Incorporation Proposal Rejected

Senator to Pursue

Last week, Kevin McGarry, President of the Student Senate, submitted a proposal to incorporate the Student Senate Division of the Rhode Island College. In response to the proposal, Dr. Evans, Fullerton, and Mr. Scott, in a letter to Mr. McGarry, which contained the names of the three College officials, stated, "We have given much thought to your proposal, which entails the incorporation of a Student Senate Division of the Student Senate. For the sake of clarity, we have considered at great length the pros and cons of the proposal. I am certain you have done the same thing; however, the proposal does not represent a positive solution to the issue before us. It must, therefore, be rejected." When asked to comment on the decision, Fullerton stated, "Our position was made on my recommendations." Dr. Fullerton feels that McGarry is trying to avoid financial accountability to the College, and he feels that the legislation to achieve this. He stated that he doesn't want to control the Student Senate and the students wanted to. He explained that the only thing that has changed since himself as Fullerton has been that, the (allocation agreement) spells out more regulations and in the state system that everybody has to obey.

Also in the letter, Fullerton stated, "Your proposal seeks to address a grievance. The grievance, though, seems to have as its foundation the desire to avoid financial accountability and control. We are not as the Senate to act on your statement. I asked Dr. Fullerton that since the corporation would have to comply with state and federal regulations and would have CPA audits, it would be in line with the American Accounting College and show financial responsibility. Fullerton's reply was, "I suppose they are, but it seems an unnecessary act of control in as much as the College and the state have no choice." The document is the issue, not incorporation that we need to address at all together," Fullerton stated.

Fullerton does not see incorporation as a positive solution to the understanding as how monies would be accounted for. He feels that incorporation will not change the relationship of the Student Senate to the College. He said that in a cooperative way; not a contractual way. Willing to discuss anything, he said, "Nothing is a closed issue." Fullerton stated, "I do not see a philosophy of funding student activities as having changed a bit. I think we must insist that the Student Senate be financially accountable and independent. If we are to allow the Student Senate to spend $60,000 with a financial system different from the College, it would appear unusual." Fullerton stated on the situation, Dr. Evans stated that "we (Mr. Scott, and Dr. Smith) felt it was a matter to be solved between Barry and Kevin, but that it could not be solved over Barry and in response to whether or not be felt incorporation of the Student Senate was a viable solution to the problem, Dr. Evans stated, "My role was as an individual. It is for all students to be heard." Dr. Evans argued that the incorporation proposal seems to deal with the symptoms; not the actual problem. That through discussion things will be worked out.

Mr. Scott confirmed the fact that rejection of the proposal was a decision of Barry and Fullerton, and himself. He agrees with Fullerton and Evans that incorporation is directed towards the symptom rather than treating the disease. Scott feels that, "It's an attempt to go around the College's system. I feel that the Student Senate is the integral part of the College," and added that he doesn't want to control the Student Senate. Scott further added that under the (allocation agreement) has not been an attempt to tell students that the money provided or-just want them to account for its spending. He did express the feeling that the spending of the money must be spent in an orderly fashion.

Commenting on the proposal, Mr. Scott related it is not a 100 percent proposal. He stated that if the Senate were to incorporate they would have to select faculty to place in the hands of the students. Scott feels that the Senate would not be able to do this properly. He also said that the Corporation would hurt the students in the long run. When asked for his view of the situation, Kevin McGarry, doesn't understand the document, so he wants to incorporate if the Senate that if the Senate wants to incorporate it was fine; but as it stands he is not sure. McGarry commented, "The document is the issue, not incorporation that we need to address at all together." Fullerton stated.

Dr. McGarry's objection to the legislation to incorporate was that the Senate's timetable does not coincide with the College's. He also noted that the Senate has a predetermined budget every year, so they don't have to bargain for it as do other groups. Dr. McGarry stated that he had not been able to speak to him about the incorporation, "We respect this position. Although the students passed the legislation, the Senate has the obligation to approve it. Since everyone must pay the fee, the Trustees must make sure that the students get what they are paying for. The Trustees, for one thing, the college, do not work for the Trustees, so there is no binding agreement to fulfill this obligation from the Senate. In order to fulfill their obligation to the Trustees, the proposal now is to be approved by the Senate. Dr. McGarry has stated that he represents the College and he has a legal responsibility to fulfill the legal responsibilities of the Board of Trustees and not the Student Senate. Comments about Student Senate and Business Affairs. Verbal from Tom Scott, the other half of the letter to Mr. McGarry (the Senate) confirm to all other students that the Senate was not interested in incorporating the Student Senate Division of the Student Senate Community to continue to provide and enjoy activities and programs sponsored in return for the $25.30 that students paid. McGarry stated that, "It is our intention to satisfy the legal services and activities to be spelled out in the contract." In the letter which Dr. Fullerton sent to Mr. McGarry, he states, "In a College of Business Administration we cannot, in good conscience, go along with something that is in the context of the very nature of the College. The present credibility of the College would be open to suspicion if the College is not legally incorporated. I know you do not want that to happen. This implies that the Student Senate would not be able to function. In order to keep things going, people who make the decisions make them to decision makers," McGarry added.

McGarry added, "I was not elected to argue the pros and cons of an allocation agreement for six months. The reason I fought for the increase in the allocation was to provide the students with more of these activities and services which they should be getting at Bryant College. Spending six months on an agreement and still coming up with an unacceptable one has wasted enough of my time. As the Senate's time is for this reason the Student Senate will not accept the contract, and the Executive Council's authorization to seek alternatives to this problem.

According to the proposal, those who must be satisfied are the Trustees, the College, and from the viewpoint of the students the college administrators. McGarry remarked, "As a legally incorporated non-profit corporation, we would have the advantages of the incorporation and the corporation would have annual CPA audits, which would be available to Bryant College. The proposal includes a contractual agreement between the College and the corporation to provide those credits of the College come from what has to be said of the academic credibility of those colleges and the establishment of the College of Business Administration, so in good conscience, the College of Business Administration. Furthermore, what to be said of the College of Business Administration. Attorney General of Rhode Island College and the State of Rhode Island, who stated that

Rhode Island College this past summer, a transfer of student activities funds to the student government, whether or not that group is formally incorporated, is being desired for desirable delegation by the college. The college will work within the legal discretion of the College with the approval of the Board of Regents to adopt any of the models for student activity fee distribution presently under consideration.

McGarry related that RIC's proposal includes the college collecting the student activities funds as part of its billing process, and transferring the proceeds to an incorporated non-profit corporation to be spent by the funds physically transferred and maintained by the corporation for incorporation for the funds physically transferred.

McGarry stated, "I have been told that Bryant College is a school that is not to be compared to state institutions, but the education, responsibilities, delegated authority, and academic credibility, why should Bryant be considered as a state institution? The corporation would be able to be incorporated without being in competition with state institutions, but the corporation would be able to be incorporated without being in competition with state institutions, but the corporation would be able to be incorporated without being in competition with state institutions, but the corporation would be able to be incorporated without being in competition with state institutions, but the corporation would be able to be incorporated without being in competition with state institutions, but the corporation would be able to be incorporated without being in competition with state institutions.

As for the Senate trying to avoid "financial accountability and control," McGarry remarked that, "As a legally incorporated non-profit corporation, we would have the advantages of the incorporation and the corporation would have annual CPA audits, which would be available to Bryant College. The proposal includes a contractual agreement between the College and the corporation to provide those

Nader to Speak at Bryant

The Student Senate of Bryant College will present Ralph Nader, noted consumer advocate, on Thursday, October 10, 1974, at 8 p.m. in the Bryant College Gymnasium. Mr. Nader will speak to "Uncle Sam, Are You Speeding?" A Consumer Society" and will then entertain questions from the audience.

Mr. Nader was born in Winsted, Connecticut, in 1934. After graduation from Yale University, magna cum laude, in 1956, he is in Harvard Law School where he was president of the Law School Record. In 1965, "Uncle Sam, Are You Speeding?" his devastating account of the designed-in dangers of American automobiles, was published. In 1968, Mr. Nader established the National Environmental Law, and set up a group of young professionals who were promptly dubbed "Nader's Raiders." On campuses, Mr. Nader has been actively encouraging the formation of local student consumer groups on the Public Interest Research Group which he established in 1970 in Washington, DC. Mr. Nader's continuing work in automobile safety was in large part responsible for the passage in 1969 of the Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

THE ARCHWAY NEEDS HELP! That’s right. Everyone seems to want to see the College newspaper every Friday, yet nobody seems to realize that there is a lot of work involved in getting the newspaper to the printer.

First, we have to get ads. People are needed to go to different businesses in the Bryant College area and get these people to put ads in THE ARCHWAY. And we need ads badly. Right now, we have only one person, Nori Garnett, working on ads. And this is probably the most important job on THE ARCHWAY this year because we need this revenue so badly.

Next, we need writers—both for the Sports and News Departments. Many people complain when something is left out of THE ARCHWAY. There are so many things going on that we don’t have enough people to cover the news. There are club meetings, dinners, sports events—including varsity and intramural sports, and a myriad of other things happening on this campus. There are concerts and other forms of entertainment going on in the Rhode Island area that we would like to be able to cover in more depth. But we need you.

All of the work that I have mentioned in the above paragraphs has to be done in the days between Friday and Wednesday. On Wednesday and Thursday nights, “we put the paper to bed.” Do we type setting. We develop the pictures. And we do the paste up. This means that people have to glue the finished columns onto “dummy sheets” which go to the printer late on Thursday night. And we need more people in our Production Department to put THE ARCHWAY together.

Nobody seems to realize that the work that is involved in putting a newspaper together. It takes more than a few hours and a little patience. If you are interested in working on the newspaper, don’t back down because you lack experience. We can teach you the tricks of our trade. Sure, it’s a lot of hard work—but it can also be a lot of fun. You will be working with other students who are striving to have a better, more informative newspaper.

Yes, THE ARCHWAY needs help. And you are the only people who can help us! Stop by and see us some time. We’ll be able to put you to work with no problem at all!

The Bryant Game: Another View

Dear Editor,

I must admit that after reading last week’s issue of THE ARCHWAY, I was feeling that many of the members of the Bryant Community, there is a misunderstanding of the position that has been taken by the editors of the paper—namely Joan Frias and Paul Carroll. Through their editorial and opinion they attempted to elude a new Bryant, mainly by proposing “cleaning up the act.”

I have listened to many of the members of the Bryant Community for the last couple of days and have decided to take a closer look at last week’s issue of the ARCHWAY. I must admit that this act of “selling out” many people spoke of did exist in the issue. I feel that as a student leader I must have the picture a bit clearer for those not so close to the situation.

Although the ARCHWAY called for cleaning up the act nevertheless, it was said very openly about the Bryant “game,” perhaps in criticizing those members who complain that behind the scenes, the essence of the problem was overlooked. We don’t need to clean up the writing, rather we must clean up the “Bryant game.” If you will, does in fact exist. However, the impression left by the ARCHWAY is that we stop writing the problems they will go away. This is similar to students as something other than economic commodities? Granted, Bryant’s poor financial management; this is something that is in a Business School. We should be proud of but leave us not forget our other responsibilities as well.

Students are people. We who are seniors have developed many friendships as well as having many memories from our stay at Bryant. The yearsbook gives us a chance to share for one last time our careers here with our friends. A full delivery of the Ledger makes this impossible. How, Scott, do you propose to solve this problem? I don’t think you can have a book that is written, balanced out on the bottom of an accounting sheet. It is a problem that arises from our work as human beings, to deal with emotions. Dr. Fullerton, you and your staff of students, why didn’t you act in time when my school in such dire financial straits? Someone else has lived four of its seniors’ lives to save a couple of thousand dollars? Why was I not advised of this and should I have consulted? She was up here working this summer.

I don’t think I need remind of the fact that over 90 percent of the school’s revenue comes from its students in the form of fees. Don’t you think it would be more valuable to students as a more little more approachable to those students. How long do you intend to continue to play the students social welfare at the bottom of your list of priorities?

A number of us live here. This has become our home for the last four years. We are beginning to tire of decisions being made by our office, Mr. Scott, without regard for those of us who have to live here 24 hours a day, I would seriously recommend that you try listening to some of those students living in the same time as you over one dilemma after another, as a result of your efficiency drive. I have applied in office as Senate President the students-education counseling support with the Business Office. You are new to Bryant, you wouldn’t have the problem.

If the “cast” clean up at Bryant, none of us will have to bear the burdens of this and hopefully, we won’t have to complain at all. Bryant is small I tell you to it all. Let’s get together. Let’s give it a try.

Sincerely,

John Ledwick

President

The Bryant Editor’s Note: If an act or “selling out” existed in last week’s ARCHWAY, it wasn’t meant to. The policy of having all letters to the editor signed has been under consideration for some time now. I feel very strongly that if someone has something to say and feels strongly enough, he has his opinion published in the newspaper. He should have the right to have his views let people know how he feels. The same thing that has been done to clean up because of those little things that haven’t been properly cleaned up for the past few years, namely, debts. I do agree that the players in the Bryant Game have to clean up their act, too. I realize that we have to be seen as students as people, but have to be asked. But I can no longer print only one side of the story. There is something else going on when something occurs on this campus that will affect the student body. It is not the Bryant College, you and the other people involved. If someone refuses to speak to us about a specific situation, then that is how it is going to be. But there are always at least two sides to each problem and I intend to publish both sides of all the issues in the newspaper. The policy of printing only signed letters to the editor will not be abandoned while I am still the Editor.

There are always at least two sides to each problem and I intend to publish both sides of all the issues in the newspaper. The policy of printing only signed letters to the editor will not be abandoned while I am still the Editor.

THE ARCHWAY. If people think that this is a threat to the Administration or to the College, I cannot do anything to change their minds but at least that is true. That may not be enough for some people, but there are always people who don’t agree with what others say.

I sincerely hope the situation will improve. The yearbook can be remedied in some manner equitable to all. I personally would rather not have to chalk this one up to the already too long list of decisions made before the students.

Sincerely,

Greg Evans

Garrabby Calls for Drug Abuse Treatment

by Norma Bain

State House, Providence, R.I.

Lieutenant Governor Joseph C. Gannon explained the administrative effort to develop community-based programs offering alternative treatments for drug abuse victims.

In the keynote address to the Governor's Assembly on Drug Abuse Prevention for Effective Action, Lieutenant Governor Gannon explained that hospitalization and human service agencies in Rhode Island needed to conduct a closer co-ordination of programs for the victims of drug abuse. He added that there is a need to "continue to intercede law enforcement and treatment systems to ensure that the victims of drug abuse get the treatment they need, and will fight to earn their fulfillment.

There is nothing sexy about the operation of any oppressed group.

Roan Parks didn't sit in the front section of a city bus and spark the civil rights movement to be sexy; she sat down because she had to.

An Appalachian woman, her husband unable to work because his lungs are black with coal dust, whose breasts dangle around her waist from nursing her children, is not a woman who has been released from the drudgeries of her life so that she can express her liberation about having enough to eat.

A gentle welfare mother is not a woman who has been freed from the cares of love; she is worried about her children.

The definition of the women's movement in terms of sexuality is a dangerous obscuration of the real issues involved. The women's movement is dangerous for both men and women because it is a sexualized, language of sexual attitudes which is essential to the survival of a new vocabulary.

So far the women's movement has liberated men into a revolutionary era, the same word used by Marx, of the small dominant's, the women's movement, I reiterate, is non-physically, sexual. It is not that the corresponding sexual revolution on the part of the men is that there is nothing to do, in essence, with the movement of liberating.

Linda Cayton has an extensive history of championing women's causes. She has been successful in challenging state's repressive anti-abortion laws, served on the board of directors of the Virginia ACLU, and in Colorado, as a journalist and activist.

Bryant Women's Association

by Valeria A. Brauschman

Sunday afternoon, September 28, the Bryant Women's Association held a Reception Tea at the College. The tentative calendar for the 1974-75 academic year was presented. A bake sale planned for the College in November. In December the Association is planning to help out with the Trustee Day activities and in February a booktable sale and dance is anticipated. In April, all the women of Bryant College, including students, are invited to the Women's Night, which is being planned by Gaythia Langlois and Linda Nelson.

The Delta Omega Professional Society will host its first dinner meeting on October 11, 1974. It is a social event for new students and upperclassmen who don't know what Delta Omega is. The event will consist of four dinner meetings a year to which a guest speaker is invited. A dinner is planned for the Thursday of each occasion. A cocktail hour will also be scheduled for the important day. The dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m. In addition to the dinner, a social event will be held on the campus.

Delta Omega's first dinner meeting will be held at Club 44 in Smithfield on October 22nd. Our guest speaker will be Mr. Roy Williams from the U.S. Department of Commerce, Boston. He will discuss the opportunities of international business in Africa. This should be a very stimulating topic as we are being represented from all over the world.

In this modern age of bra burning, abortion on demand and the promotion of the equal rights movement, it is not unusual for a man's head like a "liberated" woman. The days of the mindless, non-thinking, non-feeling, non-acting. But there are some exceptions. The whole-scrubbed all-American dumpy chauvinist is beginning to think like the object of the Standard American Sexual female.

Men often identify the liberation of women with sexual freedom. After all, most popular figure in the last few years, in the male view has been the "liberated" woman. And liberated women tend to be more secure in and open about their sexuality.

Today's cinematic Venus is an update of that "blue-jean lady of the 50's". She is the same but straight, nipples showing seductively through a sheer halter. It is easy for men to applaud this Helen Gurley Brown version of feminine sexuality. This woman is "liberated" from the traditions of the past, but what may she develop as a total sexual being? A man no longer has to cherish the frustrating seduction of the object of his fancy, nervously removing his glasses to see her face, "He wants it as much as I do." Nevertheless, the sexual script for her to do is exchange greetings and a few key political words, and the male will be satisfied with the basic gynecological examination position.

The attraction is more than skin deep. A liberated woman is not an alluring woman who does not care about affection, time, or concern. Wam, bam, thank you ma'am. The attraction is more than skin deep.

And don't forget the sincere attraction of men to independent women. Ariana, "I have a desire to quash that independence and that contemptible facade of illegitimacy." An independent woman is not an alluring woman, one who does not care to share love, affection, time, concern. Wam, bam, thank you ma'am. The attraction is more than skin deep.

Dorothy Webster—A New Face

An instructor of shorthand, typing, and medical secretarial courses, Ms. Dorothy Webster is one of the new personalities on Bryant’s Faculty this year.

A former resident of Utica, New York, Ms. Webster is now living in Greenville, and the impressions she has of her new environment are very positive.

She finds Bryant to be an excellent institution in all respects, including an academic program in which she is involved.

"Bryant is exceptional compared to the other places I went for interviews; the other colleges were incomparable to here. The standards here are very high, which they should be," Ms. Webster has found uniformity within the Secretarial and Office Education Department, and consistency among the teachers to be very high.

Even though Bryant has a record enrollment this year, Ms. Webster’s classes are not overcrowded. Although she has found the students and faculty to be very helpful, she is disappointed that there are no men in her classes. When asked to elaborate on this she related that she had previously taught accounting in other schools and enjoyed teaching mixed classes.

While not teaching or tackling the tasks of settling into a new house, Ms. Webster is staked out somewhere with Mother Nature. A camping enthusiast, Ms. Webster has wasted no time in checking out New England’s countryside. Her family has already taken in Cape Cod (“the dunes were very impressive”) and is eager to see more of Southern New England.

Still getting organized in her new milieu, Ms. Webster has an optimistic view towards her new home and is ready to make the most of the opportunities awaiting her.

Senate to Sponsor Mixology Course

by Kevin McGarry

Have you ever wished that you knew how to tend bar? To know which were the right amount of liquor for the occasion? Do you know how to make a proper mixed drink or home bar? Do you know drink recipes for 12 drinks? Do you know the difference between wines, wine serving, and wine tasting? Do you know anything about beer besides how much to drink to get drunk?

Well, the opportunity is coming for you to learn all of this and more. Your Student Senate is going to sponsor a two-night Modern Mixology Course at Bryant. You will now have the chance to see how much you really know about all those intoxicating beverages that are second nature to most of you.

The course will be offered on two consecutive nights. The first night will be concerned with preparing a bar at a lounge or restaurant, preparing for a private function or party, learning the different glasses and their functions, a history and description of various beers and liquors, differentiation between "top shelf" and "bar" liquor, a history of wines and the process of producing them, what wines to serve with what foods, and wine tasting. Various wines will be served along with crackers and cheese.

On the second night, after you have become as knowledgeable as you will from the first night, you step up to such areas as pouring techniques, mixing drinks, custom service tips and some professional bartending secrets, and an examination which will include demonstration of your ability to mix drinks. The remainder of the second night is an open bar.

The course is recommended for anyone interested in bartending, being a waitress or waiter, or just increasing your knowledge of alcoholic beverages and their preparation. Just think, then you can tell your friends that you are a connoisseur instead of a drunk!

To Beta Sigma Chi

Thanks to the brothers of Beta Sigma Chi for a great time and friendship shown. It’s a brilliant Fraternity and I really enjoyed my stay. Good luck this year, fellas!!!

Senate to Sponsor Mixology Course

by Kevin McGarry

Have you ever wished that you knew how to tend bar? To know which were the right amount of liquor for the occasion? Do you know how to make a proper mixed drink or home bar? Do you know drink recipes for 12 drinks? Do you know the difference between wines, wine serving, and wine tasting? Do you know anything about beer besides how much to drink to get drunk?

Well, the opportunity is coming for you to learn all of this and more. Your Student Senate is going to sponsor a two-night Modern Mixology Course at Bryant. You will now have the chance to see how much you really know about all those intoxicating beverages that are second nature to most of you.

The course will be offered on two consecutive nights. The first night will be concerned with preparing a bar at a lounge or restaurant, preparing for a private function or party, learning the different glasses and their functions, a history and description of various beers and liquors, differentiation between "top shelf" and "bar" liquor, a history of wines and the process of producing them, what wines to serve with what foods, and wine tasting. Various wines will be served along with crackers and cheese.

On the second night, after you have become as knowledgeable as you will from the first night, you step up to such areas as pouring techniques, mixing drinks, custom service tips and some professional bartending secrets, and an examination which will include demonstration of your ability to mix drinks. The remainder of the second night is an open bar.

The course is recommended for anyone interested in bartending, being a waitress or waiter, or just increasing your knowledge of alcoholic beverages and their preparation. Just think, then you can tell your friends that you are a connoisseur instead of a drunk!

In addition to its other functions, the Student Senate is also responsible for the nomination of students to each of the College Committees. The faculty members are nominated by the deans of the Academic Affairs, and the Administration. The members nominated by the Council of Administration are nominated by the student members.

One of the College Committees is the Advisory Committee on Admissions Policy. This committee is responsible for the interpretation of the standards under which students are admitted to Bryant. It is a function of the Committee to suggest changes in these standards, as necessary.

A second committee is the Grievance Committee. This is an Advisory committee which is responsible for recommending changes in the academic policies of the College. These policies concern Inter-Collegiate, Latin, Greek Letter, and informal sports.

Another committee is the Commencement Awards Committee. The function of this Committee is to recommend candidates for the selection of award recipients.

The Computer Applications Committee is responsible for reviewing the college applications and the priority of these applications. This committee is responsible for the selection of the computer equipment.

The Library Committee reviews and recommends all policies concerning the library and the library's computer applications, and the priority of these applications. This committee is responsible for the selection of the computer equipment.

The Student Academic Grievances Committee is responsible for holding hearings to ensure that the academic rights of the students are not violated. An appeal is pursued by the student through the individual instructor, the particular Department Chairperson, and the Dean of Academic Affairs. This committee meets only when the individual student has been unable to follow the appeal process.

The Student Non-Academic Grievance Committee is similar to the Academic Grievance Committee, except it is concerned with the non-academic rights of the students. The appeal process for non-academic grievances should be pursued by the student through the Vice President for Student Affairs. This committee also meets when the student has not been able to follow the standard appeal process himself.

In addition to the seven committees listed above, there are also two new committees. The policies for these two are in the process of being written. One of these committees is the Committee on the Quality of Student Services. The other is the Advisory Committee on Long Term Planning.

Make yourself aware of these committees, they may be of great assistance to you at some point in your stay at Bryant.

anti-disposition provisions of federal contracts, HEW's findings on the affirmative action plan and willful sex discrimination, and the university's refusal to cooperate in HUD's investigation and in conciliation procedures, Secretary Weinberger has taken no steps to enforce the spirit, intent and mandate of Executive Order 11246, the complaint charges.

VPI and S, says the complaint, seeks millions of dollars in federal funds.

Ms. Dyson's allegations of sex discrimination by VPI and S are already before the federal court in Richmond and the NEA-supported case of Taliferno vs. Dykstra. This suit challenges sex discrimination claims raised in other Virginia state college and university system.

Former VPI and S faculty members have brought suit against the U.S. Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The National Education Association is providing financial support for the class-action suit of B. Patricia Dyson and Christine Wollan which has been filed in the U.S. District Court, Richmond, against Secretary Carper W. Weinberger. They seek a writ of mandamus to compel Weinberger to cut off federal funding.

Ms. Dyson, who taught business law, and Ms. Wollan, who was on the economics staff, both filed complaints of sex discrimination against the Blackburg, Virginia, institution in 1971. After nearly two years of investigation, HEW in 1973 concluded that Ms. Dyson had been victimized by discriminatory policies in respect to hiring, salary, and fringe benefits, and in May 1974 a similar finding was reported in respect to Ms. Wollan. The Department of HEW also concluded that the affirmative action plan required under federal Executive Order 11246 was deficient.

However, the university has not refused these women nor modified its affirmative action plan.

The present complaint alleges that Secretary Weinberger has violated the executive order, which prohibits "sex discrimination by institutions funded by the United States and which further mandates that in the event of uncorrected sex discrimination that funding from the United States to such institutions be terminated."

The Bryant College Accounting Association

by Susan Kaplan

On the first and third Monday of every month, the Bryant College Accounting Association holds its meetings. At these meetings, members listen to interesting speakers who speak on the various aspects of accounting. At these meetings students have at their grasp the choice of any particular area they wish to pursue.

Last year the Bryant College Accounting Association went on a field trip to the Internal Revenue Service located in Providence, Rhode Island. We all had a lot of fun. This year, the Bryant College Accounting Community will begin at the start of the second semester and will run through April 15, 1975.

Any interested Accounting major or minor, please contact the Association and the Accounting Department will find a tutor for that member.

This Accounting Association will serve as a place for all Accounting majors and minors to meet, discuss, and share problems, ideas, and solutions to questions concerning work-study pay rates.

ARCWAY: Why did hourly wages get cut from $2 per hour to $1.80 per hour?

Dr. Ervats: Cost—would cost roughly $20,000 a year to raise the hourly rate from $1.80 to $2 per hour. On this campus, even at $1.80 per hour, there is a waiting list for students to work.

ARCWAY: Why did they change it? (continued)

Dr. Ervats: The college had to change it because of the amount of money that was spent on the hourly wage program. The college now has to find other ways to pay for the hourly wage program. The college is looking into other ways to pay for the hourly wage program.
The Lineage of the Land

by Valerie A. Brauckman

The Bryant University Unistructure was designed to stand as a living monument, the ultimate expression of an era of land that still sits with all the vibrancy of the past. For the Bryant University Community, that era is the Roman Empire. In the Bryant present, however, stands a building, the Bryant Memorial.

Captain Joseph Mowry, son of Nathaniel Mowry, built his first home on land property 260 years ago, in 1708. Captain Joseph was one of the original settlers of Rhode Island and his house is one of the few colonial homes still standing. Located on the southwest side of Bryant's campus, the Mowry House was recently converted into an Alumni Center. Captain Joseph Mowry served as captain in the state militia. When he died (in approximately 1720), the house went to his son Peter. The Mowry House is not the first Bryant home, as Bryan Smithfield, Clerk Daniel also served two terms as Judge Daniel's valet and served for 35 years as the Town Clerk of Smithfield. Judge Daniel died in 1785.

In 1806, Judge Daniel's son, Cleric Daniel, received the fourth head of the house. Cleric Daniel was active in public affairs and served for 35 years as the Town Clerk of Smithfield and served in the Revolutionary War.

When Cleric Daniel died his son Governor received the family farm and died soon afterward in 1865, leaving his daughter an active, noted intellectual. In 1872, Thomas's son, Ingersoll, inherited the land and soon sold it for the first time in 160 years someone other than a Mowry owned the historic estate.

Since then, the Mowry Estate has sheltered three other families, the Emmons and the DeCotes. Paul S. Tupper purchased the property in 1890 and built a family and subsequently donated the land to Bryant University.

The Mowry House is not the only existing remnant of the Bryant family. Interestingly, the Mowry's Cemetery, obscure amidst the foliage, can be found if one searches behind the Unistructure. Venturing there may prove to be dangerous, as you will see in the next issue of THE ARCHWAY.

McGrath Resigns as RA

by Paul Carroll

Rich McGrath, formerly a Resident Assistant in Dorm 2, resigned his position earlier this week. To clear up rumors as to the reasons for his resignation, THE ARCHWAY spoke with Rich.

A Resident Assistant for the past two years, Rich feels that the role of the RA has changed, stating that the job has become more difficult. The RA job is really tough—when you talk to somebody about the go-between—Student Affairs has the final say. And because of the rules, it has become more difficult to retain a rapport with the students. There is a great misunderstanding of the RA's position. We are paid to enforce Student Affairs rules—they're not the RA's rules.

Rich related that the RA still has a discretionary role in his actions, and each RA must establish a degree and use of discretionary rights. He commented that the RA's "must make a clear difference between being a friend and a rule enforcer." When asked if he had resigned because of the rules, he stated, "the concepts behind the rules are sound—whether or not they become too constraining on students is a question I don't resigm ation."

The search for a new Vice President of Public Affairs, which began April 15, is now nearing its conclusion. According to Dr. Harry F. Evans, President of the College. Originally begun because the office had been vacant for a year and a half, the field has now narrowed down to the point where there are only a few people still being seriously considered. However, it will be at least a week before the final decision is announced.

The procedure by which all vice presidents are chosen here at Bryant begins when each applicant visits the school and is interviewed by the other vice presidents. Each candidate also meets with a group of faculty members, usually for lunch, and a group of students for dinner. Everyone who participates in the interviews then fills out an evaluation sheet and those applicants with the highest overall ratings are invited back. In this case, eight people were asked to return for second interviews and new evaluations. In addition, two local people came during the summer for initial meetings and are being included among those up for final consideration. However, some of those notified that they were up for final consideration have since found other jobs and are no longer available. Although the search slowed down during the spring and summer, the beginning of the school year brought a quickening of the pace; and Dr. Evans will be making his recommendations as soon as the final evaluations have been turned in, tabulated, and analyzed. This is not the final step, though, as Bryant is a corporation, and all vice presidents hold office within the corporation, they must be voted into office by the Board of Trustees. The target date for the new Vice President for Public Affairs to begin work is approximately two to four weeks after the Board reaches its decision.

Israel and Michaelson Debate at Bryant

The customary "toss of the coin" was the deciding factor that brought Republican Richard Israel, third term Attorney General of Rhode Island, to the stand to open the debate against his opponent, Democratic Senator Michaelson.

As an opening theme, Mr. Israel relayed feeling that through meeting the people of Rhode Island during his campaign he has found that the overall feeling of the people who he has come in contact with is a good one. The supporters of Mr. Israel feel that he is doing a good job and that they want him to "stay with it," according to Mr. Israel. An apparently conservative man, Mr. Israel came forth with very little reference concerning issues of public controversy and of his own office.

His opponent, Senator Michaelson, brought forth views in opposition to views of Mr. Israel. Some of the controversial issues mentioned during the debate ranged from rape to capital punishment. The audience in attendance seemed to be divided. There was very little support for either candidate on this debate. The race for the seat of Attorney General seems to be one of the most controversial in this year's elections.

Wednesday night's debate between the two Democrats and Senator Michaelson proved to be very stimulating to those who are following the campaign of either party. With such expert campaigning now may gain a considerable amount of knowledge from two very persuasive politicians such as Mr. Israel and Mr. Michaelson.

Musical Offices

by Charles Barnes

Several offices in the Unistructure have been moved to new locations. In speaking with Dr. Evans, he stated that the reason for the changes was brought about through the expansion of two of our newer departments: namely, Management Development and Graduate School. When the plans for the unistructure were drawn up in 1966, both of these offices were nonexistent.

When Bryant was moved to the new campus in 1967, it was realized that Bryant was a growing school and that changes in the building had to be made to accommodate the new growth. The addition of the graduate school, a lounge, and the unistructure expansion of the graduate school, which now consists of 430 students, and the addition of the Management Development Department, even more space was needed; therefore, moves were initiated. During the last two years, more walls were erected in the Research and Publication in a Professional School
by Lowell C. Smith

In recent weeks the question has become a major one for schools—whether or not research and publication are necessary in a professional school which conceives that its primary mission is undergraduate teaching. This article will attempt to deal with that issue and put it in the perspective which is probably more relevant to the larger school or business school.

In recent years, the traditional view has been that the true scholar not only teaches the course, but also does research and publication in the name of making a contribution, to the larger body of knowledge. What constitutes scholarly research and publication was generally conceded to be a rather restricted field which included articles in scholarly journals and original books with some text material following in this category. Even in those colleges and universities which prescribed some dedication to the primary of undergraduate teaching as a goal of the institution, publication and research became the key criteria for promotion, salary increases, and the granting of tenure. These schools became known as the "publish or perish" schools. To some extent, this emphasis on research and publication as the key criteria for promotion was caused by the inability or unwillingness to evaluate the teacher's effectiveness in the classroom. In the absence of any objective criteria for measuring teacher effectiveness, scholars fell back on the one thing that could be measured—this is, scholarly productivity in research and publication.

There are limits to the research efforts of an individual and the key guidelines for publishable research or original work were to be followed, either a field which was so narrow as to be within the capabilities of one person or to be so general that sufficient funds had to be generated to draw other scholars into the research effort. The end result was that many scholars began to write to impress other scholars rather than to convey any important concepts to the students, and they also wrote to give the benefit of special knowledge to groups such as governmental—grant-offering agencies and foundations. The result was that many scholarly journals are filled with articles which perform a great many specialized gymnastics in order to prove self-evident truths.

While this practice is prevalent in professional journals in the disciplines of business and economics, the concept of the role of publication and research has been expanded to include service to the larger community as well as publication in scholarly journals. Professional business programs and colleges have recognized that they serve a larger population than the scholarly community itself, and many of the items which are now considered appropriate scholarly output are addressed to the pragmatists and practitioners who must use the ideas developed in today's modern business school. For example, the 1910 LMF class will meet from 8:00 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on Friday, December 13. The 1:00 MWF class will meet from 1:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 17.

Love, Peace, and Pick up the Cups!
by Lisa Pesanello

With all the glory and splendor of such great gatherings as Woodstock and Waters Glen, Bryant's 1974 Septemberfest resulted as a huge success.

On Friday afternoon, the area of grass behind Dorm 5 was converted into a rollicking playground of rock singers, frisbee throwers and beer drinkers.

If you had the opportunity to be on campus last Friday, you certainly wouldn't have missed the festivities. Walking through the crowds of students quenching their Friday afternoon thirsts, one could not help but be brought closer to the brotherhood to be found only at Bryant (or AA). If you didn't attend, you certainly found something to your liking, as there was something there for everyone.

Through the coordination of the Servity Club and the Marketing Association, Bryant students were offered an afternoon filled with food, fun, and plenty of beer. From the moment the Schlitz truck arrived on campus, the afternoon promised to be memorable.

Many congratulations and thanks go to the Servity Club and Marketing Association on a job well done. The students at Bryant are certainly looking forward to the Oktoberfest. Just think, all of that beer and good, clean fun—and all you had to do was to pick up the cups!
Super Bowl Patriots
by Cory Raphealsen

Well now that you're through laughing at them, the New England Patriots have risen through the ranks of the premier teams in the N.F.L. Their future looks promising as Manager Chuck Fairbanks has in a short time taken a ragamuffin band of free agents and rookies and turned them into a feared football team. Along with the St. Louis Cardinals, the Patriots are the surprise team of pro football.

As the third week of the season ends the Patriots are the only American Conference team with an unbeaten record.

The transformation of the team is incredible. After a 6-8 season last year with an easy schedule, the so called experts said the Patriots would need a miracle to go 5-0. The miracle has happened, the Patriots defense in 1973 was last against the run and first against the pass (no one had to bother to pass against them). The defense this year has changed to resemble the Miami "53" defense. This defense is normally geared to stop the pass, but New England has altered it to stop the run. In 1973 the Patriots offense was among the most prominent in the league, but they were missing one thing; the run. It wasn't that they couldn't run, it was just that they used to forget to bring the ball with them.

This year the Pat's offense led by Jim Plunkett leads the league in points scored. Last year Plunkett received his plays from the blitz and he didn't like it. This year Jim calls his own game and as a result he has become the best young quarterback in the game. In Reggie Rucker, Randy Vataha, Daryl Stimpel and Bob Windus; Plunkett has some of the better receiving corps in the league. Sam "Bum" Cunningham has designed how to hold onto the ball and is regaining the glory of his former days with the Bears. Sam's partner in the backfield is one of the most exciting football ballplayers to come to the N.F.L. in years.

The Man is little 5'6" Mini Mack Herton. Herton was considered a trouble maker in the Canadian Football League. His big problems have made with New England is with opposing tacklers. On punt returns and kickoffs, he is one of the best. This year he is also showing he can play in the regular offense.

Perhaps the place that the Plats have improved the most is in the kicking game. The days of "supertoot's" Mike Walter and Jeff White have ended. In John Smith the Patriots have a good kicker who is going to get even better.

The Patriots won't be in the Superbowl this year and they may not even make the playoffs, but right now they are the hottest team in football and they are thriving on their new found power to give the New England fans something to cheer about; something that they haven't had for quite a few years.

Bryant's Cross Country Team run all three times this year; the okay Athletic girls feel in gs on girls' varsi ty interest in obtaining var sity and as Paso tours the facilities and started working on a schedule against most other Rhode Island clubs.

On Monday night, November 30, 34 girls went to the tryouts in the gym to compete for 12 to 15 positions on the roster.

It is the sincere hope of the two coaches to produce a winning team and eventually have that team obtain varsity status, paving the way for other girls' varsity sports at Bryant College.

The Bryant Soccer Team posted two wins and one loss in three games during this past week. The team's record now stands at 1-1-1. The victories were an important win over SMU, (Southeastern Massachusetts University) 1-0, establishing them as a tough competitive team. Bryant is undefeated in three games, following this victory over Bryant. Bryant will host SMU on Tuesday, October 22.

Bryant was caught by surprise with 39 seconds gone in the first half. The score, however, was against the home team by the stingy Bryant with 39 seconds gone into the goal by Bob Sterk of the Indians (Drama Club) 1-0.

The game was a 1-0 victory for the Indians, their third straight win in the team's first season. The Indians have scored only 1 goal in three games, but this is still a significant improvement over the team's previous record of 0 goals.

The victory was a significant step forward for the team, and it was achieved in part by the goalkeeping of Bob Sterk, who made several impressive saves. The Indians' defense also played a key role in the victory, with several solid performances.

Bryant's coaches and players were pleased with the team's performance, and they hope to continue this momentum in upcoming games.
