Student Senate
Open House Huge Success

Tuesday night the Student Senate of Bryant College sponsored an Activities night in the Rotunda to allow new as well as old students to become acquainted with the various activities on campus. The Senate had hoped to bring together Greeks, independents, and freshmen in a united effort to obtain support for the activities.

Students were given the opportunity to talk to the Club Presidents and find out first hand what the Clubs are all about.

Attendance at the Activities’ night was described as somewhat disappointing in that higher attendance was expected, but Senate officers termed the event successful anyway.

These students who supported the Clubs and participated in the event obtained the information they desired and availed themselves of the opportunity to become more involved in Bryant life.

For those students who were unable to attend the Activities’ night, we are printing below the results of a summary interview with the Club Presidents regarding the goals and functions of their organizations.

Paul Gaboury spoke on behalf of the newly formed SCUBA-DIVING CLUB and displayed various pieces of diving equipment.

The Club consists of anyone interested in this sport and who has taken or is willing to take a basic course in scuba-diving. The Club will sponsor a course within the next few weeks which will be limited to 24 persons. It will meet two nights a week for six weeks, and will be taught by qualified diving instructors. The course fee will be $45.

Bob Viens, President of the VETERANS’ CLUB, explained the main purpose of the Vets’ Club as a “social club.”

“We are trying to do now is hold social functions where veterans can get together and have themselves a good time.” It is hoped that veterans will use this opportunity to become active members of the college community.

“It gives us a chance to be near little kids, and we’re all perverts,” was the comment facetiously made by Bob Ireland on behalf of BRYANT COLLEGE YOUTH GUIDANCE. However, Bob was really representing the ECOLOGY CLUB, an organization pursuing the goal of cleaning our environment.

Kenny Kopf, President of the ROTUNDA, a Big Brother type organization, says that the club enables Bryant students to provide recreation and guidance for underprivileged youngsters. All new applicants are screened by a committee to eliminate insincere individuals from the program. It is probably the most useful and worthwhile organization on campus.

Akso, sometimes known as Itbar Nerral, a Bryant student from Kenya, Africa, spoke as a head of the INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS’ ORGANIZATION. “It is for all the international students on this campus, and is open to all the American students, also. We are really looking forward to people coming to join us.” The organization offers students the opportunity to socialize with students from other countries.

Representing DELTA OMEGA’s Executive Board were Scott Gallant, Steve Gallant, Charlie Drago, Kathy Gormes, and Randall Turk. DELTA OMEGA is a professional society that sponsors speakers’ dinners. Dinners are both entertaining and informative and enable students to socialize in a business atmosphere. Steve Vallente said, “Basically, what we try to do is get together with leaders in today’s business world. We have dinner with them and then we have an informal discussion.”

The INVESTMENT CLUB is “basically to familiarize the members with the workings of the Stock Market and various stocks,” according to Greg Evans. A student makes an initial investment of $5 a month although this is not mandatory every month.

Ken Lillejebach describes the ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION as an “organization exclusively for accounting majors, which has as its objectives the familiarization of the various opportunities in the field of accounting.” The Association also offers tutoring services to students.

Choice or Chance

On November 7th, young people between the ages of 18 and 21 will be given a chance to exercise a right never before available to them. This day could go down in history as the day that American youth began to take an active part in the electoral process. Although the newly enfranchised voters have, in some cases, gone to the polls last year for Senatorial races, November will be the first time a President will have to appeal to college age students.

To talk about change is fine; to argue that the change is not needed is also acceptable; but to sit back and not let your voice be heard is a crime. We must let the rest of America know that today's young voters are interested and actively participating in deciding the destiny of our country. The means are at hand, let's not waste them.

It is very important that everyone gets to the polls and votes. Vote Democrat, vote Republican. How you vote doesn't matter. We must show the politicians that young people care about their country.

For those students who have not registered yet, the Town of Smithfield will register you at the Town Hall on Farmouse Pike. If you would prefer to vote at your parent's address, registration by mail is now available in most states. In a case where a student is registered at his home, but will not be able to go and vote, absentee ballots can be used. We must caution, however, that most states require that all absentee ballots be mailed at least 30 days prior to the date of the election.

It is the responsibility of every citizen to vote. It is hard to criticize an elected official if you didn't bother to vote against him. As history says, "Shit or get off the pot."

A Matter Of Good Taste

Richard S. Woolf

Last Tuesday morning, as I normally do, for I, like many, am a creature of habit, went to the dining hall and requested scrambled eggs. After a few forkfuls, I realized that something was drastically wrong with the taste and texture of the scrambled eggs. Finishing the rest of my breakfast, I proceeded to find one of the assistant managers from A.R.A. After relating my story to one of the people, she immediately went to the egg supply to find out that, sure enough, that particular batch of egg batter had gone sour.

Naturally, it was the kitchen's fault for not taste-testing the eggs before they were given to the students; but that is not necessarily the point I am trying to make. By the time I had arrived, in excess of 75 people had already had breakfast. Now of course, not all of them had scrambled eggs; but a certain percentage of those people did have them, yet no one took the trouble to file a similar complaint.

How in the world will the people from A.R.A. know if something is wrong unless someone tells them? That same evening, a petition was circulated condemning A.R.A. for not being receptive to students' needs. How absurd can you be? The people from A.R.A. know that there are problems that must be overcome; but if the students take the easy way out by merely writing their signatures on a piece of paper rather than taking the time or the little effort it takes to talk to the managers, how will effective change ever become the rule of the day? The Food Service Committee sponsored by the Student Senate is working to bridge that gap which in the past has been widened by the majority of students.

There are other instances in which students have been instrumental in making changes in the dining service. The contour shape of the staircase leading to the serving lines caused a problem which involved the salad and condiment bar. When a student shuffled his way along the walkway above the condiment bar, it was highly likely that he might kick dirt into the food below. But because one student spoke up, a change was made and the problem was remedied.

There are other, lesser incidents I could relate; but my point is clear. If you feel something is wrong with the food, report it. I can assure you, you will change it.

What Do Bryant College Students Have To Do To Get A Radio Station

Dear Editor,

What are the criterion for a radio station at Bryant?

Many interested students —

A radio club of two years organization —

A foundation of ideas and policies, an outside Radio Engineer profounds admission for —

Experienced members in all aspects of running a radio station —

Two hard working Deans, Dean Kurtz and Dr. Fullerton, both thoroughly knowledgeable on the WBCS proposal and experienced.

And straight forward upper administration support for the station?

We at WBCS have all of the above.

Then what are we lacking?

Money!!

I honestly believe this school wouldn’t put its money where its mouth is; and that we, the students are being callously handled until “they” can be bothered with us.

I qualify this from two years of working with this administration realistic and run arounds.

We also worked out a very realistic proposed budget to be included in this summers school budget. Not under appropriations but funding under the stations account (a loan) to be used when the stations FCC’s FM or AM license was received.

Somehow, this budget was “forgotten”!! The school budget is made up in July-August we submitted a proposed budget in May. Once the engineer’s report comes in on our Federal Communications Commission proposal, before the end of this month, where does that leave us and with what?

It leaves us with nothing visibly tangible; a lot of hard work and a lot of dreams.

Why send in a FCC application when you don’t have any money to back it up with?

What I would like is straight honest answers. About money, and the date the administration seriously wants a station. I am lead to believe it could be as late as September 1974; or 1977, maybe 1984!

I close my article with this supposition.

Is it true that a service or article advertised in writing: that part of a bigger service if bought and not rendered is "extra".

I am referring for example to the Freshmen orientation pamphlet, the welcome to Bryant folder which shows the incoming freshmen a radio station in the upper level picture of the Unistructure. I also have been lead to believe that there are other articles where this “misleading information is printed. I wonder what the Law Department would have to say as representatives of the students.”

Also as a point of information, I was told there wasn’t any “extra” money this year of any type-period. Where did the resources for this years many physical improvements come from may I ask?

If you can read in between the lines you can understand my concern over the administration policy of benign neglect. I see of the radio station deeply appreciate the firm backing of Dean Kurtz during the last 1000 days and the understanding of his secretary, Mrs. Brown.

A reaction meeting will be held Tuesday, September 26 at 3:00 in the Radio Room.

Stephen Boulter
President WBCS

The Student Senate?

Dear Editor,

Is it true that more interested students are attending the Student Senate Meetings than Senators?

Is it true that, only eight (8) Senators attended each of the last two meetings?

Is it true that the ten (10) remaining Senators will be convened this Monday, September 26th?

Is it true that there will be elections held for ten openings in the Senate in the following week or two?

Is it true that most of the eight Senators Monday will finally be able to do the work of all the Senate (as they have done at times in the past) because there will be a new quarter?

Is it true that, the unattending Senators motivations are the same old cut-out, or do they have original ones?

Is it true every student with a 2 classification and up should and could be a Senator?

Is it true that, the "Senate" is going to enact a common sense rule of fairness—a produce or leave rule, or a clean house rule ever seven, fourteen, and twenty-one weeks?

Is the Senate a tool of the Administration?

Is it true an institution whose sole purpose is to fill a number of pages in THE ARCHWAY and Ledger each year?

A Monday Afternoon Senator

Why No Hazing?

TO A MISINFORMED REPORTER:

After reading the interview with Dr. Fullerton that was printed in last Friday’s ARCHWAY, it is rather annoying to discover that the Vice President for Student Affairs has been misinformed as to one major fraction of the student body—the GREEKS. In the interview, Richard Woolf described an “assimine” incident he witnessed during pledging last semester and inquired to see if there would be any change in the pledging policy. Dean Fullerton’s reply to the question was that any hazing whatsoever would be eliminated immediately.

We can hardly imagine an instance occurring as was described by Richard Woolf. The fraternities, contrary to what some independents may claim, are not "sadists" who inflict pain on the pledges. Each and every pledge is considered on an individual basis. None is MADE to do any act that is contrary to his wishes.

Fraternities and sororities are selective groups of individuals who are bound together by similar interests. To reiterate, NO individual wishing to join a group of this nature is forced to go through any acts contrary to his moral beliefs. In addition, a pledge may quit at any time if he so desires.

Since Dean Fullerton has been presented with such biased information by such individuals as Richard Woolf, and has made rash decisions based on the facts he has been presented with, we invite him to expose himself to the fraternities and sororities for the actual picture of how the Greeks operate on this campus. Why didn’t Dean Fullerton check with the Greeks before instituting new rules governing these organizations or at least speak to the G.L.C. President, Steve Benn, concerning Green activities on campus?

Such an anti-fraternal attitude as was published in last week’s ARCHWAY will only weaken the students respect for the new Dean, as well as the Greeks. It is hoped that Dean Fullerton will change his attitudes immediately and reconsider any past statements he has made.
Delta Sigma Phi
Sponsors Second Annual
Freshman Queen Weekend

On September 28, 29, and 30, Delta Sigma Phi, the Fraternity Pi chapter of Bryant College, will once again sponsor the Annual Freshman Queen Weekend.

Each Fraternity selects one freshman girl to represent them in competition. The girls will be judged in bathing suits and in evening gowns. They will also be asked questions for which they will be judged on personality and poise. This event will take place on Thursday night at eight p.m. in the Auditorium.

The highlight of the weekend will be the Coronation Ball on Friday night, September 29, at eight p.m. in the Elks Lodge (next to Gulliver's). It is at this time that the new Freshman Queen for 1972-73 will be crowned. Music will be provided by "Nasty Jack." Saturday night at eight p.m., there will be a concert in the Rotunda. The group will be provided by Fantasma Productions, and will be announced at a later date.

Tickets can be obtained all next week in the Rotunda, or from any brother of Delta Sigma Phi.

Don't Miss
Last Days To Register

Do you know you may have only a few days left to register to vote in the November election? Although registration deadlines vary nationwide, most local election boards stop registration about a month before the election—so you had better act immediately. Call your elections board to find out where and how to register.

And remember: Close to 60 percent of all eligible first-time voters had registered by early summer, but almost all organizations registering young voters are hoping the percentage of registered young voters will equal or surpass the percentage of non-young voters, usually about 75 percent by election time for a Presidential election.

The student vote, a non-partisan voter registration organization, is planning a "Campus Clean-Up" program to maximize registration on all college campuses across the country. For information and posters, bumper stickers, etc., write to them c/o Neal Zimmerman, 43 Ivy Street, S. E., Washington, D.C. 20003.

Bryant College Welcomes New Faculty Members

LORETTA P. LUKOWICZ of West Warwick, R.I., is a new Assistant Professor of Secretarial and Office Education. A graduate of Bryant College with the B.A. degree of B.S. in B.E., Miss Lukowicz earned the M.Ed. degree at Brown University. Academic positions held prior to her appointment at Bryant were at Springfield Technical Community College and North Kingstown High School.

RONALD F. COX of Providence, R.I., has been appointed Assistant Professor of Accounting. A summa cum laude graduate of Harvard Law School and Brown University, he holds the A.S. degree from that college and the B.B.A. degree from Providence College and Rhode Island State University, where he graduated magna cum laude. He also earned the M.B.A. degree from Babson College. Presently a candidate for the Ph. D. degree at the University of Texas, he held faculty positions at Ohio University and the University of Texas.

ELIZABETH A. PALTER of Plainville, Massachusetts, appointed as Instructor in Political Science, with the B.A. degree from the University of Massachusetts and the M.A. degree from Brown University, is now candidate for the Ph. D. degree at the University of Massachusetts. Before joining the Bryant College faculty, Palter was Assistant Professor of Government at Holyoke Community College. Previously, she held the position of Assistant to the Town Manager, Amherst, Massachusetts.

JANICE L. WHITE of Arlington, Texas, is a new Instructor in English. Holding degrees of B.A. and M.A. from the University of Texas and the University of Mississippi respectively, Mrs. White is a doctoral candidate at the University of Pennsylvania. Her other teaching positions have been at W.E. Boswell High School, University of North Georgia, Arkansas State College and Blue Mountain College. She was Administrative Assistant to the Vice President at Pace College prior to her appointment at Bryant.

DEBORAH McQUEEN of Providence, R.I., has been appointed Assistant in English. She holds the degree of B.A. from Miles College and the M.A. from Brown University.

VERNON WILLIAMS of Providence, R.I., a native of Texas, is a new Instructor in Accounting. He holds the B.A. degree from the University of Texas at Austin, and was an Instructor at the University of Rhode Island.

NADINE B. HOVE of Providence, R.I., is a new Instructor in Secretarial and Office Education. Miss Hove earned the B.S. degree at Rhode Island College and the M.S. degree at State University of New York at Albany. She has held positions at Moultrie High School in Georgia and Albay High School.

FRANK A. PONTARELLI is a new Special Lecturer in Biology. Mr. Pontarelli graduated summa cum laude from Bryant College in 1968, where he earned his B.S. and M.B.A. degrees. He is working toward the Certificate of Advanced Study at Rhode Island College.

Mr. Pontarelli taught at North Providence High School as a Biology Consultant in Vocational Education and Business Education in the State Department of Education.

PAULINE SIMONEAU of North Providence, R.I., is a new Instructor in English. She holds the B.A. degree from Rhode Island College and the M.A. in English from Providence College.

WILLIAM M. F Buccaneen of Providence, R.I., has been appointed Instructor in History. He has taught at Rogers High School and is a member of Phil Alpha Theta Honorary History Society.

NEIL H. ZIMMERMAN of Warwick, R.I., formerly of Russell Springs, Kentucky, is a new Instructor in Economics. Mr. Zimmerman holds the B.A. degree from Western Kentucky University and the M.B.A. degree from the University of Kentucky and Western University.

He was an Assistant Professor at Western Kentucky University from 1965 to 1969.

PETER J. BONGIORNI of East Greenwich, R.I., has been named Special Lecturer in Accounting. Mr. Bongiorni earned his B.S. degree from St. Michael's College, Vermont and the M.B. degree from Columbia University.

He held the position of Lecturer at Northeastern University, and from 1965-1972 held administrative positions in the accounting field with several business organizations in Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

STEVEN COBB of Providence, R.I., a teaching assistant at Brown University for several years, has been appointed to the Department of Economics. Mr. Cobb holds the B.A. degree at the University of Vermont and his M.A. degree at Brown.
INSIGHT

The Creator

by JoAnne Goddard

As I sit here and read your wisdom and then see what we have done to everything you have given us, I can begin to understand your feelings.

You create something of use, and then men destroy it without being thankful. Man was given water to quench his thirst, air to breath, fire for warmth, and wild life to protect him. Instead of using them to his advantage, he took them for granted. Factory wastes are burnt up and the polluting smoke goes into the atmosphere. Garbage is thrown carelessly into man’s water supply. Some people use fire for the purpose of destruction. Animals are killed for pleasure and food. Man has been created with certain ideals. He was taught that he should not steal, kill, use the Lord’s name in vain, disturb another man’s belongings, commit adultery, or slander another man. Yet man steals to get what he does not have. He sells for revenge and out of selfishness. He uses the Lord’s name as he would use any other common word. He disturbs another man’s belongings for spite. He commits adultery for his own pleasure or because of his unhappiness. He slanders another man in order to make himself appear better. The purpose of man is for him to help, and not to destroy, his fellow man.

Man was created a pure and simple being, but now he is corrupt and complex. As I see, hear, touch, smell, and taste all you have created and what has become of it, I wonder if it was worth your time and wisdom. “The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away.” Maybe in the end you will take back the changes you have given man.

A New World

I can remember the tiny bugs climbing up the thin blades of green grass, the flowers swaying with the wind, white snow in the field making everything look so peaceful, and the rain that appeared to be tears falling from the sky; but those days are over. Now I have to rely on my other senses to see the world around me.

At first it was difficult to accept and adjust to my new world, but now all my other senses have become very intense. Ordinary sounds became things to fear. Now common foot steps seemed to be walking towards me and not with me. Voices became louder, and it seemed as if everyone hated me and wanted revenge. At times it is painful to touch things with my hands because they have become so sensitive. It was a pleasure to eat because food became more tasteful, but there were times when I wished that I had a cold so I could avoid smelling the world around me. It has taken time, but I have learned to live with my new world. In fact, there are times when I am glad that I am not able to see the world I live in. With my loss of sight I can see more now than I have ever seen before. Maybe more people should lose their sight so that they can see, too.

COMMUTER CORNER

The Crush Is On

by E. McLaughlin

Commuters unfortunate enough to have faced that icy-cold wind which sweeps down from the Northwest, gathers momentum traversing the rolling hills of Smithfield, and eventually scours the parking lot know the agony of frozen fingers, block-like feet and body temperature significantly below normal. Well commuters, due to the noticeable increase in enrollment, anyone arriving after 9 a.m. will probably find himself curbing his car near the fringes of the tree line and trekking the seemingly endless distance to the Unistructure. It probably only a rumor, but I have heard talk that the security people are training St. Bernards for rescue missions in the parking lot, with the Ruthskellar providing an assortment of legs for purely “medicinal” purposes. It might be wise to carry a few emergency survival articles in your car, (sleeping bag, snow shoes and signal flares), just in case you find bucking a 40 mph wind impossible one morning.

One other wild speculation on my part: Even with all parking places available, by 10 a.m. the lot is nearly full. What will happen when mountains of plowed snow overflow into the lot, burying 10% of the slots as happened last winter? (Tow your car, buddy? Only 10 backs this week.)

Never A Dull Moment

by Bob Ireland

Rod Stewart's newest release, NEVER A DULL MOMENT, is his ninth album in four years--it just happens that this is his best yet. Ever since his days with the Jeff Beck group, Rod has been threatening to record a masterpiece but has usually fallen short due primarily to the lack of suitable material. For this album, however, Stewart has found the ideal material to compliment his inimitable rasp. The Four Stewart - Wood - Quittenton written tunes work well, as in the past, but the real difference is the addition of Jimi Hendrix's "Angel" and Bob Dylan's "Mama You Been on My Mind."

A big plus for Rod is his ability to recruit some of the finest sidemen in rock to record with him. The guitar of Ronnie Wood and drumming of Mick Wallen are faultless. It should also be mentioned that some tasty work by Britain's premier steel guitar player, Gordon Huntley, helps to make the album that much more enjoyable.

A review of this album wouldn't be complete without a few words about "Twistin' the Night Away." Stewart's version of the legendary Sam Cooke classic rates as one of the best rock and roll tunes in a long, long time. If you can't boogie to this one, brother, you can't boogie at all!

One Third Of Rural Rhode Island Estimated To Suffer From Poverty

The plight of Rhode Island's urban poor has been well chronicled of late, and today it is a generally accepted fact that poverty has pulled up an armchair and installed itself comfortably in our cities' ghettos. As a result, little attention has been paid to poverty in the rural areas; and few Rhode Islanders realize that where rural poverty exists within our state, it has reached tragic dimensions.

The rural poverty of our state can be closely related to the miners' hovels in Appalachia, the migrant workers' huts in the south west, or the sharecroppers' shacks in the deep south. The Census Bureau has recently released figures on the rural poverty situation.

There are also 6,854 families whose yearly income ranges from less than $1,000 to less than $6,999. The census figures do not indicate how many individuals are in each family; but if one takes the standard estimate of four members, one gets an estimated 27,416 individuals in the 6,854 families earning less than $7,000 annually. This figure of $7,000 annual income is slightly under the acceptable minimum income for a family of four, according to information provided in March, 1972, by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the R.I. Department of Labor.

Therefore, of the 123,584 Rhode Islanders classified as rural by the 1970 census, an estimated 45,024—or slightly over 34 percent—are poor. This percentage is higher than an estimate of the percentage of poor among the total urban and suburban population.

The invisibility of the rural poor plays such an important part in explaining the public's ignorance of their plight. There are several reasons for this ignorance toward the rural poor. One is public indifference. In a world where everyone has to struggle, it is difficult to feel sorry for the unknown individual who is being overwhelmed by the struggle.

Another reason is the tenacious pride of the rural resident who is not anxious to have the stigma of welfare attached to him and who, unlike his urban counterpart, is generally ignorant of the welfare benefits to which he is entitled. He feels that no matter how severe his problems may be, he should be able to get along by himself, as his forefathers did.

A third reason—perhaps the most significant—is that rural poverty in Rhode Island is largely invisible. The suburban Rhode Islander living in a modest home, only a few miles from his home in the country, would probably find it incomprehensible that five to ten percent of the families in his neighborhood live in a tumbledown house with no water, no furniture in the living room except for a broken-back chair, no windows in the window panes.

Nor would this suburban Rhode Islander understand that this family does not complain about the basic violations of the housing code in this home because it fears that the landlord, who is charging only $25 monthly rent, will evict them.

For another Rhode Islander, one who is accustomed to eating well and only compromising occasionally on the type of meat he buys at the supermarket, it would probably seem incomprehensible that two or three miles from his home there lives a man who must walk two miles to the country store once a week—enough during the winter to buy food which the welfare department pays for. Since this man's earnings are derived largely from outdoor employment such as lawn mowing, he only earns as much as $15 during a good week in the summer and almost nothing in the winter.

And so most Rhode Islanders, with their indifference or ignorance, rarely see an example of rural poverty. This indifference, for rural poverty in Rhode Island has reached the dimensions of a serious economic, social and political problem. The only help for the poor of Rhode Island lies with the society. Steps are being taken to help the poor of Rhode Island and the poor of America, but more must be done to assure the wellbeing and survival of these Americans.

The results of these statistics indicate that 123,584 or slightly over 13 percent of Rhode Island's total population of 4,679,723 live in rural areas. How many of these 123,584 people are poor? The income data on the fourth census count of 1970 offers these facts:

There are 15,608 unrelated individuals whose income ranges from less than $1,000 per year to less than $4,899.

SERVITIUM CLUB PLANS OCTOBER FEST

Tom Paraguilla: Sanitation/Engineering Committee, Roger Gadwa. Institutional Management majors were given an opportunity to see how a "Better Cup of Coffee" is made. Mr. John Fast, from Pan American Coffee Institute, gave an excellent lecture on the background, production, and preparation of coffee. His company is a non-profit organization which assists Institution managers that find coffee a necessary item in their daily business. The company's services are free of charge to requesting organizations.

At the first meeting of the Servitium Club this semester, the members were asked to plan the 1973 "October Fest." It will be held here at Bryant on October 14th. The beer will flow, bratwurst will be sold, and all this will be done to the sounds of a Bavarian Band. The exact time and location will be published at a later date.

Various members of the club were assigned tasks as committee chairmen. Their jobs are to organize and carry out a successful "FEST." The committees and their respective chairs are as follows: Beer Committee, Paul Kelly and Rich Burgess; Administrative Committee, John Polk and Mike LaFrance; Food Committee, John Fast and Michael A. Lambiase; Fund Raising Committee, Mike Lombardi and Mike Enlow; Dance Committee, John Polk and John Fast; Music Committee, Mike Enlow and Mike Lombardi; and Cheerleading Committee, Paul Kelly and Rich Burgess.

I am offering a ten dollar ($10) reward for any information concerning the whereabouts and recovery of one General refrigerator and combination stove. It was last known to be in the basement lounge in Dorm 3, stored according to all rules and regulations set up by the Student Senate last semester. Hint: Do not contact the following parties as they know little or nothing of this matter.

1. The Student Senate
2. Mr. Pat Moses
3. Dean Kurtz
4. Mr. Barry Fullerton, V. Pres. for Student Affairs
5. Office of Plant and Purchasing
6. Mr. Philip Graf, Assistant to the President
7. Office of Business Affairs

Hint: You may be able to obtain some useful information from Fred Leonard of the Student Senate, if you can find him. A person of "authority" in the Student Senate said that he (Leonard) was in charge of the refrigeration storage. If you have any information, contact Wayne Spears, P.O. Box 2183, or Dorm 8.

Are you a pusher?

by Albert J. McAloon Psychology Department

We learn early in life that our educational system forces us to compete in most areas of life. The ulcers come much later, but studies show that some of us are just naturally "pushers." Others are naturally passive.

Where do you fall in? Try this little test for a preliminary run-down of your propensity or lack of it to "push." Be honest with yourself.

1. Do you usually think you are right?
2. Have you a clear-cut ambition with a definite program to achieve?
3. Would you change school or job if you thought it would improve your chances for future success?
4. Are you quick to spot an opportunity and act on it without delay?
5. Do you often take the leader act on your own initiative?
6. Are you quick to weigh up your chances and act accordingly?
7. Would leaving the "group" and going it "alone" bother you?
8. Do you ask strangers for information?
9. Do setbacks challenge you or depress you into inactivity? 10. When you fail, do you pick yourself up and try again?
11. When you know you are right, or on to a "good thing" do you persist or waver?
12. Can you talk about love of self without embarrassment? Enjoy the limelight?
13. Do you receive quick attention from service employees?
14. If there is a mistake in the bill, or a service is not up to standard, do you grumble or complain to the manager? Benefit of doubt to offender?
15. Do you enjoy a "battle" as coping with an awkward person or trouble shooting?
16. Do you tend to be defensive with people you consider superior to you?
17. Do you appear to see the other's viewpoint but manage to get your own way?
18. Do you enjoy meeting new people?
19. Do you like going out or being quiet?
20. Is it unusual for people to fail to remember you?
21. Count five marks for every "Yes." A score of 70 plus shows a solid degree of "pushiness" or aggressiveness. Fifty to sixty is fair balance, while 60 or 70 is satisfactory. A below 50 score indicates a very "reining" nature. Too retiring you're your own good. You have the right (and from a mental health viewpoint, the responsibility) to seek your own fulfillment(s). If you fail flat on your face, pick yourself up and try again, but give enough reflection on the cause of the fall. It may be a simple matter of learning how to tell jokes or approach a date.

Your ability to work in "groups" will help determine your success in meeting your own inner needs. There are yard gauge, office staff, work crews, each with its own personality structure; some like team work while a research team will team will even go, objectives, but often show extreme individuality in reaching for the goal.

A favorable climate for the best interpersonal relationships where each personality will have room for expression but not undue domination will be characterized by: 1) Consideration of the rights and feelings of all members of the group. 2) Initiation of ideas or structure by the leader through solicitation of ideas from members supported by factual information on the group's (company) progress. The older "pusher" is usually the bane of my organizational work and usually can be ascribed to a psychological drifter. No roots in anything. Big mouth with a near zero record in playing the trump card in orchestration. Channel your energy for the common good, and your own peace of mind will be deeply enhanced.

Pennant Fever seems to have struck the people of New England who see that the Boston Red Sox may have a championship in the group of their hands. Four teams, the Baltimore Orioles, Detroit Tigers, New York Yankees, and the Red Sox are now fighting in a battle which is definitely the closest race since the realignment of divisions back in 1969.

The Baltimore Orioles, odds-on favorite of all pre-season polls are now beginning to show signs of life. With four twenty game winners, the only drawback the Orioles do have is the lack of timely hitting. The absence of Frank Robinson who was traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers is hurting the team immensely. Without Robinson, dissension has caused the Orioles not to be as loose as they have been in the previous three years, when during each year, they romped to the American League Flag.

The Detroit Tigers are probably the best balanced team of all four contenders. With a tough leader like Billy Martin as manager, the Tigers will be sure to fire up for the title drive. Detroit has many veterans on its team, most of them leftovers from the World Championship team of 1968. Of the Tigers hitting comes through they are surely the team to beat. The New York Yankees are beginning to taste the pennant for the first time in eight years. Lack of confidence and inexperience appear to be the Yankee's basic problems. One major asset the Yankees do have is the excellent pitching of Sparky Lyle currently the most consistent reliever in all of baseball.

This year's Yankee team has already fulfilled more than many observers had thought it would. Probably the role of this year's Yankee team is that of the spoiler. If the Yankees do pull through it is not because they won the title, it is because the other three teams lost it.

The Red Sox have the schedule on their side in that they do play the majority of their remaining games at home. After Luis Tiant, the Red Sox pitching is not too consistent, with Sonny Ledell and Ray Calp out the Red Sox have had to force Lynn McGlothlin and John Curtis to fill the pitching rotation.

The Red Sox do benefit from having a well balanced lineup. Led by probable Rookie of the Year, Carlton Fisk, Rico Petrocelli, Reggie Smith and Carl Yastrzemski, who has recently been moved to first base, the Boston hitting has indeed been timely. During certain instances outright explosive.

Looking over all four teams is looks as though Detroit will cop the division flag. If Detroit fails, look for Boston and Baltimore to fight it out. The Yankees stand an outside chance, but inexperience will definitely hold them back.

Table Tennis Anyone?

Last year some student started a Bryant College Table Tennis Team. Over one hundred students went out for the team, and the best ten were chosen. The students that started the team were seniors and lost interest, so the team never played in a tournament.

This year, Bryant College was invited to join a Table Tennis league in Providence. The league consists of Brown, RIC, RIC, and a few other Rhode Island Colleges, to form an eight team league. I have seen the other colleges play last year, and I feel Bryant has a good chance of winning if there is enough interest. (Brown won the league last year over RIC in the final match).

If any student is interested in trying out for the team, please contact Ned Goldman at 353-4731, or Howard Schreiber in Dorm 13, Room 141. The Table Tennis Team will not only need student support, but also financial support from the Athletic Department to cover cost of the league and possible equipment.

Hockey Club Starts

Coach Bob Reall of Roger Williams College has indicated that he would like to work with Bryant students interested in forming a Bryant HOCKEY CLUB.

Initially, he would like to have interested students who live locally sign up in the AThletic Department. Hopefully this would begin during the school Christmas vacation break of December 20th, to January 24th, provided there is enough interest and if ice-time can be obtained.

These would be organized practices with the hope of obtaining scrimmages against other teams in January and February.

3:30—UNITED FUND GAME!
Faculty Prepares For Annual Grid Clash With Students

T h e A n n u a l F a c u l t y / S t u d e n t U n i t e d F u n d

The Faculty/Student United Fund game will be played Thursday, September 28, at 3:30 p.m.; and as Dr. Evarts said, "we will win this year."

At first glance, this statement may seem rash; but after careful evaluation of the faculty personnel, Dr. Evarts may be quite right. The faculty defensive line is made up of massive Peter Babbit (276), Barry (Doc) Fullerton (228), and Joe Fowlkes (235). They sometimes don’t come that big in the pros. And speaking of pros, Joe Fowlkes played professional baseball in the Philadelphia organization.

The team will be coached by Dr. Evarts, and Morris Perlow (pictured in comic) will play my hero, I figure. Morris will be the deciding factor. A good game from him (maybe one tag) could be the difference!

Coach Evarts figures that his "B" team (and wait until you see them) will totally surprise and confuse the students. The starting team is rounded out with Pat Keeley, Dan Tita, Leon Drury, John Gilloy, and Phil Graf. The most notable of which is Leon Drury, Drury, a former college basketball star at Springfield, has a world of talent that is awaiting the students.

The faculty is blessed with secretaries as cheerleaders, but with Louis (the Lip) Perlow, you might not notice them. The Indian mascot will also be present on the side of the faculty. All in all, it looks like we’ll be in for a pretty good game. My prediction is that somewhere along the line, the faculty is going to suffer an interception and Joe B. is going to split the uprights for a 3-0 student win. Maybe you can do better. See you all at the game!

Intramural Football Results

by Stephen Botwinoff

The Thunder Thumpers and the Freshmen kicked off the independent intramural football season Wednesday afternoon. The Freshmen won 6-0 on a first half touchdown pass giving the Veterans a 6-0 victory over the Degenerates. The play came midway through the second half and broke up a tight defensive struggle.

Attention Bowlers

All students interested in bowling should start getting their four-man team rosters ready to hand in. Everyone is welcome — Prats, Independents, Commutes, and Co-Eds, too!

Baseball Team Begins Fall Season

by John Kashmanian

For the third consecutive year, the Bryant College Baseball Team has begun its fall workouts.

A large turnout of more than forty players have participated in the workouts, reaffirming the significance and importance of baseball in the Bryant College Athletic Program. Of these forty or so there are thirteen returning veterans led by seniors Brian Ahern, Jackie Balme, and Jeff Doppelt.

Due to graduation, the Indians have lost the services of four players from the 1972 squad. They are Paul Tillinghurst, Bob Delvecchio, and the exceptional keystone combination of Bob Antignano and the great Matt Bernardo. Their presence will be sorely missed as the Indians strive to better their 1972 record of 9-7.

BICYCLE CLUB

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in joining the Bicycle Club on Monday, September 25, at 3:00 p.m. in Mr. Olinsky’s office (number 216). If you are interested in joining the club and cannot get to the meeting, contact Mr. Olinsky in his office when it is convenient for you.

After a rigorous training camp that marked the return of fourteen veterans, the Bryant College Indians Soccer Team was the victor over Worcester State by the score of 2-0.

Worcester State drew first blood when Jerry Reals scored from about ten feet out. At that time, the Indians' squad looked sloppy but quickly came alive when Bill Flannigan put the Indians on the scoreboard at 32:05 in the second half. The game was clearly in Bryant's hands from that point on. Worcester State took seventeen shots on the Bryant goalie Tom Catto; sixteen of these shots were taken in the first half. With 5:35 remaining, and the Bryant line constantly putting pressure on the opposing team's goal, Lostocco took a pass, raced down the right sideline, took a shot and then drilled the deflection from the goalie into the goal, lower the right corner of the net. This proved to be the game winner.

Outstanding defensive play by Jim Teixera, Hank Sopewski, Bobby Bauer, and goalie Tom Catto proved to be the margin for the outstanding takeover of the Bryant offense.

Veterans such as Flip Rooney, Ken Negro, Andy Stinton, Co-Captain John Warren, and Bob Jankowski, along with Mark Shoham, and Bob Rusk, to name a few, should give Bryant a team to be proud of. This is a very exciting team, and Coach Garry Guss feels the squad can go placed. The season opener at home on Saturday against S.M.U. gives the team your support.

Volleyball Results
Girls' volleyball opened its season on Tuesday, September 26. The winner of the match is determined by the winner of two of three games. In the first match, SIB beat S.E. B., 15-2 and 15-10. Six-B seemed a little scared during the first game, but during the second game they really showed their skill. SIB, trying to retain their title, looked real strong in both games. Donna Gillespie and Alice Lorenzio did an outstanding job for SIB as well as Sandy Blair and Sue Dillon for Six-B.

The second game to be played between BSO and Independent Synagogue was forfeited because the independent team did not show up.

At 5:30, the third game began between APF and Phi. APF won the first game 15-5. Phi won the second game 15-10. Phi won the third game 15-10. APF started out strong but Phi came on and made it a close contest. This is the Phi first victory ever as a sorority.

Team 3. Independent Berk, forfeited to Dorm 7 in a game that was scheduled for 6:15. All teams that forfeit a game are automatically out of the league. Because of a mix-up in the game to be played by Independent Berk, they will be allowed to remain in the league.

GIRLS' TENNIS CLINIC
There will be a free tennis clinic for the girls of Bryant College starting on Monday, September 26. Clinics will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays. These tennis lessons are free of charge, so get out those rackets, girls!

The University of Rhode Island rolled in the Bryant Cross Country Team in an exhibition square-off last Saturday at Bryant. URI took the first five places in the meet and an overall nine out of the first ten places. The Rams were led by Thomas Grundy in first place with a time of 27:13 and Richard Schabowski and Paul Plyo with second and third places finished with times of 27:34 and 28:29.

On the other hand, Bryant could only manage one finisher in the top ten. Dave Stone, who has been Bryant's top performer, made the grade by taking sixth. Dave covered Coach Reinhardt's new course in 28:59 and he will be trying to better that mark against Brown on Wednesday. Other notable finishes for Bryant were Steve Olsen, 11th, at 29:58; Richard Collard, 12th, at 29:59; Bob Kahaneman, 16th, at 31:38, and John Ross, 19th, at 32:32. Bryant track followers should not worry if the Bryant Cross Country Team bows to both URI and Brown. Exhibitions are designed to give participants a chance to improve and readjust their running techniques under meet conditions. The up-to-date results help clarify this point. Dave Stone has shown that he will be Bryant's team leader and top threat this season. Rich Collard and Steve Olson will continue to improve and give Bryant two more top performers. Finally, Bryant Coach Fred Reinhardt has found freshmen replacements that can be counted on for the future. Talking about the future, the Cross Country Schedule will be included with this article. Team members are sacrificing their time and effort to advance the name of the college in New England sports circles. Acknowledge this effort by dropping by the cross country course and take in one of Bryant's home meets.
