The Bryant College Student Senate announced this week that it will hold elections for Freshman Senate seats on Thursday, September 26, 1974. This is the first time Freshman elections have been conducted apart from upperclassman elections—the new format being part of a plan to facilitate a smoother operation of the Senate when it reconvenes in the fall.

Several of the pertinent facts which have been presented to us are:

1. All candidates for Senate positions in the Legislative Body can display as many posters as they desire in the Student Center and the dormitories beginning at 3 p.m. on Monday, September 23, 1974.

2. The Student Senate will provide one 10 by 15 inch sheet of paper for each candidate when they return nomination papers. Stencils must be returned to the office after the election is over.

3. The Elections Committee of the Student Senate has the power to ban or remove posters, handbills, or any other material which does not conform to the rules.

4. Voting will be conducted by a secret ballot, only one ballot per student, and other displays must be removed from the campus or a maintenance charge will be made.

5. Any candidate found guilty of misconduct involving the nomination papers or found guilty of breaking any of the election rules set down by the Elections Committee of the Student Senate will be declared ineligible to run for a Senate seat.

The Senate urges Freshmen to take an active interest in student government and to contribute their efforts toward the improvement of student life at Bryant.

Jewish High Holy Days

It was learned last night that Kevin J. McCarthy, President of the Bryant College Student Senate, must leave the Undergraduate Senate, ViP President for Academic Affairs to present to him the petitions that were signed by a total of 900 students who were in sympathy with the requests by the Jewish students.

Senator’s Faculty Evaluation as a component in his decision not to hire Dr. Obeulewicz ad a part time faculty member in the Evening Division. New to Bryant, Dr. Smith has stated that he did not know that there was an application for the position. His statement, taken in sympathy with the requests by the Jewish students.

Having already elected Senior, Junior and Sophomore Senators to the 1974-75 Senate, the Senate has now begun to conduct business and work on projects over the summer.

A Culmination And Examination Period?

by Paul J. Carroll

After reading this year's college calendar, many students at Bryant College either went into cardiac arrest or catatonia, depending on their present psychological disposition. The cause of all this heart failure can be traced to an elusive term on the calendar—the culmination and examination period. The immediate reaction to this was: "Oh no, we're going to have to take final exams!" Well now that the college's supply of smelling salts has been depleted, let's all calm down and find out what this term really means.

This new culmination and examination period is a re-scheduling of classes during the final week of the semester. Classes during this period will be 2½ hours in length, with two sessions daily. What this does is take the three regular weekly sessions between 2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. each day. To illustrate this hypothetically—your 11 o'clock class that regularly meets on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday may be re-scheduled to have all three classes meet from 8:00 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on a given day.

So what's the point of having this new procedure. Well, as explained by Mr. Richard Darkhouse, Registrar, some faculty members felt it necessary to give final exams in some of their classes. This new culmination and examination period will allow these teachers to do so. The college is not enforcing compulsory final examinations.

The decisions to hold final exams will be at the discretion of each instructor. Thus, teachers may elect to hold regular classes or give a final exam during each 2½ hour period. This eliminates students taking three or more examinations in one day.

The scheduling process has not been finalized yet; however, it will be published upon completion.

All students should be able to breathe a little easier now; that is, if your instructors are the ones not giving final exams!

the editor's desk

Last week many of you may have wondered what happened to THE ARCHWAY. When you picked it up last Friday morning, you may have thought that it seemed a little undernourished. Well, it was just plain run-down, not because of poor management, or very poor management. Financial records were not kept by the last editors in chief and the budget was not watched closely—if it was watched at all. The present Editor of THE ARCHWAY last March 29, I was under the impression that the former editors in chief had taken care of the financial end of the newspaper. As those last weeks rolled into the present, I found out that I was quite wrong about it. I'm in the dark thinking. By the end of the summer THE ARCHWAY budget was in very serious condition. The situation was bad because the newspaper had been coming out each week that had to be paid-for supplies used during the academic year, for rental of our typesetting equipment, for the UPI wire-service rental, and for the printing cost of the paper. Although the rental fees for IBM and UPI equipment is the same each month, the past editors did not seem to realize that they were supposed to leave enough money in the budget to cover the expenses that were incurred during the academic year but which had to be paid during the summer—before the end of the fiscal year, which is July 31 at Bryant College.

When July 31 came around, I was told that the budget for THE ARCHWAY was "in the hole" for the second year in a row. The College policy on matters such as this is that any money that is spent over the budget must be taken out of the next year's budget. This is an obvious heads-on-down on the income side of the ledger. We also are trying to sell as many ads as we can to cover the cost of printing the paper, so that the money that is left in the budget can be used for better things, such as, you know, which we have to do. (Two of our machines were left inoperative due to the poor management of the past editors), supplies, and any equipment that we may have to buy this year.

Besides these expenses, there are other things that I have had to take into consideration. During the summer, THE ARCHWAY Office and the rest of the summer has been poor. Due to the fact that THE ARCHWAY property has not. It seems that there are far more keys out that belong to THE ARCHWAY Office lock than I care to believe. Therefore, there is no open lock to those who are in the dark. Dark equipment that use to do our typesetting has been stolen from the main ARCHWAY Office. But Maintenance says that the locks cannot be used until they finish the construction and relocation of offices that they are working on now. This summer my memory serves me correctly, I asked to have the keys to THE ARCHWAY Office changed about three months ago. I'm still getting the same answer that I got that day: "We're too busy." It doesn't seem to matter that we are getting robbed blind.

It is also imperative, at this point in THE ARCHWAY's history, to mention our advertising situation. As of today, September 13, 1974, our advertising policy is as follows:

Full page (5 columns x 16 inches) $100.00
Full page (5 columns x 8 inches) $110.00
1/2 page (5 columns x 8 inches) $50.00
1/4 page (3 columns x 1/2 inches) $28.00
1/8 page (2 columns x 1 inches) $15.00
Other sizes (per column inch) $2.00

Discounts for those subscribing for 6 or more consecutive ads. The discount rate for such advertisers is 10 percent. Any Bryant clubs or organizations wishing to advertise in THE ARCHWAY should be very sure that their articles are free from typos. Any club wishing to advertise events such as mixers, smokers, etc., will receive free ads only if they do not charge admission to these events. If admission is charged, the regular 10 percent discount will not apply. The free page is an estimate of the size of four columns (two columns by two inches), and we cannot guarantee that free ads will be printed. This depends on the amount of space available in the newspaper during the week the ad is placed. Notices of club meetings, student services, and other general information will be run in a special "Notice" column. These will be printed every week. Nothing that could be considered an advertisement will be printed in this special column.

All segments of the Bryant College community which wish to have professional presentation of their articles, such as columns and editorials, newsletters, brochures, invitations, letters, etc., are invited to come and see me in THE ARCHWAY Office. By having this type of work done, we can really go more concerned for the needs of the College to get printing jobs done. I can guarantee that the price will be the same or lower than that of outside printing firms and that the quality of the work done will be just as high. By bringing your printing jobs to THE ARCHWAY, you will also be helping the newspaper out—so we won't let you down.

This year, the ARCHWAY Staff is working very hard to get the newspaper out, in time. It's going to be a long, hard year, but I am sure that we can do it and that we will be able to bring THE ARCHWAY to you every week. Anyone wishing to submit any letters to the editor is encouraged to do so. Any letters or articles submitted for us to print must be typed on plain paper (8½ x 11") that is not carbonized. All letters to the editor must be signed by the writer and some way that their names be withheld from publication. Any letters or articles which do not conform to these rules will not be printed. All letters and articles must be submitted to us in THE ARCHWAY Office before 3 p.m. Wednesday preceding the publication date of the issue in which the letter or article is to appear.

Looking forward to bringing THE ARCHWAY to you every week. Please let me know of any thoughts or suggestions you have concerning THE ARCHWAY. It's your paper, too!

In memoriam

ida cantini

This summer a much loved member of the Bryant Community passed away. Ida Cantini, a maid for the Faculty Offices, died after a short illness on July 16, 1974. Her warm personality and outgoing friendship won her many friends here at Bryant among students, faculty and staff.

Adopted as the "Queen Mother of Bryant College," Ida described herself as "a simple person." In an ARCHWAY interview last November, Ida was asked what she attributed her widespread popularity to. She replied, "They go for me. I don't know why—they just go for me."

Ida first came to Bryant in September of 1969 and worked here until her illness last spring.

She may have considered herself to be a simple woman, yet she was a very special woman to those of us who knew her. To quote last November's ARCHWAY, "She has adopted all of us as her children, and has added sparkle and joy to our lives here at Bryant." We will miss you, Ida.
The Used

Watergate Women

by Joan F. Marsella

Now that dust has settled around the bunker after the fall of the biggest enchilada of all time, women can take some comfort in the fact that theirs was only the usual supportive role.

The graceful weepers were candidly displayed on appropriate occasions. The in the service of their men. The

Whatever did happen to Dita

Martha, "The Mouth"

understood what the darling of skeptics night and we were so right!

At least Martha is still around though broke and abandoned, considerably better off than that of Mrs.
Hunt, wife of the conspiratorial architect. While she was carrying $10,000 on some unexplained errand for her husband, her plane crashed killing all passengers. All suspicions about that mission were not buried with the victims!

Who had heard of Maureen Dean before her pristine beauty sought national attention as she served as an effective backdrop for her husband's remarkable testimony before the Erin committee?

Modesty and devotion personified, Maureen challenged any rivalry her husband's

Was there a Mrs.

Was she the one who

Maurice Stans unthinkingly

masculine plea.

"Let's not forget Rosie

where she begged that her technical ineptitude not be

SIG Lambda Theta
The Student Senate's first meeting of the year convened on Tuesday, September 19, at 7:30 a.m., and approving the minutes of their previous meeting. Following a recess, the Senate's proposed foster child program was brought up for floor debate. Since last May, the program had been pending before the Senate, and it was voted to sponsor a foster child for one year. It had been decided last year that funds for this program would not come from the Senate budget because it was felt student monies should only be spent on programs which the Senate approved by a vote of six for one, against. A second vote has been made on hammer on whether the program should be supported at all by the Senate or not. No decision was reached.

Howard Fluma, Vice President, urged senators to increase class discussion during meetings to ensure all viewpoints are expressed and taken into consideration. He passed a motion on this subject to be made.

Tim Bannan, Treasurer, reported to senators that the Senate had spent 99.5 percent of last year's budget as of the end of July. Bannan foresaw a minimal deficit in the budget but added, "we will hope for a zero deficit next year." Discussion then turned to the matter of the Jewish high holidays. Kevin McGurry related that the Senate was looking for a College precedent concerning the matter. He added that the Senate had learned that the Student Organization's policy of not providing meals was still established before taking a stand.

In other Senate matters, the Senate has been approached by two graduate students from Brown University desiring to offer a course in miscology at Bryant. The course would consist of two night sessions for one week at a cost of $1.5. The Senate voted 12 for, zero against with two abstentions to support the program pending further information and administration approval.

The subject of the Rathskeller was brought to the floor in regards to its hours of operation. Stimulus for discussion was a reaction from students over the Rathskeller being closed this past weekend. The Senate voted 13 for, zero against, with one abstention to oppose the Rathskeller's new hours of operation. The matter was looked into with the Business Office.

MBA Highlights

by Dean Lebortz

Welcome Back

We welcome the return of our graduate students and the entry of our new MBA students. We hope that we have answered all your questions and have met your program needs. If you have any questions, call or visit the Graduate Office. But please note the new location below.

New High in MBA Enrollment

MBA enrollment for Fall 1974 reached an all-time high of 425 students enrolled in 36 classes, as contrasted with 350 enrolled in the Fall 1973 Semester. In addition to the 22 classes on campus, 8 classes are running in Fortausch at the Raytheon Company plant and four at Newport with the Navy. A new off-campus program this Fall is at B I F in West Warwick. This new off-campus program has begun with two classes.

NEASC Accreditation

We are most pleased to report that the New England Association of Schools and Colleges has reaffirmed its accreditation of the MBA Program and of the Graduate School. The reaffirmation of the Graduate School marks the second time in a year that Bryant has been granted accreditation.

MBA Graduates

The value and visibility of the MBA Program are becoming more manifest with the increase in the numbers of graduate students. Students who successfully complete their programs by attaining their MBA degree in 1974 have earned 81 MBA degrees, 70 on campus and 11 Navy. This new total exceeds the 58 MBA degrees in 1973 and only 29 in 1972.

Everyone is Company, But Three Is Definitely A Crowd

During the senior year of college, many students begin to approach life as if it's time to settle down and discard those carefree days of college repartee. Many times this representative is a Life Insurance salesperson. They are virtually everywhere and everyone. But why Life Insurance? Why does the college senior have it? Can't he at least think about his future for once, without having to share his time and effort? Now, in the summer, the student begins to take his first step into the world outside of the academic community. Where does he begin? If aggressive, conscientious, and ambitious, he will want to project that which he has worked hard to develop: his future earning power.

How is this done? Through life insurance, of course. This traditional method for guaranteeing that your entire estate will be self-sufficient in the event of a serious illness, injury or even death. The senior year is the ideal time in which the initial purchase should be made; since age, health and income are the major factors when working in favor of the student.

(a) Mortality experience indicates that anyone younger than 35 probably because his higher income will allow the student more time to live a more satisfying and healthful life, less taxing physical and mental work.

(b) It will mean a lower total contribution, since each age change costs an additional 3 to 4 percent in total premiums he would pay into the plan.

(c) Should his job on graduation be classified as a hazardous occupation or he will be major employed in a technical field position like nuclear research or outer-space location work, his premium would be rated accordingly.

On August 30, 1974, Carmen Jordan, Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs, called an emergency meeting of Andover Student Affairs regulations regarding the recognition and registration of all student groups. A two-page memo attached described the procedure. In it, the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs claimed responsibilities for activities herebefore organized as the "student governing body," that the students of Bryant College have elected it to be. The purpose of the Student Senate has always been to develop, plan, fund, coordinate and evaluate all of the Bryant College student activities. Now it seems that the Office for Student Affairs wants to take that responsibility from the Senate. The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs would reserve the "right to deny recognition to any student group whose stated aims and/or objectives are not consistent with those of Bryant College" even though Bryant College has not formally stated aims and/or objectives for student organizations or groups and have submitted their constitutions and by-laws, officers and Post Office Box numbers to the Bryant College Student Senate and are currently recognized and funded by the Registration in the Office of Student Affairs should therefore be a matter of policy making. It is important for the Bryant College Senate to recognize the Bryant College Student Senate, the elected student government, as the agent for recognition, organization and funding. Great controversy over this new policy is inevitable and expected. The position of the Senate and all the Bryant College organizations funded by the Senate is now before Carmen Jordan for consideration and response.

The most ultimate dream of students who are in these seven-person suite must be getting elected to go around once you get in the bathroom after fighting the most unruly mob.

Upon several interviews with freshmen, it was found that they all share the common wish to move away from the maddening crowds found in their rooms. But Thornhill triples expressed some type of disdain concerning their living conditions. Of all the comments and criticisms expressed, the one thing seems that "there isn't enough room to live in these rooms. It seems that we have enough room for only one person to use, and someone else is using a desk, the room is already filled up to capacity. In these suites, if there isn't anyone around; or go to the library if it is still open. But then, we've made friends in the suites we're in, we will have to adjust to a new set of conditions when we've moved to a suite.

Out of a survey taken from several dormitories at random, there was only one instance in which three boys, all close friends, were at odds with the situation at hand. In fact, they said that they didn't care how long it lasted as long as they could convince the roommates that washing his underwear once a week was a good habit to get into living under such cramped conditions. However funny, or not funny, depending on your present roommates situation this may seem, there is definitely a way to live in the system here at Bryant. As a business school that is dedicated to "Education for Business Leadership" we feel that a poor example has been set in the area of student living. An example has been set in the area of customer satisfaction. Any complaints that you encounter should be brought to the attention of Carmen Jordan, the Assistant to the Vice President for Student Affair. It is her duty to assist you and to make the necessary changes.

But Three Is Definitely A Crowd

The new students at Bryant College are more places to go and where to eat than they thought of before. Many have expressed their belief that the food was better than they had expected. They have also indicated that the food is situated conveniently. Many have also voiced that they are learning to eat what they want when they want.

One Is Company, But Three Is Definitely A Crowd

The walls of the dormitories have been of the highest quality and they are being maintained by a professional staff. The dormitory has been designed to be comfortable and to provide the students with a pleasant environment. Anonymous observations of Bryant's long and winding pathways show that it is a pleasant place to be. The students like the quick access to the constant roar of the dormitories. Various comments were, "I like having the facilities available and being able to use them."

One advantage seems to be the students being able to enjoy the dormitories. They like the dormitories better than they do in the dormitories. As the Season Draws to a Close

by Cory Raphaelson

This season the baseball races in all four divisions have been exciting. No division has a clear runaway team, but on occasion there have been some comfortable margins. With one month left in the season, only the American League West has been decided.

The Oakland A's have thwarted the up-and-coming Texas Rangers and the young K.C. Royals. Once again the A's are proving to prove to everyone that they are the best team in baseball. The A's started the season slowly but under pressure from the Rangers and Royals they surged to the top to stay.

The American League East is an entertaining division that has seen nearly each team spend time on top. The Boston Red Sox have been in first place most of the season. The topESPYs were given him and and they are the best team in baseball. The A's started the season slowly but under pressure from the Rangers and Royals they surged to the top to stay.

The Jacobs Drive Dedicated
by Anne-Marie Vigneau

The Information Center was the site last Tuesday of the official unveiling and dedication of a plaque honoring the Jacobs family for its contribution to Bryant over the years.

Representative of the family was Dr. E. Gardner Jacobs, Chancellor and President Emeritus of the college, who arrived at the site in the 1928 yellow Rolls Royce of the late Mrs. Cotton. He was accompanied in the car by his wife, Dr. Col. Martling. The event was opened by Dr. Frederick C. Tanner, Vice Chairman of the College and Chairman of the Board of Regional Products Corporation.

Accompanied by a band playing melodies from the Gatsby era, the group stopped just short of the booth and was greeted by a gathering of about 150 people as Dr. Jacobs cut the ribbon, officially opening the drive.

Dr. Jacobs thanked those present for the honor given him and summed it all up by saying, "It has always been my dream to dedicate my life to a living memorial. Bryant College is the fulfillment of this dream."

Following the conclusion of the ceremony, a reception was held in the Faculty Dining Room for invited guests.
BRYANT SOCCER

A new edition of the Bryant College basketball yearbook, by Co-captain and Mike Kelley. The yearbook includes a summary of Kevin Homan, similarly immediate bench strength. According to Coach Guay of the uppers, the young men on the team, Guay improved his skills the most. In relief, watch for rookies Mike Kelley, a smart and good ball handler; Leney Joy, an aggressive player; and Bel O’Srien, Howie Widman and Bob Kay. This year’s 25-man roster shows 16 returning players. A team of youth and experience, the squad has four seniors: Bruce Lostocco, Mark Shahn, Hank Stepnowski, and Jim Teletos; five juniors: Jef Arpin, John Feeley, Kurt Nyman, Howie Schreiber, and Dale Speicher; eight sophomores: Bill Eaton, Kevin Homan, Rick Lewis, Gary Widman, Mike Kelley, Bel Kay, a smart ball handler, Leney Joy, an aggressive player; and Bel O’Srien, Howie Widman and Bob Kay. Coach Guay faced a difficult decision choosing the starting 11. The team is as well-versed in youth and experience as it is in veterans. The team appears to have found a balance between youth and experience. The starting 11 will be announced at a later date.

Karate Club Begins Second Year

Once again the time has come for Bryant clubs to introduce themselves to new students. The Bryant College Karate Club is beginning its second year as a Senate-recognized club.

From a humble beginning last year, the club now has a strong membership of 50, which reflects the hard work of some hard-working members. The club has been invited to compete in some major tournaments this year. The club is still looking for new members to join forces and compete in these tournaments.

Swim Team Review

A large turnout of freshmen marked the first meeting of the Swimming Team on Monday, September 9. Coach Guay is optimistic about this year’s team of six returning lettermen and 22 freshmen candidates.

Returning swimmers this year are Henry Lighthorne, Nassau, Bahamas; and Tom O’Conner, Cranston, Rhode Island. Also returning are butterfly marvel, Mark Rafferty, East Providence; necker, Jose Haydu, Freehold, New Jersey; captain and distance man Craig Bogar, New Jersey; and backstroker Pete Lockatell, Montgomery, New Jersey.

The swim team consists of 20 swimmers, including Olympic trials, and is under the direction of Coach Guay. The team is looking forward to a successful season.
