TEP & Six Hold Annual Sno Queen Weekend

The annual Sno' Queen Pageant at Bryant College began on February 21, 1973 in the Koffler Rotunda at Pageant. The ceremony began on February 21, 1973 Academic Affairs; Dr. Barry A. Pullerton, Vice President for Student Affairs; Dr. Dennis Nordin, Assistant Professor of History; Mary Jane Felkey, Assistant Professor of Secretarial and Office Education; Arthur H. Boulet, Associate Professor of Science; and Gertrude M. Hochberg, Director of Publications and Information.

The Sno' Queen will be crowned at 10:30 p.m. at a final celebration for the pageant, which will be at the Coronation Ball, Elks Lodge, Smithfield, Rhode Island, February 24, starting at 8 p.m.

Co-sponsors for this event are Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity and Sigma Chi Fraternity. Coordinators are: Charles Lynch, Providence; Wayne Spears, Laconia, New Hampshire; Paul Portin, New York City; Karen Burns, Warwick; and Irene Kamishil, Franklin, Massachusetts.

Boston State Edges Raiders In Schaefer Tournament

by Jeff Doppelt

In what has to be considered one of the most disheartening defeats in the history of Bryant College Intrimurals, the Raiders lost their chance to play in the finals of the Schaefer Tournament at Boston Garden when they were beaten by an infested red-shirted Boston State team. The final score was 77-76. Four of the players on the Boston State team will be playing varsity ball there next year.

It appeared at the outset that the Raiders were going to run the highly-talented Boston State team right off the court. Behind the fantastic shooting of Max Zaniewski and the Raiders ran off leads of 22-8 and 37-24. However, Boston State scored the next eight points and the Raiders lead was cut to 37-32. Max Zaniewski had 18 points at halftime and the Raiders led by seven, 45-36.

Boston State tied the game at 50 in the second half, but could not manage to take the lead. The Raiders then spurted to an eleven point lead, 67-56, with Ed Desaunier and Max Zaniewski doing most of the scoring. There was less than ten minutes left in the game.

Boston State proceeded to outscore the Raiders 14-4 and drew within one point, 71-70, with 4:21 remaining in the game. They then tied the game at 71 on a foul shot with 3:45 left to play. Boston State took the lead for the first time in the game, 73-72, with 2:34 on the clock. The Raiders quickly regained the lead on a basket by Eric Nilson, 74-73. Boston State scored again, however, Ed Desaunier hit on two free throws and the Raiders had their last lead of the game, 76-75. Boston State missed their ensuing shot and the Raiders got the rebound with less than one minute to play. The Raiders elected not to hold the ball and missed a shot which allowed Boston State another chance. Boston State missed their shot, but rebounded it, and with 30 seconds left scored the winning basket. The Raiders last chance for victory dissipated when Ed Desaunier was charged with an offensive foul with 10 seconds left in the game.

Boston State then proceeded to run out the clock.

I would like to give my personal congratulations to all the members of the Raiders for one of the most hard fought games ever played at Bryant College. In the last seven minutes, the Raiders kept the Indians as they rampaged to a 73-50 score on one of Gonzalez's many jump shots.

In the last seven minutes, Boston State coasted home to an impressive New England ranking and an 18-4 record.

In the J.V. game, Bryant topped the alumni 100-48 as Bill Goudailler (30 points) led the young Indians to an amazing victory. All of the 1000-point scorers appeared as well as another dozen alumni basketball players to provide the competition.

For the second time in two weeks, a Bryant cager has joined the 1000-Point Club. This week the talented athlete is Bruce Stewart. Bruce is a '64' senior from Washington, D.C. In high school, he played for Mackin High and when he came to Bryant, Coach Pollard knew he had the services of a fine athlete and person. As a freshman, Bruce excelled and was being counted on for varsity playing-time as a sophomore. The past is gone and 1,000 points later Chip's Stewart is being rewarded. Chip is known for his tremendous hustle and defensive prowess and many times has bailed the Indians out of a tight jam with his much-improved outside shooting. For the past two years, Bruce was primarily a forward and this year had to adjust to being a guard. As he has done in the past, Bruce Stewart succeeded. All of the Bryant community congratulates Bruce on reaching this amazing total.

In getting this goal, Bruce led the Indians with 25 points, followed by Gonzalez (16), Desaunier (14), and Ahern (10). Again, Bryant had to overcome a poor first half and outscored St. Francis 52-20 in the second half to insure the 87-61 victory. Bryant spurted ahead 55-43 on Stewart's goal with an assist by Ahern. Stewart and De Poppo tallied to make it 59-47 when Bruce Stewart went to the foul line with two shots and 999 career points. With 10:33 left the campus sank the first to reach the magic number. This must have sparked the Indians as they rampaged to a 73-50 score on one of Gonzalez's many jump shots.

Reform Slate Challenges Faulting Providence Machine

J ohn C. Farrell, Vice-President of the Young Democratic Club of Rhode Island today announced his candidacy for the presidency of that organization. Farrell was a member of the state's pro-McGovern delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach and worked in five presidential primaries in support of the candidacy of Senator McGovern. Farrell is a resident of Providence, Rhode Island, and has a law degree. A long-time advocate of party reform and an avid supporter of the McGovern movement, Farrell became active in politics through the New Democratic Coalition, a reform-oriented scion of the Democratic Party. One of the most vocal leaders of the movement, Farrell said, "This is the time of our nation's history when we must take a stand on the issues that matter to us as individuals." The move came as a surprise to many, who had expected Farrell to run for the vice-presidential slot on the McGovern ticket. Mr. Farrell's candidacy has been welcomed by many within the Young Democratic Club, a group that seeks to bring the party closer to the people and to ensure that the party's platform truly reflects the will of the electorate. Mr. Farrell's announcement has already sparked a flurry of activity within the club, with many members expressing a desire to see him run for the presidency. The Young Democratic Club is one of the largest and most influential organizations in Rhode Island, and its support will be crucial in the upcoming primary season. Mr. Farrell has promised that, if elected, he will work to make the Democratic Party more responsive to the needs of the people and to bring about real change in the state. He has also pledged to support the platform that was adopted at the convention in Miami Beach, which calls for a more just and equitable society. Mr. Farrell's campaign has already attracted the support of many prominent figures in the state, who have pledged their backing to his candidacy. The Young Democratic Club and Mr. Farrell have both been active in the convention's elections, and they have already shown their ability to mobilize a large number of voters. The Young Democratic Club has been one of the most successful organizations in the state in recent years, and its supporters are confident that Mr. Farrell will be able to carry their message to the voters. SUBJECT: Higher Education Student Loans and the Guaranteed Student Loan Program

The following information is being disseminated to assist you with regard to questions which may arise concerning the new rules and regulations for the Guaranteed Student Loan Program. The new regulations take effect on March 1, 1973, and are incorporated in the Education Amendments Act of 1972 which was effective July 1, 1972.

Background of the Program

The original Student Loan Program was established by the Higher Education Act of 1965. Lending institutions were asked to loan their own capital to qualified college students. In turn the federal government would not only guarantee that the loans would be repaid, but also would pay the annual interest of 7% to the bank as long as the students were enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

Non-profit agencies in each state were established to oversee the program, and the loans developed various names: Student Loans, HELP Loans, and Guaranteed Loans. Whatever the name, the Program was the same, and its function was to provide college students with loans at low-interest rates and long-term repayment periods.

The annual loan maximum has been increased periodically by amendments to the law. This maximum, now $1,500 will be increased to $2,500 for the next academic year. It should be noted, however, that private and State agencies have the option as to the maximum loan they will guarantee. (The R.I. Higher Education Assistance Corporation, RIHEAC, is not intending to institute the increase at this time. The maximum loan they will guarantee remains $1,500 per academic year).

The New Program

Prior to the implementation of the new rules, an adjusted family income of over $15,000 prohibited a student from receiving the federal interest subsidy while enrolled in college. This arbitrary cut-off is no longer in effect.

If a student is requesting that the government pay the interest while he is attending college, the following steps should be adhered to by the applicant:

1. Obtain the necessary applications, including the three-part Student Loan Application Supplement Form 1280, from your local lending institution.
2. Obtain a Parent's Confidential Statement (PCS) from the Financial Aid Office and file immediately with the College Scholarship Service through Princeton, New Jersey, indicating that a copy of this statement should be sent to Bryant College.
3. Complete and return the bank all the application received from them.

Bank will forward the necessary applications to the Bryant College Financial Aid Office where the Education Certificate and Part B of the application supplement (1280) will be completed. On the latter form the Financial Aid Office must review the Student's PCS or SFS, arrive at the amount of amount the statement indicates and make a recommendation to the lending institution as to the amount of subsidized loan to which he should be entitled. The lending institution has the final authority of granting or declining the loan on a subsidized basis.

If a student does not qualify for a subsidized loan, he may re-apply for an unsubsidized loan. He will then have to pay the interest rate of 7% simple which will be billed to the student on a regular basis while attending college.

Any further regulations which may be of concern will be brought to your attention. In the meantime, the Financial Aid Office will be glad to be of assistance.

MARKETING IS... by Thomas Czapienski

A trend toward more marketers as company presidents was reported recently by Golightly & Co., an international general management consulting firm. Comparing 1968-72 presidencies with the preceding 20 years, marketing and financial executives tied with 22 percent each (an increase for marketers but a decrease for finance men). Why more marketers as presidents? Possibly a feeling that they "can best cope with rising consumerism and the need to reach people in a difficult and demanding marketing environment," according to the firm’s president.

Paper recycling is a marketing problem, according to a New York Chamber of Commerce study. "Paper Recycling: A Business Perspective," which reports 50 percent of New York City’s 29,000 tons of daily garbage is recyclable paper. Industry has the knowledge, equipment, and techniques to recycle much more paper, but it doesn’t.

Learn Retailing in London—and do some sightseeing too! Michigan State University again is offering its Comparative Retail Distribution summer school in London, England, allowing North American college marketing and retailing students (preferably juniors with one marketing course completed) contact with London’s senior executives and store outlets in this world center of trade, fashion, and shopping. The application deadline is April 30. For more details contact: Stanley C. Hollander, Professor of Marketing, MSU, East Lansing, Michigan 48823.

"The Heartbreak Kid"
by David T. Pandozzi

A short courting period after a brief hello in a bar and an even shorter marriage describes the tactics of Lenny Cantrow "The Heartbreak Kid." Tears at the wedding and tears on the honeymoon are not too distant in this very brief marriage between Lenny and Lila, a matter of four days.

Charles Grodin, with a teddy-bear look and a way with lies, has captured the character of Lenny in a different type comedy about love and marriage. Lenny is a young man and splotting goods salesman who gets married and then finds the girl of his dreams while on his honeymoon, and it is not his wife. Lila, his wife, who gets burned to a crisp from the hot Miami sun and is over the lack of the "famous pecan pie" and then tries to explain the "heartbreaking news" to his unknowing bride.

An attempt to break the news of the impending divorce is made at the "Port of Call" Restaurant while Lila chews on lobster claws. Lenny becomes disturbed over the lack of the "famous pecan pie" and then tries to explain the "heartbreaking news" to his unknowing bride.

The remainder of the film concerns Lenny’s pursuit for his dream girl in the land of ice and snow; Minnesota. He eventually marries a second time. An all important question you should ask is, did he marry for love or money?

Eddie Albert, the father of the second "happy bride," has been nominated for an Oscar as best supporting actor in his role as the determined "brickwall" and bigoted parent. His wife is always amazed, babbling, and rather dumb.

Far from being a typical comedy film, "The Heartbreak Kid" might be categorized as "black comedy," for it does manage to treat the subject of marriage as a rather bleak situation. Now currently showing at the Four Seasons Cinema.

Bryant Students,

Last week, Bryant students finally showed the first evidence of interest in the Bryant community, in quite some time. It was a majority of students who were concerned about what was happening here. Now, I would like to urge the students, again, to show interest. Support the Senate Elections on Wednesday, February 21, 1973, VOTE.

I am a candidate for the Vice-President's position of the Student Senate. I am a transfer student from the University of Denver and am presently in my fourth semester.

The reason I would like to be given the chance to be the Senate Vice-President is because I believe I can instill student confidence and cooperation in the Senate, which has been lacking in the past. I know that a majority of students haven't actively shown an interest and I think it is the Senate's responsibility to develop the communication between the students. Even if it means that the Senate people have to telephone commuting students or visit the students in the dorms, to find out their opinions on Senate actions. I want to try to help the students help themselves and not to be afraid in doing so.

At this time I would like to make myself available for any questions, by asking you to address them to me and to drop them off at the Mall Room in Box 1781. Again, please vote on Wednesday and give me the opportunity to help you. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Matthew McManus
Candidate for Vice-President

Pick Your Favorite Senate Officer

Dear Friend:

My name is Berj Kassabian, and I am running for Treasurer of the Student Senate this Tuesday, February 27, 1973. I feel that I am qualified because of six years of past experience in high school in my native country of Lebanon, in the Armenian Evangelical College.

The communication gap is widening in the community and I will do my best within the powers of my office to help correct this situation in cooperation with my fellow Senators to benefit the Bryant College community. For example I have found certain deficiencies in the monetary policies of the administration, one of the things I hope to correct with your help. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Berj Kassabian

Bryant Students,

I announce my candidacy for president of the Student Senate this coming election on Feb, 27, 1973. Once I obtain this office, I will make sure that the Student Senate functions to its fullest capacity for all students. No longer shall the student office be for an egotistical Ring and his court. I will try to make it a place where all student business is transacted and this business being beneficial to the student body.

Yours for Presidency,
Cypr i an E. Kemp

To the Staff Of The Archway and Members of the Bryant Community

I would like to create a new personality for the Student Senate. Unfortunately, the present senate has lost its credibility with the students; whose fault this is, is not my part to say. The fact is that such a condition exists and should be remedied. If elected, I would advocate the following:

1. Joint meetings of the Senate and the Greek Letter Council for the betterment of school activities. The Greeks represent too great a percentage of our school to be ignored politically.

2. I would push for the re-establishment of a dorm council to meet once a month with the Senate to voice any grievances or ideas of the dorm residents. Such a council was created once before without success, but I feel recognition of the need for a council has grown since then and if attempted again would succeed. A representative council of commuters would be necessary, the commuters should not be forgotten either.

To keep the student body abreast of Senate activities, a newsletter in the ARCHWAY could be created. Once the senate has the support of its student body communication with the administration would be made easier and more effective.

I am no stranger to Bryant activities. I have served as Vice-president and President of the Investment Club. I am one of the original members of the Stage Band and have been a promoter for the band since its conception. I can appreciate the frustration of individuals efforts to start organizations in this school—I have experienced it often during my affiliation with the band and I am also a member of the Sebas Dive Club.

I would now like to work for Bryant on a large scale and am therefore asking you for your vote for President of the Student Senate. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Greg Evans

To Members of the Student Body:
The time has come for me to introduce myself. My name is Joanne Lipsky. I am a junior, majoring in Teacher Education, and am a candidate for the position of Secretary to the Student Senate. Having received my Associate Degree in Secretarial Sciences, I feel qualified to carry out the duties and responsibilities of the secretary of the Senate. At present, I am the assistant secretary to the Executive Board of the Student Senate. I would like to further my goals, contributing what I can to the student body as a senate representative. Your vote will help me reach this goal.

Thank you,
Joanne Lipsky

TUESDAY TUESDAY TUESDAY

Feb 27
Imagine the Café de la Paix on the Rue de Bray! Imagine genuine French cuisine prepared by authentic French cooks. Know that you will not have to fly by plane to get there. Stop imagining, because this will become reality when you reserve your ticket to the Gourmet French Night and dinner at Bryant College on Sunday evening, March 4th. This is the third in a series of international epicurean adventures presented by the foreign students of the College.

The gastronomic meal for this event will feature the legendary French Onion Soup, the famous Quiche Lorraine, Roast Chicken with French Peas, French Salad, petits fours, and other delicacies.

There also the possibility that one of the well-known college singing groups will appear to sing some French chansons. There will be other distractions. Previous Bryant participation in ISO evening suggest that these international nights are very popular.

Since there will be a limited number of tickets on sale, all guests must present their student ID to claim the tickets as soon as possible from the members of the ISO.

You must remember that the Providence Party wants us to lose, and they have a very peculiar ability to dig up votes when they need them. We need every vote we can get." When asked if he was confident of his state victory, he responded, "yes. The young people who are politically active in this state know the potential of the Young Democratic Club in the areas of political and social reform. They also know that we, the reform candidates, will maximize that potential. Whether our opponent's support by the arch-conservative Providence machine will do the same is highly questionable. In short, I believe that we represent the ideas, ideals, and beliefs of our constituency: the young people of Rhode Island.

The Young Democratic Club of Rhode Island will hold its annual convention on Saturday, February 24, at the Rhode Island college student union. There are two sessions scheduled. The first for policy making, 1 to 4 p.m. The latter starting with a cocktail hour between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. and continuing until the close of business. Registration for new members closes at 7:30 p.m. New members are eligible to vote for the election of officers.

The reform candidates extend an invitation to everyone interested in government and a truly open system to attend and express their opinions.

Paddlemen Ready for Brown

This past Sunday evening, the Providence College Paddlemen defeated Providence College in table tennis by a score of 22-3. It is the fourth consecutive win for our first-year team. This sets the stage for this coming Sunday's match with first place Brown.

Last Sunday's match turned out to be another runaway for Brown, only this time the score was 10-0 before the match even started! P.C. was missing two players which cost them the forfeit of ten matches. Bryant's players defeated the rest of the team however.

Individual records that night were Neil Goldman and Howie Domnoff both 3-0; Larry Selvin, Howie Schriever and a new comer Dave Brown were all 2-1. At this point in the season just about every player's winning percentage is above .600.

Next week we face Brown in a match which we should strive to be a very exciting match. All those interested in coming, see any of the above players or be in the game room on Sunday evening at 5:45.

Once again, the injury bug has hit the New York Rangers. The latest edition of the Broadway Blues walking wounded is as large as the one earlier in the season, but the bug has hit the core of the club's attack and defense. Coach Emile Francis has his worries. Not only two of his key players were constantly ailing, but the Rangers also faced an uphill climb to second, let alone contend for the Stanley Cup. The Rangers were losing the New Yorkers were lucky to be in the mix. Their 18-4 record is a good indication that they have the ability to do it.

The Bryant College Indians, needing to win their remaining two games for a possible NCAA post season tournament bid, will face their sternest test of the season tonight when they play the Falcons of Bentley College at Waltham, Massachusetts. Bentley (22-2) ranked 10th in the country, and 2nd in New England, has already been accepted for the Northeast Regional NCAA College Division Tournament. The other team chosen was Assumption College who was Bentley run-up to last year.

If the Indians beat Bentley they will probably win 20 games for the first time since the 1968-69 season. However, they cannot afford to play a bad half against a team that has scored as many as 135 points in a game this year. Last year, when Bentley won 20 straight games, they beat Bryant 67-63 the fewest points by far for Bentley scored all season. If Bryant can repeat this defensive performance they will beat Bentley. Fans are confident that they can win and their 18-4 record is a good indication that they have the ability to do it.

The Bryant College Indians are the toughest team to play on their home ice. They are the team with the most goals scored in the final minutes of the game. They are the team that is always on top of the game, and they are the team that wins the close games.

This year if the baseball season gets under way American League teams will revolutionize the national pastime by inserting a designated pinch hitter for the pitcher in their lineups. By no means is it mandatory for a club to designate a pinch hitter, but failure to do so prior to the game prevents the use of the designated pinch hitter for the game.

Under the new rules it is still possible for the pitcher to bat for himself, but by inserting a power hitter into the lineup opponents will be given a new dimension. Each major league club will have two men on and two men out in the early innings with the pitcher up next. Instead of facing the pitcher a normally "sure out" the opposing manager will have to decide what to do with the designated pinch hitter who in many cases will be a proven veteran in the last year's of his playing career.

With the invention of the designated pinch hitter the average life of a baseball player will no doubt be on the increase. Many proven stars who can still swing the bat, but because of their age cannot play in the field everyday will be given a new life. A major loophole in this is the acquisition of Orlando Cepeda by the Boston Red Sox. If Cepeda can give the already awesome Boston attack added depth, an American League pennant for Boston may be in the making.

All this excitement will be generated if and only if the players organization signs a new contract with baseball's club owners. For the second year in a row, the two parties are at odds, but this time around the owners have closed spring training camps until the dispute is settled. This year the major stipulation is the reserve clause. The owner's latest proposal includes no suggestion for modification of the reserve clause at least for the present. Instead the owners want to make a study of the system for three years, the length just happens to be the term length proposed for the new agreement. The players who earlier had proposed a one year study, were now keeping details of their new proposal. "The owners and the players association also differ on such matters as minimum salaries, World Series salary, and the right to reject trades. Concerning the right to reject trades, the owners have proposed that if a player has played in the major leagues for ten years, the last five with the same team, he can reject a trade. The players have stated that the right to reject a trade should be given to players who have played major league baseball for eight years, the last three with the same club.

No matter how you look at it is the owners will be the losers. To give an example, suppose that a player has played three years in the major leagues the last two with the same club. If after the season the owner feels he wants to keep the ballplayer, he must fully understand the liability involved. According to the player's standpoint it's the player for life if he cannot find the right trade, or face the problem of devolution caused by the fact that the other owners know that the player must be unloaded.

For all you diehard Red Sox fans, I hope I'll see you April 6 opening day at Fenway Park against the Yankees.

Six seniors, Co-captains Ray Depelteau and Bruce Stewart, Brian Ahearn, Frank McCormack, Henry Gonzalez, and Richard Lense will be generating in their last regular season home game at Bryant College when they take on Babson Tuesday night. Quite appropriately so, if Bryant wins it will only be the second time a team has gone undefeated in the Naismith Conference. Bryant achieved that feat back during the 1965-66 season when they were 21-1.

Ray Depelteau from Holyoke, Massachusetts, played his high school ball at immaculate in Danbury, Connecticut. He has scored 1098 points thus far in his three years of varsity ball. Bruce Stewart is from Washington, D.C., where he played high school ball at Gonzales, and Richard Lense from Great Neck, N.Y., has been a member of the Indians for three years. He has scored 82 points. They will be sorely missed as Bryant faces its toughest schedule in history next year.

Although Babson is only 3-5 in the Conference, they should not be taken lightly. The Indians just managed to beat Babson 86-83 in their first meeting. Since then, Babson beat Merrimack which is one of the two teams that beat Bryant this year. Babson is led by two fine senior guards, Co-captains Tim Vincent (6'4") and Jeff Teitman (6'2').

So, it's farewell to the Indians for the 1972-73 regular basketball season. Hopefully all you fans will come to the game, brush those tears from your eyes, and say goodbye. But it's tough. It's really tough.
