MEN'S BASKETBALL: BRYANT 81, MERRIMACK 80
Sophomore Jason Bennett's ( Seekonk, MA/St. Raphael) three-pointer at the buzzer lifted Bryant College past Merrimack College, 81-80, in a Northeast-10 Conference game tonight.

This Bryant's second straight last-second win and third consecutive victory after dropping its opener. The Bulldogs defeated ARC, 78-77, in overtime Sunday. Bryant improves to 3-1 overall, 3-1 in the conference. Merrimack drops to 4-2, 1-2 in the NE-10.

Merrimack held its biggest lead of the game, 72-61, with 5:25 left when a Fred Wanek three-pointer parked a 9-2 run. Bennett scored six points in the spurt, including a three-pointer with 2:39 left to cut the lead to 74-72. Junior guard Shawn Brown extended the lead to four with 2:06 left, but a pair of Wanek free throws got Bryant within two with 1:52 to play. Another Brown basket put the Warriors up, 78-74 at 1:43, but a three by freshman guard Chris Rose made the score 78-77. After Brown tied in his third straight bucket with :58 left to give Merrimack a 90-77 edge, Bryant junior forward Keith Miller converted on one of two free throws, but Bryant controlled the rebound. Bryant freshman guard Aaron Bowles broke the Merrimack pressure and drove the lane, then kicked the ball out to Bennett for the game-winning three-pointer.

Miller had 20 points and 15 rebounds for the Bulldogs. Junior forward Jim Burton chipped in with 15 points and 10 boards, and Bennett added 17 points.

The Bryant Women's Volleyball team ended its season with a heartbreak to New Haven in the first round of the NCAA tournament Friday before Thanksgiving. This was the first time Bryant played in the tournament since the 1994 season when they beat New Haven in the second round. With numerous Bulldog fans in the crowd cheering their support, the ladies began the first set in a sluggish, lighthearted manner, but they were able to pull back after being down 4-11, but they rallied back to take the first game 12-15.

In the second game, the Bulldogs looked a bit stronger against the big and strong front line of New Haven. With a team effort, they won the second game 16-14, but dropped the third and fourth games 11-10 and 9-15. Bryant seemed frustrated in the fourth game, but still pulled back after being down 3-10. The experienced, well-rounded, and hard hitting New Haven team eventually closed in and took control. Marci Monaco played an excellent game, registering 36 digs and 15 kills, which led her to make the NCAA Division II Women's Volleyball Northeast Region All-Tournament Team. Jennifer Carvalho also played well for Bryant with 42 assists, 18 digs, and 8 kills. Other influential forces included Monica Carpentieri (12 kills, 23 digs), Olga Ponce Bollme (12 kills, 14 digs), and Janet Rooney (11 kills, 3 blocks). Overall the match was well-played and demonstrated the achievements of this Bryant team and its coaching staff, Theresa and Ted Garlacy.

The Bryant Bulldogs played in their final match at Bryant were captained Carvalho and Wendy Jackson, Rooney, and Bollme. Bryant concluded their season with a 28-13 record, while New Haven improved their tally to 16-6 with a four-set defeat over Pace. New Haven moves on to the Elite 8 for the fifth consecutive year and will play December 5-7.
EDITORIAL/OPINION

All I Want For Xmas is...

For some members of the Bryant community, a new editor-in-chief is one item on their wish list for Christmas. Since I’m here until April, I’d thought you might like to see my Christmas Wish List:

1. World Peace
2. Especially in the Middle East.
3. A brand new BMW Z3 Roadster
5. Not to be forced to relocate the Archway in the Bryant Center.
6. If so at least 8 new computers for the office
7. Which by the way an editors office would be nice too—since every other college newspaper organization in that state of RI has their own private office.
8. A new Vice-President of Student Affairs before February. We can help with the search.
9. Not to be look down upon be cause we are doing our job.
10. Especially by administration and faculty who got their feathers ruffled this year.
11. More reporters and writers.
12. Especially sports reporters. Hey we are trying to promote school spirit—we just need help.
14. More winter session courses.
15. More money when I sell my books back.
16. More hours in a day.
17. Did I mention more reporters and writers?
18. More concerts by SPB.
19. $100,000!
20. Greeks and Archway to get along. We did put Phi Kap’s story on the front page and we are trying to cover more Greek charity events.
21. More shuttle buses from Bryant to Parente’s so we can have a good time (get drunk) and not have to drive home. Hey safety first, right?
22. More people at the Cornerstone—our pub!
23. Less homework and projects.
24. More cable channels like HBO and Cinemax—I don’t care how much it costs. I’ll pay an extra $30 a semester for at least one of those channels.
25. Did I mention more reporters and writers?

Good luck on finals and have a safe winter break!

WE'RE MOVING

The Archway will be moving next semester from the 2nd floor of the MAC to the third floor in the Bryant Center. The move is to accommodate the new football team coming to Bryant next year. Therefore, beginning next semester, submissions to The Archway can be dropped off in Bryant Center. The first issue for the Spring semester will be Thursday January 22, 1998, meaning submissions will be due on Tuesday, January 20, 1998 at 4 p.m.

The Trampoline-A-Thon sponsored by the sisters of Phi Sigma Sigma will benefit the American Cancer Society. The organization hopes to equal last year’s fund raising effort of $300.

AIDS Awareness Day hits Bryant

Geoffrey Toth

This past Monday, there was a lot going on campus. Most importantly, it was AIDS Awareness Day. The event was made possible by Bryant Peer Education, the Student Programming Board, Student Senate, Greek Life, Residence life, ISO, Bryant Pride and Multicultural Student Services. Each group did their share making the day a success here on campus. All throughout the day there were several events planned for students and faculty to attend.

The day started at 10 a.m. in the Rounds, where everyone could pick up a red ribbon and some literature about the day and what the day was suppose to be about. This was a good opportunity for students to find out more about AIDS, who it affects, and why it is a good idea to know how it can affect your life. At night, there were two sessions that could have been attended. One was an open discussion that was held in Pappitto Dining Hall. This was a good chance for students to ask questions or comment on how they feel about AIDS and the HIV virus. Some topics that were discussed at this session were: AIDS testing, treatment, symptoms and what every three-hundred people are infected with the HIV virus, and one out of four of these people are under the age of twenty. As you can clearly see from just these two facts, the virus affects the younger generation more than the older, so AIDS education is necessary. We are the future and must educate ourselves first and then others so this deadly disease can be stopped.

At 9 p.m. on Monday, there were two guest speakers here from MTV's Real World and someone from the Rhode Island AIDS project. These guests spoke with Robert Spitz, Dean and Marc Paige. Their purpose was to speak about living with the disease and answer any more questions that people had. There was a reception after the discussion, making it easier for everyone to talk amongst themselves about the impact of the day.

The event was a tremendous success not just here at Bryant, but all over the world. The message definitely was captured by all of our students. It was good to see how everyone was ready to learn something new about this deadly disease. The impact will have enormous effects on people's lives because now they can be the teacher and inform others about what they now know.

If anyone is wondering about where they can get free and anonymous testing, they can call 277-2330, which is the Rhode Island Department of Health. Hopefully, AIDS awareness will not stop just because the day is over. It should continue every day, because AIDS education must not stop.

Woonsocket's Museum of Work and Culture really hits the mark!

Gary Higginson

"Really impressed" and "long overdue" are a few of the comments I would make about the recently opened Museum of Work and Culture in Woonsocket.

They sensitively focus on the Canadian French millworkers and away the major component in Woonsocket's once booming textile industry, and follow them on their long journey from simple farms in 19th century Quebec to the rapidly expanding mills of the Blackstone Valley. It chronicles their evolution from an agrarian people to an industrial one, where they produced their own unique culture. (Happily some remnants of this still exist today!) "La Survivance" is explained as a conscious effort to protect their French heritage in a new and often hostile environment, a task at which they succeeded for almost 100 years. As surely as the mill work changed the newcomers, they changed the industrial environment around them.

The museum is that of a simple 1800's Quebec farmhouse. From there, you visit a replica of Most Precious Blood Church, complete with pews where you can sit and watch a movie of Woonsocket. You can head out onto the shop floor and try to operate a loom at its dizzying pace.

The second floor contains a Woonsocket three decker house where the supposed residents slept to you when you press their door buzzer. The corporate board room has telephones which you can pick up and listen to how the mills owners felt about their workers and their efforts to unionize. Actual newspapers from the day adom the tables talking about roundups of "radicals," and "agitators."

In a parochial school classroom, a statue of priest lectures you about straying from the fold. In the late 1920's, the Mayville Jenke's Mill closed, a disaster for the local area. Many mills demanded that workers work ten extra hours a week, operate more machines, and do it for less salary! Rebellion resulted. The church exhort the faithful to comply and wait for their reward in the "next world."

Many workers were gravitating to the organizing drives of the ITU (International Textile Union), and a mill union was developed in a formerly closed French Canadian community. Many began to see themselves not only as French, but as members of a emerging multi-ethnic American working class-much to the priests' chagrin.

The "union hall" features a movie narrated by Anne Braitik ("The Red Flame") and Larry Spitz, who along with Belgian born Joseph Schmitt were charismatic leaders of the ITU. Anne and Larry are still an inspiration in their old age, although the clergy claimed they were "straight from hell."

During the early 1930's, the Great Depression caused conditions to deteriorate rapidly for workers in the mills. Most owners were not implementing reforms mandated by President Roosevelt's "A New Deal." A general strike of all New England Mills occurred. Long simmering frustrations in Woonsocket (in Pawtucket and Central Falls as well) exploded into riots in September 1934. Machine guns were mounted on mill roofs in three locations to fire on striking workers. People were shot and killed.

I feel there are many parallels to this story. Management's perpetual excuse of "global competition" is used to justify "outsourcing," "downsizing," and other mass rounds of layoffs (topped by Kodak, among others) and mass rounds of layoffs (topped by Kodak, among major employers in November who each announced tens of thousands of layoffs. In Kodak's case, "bad business decisions" may have been the reason, but the worker will pay. So much for "The Recovery," at least as far as the hourly worker goes.). Without a strong tradition of collective bargaining, it's easy to see what future awaits the average worker, who, despite his best efforts, has no security and a declining living standard to boot.

Perhaps besides the history and culture so beautifully offered, this museum makes a simple point that fairness and ethics need to be priorities of business just as surely at profit.
BOAC Lighthouse Trip

Lt. Col. (Ret.) Dana Mather

On a chilly Sunday afternoon, the 23rd of November, six members of the Bryant Outdoor Activities Club took a boat ride on the Narragansett Bay. Their purpose was to see some of Rhode Island’s many lighthouses from the perspective they were meant to be seen: the water. Students Leslie Lawrence, Stephanie Sedivy, and Shannon Naughtock, along with Professors Larry and Dana Lowe and myself, spent over two hours aboard the charter boat, Seaward. Departing from Warwick, they first visited Warwick Neck Light. While just offshore the skipper, Captain Rick Cataldi, explained how the light and its accompanying foghorn work to keep mariners off the rocks. When some BOAC members expressed concern about the depth of the water under the boat, Capt. Rick allayed their fears by pointing out the boat’s electronic depth finder.

The next two lighthouses were single towers standing in the middle of the water. Conimicut Light marks a shoal beside the shipping channel. Hog Island Light is no longer active but once marked the entrance to Mt. Hope Bay between Bristol and Portsmouth. At Hog Island Light, Capt. Rick mentioned that the lighthouse keeper and his wife used to live year-round in the tiny interior, an existence that may sound romantic at first, but most people today would soon find these circumstances to be rather bleak. Now all lighthouses in Rhode Island are automated. The trip finished with a look at Sandy Point Light on Prudence Island, a summer resort with seventy year-round residents who rely on a ferry to get to and from the island.

Leslie Lawrence, Stephanie Sedivy and Shannon Naughtock view Hog Island Light from the charter boat, Seaward, during the BOAC lighthouse trip.

FESTIVAL OF LIGHTS
Hello Students,

Well as we fill the library and Koffler, and begin consuming coffee by the gallon, it is great to see where Bryant has come over the past semester. The activities that took place this semester could only be said to revolutionize the way things were done at Bryant.

It started in September when the Bryant Experience introduced our large Freshmen class to who Bryant is. That was soon followed with Homecoming and the excitement that filled the air as we look to our future Bulldogs competing for touchdowns and field goals. Then in October, we had the Mighty Mighty Bosstones, and the excitement their concert brought. Then as a record number of families showed up for a rainy, but innovative Parent's Weekend. Into November, the times troked and we saw Paula Poundstone make an appearance. Now as the finals knock at our door we look back at how fast time slipped through our hands and wonder, "How did this all get accomplished?"

The answer is students. Students putting forth countless hours of hard work. As we settle down and begin to look at books and descramble our notes I ask you to think, "Did I have help make Bryant a better place this semester?" Many people can say that they did and that is how this semester became great. Many more students may not be able to say yes.

I challenge every student from the youngest Freshman to the oldest Senior, to ask themselves how can they make Bryant a better place next semester. With 2000 students working to make Bryant better anything is possible.

Finally, I would just like to say that thus far we as Senate have enjoyed serving you, and will continue to do so. I wish all of you the best of luck on finals. I also wish you a safe, and enjoyable holiday season and a great New Year.

Student Senate Vice President

I hope everyone is enjoying their semester as we make our way toward finals and winter break. The Student Senate has made a great deal of progress this semester and we are well underway on our strategic goals this year. The three key goals of the Senate are the following:

1. A thorough review of theARAMARK food service and a goal of increased student satisfaction.
2. Research into the possibility of raising the student activity fee.
3. An effort to implement an academic advising system for all students in all majors.

In addition, new issues are raised each week at our Senate meetings, and we are doing our best to make sure you become aware of each of them. As president of SPAC, I am also responsible for the annual "Make a Wish" campaign. This foundation raises money for children diagnosed with terminal illnesses. Co-chair, Steven Lazarus and myself have a couple of great fundraising ideas for next semester - so be on the look out for "Make a Wish." For all club presidents, I will be in touch over e-mail and through a letter to inform you of a meeting before the semester's end.

Many students are interested in forming their own campus groups. This semester I have received numerous proposals for new clubs and organizations on campus. Two new clubs have passed Constitutions this semester: The Debate Society and the Bible Study Group. We also have three more upcoming proposals for Constitutions. If you would like to start a club of your own, please contact me at 6179 or 4709 and I will be happy to give you the details and guidelines for your Constitution.

Best of luck to everyone on your papers and finals, and have a safe and happy holiday.

During the Student Senate’s campaign of Bryant College students, it was evident that there is a lack of arts on campus. Many students have no way to continue using their artistic talents on campus, and have looked elsewhere to continue their growth. The arts are a vital part of many students’ lives, and Bryant is lacking in supporting such interests. So, Student Senate has now formed the Artistic Campus Committee (ACC).

This committee is currently forming and is open to anyone with interest in any of the fine arts. Plans are being looked into for a visual arts contest involving RISD and Bryant. The committee is trying to find a way to make the RISD/Bryant allegiance more advantageous for Bryant students. Many other ideas are being researched and more ideas are needed to make this committee’s goals a success.

If you are interested in furthering this committee’s ideas, please attend the senate meetings at 4 p.m. every Wednesday. If you have any questions please let me know, email at stully@bryant.edu. Let us know what you think.

Freshman Class Update

Kate MacDonald
Freshman Class Chair

On Monday, November 17 the Freshmen Class held a meeting in the Hall 15 lobby. Topics of discussion included fundraisers, The Angel Tree Project and decorations for the tree in the Rotunda. Ideas for flower sales and gram sales were also brought to my attention, after the meeting was held.

The Freshmen Class has sponsored one child for the Angel Tree Project. His name is Sean, he is ten years old and he has asked for a Lego set. His guardian requested either a sweatshirt or sweatpants.

Freshmen that attended the class meeting expressed great interest in sponsoring other children. This is a worthy cause and a chance for us to work together as a class. I have met with Katie Machle, the coordinator of Bryant’s Angel Tree Project to request more students. Mrs. Machle was able to give the Freshmen Class an additional child to sponsor. The child’s name and age are unknown at this time. If anyone is interested in helping out with The Angel Tree Project or other class plans please contact me in either the senate office X6271 or by email kmac2@bryant.edu.

Sophomore Class Update

Class of 2000. I hope everyone is having a great semester. Time is flying too fast, it seems that walking through the Archway is so far off, but is it really? We are the class of the new century, so we have to be the best class ever to graduate Bryant, and we will, but we need everyone’s help. We need to come together and plan events, especially fundraisers. I think that by the time Senior year comes, all of us would like sufficient funds to plan a great Senior Week, Senior Ball, and to be able to leave our mark with a unique class gift.

So far, the Sophomore Senators have been working hard to come up with fundraisers and ideas to benefit our class. We sold candy apples, popcorn, hot chocolate, and candy at Parents and Family Weekend. And have more ideas in the works. Despite all of our hard work, I have heard some criticism. So, this is why we all have to come together and work as a team. We have an abundant amount of leaders in our class; we can easily come together and dominate as a class, as the class of 2000 should.

I invite you to call me with any other suggestions at x6271, or contact any of the other Sophomore Senators - Tim Bertrand, Molly Devanney, Bob Fressola, Rupert King, and Julie Piccirilli.
Junior Class Update

Khouree Gale
Junior Class Chair

The Junior Class has been busy since Parents' and Family Weekend. Rob, John, Alicia, Matt, Mike, Brian, and Barbara helped raise $244 at our second annual 50/50 raffle and assisted with the other events that weekend which turned out to be an unbelievable success. Great job Senators!

On Wednesday, November 19, the Junior Class sponsored South Park night at the Cornerstone and also held another 50/50 raffle at the first basketball game of the season. The class raised over $100 for the entire evening. Free pizza was served, music blared for a while, and at 10:00 all eyes were on the TV for the new episode of South Park. We sincerely hope that everyone that attended had a great time and a special thanks for supporting the Juniors.

The Junior Senators will continue to sponsor more events like South Park night during the spring semester. All we need is your participation and support to make these events enjoyable - so get out of rooms and join us for the next event.

As 1997 comes to an end, the Junior Senators wish you all the very best! By the time we return, we'll be ready to start another fun filled semester with John Pratt's golf trip, a possible bachelor auction around Valentine's Day, and lots of other activities.

If you have any suggestions or comments, please feel free to contact any Junior Senator... we're always searching for new fund-raising ideas. Study hard for finals and enjoy the holidays.

CONGRATULATIONS TO JILL LEWIS, "STUDENT LEADER OF THE MONTH"

At the November SPAC meeting, student leaders elected Jill Lewis Bryant College's Student Leader of the Month for the month of October. Jill is a member of Phi Sigma Sigma sorority, Order of Omega, and the President of Panhellenic Council. She was recognized in particular for her efforts in planning an extremely successful Greek Week. Congratulations, Jill, for MAKING IT HAPPEN!

Senior Class Update

Scott Taylor
Senior Class Chair

I hope everyone had a great Thanksgiving. Over the break, your parents should have received a letter outlining the tentative schedule for Senior Week, and hopefully they will help or contribute to your last week here at Bryant. We have finalized the SENIOR CLASS FORMAL for Tuesday, May 12, 1997, at the Boston Harbor side Hyatt, and you can make your reservations for a room today. Make your reservations as soon as possible because there are only 50 rooms set aside under Bryant College at the Hyatt. Room rates: Single or Double $165.00 per room, Triple or Quad $190.00 per room. Call: (617) 568-1234.

When you return next semester, you will receive information in your mailbox on WHERE and HOW you can purchase Senior Week tickets. There is going to be an installment payment plan, and incentives to buy your tickets early to help lower the cost.

The Senior Wine and Cheese was a great success and Professor Patrick Keeley delivered a well-composed, heart-felt remarks toward the Class of 1998. Remember the importance of contributing to your class and making your mark with the Senior class gift which we shall leave here on campus. Please contact Sean Kenny to make your donation at 6271. The next Senior Wine and Cheese will be early second semester.

This Thursday, December 4, 1997, will be the last Senior Night at the Cornerstone for this semester. If you missed a great time with the band Minus 3 @ KI the weekend before Thanksgiving, come see them play THIS Thursday night at the Cornerstone.

Good luck on finals and you will be hearing a lot from me next semester.

Be A Part of the Solution

Matt Davies
Senior Senator

I would like to announce a terrific new way to gather your suggestions of how to make Bryant better. The best part about this board is that you not only make your suggestion, but you offer a solution of how to fix the problem. I encourage you to use this board as much as possible. It is located outside of Salmanson (with a great blue background). Please also feel free to address any concerns to the Senators in person, by e-mail at senate@bryant.edu, or via our website. Best wishes for exams and the upcoming holidays.

AdHoc

Matt Davies
AdHoc Chair

I believe this semester has been extremely productive on Senate and specifically with the AdHoc committee. Lindsey Haven and myself have worked hard to address your concerns. This is evident with addressing the classroom temperature problem, the townhouse trash issue, the path to the new townhouses, and the sensor lights on the path between Hall 11 and the Freshman area (Halls 14 & 15).

We hope that you will continue to give feedback on what we as a Senate can do to make your career at Bryant the best it possibly can be.

We look forward to working for you next semester.

Inter-campus Phones

Sophomore Senator

A fellow classmate brought the issue of the installation of inter-campus phones to my attention, to the Rounda and one in the MAC. I strongly believe that if these phones were put in place it would greatly benefit the whole Bryant community. I have not been in contact with Ms. Pietraszka since, but as soon as I get more information, I will immediately make it available.

“Strategic Goals”

STUDENT SENATE

Now appearing in every week’s Archway will be a new Senate article entitled, “SETTING THE STANDARD FOR YOU.” Basically this article is the result of the campus-wide campaign Senate held in early October. Each Senator went out and spoke with over 900 students, that is an astounding 41% of the student body. And thanks to the students feedback Senate has formulated THREE Strategic Goals.

1. GOAL 1: Total Evaluation of the Food Services (Defense)
   If successful: We will have established a long-term plan for Senate to fully evaluate customer satisfaction. We will also establish a complete analysis of present food operations and policies.

2. GOAL 2: Examine the Allocation Process of the Student Activity Fee (Offense)
   If successful: Students will feel that the student activity fee is adequately and appropriately allocated.

3. GOAL 3: To Develop a Faculty Advising System (Special Teams)
   If successful: Starting with the class of 2002 every student is given a full-time faculty advisor upon choosing a major.

I would like to welcome everyone back from break. Hope you had a good Thanksgiving. We would like to congratulate all of the new members in the Greek Community. We would especially like to congratulate our new brothers Tony, Wallace, and Nixon. Our 6th Annual Punt-A-Thon was a success, and all proceeds went to the Cam Neely Foundation and the Hole in the Wall Gang. Winners will be notified shortly. Charlie made up half of the Thanksgiving episode of The X-Files, Longo wasn’t able to make it to Woburn. Longo, I heard Jim’s Deli makes a mean Thanksgiving dinner. Congrats to Gags for holding their first annual Trampoline-a-Thon in his room. Phi-Sig, I heard you had a great crush party. thanks for crushing the hearts of those who were left out. We would like to thank the lovely sisters of DZ for the great time last weekend. We would also like to address their stereo situation, or lack there of. The new brothers would like to thank Theta for their great hospitality lessons, which we are sure to remember for years to come. Also, we’d like to thank our national for sending us a cool sample. no wonder we are on such great terms with them. Under the influence of C-bass, Harvey made up half of our debt to national with our speeding tickets. Congrats to the brothers on the floor for the successful eviction of Bracia. Shout out to Silva for looking nice today.

We are all looking forward to our formal; the only problem is Twelve Acres has developed somewhat of an ant problem, so some may want to invest in Depend’s. Peace, Love, and Tsung Sung Bo to all.

Supposedly Monta had a good time at the Patriots game last Sunday. Jethro finally got Proctor some diapers. “Down in Ole Miss, poor old Lady Mulder got sued.”

Karate Club

Monica Pelletier

Greetings to all! I hope everyone had fun stuffing themselves during the recent Thanksgiving break. But now it’s time to train. First, congratulations to all of the karate kids who tested on November 22, 1997. The yellow belt testers started bright and early at 10:00 am. Those who were nervous and ready to limber up were there before 9:30 for some pre-game stretching. Congratulations to everyone who achieved a new rank. We have all worked hard during the semester and deserve every new rank that was earned. Hopefully this motivation we all had will carry us into the Christmas holiday and through the spring semester. A special congratulations is in order for Mr. Phillip Chuu, who has achieved second degree brown belt after vigorous testing! Phil is a 1996 graduate from Bryant and is now a CPA. He has returned to help teach current students and to train himself for a higher rank.

As the semester is coming to an end, everyone will be very busy with finals, but it must be stressed how important it is to continue training. It is a good way to stay fit and destressed and to keep our skills sharp. Not to mention it will keep off the pounds we will most likely gain during the Christmas season!! Also, a reminder, there will be a holiday Christmas party soon. Hopefully everyone can attend! More info to come....

One thing that I have noticed with each passing year is that people care less and less about Christmas. But these complaints have merit. The holiday shopping season is starting earlier and earlier; this year I noticed several stores had sales that started at 6 AM the Friday after Thanksgiving. Next thing you know, families will be having their Thanksgiving dinner at 1 PM so they can make it in time for the beginning of a Super Blue Light Special at K-Mart. As for me, I am still trying to figure out how every year Santa can be at two different malls at the same time. He must have his own cloning machine.

Since e-board election winners will not be announced until after the deadline for articles for the Archway, the only real announcement that I have is that we will be broadcasting just about all of Bryant's home basketball games this season. If you want to be there cheering for Bryant but are too busy doing other things you can tune in to 88.7 WJMF and hear the action. If you want to see the game instead of hearing it, come on down to the gym and see WJMF providing the music to pump up the crowd. Our next game coverage will be on Monday, December 8, starting at 5:30 p.m., when we will be covering both the Men's and Women's B-ball games.

Well, I am not a huge fan of Top Ten Lists, but I'd figured I would give you my top ten favorite CD's of 1997. You probably won't agree with most of these. If you think they all suck, you can start your own damn column. If you think they all suck, you can start your own damn column.

Doesn't Silva look better than DiGianvittorio? Anyways, welcome back from Turkey Day! Hope everyone had fun. We know our wonderful new sisters did: Jericho, Arista, Koral, Tristan, Shadoe, Hunter, Bailey, and Avery. Congrats! We love you guys! Also, congrats to the new members of Tri Sig, D-Chi, TEP, KT, and Beta. Great job!

Friday, we tried to have a sisters only night but due to many invasions we found it impossible. Rich and I switched roles and a random TPed our door. Ooooh, you crazy kid. TP is pretty scary. The wall at KT put up a good fight, but Bailey was the champ. Saturday night we spent with TKE and their beefy rep.

Kenedy would like to inform everyone that she is a free and liberated woman! We love you! Dudach, I saved a pillow for you, but 3 o'clock came and went and you were nowhere to be found. -Nikali. "Has anyone seen my elephant?"-Mattie. Hey Nicole, your mom asked me to write about you this week. Jester, what time is good for you, little B? The nu's took Jericho shopping- so she can match the rest of her pledge class. It's all about leather and chains for Arista and Tristan. All the sisters hope everything goes well for Shadoe; you know we are all here for you.

Quote of the week: "...I don't think they'll be baseballs." -Avery

Tip of the week: Do not use others as a scapegoat for your own problems. That's about it for this week. Study hard and don't stress (boob) out over finals. Good Luck! Cha Chi....!
Dear Colleagues in the Bryant Community:

We did it! Thanks to your generosity, we at Bryant College were able to make a significant contribution to the 1997 United Way and Planned Giving Community Progress Campaign. The $11,302, which was contributed by 141 Bryant administrators, faculty, and staff this year, will go to vital services that help people in our communities to lead better and more productive lives.

It was great to see so many of you at the "Thank-You" Breakfast on November 20. ARAMARK graciously provided a delicious continental breakfast for contributors. Professor Pat Keeley kept us all entertained as he drew winners for the various prizes that were donated by members of the Bryant community and businesses throughout the area. Our special thanks go to President Ron Machlley, Miriam Perry, and the following Bryant offices and organizations — Athletics Department, Images, Pizza Hut, Shear Art, and Public Safety — for their generous contributions of goods and services for the drawings.

Hey Theta! Hope everyone had a wonderful Thanksgiving; there's nothing like home cooking. Congratulations to our new sisters: Georgi, Jasmy, Dasey, Stella, and Rizzo. You guys are the best! Beta Theta Sigma needs to meet again real soon. The VTII strikes again for Maggy. It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas. Secret Santas are being spotted all over the floor... (my stocking is the white one).

Monday night was great, just what we all needed and deserved. There's nothing like quality bonding. Hope everyone enjoyed the anticipation of the Big Surprise. Chloe directed all to the ladies room, which was ever so amusing. Polluzz was adopted by a devilish duo. and I don't think she'll ever be quite the same. Abbey and Autumn got things rolling, blunt and to the point is the way to go. Thanks, De La Soul, for bringing us to tears; we all got in touch with our sensitive sides. Rizzo, glad you got to see the beauty in a waterfall. Thanks Phi Kap for the inspirational talks. Damian, I'll admit to being stubborn, as long as you admit that I am right. Best of luck to everyone in finals; we'll get through the stress, all we need is each other. Words of wisdom, "United we stand, divided we fall." Lata Theta.

VOLLEYBALL:

CARVALHO NAMED TO AVCA ALL-NORTHEAST REGION SQUAD

Bryant College senior setter Jennifer Carvalho (East Providence, RI/Edwards Academy) has been named to the American Volleyball Coaches Association Division II All-Northeast Region team.

She is the first Bulldog to make the team since Meribah Dean was honored in 1995.

Carvalho had a spectacular senior season. The two-time Northeast-10 All-Conference choice (1996, 1997) rewrote the NE-10 record book this fall, breaking records for career assists (4728), assists in a season (1545) and in a match (86). She led the Northeast region in assists for the third time on four seasons.

Carvalho led Bryant (28-13) to the NCAA Division II Volleyball Tournament for the second time in four years. The Bulldogs dropped a 3-1 decision to Northeast region champion New Haven in the regional semifinal. Bryant was the only non-scholarship school in the 32-team field.

DIVISION II

MEN’S BASKETBALL:

BRYANT STUNS 13TH-RANKED ST. MICHAEL’S, 81-68

Sophomore guard Jason Bennett poured in a career-high 31 points, including a school-record tying seven three-pointers, as Bryant College upset 13th-ranked St. Michael’s College, 81-68, in a Northeast-10 Conference game tonight.

Six of Bennett’s record-tying treys came in the second half as Bryant shot a perfect 10-10 from long distance in that half.

Bryant has defeated St. Michael’s five of the last six times.

The game did not start off well for the home team. The Purple Knights jumped out to an 11-4 lead capped by a three-point play by senior center Jay Wandikie. Bennett’s first points got Bryant within one at 11-10 at 14:55. The teams traded baskets until Krishna Dean jumper capped the Knights’ 11-4 lead with a three-point play with 6:34 remaining.

Bennett’s second trey of the half tied the game at 50-50 with 12:00 left. Bryant took the lead for good at 53-50 on Burton’s three-pointer with 11:19 left. The Bulldogs pushed the advantage to five at 57-52, then used three Bennett treys and a pair of Burton three-pointers to increase the lead to 71-60 with 4:56 left. While the Bulldogs were connecting on threes, the Knights managed just one field goal in a crucial 7:23 stretch late in the second half.

Sophomore guard Kelly Charette was named to the NE-10 Weekly Honor Roll. Charette followed a 21-point effort against St. Michael’s with a career-high 25 points and 10 rebounds in Bryant 95-88 loss to AIC Sunday. Charette is the NE-10’s second leading scorer (18.2).

On the men’s side, Junior Forward Keith Miller made the weekly honor roll. Miller torched AIC for a career-high 29 points and a career-high 23 rebounds in the Bulldogs 78-77 overtime win Sunday. His buzzer-beating lay in off a Kyle Pickering miss gave head coach Ed Reilly his first victory at AIC.

1997-98 WOMEN'S BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Gayle Zahnke

BULLDOGS AT GLANCE...

1996-97 Record: 7-19

Postseason: lost to Bentley College, 81-49, in the first round of the Northeast-10 Tournament

Starters Returning/Lost: 4/1

Top Returners: Players
- Jennifer MacDonald, Sophomore, Guard/Forward (12.1 ppg, 3.6 rpg, 37.3 FG%, 35.3-3p(FG%))
- Karla Bowen, Sophomore, Guard (4.5 ppg, 1.7 app, 34.9 FG%)
- Kelly Charette, Sophomore, Guard (4.5 ppg, 31.3-3p(FG%))

Key Losses:
- Mary Beth Feeney, Guard, honorable mention all-conference (13.1 ppg, 6.4 app, 4.5 rpg)
- Kristen Regan, Forward (9.3 ppg, 8.4 rpg)

Top Newcomers:
- Freshmen G Heather Chase, F Ali Curry, F Kristine Kironyo, G Katie Mahoney, C Stephanie Tobey

The Lady Bulldogs will be very young this year after graduating 85 percent of their offense from last season's team. Despite the losses of Mary Beth Feeney and Kristen Regan, the women return some quality players and add a few with needed height. The tone senior, Rebecca Hordt, is a quick (30 career steals) and athletic forward who is coming off an injury-prone junior year. She and returning starter Jennifer MacDonald, a sophomore, will be experienced keys to the Bulldog offense in the paint and outside. MacDonald broke two of Bryant's records last year, one for the most single-game three-pointers and the other for the most three-pointers in a season by a freshman. MacDonald is a versatile player who can handle the ball, shoot well from the perimeter, and rebound well. Also, in the front court will be sophomore Suzanne Herzog and three freshmen, Stephanie Tobey, Ali Curry, and Kristine Kironyo, all of which are six feet taller or more. Herzog had a productive offensive season, and Tobey shows much promise in the center position. There should be a definite runaround from last year when the ladies team finished last in the league in rebounds.

As for the backcourt, Bryant's team is composed of all freshmen and sophomores. Karla Bowen, a sophomore who played point guard last season when Feeney was on the sidelines with injuries, will be competing with freshman Katie Mahoney for the starting point position. Heather Chase will be starting as the second guard, and Kelly Charette will be expected to provide a boost from the bench. Although the backcourt is young and relatively inexperienced, its flexibility and athletic mix will hopefully become strengths for the team.

The Northeast-10 conference should be very strong once again, with Bentley ranked second in the nation according to some preseason publications. Other strong competitors should be 1997 Northeast-10 Regional finalist Stonehill; St. Anselm, who made the NCAA Tournament last year; AIC, and Assumption. The Lady Bulldogs face a very difficult and competitive schedule in the powerful NE-10 conference, especially since they play six conference games before Christmas. Some tough nonconference teams on the schedule include 20th-ranked Umass-Lowell and 12th-ranked Bowie (MD).

Familiarity with Bryant's first six games are at home, so hopefully that can be used to the team's advantage as the young Lady Bulldog begin their season. Once some experience is gained and chemistry is developed, anything is possible for the Bryant women's team.

Alien Resurrection

What the critics have to say...

If you like slime, giant insects, and special effects then Alien Resurrection is for you.

The movie does not make much sense, however the special effects do give the movie a life of its own. The plot is simple like all other previous Alien movies. Space travelers are trapped on a ship with an alien monster is slowly hunting you down. The only difference in this movie is that scientists who believe they can tame these monsters grow the aliens. Weaver's L.T. Ripley character comes alive through cloning. Ripley's main value to the scientist is the alien that she has inside her stomach.

The rest of the movie is the same as any other Alien movies as the crew tries when the alien escape. Perhaps the best scene in the entire movie is the underwater chase scene. This scene offers excitement and great special effects. The cast of characters chased by the alien creatures is not given much personality with the exception of Ripley's character. We learn that she is one of a kind robot whose mission was to kill Ripley.

Another notable scene is the lab scene. In it, Ripley visits the lab where seven previous attempts to clone her have resulted in failure. Can you see live action show?

The movie reaches its climax when the queen gives birth to a mutant alien child who believes that Ripley is its mother.

All told, Alien Resurrection offers fun and is a thrilling ride although we all know what is about to happen.

Directed by Jean-Pierre Jeunet and R.

(•) The funny green geo of Robin Williams' "Flubber" topped the Thanks giving holiday box office with $56.4 million, bouncing ahead of "Alien Resurrection," according to industry estimates Sunday.

The latest sequel to "Alien" was the only other film to debut in wide release over the five-day weekend, grossing $37.2 million, according to Exhibitor Relations Co Inc.

"Flubber," Disney's remake of its 1961 comedy "The Absent Minded Professor," didn't come close to beating last year's record Thanksgiving opening of $45.1 million for another Disney remake, the live-action version of "101 Dalmatians.

But the "101 Dalmatians" was the only wide-release premiere that weekend.

Phil Barlow, president of distribution for Disney's Buena Vista Pictures, called "Flubber" ticket sales "fantastic, terrific and all those other words I wished I had saved up."

"We were expecting a very big gross. I don't think anyone could logically expect this gross," he said. "It's fun to know the public likes to watch good old-fashioned fun."

A PG-13 comedy, the British import "Bean" was No. 9 but had the lowest audience drop-off of any of the top 10 films. Its take of $4.1 million was off just 4 percent from a week earlier.

Family-oriented movies often do better during the holiday weekends, said industry analyst David Davis, a vice president at the investment banking firm Houlihan, Lokey, Howard & Zukin.

Davis noted that Fox's animated musical "Anastasia" also performed well in its second week against Disney's re-release of "The Little Mermaid." "Anastasia" fell from No. 2 to No. 3 in its second week with $16.7 million. "The Little Mermaid" was No. 8 with $4.7 million in ticket sales.

"It puts Fox on the map and establishes them as the leading competitor to Disney," Davis said.

Moviemakers should prepare for a busy holiday movie season, with a slew of releases every weekend between now and the end of the year.

"It's going to be brutal," Davis said of the studios' competition to get an audience. "If you're not in that elite pack, if you don't finish one, two, you're going to get lost."

Mortal Kombat—Annihilation

(out of four)

Brian Thompson, Robin Shou, and Talisa Soto

Moviemakers, if action and special effects are part of your holiday with list, then try Mortal Kombat.

This movie lacks much in plot and acting but sure makes up for that with action and special effects. Like the first movie, the forces of good, led by Liu Kang (Shou), are facing with saving the world from Khan and his ruthless army. Again, like the first movie, the action is great, complete with many wonderful fighting scenes. However, I still cannot get past the weak story line.

The movie begins with Khan re-opening the portal to Earth. Although he's breaking the rules, the god-comic book role of Raiden (James Remar), the thunder god, must give up his godlike powers to save his friends. The movie's theme was to re-inforce the power of "together-ness," which Raiden preaches to his team. During their fight against Khan's mutants, Kitana (Soto) gets kidnapped by Khan. The legends have it that Kitana must capture her mother and restore her love for her mother in order for the portal to close. However, it was all a lie, and Liu Kang's crew is left facing considerable odds. That is simply what the movie is about. Again, this movie lacks quality actors and needs a stronger plot.

If you are expecting something more from this movie, you will surely be disappointed. However, if you want action, bone-crunching sound effects, and just plain fun, then go see it on Tuesdays at North Atlantus. Do not waste $7 on it.

I Know What You Did Last Summer

Starring Sarah Michelle Gellar and Jennifer Love Hewitt

I Know What You Did Last Summer is another take on last year's horror hit, SCREAM. The story lends itself in many ways. The killers in both are out for revenge, and the victims are, well, your normal pretty girls and bumpy guys.

The movie takes place in a small fishing town. The cast includes a young actress— want-to-be named Helen (Gellar), her rich-jock boyfriend, Barry (Ryan Phillippe), Julie (Hewitt) and Ray (Freddie Prinze, Jr.). After telling ghost stories on the Fourth of July, the two couples headed home with Ray behind the wheel of Barry's car, since Barry was too drunk to drive. On their way home, the teenagers hit a man with the car and so began the plot. They decided to throw the body into the ocean, with Julie being the only one against it. The four friends swore to keep their little secret as they headed off to college.

One year later, none of the four are speaking, and their hopes and dreams were dashed by the terrible guilty secret they share. Only when Julie receives a letter upon her return home did the four begin to realize someone knows their little secret. From there, the movie takes off with the four trying to discover who is stalking them.

I Know What You Did Last Summer lacks creativity. The killer uses a fishhook to kill his victims. The fishhook scene is nothing special, as we all know what will happen. In truth, the movie lacks the horror aspect that made SCREAM a hit. Only the ending brought the audience off their feet.

Anastasia

You might be inclined to think that this is another Disney animated feature but you'd be wrong. Fox, the makers of All Dogs Go to Heaven is behind Anastasia. The animation is beautifully done, creating a world much more beautiful than our realistic anatomized surroundings. Grand Palaces become as large and fantastic as the imagination will allow, there are no limitations of reality. The filmmaker never has to concern himself or herself with what location they will use to shoot one scene or another because the film can be created as the filmmaker imagines it, this is the beauty of animation. This wasn't just some kooky kid's movie though; there were many serious actors and actresses participating in this feature. Meg Ryan plays the voice of Anastasia, a young princess who is loses her memory and her Royal family in the midst of the Russian Revolution. She finds herself in an orphanage unaware of her identity and lonely for a family.

John Cusack is the voice of Dimitri a young servant in the Russian Palace. During the revolution he helps Anastasia and her grandmother, Grand Duchesse Marie escape the wrath of the evil Rasputin, Christopher Lloyd. Later Dimitri grows up to be a handsome con man in St. Petersburg. Kelsey Grammer plays the voice of her jovial partner Vladimir. Together they search for a girl resembling the long lost Romanov Princess so they may deliver her to her grandmother in Paris for a generous reward. Without knowing it they tumble upon Anastasia and convince her to come with them to Paris. Neither they nor Anastasia believe that she is the real lost princess.

During their journey to Paris they all begin to become aware of Anastasia's authenticity, Dimitri falls in love with her, and Rasputin comes out of the dead to fulfill his curse on the Romanov family. Anastasia and Dimitri also face the task of convincing Anastasia's grandmother, played by Angela Lansbury, that she really is her long lost granddaughter. Other talented cast members include the talented Bernadette Peters of Broadway, as Sophie, the first cousin and Lady in waiting to Grand Duchess Marie, and Hank Azaria who is known for his talent as a multitude of voices on the Simpsons. Hank plays Bartok, Rasputin's-wise cracking side kick bart, who, is, from an adult point of view, the best part of the movie.

Although this is a children's movie, the all star cast is enough to make it interesting to adults. Its story is loosely based on historical events which also makes it interesting if you paid any attention in your humanities courses! It however does not quite compare with Disney's films, perhaps it is the story or don't even waste the $4.00 for a matinee.

One of the most time consuming and challenging Christmas activities is shopping. Before trying to find the perfect gift for family and friends, consumers are also concerned with size, color, and style. There are demands on finding the proper box or bag size for the gift along with nice wrapping paper. All of this activity can make a shopper tired, cranked, and anxious to get home, So, how does each customer end a successful shopping day? Well, they check-out of course. There are basically three types of clerks you can expect to find when trying to purchase goods.

Experienced and quick. We all know the relief and thankfulness of going up to the checkout counter with a stack full of presents and knowing everything is tallied up correctly and quickly. Although especially rare and unique, we love these clerks because they know what they are doing and do it well. However, this prized clerical population is at best 25% during the fast-paced holiday season.

Slow and sweet. I go to the checkout line at Caldors the other day and meet "Grumpy." He calls me Mr.'m a, twenty-one-year old woman, and is very kind and jovial. He is unable to make eye contact us hi primary concern is getting every detail precisely right. It is agonizing to watch as he scans item number one and it comes up 10% off. Uh oh he thinks, better check the flyer to make sure that is right. "Now, if there is a sale on a regular priced item, one marked down one percent, or the entire purchase?" He runs off his brow while I'm contemplating jumping over the counter, stuffing my hand with a twenty, and running out of this shopping hell.

"Stupid is as stupid does." We have all seen these people time and time again during the holiday shopping season. They are part-time help, hired just a week or two ago, that are just trying to make enough money to pay off January's ap and credit card bills. They could care less if a sweater is 10% off or 0% off. Bored, unfocused, and indifferent, they have a careless manner with the products and are sometimes rude and even mean to the shoppers. While cheating on gum, they begrudgingly call for the manager, who also wants to kill them, for a price check only because the customer is adamant about a specific item's price or sale. After a day with too many of these clerks, I'm ready to go to the North Pole for elf training.

Good luck with all of your shopping experiences as you try to find nice presents and experienced checkout clerks. And, just think, after December 23rd there are only 865 days left until next Christmas, so you better get out shopping. 'Tis the season!

Surge Takes Hold

Special to the Archway

How many people knew that Bryant College has a Literary Magazine? For those who answered "No," let us introduce you to Surge, for those of you that answered "Yes," the second issue has been released! Three years ago there was a surprising large turn out for an open poetry reading on campus. From that poetry reading, and subsequent followers, a group of students got together and expressed interest in not only forming a club, but producing a Literary Magazine. The literary magazine by students of Bryant came out in 1983. And so, in 1996 Surge was released. The book was well received as a stepping stone for what would become the Artistic Association. The 1996-97 school year was spent making the Artistic Association an actual club on campus. Now, for the 1997-98 year we have released the second edition of Surge. This issue is filled with poetry and prose from the Bryant community combing students and faculty. Our second edition is dedicated to Professor Jeanette White, who was our founding faculty advisor, and a guiding force in the establishment of the Artistic Association. Her loss saddened us all as a whole, and we can only hope that her memory live in the work she dedicated to us and to Surge. The new book is available in the bookstore, through the mail, and it also at a poetry reading on December 4th, at 6:30 PM in the Heritage Room. There is a $1 cover charge, which will go towards the production of future issues. It was from a poetry reading like the one coming up that spawned the Artistic Association, and we hope this reading will make us stronger. Please look for Surge, support your college's literature efforts, and join us December 4th for a night of literary bliss.

Starship Troopers

Movie Critic

My boyfriend pretty much summed up this movie when he said, "If I had to choose between a hot poker in the eye or seeing this movie again, I would have to opt for the hot poker." This movie was a combination of four major aspects, big bugs, 90210, female frontal nudity, and gore. Not a good combination indeed perhaps you're a prepubescent boy or a man with the mentality of a prepubescent boy. This I think is the case with the director, Paul Verhoeven. His past movies include Robocop, Total Recall, Basic Instinct, and of course Showgirls. All top ranking movies with prepubescent boys nationwide. Verhoeven apparently feels the need to cram as much nudity, violence and gore into a film as possible.

The movie stars at a high school in the future and focuses on four students who are nearing graduation. These four characters continue to be the main characters as the movie turns away from the high school 90210 setting to the action portion of the movie, featuring giant bugs. The premise of the movie was that a bunch of high school graduates join up with the armed forces where they go to war to fight giant bugs. Lots of people get killed, lots of people get naked, and lots of people end up covered in bug goo.

I keep mentioning 90210 and perhaps you are wondering why. Well, for starters, the first half of the movie really was like an episode of 90210. Women passing after taken men. Rivalry between guns on the football team over a woman, real cheesecake stuff. And to make it totally like a Spelling production, Verhoeven choose actors and actresses directly from Spelling's cast list. Casper Van Dien, who plays Starship's main male character Johnny Rico, used to play Griffin Stone in 1995 on Beverly Hills 90210. Panic Mcllown, who played pilot Zander, appeared from 95 to 96 on Melrose Place. Denis Richards, playing Cameron Bierce, the leading lady in Starship trooper, is known for her appearances in both Melrose Place and 90210. Dina Meyer, another of Starship leading ladies, can be identified as the seductive Prof. Lucinda Nickelson from Stargate (1994). You will get the idea, nosey actors, no plot, big bugs, gore, nudity, the whole thing basically made me want to vomit.

My advice, if your looking to see a movie, don't waste the $7.50 to see this one. Even don't waste the $4.00 for a matinee. I would even like to suggest you refrain from renting it when it makes it to video (in about a week and a half) Even if someone offers to pay for you to see this movie, don't do it. You will walk out feeling like you have been robbed of two hours of your life.

Nagano promises high-tech Olympics

Associated Press

NAGANO, Japan - Some athletes won't be able to pick up their equipment until the day before competition recognizing the iris patterns in their eyes. A fingerprint check will be needed to ensure that the tracks for doping.

"This is going to be the high-tech Olympics," Makoto Kobayashi, director general of Nagano's 1998 Olympics organizing committee, said Thursday. "We'd like to show Japan's technology to the rest of the world."

The latest technology is intended to do everything from helping to control traffic and forecast weather to improving the sights and sounds related to television viewers. On the security side, the iris check will be used by taking their guns out of the storage room for the biathlon, a sport that combines target shooting with cross-country skiing.

To take athletes and coaches to the skiing and skating sites, 41 buses with new gasoline-electric hybrid engines will be used to keep down pollution. Three electric cars and 60 natural gas vehicles are also in the fleet.

To relay traffic information and assist traffic signals, infrared sensors will be installed above roads. To help spectators see it all more clearly, organizers are setting up a theatre to transmit standard-definition television broadcasts. Viewers will have to wear special goggles.

Microsoft's Impending Battle

Stephanie Sedivy
Business Editor

What's the big deal? If the consumer is happy, why is the government sticking his neck out? The Justice Department is trying to stop Microsoft from being the most dominant company in the software market. The success of the Justice Department is to stop Microsft from forcing PC makers to bundle its Internet Explorer with every copy of the Windows operating system.

The problem of trying to apply anti-trust laws to software is that many computer users need a single standard for their operating systems. When an operating system has more applications, the more satisfied the customer gets. Microsoft does not force them to use their Internet Explorer. The Justice Department may have little power in fighting off Microsoft. Bill Gates says that if the Justice Department were to step in, it would be like the government deciding that in 1932 cars shouldn't have radios because that would hurt the radio sellers. If Microsoft were to lose in court, the company would not be able to offer the PC maker a choice. The choice would be to offer the PC maker an operating system with and without Internet Explorer for the same price.

Microsoft will never choose the system without the Internet program because of the many of features available to Internet Explorer users. PCs makers state that Microsoft does not force them to install their Internet Explorer program. According to Mal Ransor, senior vice president of Packard Bell NEC, Inc., "If our customers say that they want to use Netscape Navigator, we will give it to them." Another PC manufacturer states that customers would most likely demand the Windows operating system with Internet Explorer even if the products were not sold as a set.

Microsoft has expanded its operating system in the past. The company began with the DISK OPERATING SYSTEM (MS-DOS) and as the system improved, back-up utilities and disk compression became standard features, unlike earlier versions when they were add-on features from other software manufacturers.

Adding utilities as a part of the Windows operating system has made the Windows system that much more worthwhile to the customer. Continually adding features to the operating system will make the product a better buy in the future.
Berg is a financial expert, author of and nonfiction-related expenses. Debit cards are limited by the Working on a realistic budget. This is a great way for parents and students to work together and get off the right foot by not allowing students to spend more money than they have.

Tips for Managing Your Money During College

Adriane Berg's offers advise about money management during the college years as a means of building wealth for later in life. Berg is a financial expert, author of 22 books, including best-buy "Your Wealth Building Years, 18-38," Berg is also a columnist for the Microsoft Money Insider personal finance online service that offers up-to-date key financial topics, including college planning, home ownership and financial lifestyles. Berg provides three tips for students to help them manage what little money they do have in college.

1. Set a monthly budget that includes tuition-related expenses (tuition, room and board, books) and non tuition-related expenses (travel, transportation, food, personal, entertainment). By considering all potential expenses, students can work with their parents to plan a realistic budget.

2. Skip fancier gourmet coffees; brew your own up from your apartment's coffee. If you can save an average of $0.74 each day, you should have $500 available by the end of the school year that can be put in a mutual fund or be used for spring break.

3. Many banks offer debit cards that students can use instead of credit cards to pay for expenses. Debit cards are limited by the amount of money held in the account of the bank that issued it, unlike credit cards that can be used continually, accumulating huge balances every month. It is a great way for parents and students to work together and get off the right foot by not allowing students to spend more money than they have.
Hot Stocks
by Amit Sipcy
Contributing Writer

This year in the US acquisitions worth $700 billion have taken place. The reason is that companies are paying through stocks for acquisitions instead of paying cash. There are still blue chip companies with high price/ earning ratios and they are using their stock as the takeover currency. Some of the examples are the $13.3 billion bid for ITT by real estate investment trust by the name of Starwood Lodging and the more recent $4.5 billion telecommunication giant WorldCom’s $30 billion bid for MCI. In both cases the acquirers propose to pay the stockholders of the target company with stock.

Buying a fast growing company is the easiest way to keep increasing the earnings at the pace Wall Street has to expect. Thus the companies that use their stocks to purchase companies with a low P/E ratio to boost their earnings immediately. Some analysts on Wall Street suggest that it is best to buy cheap stock in consolidating companies and then wait for the consolidators to come and buy the companies where the stocks have been bought. These analysts narrow down companies that promise long term growth so that even if these companies are not taken over the stockholders still do well.

Stocks to consider
1) Frontier Corp.
Frontier is the fifth largest telecommunication company in the US, a $2.6 billion company trades at a P/E of just 17 compared with it’s competitor WorldCom that trades at 34. By the end of 1998 Frontier is expected to complete the installation of it’s $450 million fibre optic network that will help it to increase its net profit margin from 5% this year to 10% by the end of 1999. According to sources Merrill Lynch the stock is expected to hit $28 in the next 12 months for a 37% return.

2) PHARMACIA & UPJOHN
Pharma & Upjohn Inc. quoted at $34 is a global pharmaceutical group engaged in the research, development, manufacture and sale of pharmaceutical and healthcare products. P&U derives most of its business from overseas sales. The company is currently introducing new products in the markets. It is estimated that the drug sales could be a record of $7.6 million in the next 3 years. Advisors expect that price stock to hit $48 in a year for a 57% return.

3) COMPUSERVE CORP DEL
Compuserve, H&R Block and WorldCom entered into a merger agreement pursuant to which WorldCom will acquire Compuserve in a stock-for-stock transaction valued at approximately $1.2 billion. H&R Block’s stock is expected to increase 60 percent.

Compuserve: The closing of the transaction is subject to obtaining certain regulatory approvals, Compuserve shareholder approval, and customary closing conditions. H&R Block has agreed to bear the risk in favor of the Compuserve. The closing is expected to occur during the first quarter of 1999.

During the past six months there has been growth in the price of the Compuserve stock and at present trades at $13.38. Analysts suggest that it is expected to grow steadily in the future.
