Bryant's 11th Commencement

Four distinguished Americans, two of them born in Rhode Island, will receive Bryant's highest honors at the College's one-hundredth annual Commencement to take place at the Campus on Saturday, May 18, at 10 a.m.

Dr. Herbert E. Lovin, National Broadcasting News Correspondent, will present the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters; Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. M. Story, President of Federal Women's Program, U.S. Civil Service Commission, who have received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in Public Administration, are both Rhode Islanders. The Rt. Rev. Bishop John M. Burgess, Bishop of the Board of Federal Public Administration, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in Business Administration.

Dr. Harry T. Andrews, President of Bryant College, will preside at the Central Assembly, which will be attended by approximately 250 candidates honored for Baccalaureate and Associate Degrees. Approximately 250 men and women will receive Master of Business Administration degrees.

The following awards will be presented at Commencement:

- George M. Wolf Award
- Ignatius T. Martin Award
- William J. Manchester Award
- John J. Nash Award
- Charles Curran Award
- Timothy A. Harnett Award
- David F. Scott Award
- Bryant Short L. L. Award
- J. C. Slatkin Award
- Roger W. E. Buchanan Award
- H. L. Jacobs Award
- Good Citizenship Award
- Student Council Honor Award
- Kappa Tau Brotherhood Award
- Self-Honor Award
- Bryant Typewriting Award

A reception for the entire Bryant community will be held immediately after the ceremony. Commencement exercises and guest speakers will be announced at a later date.

Robert A. Rakowski, President of Bryant College, will receive his doctorate of law degree at the graduation ceremony.

Inside:
Parents' Spring Weekend p. 4
Greek News p. 5
Complaints of Stem From Apafrith
Dear Editor,
Being a Freshman Student Senator this past year, I have taken the liberty of requesting the newspaper to print an article on the way your university newspaper "Help Wanted" announcement.

The four years that most of this year's seniors have seen have been filled with change—the biggest change probably being the move from the Bryant campus on the East Side of Providence to this new campus. Many of you are already aware that things were much better in Providence...you didn't need a car to get to the restaurants and the movies and the stores, etc. These new changes came open late at night right there on the East Side—Jiminy's and Louie's and Foley's. And there was the added attraction of the activities that went on at Bryant University.

Since the first year that Bryant moved to Smithfield, things have shaped up considerably. When we first moved into the dormitory Villages they were too cramped. Rooms are too small, and try to get ourselves moved into our room—no one ever thought that grass would ever grow on the mud that once surrounded our new beautiful campus.

Now, Bryant has a radio station that will be broadcasting on the air next semester. There is a Management-Development Department that is bringing in business students from the surrounding area for seminars and so the name and reputation of Bryant College is reappearing on the "real world!"

For those of us who will stay at Bryant for another semester, or year, or more, there are many things to work for. Perhaps a student or two on the Board of Directors or a vanity campaign program for women, or better food in the canteens. But none of these things will happen if the students who remain at Bryant stay as apathetic as they have been for the past four years. We have to band together to make our needs known. We have to stick together when we feel as if we are right. We have to work hard to try to make things better at Bryant College—changes that will make Bryant better for everyone in the entire College Community.

Many of us who have been at Bryant College, I've heard all about how it is in the "real world." I think that Bryant is part of the "real world" and that all the things that the students experience here will follow them and add to that experience. Our attitude and the way we react to things that go on in our rooms and go away on weekends without taking an active part in the things that go on at Bryant, will be far less experiences to teach us how to get along in the real world.

Good luck to all of the students who are graduating on May 18. Please let us know if it's true what they say about the "real world!"

Sincerely yours,

1973-74 Freshman Senator

Dear Editor,
During the two years we have attended Bryant College, we have had the highest regard for its faculty. However, during these last few weeks, we have repeatedly been treated rather abruptly by a certain faculty member.

In the past we have always been able to use Room 216 between the hours of 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. to do any necessary work. Recently, a class of two to five students has been using the room for dietetic purposes. Why is it necessary for two to five students taking dietetics only to use the only available typing room when there are other rooms open at that time? We have been told by this faculty member that our request was assigned to her for dictation. We can use the room for this, as any person with a little common sense should be able to maintain between the priority of the two. We realize that the dictation is important to these students taking it but can't understand why they have to use the only typing room available.
P.S. We wanted to get this letter in sooner but we couldn't find a typewriter!

Siners in search of a typewriter

Dear Editor,
This letter is in response to the article entitled "McGarry Speaks." If the Student Senate is supporting black students, how can you honestly justify and explain the following incidents: 1) black students who wanted to be on the Wake Forest debate team and who were denied; 2) the Student Entertainment Committee, submitted his request eight weeks in advance of the event because the black student body showed any form of interest and the black student was chosen for a seat on this committee.

If the Bryant Student Senate desires the respect of the students, (black and white) it must earn that respect. Furthermore, if the Student Senate body have not been met, that is, committers, black students and the average dorm student who is not affiliated with the Senate. You mentioned that it may have been because of the low number of the Student Senate to allocate money for Wata Wuwazi's concert. However, it was in the low down, underhanded tactics that the Student Senate used in making this allocation for the concert. Much of the conflict and controversy could have been avoided if some members of the Senate had not felt "INTIMIDATED" (sic) by the presence of the students and instead had been honest and open throughout the whole procedure.

It is indeed true that the Senate does sponsor (any interest) that exists for anything that these are not discriminatory, but I ask you, when did the Senate last have a black hand at a dance, a concert or a spring weekend? And do you think that many students choose not to "participate" (voting for the student) Senate did indeed represent all of the students, it would seem as though the Senate was not working. As students and the Senate has an obligation to concerned themselves with the needs and interests of this segment, an obligation which the Senate has NEVER seen fit to meet or live up to.

On paper you indeed have a system of checks and balances, but in actuality, the system does not work. I ask you, why the decision of the Senate regarding Wata Wuwazi's concert, one of the profoundly "RARE" votes made by the Executive Committee. If you have any questions concerning the validity of the decision, you can speak with the immediate past president. For your information, be aware that the Executive Committee voted on effect that a Senate meeting in May of 1973, McGarry, how on some determined if a given activity is not of general interest to the student body? If the Senate, who supposedly represents the student body, how on earth do you give Wata Wuwazi $3,000 for its concert, why is it that the Executive Committee voted this decision? And you say that the Student Senate has no control over the Executive Committee, as black students and the Senate has an obligation to concern themselves with the needs and interests of this segment,...an obligation which the Senate has NEVER seen fit to meet or live up to.

As Vallejo, you familiarize yourself with the facts before making public statements concerning personal information. I do sincerely hope that the Student Senate SENTS to make decisions that are for the benefit of ALL the students at Bryant.

A. Cyprin A. Kemp II

Dear Editor,
This letter is written in response to Cyprin Kemp's letter "Help Wanted" printed in THE ARCHWAY on April 26, 1974.

All of us "melagolans" have gotten together and have decided to make a change, one thing; it, Melagolans, that is. (For you Bryant racists who lack any sort of mentality, megalomania is defined as, a "mental disorder characterized by delusions of grandeur, power, etc., a passion for doing things BIG, or, a great need for attention.) Everyone please think about that definition for a moment and then continue reading...

I hope that all of you find that the letter would expect that, being raced and all, we should have blocked the doors and not permitted them in the dorms at all.

Personally, Cyprin, I do not like the way you use the term "racism." I'm afraid your background does not qualify you for your dispensing of such heavy justice. Just what is the cause of your over-reaction and resentment? Sure, Wata Wuwazi came to a Senate meeting with Carmen deHaven in order to ask for the funding of their club. Why is the U.S. Soil Review bureau in the midst of the L.S. Soil Review bureau? I was once involved in it with
Continued from Page 2

Dear Editor,

As of Friday, May 17, my stay as Swimming Pool woman has come to an end. During my ten months of association with this college, I have had the opportunity of making the acquaintances of some pretty decent people.

First of all let me thank my bosses Barry Fullerton and Carolyn Parris for all their support and understanding. Peg Quintin, a secretary in the Student Affairs Office, has also been very real.

I have found the administration and faculty to be very pleasant and friendly. By the way, my stay here is probably the really good stroke. And speaking of strokes, let’s not forget to mention those of other students.

The students who worked as lifeguards during this year have done a commendable job. Those of the student body who have contributed to the success of the swimming pool have been very progressive and cooperative. They have been very cooperative in observing the regulations while I’ve been on duty. Our lifeguards are always ready to “shoot the breeze” with. It has been my pleasure to serve as a lifeguard and I thought this year was a good one.

In closing, I must say that working here has been an asset. Things have started to progress for the future and hopefully they’ll continue to keep on that track.

Thank you,

Dianne Sylvia

---

The staff of COUNTRY COMFORT invites you to our final ANNUAL SPRING BALL SATURDAY NIGHT, 9:00 P.M.

LIVE BAND beer and punch will be served So come do it in the barn.

---

Barry

Thanks for a Winning Season

---

Rice

Bryant Blue Sox

Stanley

APPLE VALLEY CINEMAS

The Apple Valley Cinemas are located at the Junction of Routes 5 and 44 in Smithfield. On Monday and Tuesday nights, for Bryant students with I.D., a special rate: ONLY $1.00!

Apple Valley Cinemas have four theaters. That’s four movies to choose from! So, if you want to get out on a Monday or Tuesday night for an INEXPENSIVE good time, go to Apple Valley Cinemas with your I.D. and a dollar and ENJOY!
Student Streakers Defeat Faculty Administration in Bowling Tournament

Last Friday night, Bryant's Bowling Lanes were the scene of a tournament between six student leaders and six members of the faculty and administration. Representing the students, who named their team "Student Streakers," were Steve Boulter and Don Labbe from WMBF; Alan Ehrens, President of the Greek Letter Council; Tim Banning and Kevin McGarry from the Student Senate; and Joan Fries, Editor in Chief of THE ARCHWAY. The faculty and administrators were represented by Dr. Harry Evans, President of the College; Dr. Barry Fullerton, Vice President for Student Affairs; Tom Scott, Vice President of Business Affairs; Dave Simpson, Bursar; Don Barreto, Catholic Chaplain; and Jan Smith and Mickey Pelto of the Accounting Department.

The bowling lanes were filled with excitement throughout the tournament. Some of the members of the faculty and administration team were a bit upset at the 10th pin handicap that they had to give to the students, but the Student Streakers were still defeated by 260 to 188.

The play's bater is Roger, played by Bob Powers, in a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

Students who missed it last Friday, don't miss it this Sunday. No! Not tonight. It's called "Before I Do." The Masquer's latest production. Written by Rob Salamida, the play is a college satire based around that well-known activity-SHACKING. Staged in a college setting, the play's scenario changes locale from bedroom to living room to motel to bedroom to bar and back to the bedroom.

The play's central character, Roger, played by Bob Powers, is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.

The play's center is a freshman who just moved onto campus. His roommates are: Benny, a big man on campus, played by Paul Lapierre; and Jerry, a drag queen, played by Bill Rapkin. Always exposing his talents as a Joke, Benny is mortified that Roger still goes parking with his girlfriend. Making the most of the situation, Benny dures Roger to take his girl to a motel; and from there on, it's absolute chaos on the stage.
GREEK NEWS

Alpha Phi Omega

The brothers of Tau Epsilon Phi would like to thank everyone who made our weekend a tremendous success. Through the efforts of Tau Epsilon, Alpha Delta Omega, and the Student Senate and the fact that Parent’s Weekend was enjoyed by all we are all very happy that so many brothers attended and we hope that Parent’s Weekend becomes an annual event at Bryant.

We would like to extend a special thanks to Dr. Barlow Fuller and his staff for attending and being in the downtown booth. We already have a waiting list for next year to give Dr. Fuller and his staff a chance to enjoy our downtown booth again.

This year brothers of Tau Epsilon Phi will graduate. This is one of the first steps toward a prosperous future. The future looks bright for Tau Epsilon Phi.

Beta Sigma Omicron

Parents’ Weekend proved very successful. A cocktail party was held on Saturday on Saturday at the house in Johnston. Parents, as well as the brothers and other family members totally enjoyed the afternoon festivities. From there the party progressed to Johnny Shadows on Route 116. The atmosphere was relaxed; therefore, all present were able to mingle and meet other information. Beer and drinks were excellent. The dinner party broke up with some parents heading home and others returned to Johnston to partake in another cocktail party. A very enjoyable weekend, to say the least.

Preparations are being completed for the summer trip. It will be held the weekend of July 19. The destination for the brothers involved is New Hampshire. The party will continue in the brother in close contact with one another over the summer break.

The brothers of Beta Sigma Omicron would like to extend their warmest wishes to all graduating seniors. Also, the best of luck to all undergraduates for a prosperous summer vacation.

Sigma Lambda Chi

SIGMAs’ softball team is off to an excellent start, winning 4 out of 8 games. We played Our Gang, winning with a score of 12-10. In this game, Steve, Rustle, and Sarge all hit home runs. The score was close throughout the game, but SIGMAs won with a victory.

SIGMAs played SXIX-A, winning with a score of 20-10. In the first inning, both teams were tied with a score of 4-4, but SIGMAs took over the game in the bottom of the rest of the game. In this game, Steve hit two home runs, Flash hit one homerun, and Sarge hit a grand slam. Both teams did their best and played an excellent game.

SIGMAs is in first place of the winning bracket and hopes to win the first place trophy.

APK

Last Saturday the sisters of APK held a cocktail party for their parents. It was a great success, with everybody getting a chance to meet each other and just generally having a great time. The APK sisters are graduating this year. They are Becky Henderson, Carol Worley, Lynn Kemp, Edie Reuland, Betty LaVange, Marlene Anand, and Margaret Bellas. We would like to wish them the best of luck with everything they do in the future.

On Wednesday, May 8, the sisters of APK wanted to thank the people of Providence who had helped them during their time at Providence College. Many little children were cheered up by our visit and we enjoyed it as much as they did.

Six

Last Sunday, SIX held their annual parents banquet. It was a great success and a tremendous turnout by the parents.

This Saturday, May 11, SIX has its annual picnic for all the sisters. It is the last time the sisters are all together before the summer. We have hamburgers, hot dogs and the beer flows all day. It’s a great time for all SIX.

As the year closes to an end, SIX wants to say goodbye and thank you to their five graduating seniors: Linda Cohen, Jon Furtak, Joyce Gafford, Shane Restivo, and Maria Conca. We wish them good luck in whatever field they go into.

GCLC Successful Blood Drive

At this time, I would like to thank all of the students, faculty, and administration who donated blood yesterday. The GCLC Blood Drive at Bryant College was a tremendous success. The turnout for this year’s Drive was 250 with 44% of those who passed the screening process giving blood. This event was a total success for the GCLC Blood Drive.

Phi Sig

In the past two weeks, Phi Sig’s softball team has been playing excellent ball, compiling a record of 4-1 with one loss, including five wins in a row. Our last victory, over the brothers of Phi Delta, was a close game as they scored only two runs.

This past weekend, approximately half of the fraternity went on a canoe trip to Newfound Lake in central New Hampshire, which saw camping on the lake’s island and shooting the rapids of the Baker River.
The tour included an introductory discussion and movie given by the public affairs officer, Mr. John S. Marron. The group was then led by the three student workers on a tour of the physical plant. The plant has over 300,000 square feet of tax works space and houses over 3,000 workers and several computer operations centers. The operations handled by Andover include the North Atlantic Region, which is located in New York and the entire New England area. Over seven million returns are handled annually at the center.

Talbot's Campania • May 18, 1974 • Page 6

Accounting Association
Tours IRS

by Donald M. Carron

On Tuesday, April 30, 1974, the Bryant College Accounting Association organized a day-long excursion to the Budweiser Brewery in Merrick, New York. Located in the manufacturing plant, the group was entertained in Bud's Hospitality Room, where they located the brew master's finished product. The group ended their visit with a look at the stables of Budweiser's famous Clydesdales.

The March of Dimes will continue its Walk-A-Thon Program in Bryant Park on May 18, 1974.

"Last year we had our biggest and best walks ever," Thomas C. Angell, State Chairman stated, "and this year we want to do even better."

"The Student Administration volunteers conducted the first Walk-A-Thon here in Rhode Island, and have been developing and improving the walks longer than any other people in the State," Mr. Angell added.

For those who are not familiar with the walks, a pre-designated 20-mile route is used that presents a challenge to all who participate. The route consists of walks, drinks, first aid, and inspiration are given to the walkers at the seven check points along the route. At the finish of the walk, all those who participated are rewarded with food, drinks, and music.

"It is unbelievable once a walker starts around the route, they will not quite even though there are buses that circulate to pick up those who "drop out,"" Mr. Angell stated.

If anyone is interested in either walking or helping as a volunteer worker at check points, you may receive further information from the Walk-A-Thon Headquarters at 866 Park Avenue, Cranston, Rhode Island or call 781-6665.

Registration forms for the Walk-A-Thon are available at the Switchboard at Bryant.

There’s no easy way to Charlie Nelson to become Dr. Nelson.

Looking for an Apartment in the Boston area?

Contact Elliot Richman res. (617) 461-7108
Regent Associates (617) 267-7200
848 Beacon St.
Boston, Mass.

April 30, May 1, 2, and 3, Bryant College’s Servitium Club partook in the 40th Annual Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show at the Hyatt Auditorium in Boston. The booth that Bryant had offered many students, pictures, and catalogues of Bryant. The people that stopped to speak to Bryant’s representatives seemed very satisfied by the many programs Bryant College has to offer.

The show featured just about every firm in the hotel industry. Bryant’s booth had many businesses stop by and ask about graduating senior, and what type of background they acquired from Bryant College.

Special thanks go to Scott Hamilton, Steve Lerner, John Balboni, Marcy Gallinsky, Jeff Goldberg, Mark Steinberg, Mark Gates, Tom Delaney, Dave Kennedy, Rich Coiasi, Tom Cotto, Bob Delia Pons, Peter Klein, Bruce Pfahrgn, Bob W(ldenpenn, Steve Ahern, Joe Santagio, Jerry Williams, and John Moscone for their time and effort in making the booth a success.

Many students from Bryant came up and left the show feeling that they had really learned something about the hotel industry. The booth also attracted many high school students and gave information about the Bryant College offered a major in Hotel Administration.

Goldberg, Mark Steinberg, Mark Gates, Tom Delaney, Dave Kennedy, Rich Coiasi, Tom Cotto, Bob Delia Pons, Peter Klein, Bruce Pfahrgn, Bob Wldenpenn, Steve Ahern, Joe Santagio, Jerry Williams, and John Moscone for their time and effort in making the booth a success.

The show was very rewarding for all that attended. The show next year’s show prove to be just as stimulating.

Servitium Club Successful at Boston Showing

by Jeff Goldberg

April 30, May 1, 2, and 3, Bryant College’s Servitium Club partook in the 40th Annual Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show at the Hyatt Auditorium in Boston. The booth that Bryant had offered many students, pictures, and catalogues of Bryant. The people that stopped to speak to Bryant’s representatives seemed very satisfied by the many programs Bryant College has to offer.

The show featured just about every firm in the hotel industry. Bryant’s booth had many businesses stop by and ask about graduating senior, and what type of background they acquired from Bryant College.

Special thanks go to Scott Hamilton, Steve Lerner, John Balboni, Marcy Gallinsky, Jeff Goldberg, Mark Steinberg, Mark Gates, Tom Delaney, Dave Kennedy, Rich Coiasi, Tom Cotto, Bob Delia Pons, Peter Klein, Bruce Pfahrgn, Bob Wldenpenn, Steve Ahern, Joe Santagio, Jerry Williams, and John Moscone for their time and effort in making the booth a success.

Many students from Bryant came up and left the show feeling that they had really learned something about the hotel industry. The booth also attracted many high school students and gave information about the Bryant College offered a major in Hotel Administration.

Goldberg, Mark Steinberg, Mark Gates, Tom Delaney, Dave Kennedy, Rich Coiasi, Tom Cotto, Bob Delia Pons, Peter Klein, Bruce Pfahrgn, Bob Wldenpenn, Steve Ahern, Joe Santagio, Jerry Williams, and John Moscone for their time and effort in making the booth a success.

Looking for an Apartment in the Boston area?

Contact Elliot Richman res. (617) 461-7108
Regent Associates (617) 267-7200
848 Beacon St.
Boston, Mass.

Walk-a-thon Planned

by Donald M. Carron

On Tuesday, April 30, 1974, the Bryant College Accounting Association organized a day-long excursion to the Budweiser Brewery in Merrick, New York. Located in the manufacturing plant, the group was entertained in Bud's Hospitality Room, where they located the brew master's finished product. The group ended their visit with a look at the stables of Budweiser's famous Clydesdales.

The March of Dimes will continue its Walk-A-Thon Program in Bryant Park on May 18, 1974.

"Last year we had our biggest and best walks ever," Thomas C. Angell, State Chairman stated, "and this year we want to do even better."

"The Student Administration volunteers conducted the first Walk-A-Thon here in Rhode Island, and have been developing and improving the walks longer than any other people in the State," Mr. Angell added.

For those who are not familiar with the walks, a pre-designated 20-mile route is used that presents a challenge to all who participate. The route consists of walks, drinks, first aid, and inspiration are given to the walkers at the seven check points along the route. At the finish of the walk, all those who participated are rewarded with food, drinks, and music.

"It is unbelievable once a walker starts around the route, they will not quite even though there are buses that circulate to pick up those who "drop out,"" Mr. Angell stated.

If anyone is interested in either walking or helping as a volunteer worker at check points, you may receive further information from the Walk-A-Thon Headquarters at 866 Park Avenue, Cranston, Rhode Island or call 781-6665.

Registration forms for the Walk-A-Thon are available at the Switchboard at Bryant.

There’s no easy way to Charlie Nelson to become Dr. Nelson.

Looking for an Apartment in the Boston area?

Contact Elliot Richman res. (617) 461-7108
Regent Associates (617) 267-7200
848 Beacon St.
Boston, Mass.

Walk-a-thon Planned

by Donald M. Carron

On Tuesday, April 30, 1974, the Bryant College Accounting Association organized a day-long excursion to the Budweiser Brewery in Merrick, New York. Located in the manufacturing plant, the group was entertained in Bud's Hospitality Room, where they located the brew master's finished product. The group ended their visit with a look at the stables of Budweiser's famous Clydesdales.

The March of Dimes will continue its Walk-A-Thon Program in Bryant Park on May 18, 1974.

"Last year we had our biggest and best walks ever," Thomas C. Angell, State Chairman stated, "and this year we want to do even better."

"The Student Administration volunteers conducted the first Walk-A-Thon here in Rhode Island, and have been developing and improving the walks longer than any other people in the State," Mr. Angell added.

For those who are not familiar with the walks, a pre-designated 20-mile route is used that presents a challenge to all who participate. The route consists of walks, drinks, first aid, and inspiration are given to the walkers at the seven check points along the route. At the finish of the walk, all those who participated are rewarded with food, drinks, and music.

"It is unbelievable once a walker starts around the route, they will not quite even though there are buses that circulate to pick up those who "drop out,"" Mr. Angell stated.

If anyone is interested in either walking or helping as a volunteer worker at check points, you may receive further information from the Walk-A-Thon Headquarters at 866 Park Avenue, Cranston, Rhode Island or call 781-6665.

Registration forms for the Walk-A-Thon are available at the Switchboard at Bryant.

There’s no easy way to Charlie Nelson to become Dr. Nelson.

Looking for an Apartment in the Boston area?

Contact Elliot Richman res. (617) 461-7108
Regent Associates (617) 267-7200
848 Beacon St.
Boston, Mass.

Servitium Club Successful at Boston Showing

by Jeff Goldberg

April 30, May 1, 2, and 3, Bryant College’s Servitium Club partook in the 40th Annual Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show at the Hyatt Auditorium in Boston. The booth that Bryant had offered many students, pictures, and catalogues of Bryant. The people that stopped to speak to Bryant’s representatives seemed very satisfied by the many programs Bryant College has to offer.

The show featured just about every firm in the hotel industry. Bryant’s booth had many businesses stop by and ask about graduating senior, and what type of background they acquired from Bryant College.

Special thanks go to Scott Hamilton, Steve Lerner, John Balboni, Marcy Gallinsky, Jeff Goldberg, Mark Steinberg, Mark Gates, Tom Delaney, Dave Kennedy, Rich Coiasi, Tom Cotto, Bob Delia Pons, Peter Klein, Bruce Pfahrgn, Bob Wldenpenn, Steve Ahern, Joe Santagio, Jerry Williams, and John Moscone for their time and effort in making the booth a success.

Many students from Bryant came up and left the show feeling that they had really learned something about the hotel industry. The booth also attracted many high school students and gave information about the Bryant College offered a major in Hotel Administration.

Goldberg, Mark Steinberg, Mark Gates, Tom Delaney, Dave Kennedy, Rich Coiasi, Tom Cotto, Bob Delia Pons, Peter Klein, Bruce Pfahrgn, Bob Wldenpenn, Steve Ahern, Joe Santagio, Jerry Williams, and John Moscone for their time and effort in making the booth a success.

Looking for an Apartment in the Boston area?

Contact Elliot Richman res. (617) 461-7108
Regent Associates (617) 267-7200
848 Beacon St.
Boston, Mass.
Marketing Spot

by Tom Capjeski

Did You Know That:

Pepsi Cola will soon broaden its East Bay market with the help of a major expansion into the Soviet Union, where the soft drink is in heavy demand. The company has bought a bottling and distributing plant in Berlin, and has signed an agreement to bottle and sell its beverage in the German Democratic Republic later this year. This will be the first American consumer product manufactured in the country.

********

Check Out bagging in supermarkets may get a new lift from the old principal of the 'tramps bundle.' A bagging system now being tested in a suburban Paris food store consists of a flat, welded sheet of polyethylene that is folded and split in such a way that, when picked up, it totally encloses the goods and forms a round bundle with handles. Test results of "Grab Bag," which was designed by French and British Industrialists, indicate a 10 to 30 percent saving in checkout time.

********

Spring Evening Semester Closes Out

Registration was completed with approximately 30 percent of the currently enrolled student body taking advantage of this opportunity. Several courses offered heavy enrollment and only Criminalistics I is completely filled. Only those students who preregistered will be eligible for VA Advance Payment. Confirmation of preregistration will be mailed in the near future with instructions for payment.

Final grades for the spring semester that are "I" incomplete, must be made up no later than June 1, 1974. Grades not made up by that time are recorded as failing grades.

Fall registration materials

Continued from Page 3 when you could really do something great at Bryant College—which I think is the biggest tomatokle college this side of the Rockies.

Next time, Cyprin Kemp, deal with the people rather than the petti things. His recommendations will be printed in the next issue. His remarks will gather more authority than patronage. Next year, I'm thinking about a book on the whole topic. For now, I'm just thinking about the club. And if that last line evokes a smile, I'm not a total idealist for the idea, then don't fret about not getting things right. I'm a lawyer, not a socialist.
Schreiber Bests Ostrower for Championship

The Bryant College Table Tennis men’s singles title was captured by Howie Schreiber on Saturday afternoon, May 4 in the Bryant gymnasium. A responsive crowd of about 100 people witnessed two exciting matches prior to the finals of the singles. Schreiber battled Larry Ostrower in four well-played games, which featured many long rallies. The scores were as follows in the games in the doubles semi-finals to Howie Schreiber and Larry Selvin, the 1973 Team Champions: John Macearoone edged Bob Marino in a Class "B" semi-final singles match, 21-19, 16-21, 21-18, and 21-17. "B" will oppose "T" Class B winner, Magdi Bishay in the finals.

On May 7, the finals of Men’s Doubles competition took place Continued from Page 7

Sunny," she has also appeared as the necessary reference to the Cemetery Players’ production of “Fiddler on the Roof." Karen’s favorite performers are Liza Minnelli and Bette Midler and "Barbara Streisand. She particularly enjoys Streisand’s music, and her favorite songs are “Don’t Rain on My Parade,” “My Name is Barbra," and "Don’t Rain on My Parade." Howie, Selvin, and Bryan.

Karen says, “I love to be active and play tennis at least four times a week. I don’t want to do something else at the same time.” She feels that many things are offered to the students and that they can do it all. She believes, “There’s plenty to do, why don’t we try something new? When they are secure in a rut at home and now they are secure in a rut here. That’s why they picked a small college. There’s no one to push you here. You know when people need you the least people are the least people in the real world, but a lot of people on campus don’t feel like they need you. Karen feels that people should have something special about them that will make others smile and give them an uplift. “Even on a down day I always try to smile, because a day without laughter is a day wasted.”

In the play, “Before I do,” references are made about goes parking. Karen stated that she hadn’t been parking in the long time and that after she had play she just had to go. “I just love to go parking,” she said.

That’s not all Karen loves. She enjoys reading poetry—her favorite is Rod McKuen. She likes a lot of music, especially The Eagles in the springtime. “You can smell the seasons changing on their lawn...It’s beautiful.”

Karen said that she loves the ocean because, “It’s a whole different world—you can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets. You feel so insignificant about the rest of the whole world.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the best roommate a girl could have; would be someone who is not afraid to make mistakes and who feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

It's a whole different world—you can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets. You feel so insignificant about the rest of the whole world.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.

Karen commented that people consider her a born leader, but she thinks she’s a born administrator. She feels that the greatest achievement of all is doing something that the other person having to return the favor or even know something about the other person. She feels that the ocean is a whole different world—“You can escape. You can get lost and feel like you love sunsets.”

Karen also loves hot showers.