Who Are You?

President Nixon covered a wide range of topics from the Vietnam War to McGovern and politics at a news conference Thursday. The President said he will not permit the November elections to influence the timing or terms of a Vietnam settlement.

Nixon said the private negotiations in Paris are at a "sensitive stage" and he said he could not predict whether or when they might succeed. But he said...in his words..."If we can make the right kind of a settlement before the November 7th election, we will make it." The President ruled out any halt to the bombing of North Vietnam before November 7th. He said former President Lyndon Johnson made a "very, very grave mistake" when he did so just before the 1968 election.

Nixon repeated the promise of the Administration not to raise taxes next year. But he says it will depend on the co-operation of the Democratic controlled Congress. The President also promised property tax relief with top priority for the elderly.

Nixon plans to explain his tax policies in a radio address to the nation Saturday night. In advance, he confirmed that he hopes to rule out a "value-added"...or a national sales tax.

On politics, the President said the public has been "turned off" by the charges of Senator George McGovern that the Republican Administration is the most corrupt in the nation's history. He said he would not dignify the Democratic Presidential Candidate's charges by issuing a reply.

The President declined comment on the Watergate breaking incident or charges of irregularities in the Administration's handling of grain sales to Russia. He said that criminal charges are pending in the Watergate case and said the F-B-I is conducting a thorough investigation of both situations.

Symposium

Dr. Juanita M. Kreps, first woman Governor of the world's largest stock exchange (N.Y.S.E.) will be the keynote speaker at the Bryant College "Symposium for the Advancement of Women in Business," to be held on its new campus in Smithfield, R.I., Wed., Oct. 11, 1972 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dr. Kreps, James B. Duke Professor of Economics at Duke University, will also receive the college's highest honors (honorary degree of doctor of science in business administration, D.B.S.B.A.) from Dr. Harry F. Bryant, president of Bryant College.

With this event, Bryant is drawing a bend on expanding executive opportunities for women in business, particularly for men. For 100 men on this College of Business Administration has educated women as well as men for business leadership, but not until now have these opportunities been much interest in having women join the management team. ("A Good Woman is Hard to Find," N.Y.T., Financial Section, Aug. 6, 1972...) "Under Pressure Firms Try to Upgrade Status of Women Employees," WALL STREET JOURNAL, Mar. 20, 1972.)

A more intricate of women high school seniors have heretofore been encouraged to go on to higher education in business management. To meet these needs, Bryant College is aiming this symposium specifically toward high school senior level, where career and college choices are made. And because guidance counselors play such an important part in these decisions, they, too, are invited. 500 high school women and their advisors (three selected women seniors and one guidance counselor) from 100 secondary schools in R.I., Conn. and Mass. will attend this pilot program.

Leading executives, business educators, men as well as women, drawn from all echelons of management corporations, institutions, government, schools, minority groups will take part in this day-long symposium which will conclude with a group session, at which students and counselors may seek individual advice and information on the educational qualifications and opportunities required for advancement in business.

Prow Names Released

Senator Edward Kennedy says the North Vietnamese have given him the names of five more American prisoners of war.

But the Pentagon says three of the men were already known to be prisoners. And a spokesman says the other two, who are still officially listed as missing, are Air Force rather than Navy men as reported by Kennedy's office. The Pentagon official criticized Kennedy accusing him of causing "unnecessary anxiety..." among the families of the prisoners.

Kennedy's office says the names were checked with the State Department, not the Pentagon, before being released.
Letters to the Editor

Bryant Bunnies

To Whom It May Concern,

We would appreciate it if you would print the following:

BRYANT BUNNIES

What school is this that we attend with girls as charming as an old hen. They fly by with feathers flying high in the air. Then claim that Bryant boys just gawk and stare. They state their reasons: We’re dirty and bold. Are there better ways to treat girls who are so cold? “Come into our room” they say is our plight, But they don’t mind staying all through the night.

You girls walk around like you are so great, But in my home town not many of you would rate. It’s true all you dolls on a Friday night go out, But with a ratio of 5 to 1 it’s not much to talk about. We may have no money, no cars and no gas, But dear girls—you have no class.

Yes Bryant Bunnies you can play hard to get, But our bowing any further you can forget. And girls there is one thing you all know is true, This poem if anything was too easy on you.

WCBS- Big Business

Is Interested In Us!

Dear Editor:

Last week WBCS received this letter from Simon & Schuster, Inc., a New York firm, a division of which is Monarch notes.

To the Manager of the Radio Station:

We are interested in advertising our Monarch Literature notes on your station.

A pre-cut tape can be provided.

Please advise us to rates, etc.

Sincerely,

Dave Liebowitz
Sales Manager

This is the letter I had to send back.

Dear Sir:

I am sad to say that Bryant College does not have a radio station yet. Due to high Administration policing, outright half-truths, and backspacing, this school of “Business Leadership” has disillusioned a two-year old, 40-member club, which has been ready to run a station since October of 1971.

Apparently, your firm acquired some of Bryant’s literature alleging the reality of a radio station. I apologize for this misinformation.

We are at present sending a 10-watt Educational FM application to the FCC. Maybe in a few years AFTER WBCS has established itself, we will be able to go commercial FM—that’s part of a college’s purpose, isn’t it—to teach students the reality of business.

Until then, you may want to contact our bookstore or WBRU. At present there is no FM station centered between Worcester and Providence.

We appreciate your interest—it rejustifies our faith.

Very sincerely,

Stephen Boulier

Cafeteria From Bad To Worse

Dear Editor:

In my four years at Bryant College, never has the service, the food, or the policies of ARA been worse.

It seems utterly ridiculous to me that upon entering the cafeteria, I need show my ID card when the woman who takes the numbers is able to tell me my own number before even I can remember it.

About a week ago, I rushed off to lunch and inadvertently left my ID card in my room. The woman, as always, recognized me (even to the extent of telling me my number.) However, I could not gain admittance. Please understand, I do not blame the people who record the ID numbers; I realize that they are only following orders from one of their many so-called “bosses.” When I was refused admittance, I offered to pay a $2 deposit, naturally assuming that I would receive my money upon presentation of my ID at a later date. This was always the policy in the past. I was then informed that my $2 would not be returned to me. Does it really make sense for me to forfeit $2 (assuming I had no business in the cafeteria) when I could get the lousy lunch for $1.25 or $1.50?

Another incident occurred this past Tuesday when because of my schedule, I had to eat lunch at 11:00 o’clock. Around 1:00, I had to get in touch with somebody, who was already eating in the cafeteria, about a fairly important matter. Again, I was refused admittance.

I seem funny to me that ARA won’t permit you in the cafeteria a second time (even without the intention of eating anything) and further more will not give you any type of refund when you don’t feel like eating in the cafeteria and getting nauseated at a lunch selection consisting of either sloppy joes or sausage and mashed potatoes.

I know this letter won’t accomplish much with ARA because in my four years at Bryant, I’ve discovered ARA doesn’t give a damn about the people they serve but rather about the so-called “almighty buck.”

Sincerely,

Mark J. Krinsky

A Tribute To Bryant Cafeteria

Dear Editor:

Thanks for running out of donuts by 10:00. Thanks for the fly in my salisbury steak. Thanks for not giving us a decent meal this year. Thanks for not giving us any real meat: it’s great for the health. Thanks for giving us so much turkey: we didn’t know Thanksgiving was every Sunday. Thanks for only teaching your cooks one recipe: how about something new. Thanks for the Jet spray! Why don’t you fill it once in a while? Thanks, ARA, for the swell job; you and the Maintenance crew should get together.

Driving To School

Is A Bad Trip

Dear Editor,

Driving to school is a bad trip, with all these great roads we have, but the intensity of Rt. 116 and Rt. 7 is “outtasight.” If you have to cross 116 between 7:30 and 8:00 in the morning you know what I mean. It’s probably the same for later classes, but I can’t speak for those people. Wonder if it would be possible for the administration to rent a cop for peak traffic hours or see about getting a light put in, timed so that it only operates when the traffic is heavy.

Feature this scene: December 11th, 7:45 a.m. Like it’s really snowing outside, sorta dark, and it is almost freezing. A whole line of cars (count ’em) are backed up Rt. 7 waiting to lunch a and maybe something can be done to help everybody NOW without somebody having to get killed or injured first.

SAMMY's CORNER

Dear Mr. Knox:

Since the stockmarket is considered one of the most reliable indicators of where the economy is heading, why, then, does it continue its downward trend in the face of the strongest economic recovery we have seen in years?

Signed,
Confused

Dear Confused:

Let's first take a look at what most economists see in store for the country for the balance of '72 and '73. Almost unanimously, they see a strongly rising GNP, not only in dollars, but also in terms of real product. The standard forecast for '73 is a GNP of $1,250 billion, up 9.5% from '72, of which 6% is in production and only 3.5% in prices.

Business investment in plan and equipment has been running at a 12% clip for the last three-quarters and shows no sign of slackening off. Consumer expenditures are rising rapidly and will give good support to business expansion plans. This rise has come about in spite of heavier withholding taxes. Sure, the other thing consumers can do with their money besides spending, has been coming down substantially to a more normal 6.4% of disposable income from an extremely high 8.2% level in 1971, thus contributing substantially to the increase in consumption.

The leading indicators, perhaps one of the most reliable forecasters of things to come, have been moving up rapidly; and in August had their biggest jump in many months (over 2%).

Why, then, in the face of all this, is the market so sluggish? Since topping out at 980 in August, the Dow has been going down fairly consistently, hitting a low of 935 about ten days ago. Actually, this doesn't tell the whole story, as other indicators have shown an even sharper decline, which the Dow could well follow most any day.

It is my feeling that all this has been caused by the great number of uncertainties facing investors, such as when the war will end, who will be our next President, will the present unrest in the middle East continue and expand or dry up, and if Nixon's re-elected, which is what the polls all show, will he revert to being a Republican, or will he continue to outspend and "out-deficit" even such masters at the art as Roosevelt, Kennedy, and Johnson? Another uncertainty troubling the market place is the impact on profits by some of the Price Commission's latest rulings, more specifically the failure to grant any increase on 1973 autos in the face of massive cost increases the companies have been forced to absorb.

I personally can't see much happening to the market until some of these uncertainties have been removed. Then, if there aren't too many new ones, maybe we'll all get a welcome turn around.

Signed,
Sam Knox

There Goes The Paint Job.

A series of research projects has come up with the conclusion that spending a good deal more for education won't do much to help the children of the ghettos. From that, some people who should know better have concluded that it's just a waste of money to try to improve education in the ghettos and to spend as much on schools there as in the wealthier suburbs. They've added up two and two and have come up with five.

If the research projects had been studied carefully, it would have been found that they all pointed in one direction: that the children of the ghettos suffered from a handicap which was an overiding factor that quality education could not overcome by itself. That handicap was social, economic, cultural, deprival, and it was just as much of a handicap as a physical impairment.

For example:

A youngster suffers from impaired vision. No matter how brilliant the teacher, no matter how modern the facilities are made available to the child, it won't help him very much. His handicap must be treated as well. Furnish the child with proper eye glasses and then the money spent on quality education would make a difference.

The research didn't suggest that the children of the ghettos, but that society was wrong to depend upon education alone to remove the other handicaps. It just wouldn't do it when housing was bad, living conditions worse and family background one of misery. In other words, the social, economic, and cultural conditions were handicaps and no amount of education offered to students could make much difference so long as the handicaps remained.

The handicaps had to be attacked just as the physical impairments were treated in order for quality education to make its impact.

Some commentators have gone so far as to suggest that the poor boy or the daughter of the rich who will make it if he or she has the desire for education, no matter how much is spent on quality education. And if the will isn't there, quality education won't make any difference.

Following that suggestion to the logical conclusion would hold that the ghetto schools should not be provided with the most modern equipment for teaching languages, or the laboratory equipment for teaching science, or for qualified teachers to teach any subject because it won't make much difference anyway.

If the kids can make it on their own, if they have the will, why not just go back to the days of Lincoln whoeducated himself?

The answer is that everyone is not a Lincoln and some make it only with the help of quality education. There also is the question of the justice of fairness in our society. Can the American system justify continued spending more to educate the rich than the poor?

The claim has been made that the Finnish people are such heavy smokers that by 1980 all hospital space will be occupied by men and women with diseases caused by tobacco.

A delegate made the forecast at the Nordic Conference against smoking in Helsinki.

The conference ended with a call to the Finnish Government to ban cigarette advertising and allocate funds for an information campaign about the health hazards involved.

Finnish Delegate Arto Pohls, representing a group of persons handicapped by respiratory and lung diseases, said eight and one-half billion cigarettes will be sold in Finland this year.

Pohls said, "This means two-thousand cigarettes per head. Even this is high enough. No wonder that by 1980 all hospital beds will be filled with cancer patients suffering from chronic lung diseases."

USS Pueblo Was A Set-Up

UPI (BOSTON) - Robert Hammond, a crewmember of the U.S.S. Pueblo, said in an interview published in today's Boston Globe that the ship was "set up" to be captured by the North Koreans.

The GLOBE quoted Hammond as saying "I convince myself we were set up over there to be captured purposely. I think they [the North Koreans] knew we would be captured and we were set up. Why didn't I say something about this before we have to get home. I'm really bitter."

Hammond now lives in Sunborn, New Hampshire with his wife and two daughters. He was badly beaten during his year of captivity and suffers from a spine injury inflicted by North Korean guards.

Referring to the Navy's failure to rescue the crew, the GLOBE reported Hammond as saying, "They should have had something ready. They knew we would be captured."

The GLOBE said Hammond does not think he was properly trained for the job. He was assigned to intercept radio communications. Hammond said he had some training in the North Korean Language, but not enough.

The GLOBE said Hammond feels he was taught a lesson by the capture: "Distrust in the leadership of the country. That's it. They just lie and lie."
Coping With Stress

Stress need not be an event. It may be cumulatively related to an occupation, early home training or some general condition. Stress can be overloaded with stress-inflicting factors ranging from pollution to overcrowding, charged highways, or raucous jukeboxes. Each leaves its mark on us somewhere if we are exposed long enough to the dirt and the dust and thus what we regard as routine may be causing stress within us.

Change can be stressful. Dr. Thomas Holmes of the University of Washington School of Medicine, has demonstrated that the rate of change in a person's life is a predictor of health. He created a scale to measure changes; to rate each of the common events with a number indicating the amount of impact it would place on a person's life. They validated the scale by questionnaire of men and women on how the latter would rank a vacation, death of a spouse, or a change of work hours according to the amount of adjustment each would require. It was possible to assign a numerical value to a list of over fifty items covering such items as a social event, death of a spouse, or a change in work hours. They found a number of major life changes during a short period of time. Adaptation has a physical, a biochemical meaning necessitating the glandular system to supply extra energy. Life and the rate of change trigger an illness whose root causes the ordinary M.S. cannot find in routine examinations.

Our nervous system is not infinite despite its flexibility and its capacity to regrow (frenetic) we have to learn to moderate our shifts and changes and sets of attitudes toward others and different situations. Much of the hubbub of our lives is worthless. We need to reflect increasingly on our value systems (definitely related to health) if we hope to improve the quality of our lives. Otherwise, the environment can overwhelm us, hurrying and enjoining into instant transition a condition detrimental to basic health. When you recognize in yourselves uneaven dispositions, undulating moods which help to bring about gastrointestinal upset, pains in the back or side (not anywhere near the appendix), check them for their frequency. They tell us something about ourselves that should be studied, not treated some medical viewpoint. Most doctors are too busy for such detailed examinations; pick a specialist. Next week we'll discuss how you can help the specialist. An ounce of prevention...

Security

West German security agencies are rounding up an estimated 18,000 Arabs in West Germany suspected of involvement in terrorism. Police and sources say those in custody will be expelled.

The German Interior Minister says he has received concrete evidence that new terrorist attacks are planned in the country. He says it is feared members of the General Union of Palestinian Students and the General Union of Palestinian Workers will aid in the attacks.

One Palestinian student told United Press International in Bonn that many Arabs escaped the raids. But he says they probably will be caught sooner or later.

Heroin

Providence, Rhode Island - Rhode Island Attorney General Richard J. Israel has proposed life imprisonment for persons convicted of pushing heroin.

Israel, Republican candidate for re-election, said yesterday that "drug pushers must go to jail." He said he will propose to the next session of the General Assembly that sentence be made life imprisonment. Israel said as a result his department would be in a position to urge the courts to hold the drug pushers without bail pending trial in aggravated cases.

The Supreme Court opened its 1972-73 term Monday, facing a workload that is heavier than ever and including some long-delayed decisions on obscenity and abortion.

The public schools can expect rulings of major significance in financing as well as on the legal issues of race and religious freedom. The court is also under pressure to help parochial school students also is under study.

In addition, the high court's docket reflects a wave of public welfare and environmental suits now hitting the lower courts. Numerous appeals from reapportionment of state legislatures under the 1970 census face justices, as well as a collection of important and well-known cases.

President Nixon's four appointments—Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr., William H. Rehnquist and Sandra Day O'Connor—are helping to decide together in the last term on cases involving individual liberties. When they could win justice Breyton White to their view, they made a majority which would overrule the remnants of the liberal “Warren Court.”

The full sessions start in a brightly refurnished chamber. The colorful ceiling has been repainted and new lighting installed.

Following a brief opening ceremony in their chamber, the justices will go into conference on several hundred appeals which have accumulated during their three-month summer recess. A long list showing how the appeals have been disposed will appear on October 10th.

That day begins the first week of arguments, including abortion cases from Georgia and Texas which the justices were unable to decide last term.

Texas law makes abortion a crime unless necessary to save a mother's life. Georgia is a state which allows abortions for reasons such as rape or the possibility of a physical or mental defect in the child.

The docket is crowded with obscenity issues, the chief one a test by whether states make their own obscenity standards or whether the constitution requires that a national standard be used. 9-30 UPI

Today's Commentary

Economic and political stability may be a long way off for Bangladesh. UPI's Leon Daniel reports from Dacca.

An opposition fueled by growing discontent is denying political stability to Bangladesh and threatens to bring down the government of the new nation.

Concerning rising prices, and food shortages have tarnished the father-figure image of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, the Prime Minister.

The charismatic Sheikh still is immensely popular, but in recent weeks a vociferous opposition has boldly begun to direct some heavy fire from the radical left on the government and Mujib himself.

Maulana Bashani, most formidable opponent of the government, says he will "set this country on fire if the Government does not insure Democratic rights." The 96-year-old firebrand with the flowing white beard spoke before several thousand Youth Conference Delegates of the pro-Peking Revolutionary Student Union in Dacca last week.

On the speakers' platform with Bashani, who heads the Peking-leaning National Awami Party, were leaders representing Communists, students, peasants and laborers.

As early as two and one-half months ago, Bashani warned of a massive spontaneous revolution that could turn the already war-torn nation into another Viet Nam. And the government has begun to take him seriously. It has banned a widely circulated week-long newspaper Bashani publishes. It is bitterly critical of the Sheikh and has charged that widespread corruption in the government.

Bashani also is leading a campaign against India, without whose massive military support Bangladesh could not have won independence from Pakistan last December.

Bashani has gone so far as to call for seizing from India several of its own states, including West Bengal, the capital of which is Calcutta, India's largest city.

Not even the most provincial Bangladeshis are likely to rally to that invitation but there is in Bangladesh a growing disenchantment with India.

Bashani, a staunch Moslem, speaks bitterly of what he calls the "Hindi exploiters" from across the Indian border. He says Indian products are shoddily and overpriced. Furthermore, he charges, the Indians hope to move into Bangladesh and exploit its jade industry.

Bashani's charges do not fall on deaf ears among those looking for a scapegoat for the new nation's economic ills.

Party and Buffet to follow
The Flask
by Richard S. Woolf

A lonely figure shuffle along a stretch of sandy coast lit only by an eerie twilight glow. By day, this Californian beach is alive with surfers trying to ride that last one in alone. Yet by night, the complex of this stretch of sand changes. A few couples linger by fires which dance and glow offering warmth yet keeping the mood of a secluded paradise. Here, I chance to think of many different things. The past, clouded by the passage of time; the present, whose problems seem to have no answers, and the future. Future, you are truly the master of surprise.

As I continued to stroll, I noticed sea shells of increasing size. Stopping to have a closer look, I found among them a shell a flask. At first, it was not easily distinguishable, being intertwined among seaweed and algae. Freeing the flask from its green bonds, I noticed a cork stopper at the mouth. Resting on a patch of white-bleached sand, I removed the cork from the flask. Inside was a crumpled piece of parchment. Scrawled in rough, currive writing were the following six words:

"Yes, Man will never know peace as I walk the Earth. He will kill for me; lie, cheat, and steal in my name. Nations will go to battle, and brother will spill brother's blood. I am cursed to traverse the Earth, to cause havoc, mistrust, and destruction. Man will not try to stop me, for he depends on my cunning for his nerve. He uses me as a weapon. Those who have tried to stop me have been crushed. I am invincible. I am unconquerable. I am Fear."

I wanted to believe that some form of maniac had written this absurd piece. But, no, this had to have been written by an intelligent being. I cringed at the truth and honesty of this piece. Each word had a ring of truth more startling than the previous.

Many nights, I had walked this beach, trying to find the answers to problems. It was this night that the answer came. Yet, like all men, I was not mature enough to handle this new-found reality. Carefully, I rolled up the crumpled piece of parchment and placed it into the flask. Corking the bottle tight, I sent it flying back into the watery depths from whence it came.

I desperately needed to show emotion for my lack of understanding and the same lack of respect on the part of humanity. The flask had a lesson to teach, but demanded mature students. Or did we fear learning the truth? In my uneasiness, I cried out; but Fear had driven the loving couples from the beach. No one would hear the human cry. No one would answer.

to students and only as a package. Most of the items are not "samples" at all. For example, in the male package, the razor is in fact the retail model and not a sample or demonstrator model. The shaving cream is one ounce less than retail due to the smaller size for weight and size of the package.
Other items such as the Bufferin and McClean's toothpaste are of retail size.
Any items marked "sample"
are that way so that shaky bookstore managers cannot sell the products separately.
The bookstore purchase the Superboxes at a cost of $8.75 per box. Advertising materials and equipment are provided by the distributor without marking the retail price at $9.99. Students who can subtract will see that the Bookstore makes a gross profit of $2.44 on each Superbox sold—hardly the kind of margin that makes people rich.

At any rate, every item in the package has a usuable value. This value totals in the $5.00-$6.00 range. So the smart student santus might try flaming his wings down to the Bookstore and try out the Superbox. It just might be a good buy after all.

Anyone desiring further information about the Superbox may write to John
Watson, 765 Schmidt Road,
Davenport, ia 52802.

Heroin Found
On American Ship
by United Press International

Police in Rio De Janeiro say they have confiscated 132 pounds of pure heroin on a freighter carrying an American flag.

The authorities in Brazil called the largest quantity of pure heroin ever seized in South America and say it was destined for the U.S. market. They say the street value of the heroin would be 60 million dollars. The heroin was found in five sacks buried in wool cargo on the freighter Mormac-Altair.

A police commissioner says the drug originated in either Thailand or Cambodia.

More on drugs from Laos. The former commander of the Laotian Armed Forces denies that contract air carriers for the Central Intelligence Agency were involved in opium traffic in Southeast Asia.

Author Alfred McCoy, who wrote "The Politics of Heroin in Southeast Asia," says the former commander made the statement.

Unreasonable Searches Warrants And Your Rights

The Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution insists that "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated..." The key work here is "unreasonable." Just what is a reasonable search? The Supreme Court has tried to answer this question dozens of times in the past few years. Many of the court's decisions are still unclear, and many are inconsistent; but some general outlines have been established.

As a rule, law enforcement officers must have a search warrant before they can search. The warrant must be issued by a judge with jurisdiction over the address to be searched. It must be based on an oath or affirmation indicating to the judge that there is "probable cause" to believe that contraband, evidence of a crime, or some other "unlawful item" is present to justify the search. The warrant must specify the place to be searched and the things to be searched for, and it must be acted upon before it expires—which is usually a matter of from three to ten days.

A surprisingly large number of search warrants are deficient in one or another of these characteristics and are thus void. A policeman with a void search warrant probably has no right to search. But there are exceptions. Ant it's never a good idea to resist a police search physically. It is often sensible to tell the searcher before he begins that you believe the search is illegal and therefore withhold your permission. If it turns out you're right, any evidence that he finds cannot be used against you.

Complain.

Like all rights, the right to freedom from unreasonable searches can be waived. If you or your spouse or roommate give police the go-ahead, the search is automatically legal, warrant or no. This holds true even if whatever it is they're looking for belongs to (or incriminates) someone else entirely. The Fourth Amendment protects your privacy, not someone else's.

Your super has no right to let the police search your apartment without a warrant. Unless there's a fire, a corpse begins to decompose in the living room, or some similar emergency, he can't even let the police in. Many leases explicitly grant the landlord the right to make repairs in your apartment without your permission—a right he doesn't have. But even this doesn't extend to inviting the police in after him.

Announcement

Even with a warrant, a policeman should knock and announce himself. He may break in only if no one answers or if the answer is "No." This rule was written to protect your privacy and property, and to prevent the sort of misunderstanding that leads to unfortunate results. Many policemen dislike the announcement requirement because they say it gives a suspect time to escape, destroy evidence, or set a trap. As a result, they often obey it loosely.

The courts have generally ruled an unannounced search illegal, and any evidence found in such a search cannot be used for prosecution. There are exceptions, however: When the suspect already knows it's the police at the door; when someone inside is in danger; or when there's reason to think evidence is in the process of being destroyed.

Recent newspaper stories about the Supreme Court's new "no-knock" provision have made it sound as if police can barge in anytime. The fact is, the court's interpretation was limited to authorized no-knock searches for federal narcotics agents and District of Columbia police only.

Arrest

When the police arrest a suspect, they have a right to search him and him immediate surroundings for weapons and evidence. "Immediate surroundings" means the suspect's entire house or apartment. But a 1969 Supreme Court decision established that an arrest-while-search is limited to those places a suspect might reach to pick up a weapon or destroy a piece of evidence. Any further search requires a warrant.

Emergency

A policeman who hears cries of "Help!" from your apartment is entitled to enter for a look around; he needsn't wait for a search warrant. Presently, the courts have had trouble defining and limiting these emergency situations. In general, an emergency search is legal only if the searcher looks for something other than material or physical evidence—like a criminal caught in the act or a victim in need of help. Automobile searches, by the way, are governed by a looser standard; the mere fact that the car might drive away at any time constitutes an emergency in itself.

Plain View

The police usually need a warrant to search your apartment, but they don't need a warrant to seek things in plain view. As long as the policeman is off your property legally, he may seize as evidence anything he can see. He may even use a flashlight or binoculars (but not electronic surveillance equipment) to help him see better.

Execution

A policeman executing a search, with or without a warrant, has no show consideration for privacy and property. Unless there's some special reason, therefore, nighttime searches are forbidden. Generally the officer may search only those places and seize only those things specifically mentioned.

Timothy Banning

The Student Senate of Bryant College is the official voice of the student body. By being elected as a representative from the Freshman class I would be in a position in which to support the interests of the student body.

My past experience consists of being involved in town government. Coming from Manchester, Connecticut, I have represented the youth of my town as a member of the Manchester Youth Commission. As a member of the commission I was able to vote on various issues concerning the under-21 age group in my town. This experience has given me the advantage of being prepared to be a senator here at Bryant.

If you would like to be sure that we Freshmen will be properly represented in the Student Senate this coming year, you should have experienced seniors capable of promoting your opinions. I am asking for your help in bringing the split parties together as one.

Thank you,

Timothy J. Banning

Dave Stump

My name is Dave Stump. I am in the freshman class and come from Pennsylvania. I have only been at Bryant College one month and I am already deeply involved in the Senator Pell Campaign. Now I am running for the Student Senate.

If elected, I will do my best to have more live entertainment appear at Bryant, (i.e., concerts and dances in the coliseum). I will also try to have table-tennis tables set up in every dorm. I also feel that the Vice-president of Student Affairs has some strict rules about housing.

I will represent the Freshman class at all the meetings and announce every suggestion to improve the school and the school life that any freshman will give me.

Thank you.

Dave Stump

Jim Galligan

My name is Jim Galligan. I came to Bryant from La Salle Academy. That just about all I can tell you about my past that could be of any interest to you, if indeed that is.

I am running for the Senate representing the Freshman class. So here we are, we are at Bryant, a great old school on a new mile with a great past and a better future. We are that future. I want your votes so that I can help to make that future work. There is not one thing more important than that I get your vote so that you do vote. Last election there was a turn out of about 20% in the school. Let's make this time vote in the Senate election and if your confusion as to who to vote for vote for me. It couldn't hurt.

Respectfully,
Jim Galligan

Horace Pezzola

I am going to make you an offer you can't refuse. ME, HORACE PEZZOLA, for FRESHMAN STUDENT SENATE. Readily I would appreciate your one sure vote.

Thank you very much,
Horace Pezzola

Dean Halper

The Student Senate of this school is completely unorganized and because of this many events happen without students even knowing about it. Also diving the Senate might be overlooked without even realizing it. Nobody in the Senate even knows what's going on. Last year the Student Senate office seven times in the past three weeks and found out nothing. Some of the papers would be given out nor when the elections would be. One person even suggested that I shouldn't run because no one in the Senate knew anything about it anyway. I finally found out about a meeting, not from someone connected with the Senate, but from a student in my dormitory. To make the meeting because of a religious holiday, I proceeded to get the minutes of it. They told me I could have the minutes when they were printed up, but somehow they never seemed to get printed up. According to upperclassmen I have spoken to, the Senate made decisions and enforced them before the students even heard about them. According to some these students the Senate is supposed to have a relationship with the faculty in order to help students out if they are having problems with them. There wasn't any substantial relationship.

I feel the Senate should inform the students of what is happening before it happens so as to give them a chance to express their opinion about such an event or decision. The Senate should not proceed without the students' consent. As a senator one should always know what is going on. If a student comes to him with a question or a problem he should be able to give the student an answer instead of continually postponing him. As a Senator I would do this. I would also like to have a letter in the Archway every week informing students what went on in the meeting thatweek. Letting the students know what is going on is a definite must if the Senate is to be a true STUDENT Senate. Dean Halper

Davy Greenwich

This letter is addressed to all those who graduated from high school in 1972 and all those who are beginning their college career at Bryant College... I don't know what to say to you but I think it will be the first one that you will read or last, but assuming that it will be the last, I'll be quick and to the point.

I am running for the student senate because I want to be involved in the decisions and events that may shape our over-all college experience.

I believe that there are only two qualifications that a freshman senator must meet. He must have the time to devote to his assigned responsibilities and most important he must be committed to the concept that only through involvement in college affairs can students have any true effect on their own situation.

I have both the time and the willingness to make the commitment and I ask you to give me the chance to represent YOU in your student government.

Howard Flannagan

Michael Lynch

Did you know that last year only approximately 20% of the student body voted in the last Student Senate elections. That says a lot for our predecessors but it seems that we are headed in the same direction. It is, only about 80 students registered to vote in Smithfield for this years presidential elections. Let's not continue this road of apathy. Let's get all together and get behind the six senators we will vote for. Personally I feel that students who are apathetic to their environment just are not going to make a difference. We are, we are at Bryant College.

The reason for this letter is to tell you that I am not apathetic to my present environment which is the reason why I am running in this election to represent you in the Student Senate. I'm not going to make all kinds of assinine promises that I won't be able to keep. All I can guarantee is that I'll do my best for the Freshman class as well as the entire student body and to just tell it like it is.

Sincerely,
Michael J. Lynch
Candidate for Student Senate
James Anderson

To Whom It May Concern:

I am a student because I live here.

I find that I'm learning both Good and Bad.

I take pleasure in the Good, and bitch about the Bad; but I do little more therefore I am frustrated.

I think we all are.

I have sat back and watched for the half term; but watching is a spectator sport.

I know what is happening does not affect change.

This may sound corny, but

I want to get involved. Some would say we have a lot Some would say we have a lot but Sauna baths do not make a college.

Do not place me with sauna baths! Without too much more. Respectfully submitted, James R. Anderson Candidate for the Sophomore Senate

Kenneth Katz

Am submitting my platform to the

for the simple reason that it is required of all candidates. Mine is not one of half truths, mine is simple. I want a change.

Sincerely Kenneth H. Katz

Ralph Ennis

The reasons for my wanting to be a Senator of the Sophomore Senate would like to get a loud voice started in the Senate, a voice that cannot be quieted down. I do not want to see a Senator obtain an office who is afraid to keep making noise out of fear of the administration.

The first issue of my campaign is to get the Senate united. This issue is a two-fold idea. The first phase is to unite the Senate itself. To get all twenty-four senators to be working for the same cause, which is "the student." The second phase is to unite the Senate with the students. Let the student know what is happening, also to have the student let us know what is happening.

The second issue is that I would like to get a student advocate started at Bryant. A student advocate is in reality, a lawyer for the student. This lawyer would consult the student in legal problems. Also, if the Senate, along with the lawyer, feel they have a good case, we'll take it to court. We could use this student advocate last year. If you remember, the ARA owed students money for food they (the students) never had. In that case nothing ever happened. We never received that money from the ARA, and the Senate let it go over their heads. This is why I feel we need a strong Senator and why I would also like to be a part of it.

Respectfully,
Ralph R. Ennis

Stephen Elkin

This year I attended my first Student Senate meeting as an observer. In the past I have worked with other student governments, but I found myself getting more involved in the government here more than any I've ever belonged to. The political element at Bryant seem to be a war between two opposing parties that quarrel over the most trivial matters. The Student Government at Bryant needs to be united, and the only way to accomplish this is to elect people who are able to put aside biases and view matters with an open mind and then come to their own decisions and not jump on the bandwagon. As you representative I will serve you the best way I can either as a friend or as an adversary and needs of a student at Bryant, and I will strive to fulfill these.

When it is time to vote, I hope that you will cast a vote for me to represent you in the Student Senate. Thank you

Stephen W. Elkin

Kenneth Katz

Gentlemen:
The Senate is a very important part of your student body. When you, the student, has problems the Senate has the power to place to go for solutions. When the student has new ideas the Senate is the place to go to present them. What I am trying to say is the Senate is a very important part of the student body and it has the potential of being an important factor in whatever happens to this school.

I was a senator last year and I would like to be one this year to help the student to bring out this potential that has been so missed for so long.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Katz

Sophomore Candidate

Daniel Goldstein

Students of the Sophomore Class,
My name is Dan Goldstein and I'm running for the Sophomore Senate for the upcoming election. I am a transfer student from Nassau Community College in New York and past president of the Nassau Community College Veterans Association and member of the Inter-Club Presidents Council.

Running for the Sophomore Senate
I'm positive that I have the ability, the experience and most important, the strong desire to help the student faction of Bryant. I have been at Bryant for one month and already have been and been the victim of too many rip-offs to sit back and let somebody else secure the senate seat which will demand great time and effort to bring about the necessary and worthwhile changes needed here at Bryant.

Being a Veteran and paying for my schooling out of my own pocket, I would certainly appreciate any effort on anybody's part to do something about the various outrageous charges and prices the school is infliction upon the student body.

I don't want to bore you with more rhetoric as you probably have already heard, but just this; I'm more than willing to work for and with the student government, be at all the meetings, and am able to accept responsibility and most important stand up for my sophomore class when bringing about changes that are desperately needed here at Bryant.

With concord,
Daniel M. Goldstein

Brian Prinz

My Friends, Now that we are, it's our second year. The excitement and responsibility of being part of something new and revolutionary is felt by everyone. We gaze at the wonder awaiting our touch every day. The opportunities for creative learning and living are at our fingertips.

It's the student that will either use these resources to its benefit or simply accept what is handed to him. The Senate can act as a voice for the student body.

With the endless stream of possibilities for expanding the advantages of Bryant just starting to be realized, the student should have his say. This is where the responsibility of the Senate to help the students become aware of this, and play a guiding role in making this become a reality.

I feel that this year is going to show an increasing desire of the students to get involved in shaping their future.

I want to help it happen

Brian Prinz

Debbie Williamson

To the Freshmen Class:
I am running for the office of Student Senator because I feel that I am qualified to hold this office. I am willing to work to get what we the students want done.

I feel that every student on Bryant Campus should know what the Student Senate is doing for them. The Senate was created as a "mouth-piece" for the students. As such, all students should have equal representation in it and all suggestions should be made known to the Senate.

I hope to see that more activities are planned to bring our commuter and dorm students together. I feel that the major reason for the apathy among the student body is a lack of knowledge concerning new events. A solution to this problem would be greater publicity concerning these events. There should also be notices dealing with the Bryant College fee, the necessity for a change in the government of our student body, and only through an active senate can reformation be attained.

It has become evident that a stronger link between the senate and the mass is a necessary factor in achieving this goal.

As a member of the Bryant College student body, I wish to become a participating member of the student senate at a time when unity is essential. The choice is yours.

I believe that the only qualification for being a Senator is the desire to improve the conditions in which we exist here at Bryant College.

I believe that we as students should have the power to say anything about our campus, our curriculum, our life here at Bryant. More economic reforms need to be made.

I believe that students should be given academic credit for outside work and summer employment. There is no reason why a student should not be able to take an academic class and work for the college during the summer or term and receive academic credit for their work.

Now that I have been here one year, I realize that living out here in the woods there is nothing much to do, making it quite boring at times. Sometimes, we will have an occasional dance or concert; you can always go to the movies to see films like the "Planet's 2000," or you can just stay home and watch the news. Monday afternoon senators! I believe that it's time for the Senate to be a representative of the student body, its original purpose.

I don't intend to make any far fetched campaign promises. Once elected I intend to represent the Bryant student to the very best of my ability.

Richard Woolf
To the Junior Class:
Many of us have lost faith in our Student Senate Government. While the bulk of the blame lies with the Senate's past officials, certainly we as a mass are also to blame for not voting for qualified individuals.
I am seeking the position of Senator so that I may work to bring about the desired change. My qualifications speak for themselves, I have maintained the position of News Editor of the independent student newspaper, THE ARCHWAY. I am an active member of the Bryant College Student Patrol, which has put me in contact with fellow students and their problems; and I was the Acting Chairman of Bryant College's Freshmen Orientation program for 1972.
I have proven my interest in our school. I will not make flowery campaign promises, for I do not know what problems I will be confronted with. All I ask is for your support, in order that my voice be heard, within a group whose decisions affect all of us.
Sincerely,
Richard S. Woolf
Candidate for Junior Class Senator

Guy Berger
I have been at Bryant College for almost three years. I came from the old campus to the new one and saw some of the great changes that were taking place. I decided that I had to get involved in order to help the student body of Bryant College. I have been working with the Senate for the last year on the outside and have seen the troubles and problems that our Senate has.
I want to work to change the Senate into a working group of people dedicated to helping improve Bryant College; its social aspect as well as its educational aspect. I want to rid the Senate of its do-nothing Monday afternoon senators and have a Senate that works to improve student life. The student government has great possibilities but it needs new people to make it great. I have worked on the outside of the Senate for a year doing some of the jobs that the present senators should have been doing. I have worked on different committees and still am, now I want to work for all the students of the Junior Class directly as well as the rest of the student body.
If you students want a hard-working Senator, check my name, Guy Berger, as your choice on Election Day.
Thank you
Guy Berger

Perry Levin
To the Junior Class:
It is my intention, in running for the Student Senate, to elevate the student's position at Bryant. Students have been stepped on, kicked around, and, in general, been treated badly by the Administration. I will work with my fellow Senators and the Executive Board to, first, document the abuses of the school toward the student body, dorm and commuters, day and evening students alike, and, second, to take positive corrective action in insuring these abuses will cease. As a transfer student from a Junior College, I have seen the last two years in Student Government and feel I have the experience and desire to seek the position of senator at the Bryant College. This position is desperately needed.
Thank you
Perry S. Levin
Candidate for Junior Senator

Mike McLarny
TO THE JUNIOR CLASS: I am running for Junior Class Senator for one reason: I have been at Bryant College for three years and have witnessed the total B.S. that has gone on for these past three years.
To change the system, one must first become part of that system. This is the reason for my running for Junior Class Senator.
While I am on the Student Senate of Bryant College, I hope to bring about changes that will benefit the members of our class; mainly changes in the Placement Department whose reform is needed greatly.
To elaborate on any more changes would be a waste of time. What is needed now is just plain action.
Sincerely yours,
Michael McLarny
Next Junior Class Senator

Sheryl Chait
To the Bryant Student Body:
As a student, I feel that college, as an institution, should exist totally for the benefit of its students. All administrative decisions must be made with the student as the first consideration. Likewise, the teacher must see his purpose as serving the student by shaping the way of his future. As a student senator, my aim is to see these ideals are achieved, and provide change in our educational and social environment. Hence, I, too, shall serve the student.
Sincerely
Sheryl R. Chait

Mark Vincent
I am a candidate for re-election as a Senator of the Senior Class. I am running again because I believe the Senate has a useful function. At times we have felt the Senate was overheading, but in all, I feel it is one of the best things I have ever been a part of. I have felt this way at several Senate meetings due to petty arguments, poor attendance, lack of action, and, in short, an overabundance of bullshit. I now feel it is time for one final attempt at making the Bryant College Student Senate a concerned and effective organization serving the students as a whole.
With your help...
In Peace,
Mark Vincent

People who run glass houses shouldn't throw stones.
Bob Berk
Senior Candidate

Rich Komita
I'm running for Student Senate because as a senior I have seen the school progress and degrees in many areas. After observing and sitting back for three years, I feel it is time to get up and do something. The problem now, as its been since I've been here is relating the students. It seems that there are three factions on campus: the independent, the Greeks, and the commuters.
Concerts, mixers, sporting events all are ways in which the students can come together. The Senate is just a coordinating body, the student must be the ones to make this school better for themselves.
So next week vote for Rich "Stretch" Komita for senator.

Scott Edwards
As a senior at Bryant College, I have witnessed three years of inadequate communication between the students, the faculty, and the Administration. I believe that the only way to bring about a serious state of apathy on this campus to the new one and saw some of the great changes that were taking place. I decided that I had to get involved in order to help the student body of Bryant College. I have been working with the Senate for the last year on the outside and have seen the troubles and problems that our Senate has.
I want to work to change the Senate into a working group of people dedicated to helping improve Bryant College: its social aspect as well as its educational aspect. I want to rid the Senate of its do-nothing Monday afternoon senators and have a Senate that works to improve student life. The student government has great possibilities but it needs new people to make it great. I have worked on the outside of the Senate for a year doing some of the jobs that the present senators should have been doing. I have worked on different committees and still am, now I want to work for all the students of the Junior Class directly as well as the rest of the student body.
If you students want a hard-working Senator, check my name, Guy Berger, as your choice on Election Day.
Thank you
Guy Berger

Paul Gaboury
Members of the Senior Class,
I am a Senior and a candidate for election for the Student Senate.
There are many things that must be done here at Bryant, many of which affect Seniors. Although I will graduate in January, '73, I will work to begin a process which will lead to the acceptance of the proposals which I now submit for consideration by the Students and Administration of the College.
My proposals are as follows:
1. That the Administration appoint an assistant to the Director of Placement whose sole responsibility will be to form and operate an aggressive CO-OP program. This program should be designed to place a student in a position which is in his major field of study before his graduation with the intention that he continues FULL-TIME upon graduation.
2. That a Career and Counseling Center for students be set up immediately. Bryant is solely lacking in this respect.
3. That an Assistant to the Director of Activities be appointed whose sole responsibility will be to aid the various clubs and associations in organizing, in planning activities, and in coordinating and advertising those activities so that the entire student body will benefit from the club's activities.
Again, I will graduate in January, '73, but if you as a SENIOR, wish to see my proposals implemented for the good of the entire student body, then VOTE. If not for me - for someone who has your confidence and can do the job.
Sincerely
Paul Gaboury, '73

More Crime Than Rhyme

BUFFALO, NEW YORK - A grand jury in Buffalo, New York is probing school library use of a book called "The Inner City Mothers' Goose." A judge said the book contains more crime than rhyme.

The books were purchased with Federal Model Cities Funds intended to improve life in the inner city.

Erie County Judge William Heffron told the October Grand Jury: "this is something I think you should look into. This book of so-called Nursery Rhymes advocates the commission of certain crimes.

The Judge read several poems from the volume, written by Eve Merriam, including this: "Jack be nimble, Jack be quick, snap the blade and give it a flick. Grab the purse, it's ready done. Then just for kicks, just for fun, plunge the knife and cut and run." Heffron said the modified version of ditties included at least eight rhymes that attack policemen and one verse that attacked a judge.

"We have to realize that 70 percent of the crime committed in this country is committed in a large city," the judge said. "To teach these little children to commit crimes is something I think should be stopped."

Special Report On Marijuana

by United Press International

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN - A controversial marijuana law that penalized violators with five dollar fines they could pay by mail has been declared unconstitutional in a surprise district court ruling.

Judge Sandor Eldon ruled yesterday that the five-dollar maximum penalty "is a question of intrusion of the legislative body of Ann Arbor in the judicial function of the state of Michigan."

The defendant in the case which brought forth the Judge's ruling tells it this way: "I couldn't believe it," says Glen Fuqua, who had pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana prior to the ruling.

"The defendant and I were standing there expecting to get socked with a $5 fine. And then this. For 20 minutes Eldon rapped on about it. We finally sat down and listened until he finished."

The Ann Arbor City Council had voted May 15th to enact the maximum $5 fine in the University of Michigan town. Voting for the measure were two council members of the Youth-Oriented Human Rights Party...and four democratic council members.

Eldon's court can assess a penalty of up to $100 for the possession, an extra $50 for each week in jail, a much higher penalty than provided in the city ordinance.

The ordinance-amended earlier this month to allow the fine to be paid by mail like a traffic ticket-has been the subject of controversy because of its lenient nature. Eldon adjourned sentencing for one week to allow Fuqua's attorney to file motions for a change of plea, if he wants to.

This Land Is Your Land

by Steve Devitt

BOULDER, COLORADO (CPS)- Rural America is abounding with Paul Reveres who spread warnings in small town bars and cafes every summer. "The hippies are coming! The hippies are coming!"

Several years ago when two motorcyclists entered Yellowstone National Park, rumors spread that the Hell's Angels were planning a take-over. When beer-drinking college campgrounds and be available to all forest officials at any time. Lands involved in the agreement include Roosevelt National Forest and the campgrounds of Olive Ridge, Peaceful Valley, Camp Dick, Braun Lake, Rainbow lakes and Kelly-Dahl, all of which are in Boulder County, northwest of Denver.

Forest Service and the sheriffs' department is in charge of the patrols. The agreement is being prepared with migrant fun seekers: if a transient camp is located on public lands with a population of 25 persons or more, the department is to begin two patrols a week serving that land with two-man patrol cars.

The agreement went into effect the last week of August, and, according to under-sheriff Dave Voorhis, the program is working well. But then, Voorhis views the project as a service. "Having a sheriff's officer in the mountains," he said, "provides the tourist with added security and access to society.

U.S. forest service standing around breathing hard, and maintaining that federal forests are not for sleeping. So those powers have banded together in Boulder County and have determined that this summer won't be the same next summer.

Under a new agreement between the U.S. forest service and Boulder County, the sheriff's department is required to patrol national forest lands and campgrounds and be available to all forest officials at any time. Lands involved in the agreement include Roosevelt National Forest and the campgrounds of Olive Ridge, Peaceful Valley, Camp Dick, Braun Lake, Rainbow lakes and Kelly-Dahl, all of which are in Boulder County, northwest of Denver.

Target: New York State

President was the underdog in the state, a line that now has been dropped. R. Burdell Bixby, the campaign manager, said the polls indicate "the greatest crossover of Democrats since Eisenhower in 1956." Nixon lost New York badly in his previous two presidential campaigns. But now Matthew Troy, the Queens Democratic Leader who is McGovern's National Urban Affairs Director, admits that McGovern would lose by 300 thousand votes if the election were held today. Rockefeller's strategy is to build the President's plurality in Republican upstate New York toward the 700 thousand vote level, while holding McGovern to a 400 thousand vote margin in Democratic New York City. This is the formula that won four terms for Rockefeller and three for Thomas E. Dewey.

A telephone poll by C-B-S showed the President ahead even in New York City, but Nixon campaign aides dismissed this result as "unrealistic." One high-level state worker says: "Right now our biggest opposition is the polls, complacency and the Democratic candidate, in that order."

Nixon isn't taking New York for granted. His tentative plans call for at least two more appearances in the state-one in the predominantly Republican suburb of Long Island and the other upstate in either Syracuse or Buffalo. It can be assumed Nixon will also make another stop in New York City close to election Vice President Spiro Agnew will also make two stops in the state, probably to address the Conservative Party Dinner in New York City and to visit Syracuse, the upstate G-O-P stronghold.

McGovern and Shriver are expected to keep up their weekly stops in the state. This week McGovern is bringing Senator Edmund Muskie along for a campaign trip to Buffalo, which has a heavy Polish population.

The Democratic candidates' appearances in New York State have been successful for the most part in terms of crowd response. But it appears that regular Democrats are not making their usual all-out effort on behalf of the presidential ticket.

BLACKOUT

(Washington)

-10/05-UPI-Senator John Pastore today warned National Football League Commissioner Pete Roselle that he must lift home football game television blackouts in a week.

Pastore made the comment unless the blackouts were lifted Congress may act to have them removed. He made the comment as baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn joined Roselle in opposing a Pastore bill which would end the blackouts. Pastore said, "I tell you very frankly, unless Mr. Roselle comes up with some answer in a week, this may go on some bill as a floor amendment."

Roselle testified yesterday against the plan and said he would consider Pastore's request that professional leagues end blackouts on a test basis. But Pastore says, "I think it went in one ear and will come out the other ear."

Bryant College Bowling Open

The Bryant College Bowling Open for the Benefit of the United Fund will be held from October 16 to 20. There will be three divisions. The Championship Division will be for both men and women bowlers with averages of 160 or more. There will be two other divisions-a Men's Division and a Women's Division.

Students, Faculty, and Staff can sign up at the Activities Office. The fee will be two dollars, which include three strings of bowling. Half of the fee will go to the United Fund.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three bowlers in each division. Coordination of this event is being handled by Don Dunne and Fred Wisburn.
Swim Team Ready for Season

A year ago, a group of interested Bryant students initiated a Bryant Swim Club on campus. Desiring to have a well organized club to realize a yearly swimming schedule and future varsity status, the Bryant Swim Club had only six students in membership last year, but their efforts paid off when John Johnson became the first Bryant swimmer to qualify in an intercollegiate race at NAIA championships last fall. It’s a new year, and there have been many noticeable changes within the club.

Mr. Folliard, the college athletic director has succeeded in scheduling the club’s first full swimming season. On that premise alone, the swim team’s membership has swollen to twenty-two members. Even though the swimming season does not begin until January 27 versus Southeastern Mass. University, the team has already been training over the last few weeks. Workouts are held five weeks a week or whenever possible, between the hours of three and four in the afternoon at Bryant College swimming pool, with Mr. Sussman at poolside for supervision. The team has currently set aside October 14 for time trials, but more about that later.

Regardless of how the team boasts twenty-two members, there is always room for more. Of now, the team still does not have any women swimmers. Unfortunately, there are no women’s or men’s divisions in swimming, but if a girl is superior to a man in any given event, she一碗m us! Thus, any participation by the girls on this campus can only help the team in the end. With the addition of Wayne Schorber, Bryant now lacks a sufficient group of divers for its diving team.

Baseball Captains Named

by John Kashmanian

Senior Brian Ahern, Jaws, and Chippeh Doppelt were selected as tri-captains of the 1973 Bryant College Varsity Baseball team.

Brian Ahern is the silent captain of the Bryant baseball team. He is an excellent defensive third baseman and a good, consistent hitter.

Jeff Doppelt was the second leading hitter on last years squad as he batted .324 and contributed several clutch hits to help the Indians win some key ballgames.

Veteran southpaw Jackie Balme is the leader of Bryant’s mound corps. In fact, by the close of the 1972 season, Jackie established himself as the ace of the Bryant staff as he led the Indians to a .600 record.

Boothers Defeat Stonehill
Jeff L. Goldberg

After last Saturday's disaster with the refs at Gordon, the Indians came home to convincingly defeat Stonehill. 31- Bill Flanagan continuing to burn opposing team goalies scored early in the first half on and from Tim Teixera. Bruce Lostoco scored what proved to be the game winner minutes later on an assist by Steve Leech, and Bill Flanagan came back at the end of the half with his second tally on an assist by Ken Nigro. All in all the first half looked good for Bryant. Stonehill rallied in the second half on a fine head shot by Jim Burton but that was to be it.

Bryant played well in the second half but appeared to be a little tired. That might have been from the result of only one full scrimmage this week. The team stuck together and another fine performance was turned in by goalie Tom Catto. Bob Bauer, Jim Teixera, and Hank Stepowski also played well for the Indians. The team opposes Nichols away and should continue on its winning ways.

The team has jelled together and if they continue at this pace they should make it to the playoffs. If anyone is interested in filling a few open positions they are welcome to come over to the field at 3:30 during the weekdays, or contact Coach Guay at the gym between 3:00 and 3:25.

You Can't Win Without A Team

Missaoula, Mt. (CPS) - The athletic department of the University of Montana is finding out that there can be "too much of a good thing.

The "good thing" is money which was allegedly given to students in the athletic department for working at non-existing jobs.

The money, estimated by Montana U.S. attorney Ottis L. Packwood at over $200,000, is provided 80 percent by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and 20 percent by the state. The funds were originally designated for student financial aid programs.

According to the indictment against George L. Mitchell, U.M. athletic vice president, and seven other members of the U.M. administration and athletic department, work records and job descriptions were classified and fraudulently checked from aid funds were made available to the university.

Among Mitchell's co-defendants are Harold Jack Swarthout, U.M. athletic director, U.M. business manager Calvin Murphy, George Heath Cote, U.M. basketball coach, two assistant football coaches and the U.M. track coach.

All of the defendants were charged on the first count with conspiring from January 1967 to April 1972 to defraud the U.S. government.

Maximum penalty upon conviction for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $10,000, with the same penalties applying for each false statement made to the government.

The Raiders have clearly established themselves as a top contender after an overwhelming 38-0 victory against Dorm 13.

Quarterback Bob Lennon led a mighty offense which seemed capable of moving the ball at will.

Complementing the offense was an awesome defensive effort which didn't permit Dorm 13 to advance past midfield.

For the second game in a row the passing combination of John Catto to Dave Bannon proved to be the margin of victory for the Veterans. Bannon hauled in a three TDs, including two in the first half and sent Bola's Best down to a 6-0 defeat.

Richard Petty has a good shot at an unprecedented fourth N.A.S.C.A.R. Grand National Driving Championship. Petty, who won Sunday's Wilkes 100 Stock Car Race in North Carolina, widened his lead to 187 points over Bobby Allison in the Winston Cup point race. Petty continues to lead in earnings with 218,000 to Petty's 183,000.

Boxing

Heavyweight Champion Joe Frazier has been offered 750,000 to defend his title against George Foreman in the Astrodome this year. Frazier already has been offered $200,000 by Montreal's A. Keenan on his contract. The previous mark of 35 was set by way Granger in 1970.

Veteran right hander Gaylord Perry believes he deserves to win the coveted Cy Young Award in the American League "as much as anybody else." Perry became Cleveland's first 24-game winner since Bob Feller posted 26 victories against 16 defeats. It included five shut outs and one save in relief. The Indians finished in fifth place in the American League Eastern Division.

Hockey

Its European hockey tour completed, Team Canada's prospects are returning to their respective National League Clubs and the future of international competition looks pretty strong. Coach Harry Staden says, "Canadian officials have made to firm arrangements," but he says, "they feel these games should be continued."

After winning the last three games with Russia to win the series, the Canadians played the reigning World Champion Czechs to a 3-all tie last Saturday night. Staden says, "the Czechs gave the Canadians a hard time." He says, "they play a similar brand of hockey" as Team Canada and "their body checking was the toughest" of Canada's European opponents, which also included Sweden.

College Athletics

Notre Dame Athletic Director " Moose" Krause reaffirmed his objection to the use of freshmen in varsity competition yesterday. Krause said the measure was passed "because the smaller schools wanted it." He also says the NCAA should be divided into two divisions because the larger schools have "problems that don't concern smaller ones" and vice versa.

Bryant Ties Gordon

Jeff L. Goldberg

In one of the most controversial moves in the history of Bryant athletics a talented soccer team led by Coach Gerry Quay, walked off the field in the protest of outrageous refereeing. Bryant anxious to continue in their winning ways took on a smaller team and drew first blood when Bill Flanagan scored on a pass from Ken Nigro. The first half ended with Bryant on top. This was not to be the case at the end of the contest. Bryant and Gordon started the second half and trouble began almost immediately.

Bryant's goalie Tom Catto, playing one of the best games this season came out of the goal and tried to gain possession of the ball, but got a firm grip on the ball and instead of a whistle being blown, play continued. With lots of bodied ball and on the flip side the cage Catto got kicked in the face but managed to keep the ball out. Bob Bauer was pushed and fell upon the ball. A penalty kicked them in the nose. Like gentlemen Bryant continued to play but at 16:06 of the period a goal by Pedersen of Gordon put the score tied at 1.0 and trouble continued. Catto, almost immediately, had half and trouble began. Gordon started the second half and trouble continued.

Beta Sigma Chi (13)

Philemon Pi (6)

Even though it was a losing cause, Phi Ep played their best game in the last four years. They managed to score two touchdowns, which is more than their total for the past four years. However, as it was a game, it was not considered a win as Phi Ep's组织实施 an off-side penalty. Although Phil Ep seemed to dominate the first half, Beta managed to score from a 50-yard bomb from QB Bob Deranna to wide receiver Bill Marshall. After the try for the touchdown was wide, it was Phil Ep's turn to get on the scoreboard, as Larry Norstrom on a half-back option hit TEP's Safety Bill Taylor in the endzone for six points, the extra point was also wide.

As they went into the close moments of the game, the score remained tied until Bob Griggs picked off a pass in a crowd setting up the final scoring drive for Beta. The final score came on a pass from Davanna to Reggie Spinella. The conversion was good and the final score was Beta-13 and Phi Ep-6.

Outstanding players on defense were Phi Ep's Bob Groenworth, and Beta's Bill Marshall as they both intercepted two passes.

KT (16) Phi Sig (0)

In the first half, defense and good punts kept both teams out of field position. The only scoring play came up on a 25-yard field goal by KT's "Sydney" Wilson.

Phi Sig did have one chance in the first half to score, as Ken Poole intercepted a stray Joe O'Hara pass and took it to KT's 15-yard line. But a strong defense stopped a very important Phi Sig offense as they blocked two passes and a fourth-down field goal attempt by Bill Taylor from the 20 yard line.

The second half was more consistent with past performances of KT as they scored twice, first on a pass from Joe O'Hara to Rick Lido, and the final score coming on a pass from back-up QB "Sydney" Wilson to "Froggy" Sproviero. The conversion was missed, but the final score was KT-16 and Phi Sig-0.

TE-13: DSP-7

A psyched up TE downed Delta Sig Sunday afternoon, 13-7. TE received the opening kickoff off and immediately marched downfield picking apart the DSP defense. The first touchdown came on a five-yard pass from QB Bob Bakerman to Bill Rose. Bakerman missed the extra point. Delta Sig then drove into TE territory but couldn't score. A second Delta Sig drive was stalled by an interception. The second half opened with a strong DSP drive but again they couldn't score. TE came back with a touchdown on a pass from QB Bakerman to Rod Beattie. The extra point was added by Bakerman, 13-0. The Delta Sig score came after a long drive, Q.B. Bakerman scored on an end around. Mike McGregor added the extra point making the score 13-7.

A strong rush by the TE line gave QB Bob Rhault a hectic time. DSP is now 2-2-0. TE won their 1st game. They are now 1-1-2.

TKE, 16 - TE, 14

Sam Abdo catching Bob Bakerman in the endzone proved to be the winning margin in the game for TKE. Undoubtedly the game of the week and perhaps the most exciting game of the year till date. As the first half began TKE took command in their usual fashion as TKE's Q.B. "Mountain" Lyons hit wide receiver Gary Cohen for a TD, and then pugly Sammy Greco picked off a stray Bakerman pass and returned it 25 yds. for TKE's second touchdown. Both conversions were good and as the first half ended it was 16-0, TKE.

But when the second half began it was a different story as the TE line pulled together and gave Bob Bakerman enough time to hit a series of sideline passes and then a final down and out to Bob Beattie for six.

As TKE started back up field a very inspired TE line led by Rick Fieldman and Ed Schwartz pressured Lyons into throwing a pass wide and into the arms of Bob Bakerman. Bakerman then started all over again picking the TKE secondary apart and his final score coming on a 15 yard pass play to Jay Goldberg. As time ran out the final score was TKE 16 and TE 14. TE had lost but not before the proved the TKE defense could be broken as the scored the first points of the year against the very strong TKE defense.
