Alumni Day hits campus

Geoffrey Toth

The third annual Alumni Day took place last Friday, September 26. There was a total of sixteen alumni participating—twenty-five faculty and thirty students. Paula Iacono, Director of Alumni Relations, headed the program. Ms. Iacono said you could describe this program as a "reverse shadowing program." All day the alumni conversed with students in and outside of the classroom. They held the important answers that all our students need to know before entering the world of business on their own. To make it easier on the alumni and students, the students were matched by their major to some alumni.

The alumni were very pleased to have met the students. One alumnus, who is now a bank manager, was impressed with the students' in each of the four classes he visited during the day. One topic that he encountered from students was dealing with the global aspect of business. He encouraged students to make sure they take other classes besides business. "Because in our global market you need to be versed in a wide variety of subject matters."

Another key phrase given by the alumni was that you must "hit your customers close to home." By this, W. Dustin Goldstein ('95) was stressing not only the demand for a global market but the foresight of the market. Dustin has been very busy in the field of management; he will be moving to Hong Kong to become an Assistant Vice President for his company.

Other schools who like the idea of students learning from their predecessors have closely watched this program. This was a student initiative to get the program on the go and help them interact with what is going on in the world. There are only a few programs like this in the country. Our campus is ahead and will continue to listen to the needs of its students.

A Warning About Some New Viruses

WARNING!!! If you receive an e-mail titled "Join The Crew", DO NOT open it! It will erase everything on your hard drive. Send this information out to as many people as you can...this is a new virus and not many people know about it. This information was received from IBM on Tuesday, September 30, 1997.

Also, if anyone receives e-mail entitled "Penpal Greetings", please delete it without reading it. This is a warning for all internet users - there is a dangerous virus propagating across the internet through an e-mail with the title "Penpal Greetings". DO NOT DOWNLOAD THIS MESSAGE!

This message appears to be a friendly letter asking you if you are interested in a penpal, but by the time you read this letter, it is already too late. The "Trojan Horse Virus" will have already infected your data disk. This virus will destroy your hard drive, and holds the potential to destroy the hard drive of anyone whose mail is in your box, and whose mail is in their box, and so on. If this virus keeps getting passed, it has the potential to do a great deal of damage to computer networks worldwide!!! Please delete this e-mail as soon as you receive it so that it does not get passed on to others. Pass this information on to anyone that you know that has access to the internet and gets e-mail. DO NOT open any mail that says "Returned or Unable to Deliver". This is a potential access point for this very dangerous virus. America Online has said that this is a very dangerous virus and there is NO remedy for it at this time. Please be careful and let all of your friends know about this extremely destructive virus A.S.A.P.
EDITORIAL/OPINION

In Response

Due to the amount of fan mail I have received from the editorial "The Wrong Image" in the September 18 issue of The Archway, I have decided to respond to these letters.

First and foremost, since an editorial is an opinion, it is unreasonable and illogical for anyone to consider suing for slander because of opinions. First of all, slander deals with verbal communication, and since this is a newspaper, you can only sue for libel-which deals with written communication. But thought you might want to know what the correct terminology is if you are calling your lawyer. Secondly, the editorial did not mention any names or organizations that might have been involved in any incidents, therefore your case has no legs to stand on.

Now, let's get to the real issue. In the editorial, I did mention that there are Greeks who do represent this campus well. For example, I know of many Greeks who are involved in the many different organizations at Bryant. Yes, we have Greeks who are RAs, Seniors, Orientation Leaders, and so forth. Their leadership on campus is what makes Bryant the way it is today.

However, if you go back and read the editorial again, the message that should have gotten across was that I have a true disdain for those individuals in Greek organizations that destroy College property. Now the Greek organizations on this campus are saying that is not true, then let me point out the fact that damage bills for Hall 1 and 2 (primarily Greek) are the highest on campus. Can't argue with those numbers—can you?

I also questioned the leadership of these organizations for several reasons. How can Greek organizations continue to allow individuals in the Greek community to destroy school property the way it has been in the past. Second, the Greek columns are self-admittedly defective and troublesome. For example, in last week's issue, a fraternity decided to hide its RA for doing his/her job in their weekly column. Mature or immature, you tell me. As leaders of these organizations, certainly you have some control over what is written in your columns. Hence, if you want to portray a positive image, that would be a good place to start.

Also, when statistics, such as 83% of Presidents and CEO's were Greek are tossed out there in defense of Greek organizations, I have only one response: How many are from Bryant College? You cannot use national figures from the past fifty or sixty years of college life to defend yourselves. The figure that Greek organizations should be concerned with is the number of CEO's from Bryant. It is important to Bryant College that a University of Michigan Greek is CEO of some company?

Another interesting defense was the amount of community service that Greeks do. I will acknowledge that your efforts there are good. However, to say that you invested over 4,000 man-hours is a relatively deceiving figure. Take into account that there are over 500 Greek members, that works out to about 13.33 hours per person which is about the nation's average.

Finally, let it be said here and now, I do not have a negative perspective on all Greek organizations. There are good fraternities and sororities at Bryant. However, there is always room for improvement. Just remember, if you want Greeks to be looked upon as leaders of the campus they be careful of what you write in your weekly columns. It's like a political game, a single bad incident can ruin all the good that you have done. Remember that when you talk about your image.

The Archway writers and editors reserve the right to print or not print information submitted for the Campus Scene. Any information submitted does not bring a positive image to Bryant will not be printed.
Alumni Day '97 Gets Rave Reviews!

by Paula Iacono
Director of Alumni Relations

The third annual SAA Alumni Day, held on Friday, September 26, was an overwhelming success. Sixteen alumni from 1955 through 1995 were treated to a "day in the life" of a Bryant student. Special thanks to the 30 members of the faculty who participated by hosting alumni in their classes, and allowing them to speak about their corporate experience. The feedback from alumni was glowing, most noting how impressed they were with the maturity of the student hosts and the dedication of the faculty. A tribute to the success of this program is the request that the SAA sponsor another Alumni Day in the spring semester; a request that is under serious consideration.

In the meantime, sincere congratulations to all the student hosts for making Alumni Day '97 a meaningful experience for the following:

David Allardice '61, President, David Allardice, Inc., New York
Jeffrey Barovich '96, Director, UARCO, Michigan
Joseph Calabro '86, '86MST, CPA, RI (private practice)
Carol A. Corwin '61, VP/Community Development Officer, Fleet Bank, RI
Ralph Cote '56, Sr. Vice President, Commercial Union Insurance, MA
Hugh Dunlap '55, retired Vice Chairman, John Hancock Advisors, Inc.
Shannon Dunnigan '93, Advertising Sales, Providence Journal
W. Dustin Goldstein '95, Assi. Vice President, HSBC Global Cash Management, NYC
Raymond Iannetta '71, President, Industrial Science Associates, RI
E. Gardner Jacobs, Jr., Retired physicist, Pennsylvania
John LaRocca '70, President, Wm. Palombo Insurance, MA
Joseph Lovato '78, Managing Director, Veronis, Suhler & Associates, NYC
Vince Pina '88, International Director of Development, LIMRA, Hartford, CT
Anthony Portanova '61, President, Portanova, Inc., Connecticut
Ronald Renza '70, V. President, Corporate Administration, Fleet Financial Group, Boston
John S. Renza '70, CPA, President, Renza & Company CPAs, RI

Kudos to Alumni Day '97 co-chairs Brad Weissman '99 and Greg Giacinto '00 on a job well done!

You’ve seen him in Police Academy and Spaceballs, now you’ve seen him at Bryant College. On Friday night, September 26, Mike Winslow brought his noises to the Salmanson dining hall. In spite of his late arrival, the crowd loved his funny sometimes crude performance. His Jimi Hendrix impression prepared us for an hour of unstoppable humor. The crowd was in hysterics over his description of plane rides, car rentals and food stops. His performance taught us when in doubt make noises.

Jill Lewis and Scott Taylor this year’s Homecoming King and Queen were crowned during halftime of the Soccer game. This was the first ever crowning of a Homecoming Court here at Bryant.

ARAMARK Campus Services introduces PAN-GEOS fresh world flavors

Submitted by Monte Carlo - ARAMARK Campus Services

You're away from home, on your own, and no one is telling you what to do. But, if you're like most people, you're still interested in what you're eating. So ARAMARK Campus Services, the company that provides dining services at Bryant College is stepping in to introduce you to some new food experiences that will blow your mind!

Say hello to "Pan-Geos" a taste of international flavors, an array of incredible aromas, and filled with the sights and sounds of the freshest food available prepared right before your eyes while you chat it up with the person preparing your food.

Testing the concept in universities across the country, students cited several factors for their rave reviews: the food was the freshest it could be, it was "made for the way the like it", it was prepared and served quickly, it was prepared and served quickly, and finally, it was fortifying—there was no secret ingredients, no mystery to what they were eating. The overall reaction was summed up in one word, "Wow".

"Understanding that today's student wants the freshness found in retail restaurants and to be entertained by the fast-paced concepts used in commercial chains, ARAMARK created something which satisfies those needs, has the convenience of being located right here on campus, and allows the students to have some fun while they eat," said Bill Petti, food service director.

Here's a look at some of the concepts we are offering: broth, noodles, and rice bowl choices from Korea, Thailand, Japan, and mainland China, as well as Flatbread Pizzas featuring countries of the Mediterranean (France, Italy, Greece, and Morocco). Pasta, with traditional and contemporary sauces are made fresh-to-order. Finally, there are classic fresh-tossed, made to order salads, delivering freshness, selection, and abundance.

If you haven't tried any of these new menu selections, you're missing out. They may take a little longer to prepare, but are definitely worth the wait.

The Value of Business Periodical Special Issues

Colleen Anderson

Reference Librarian

Business periodical special issues contain valuable information frequently drawn upon by business reference librarians, but generally unknown to most students. Trip Wyckoff, a reference librarian at the Houston Public Library, has succeeded in making special issues more accessible to both librarians and patrons with his new book. "Periodical Special Issues," published in 1997. To clarify what Wyckoff and other librarians mean by the term, a "special issue" is "any regularly published special editorial content in a periodical." The content of special issues might include such information as salary surveys, ranking lists, and/or statistical supplements. Wyckoff's book is arranged by journal title and includes the address and phone number of each journal publisher, where the particular journal is indexed, and the date, name/content of the periodical special issue. It is especially helpful that the author considers journal special issues as special and also that he includes an index to draw upon.

Here is a sampling of the information one can find in special issues:

Storm clouds rising

Rev. Philip Devens

Protestant Chaplain

As a fisherman and a sailor, I can speak from experience about a constant awareness of changes in the weather. In the twirling of an eye, a beautiful calm day can turn into a frantic run for the safety of the shore. As a huge squall builds, thunder booms in the air, the race for the shore can be hectic and exciting—all at the same time.

As the Protestant chaplain of the Campus Ministry at Bryant, I will be offering something new and exciting.
Beginning Sunday, October 19, at 5 p.m., in the Chapel in the Bryant Center, an informal forum will gather to have a discussion of present day topics: e.g., "How does God fit into Greek Life on campus?" or "Can God really exist in business ethics?" or "Are the pangs of Solomons Dining Hall winning the best tasting award?" These gatherings will continue weekly at the same time and place for the remainder of the semester.

Come and experience the difference! Refreshments will served. RSVP to Campus Ministry, 232-6065

Something new in brewing on the horizon. The storm clouds are rising and the peacefulness of the church will be rippling with excitement. Hope to see you there.
Applications for Assistant Director of Special Olympics

Applications for this position are available in the Senate Office. They are due back to the Senate Office by October 7, 1997 at 4:00 pm.

Walt Disney World College Program Representative Coming to Bryant!

Representatives from the Walt Disney Company are coming to Bryant on Wednesday, October 8 and 9 to recruit students for The Walt Disney World College Program.

An informational session will be held October 8 at 7:00 pm in MRC. All students interested in the program are encouraged to attend and sign up ahead of time with Chrissy at x4600 or Chris at x4035. Attendance at the informational session is mandatory to interview for the program. Interviews for the Spring semester will be held during the day on October 9.

The Walt Disney World College Program is a semester-long living, learning and working experience. The program is open to students who have completed at least one semester of college and are not graduating.

Students participating in The Walt Disney World College Program live with other college students from around the United States and international students from all over the world. They participate in business seminars and work full-time in entry level positions throughout the Walt Disney World Resort. Some common positions include: attractions, custodial, food and beverage, and merchandise.

If you have any further questions, contact your campus representative Chrissy at x4600.

Bryant College Amnesty International Chapter Supports World-Wide “Banned Books Week”

The Bryant College Chapter of Amnesty International is proud to announce its participation in a world-wide “Banned Books Week.” We are asking for your help to release writers, editors, publishers, and librarians who suffer human rights abuses because of their work.

In particular, we are writing to China to release Wei Jingsheng, who is now in a salt mine labor camp; to Nigeria to help Christine Anyanwu, an imprisoned magazine editor; to South Korea to help release Kim Ha-Ki, an imprisoned novelist and church deacon; and to Myanmar to release Ma Thida, a fiction writer serving 20 years in jail for her writings.

Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights insists that, “Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive, and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers.”

If you would like to help us work to release these imprisoned victims and insist their books be published, please join us at our next meeting. We’ll meet on Wednesday, October 8, from 3 - 4 p.m., in Room 1 of the Bryant Center. We will write letters of protest to free these writers imprisoned for their views.

Get your network started !!!! Come meet

- Jeff Milligan, '94, Project Manager, Barry Blau & Partners Inc. Advertising
- Daniel Moncrief, '95, Director of Marketing, Mail Computer Service

Program is applicable for all marketing majors and students considering marketing.
Hello all. This year has gotten off to an exciting start, and I think the past four weeks are only a sign of what is to come. From welcome weekend, to the exciting events that many people are preparing for including Parents Weekend and the Mighty Mighty Bosstones concert. Like I had suggested at Convocation, each year Bryant starts out with a blank book, and with all of us working together, in May we will have a best-seller on our hands.

The Senate is working very hard on a lot of ideas and suggestions. I would like to take a few lines and tell you why we have a senate. First and most importantly, what are you upset about? Where do you think Bryant College can be improved? Have you been treated unfairly? Come to the Senate. We will try our best to correct what is wrong or bring suggestions for improving Bryant to those people that can do such. Second is we are the organization that can make organizations. Do you and some people in your halls have a similar interest? You should think about developing a club to promote that organization. If you and a few people have a similar interest than there are probably more students, and even faculty and staff with that interest as well. Our mission as a Senate is to be the voice of the students.

Finally, I would like to offer my own pledge to you that I made last year. If you email, call, write, or see me; within 24 hours I will get back to you. My number is 6043, my email address is fdoehner@bryant.edu, and my box number is 1501. I ran for senate as did the rest of the senators, to serve you and make our community better. Continue with your hard work and have fun!!

From the President's Desk...

Hello Bryant College...

For those of you who do not know me, my name is Brian Willinsky and I am this year's Student Senate Vice-President. This year I have been making an effort to increase the communication among the clubs and organizations on campus. My first goal has been to aid in your group's recruitment through the Organizational Fair, which I feel was a major success. Many of Bryant's finest clubs and organizations had the opportunity. A couple of weekends ago, your student senators went on a retreat to New Hampshire where we had a chance to better acquaint ourselves with one another challenge for all club & organizational Presidents, Treasurers, and Two Officer Members from each. Please check your organization's box in the Senate office or see Darrell Claiborne in Student Activities if you are a president and have not received notification. In addition, there will be the following meetings that week:

Please make every effort to be at the retreat and these meetings. If you have any questions or need to contact me, my # is 6179 or 4709, or top by and leave a message in my box at the Senate office.

Thank you.

Hi, my name is Matt Montour. I am a Junior Student Senator. All Student Senators are a head of a committee and I am the head of the Food Operations Committee. This consists of all of the questions, concerns, and suggestions that students make about Aramark run facilities. I work closely with Bill Petti who is the director of Aramark food services trying to improve the quality of food on the campus. He is always open to all ideas that students give to him. So, if you have any suggestions and or questions please bring them to me. I am in the student senate office every Tuesday from 2-3 or you can e-mail me at mmontour@bryant.edu.

The Blood Drive sponsored by the class of 2001 held on September 25, 1997 coordinated by Seth Brickman and Kyle Kadish received 55 units of blood. The Freshmen Class Senators are in the process of compiling fundraising ideas. There will be announcement with the time and date of a Freshmen Class Meeting. The meeting will cover fundraising ideas and give everyone a chance to be heard. We encourage everyone to attend.

The Link

Harold S. Peacock, Jr.
Link Chair

Hello Bryant! For those of you who may not know me, my name is Harold Peacock and I'm a Senior CIS major from Brooklyn, NY. I have the privilege of representing the Class of 1998 as a Senior Senator and being in Editor of The Link, the Student Senate’s monthly newsletter. This issue is the first of several that will be published in The Archway throughout the year. You can expect to see The Link inserted in The Archway on the first Thursday of every month. Our next issue will be Thursday, November 6, 1997. If you’re interested in helping out with The Link, please feel free to call me at #8224 or e-mail me at hpeacock@bryant.edu. NOTE: You do not have to be a Senator to be a part of this committee (or any Senate committee for that matter!). I hope to see you all at the Senate meetings!!

Student Senate Meetings are held every Wednesday afternoon at 4pm in the Papitto Dining Room. ALL are invited to attend.
Junior Class Update

Khourée Gale
Junior Class Chair

Hello class of 1999! The Junior Senators this year consist of myself, Rob Blain, Matt Montour, Alicia Manders, John Pratt, and Michael Dow. Together, as a team, we’re planning several fund-raisers to help boost our account in order to have an excellent senior year. Some of our goals thus far include, a Parent’s Weekend raffle, selling concessions at the Boxtones concert, and a class reception at The Junction. As of right now, the junior class is open to new ideas. Please feel free to contact any of the Junior Senators with suggestions for raising money or if you have concerns, I strongly urge you to contact any one of us. My office hours are 11:00am on Monday and Wednesday and you can reach me anytime at x8215. This year we would like to see students take advantage of their representatives. We are here for you, and we’re more than ready to take on the tasks that lie ahead. Enjoy your junior year and good luck!

Parents’ and Family Weekend

Molly Deoanney
Parents’ and Family Weekend Co-Chair

Hello, Bryant community! As another year begins, preparations for the 1997 Parents’ and Family Weekend have begun as well. Julie Piccirilli, myself, and the 1997 Student Senate hope to bring you and your families a weekend to remember. As many of you may know Parents’ Weekend will be taking place one week later than usual. The weekend takes place on October 24, 25, and 26. Along with this, we have changed the theme of the weekend from “Weekend in New England,” to “Ongoing Traditions.” Volunteers for many events are still needed. If you are interested in helping out with anything please contact Julie at ext. 4948, Molly at ext. 4891, or you may contact any of the Senators. Any help would be greatly appreciated. Information will be provided through future editions of The Archway. Thank You!

For more info on a particular Senate committee, or if you would like to join one, please contact that Committee’s chair.

NOTE:
ANYONE can be involved in a Senate committee! You do not have to be a Senator to get involved. Join a Committee today!!!

Student Senate Web Page Chair

Harold S. Peacock, Jr.

The Internet. The Internet has provided a virtual home for people all over the world. Bryant College’s home page has given people the opportunity to visit the campus without stepping anywhere near the Archway. Well prepare yourself for the Bryant College Student Senate Web Page.

As chair of the Senate Web Page Committee, I’m pleased to announce that the debut of the NEW and IMPROVED Senate Web Page is right around the corner. We anticipate a debut date of Parent’s & Family Weekend (possibly sooner). The purpose of this site is for the entire Bryant Community to: (1) Learn more about the Student Senate, (2) Find out what happened at the previous Senate meeting, (3) Voice campus opinions, (4) See what the Senate is doing for the Bryant Community, and (5) Learn more about Bryant College Clubs and Organizations.

The Student Senate Web Page Committee consists of:
Tim Bertrand, Sophomore Senator
Robert Blain, Junior Senator
Oscar Malone, Class of ’98
Alicia Manders, Junior Senator
Brian McCarthy, Sophomore Senator
Harold Peacock, Jr., Senior Senator (CHAIR)

The committee is working very hard to make this one of the best Bryant-affiliated home pages around. We are willing to hear any suggestions the Bryant Community may have concerning the Bryant College Web Page. Feel free to submit those suggestions in any one of our boxes at the Student Senate office (located on the 3rd Floor of the Bryant Center) or e-mail me at hpeacock@bryant.edu.

Public Relations

Rupert King
Public Relations Chair

This year I have planned several new ways to make the Senate more accessible to the student body. This new strategy is to publicize what Senate sponsored events are coming up. Hopefully this action will get more involvement from Bryant students. The second way in which I hope to expand the Senate network is to inform the students about committees that they can join. Thirdly, I plan to use the Bryant Information Channel this year to assist in accomplishing my previous goals. If anyone has any other suggestions, or if anyone wants to join a committee, please call me at Ex. 4601. Thank you.

The meeting this past week was a huge success. It was very encouraging to see that many people interested in the organization were present to talk to us, especially the overwhelming number of sophomores. Registration is up now from last year's meeting. Next meeting will be October 14th at 5:00, in which representatives from Cooper's & Lybrand will be on hand to provide you with information. Please reconsider when choosing the “Best Fit For Your Career.” We will make sure you are located of this meeting in the date draws closer. For all of those members who have submitted their dues and have not yet received their receipts, we are working as quickly as possible to issue them to you prior to the next meeting. If you were unable to attend last week’s meeting, it is not too late to register and become a member. Become a part of the movement on the 14th. Hope to see everyone at our next meeting as we continue to provide you with beneficial and informative meetings supplemented with guest speakers from the Accounting profession.

Beta Theta Pi

AJ Casta

We would like to start off by thanking Theta, Delta Phi-Sig, and Rugby for a great time last week. Congratulations to everyone who got bids in the Greek community. Our football team has started the season a perfect 2-0, thanks to two nice games by Deacon. I would also like to thank the Theta for their improvement, in a-1 start in their season. Keep up the good work, guys! We are currently working on expanding our philanthropic program by getting involved in the Junior Achievement program on Rhode Island. We will be volunteering to help elementary school students gain a deeper understanding of business and economics. Lastly, we would all like to congratulate Tanner on his 21st birthday this Thursday.

Gunner, Monte, Cobb, and Mork had a pool party on Saturday. Some needed new pairs of boxer, Prowl slept between his bed and the wall. Floyd was dancing with his girlfriend Sarah. Crane’s our new wide receiver.

Delta Zeta

Santy DGzuriitcvo

Hello ya’ll The sisters of Delta Zeta are proud to welcome our new members: Dawn, Sam, Heather, Kerry, Amanda, Brenda, and Kim!! Congratulations to everyone! Last weekend was filled with Alumni: Tyler, Harley, Solell, Beau, Ellis, Jagger, Reggie, and Wina. Darby and Meriden are very happy to be home again. It’s great to have you guys back.

Don’t forget that this Thursday is Parent’s bus night. You can get a free ride from the sisters between 9 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. The buses leave from halls 1, 2, & 16. It’s the safest way to be, so don’t pass it up!

Our academic of the week goes to McGe, and the spirit awards go to both McGe and Monroe. Good job, girls! Hey, Val, she’s invited “come as you are” and don’t forget one, one W*! Ah ha ha! Live late Gunby and Scott Taylor for being the first Homecoming Queen and Royal of Bryant; you both de- serve it! Till next week.

Rho Chi

After three weeks of separating from our individual sorority, the nine Rho Chi’s are very happy to be back with their own chapters. However, in three those weeks of living together we bonded and shared a lot of secrets and stories as we formed our own sorority for a short time. Here are just a few of our quotes or stories that we wanted to mention.

The first week, we discovered that Michelle was “murder” of the end of the night. Christy informed us all that we need to find some men to entice; and one of the rho chi’s thought that she just gave you hair on her chest. When going out, we all felt safe with our special Agent Feck; Rho Chi’s favorite meal of the Rho Chi’s was D’Angelo’s, by far. However, Kent and Jerry are still accused of grasping and found guilty of breaking into D’Angelo’s. To our fresh man friend Brian, Lauren and Katie say hi. When it comes to cows, Crusty is a pathetic liar (did he really punch the cow?), causing Michelle’s laugh to break all the windows in Dorm 13 and make us freeze Sunday night. Throughout Ruth, all Jill wanted to know was: where am I from. Hey Jamie, some of us enjoy helping Michelle, I think it runs in the family. One of the many unspent bene- fit for Rho Chi’s is that we have five-dollar discount on a lot of essential items. The Rho Chi’s would like to thank Deacon for the entertainment! You were great.

Parent’s was a great time. Thursday night. The limit was three or less. girls. Hey Jill, did you have problems when you were young being potty-trained? Bertie entertained everyone with her multilingual accents and songs. One favorite was, “Come on Darbi, let’s go party, and be wild.” Jill has also acquired a part-time manneristin the past three weeks. She can be reached at 454-7985. Watch out for the next Rho Chi Reunion!

One final quote: R-H-O-C-H-I: Why

ask why. Try Rho Chi!!

Phi Kappa Tau

Mike Lecouture

This past week our fraternity came together as we united to conquer the odds and start our football season 2-0, without having one practice. Some old brothers Bartlett, Dupes, and Grass have quickly risen to victory. Bartlett, who’s touched a football in years, strolled in and the offense, like Dave Brown. The rest of the brothers who played all contributed, but the kick heard around the world was by Brian (Muscles) Rosano, who kicked the game winning field goal. Honestly, it’s time to make KT victorious over TEP. Josh and Jason Lopes both played big roles in our win over INT’s and one great punt return.

Catefl had a conversation with Norman Bates while a Lh Phi Sig. No one believes that he is smart, especially Shab in our chapter. Oh yes! We had a great time Thursday night. The Hurl was three or four of us uniting to conquer the odds.

Valerie Arroyo

Hello! Hoping everyone had a good week. We would like to start this week by welcoming all of our new members: Keti, Jessica, Melissa, Dinah, Jackie, Carolyn, Nicole, Anne, Lauren, Jennifer, Jamie, Nicole and Melba. You guys are awesome, and we are all very excited! Congratulations also to the newest members of DST, Sig and Theta. Good luck to everyone who has exams this week. Goodbye to our awesomely soft and friendly consultant, Michelle; we’ll miss you.

Welcome back, Gunby and Di­

nie. You did a great job; we are all happy to have you back. It was good to see so many alumni up this week­end. Thanks to KT, Beta, and Sig Eps for a fun and eventful weekend.

In closing, I would like to congratu-

STANCE FRIGHT! NO MORE!

Robert E. Burns

"I thought I was doomed to giving through my classroom presentations. I was lucky to have provided a tool to help me understand and overcome my stage fright. Positive Visualization for Speech Anxiety Reduction is like a great instructor. Robert Burns, on hand 24 hours a day. It's fantastic!"

For the past 20 years, Robert Burns has been helping others reduce their speech fears. Like many of the students he works with, once had a fear of public speaking. However, he overcame his fears to become a successful public speaker.

Whether he is teaching Public Speaking at Bryant College or conducting privately, he knows how to help others reduce their speech anxiety. His latest audio tape "Positive Visualization for Speech Anxiety Reduction" will help anyone with a speaker's panic. So don't let fear deter you!

For more information on events please call the SPB at x6115. Our meeting are every Monday at 4:30 in Papisto and are open to everyone! So come and see what the SPB is all about.

Student Alumni Association

Kerry Smith

Hey Everyone! I would like to start by thanking each person who contributed to and supported Alumni Day. This event was very successful in bringing together the current students and alumni of Bryant College. Perhaps we even had a few new friends.

Next, I would like to thank everyone who submitted committee chair applications. I look forward to a very successful semester with many talented chairs and committee members. I urge everyone to join a committee and enhance your leadership skills.

The Adopt-A-Highway program along with the Cow Chip Raffle are off to a great start. These committees need to start planning soon.

I hope to see everyone at the meeting next week. Have a great weekend.

I had a girlfriend. I gave her two nicknames, "Sweetie," and "her imperil."

She was a little moody, and I had a little problem. Her photo belonged in the dictionary listed under: "Why don't you show me any attention, you scum?"

I really loved her but she never knew it. She was too busy thinking of ways to make herself feel better.

Ah ... It's OK. Someone will wake up and she will say to herself while her head is still on the pillow, "Maybe it was me who was wrong."

Then she'll call me up and ask, "Don't you owe me forty-five dollars?"

'97-'98 NHL Preview

by Dan Tien

This should be an interesting year for the NHL. Not only will the league be exempting with a new all-star game format; there will also be a break in February for the Winter Olympics. It also will be a season without Mario Lemieux. The race for the Stanley Cup will have no clear favorite too. This should be fun.

The new all-star game format will feature players from North America against players from Europe and beyond. New balloters have already been made to accommodate Europe and Asia. It is interesting to see interesting to see players who are teammates in the regular season go against each in the all-star game.

These teammates may also be going against each other in the Winter Olympics as well. The NHL will be taking at two week break in February that will allow its players to compete for their country. And as setup preview for the Nagano Olympics the NHL will be sending teams overseas to try to sowcase their talents.

The five teams that represent the best chances of winning the Stanley Cup seemed to have rested on their accomplishments. The Detroit Red Wings, last year's winner, should be considered the favorites but they lost some keys player over the off-season. Colorado Avalanche still have all the firepower but they need a goalie. Dallas Stars got stronger between the pipes by picking up Ed Belfour, but they missing their best player. Colorado stood still in the off season except for the big pay- check to Joe Sakic. New Jersey was quiet as well.

The rest of the league couldn't make any big moves to rise to the upper crust of the league though. Vancouver made the biggest move by signing Mark Messier, but questions are already looming about his abilities. Anaheim still needs to worry about signing Paul Kariya. Edmonton made a great run in the playoffs, but didn't go out and get the veteran leadership they needed. Brett Hull may have leaving St. Louis and play in his father's footsteps in Chicago.

Even with all the changes that may be going on, nothing really matters in the NHL regular season. What matters is what happens in the playoffs. If a team can get hot then there is no telling where they can go. Injuries and suspensions also can affect any play of a team. But go with it, people want to know what to expect from this league in 1997-98.

Atlantic

The Philadelphia Flyers will try to roll over opponents this year, especially since they still have Brian Propp in the lineup. Eric Lindros and John LeClair should provide the offense. Chris Chelios and Mike Richtson will provide the help along the lines. But the lack of a strong goalie will hurt the Flyers. Contract talks for Lindros and LeClair could also provide a distraction. That may open the door for the defensive minded New Jersey Devils. The Devils still have the best goalie in the run and the Frozen Brodies. But add Doug Gilmour to the mix and the Devils could go far this year.

Either of these two teams has a set back then all eyes will be focused on the New York Rangers and Florida Panthers to make a run. The Rangers lost Messier to free agency, but they did acquire Pietr LaFontaine on Monday night form the Buffalo Sabres. If LaFontaine can return to form the Rangers will be able to solidify the leadership and scoring that the absence of Messier showed. Also with the addition of Mark Recchi and Kevin Stevens the team will be a force on special teams. The Panthers however went out and picked up San Tikkanen and Dave Gagner. The two will provide a scoring punch while goalie John Vanbiesbrouck should in turn help out a young aggressive defense.

The Tampa Bay Lightning, Washington Capitals, and New Islanders will probably be fighting for the leftovers from the table. All three did very little to improve over the summer and will be struggling to make the playoffs. The Capitals do have Adam Oates and Peter Bondra in their corner. And new coach Bryan Murray will try to add life back into their skates. The Islanders have the best chance because they have Travis Green from back to a holdout to help the emerging Ziggy Palffy.

Northeast

The New York Rangers is the best division in the entire league. There is only one team that has a shot at the championship. This season everyone will test the Wings and that includes last year's division champions the Dallas Stars. The Rangers have added Ed Belfour between the pipes to backup an already strong defense. The addition of Shawn Chernesky should help solidify the defense even more. But the Rangers need center Mike Modano back to be strong offensively. The embarrasing early playoff exit will add fuel to the Rangers fire.

The Phoenix Coyotes could be a force if center Jeremy Roenick will return to form. Add Keith Tkachuk to the picture and the desert could be a tough time for teams. The rest of the three will be playing for respect. The St. Louis Blues and the Chicago Blackhawks will be fighting for a playoff spot. But lack of talent will make it very difficult for the two to compete with the heavyweights. Chicago has the stronger team and with Brett Hull form the Blues, Chris Chelios makes for a strong defense that will pick up the slack. But if Hull leaves the Wings will have to pick up the slack and and Mike Keenan and addition of Mike Keane and hockey player s. Goalten der Ed Belfour will be expected to stop the puck. Hartford moved along the lines. But the lack of talent will make it very difficult for the two to compete with the heavyweights. Central

All the focus will be on two teams in the conference. Can the Detroit Red Wings defend the Stanley Cup without Mike Vernon, Sergei Fedorov, and Vladimir Konstantinov? If they can then the coaching of Scott Bowman may be the best in the history. This season everyone will test the Wings and that includes last year's division champions the Dallas Stars. The Rangers have added Ed Belfour between the pipes to backup an already strong defense. The addition of Shawn Chernesky should help solidify the defense even more. Pointless and random thoughts on the wide world of sports

* Tampa Bay is still undefeated?
* Green Bay is struggling?
* That just doesn't look right.
* The Denver Broncos and New England Patriots game is looking like home field advantage the way both teams are playing.
  * Especially since Jacksonville choked against Washington.
* Three first half turnovers and all Jacksonville got was nine points.
* The Pats may have been preparing for two weeks, but this game is being played in Mile High Stadium.
* Plus the Patriots have a history of choking against the Broncos.
* Remember last year?
* Or the year before that?
* There goes Marcus Allen again. Isn't he like 46 and still knocking people down on his way to the end zone?
* The Big Tuna's got the Jets at 3-2.
* Tony Dungy's done with Tampa, but any coach who can get the Jets a win deserves the Coach of the Year.
  * Besides a thriller in Colorado, the college football scene was dead this last weekend.
  * Blowouts and more blowouts.
* At least Notre Dame loss again.
* That North Carolina and Florida State game is starting to look really interesting.
* NHL, hockey has started!
* Make mine the Colorado Avalanche to win the Stanley Cup.
* The someone who thinks that Chris Ogogo is a playoff goalie will lose their job at the end of the year.
* Plus Detroit doesn't have its best offensive or best defensive player.
  * Stuff like that can hurt.
* Philadelphia also lacks a big time playoff goalie.
* Colorado seems to be the most stable of the top teams right now.
  * They have all their players in camp and ready to go.
* Dallas is a big threat this season especially with Ed Belfour in goal, but the Mike Modano situation will be a distraction.
* Boston, which was going nowhere anyway, will be getting there a lot faster now that Joe Thornton is injured.
* Ray Bourque will probably suffer the most.
* The Wayne Gretzky and Mark Messier reunion was great while it lasted.
* Yeah, two over aged dinosaurs trying to play with the younger generation was a great sight to see.
* Does anyone here think that Shawn Kemp will be a star in the Cleveland Cavaliers' offense?
  * All the Cavs do is walk the ball up the court and bored the defense to sleep.
* Kemp is the prototype for a running forward. All his strengths may now be suppressed under the Czar.
  * But they did get the best of the deal.
  * The baseball playoffs are finally starting!
  * Make mine Braves over Astro, Giants over Marlin, Yankees over Indians, Orioles over Mariner.
  * However something needs to be done when teams like Atlanta win over 100 games and now faces a home field disadvantage.
  * Congrats to Roger Clemens for winning the pitching Triple Crown in the American League.
  * And Boston said he didn't have anything else left.
* There should be a league just for Pete Sampras.
* The best player in the ARL goes and signs with the WNB A. Just another sign of the greed of athletes today.
* Another tournament, another disappointing loss for the U.S. in the Ryder Cup.
* Any team with Tiger Woods, Fred Couples, and Justin Leonard should be good enough to win.
* Just so you know what I'm thinking....

Archway Baseball Awards

by Duc Tien

National League
Best Performance: Larry Walker, a legitimate Triple Crown contender all year and a heck of a defensive outfielder.
Best Pitcher: With so many to chose from it was hard, but we narrowed it down to Greg Maddux because everyone seemed to fade at the end.
Worst Performance: For as much as he is making, Gary Sheffield is a big disappointment.
Worst Pitcher: Bill Swift just couldn't get healthy and it really hurt his performance.
Best Manager: Dusty Baker took a Giant team that everyone expected to finish last and made them winners.
Worst Manager: Take your pick from all the under achieving teams like the Rockies, Dodgers, or Astros.

American League
Best Performance: In a league with very few stands out performances, Ken Griffey Jr. stood the tallest.
Best Pitcher: For being washed up, winning the Triple Crown of pitching isn't bad for Roger Clemens.
Worst Performance: For as much as he is making, Albert Belle is a big disappointment.
Worst Pitcher: After the Yankees pulled all those strings and paid him all that money, Hideki Irabu finally makes it to America to become a bust.
Best Manager: Joe Torre kept a team like the Yankees from blowing up.
Worst Manager: Just like the NL, take you pick from the Angels, Rangers, or Blue Jays.

MONDAY NIGHT PREVIEW

by Duc Tien

Two undefeated teams playing on Monday Night Football for control of the conference. There isn't going to be a bigger game if the AFC all year.

The New England Patriots (4-0) visit Mile High Stadium to play the Denver Broncos (5-0). Not only is this game significant because both teams are playing for control, but this could also be for home field advantage throughout the playoffs. But the game also has a lot of significant meanings that lie underneath the hype.

For the New England Patriots this is the game they have been waiting for to forget about the Tuna Bowls against Bill Parcells. The Denver Broncos represent the mokey on the Pats' back. For the past two years the two have squared off in Foxboro. The Patriots high on success only to be brought down to earth by the Broncos with two embarrassing blowouts. Another blowout this year could cause this team to really worry about where they really stand against the Broncos. Sure the Pats won the AFC last season, but it was the fact the Broncos lost to Jacksonville that opened the door. From this year, high off the AFC championship, most experts seem to have handed the conference over to Denver or Jacksonville. No one seems to think that the Patriots got to the Super Bowl because they were good, but they got them by default.

This game has to be the Pat's proving ground. Yes, they have gone undefeated, but the talent levels of the teams they have played is weak at best. They have all the necessary tools to win. A good quarterback surrounded by talented crop of receivers. A strong and young defense. A smart coaching staff. But so do the Broncos.

The Broncos look at this game as just another game. Sure they are playing the AFC champions, but this is not the team that scares them. The Jacksonville Jaguars are the team the Broncos fear. Mark Barnell and Naotone Means is what this team is looking at. Sure the Pats are a formidable foe, but they beat to beat Jacksonville. Maybe the past two seasons the Broncos may have been nervous when playing the Patriots but this year's game is in Denver. This game may be a little closer, but the Broncos feel they own the Pats. What's there to be worried about?

To view the two teams, they almost look alike. The only difference is that the Broncos have the experience. John Elway and Drew Bledsoe are the same quarterback. Each has a gun for arm, each has little mobility, but Elway has the experience of over 30 fourth quarter comebacks. Shannon Sharpe and Ben Coates are the two best tight ends in the league. How can anyone view one better than the other except that Sharpe is more of a leader, more vocal with the team? The running backs are the most intriguing parts of each team. If Curtis Martin is good then Terrell Davis is great. Davis is the better receiver and blocker.

The defensive edge goes to the Patriots. The Broncos have been known for giving up the big plays this year and against the Pats offense this could be trouble.

On paper this should be a close game, with the Broncos winning. But the paper does not take into effect the game is being played in high altitude. If this game becomes close the Broncos will have the edge because of their conditioning. Those cold October nights in Colorado is that thin air are tough on the best of teams.
When did you start playing tennis and how did it evolve? I probably picked up my first racquet in elementary school and then started playing competitively in high school. My family plays a lot of tennis and got me involved at an early age. If it weren’t for them, I probably wouldn’t have been so motivated to start playing. I have been fortunate enough to play tennis on my own time and then teach tennis to beginners during the summer.

I’ve “heard” that tennis matches often vary in length. Can you explain what a typical tennis match involves? I think that the length of a certain match depends on the competition you are up against. If your opponent is on the more slippery side, you will have to work harder and stronger to win the match. Where as if your opponent is less competitive, the match is usually quicker.

Since a tennis match can last for over two hours, how do you and the team prepare for endurance? We practice every day we don’t have a match. We do laps around the track, line sprints, hitting drills, and challenge matches. How does tennis develop as a team sport in scoring and competitive side? You will have to work harder and stronger to win the match. Whereas if your opponent is less competitive, you have to keep your mind focused on the point you are playing at. You have to take each point as an individual and then a conglomorate of scores. As far as a team attitude we are always cheering each other on and building up each other’s confidence.

We pick each other up when they are down. How important is mental toughness in tennis? How do you prepare for it? Mental toughness is the most important aspect in tennis. In order to maintain composure when you are a couple points behind, you have to keep your mind focused on the point you are playing at. Never look back instead of think of past points. You have to take one point at a time. I need to be well rested and focused. I need to be thinking about tennis and not anything else going on in my life. What is your biggest strength individually? To the team? I don’t think I have one strength over another. You have to have physical strength (power and spin), mental toughness, game strategies and tactics, and overall focus. I feel as if all of us on the team all play at the same level. We are all in it together and don’t dwell on each other’s faults because we are so equal in playing ability. Each player knows that each teammate played the best they could.

Do you feel tennis is a dying sport? Personally I don’t feel it is a dying sport just because it is a game you can play when you are young or old. You can play with friends for fun, or you could play it competitively. I think that the media is doing more with tennis than it has in the past with publicizing the US Open and Wimbledon. It is always on the sports channels. Any way you choose to run Cross Country please contact Jerry Hassard at 6526.
Movie Review: The Peacemaker

Krisanne Barrett

The Peacemaker, the first release from DreamWorks SKG studios raked in a total of $12.5 million. The film stars Nicole Kidman as the head of the Nuclear Smuggling group in Washington DC and George Clooney, a member of the U.S. Army’s Special Armed Forces. The two are put together when a train carrying nuclear weapons explodes in Russia, causing panic of a nuclear terrorist attack. This film has all the makings of an action thriller: Suspense, explosions, car chases, and gun fights. However, it lacks one thing, originality. For those who enjoy a thoughtless “shoot ’em up” movie with a plot like many others this movie is a winner. However, if your looking for a thorough, provoking plot this film would be better if rented.
