Bryant's New Landmark

"It's strange!" "Bizzare, just bizarre." "What is it?" Some students are confused, others offended by the 40-foot bell tower that appeared suddenly one morning last month. Few seem to appreciate the generosity of the Class of '76, who raised the money and selected the bell tower as their class gift.

Officials of the college, however, are more enthusiastic. They see the tower as the main attraction of "Plaza '76," the apex of the triangle which also includes the Unistructure and the dormitories. "Plaza '76" will be the new center of campus, a "familiar spot for all students to meet," says Raymond Quinlan, Director of Physical Plant.

The tower is decorated with a bell from the original Tupper Estate, as a symbol of joining the old traditions with the new. The carillon will feature Westminster Chimes to be played at regular intervals during the day. In addition, the tower is equipped with an amplifying system that has the capacity to broadcast announcements. The system will be in operation in about two weeks, Mr. Quinlan says.

Some students are concerned that the tower already seems to be rusting. It is not, really, explains Mr. Quinlan. The steel is a "weathering steel" that will develop a "patina" finish similar to that of the Bryant College high school entrance. The process will take two to three years, according to Mr. Quinlan.

The tower was designed by the Providence Partnership Corporation and constructed by the E. Turgon Construction Corporation, James J. O'Rourke, Inc., the electrical contractor.

The College plans a formal dedication of "Plaza '76" in mid-June, during the Bryant '77 Alumni Weekend. At that time, the tower will become an official college landmark. In the meantime, however, it will have to weather not only the elements but the criticism of the Classes of '75-'81 as well.

Common Cause - The Citizen's Lobbyist

by Steven Sellers

A large flock of student sponsors will be present on campus next weekend for their annual convention. The sponsors are not representative of the/many financial aid foundations-but are a much more profile source—our own Moms and Dads. Bryant College, with the services of the Student Senate, will welcome those who swim and suffer through college along with their children, and who always answer the letter that reads: "Dear Mom and Dad. Please send money!" (We trust they answer it appropriately.)

"Parents' Weekend '77," as it is popularly known, will spring the Bryant Community into the new season with a list of activities lasting three days from April 15-17. Parents will be given the chance to see what is being done with their hard-earned money and reflect upon the progress (or lack of such) that their son or daughter has made.

Among the various activities available, the weekend will be a dance in Salamone Dining Hall on Friday night, a table tennis championship in the gym on Saturday afternoon, and the welcoming address by Dr. O'Hara, also on Saturday, and a special performance by comedian David Frye on Saturday night. SAGA will provide a culinary masterpiece on Saturday evening when they present a Dell-dinner, the likes of which few Bryant students have ever seen.

Flyers have been sent to the homes of all parents of Bryant students, along with a card which should be returned to the Student Senate Office for consideration of a Dell-dinner and the David Frye show.

The entire smorgasbord of activities can be found on page 6.

Common Cause - The Citizen's Lobbyist

by Steven Sellers

Common Cause consists of predominantly white-collar citizens numbers from 250,000 to 300,000. Common Cause has been influential in pressing such issues as government reform, sunset legislation, conflict of interest standards, the Freedom of Information Act—in short, giving government back to the people.

Steinem and McKenna espoused these aspirations and accomplishments from Republican and Democratic viewpoints, respectively, indicating a non-partisan support for Common Cause and its objectives. Steinem expressed concern that the organization did not represent lower classes as adequately as the middle and upper classes, but told of efforts to interest all levels of the citizenry in Common Cause and its call for accountable government. McKenna responded to a question which suggested that Common Cause was over-regulated, expressing the hope that the legal profession would be present in Common Cause on the state level. He added that teachers, businessmen and students are also substantial.

Both gentlemen were faced by many critical and informed questions from Bryant students and faculty and answered them quite capably.

Students and other officers of the Bryant community interested in Common Cause are invited to contact Dr. Glen Camp for more information.

Mr. McKenna was recently unsuccessful in his race against Tom DiLuglio for the position of Lieutenant Governor. Mr. Slocum was also unsuccessful in his effort against Fred St. Germaine for the position of U.S. Congressman. McKenna is presently an attorney in Providence, while Slocum is a member of a Providence-based investment firm. Both are integrally involved in the affairs of Common Cause in Rhode Island.
Policies can be found everywhere, even in the ARCHWAY.

Although many may not know it, the ARCHWAY has certain policies that we follow and try to maintain. The first one that I shall touch upon concerns the area of Letters to the Editor. Throughout the semester, letters will be written, sent to the office and most times published. If you are one of the unfortunate students who noticed that your letter was not in the paper, there was a reason. The reason being that the letter probably was unsigned.

Here is the ARCHWAY's policy towards Letters to the Editor, with no frills or flowery language. If you have something to say concerning an issue or some topic; if you would like to see this letter printed in the paper, then you better be ready to sign your name to that letter. The thinking behind this is that a person should not be afraid to express oneself. If you believe in something or feel a certain way towards an issue, then why not put your name to it? Part of college is learning to voice what we feel, and the privilege of being able to do this also includes being responsible for what we say. Included in growing up is owing up.

The next policy that will now be enforced to a greater degree is in the areas of personals. There are complaints when we pull personals out and screams make, with the result being that the staff works until the next day. Dr. Fullerton then proceeded to dispense the whole group I was with. My, my, my! What a flourish of activity there has been on this campus. Suddenly, out of nowhere, workers are appearing and jobs are being completed in record time. Already the fountain is spraying away and the Clock Tower has attempted to provide an atmosphere. Talk about 1984!

My, my, my! What a flourish of activity there has been on this campus. Suddenly, out of nowhere, workers are appearing and jobs are being completed in record time. Already the fountain is spraying away and the Clock Tower has attempted to provide an atmosphere. Talk about 1984!

The final topic I will bore you with deals with articles themselves. The ARCHWAY supposedly has a deadline of three o'clock Wednesday with copy being typed. In the past allowances have been made, with the result being that the staff works until 2, 3, and at times, 4 o'clock in the morning. These allowances will now cease after this week. If you can't fulfill the typing deadline, expect to see your article next week.

These are the major points that have been brought to our attention over the past few weeks. These are policies of the paper and they will be upheld. We are trying to do our part, can't you do yours?

Victim of Wrath

Dear Editor,

On Wednesday night April 6, I was a victim of the raid of Dr. Fullerton. It started out as a fine evening at the Student Center. I was chatting with a friend when another friend who was under the influence threw some empty cups across the table in front of me to get my attention. Apparently the act was witnessed by an off duty student marshall. He proceeded the next day to explain to me what happened. Dr. Fullerton began to veil and ejected from the Student Center the person trying to explain to Dr. Fullerton what happened. Dr. Fullerton began to tell that person that if he wished to explain, he should see him in his office the next day. Dr. Fullerton then proceeded to dispense the whole group I was with. My, my, my! We now know we had done such a terrible thing as throwing empty cups.

My point here is that Dr. Fullerton, who is an administrator of students, does not know how to handle students. First, I think nothing would have come of the whole incident if the off duty marshall had not come over. Second, Dr. Fullerton should stay on his own level of hierarchy. If he wishes to punish or further pursue the issue he saw, from across the room, he should have seen us in his office the next day. Dr. Fullerton to my knowledge does not count the money at the Student Center at the end of the night so I don't think he has to be a marshall or sweep the floor or chair-up the Student Center. It is true Dr. Fullerton is responsible because he is an administrator, however, in the future I would hope he acts more rationally and on his own level.

The above letter I have written on my own and does not necessary express the group I was with feelings on the incident.

Signed,
Jim Knleigh

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I have a perfect solution for punishing the juvenile delinquents who terrorize people. They all seem to be infatuated with their hair, so why not shave them bald? That way, it would be easy to identify these punks.

Preparation for Parents

Dear Editor,

I most recently do not want to appear to be an ingrate, but the activities recently observed on campus merit comment.

I refer to the extensive spraying-up of the College in preparation for Parents' Weekend. While the Bryant campus is never in such condition as to cause shame, specific things seem to be put off until the last minute, whether or not they aggravate students. Other students may have noticed the rapid assembly of the new Clocktower, the raking of leaves along Jacobs Drive, the fixing of the television in the Student Center and the pressurizing of the fountain in the pond.

We should certainly be glad that these things have been done, but they appear to have been done for the benefit of the parents of students, rather than the students themselves. My observations may be totally unfounded, but the College's allegiance seems to hold more with the money the parents dole out, and less with the concerns of the student.

Food for thought, I hope. Having witnessed the apathy that pervades so many of the elements of life at Bryant, I only wish that things would be accomplished so quickly when the students request changes—or when changes are obviously needed. Perhaps our parents should drop by the College every weekend.

Sincerely,

Steven M. Sellers

Senior Class Day 1977

Yes, the culmination period has been moved back one day. And,
Yes, there is a Senior Class Day. In an interview with Jim Verester, who made the original proposal to Bryant College Calendar Committee, he answered these questions: Where did the idea come from? How and why did the calendar get changed? and most importantly, What is a Class Day?

There hasn't been a program for Seniors since the College moved in 1971. Previously, commencement exercises were held a week or two after the last exam and didn't seem to have any scheduled events. The reason is unknown; it was not related. Since then, the country has had a gas shortage, and the Commencement exercises started being held immediately after the last exam on a Saturday to accommodate the people who live one mile from the school.

The Calendar Committee has proposed the calendar year 77-78 to move back, the culmination period one day and plan a day of activities for Seniors, It was then suggested to have a Senior Class Day this year! Jim brought the proposal to the faculty and administrators for an O.K. and, finally to President O'Hara who appointed a Class Day Committee to plan a worthwhile program.
This is the Tentative Schedule:

the comedies will be performed.
Pat Kelley, advisor to the club, along with other members of the club, go to the rehearsal to give helpful hints to the ten actors and actresses.

All the action is in New York City, on a Saturday night during the spring. The comedy runs from "Sex and the Single Man" to "Marines are the biggest latent lags.

With so many people in the help the unknown diabetic and alert him to the need of proper treatment. A blood sugar test will be available. The following meal must be eaten two hours before the test: 1 cup of orange juice, 1 bowl of vegetable soup, 4 slices of bread with butter or margarine, 1/4 cup of vegetable or salad, coffee or tea without caffeine and 1 scoop of ice cream. It is important to include all the foods in the test meal. Do not eat, drink or smoke anything until after the blood test is taken.

Interagency on Smoking will

Brycol Opens
Boutique

At last, after a long, but patient wait, Brycol was finally able to move their Boutique into its new Unistructure location.
Today at noon the Boutique will open for business, marking the beginning of another Brycol project for this semester.
Various work crews have laboriously over the past few weeks in order to open for Parents' Weekend. Remarked Brycol President, Michael Hammer, "Without the help of Ray Quinlan, Brian Brutton, Charles Pickett, Bill Alger, the carpenters and painters, we would never have ever been able to do it."
The new Boutique, which is located where the old candy store was, will have an expanded line of merchandise which will include jewelry, plants and other assorted gift items that normally could not be purchased on campus. In addition, the Boutique will be offering yet another service to the Bryant Community: dry cleaning. The Boutique manager, Lauren McKusker, was extremely pleased to be in the new location.
"It sure beats trying to set up temporary displays in the Rotunda day after day," she remarked.

With the finishing touches and final preparations being completed, the Boutique should, with its permanent location, be more desirable for shopping or just browsing between classes.

Archway Staff - Take a Bow

Those of you who perused and enjoyed our April Fool's Day edition of THE ARCHWAY are no doubt wondering how we can muster the effort to crank out another issue. It has been difficult, especially when the staff must store away their madcap and extroverted selves until they must now return to our duty of reporting the news fairly and accurately without humor.

Those of us who wrote articles for last week's edition preferred to remain nameless for obvious reasons. Creativity seems to reach its peak when it is unfettered by such a trivial thing as a name anyway; none of us wanted to take the blame. However, there are times when the recognition of a name and the person attached to it are important. Such was the occasion for the ARCHWAY annual banquet. Held at the Coachmen in Tiverton, RI, proper recognition was given to those who are leaving after a long stint of active service to THE ARCHWAY, to those who are up-and-coming in the staff, and to those who are the workhorses of the paper—the ones who keep the paper afloat. Most of the members of the staff are given gag gifts designed to embarrass, but underlying the teasing is a thank-you for their help. So that their efforts will not be forgotten, following is a list of those members of the staff who have been promoted, and those who are leaving us:

- Mark Van Dyke - promoted to Production Manager
- Cindy Rowan - promoted to Assistant Production Manager
- Steven Sellers - promoted to News Editor

In addition to his promotion, John Harrington received the Editorial Board Award for his extended efforts in production, writing, and photography.

Gong Show a Ringing Success

The echo of what sounded like an ancient Oriental gong reverberated through the halls recently. Contrary to popular belief, it was not the return of Kung Fu in the West, but the proverbial "Gong Show" (brycol-style).

The Associated Association staged an outrageous array of would-be thespians, comedians, hoovers and singers complete with wardrobes (Dr. Perlow, Mr. Fiore, and Father Barrett), put them in front of a picture frame in the Student Center and let them go. The results, while perhaps not impressive, were fun for all involved.

The "Turtles," performing a dandy routine to the tune of "Rock Around the Clock," and rolled to first place. The "Lumberjacks" treated the crowd to a rendition of a song from Monty Python and "snoozed through the grass" to second position. Although no third place finisher was officially determined, members of "Slyky and the Gang" assured this reporter that their singing performance by their leadership and recognition.

It was not determined exactly how many times the gong was rung—probably enough to keep the crowd satisfied.

Gong Show a Ringing Success
In the time of financial crisis such as that facing many cities in the U.S., the charges levied as well as those consequences reassess their budgets with a more scrutinizing eye as to what proving expensive (mostly derived from taxes) are being spent. Programs adopted under the auspices of human betterment, during more prosperous times are assessed on their ability to be financially self-sustaining. Even if the bastions of human cultural advancement are questioned as to whether admission charges, to them should be levied in our public libraries and museums. Many of the facilities that in the past state were appalled at the introduction of charges to use the facilities and services.

Does the future hold the prospects of small charges attached to everything we do? Are the American people, who are accustomed to abundance, prepared to face the consequences of waste which has led to the scarcity of many things we had taken for granted.

Economists, whose profession demands the development of scarce resources, have found themselves cast into the limelight of public disapproval. One of the many solutions recommended is the increased application of User Charges. User charges, defined as a price paid to a government for receipt of specific goods and services, are one of the popular charges found in the pricing of water, gas, electricity, parking, and tolls on highways. User charges can be considered equitable because the individual benefiting from the good or service provided pays directly for it. The cost are not passed onto others or to the taxpayers in general. User charges, in the case of highway tolls, provide information as to what level of service should be provided. If revenues exceed cost, the service. They also provide a way to ration the use of freeways, parks, beaches, etc. to those individuals who place the highest value on these facilities and services. The American people who have developed a positive relationship between dollars and value are vital f we are to properly allocate those resources we deem valuable.

charges are valued less than those with positive charges. If one approaches a park with the intent of free admission and then is confronted with a charge a reassessment of one's desire to enter the park is made with the possible result of altering ones plans. Only those who possess a strong desire to enter will do so with a new intent of getting their money's worth.)

In the case of a museum or library if provide free of charge, who uses it and most of all who pays for it? If the city of Providence pays for the public library which is mostly used by college and non-Providence residents (who don't pay taxes to cities) then it is the people of Providence who subsidize their use. Again if we delineate along the lines of wealth and poverty, it is the higher concentrations of poor in the city of Providence who subsidize the middle and upper income classes who benefit more from the library. Now, if the tax that is used to provide this service is regressive, the poor are hurt even more.

In the case of the public library, it is deemed a public service that generates few positive spillovers or externalities. Any admission charge would have the ability to rationalize the use of the library only to those who could afford it, leaving those at the lower end of the income scale. But a prohibitive charge is unnecessary. A minimal charge of 25¢ could generate a much needed source of revenue with exceptions to the charge being made in the case of the elderly and low income.

To think of user charges as becoming the way of the future is frightening to some of us who believe in freedom of not only the mind and spirit but also of the pocketbook. To face the possibility of paying each time we use a beach or a park infringes upon the American concept of 'Frontier.' The random adventure of discovering a secret paradise would be dispelled by the approach of the ticket taker. But user charges are some nature are vital f we are to properly allocate those resources we deem valuable.

The pool is open to all students, faculty, alumni, administration, and staff of Bryant College during these hours.

For anyone interested, there will be a Red Cross Lifesaving Course offered towards the end of the semester. More information will be posted at the pool.

Economic Corner

by Richard N. Spivack

There is a gold badge encased in a mahogany desk. This is a testimonial to the 26 years he spent as a Providence police officer. During that time he rose through the ranks from role of blue knight on the streets, to Director of Licensing, Director of Prosecution and Director of the Police Academy. In 1966, Capt. Apt came to Bryant College as one of the originators of the Law Enforcement program. Now, Capt. Apt can be found roaming the halls from class to class preaching the gospel of criminal justice. I asked Capt. Apt what he felt to be the future changes or additions in Law Enforcement at Bryant, and about the problems with job placement on campus. First of all, he stresses a more participatory learning process for the student. This past January, a law enforcement internship program began at Bryant. Hopefully, this means that one will receive some practical experience in their field of study while still a full-time student. However, it is on the future agenda would be mock courts for the Senior I.E. majors. This would be a full scale representation with cases being pledged and prosecuted by students.

A recent form of participatory learning is the criminalistics class. Here the student works in a group where they are given different techniques of criminal investigation. In this course, Rhode Island's top specialists in the investigative field present a specific part of the course.

Job placement is a sore point for many I.E. seniors who feel that the Job Placement office has done little or nothing for them here at Bryant. Capt. Apt stressed that the jobs in Law Enforcement are of a competitive nature and that as a result the different agencies do not recruit aspirants as the business field does. Police Departments have no trouble in finding an adequate number of qualified applicants. Thus, for the most part, the student has to take the initiative to apply and meet the requirements for the job. Capt. Apt and Dr. William Stone are presently trying to work with the job placement office in posting information concerning jobs here and in other parts of the country.

In summary, Capt. Apt expressed hope that the students at Bryant will get more out of the I.E. program in the future and more assistance in the job market. He is doing what he can to help the students in both areas. For Capt. Apt, Law Enforcement isn't just a career; it is his life.

Chip Reichard, Ted Kunker, and Tim Barry

We, Chip Reichard and Ted Kunker, are running for re-election for the position of sophomore senator. Currently, Tim Barry is running for election under a common ticket for junior senator. Our primary goal is to provide activities for the student body and to reflect your preferences in our action. We do not want to make a wish list of promises, but rather get input from you which is something that you, the Bryant student, wants.

As your representatives we will keep you informed on the up-to-date issues about your campus. To do this we will need your support, so vote for THE PARTY on April 20.

Kathie Foley

Hello, my name is Kathie Foley, and I am running for re-election for a senior position on the Student Senate.

My past year in the Senate has shown me much insight on how the Senate operates and what the best ways to get things done.

The Senate needs people who will work, and I am one of these people. During the past year I have been involved in forming a valid Faculty Evaluation System. This has included surveying what other colleges have been doing and also getting the cooperation of faculty members at Bryant. This is an important role because our faculty is what gives Bryant its educational reputation.

Because I have learned much about our student government this past year, I feel I can do more and become the coming year for the students at Bryant.

On April 20 and 21, place your vote for Kathie Foley, Senior Senator.

Sharon McGarry

As a freshman senator, I was in the Parents' Weekend Committee, Orientation Committee, and vice-chairperson of the faculty evaluations committee. I have also been selected as an orientation leader for this fall.

A senator is required to do much more than just attend meetings and to be named to a specific committee. A senator should be one to support all activities on campus and to help tickets, making signs, and most important speaking out on a particular issue.

I have really enjoyed being in the Senate, and I am asking for your vote so that I may return to the Senate and continue where I have left off. I want to continue representing you - the sophomore class at Bryant College.

Thanks,
Sharon McGarry

Deanna Grader

My name is Deanna Grader and I am running for the position of sophomore senator. I have been on the Senate for two years, and in those years I have accomplished, generate more ideas and get more of a feeling of what you, the Bryant student, wants.

As your representative I will keep you informed on the up-to-date issues about your campus. To do this we will need your support, so vote for THE PARTY on April 20.

RE-ELECT CHIP REICHAIRD
RE-ELECT TED KUNKER
ELECT TIM BARRY

Scott Pinette

To the students of the sophomore class:

I am running again to pick six people to work for you. Each of you must ask yourself if you are willing to help the work of your senators last year.

My platform centers around activities and policies for the sophomore class. One of the first things I will do, to plan and coordinate the activities and policies for the sophomore class, is to properly speak out your views and new ideas. It is vital that we have both of these processes so that the students will become more aware of their surroundings and will want to take part in the decisions that affect them.

I hope to be elected this time in order to work for you and with you in the activities on campus. Remember that a senator can do more for you than just attend meetings each week. It is even more important to know that a good senator cannot be elected without strong support at the voting polls.

I wish the best of luck to all candidates running for a position on the Student Senate.

Respectfully yours,
Scott Pinette
Junior Candidate

Robin Punzi

I'm ROBIN PUNZI and would like to be re-elected to the position of sophomore senator. Presently, I am an active sophomore senator working on the Parents' Weekend committee and chairman of the publicity committee (signs in rotunda, etc.). I've worked with many of the sponsored events such as mixers, concerts, lectures, and trips. I've had acquired a well rounded knowledge of the responsibilities a senator must take on, and I feel confident of my capabilities to carry them out. I have the necessary experience and I am running for election for the sophomore senator position with the willingness and desire to contribute my time towards bettering the quality of student life here at Bryant. I'm in favor of letting the student body know what you are doing and satisfying their wants.

So remember to vote ROBIN PUNZI for sophomore senator.

Sue Krupski

My name is Sue Krupski and I am now a sophomore running for re-election in the Student Senate. During this past year I have contributed my time and effort towards Student Senate activities, and I feel that things have been accomplished.

Among my activities as a senator, I've worked on the Parents' Weekend Committee, the Poster Committee, and the Freshman Orientation Committee, of which I am co-chairman. I'm also looking forward to being an Orientation Leader in the Fall.

I've enjoyed working with the Senate and have contributed toward fulfilling many of its goals. With a year of experience behind me and an inside knowledge of the Senate and its capabilities, I feel that I am well suited to be a sophomore senator next semester. I hope that you will re-elect me! Thank you.

Sincerely,
Sue Krupski

Howie Rappaport

My name is Howie Rappaport, and I am running for reelection to the position of sophomore senator. As a freshman senator, I feel that I have learned a lot and have worked with many committees, such as the new programming board and Parents' Weekend committee, the support of the incoming sophomore class as I feel that I would be a better person to have which will enrich many of the programs here at Bryant College.

Respectfully submitted,
Howie Rappaport

Senior Banquet Plans are Decided
by Steven Sellers

Early this week, the Senior Class Gift Committee began its intensive four-week drive to obtain over $6,000 in donations and pledges from this year’s graduating class. The monies raised will finance the beautification of the University’s front circle and contribute to the College’s general fund. Members of the Committee will be contacting over 870 prospects consisting of commuter, resident, evening, and MBA students. Within the next four weeks, these students will be reached by phonothons, letters, and personal visits. They will be asked to pledge or contribute gifts ranging from $100 to $10 per year for the next three years.

An arrangement has been worked out with the College that will allow dorm students the option of pledging all or part of their dorm damage deposit (which could amount to as much as $100) towards the amount of their pledge.

The Committee will meet once a week to set new strategies and to report their pledge totals. Seniors will be able to watch the fund grow as an Indian headdress (to be located by the ARCHWAY) will mark each week’s progress.

This year’s Gift Campaign promises to be the biggest yet. Any student that wants to help the Class of ’77 reach its goal may contact Shirley Barden in the Alumni Office or ask any member of the Senior Class Gift Committee.

A Song for Graduation

Miss Penelope Jones had a Ph.D. in Physics and she went to town to look for some work. Everywhere she applied she said she was qualified to be a secretary or a clerk. The word got out on the day she was born, but she was 20 years getting the news and the word "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm going nowhere in a hurry" blurs.

My friend Fred graduated last Friday, and he went to town to look for some work. Armed with a hot tip, a Brookes Brothers suit and three Van Heusen shirts Everyone smiled and shook his hand, and said "Don't call us, we'll call you," and like "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm going nowhere in a hurry, too."

Soon you will take on a new life. Apart from what you have known. Although distance and new experiences may separate us, you will always be with me. For the memories we have shared will keep us close to one another forever.

содержание:

They free Hackman from prison and fly him to a villa south of the border. To make it more enticing, they throw in a large bank account in Hackman's name.

The story will hold your interest through suspense and not through a logical plot. For instance, if it is the President they are after I doubt they could fly within 10 feet of the residence never mind make a dry run, as they did in the movie. Another instance is the prison break; not even one guard stopped the truck.

Although it is full of loose ends, it is a good suspense drama and full of scenes wondering what will happen next. Who knows this maybe a prototype for Lee Oswald or James Earl Ray? That's one conclusion that is definitely up to the viewer.

"It is vitally important that parents continue to be involved in the religious training of their children, if the Church is to be really effective in this area," he said. "I am looking forward to the opportunity of serving in a 'sharing community' in my new assignment."

ED'S ALMANAC
by Ed Kasinskas, Jr.

Tornadoes have been in the news recently and will be for the next few months. These are the smallest yet most violent storms in nature. They are characterized by a funnel-shaped cloud one quarter mile in diameter moving at a maximum forward speed of 70 m.p.h. The vortex around the vortex can reach 300 m.p.h. Tornado winds can have a force 900 times greater than a 10 m.p.h. breeze. The best time for a tornado to occur is between 4 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Approximately 124 tornadoes occur in the U.S. each year. While the majority of them are in the lower Mississippi Valley and the Plain states, they can occur anywhere. As the funnel passes over a building, it will move faster and faster on behalf of the Bookstore. Starting next week, they will be selling plastic lawn ornaments that resemble Bryant Maintenance men. The figures will feature various positions that maintenance men can be found in. For example, to accent that light post near your front driveway, you might buy Model 371—Maintenance man.

Go for a Master's...

Only a master ale-maker can brew McSorley's Cream Ale. It takes knowledge that doesn't come overnight to develop a hardy brew. Bold and invigorating. Robust. Full-bodied. Yet smooth every sip of the way. Only a master can brew the aroma — and the flavor that says it's McSorley's.

McSorley's The Ale Master's Ale

Placement; student, John Gahan of Schenectady, NY, accounting major; Kathy Pearson of Garden City, NY, Economics/Finance major; Carolyn Massey of Hicksville, NY, Institutional Management major; Greg Reynolds of Wethersfield, CT, Marketing major and Dr. Ted Gaultch, Associate Professor of Management, who will moderate the Tourney.

The team which demonstrates the best interaction patterns as determined by the judges, and which has the highest stock value at the end of the simulation will be declared the winner. Each member of the winning team will receive a plaque and will be invited to dinner with the panel of judges. All students will receive a certificate of participation.

Next year Bryant College hopes to challenge other business colleges in the New England area — perhaps a Tourney from the three B's — Bryant, Bentley and Babson.
Bryant showed Roger Williams their "stuff" with a 7-2 victory on home courts this past Tuesday.

The Roger Williams match, the second of the season, placed Bryant in a 1 and 1 position. Not bad for starters! The team's first match went to Providence College with a score of 9-0. The team's outlook for the season looks promising all around due to the assortment of fine talent, good coaching by John Gillooly, and an enthusiastic team spirit.

For all of you continued tennis fans, Bryant is the team in the Yellow, Yellow-Blue and Yellow-White tennis apparel. The assortment of colors might be an attempt to psyche the opposition. Whatever their strategy, once on the court, the team displayed controlled and consistent playing ability throughout the match.

Ranked Number 1-4 are Dick Boyce, Tim Brown, Dave Jackson, Dana Bengston, Tom Dixon and Tom Haxton. The four doubles teams consist of Boyce-Brown, Bengston-Jackson, Haxton-Beckel, and Dixon-Guglielmetti.

Tom Dixon, the team's fifth ranked senior, holding a steady lead throughout the match, defeated his opponent 6-2, 6-4. Tom's smooth attack to net combined with effective lobs, forced his opponent into the leaning on a rake. A stationary beer-bottle collector (Model 0000) will really spruce up your front trees. And to top off your lawn decorations, a maintenance truck being driven by ever-smiling, fun-loving, cigar-smoking maintenance man on break, positioned next to your own little home version of the Bell Thing poised over your septic tank is a sure winner for the Mini-Bryant Look-a-Like Contest.

The Bookstore will also be featuring life-size, wind-up, security guards who are only programmed to watch TV, talk to girls while watching cement dry, and sit around in the office proofreading old copies of THE ARCHWAY. These fund-raisers can also be bought with pre-recorded tapes that allow them to say such witty and bright statements as: "Hey, boy they misspelled your name on your ID," or real deep, mind-provoking sentences as: "Is this the Universe?" All models come complete with no personality (completely natural), non-functioning brains, and a sense of humor surpassed by only three-year-old baboons. A great gift for the person who has everything and wants nothing. YO HO!

Oh, well. It's back to the salt mines for this week, but we shall return in the upcoming issue with some special specials on our friends who like to drive to school and actually at the food.
Indians Slumping

The Bryant College Baseball Team got off to a good start this year by whipping Roger Williams College and Thomas College. Kansas is on an exorbitant reason, however, the Indians have not been able to put things together since the opening two victories.

The team has now dropped six in a row. In the losses to Oral Conn., Ric, and Assumption, the Indian hitters didn’t come through with the timely hits when needed. In the losses to Barrington and Babson, poor Indian pitching and lack of defense allowed 37 runs to score.

There have been bright spots so far this season, however, which should enable the Indians to turn this season around. Roy "Guns" Bishop is leading the team in hitting with a .425 average. Chris Chase, Ted Ferry and Rich Pomerantz have all been hitting the ball well. Pomerantz leads the team with 10 RBIs. Also showing spark is a turn-around around Rick Gray and Tommy Appleton, who have each hit their first college career home runs.

This team has a lot of ability and desire, and before the season ends, people will see the Indians playing winning baseball.

Major league baseball opened last Wednesday with many changes from last year. The AL has added two new teams-Los Angeles and Seattle in the West. Several teams have strengthened themselves as a result of the free agent draft, while many lost their big name players.

The New York Yankees are favored to win the AL East again this year, with Boston and Baltimore close behind. As of Tuesday, New York, after winning their opener against Milwaukee, has lost three straight games by one run and are in fourth place. Boston is looking for their first win of the season. It will be interesting to see if their internal strife in the Yankee organization carries a slide such as Boston experienced last year.

As expected, Kansas City leads the AL. West along with Texas while Oakland and California follow. These four teams should remain close for the first half of the season. The big question is whether Oakland will suffer greatly from the loss of many of its veteran players in the free agent draft.

The Philadelphia Phillies are looking for their first win as defending NL East champs. St. Louis leads this division followed by the Montreal Expos and New York Mets. In the West, the game separates the first place team from the last. Here, Cincinnati is looking for another divisional championship.

On Sunday, the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians combined to set a new American League record by scoring 19 runs in one inning. The old record of 18 was set by the Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers in 1883. This is nothing new for Boston. In 1953, they scored 17 runs in one inning against Detroit at Fenway. In Sunday’s game, the Indians scored 13 times in the eighth inning breaking a 3-3 tie. Boston back came with 6 runs of their own in the bottom of the frame, but lost the game 19-9.

It is too early in the season to say that any one team has first place clinched. The standings change everyday. In October, the standings should show Boston, Kansas City, Philadelphia and Cincinnati as the leaders of their respective divisions with another Reds-Red Sox World Series.

Baseball Round-Up

The Bryant College Baseball team will be playing Nichols College tomorrow at 1:00. Bring the family out for some exciting college baseball. Scheduled to pitch for Bryant is junior left-hander Brad Ostaugh. Brad is 1-1 on the season.

In his first outing vs. Thomas College, Brad struck out 10 en route to a 6-5 win. The Indians will also be home Tuesday vs. Roger Williams College at 3:00.
