Bryant Trustee Committee On Student Affairs Meets

The Board of Trustees' Committee on Student Affairs met for its first time this year on Tuesday, February 13. The committee serves as a communication link for the faculty and students to air their opinions on student affairs directly to the Board of Trustees members.

The charge of the committee reads as follows: "The Committee is primarily responsible for advising the Board with respect to those aspects of student life at Bryant College that are either academic or financial (other than financial aid to students).

The Committee shall review the various policies regarding athletics, activities, scholarships, financial aid and student life on campus, as well as the rights and responsibilities of students and disciplinary procedures."

The committee has eleven members who are Trustees: Donald J. Brown, G. Russell LeBeau; Faculty: Wallace Camper, Karen Carley; Administrators: Bessie Fulcher, Donald Kenney; Students: Stella Brown, Dwyane Dico, Wayne Shink, Donald Marocco, Raymond Ponder.

The agenda for Tuesday's meeting was limited to topics concerning student life that the committee felt it would like to deal with in the near future. Areas that were brought up included student Bill of Rights, Radio Stations, Emergency Health Services, a Student Referral Service, many aspects of dorm life, and the reorganization of student activities.

The committee decided to consider a revised Student Bill of Rights which was originally written last year, but was rejected. All the members of the committee were in favor of a Bill of Rights, but they felt more work was needed on the present Bill. This bill will be rewritten jointly by students and teachers.

It was also agreed that a Student Referral Service would be a valuable and needed Student Service. This service would function as a student-to-student information service which would refer a student who has a question or problem through the proper channels. It would also serve as a check for the administration to insure that the channels and systems available for student questions and problems are functioning properly. It was strongly felt that this communication system is needed and will aid students, administrators and faculty. A more detailed plan for this will be presented at the next committee meeting.

All members of the committee showed a great amount of desire in making the committee work productive. In particular, the two trustees showed great interest and concern in all areas that were discussed. The meeting was adjourned after two hours. The committee will meet again on February 28.

Ray Depelteau Hits 1000 As Bryant Tops New Haven

Senior Ray Depelteau joined an elite group of players when he scored his 1000th point in a 78-61 victory over New Haven. Ray needed 16 points and was all he got as Brian Ahern and Bruce Stewart complemented Ray's game.

In the first half, Bryant and New Haven exchanged baskets with Bruce Stewart leading the way with twelve points. Bryant opened a 34-27 margin with 1:00 to go on a bucket by Stewart with the assist going to Ahern. Depelteau finished the halftime scoring with a jumper to make the halftime score Bryant 96, New Haven 29. Continuously throughout the second half New Haven stayed close on a three-point play to make the score 62-63. Ahern tallied two howitzers to make the count 66-56. Then came the time the Indian fans were waiting for. The pass went to Depelteau at the foul line. He turned, drove, put the ball in the basket and put it through. After three hard efforts, the ball found the net and Depelteau was in the 1000-point group.

Coach Follard congratulates Ray and presents him with the game ball as Bryant goes up 78-61. Bryant's big achievement in the victory, Bruce Stewart led the Indians with 27 points as he too closes in on the coveted 1000-point game and finished with a club.

Faculty Federation Study To Look into Social Problems

Mr. Frank Keesey has formally announced that the Faculty Federation of Bryant College will perform a study which will look into the problems that have occurred in the past. Citing the lack of communication between the three major areas of the college community, the members of the Faculty Federation who have consented on a voluntary basis to take part in this study are: Mr. Paul Gauthier, Mr. Albert McAulon, Mr. Joan Marsella, Mr. Francis Ferguson, Mr. John Zeiger, Mrs. Nadine Howe, and Mr. Robert Obrehtelzcz.

Mr. Keesey outlined a few of the purposes and objectives of the study. The study will "look into the social and academic atmosphere at Bryant." He went on to say that, the "faculty are interested in more than just a student's performance in the classroom...the faculty is cognizant that if the three major constituencies of the college do not communicate smoothly then misunderstanding is inevitable." Mr. Keesey explained that the three major constituencies are faculty, students, and administration.

In a hopeful tone Mr. Keesey went on to say that, "if each constituency can make a conscious effort to understand the others..."
LETTER TO THE EDITOR
To the Bryant College Board of Trustees in response to their decision read by Reverend William Haas:
"Nothing is covered up that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known. Whatever you have said in the dark shall be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in private rooms shall be proclaimed upon the housetops."

Amen,

In the Bryant Tradition

It has become a tradition at Bryant for the students to advise each other about faculty members and courses. This tradition has been greatly re-enforced with the elimination of faculty evaluation and the total absence of counsellors. In keeping with this tradition, I am presenting this letter.

Last Fall, a new faculty member came to Bryant as an assistant professor in the Management Department. He seemed to be a fair person, only two tests, which would be curved, and an optional paper.

The first test was a take-home and it was curved. The lowest mark was 18 which was a "D." The second test was in class. Very few students passed this test. Come students who had "A's" on the first test got "D's" in the course and some students who had "B's" on the first test got "F's" for the course.

There also seemed to be a serious communication problem between the "instructor" and the students which, with everything else, resulted in a net loss for many students. The "instructor," Professor Fareed El Naggar, has, it seems, in some small way upheld another tradition of Bryant College: "Shut as many students as often as possible."

Dormitory room choices for the Fall, 1973 semester will be made in the Office of Student Affairs from March 5 through March 9. Only those students whose $80 dorm deposit receipt is on file in this office will be allowed to reserve rooms. Rooms will be assigned on a "First Come, First Serve" basis. The deposit reserves only one bed; not a complete suite nor room.

A significant number of students were notified in December that their health records were not on file in the Infirmary. To date, only a few have completed their health forms and returned them. Failure to take care of this matter will only delay room selections and/or pre-registration for Fall classes.
Awakening in Cybernetic City
by Linda Minnis

I looked out of the complex at the concrete landscape below. The chilling fourth season filled the small gaps between the huge, towering complexes overhead. I gazed out of the window as if I were looking at eyes for the very first time. How did everything look so yet how routine? Gray was the color of the environment. Gray skies, gray walls, gray monotonous masses of man-made gray face painted the picture of my world.

The population was moving about on its scheduled route for this time. Each faction was part of an equation developed by some great Council mind to prevent overcrowding in the streets below. Each faction looked similar to the pictures of insects Historian Machine 9019 had shown to the population in its instructions. Small, bugged eyes glared from the protective devices they used for breathing purposes.

Sherilyn was down there among them. She was scheduled to be back at the complex by quarter 27 o'clock. It seemed strange not to know her. Because I had become so familiar with her physical appearance, I felt lost to be able to see her from the population. Her smooth, creamy-white face was as vivid in my mind as were the seconds of time I had been speaking to myself foning for the touch of her body and the deepness of her eyes. Although it was forbidden that we be together without Council purpose, something very powerful made us meet time and time again. This was just a part of the mystery of understanding her.

The scene below made me think of the old men and their beliefs. There were only a few of them left now. Most of the old men had been sentenced for being human and capable of mistake. But they seemed to be so very wise. They knew of many things that even the Council could never know. I had had the chance to speak of something wonderful about being human, but I could not recall the words. Perhaps it is something else I have dreamt of a time long ago when man was supreme. Even though the Council damned them because of what they were; I loved to sneak out to these old men just to be near them and to try and place myself in their shoes. As long as I lived, I knew I would find the old men more than anyone else. In them there was also a possibility of great beauty, spirit, and lifeforce excited me to such an extent, that I forgot about the Council’s law of commerce and was not afraid of anything.

As I turned from the window my eyes left upon the time chart—its extensions reached far back. The street was also beyond the time of her scheduled time, she would sentence her. I began to expect something I had never felt before. My thoughts were burning twice as fast as usual. “What if she is found out? Where could she be? What if she is sentenced; I cannot bear the thought of being without her.”

Suddenly, the door opened. “Sheri, Sheri, where are you?” “The look in her eyes stopped me. Why, it can’t be possible, Sheri, you are not human. You are not one of what we are here to do, we want to help her and build her in our arms. It felt right, her body shook deep and low sounds came from within. Like a contagious disease, the crying spread from her to others and the whole house broke between and quieted us. We felt cleansed, but we were also very confused.

“Sheri, why do we cry? We are not supposed to cry.” Her voice was quiet when she spoke. “Jeremiah, have you not been aware that you and I have actually felt? We are different from the population. You and I do not belong to the population. We are—we are—”

“What is it Sheri, please tell me!” “Yes, Jeremiah, that is why we have found each other. Living as we do has been the reason for our love, our life, our child. We are like a peon out of rhyme cast into a time that does not belong to us.”

The news of our child was fantastic, but the inevitable question stabbed at my heart sorrowing the possible birth. I suddenly understood me without hearing my words, just by knowing.

“If I am sentenced, the world on the planet I have to save the entire city—it knew nothing would change. “When do you go, Sheri?” I desired to accept the sentence and join my love in it. My love, my love, my love. I wept, my love, my love. I felt, my love, my love. I was a peon from out of rhyme cast into a time that does not belong to us.”

Coffee and doughnuts opened the lecture section on Tuesday, February 9, for about 50 teacher-education students.

Professor J. Charles Lord, Chairman of the Secretarial Science Department at Middlesex Community College in Bedford, Mass., gave a lecture to the students on “Individualized Instruction.” The lecture was of a concept behind Individualized Instruction according to the economical efficiency at his own rate. The student is in competition with only himself and no one else. Self-competition more effective than group-competition in a classroom situation. The lecture was also highlighted with slides of Professor Lord’s college, Middlesex Community College is well equipped with modern equipment as camera, slides and other such devices to help the students achieve the best education possible.

Professor Lord is a graduate of Boston University where he earned the Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study in Business Education. He received his Masters in Business Education from Clark University. Professor Lord is active in many professional activities throughout the nation. He has been a guest speaker at Boston University and the University of Puerto Rico.

Professor Lord’s lecture went over very well with the students. The Education Department looks forward to his return as a guest speaker.

There are many steps both domestic and international that must be taken to the new war on energy. In the realm of domestic progress, increased production of conventional oil and gas is in need. The building of an Alaskan pipeline is a way to increase our domestic supply. Also, the decreasing of the rate of growth in energy consumption, for example, the establishment of an effective mass transit system and the adoption of smaller cars was bigger “gas-generators.” From the government can come a national department of cabinet status to deal with the Natural Resources problem.

The evidence of the problem is easily seen. The problem is a result of the complex system the problem or continue to move closer and closer to a problem which, in the end, can cripple the world and cause disaster. To achieve a solution will take certain compensations from geologists, scientists, and ecologists alike. Change for the better or worse is in the hands of today’s people.

Who Are The MBA's?

by Dean Lebovitz

As the Bryant Graduate School moves into its fourth Spring Semester, it might be of interest to see from what schools and from what backgrounds our graduate students come.

First, let us look at the colleges and universities. Naturally, the largest number are Bryant College graduates, both from the Day and Evening Divisions. The next largest contingents are students who attended URI and Providence College. Also, students from Brown, RIC, and RISD. But beyond Rhode Island, our MBA students come from a wide range of colleges and universities: large, small, military, etc.

For example, we have students from Miami, Pennsylvania, Northeastern, Loyola, Iowa Wesleyan, Campbell, Bennington, Bowdoin, Catholic U., U.S. Naval Academy, Notre Dame, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, Dartmouth, Earlham, Sante Fe, Wayne State, Williams, and U.S. Military Academy.

Also, there are many students who hold Master's degrees, such as in engineering, social work, and education. In addition, there are a few Ph. D.'s from non-management fields.

With regard to occupation, here is a sampling: Industrial Engineer, Sales Representative, Revenue Agent, CPA, Store Manager, Business Analyst, Estimator, Underwriter, Bursar, Case Aide, Teacher, Trainee, Planning Analyst, Secretary-Treasurer, Vice President, Machine Operator, Loan Officer, Marketing Representative, Group Leader, Financial Analyst, Buyer, Controller, President, and Production Engineer.

As far as age is concerned, some graduate students have just obtained their Bachelor's degree, while others are quite mature. Therefore, some students are 23 years of age; some in their 30's, and all our students are motivated and unified by one common aim—to attain the MBA degree.

Nixon's Son-in-law Like Any Other Lieutenant

Time out for a look at a very important First Lieutenant—the President's son-in-law.

The Army says it plans to treat President Nixon's son-in-law just like any other First Lieutenant. That statement came from the officials in Fort Benning, Georgia, just a few minutes after Edward Cox rolled up to the base in a White House limousine.

Cox, who won his rank through an ROTC program at Princeton, began his first day of basic training by being fingerprinted, photograped, assigned to his unit and briefed on his three-month schedule.

Waiting outside during the hour-long sessions was the Lieutenant's wife, Tricia Nixon Cox. She elected to remain in the chauffeured limousine with Secret Service agents rather than attend an orientation session for incoming wives.

Major Patrick Cannon, public information officer at Fort Benning said the informal meeting for wives was given by the wife of the company commander to distribute "brochures about the post, to explain about the Post PX, Commissary and military privileges."

Cox will move into bachelor's officers quarters on the base while Mrs. Cox will commute between Washington and Fort Benning.

Although officers are allowed to live off base, the couple decided against renting an apartment in the national capital.

Wally Cox Dies

Comedian Wally Cox one of the early stars of television was found dead today in his home in Bel Air, outside Hollywood.

Los Angeles firemen said Cox was found slumped over on the pillows of his bed apparently dead from natural causes.

The slightly build actor was 48 years old.

Cox rose to national fame and favor in "Mr. Peepers", portraying a mild-mannered but sharp-witted school teacher.

In recent years, Cox had been appearing daily on a TV game show, "Hollywood Squares." He also made commercials and played movie roles.

Movie Review

"Man of La Mancha"

by David T. Pandolfini

The "Impossible Dream" has finally become a reality. 'Man of La Mancha,' the famous Broadway Musical of 1965, is now an inspiring colorful, and entertaining film starring Peter O'Toole, James Coco, and Sophia Loren. The play by Dale Wasserman is transformed from stage to screen with some musical disappointment, but nevertheless retains all the charm and fantasy of the original production. The necessary dubbing of Peter O'Toole's singing voice is very noticeable and Sophia Loren's singing is not to be compared with that of Joan Diener, the original Aldonza of the stage version.

Peter O'Toole, as the poet-laywright, Miguel de Cervantes, stages a charade, for his defense, in a Spanish prison with the help of the other prisoners as they all await the dreadful inquisition. He plots out the story about an aging squire who imagines himself to be a conquering knight of "La Mancha."

Following Don Quixote de la Mancha on his many misadventures, we see him do battle with a 'monstrous windmill.' Defeated and tired, he mistakes a shabby inn for a majestic castle and bids his servant, Sancho (James Coco) to announce their arrival on his bugle. All the inhabitants of the inn are bewildered at this man's foolish garb and strange talk, but they play along with him and also make mockery of him in their song to Dulcinea, the kitchen women known as Aldonza.

In her first singing role, Sophia Loren, the voluptuous strumpet of the Spanish Inn, cannot be thought of as miscast. Many of her previous, non-singing roles were of similar nature. She is both seductive and chaste in this role which demands much of her. She is tossed, thrown, passed at, slapped and beaten by the less-than-desirable muleteers who want her services which she refuses without first having a coin cross her palm. Miss Loren fights, scratches and beats her enemies after she fall prey to the glorious quest which Don Quixote explains to her in song.

James Coco, as the fat and jolly servant, Sancho Panza, adds to the hilarious but noble efforts of our hero. He aids his master whenever he can—most favorably in a fighting scene in the courtyard. The mighty lance and wobbly knees of Don Quixote are seemingly not great weapons against the stronger muleteer of the inn. Although he seems destined to defeat, aided by Sancho and Aldonza, the gallant knight slaughters his enemy in a comic battle of mishap and accidental knockouts.

Although noted film critics complain that the film version is an utter disaster and it's on the worst film list of the year. It has also been claimed as the most entertaining family film since "Fiddler on the Roof." It should not be compared with the stage musical but should be judged on its own merits. Arthur Hiller's direction is totally geared to toward the actor; especially Peter O'Toole in the lead role. Most recently, Hiller directed George C. Scott in the grueling comedy 'The Hospital.'

It is now playing at the Cinerama Theatre on Hope Street in Providence. Unfortunately, the theatre has included an unnecessary intermission which interrupts the continuity of the film. Also, the projectionist was terrible in making clean cuts in the film's showing on the Saturday matinee I attended. It seems to me that the management only wants to lure the patrons to the refreshment stand to purchase the high-profit items.

Nevertheless— a show worth seeing.

area. Instead, Mrs. Cox is expected to visit her husband during off hours, primarily on the weekends.

And the way the Army says it, Cox, "will line up just like everybody else and get his steel pot (helmet), canteen, web belt, shelter half and duffle bag."

"The Army is trying to treat him (Cox) like any other First Lieutenant. There are no people going around doing extra work like nothing door knobs or cutting the grass at the Fort's entrance just because the President's son-in-law is POW’S: From One Prison To Another?...

So reads the headline of an underground paper published near Travis Air Force Base, Calif. Feb. 14, the site where the first plane load of former American prisoners landed.

American prisoners of war are now returning from the longest war and the longest captivity of any conflict in our history. Many of them are returning to broken homes, separated spouses or, in the very least, a country which has been literally torn apart by a war which it never condoned or wanted to enter.

The first plane load of twenty former prisoners arrived Wednesday from their 8000 mile journey to the Continental United States. Among those who returned Wednesday was Comdr. Raymond A. Vohden who was downed April 13, 1965. His wife recently filed for a legal separation, but she now says that she will postpone the decision and try to save their marriage. Comdr. Vohden’s care is typical in that many of the POW’s find themselves in the same predicament. Many of these men have been away from their wives longer than they have known them altogether. They are estranged, confused, and sick both mentally and physically.

The long range effects of their captivity can only be imagined. The immediate effects have not been made public as yet from a war that has claimed 48,000 Americans lives, 1300 missing and unaccounted for, and that hundreds of thousands has been wounded, not only physically but much more deeply—in their minds by the longest war in America’s short history.

February 12, 1973: Lt. Gen. William Moore, Jr., receives a salute and a handshake from a returning American serviceman as a group of very happy and smiling men arrive at Clark Air Base. (UPI)

New Business Ventures – The Effect of Technology

"New Business Ventures-The Effect of Technology," was Mr. S. Billet's topic to marketing and management students.

Mr. Billet noted that there is a similarity in new business for every corporation be it small or large. One of the primary factors in the development of this is to have some place to unload the product-the selling end. He listed new business guidelines around three principal stages. Those of needs, the degree of technical complexity, and the creep, crawl, and walk stage.

To begin the marketing of any product, there has to be a need. This is most applicable to the business of developing a new business.

"There has to be a need to sit down before you can sell a chair." If there is no need, you have to create one and you have to know your customer to do this.

The degree of technical complexity is dependent upon the type of business embarked upon. Every industry has unsolved problems, most commonly found in the service industries. People who work to solve these problems expect to be compensated. Rewards to these people can take the shape of material gain or a reward on a personal basis, usually that of status. According to Mr. Billet, "people are a most significant factor in any venture." People working together satisfy the need.

The creep, crawl, and walk stage is probably self-explanatory. It is the product growing from the class in the school, sings, dances and directed poetry for the enjoyment of the brothers. All pledges have the spirit and drive to overcome the trying times and hardships of pledging.

Besides their traditional rites, this year’s pledges are involved in more community activities and worthwhile projects. The entire GLC and all pledges are going to spend Sunday helping out at the Meeting Street School in Providence.

Thea sorority visited the Cedar Crest Nursing Home to throw a Valentine Party for patients. Phi Epsilon Pi is trying to improve Bryant’s environment and improve relations with the town of Smithfield.

On the social side, Sigma Iota Xi sorority and Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity are planning the upcoming Sno Queen Weekend. This weekend has the total support of all pledges and will be ‘their’ weekend. This years fraternity and sorority pledge classes are also preparing skits for the Campus Follies and floats which depict Winter Festivals of different countries will be on display in the Rotunda Wednesday.

Each fraternity and sorority has one basic goal—to promote a bond of unity between each pledge and their Greek brothers and sisters. That’s why the activities, rites and initiations are so trying. Only by individually testing each other can the Greeks begin to know their new brothers and sisters and help them become more aware of their role in fraternity and sorority life.

TRIVIAL TRIVIALITIES

The future of Providence College's basketball team, which is now experiencing one of its best seasons ever, is in deep trouble concerning the Marvin Barnes, Larry Ketvertis incident. Barnes, the star center of the P.C. team, is currently leading the nation in average rebounds per game, has been indicted with the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Since the Ketvertis family has pressed for a formal investigation, Barnes will have to face criminal charges if convicted. Is there a chance that Barnes will get the rap? Don't count on it—at least until the basketball season is over. Providence College is too much to lose if Barnes isn't in the starting lineup. Without Barnes, P.C.'s chances of advancing in any post-season play are very minimal. Furthermore, without Barnes, the basketball team will find it hard to continue attracting ten-thousand plus fans to every home game.

No matter what the result, Barnes is certain to be the loser. National Basketball Association teams just don't like to give large sums of money to "troublemakers." No doubt Marvin will have no trouble finding a place in professional ball solely on his playing ability; but because of this incident, he may find that his contract will not be as lucrative as he had once hoped.

Larry Ketvertis has always had a reputation for being a hometown. Maybe he just happened to bother the wrong person on the wrong day; but nevertheless, Marvin should have had enough cohesiveness to exhibit his superiority and stay away from Ketvertis. Anyone who is always in the "public spotlight" shouldn't discourage the liabilities as well as the assets from additional exposure. Ask Ted Kennedy if you have any doubt.

If P.C. loses Barnes before the season's end, expect the team to continually be annihilated. Behind Marvin there is very little depth. The chances of this happening are very unlikely though, merely because of the fact that Barnes does contribute heavily in making Providence College the drawing card that it is. Just as it did from the outset, P.C. is stalling the case as much as possible so that at least they can finish the season in winning fashion.

It's really too bad, because if Marvin is convicted after the season, Providence College will have actually used his basketball ability to attract big crowds to their games. P.C. is undoubtedly realizing his full value as average attendance has increased about 300% since they began playing their home games in Providence's new Civic Center. All of the truth of the matter is that Providence College cannot afford to lose Barnes at least until after the end of this season if they still have any hope whatsoever of becoming national champions.

The Truth Of The Matter

by Roddy Trinkle

Looking to next year, if P.C. loses both Barnes and Ernie D. who will graduate this June, the prospect of a losing season will be quite evident. If Marvin decides to stay at P.C. but the team is suspended from post-season play by the NCAA, expect the team to generate little momentum.

Whatever happens, the city of Providence has certainly proved that it will support a winning basketball team. It won't be long before some smart businessmen try to bring a professional team into Rhode Island. That's when things will really become interesting.

Table Tennis Team Smothers URI

(PROVIDENCE)--Averaging an earlier season setback (18-7), the Bryant Table Tennis Team defeated University of Rhode Island last Sunday by an overwhelming margin of 25-1. The victory now puts Bryant in a tie for second place with URI. Bryant’s record now stands at 5 wins and 2 losses.

Everyone on the team was ready to play on Sunday evening. After only 8 matches the score was 8-2 in favor of Bryant. From then on, the team completed the rout with a perfect 5-0 record; Captains Neil Goldman, Co-Captain Howie Dornfeld, and Howie Schreiber each scored victories in their matches; and Larry Selvin recorded another winning evening at 3-2. Larry Selvin lead the league with the highest number of victories and the best won-loss percentage.

One of the top players in the league who plays for URI was handled very well by our paddlers. He won only one out of five matches. Captain Neil Goldman was just out of the league with a perfect 5-0 record; and Larry Selvin’s second week conference record was 2-5.

Raiders Continue To Roll
Defeat URI In Schaefer Tournament

The Bryant Raiders jumped to a 14 point lead and defeated the URI Theta Chi 75-61. Max Zaniwski had 22 points in the first half with some of the most unbelievable shots that anyone could imagine. As a result, the URI representative was never closer than six points in the entire game.

The game was played at Keeney Gymnasium this past Tuesday night. After the game with URI, the Raiders entered a team rebonding and strong defense, the Raiders stacked up to an 11 point lead at halftime.

The second half saw the URI Theta Chi press the Raiders. However, the Raiders broke their press and defeated URI with a second lead of at least a ten-point lead all the way through the second half. URI tried mightily to avoid the inevitable.

With its first win under its belt, the Bryant College Swing Team defeated Nichols College for a Wednesday night tri-meet with Nichols and Assumption College. The result of the meet was not as good as last week; but Coach Susan and his team were more than satisfied with their 65-point second-place performance. The team was sparked by some fine individual performances by John Johnston and John Copley who amassed 23 points together.

The next week, Bryant will play with a 600-yard record on the water. For the first time in the meet, Bryant surged past Assumption into second place.

The Bryant Indians with an 86-89 win over Babson last Saturday night eliminated one point decision to Barrington last Tuesday which dropped them to third place. With this win, Bryant moved up to second place with a game lead over Nasson. The Bryant Indians were the only team not eliminated from the conference. Nasson is handicapped with Barrington’s 66-65 victory over second place Nasson, giving the Indians their second straight Naismith Conference Championship and an automatic bid to the NCAA Regional playoffs.

The Indians, who currently have a perfect 7-0 record in the conference with three games remaining, lead second place Barrington and third place Nasson by three and four games respectively. Nasson who was the only team not eliminated from the conference made the score 86-79 with a little over 30 seconds to play. Two baskets by Babson in the final 10 seconds made the final score 86-83.

Johnson, Copley Spark Bryant Victory By Peter Locketell

With its first win under its belt, the Bryant College Swing Team defeated the Nichols man in the end with 54.0 performance. Teammate Jim Smith gave Bryant its fifth point in the event with a fifth-place finish. John Copley complimented Johnston’s performance in the 100-yard freestyle by taking second in the 200-yard breaststroke. John was not intimidated by his Nichols and Assumption when he picked up the second and a 2:55.9 clocking.

John Johnston kept his 500-yard freestyle record unbeaten when he won the event for the third time this season. Famigliette finished fourth, and Bryant had eight points for the event. Charlie Demeter and Tim O’Brien teamed again to give Bryant points in the 200-yard breaststroke. Charlie finished third with a time of 2:01.0, and Tim finished fifth with a 3:31.31. The Bryant 400 Freestyle Relay Team closed out the meet with a first place finish. A second team of Bogar, Gay, Emery, and Mungovan finished third. Bryant might have fared a little better in the meet if Art Burrows was not sidelined with an arm injury. The injury occurred early in the week, and Art is doubtful for Monday’s NAIA District 32 Championships at Bridgewater State.

Bryant Beats Babson By 3

The Bryant Indians led by co-captain Ray Depelteau’s 36 points tripped Babson 86-83 last Saturday night at the losers court. The win gives the Indians a perfect 7-0 record in the Naismith Conference.

In the first five minutes of play the Indians quickly jumped out to a quick 10-6 lead led by Ray Depelteau who contributed 10 points during this surge. A jump shot by Stewart gave the Indians a 20-10 lead with 13:52 remaining in the half. Babson quickly went on a surge of their own and out scored the Indians 18-5 in the next five minutes to knot the score 28 all. Babson then briefly took the lead 37-34 with 2:09 remaining but a 30 foot jumper by John Johnston to give the Indians a one point halftime advantage.

In the second half both teams continued exchanging baskets while neither team was able to open up any sort of lead. The Indians led 57-51 with just 7 minutes remaining. Finally, two back to back baskets by Bryant’s co-captains, Bruce Stewart and Larry Selvin, gave the Indians a one breathing room, by making the score 60-74. A big basket by forward Henry Gonzales made the score 67-79 with a little over 30 seconds to play. Two baskets by Babson in the final 10 seconds made the final score 86-83.

BRYANT WINS FIRST AT CIVIC CENTER

When Depelteau called time out. When play continued, Bryant assumed a lead they would never relinquish. When Depelteau and Sorfine scored back-to-back baskets, Bryant led 26-20. With the Indians ahead 29-28, Depelteau scored two baskets sandwiching a free throw by Henry Gonzalez and Bryant had a ten-point lead, 39-29.

The Indians led by as much as twelve points, 42-30, before going out at half time with a 42-31 lead.

A key factor to Bryant's success was their toughness under the boards, especially in the second half. Gonzalez finished the game with 22 rebounds and Depelteau 14. Overall, Bryant outrebounded their opponents 58-42.

Co-Captains Ray Depelteau and Bruce Stewart did most of the scoring in the first half with 14 and 11 points respectively—how appropriate. The Indians were able to hit the open man throughout most of the game and as a result shot a respectable 44%

In the second half, Depelteau scored again and the Indians led by 13 points, 44-31. The Anchormen later closed to within six points at 63-57; however, that was as close as they would come. Brian Ahern and Depelteau scored two crucial baskets each as Bryant outscored RIC 12-4, and led 75-61. RIC called time out and from here it was just a show for the 3,000 spectators who were on hand by the close of the game. The Indians proceeded to outscore RIC 62-5, and had their biggest lead of the night, 81-63.

The final score of 84-69 was hardly indicative of how well Bryant played. The Indians had their fast break in high gear, were successful in running with the Anchormen, and dominated the boards. Bruce Stewart drove for the basket like the Bruce Stewart of four years ago and scored 19 points. Depelteau, who is so good, scored a game high 27 points. I don't think there is a team on our schedule who could have beat us that night—we played so well. If Coach Tom Fifield was elated, I can hardly blame him. For it was RIC's coach Bill Baird who refused to play Bryant until last year, claiming that his Anchormen were a class above his. However, Bryant College showed the Civic Center what small-college basketball is all about. It was one of the most satisfying wins in our school's history.

The Indians will play home tomorrow night against St. Francis. A good possibility exists that Bruce Stewart will become the second player to score his 1000th career point this season. Ray Depelteau did it against New Haven last week. Stewart, a native of Washington, D.C., needs just 33 points not including last night's game against Gordon.

If he continues his scoring average of 17.4 points per game, he should reach the 1000-point plateau in the second half.

The Indians are now 16-4 which equals the best record they've had in four years. The last time Bryant was 16-4 was back during the 1969-70 season. Also spectacular in the RIC game was Brian Ahern who quarterbacked the Bryant attack and scored ten points. Henry Gonzalez, in addition to his 22 rebounds, scored 12 points. Dave Sorfine also contributed greatly in the first half, netting eight points. The Indians have a tough game against Bentley next Friday, and from there it's the NAIA's and hopefully one of the best finishes in the school's history. Only time will tell!

Henry Gonzalez (53) who had 22 rebounds also contributed to the scoring on this incredible behind the basket layup. Other Bryant player is Bruce Stewart (54).
