred Leonard, who was elected Speaker of the Council; and Sophomore Senator Michael Lynch, who was elected to the office of Treasurer.

In a letter presented to the Senate, Leonard put forth his objectives as Speaker of the Council, foremost of which is "to make the Senate an efficient and respected voice of the students." He also spoke of working on important current issues at Bryant, such as the newly-planned registration policy, dorm deposits, and the prices in the snack bar.

Michael Lynch, who has been serving as Acting Treasurer since Breg Kassahun's resignation, presented a financial report of the Senate's Budget. The balance for this semester is $14,582.30. Mike will present a more detailed report at the Senate's next meeting. Due to Mike Lynch's election to the Executive Council, a sophomore Senate seat has been made vacant. Anyone interested in this position can obtain information in the Senate Office.

In other Senate news, Junior Senator Rick Correto put forth a motion for a committee to be formed to deal with the friction which has developed between factions of the commuters and dorm students. The motion was passed, and the committee, with the help and advice of dormitory and commuter students, will attempt to resolve grievances between the two groups. In connection with this problem, it was disclosed at the Senate meeting that plans are in the works to improve facilities in the lounge and make it more for all students.

Once again, the topic of the Senate Committee and the College committees was brought up. These committees are still seeking interested students. Anyone interested in joining a committee should contact Fred Leonard in the Senate Office.

The Student Senate announced that it will present the Ann Carr Show on December 11, the proceeds of which will go to the United Way. This show will be presented during the day when only one class will be in session. This will afford an opportunity for a majority of students to attend the show.

Harry Evans, Barry Fullerton, Tom Follard, Robie Gohlich, and rookies Frank Carrigan and Bob Bettie each with one. And for Phi Sig it was Brian Lombardo, Mark Goblin, and rookies Frank Carrigan and Doug "HANDS" Brown each with one.

The only score in the second half came on a high snap from the TE center that went out of the end zone for a safety. Once again, another of the strong defensive contents of the year.

The prospects are good, but we still need your support and involvement to have another successful season. Last year, Varsity won 20 games and lost just six, while Sub-Varisty compiled a 12 and 4 record. There are many openings on the teams because we lost many players due to graduation.

TWO SHOWINGS 7pm, 9:15

The only score of the second half was an interception for TKE by Ernie Crowell.

"Mountain" Crowell took TKE to the Delta Sig ten. However, the TE pressure attempt was halted when Mike "Handy" McGregor intercepted on the two-yard line. This won Delta Sig into sole possession of their rivalry.

This was a hard-fought game which was not decided until late in the second half. Phi Sig scored first on a 40-yard bomb from Frank Carrigan to wide receiver Bill Taylor. A few plays later, it was TE's turn to do some scoring as QB Al Lorti hit Bob Bettie all alone in the endzone. This made the score 6-5. Before the first half ended, Phi Sig mounted one more scoring drive as once again it was Carrigan to Taylor for six.

The second half was one of strong defense but little offense. Each team's defense gave the opposing Q's fit's best with interceptions. For TE it was Al Lorti, Steve Schumacher, and Bob Bettie each with one. And for Phi Sig it was Brian Lombardo, Mark Goblin, and rookies Frank Carrigan and Doug "HANDS" Brown each with one.
